Wellington
THE UNIVERSAL PIPE

It's the "well" in the Wellington that makes it a universal favorite. Pipe smokers always appreciate the way the well keeps the moisture and stray tobacco from the mouth. A Wellington draws clean and dry and the top opening bit sends the smoke up—away from the tongue. Be sure and look for the W D C triangle trademark. That's proof you are getting a genuine French Briar, guaranteed against cracking or burning through. All good dealers sell W D C Wellingtons in all shapes and sizes at $1.00 and up.

CHAPTER XIII.
AN ACCEPTED OFFER.

The marquis eyed the fire thoughtfully.

"I am almost inclined to let him marry her," he said, in a low voice. "I should enjoy the misery that would follow! Yes, I'm half-inclined—"

And an evil light flashed from his eyes.

Spenser Churchill watched him behind the mask of a benevolent smile.

"Oh, no, no," he murmured; "we really must not, we really must not let dear Cecil ruin himself. My dear marquis, we should not sleep. Our consciences—"

The marquis broke in with a cold, sardonic laugh.

"Yes, you are right. After all, it will be more amusing to thwart him—if I can."

"If we can!" echoed Spenser Churchill, with a smile.

"Oh, I don't doubt your ability," said the marquis, with a sneer. "The devil himself could not be a fitter person for such work. What do you mean to do?" he added, with a half-contemptuous, half-weary gesture.

"Have you a letter of dear Cecil's?" said Spenser Churchill. "I really am half-ashamed! It is only the conviction that I am acting for the dear fellow's ultimate good that gives me courage—"

The marquis pointed to a cabinet.

"You will find some letters of his there," he said.

"Thanks," murmured Spenser Churchill, and he rose and opened the cabinet.

Then he selected two or three letters and, smiling and nodding at the marquis as if they were conspiring to do some good deed in secret, he went to a davenport and wrote.

After a few moments he came across the room, and with his head on one side, a benevolent smile on his innocent face, he dropped a letter on the marquis's knee.

The marquis took it up and looked at it with a careless air, then started.

"Forgery must be very easy," he said, with a sneer, "or you must have had a great deal of practice, Spenser."

"You really think it is like—just a little like?" said Spenser Churchill, as if he had received high praise for a virtuous action. Now, really, you think it is something of a resemblance?"

"It is so close a forgery that Cecil himself might almost be persuaded that it is his own."

"No! Really? But read it, dear marquis. The handwriting is only of secondary importance. The style of the letter—oh? What do you say?"

The marquis read the note, and a smile of sardonic amusement lit up his pallid face.

"Now, please don't flatter me; tell me your true opinion, marquis," purred Spenser Churchill, leaning forward and rubbing his hands together.

The marquis tossed the letter to him.

CHAPTER XIV.
A BROKEN TRYST.

Doris went home with her heart beating, every nerve throbbing with the thrill of a woman's first love; and it was not until she had her hand upon the door that she fully realized the task that lay before her.

She had to tell Jeffrey. To tell him that all his lifelong plans for her were shattered and cast to the winds; that just at the moment of success, success won by hard, persistent work hers, she—Doris Marlowe—who was to have been the actress of the day, was going to retire from the stage forever.

She scarcely realized it herself yet, and yet she knew that it must be. The future wife of the heir to the marquisate of Stoyle could not be permitted to remain an actress, to be gazed at by a nightly mob, to be cheered or hissed by a public audience. She sighed as the thought came home to her, not for herself, and the sacrifice of fame, but for Jeffrey. It would be hard for him to bear, very, very hard; but she did not doubt that he would give his consent. As she had said to Lord Neville, Jeffrey could not find it in his heart to refuse her anything she wanted very much, and she did want to marry this handsome young lover, whose simple touch had power to move her, very much indeed.

She opened the door. Jeffrey was seated at a small table, covered with papers and old letters. He was bending over them with an air and attitude of deep abstraction, and he did not hear her light footfall as she crossed the room and laid her small hand rather tremulously upon his stooping shoulders.

"Doris!" he exclaimed, looking up with a start, and covering the papers before him with both his thin, gaunt hands.

"Why, Jeffrey, dear, did I frighten you?" she said, gently. "What are you doing? You look as if you were trying to write a play."

He smiled constrainedly, and began collecting the papers and letters in a nervous, hurried fashion.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Relieves the Ailments of Change of Life.

"During Change of Life I had hot flashes, dizzy spells and every month I was wild with misery."

I had a constant dull pain, and would always feel tired. I suffered in this way for five or six years and was treated by a physician and took different remedies without benefit.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me and I took it, and I believe I would never have been well if it had not been for the Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I am recommending your medicine to all women suffering as I was, for I think it will carry them safely through the Change of Life, and relieve the ailments that come at that period.—Mrs. ALEXIE C. NANGLE, Galatia, Ill.

Women who suffer from nervousness, "heat flashes," backache, headaches, and "the blues," should try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and if complications exist write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of their 40 years' experience in such cases is at your service.

PURITY - QUALITY - ECONOMY

With the increased cost of labor and materials due to war conditions, it is not reasonable to suppose that a really first class baking powder can be made and sold at the old prices. Rather than sacrifice the quality of we found it necessary to make slight increases in price during the war period. Even though Magic Baking Powder may cost a few cents more than the ordinary kinds it is still by far the most economical baking powder on the market to-day when purity, strength and leavening qualities are taken into consideration.

Government Protection

Whole Force Used if Necessary --
Coal Strike Agreement to-day --
Liberal Government for P. E. I. -- Russian Mutineers Join Bolsheviks.

AGREEMENT TO-DAY.
LONDON, July 24. It is understood that an amicable agreement of the coal strike will certainly be arranged to-morrow as a result of a meeting of a sub-committee of the Miners' Federation with the Coal Controller to-night.

WILL PROTECT THE PEOPLE.
LONDON, July 24. The whole force of the British Government "will be exerted to protect the people from any undue pressure," Andrew Bonar Law, Government leader, told the House of Commons to-day, when asked what was being done regarding the confusion and disorders resulting from the dock workers' and the miners' strike. The Government is well aware that there are a number of agitators, who are aiming at the destruction of our social and political system, Mr. Bonar Law added. As to the agitators, he said, "The Government is not overlooking these people," and will do whatever it thinks effective for that purpose. We realize that there is a great deal of discontent due to the belief that there is a great deal of profiteering and the Government certainly intends to take whatever action possible before the committee now considering this subject makes a report. In speaking of those people seeking to destroy the social system, Mr. Bonar Law said they were "doing their best to foment any discontent arising from any cause." "Obviously," he added, "it would be wrong for the Government to use any language that could be regarded as prerogative. On the other hand we have made it absolutely clear that the whole force of the Government will be exerted to protect the people from any undue pressure from any quarter."

HEAVY BOLSHIEVİK LOSSES.
COPENHAGEN, July 24. The Bolshevik offensive east and west of Pskov has been stopped by Estonian troops and the Bolsheviks in that region are in full retreat, according to an Estonian official report received here to-day. The Estonian troops strongly reinforced were ington and Oregon. Lightning was responsible for the new blazes and a high wind over came the advantage of the slight rain accompanying the thunderstorm. In western Montana and northern Idaho there have been 612 fires since July 12th. 2500 men are fighting fires on that territory.

THREE FRENCH SOLDIERS KILLED.
PARIS, July 24. A French regiment was attacked by Bulgarians as the regiment was landing at Lompallanka on the Danube, 22 miles south east of Vidin, a few days ago, according to a despatch from Belgrade to-day, and lively fusillade ensued, lasting three hours. Three French soldiers were killed.

LOOKING FOR AID.
VIENNA, July 24. The object of reported attempt of Count Michael Karolyi, former President of the Hungarian Republic, to sail from Italy for the United States, it is said, is to enlist sympathy and help for the political and industrial reconstruction of Hungary and to secure better territorial conditions.

RACE RIOTING IN WASHINGTON.
WASHINGTON, July 24. Although there were reports of isolated outbreaks by negroes, including firing into a street car, last night passed without a serious renewal of the race rioting which has terrorized the national capital since Saturday. The presence of 2,000 armed soldiers and co-operation generally by the public with the request of the city authorities that street traffic be held to a minimum, result in quieting the situation and both the military and city officials expressed relief that there will be no more serious trouble.

SKIRMISHING GOING ON.
VIENNA, July 23. Skirmishing continues between Roumanians and Hungarians.

UNITING AGAINST BOLSHIEVİKS.
OMSK, July 11. Pledges of full support in the fight against the Bolshevik were received to-day by the All-Russian Government of Admiral Kolchak from a congress of officials representing the Cheliabinsk, Troitsk, Verkhneduxursk, Krasnodur, Imsk, Ekaterinburg and Schadsinsk districts.

SHOCKING CRUELTY TO PRISONERS.
WASHINGTON, July 22. Official reports of the United States army handed down to the Congressional sub-committee yesterday by Gen. March, Chief of Staff, reveal allegations of shocking cruelties practised upon enlisted men confined in American army prisoners abroad. A report made by Colonel T. Donaldson, Inspector General, stated that allegations made July 12th in a letter read on the floor of the House of Representatives by Dallinger, of Massachusetts, were correct in practically every particular. These allegations concerned a notorious prison farm No. 2

DESTRUCTIVE FOREST FIRES.
SAN FRANCISCO, July 24. Much of the Pacific Northwest was under the pall of smoke to-day from forest fires in Montana, Idaho, Wash-in charge of Lieut. "Hard-boiled" G. Smith, now imprisoned at Governor's Island as a result of his brutality towards his former army prisoners.

NO SETTLEMENT YET.
LONDON, July 24. No settlement was reached at the morning session of the conference, which adjourned until evening to allow the miners' representatives time to consider further the Government proposals on the question of peace rates growing out of the advance the price of coal.

TWO BIG OCEAN LINERS.
WASHINGTON, July 24. Two gigantic liners larger than any ships afloat and designed to cross the Atlantic in four days, are to be built by the Shipping Board. They will be one thousand feet long and of thirty knots speed and will be equipped for use as commerce destroyers in the event of war. The announcement was made to-day by the Board that plans for the ships had been completed and that the work on them should be started in the near future. It is proposed to provide a special terminal for them at Ford Pond Bay, Long Island.

WEIMAR, July 20.
No members of a family that at any time has ruled in Germany is eligible for office of President of Germany. The National Assembly has thus ruled by adopting a motion of one of its women members.

WILL CARRY OUT TREATY.
WEIMAR, July 23. Dr. Hermann Mueller, Minister of Foreign Affairs, speaking before the National Assembly to-day, urged the carrying out of the Peace Treaty to the utmost, while working also for its revision.

TO NEUTRALIZE ISLAND.
PARIS, July 24. The Baltic commission of the Peace Conference recommended to-day that Aland Island between Sweden and Finland, at the north of the Gulf of Bothnia, be neutralized under the guarantee of the League of Nations.

THE COAL STRIKE.
LONDON, July 24. The executive of the Miners' Federation met Premier Lloyd George and other members of the Government this morning in an effort to settle the dispute in the Yorkshire coalfields. The Premier was attended by Sir Auckland Geddes, Minister for National Service and Reconstruction, and Sir Nosert Horne, Minister of Labor, and officials of the Coal Labor Department of the Board of Trade.

FRENCH SOLDIERS ATTACKED BY BULGARIANS.
GENEVA, July 24. As a result of an attack on French troops by Bulgarians, a French regiment has arrived at Sofia to disarm the local garrison, according to the Roumanian bureau at Berne. The French contingent, the bureau states, is supplied with equipment of rapid-fire guns.

EXPORT OF COAL PROHIBITED.
LONDON, July 24. The exportation of Cardiff coal has been stopped by a Government order issued to-day.

Historic Trinity.
One of the most interesting places in Trinity is the little Mortuary Chapel in the Church of England Cemetery. It was built some forty years ago when the old churchyard was officially closed, and the cemetery was consecrated to take its place. It is a well-proportioned building, planned by the late C. H. Cole, Esq., and built under his supervision by men of the congregation, and largely by voluntary labor. When the old church was taken down to make room for the present church, the mural tablets were piled here and there for convenience at considerable risk of being either broken or forgotten. Some twenty years ago those tablets were collected and placed on the walls of the Mortuary Chapel, where to-day they are silent reminders of several of the men and women of the last generation. The finest of those tablets is that which bears the name of George Garland, Esq., merchant and magistrate of Trinity, who died in Poole, England, in 1832. This tablet was erected by the people of Trinity in loving and grateful memory. The oldest tablet is that to the memory of Rev. John Clinch, who served thirty-five years in the ministry of the church in Trinity, and died there on November 22nd, 1819. Also to the memory of Hannah, his wife, who died in 1832. The tablet which bears the names of John and Martin Peckham, of the North Side of Trinity, who died in 1850, remind us of the time when there was no church building over there, and the people came from there, on Sundays and formed a part of the regular congregation of old St. Paul's, Trinity. The other tablets are to the memory of: Thomas and Hannah Pilgrem—1822. James Collis—1826. John Gent—1835. George and Andrew Buchanan—1836. Emma Hayward—1836. Richard Ash—1839. William Verge—1840. Eleanor White—1841. William Wiltshire—1842. Louisa Earle—1868. Margaret Bayly—1873. Capt. Dugald White—1876. Capt. N. Facey—1879. Geo. Asplet (of s.s. Lion)—1882. Several of those names, such as Pilgrem, Buchanan, Hayward, Verge, Wiltshire, and Facey, have died out in Trinity. The Chapel is neatly painted both outside and inside and is always kept clean and tidy. The altar, reredos and credence table, are vested in purple, and on the re-table is a well proportioned cross and vases, which are usually filled with flowers. A beautiful Estey organ was placed there a few years ago by public subscription in memory of Miss Rachel White (sister of Bishop White), who was the organist of the Parish Church for twenty years, and died in 1911. At the top of the reredos, on the re-table, and on the east end of the building are the following texts in heavy raised letters:—"Lord, all pitying, Jesu blest Grant them thine eternal rest." "The souls of the righteous are in the hands of god; there shall no torment touch them." "Those who sleep in Jesus, will God bring with Him." At the West End, in the same plain, heavy lettering are the words:—"Lord do Thine utmost for their souls' true weal." Whilst over the doors are the words:—"Thy brother shall rise again," and, "After death the judgment." The plain glass window over the altar has just been filled with stained glass in memory of Elizabeth M. White, wife of Rev. W. J. Lockyer, who was called to rest on December 6th, 1918. Efforts are now being made to fill the other six windows in the building with stained glass in memory of the boys of St. Paul's congregation who fell in France and Flanders. All the burial services are held in this Chapel. The first person buried in the cemetery was Mr. William Pittman (husband of the present Mrs. Mary Pittman), on August 25th, 1880. Since that date 698 people have been buried there. The cemetery is strongly and decently fenced, and is kept in good condition under the supervision of a cemetery committee. The majority of the graves are marked by neat and appropriate stones, and it is pleasing to notice that many are in the form of, or surmounted by the emblem of our Salvation—the Cross of Jesus Christ. Some of the monuments are surmounted by the cremation urn, but the pagan emblem, the broken column, is, I am glad to notice, not found there, and I hope it never will be. —W.J.L.

Why Corns Hurt

Note this diagram picture of a corn. Note its conical shape. The cause of the corn is pressure. And pressure makes it hurt. The point of the corn is pushed into the nerves. Applying a Blue-jay plaster instantly removes the pressure. Note the felt ring (A) in the picture below. The ring gives barefoot comfort in the tightest shoe.

But that is temporary. One should not continue a ring. The corn should be quickly ended.

The bit of B&B wax in the center of the ring does that (marked B in illustration below). In two days, usually, the whole corn disappears. It stops the pain, then ends the corn. And it wraps the corn so the action is undisturbed.

Then the action of the B&B wax is centered by the corn. Here there by the rubber coated adhesive tape (C) which wraps comfortably around the toe. Healthy tissue is not affected.

These are the reasons why millions of people have adopted the Blue-jay method. Keeping corns is folly when this easy way can end them. Treating them in other ways is inexcusable.

For your own sake, convince yourself by applying Blue-jay to one corn.

PLAGIARISED AND OTHERWISE.

LAST NIGHT'S GAME.
Before a fairly large gathering of spectators, the Cubs wiped out the B.I.S. by a score of 15 to 1, O'Leary scoring the only run for his team in the last innings. Hall pitched splendidly all through and was ably supported. O'Leary also did well in the box, but the B.I.S. fielding and batting was poorer than at any time this season. Messrs. F. V. Cheeman and H. Power were umpires, and the players were:

Cubs:	pitcher	B.I.S.
Hall	catcher	O'Leary
Clouston	1st base	Brazie
Murphy	2nd base	French
Duggan	3rd base	O'Reilly
Channing	shortstop	O'Donnell
Manning	left field	Delaney
Gosse	centre field	Power
Phelan	right field	Wallace
O'Driscoll		Connolly

SURPRISED.
In our remarks yesterday we intimated that the B.I.S. team might have a few surprises in store for the Cubs, when they met last night. Fortunately we did not commit ourselves as to what shape these surprises would assume, but to be perfectly frank we hardly looked for the "Surprise Package" they handed out last night. The Cubs were surprised (agreeably surprised we should think) and at no time did Hall have to extend himself. Speaking of Hall, the other three teams in the league can console themselves with the fact that the Slab work for the city in the coming inter-team games, will be ably looked after by our little iron man.

WORTH THE TIME.
In baseball the unexpected always happens, and although the Cubs have towered head and shoulders above the other teams recently, this fact should not discourage their fans as an even break in the coming games will put all the teams on the same footing. We must also remember that it took five years to develop the present Cub Team, and the B.I.S. have taken a step in the right direction in taking the younger men under their wing. It is a little too early to hope for finished players from this source but these youngsters, as well as the boys from the Junior League, should be given every encouragement. It is in their inexperience often results in costly errors, but the Cub team is a shining example of what can be accomplished in due time.

To-day's Messages.

DISARMAMENT SAVINGS.
LONDON, July 25. Since the signing of the armistice, the British Admiralty has cancelled orders for three hundred and twenty-six ships, resulting in a net saving of forty-two million pounds. This announcement was made during the course of a naval debate in the House of Commons to-night by T. J. McNamara, Parliamentary Secretary of the Admiralty.

WOMEN FRANCHISE DROPPED.
LONDON, July 25. The Adamson Bill, which provided for the giving of the franchise to women on the same terms as men, but only at the age of thirty years, was dropped by the House of Lords this evening.

ANOTHER LITTLE REVOLUTION.
PARIS, July 26. Despatches from Agramm and Graz report a new revolt in Croatia, the revolt taking the form of a movement for separation from Serbia and the formation of a republic. A later despatch from Agramm states that Croatian troops have proclaimed an Independent Croatian Republic. At several points Croats are fraternizing with Hungarian soldiers.

RATIONING COAL.
LONDON, July 25. A decision by the Government that not more than two hundred pounds of coal may be delivered to a private residence, weekly, threatens the stoppage of coal deliveries in London except in urgent cases.

FRENCH SOLDIERS AS GERMAN AGENTS.
PARIS, July 25. Germans, through agents and by circulars, are offering cutlery, bicycles and other articles on the French market, seventy-five per cent. below French manufacturers' cost prices, according to a statement to-day during a debate in the Chamber of Deputies. The soldiers, who have returned from occupied regions of Germany, it was alleged, are calling on French merchants and trying to sell them German jewelry, drugs, thermometers, cutlery and bicycles.

LIBERAL WALK-OVER.
HALIFAX, July 25. The final election returns from Prince Edward Island show the return of 26 Liberals and 4 Conservatives.

Prisoners Remanded.
The six men, arrested by the police who went down on the Ingraham, came before McCarty, J. P. yesterday afternoon, when they were remanded until November 14th. Bail in the sum of $200 each, and two sureties were accepted from each. The bondsmen being Messrs F. Harris & T. Hallett.

L. C. C. Congratulates
The following message was received by the Mayor this morning:—
The Mayor of St. John's N.F.—London, July 24th, 1919.
The London County Council sends warmest congratulations upon the victorious conclusion of the war, in the statement of which all parts of the British Empire played so noble a part, and expresses the hope that the great sacrifices which have been made will result in peace and goodwill throughout the world.
DOWNTOWN, Chairman.

Another Booster.
D. S. Hayden, an energetic young business man of Syracuse, N.Y., has found the way to increased personal efficiency via the motor car.
Like many others who must use their cars largely for business purposes, Mr. Hayden was quick to appreciate the great measure of comfort and utility afforded by the closed type of automobile.
As an owner of a Chevrolet "Four-Ninety" Coupe, his enthusiasm is voiced in the following excerpts from a recent letter:
"I am a staunch advocate for the Chevrolet car. If there is a better car made for the money, I have yet to come in contact with it. From the service which my car has given me, I have no hesitancy in saying a good word for the car as well as for your organization."

Fishery Reports.
Grady—Light N.E. wind, cloudy; one codfish taken this morning.
Venison Island—Calm, dense fog; sign of fish; good sign of salmon.
Battle Hr.—Calm, dense fog; plenty salmon.
St. Anthony—Traps from one to twenty quintals; some salmon; no sign of caplin.
Griguet—Fish scarce.
Quirpon—Prospects good.
Cape Onion—Fish fairly plentiful with traps.

SACHEM'S PASSENGERS.—The s.s. Sachem arrived here this morning from Halifax, bringing a quantity of freight and the following passengers: H. C. Opie, J. J. McDougall, J. Sullivan, Colonel Oxley, P. N. Morgan, W. Strong, G. Storey, J. C. Beake, J. E. Keator, T. Siff, A. Cummings, G. Henderson, Sister Hayward, J. D. Ryan, J. J. Jerrard, G. Knowlton, E. Hawkins, L. Honan, G. Honan, B. Moore, C. McCart, A. Macpherson, Mrs. Macpherson, Major Montgomerie.

While leaning out of a window at Palmer's Green, London, to throw a bottle at neighbors' cats which were annoying her with their noise, Mrs. Catherine Langton fell out the window and was killed.

NATURAL PREFERENCES Versus FUDDYDUDDYISMS.

There is just one thing funnier than the queer fuddyduddyisms even the most sensible of people permit themselves to cherish. And that is the way even the most sensible of people will characterize other people's notions as all nonsense with apparent ignorance of the fact that the walls of their house of justice stone throwing, is truly amusing. Here is one example.

There is a certain man of very robust and not high strung temperament. His wife is the opposite and he is always talking about her notions and saying that they are all nonsense. She can't bear the sound of a curtain flapping at night. Perfect foolishness, he says. Why not forget about it and go to sleep? That's the way he does. She dislikes heavy bed clothing and is much more comfortable under a single blanket and a town puff than under several blankets. Just a notion, he says; she natters herself.

Each assured the Other His Difficulty Was All Nonsense.

That, you see, wasn't a fuddyduddyism—just a perfectly natural preference!

Like wise, I heard another husband and wife discussing a vacation which they were about to take. She wanted to go by boat. He didn't, because he couldn't sleep on the boat if it was at all rough—being tossed about kept him awake. All nonsense, she said; anyone could sleep on the boat if they made up their mind to. A little later she explained her objection to going on the train by saying that she woke up every time the trains stopped. And her husband, of course, assured her that that was all nonsense.

Was it Horace Walpole who said he hoped the angels had a sense of humor, since if they had we must keep them constantly diverted?

Sing and Keep Fit.

Music as a preventive of influenza and other diseases is strongly urged by Dr. Henry Coward, the Sheffield choir-trainer.

"I have in my choirs every week in the winter over 1,600 adults," he says. "According to the current statistics, we should have had a great many deaths. Yet we had only two, and I attribute our immunity to a great extent to the music, first because of the health-giving effect of the breathing in singing, and secondly—and perhaps most of all—to the rousing, stimulating, and inspiring effect of music alone."

"Influenza affected the schools because the children were too young to sing much. But the master of a big school in the slums of Sheffield, in which there is a lot of singing, told me that the epidemic did not make any difference in the average attendance. If you have more singing you will have less disease."

THREE MEN.

I'd like to steal a day and be all alone with little me; Little me that used to run Everywhere in search of fun; Little me of long ago Who was glad and didn't know Life is freighted down with care For the backs of men to bear; Little me who thought a smile Ought to linger all the while On his mother's pretty face And a tear should never trace Lines of sorrow, hurt or care On those cheeks so wondrous fair.

I should like once more to be all alone with little me; Youthful me who saw the hills Where the sun its splendor spills And was certain that in time To the topmost height he'd climb; Youthful me serene of soul, Who beheld a shining goal And imagined he could gain Glory without grief or pain Confident and quick with life Madly eager for the strife, Knowing not that bitter care Waited for his coming there.

I should like to sit alone With the me now older grown, Like to lead the little me And the youth that used to be Once again in the ways Of our glorious yesterday. We could chuckle soft and low At the things we didn't know And could laugh to think how bold We had been in days of old And how blind we were to care With its heartache and despair, We could smile away the tears And the pain of later years.

Trial of the Kaiser.

The world is now setting a new precedent in putting the Kaiser on trial. But even if there were no precedent for dealing with Wilhelm as a criminal the circumstances would warrant creating one. He was the one man whose word let loose the dogs of war. He could have prevented all the frightfulness that horrified the world. But he would not. If he did not incite his soldiers to the inhuman conduct of which they were guilty, he did nothing to restrain them, and thus gave it his approval. Nor is that all. He intended, if his armies had been victorious, to overrun the whole world. His intentions were even worse than his achievements. In the annals of war no more ruthless criminal has appeared. To treat him so will have a salutary influence upon any military dictator who may arise in the future. The pacifist plea that it will make a martyr of him has no weight. His desertion of his army in the hour of defeat has revealed the contemptible character of the man. He never can be raised to a pinnacle of prosecution and the influence of a just penalty, for his crimes.—The Sentinel.

GRIT.

Some fellows won't stay downed when they have hit the floor; if they have lost a round they soon bob up for more. By Fortune biffed and kicked, and swatted on the shins, they don't know when they're licked and take it all with grins. Soon Fortune weary grows of furnishing the gaff, of finding that her blows are greeted with a laugh. She calls off all her bets, resorts to kindly shifts, and makes those fellows pets, and loads them down with gifts. Among successful men you'll find a hundred guys who, floored again, again, still to their feet would rise; they'd spit out broken teeth like Greeks in Homer's pomes, until the victor's wreath was placed upon their domes. Methinks that every gent who to the heights arose has had his features bent by Fortune's shrewish blows. For life is not so soft that any human jay can reach the place aloft on velvet all the way. We all encounter blows, who take the road to win; some land upon the nose, and some upon the chin. The weakling gives a yell when Fortune swats his ear, and has a tale to tell of doubt and dread and fear. The strong man gets his buff, and lets his laugh ascend, and mutters, "What's the diff? I'll get there in the end."

This is to certify that fourteen years ago I got the cords of my left wrist nearly severed, and was for about nine months that I had no use of my hand, and tried other Liniments, also doctors, and was receiving no benefit. By a persuasion from a friend I got MINARD'S LINIMENT and used one bottle which completely cured me, and have been using MINARD'S LINIMENT in my family ever since and find it the same as when I first used it, and would never be without it.

"Education for All, All for Education."

The aptness of this motto, which has been adopted by the Church of England Educational Campaign Organization, was well illustrated last night, when the big drive opened, the purpose of which is to raise the sum, already specified in the press reports, to provide more facilities for the education of the ever-growing Anglican denomination in this dominion.

Education for all. Ever backward in equipping its young people with the knowledge necessary for the struggle with the world, Newfoundland is at last arousing from her lethargic state so far as education is concerned, and is more and more beginning to realize that education for all is no mere catch-cry but a vital part of all future movements. The religious denominations have taken the lead and are showing the real value of concerted and organized action. Too long have we been content to let successive Governments drift along in ancient ruts, handing out an insufficient dole here and another one there, which instead of increasing educational efficiency, oftener retarded progress. Alive to past shortcomings and awake to the fact that education is the salvation of a people, the march in a forward direction has been begun, and with a determination, equalled only by the demands of the moment, the objective set is the goal toward which all are heading.

In the present campaign, beginning to-day, the Anglican people are given the opportunity of living up to the motto "Education for all." That they will respond, goes without saying, and if the opening results are a criterion of what is to be expected, then the advance "Over the Top" is assured. The need is great. Not only in St.

John's, but in the outports as well there is an ever-present need for more education and better facilities for carrying on. To use the words of the Lord Bishop of Newfoundland, "It is absolutely impossible that we (the Church of England) can remain contented with the inadequacy of our principal schools. We must either seize the present opportunity of raising sufficient funds, or confess that we are not equal to the task committed to us. Our people have it in their power to subscribe the sums required, and it is my earnest hope that they will rise to the occasion."

Here is at once a challenge and an appeal. To fail now would be to confess inability. To succeed, and that is the object upon which everyone has made up his or her mind, will be to confer upon coming generations all the advantages of such an education as will make them second to none among other peoples with whom they will associate and fraternize. By bringing the campaign to a successful close, the second part of the motto "All for Education" will become a lasting reality.

53rd Anniversary.

To-morrow the Telegram will publish an interesting story of the laying of the Atlantic Cable between Ireland and Newfoundland, from the facile pen of Mr. H. F. Shortis, whose contributions to local literature are eagerly read.

Mr. Shortis writes a most intensely vivid and interesting description of the trials and tribulations of the promoters of the submarine cable company, showing in all its phases the despairs and fears of that period, and the numerous difficulties, financial and otherwise, which all but wrecked the great enterprise. Success came at length, however, and the communication since July 27, 1866, has been practically uninterrupted.

"The Nfld. Quarterly."

The summer number of the Newfoundland Quarterly, a copy of which has just reached us, is without doubt the best to be published. The typographical design and make-up are excellent and executed with an art that is rare to Newfoundland. The number is replete with many articles which, like the great world masterpieces of literature, will bear reading and re-reading. In one word, the Newfoundland Quarterly, summer number, is "excellent."

Motor Cars Collide.

While Mr. W. H. Barker was coming down Military Road yesterday afternoon in his motor car, his auto was run into by a car turning from Barnes Road. Mr. Barker's car was thrown across the street, lodging itself against a hydrant and was badly damaged. Mr. Barker fortunately escaped without injuries.

Inaugural Banquet.

Church of England Educational Campaign--Methodist College Hall a Brilliant Scene--$200,000 Guaranteed Last Night.

The spacious Concert Hall in the Methodist College Building was the scene of a brilliant gathering last night, when some three hundred male and female workers in the Church of England Educational Campaign attended the Inaugural Banquet. Executive Committee, Chairmen of Divisions and Divisional Captains with their teams were all present and the hundred per cent. attendance was realized. The Hall had been profusely decorated with flowers, banners and festoons of tri-colored bunting, and the tables and seating accommodation were so arranged that there was no discomfort or confusion.

Punctually at 7 o'clock, all present having taken their places, His Excellency the Governor and Aide de Camp arrived and were received by the Executive officers, the company standing while the National Anthem was played, after which His Excellency was conducted to the seat of honor to the right of the Chairman, Sir Edgar Bowring.

A very excellent luncheon was served by the ladies of the three city parishes, who were assisted by a detachment of C.L.B. boys, and after full justice had been done the dainty repast, Sir Edgar Bowring, Chairman of the Executive Committee, opened the business of the evening in an address which was brim full of enthusiasm and spirit, the frequent bursts of applause testifying to the appreciative spirit in which his encouraging words were received, and approving the sentiments enunciated. Sir Edgar was finely fluent and in complete command of his subject, one which was most dear to him because of the advantages which would be given future Newfoundlanders by the proposed new departure in education. He was pleased to be associated with such a movement. Briefly the Chairman reviewed conditions here, educationally, and showed by comparing figures with those of other places that Newfoundland is spending less on the education of her youth than the countries abroad. There are 500 church children in St. John's for whom there are no school capacity or facilities. Schools are unsuitable and inadequate. Better teaching staffs are needed.

The Governor, speaking next, of his pleasure in being there. He attended a similar banquet only a couple of months ago—a banquet which was crowned with success. Canon Bolt felt sure that the results of the meeting would be lasting and secure. Canon Bolt, as Secretary of the Synod, has a grasp on educational matters, and his address was most interesting and enlightening. Mr. E. A. Stoll, manager of the Hockenbury system, then fully explained the system to be used, and complimented the campaigners on their enthusiasm. The collectors got busy among themselves and tallied the splendid sum of $32,722. This was apart from the initial gifts and the contributions of the Executive. The committee in charge of the initial gifts set out to get $100,000 to give the campaign a good start, and everyone will be glad to know that Canon Bolt was able to announce $159,000. The totals were: Initial gifts, $159,000; collectors themselves, $28,222; Executive, $3,800. Grand total, $191,722.

The Majestic.

Majestic patrons will see a good picture to-night, when Miss Jackie Saunders, the delightful little actress, will be starred in "The Ill-Starred Babe." The stadium spectator is sure to be that, he has ill-starred as she may, Jackie is starred right enough, and rightly so. Movie patrons in St. John's know a good picture when they see one, and we can guarantee them that in to-night's picture they will not be disappointed. It is a very dramatic story of conflicting love, woman's devotion, and supreme sacrifice. Without doubt it is one of the best to be screened for some time. The usual comedy will also be shown. Majestic comedies occupy a place of their own, and never yet has a patron been disappointed with one. To-night's will be no exception.

Man Killed at Bell Island.

A young man, named Albert Walsh, son of Mr. Stanley Walsh of Moore and Company of this city, died at the Dominion Hospital, Bell Island at one o'clock this morning, as the result of injuries received in an accident yesterday afternoon. Young Walsh, who has been employed in the D.I.S. Company's Electrical Department for about a month, left his work about five in the afternoon and attempted to make a run out on one of the moving cars but missed his grasp and losing his balance fell under the wheels, the weight of the car almost crushing his life out. He was taken to the Company's hospital for treatment, and his condition being hopeless, a message was sent to his father, which reached here at 7 p.m. At 9.30 Mr. Walsh left for the Island and arrived in time to see his son before the end came. Deceased was attached to the Regiment here for a couple of years; and had two brothers, who served overseas. Hal, who was badly wounded that he has spent over a year in hospital, and Jack who lost the use of one of his arms, as a result of injuries, and is now studying medicine in Edinburgh. Much sympathy will be extended Mr. Walsh and family in their sudden and sad bereavement.

Picnic at Donovan's.

The Jubilee Picnic of the T.A. and B. Juvenile Society, was held yesterday at Donovan's, about 300 of the lads going out by special train at 11 a.m., under the charge of the guardians. After a splendid day's sport, return was made to town at 8 p.m. and the outing concluded with a dance for adults in the Armory, at which the T.A. Band furnished the music.

Build the Bridge.

All whose sporting instincts call them to the Lakeside these nights to witness the boat practice, and the crews themselves, are asking why the usual bridge has not been built across Ronale's River, just where it empties into the Lake. This morning quite a contingent of enthusiasts trooped into the Reportorial sanction, demanding that their request be given publicity. There seems to be no reason why it should not be granted—the request, that is. There is a long time yet before Regatta Day will be actually here and a lot of boat leather, energy and profanity would be saved by the erection of the convenient bridge. Now, then, Gentlemen?

MILLEY'S.

S.S. Rosalind Arrives.

The S.S. Rosalind Captain Mitchell, arrived in port last evening from Dundee. She has been recently purchased by the Red Cross Line to run on the service between this port, Halifax and New York. The Rosalind was formerly the Lady Gwendolyn. She is splendidly fitted up for passenger accommodation, having staterooms on deck and below, and a beautiful finished saloon, with a smoking room on the upper deck. She can carry about 350 passengers, and the second class apartments are situated aft. All modern conveniences are provided, the rooms are splendidly appointed. Capt. Mitchell, formerly chief officer of the Stephano, is in command; Capt. James, chief officer of the Florizel, is chief officer, and Mr. A. B. Hay, second officer. The latter, though a young man, has had a wide experience as a seaman, and during the war was engaged in Channel mine-sweeping operations. The chief engineer is Mr. W. Gibb, the second, Mr. Swinton, and the third, Mr. Young. The Rosalind is 2,163 tons gross, 1,338 tons net; 200.2 ft. long, 39.7 ft. broad and 17.5 ft. deep. She was built in 1911 at Glasgow by the Clyde Shipbuilding and Engineering Co., Ltd., for the British and Irish Steam Packet Co. She makes a speed of 13 knots and has a carrying capacity of about 2,000 tons. Her crew will number 53 all told, and a third officer will join her here.

She will likely get away on her first trip to-morrow evening, and a large number of passengers are already booked to go by her. Lt. Col. and Mrs. Knot-Niven were the only passengers by the ship to this port.

Yesterday's Garden Party.

The postponed St. Joseph's Garden Party was held yesterday afternoon at Woodley's Farm, Quidi Vidi, proving even a bigger success than had been anticipated. The weather was very nice and a large number was present, including the Prime Minister, Sir M. P. Cashin, Lady Cashin, Revs. Dr. Greene, Frs. Wilson, O'Callaghan and Pippy, Mr. P. F. Moore and Rev. Bro. Egan. The visitors were cordially welcomed by Rev. Dr. Kitchen, pastor of St. Joseph's. The Sports' programme, which was splendidly carried out, was under the direction of Mr. W. J. Higgins, M.H.A., Messrs. C. J. Ellis, F. Pippy, T. Curran and J. Clooney, W. E. Brophy and J. Hayse of St. Joseph's Institute. The list of events was:

100 yards—Won by C. Spurrell.
Putting the shot—Won by Sgt. T. Morrissey.
Sack Race—Won by J. Norris.
Tug of war (soldiers vs city)—Won by the soldiers.
Tug of war (married vs city)—Won by the married.
Egg and Spoon race—Won by J. Farrell.
Football Fives (C.E.I. vs Saints)—Won by C.E.I. 2 goals and a corner to nil. (B.I.S. vs Collegians), won by Collegians, 2 goals and a corner to a corner. (Star vs C.C.C.), won by C.C.C. 1 goal to nil.
Relay Race (Smiths vs. The World)—Won by the World, viz. J. Tizzard, A. Carter, E. Carter and F. Pike.
3-Legged Race—Won by J. McGrath and M. Whalen.
Road Race—1st J. Bell, 2nd H. Hookey, 3rd W. Olsen. Time: 17 minutes 22 seconds.

This last event, for which thirteen had entered, was very interesting. The distance, round the Lake, was about three miles, ending up with a lap and a half around the field. Bell, the winner, had just completed the final run around the field, when Hookey finished, showing that he took a close second place. Both are very good runners.

The final football fives were won by the C.C.C., which defeated the Collegians by 3 goals to nil, and the C.E.I. by 1 to a corner. The C.C.C. team was comprised of: W. Clare, M. Madigan, Caul, Brown and Spurrell.

Refreshments, teas, etc., were served out by the ladies of the parish and various amusements, most enjoyable of which was the Maypole, where that of which was the Maypole dance by a number of school children trained by Miss Frances Ryan. At the conclusion of the sports the prizes were distributed by Lady Cashin.

Dory Picked Up.

Deputy Minister of Customs Le-Messurier has received the following message: "Patrick Hanrahan, master of the schooner B. W. Nolan of Little Bay, reports picked up a second hand dory off Green Island on July 5th, containing one dory car, trawl tub, and a boy's cap wrapped up in an oil jacket."

Shipping News.

Fortune Telling By Bones.

It is strange that in the Transvaal the belief in Kaffir doctors and their wizardry has not died out.

Nearly every old Kaffir has always with him a bag of bones—knuckles and joints of animals. With these he pretends to be able to foretell the future. He throws the "bones," as they are called, and then reads out the omens. Should a white man wish to confer with the oracle, he must throw the bones himself.

FATHER OF THE TYPEWRITER.

Just 100 years ago, Christopher Latham Sholes, the "Father of the Typewriter," was born in Pennsylvania. While serving as Collector of Customs, he became interested with two other inventors in the problem of making a machine that would write letters and words. A letter written on one of the early machines attracted the attention of a capitalist who provided funds, and the other inventors having dropped out, Mr. Sholes continued improving the model until at last the first practical typewriter was put on the market.

A Refreshing Summer Drink

on this violation of all decency, according to the opinion of men with inside knowledge, that the long feud that brought these furies upon himself, and though their attack did good in the long run, it would have ruined the great soldier if he had had less tenacity of character. It is unfortunate that personalities should have been brought into the dispute of all, but justice requires it to be said that it was not Mr. Asquith who began it, and even now he treats the whole against him started, which the Mail and the Times maintained till the day of his death. Fleet Street clings to the opinion that it was Mr. Asquith's defence of Lord Kitchener matter with dignity, responsibility and gravity. One of these days some Liberal cartoonist will draw Mr. Asquith as Achilles fighting for the dead body of Patroclus and the corpse will have the bushy moustache of the late Lord Kitchener.

Where is the Proof?

Lord French's claim that he had advocated the supply of high explosives long before the war began has brought a reply in the nature of doubt from many well-informed masters. It is pointed out that Lord French was a cavalry enthusiast pure and simple, and little likely to set up artillery programmes; moreover, the lesson of the South African War which he cites was not for high explosive, but all for shrapnel, as he admits, he was getting "more than enough." Mr. Asquith simply says that if Lord French sent recommendations to the Committee of Imperial Defence, there must be some record of the same, and none yields to search. One reply to this is that records of equal value have been admittedly lost by the War Office staff only lately, and the fact that records are non-productive is not final by any means. Mr. Asquith can still retort, however, that the onus lies on Lord French to prove his advocacy in the matter went so far back as 1914 at least, and this may be difficult without the production of administrative files and minutes which are covered by the rule of official secrecy.

Shells—Nothing But Shells.

The British Politico-Military Controversy of French vs. Kitchener. (By BRIAN PHILLIPS.) London, July 1.—French vs. Kitchener (Asquith intervening) would be the legal way one supposes, of presenting the present politico-military controversy, and it looks as if it were capable of stretching out like Jarnyce vs. Jarnyce in Dickens' novel. The newspapers—not being so long-winded as the law makes its victims afford for it to be—condense the whole dispute into the headline "Shells," and "Shells" it is likely to remain. Certainly the Times and the Daily Mail desire no better label to express their new point of the case, and although they cannot conceal the fact that there are many aspects to the quarrel now, including Lord French's breach of etiquette in attacking men who are either dead or muzzled, they stick to the shortage charge, and thrive on it. The Times says that rather than face a Black Monday in the Commons on the question, Mr. Asquith formed a coalition. The Mail paraphrases this by saying that to give way at all was an admission of guilt, which is a doctrine that could be used in a variety of ways. The public remembers, however, that the first quarter where Lord French was discredited was in the Times and its Sunday paper, the Weekly Dispatch, for on the first Sunday of the Flanders retreat they printed a starting and unjustified message of the alarmist kind saying that Lord French's army had been annihilated, or words to that effect. It was from Lord Kitchener's action he stood up and supported Mr. Asquith in 1914 and 1915, even on this vexed question of the supply of ammunition; but when it came to deposing his chief, he was very much upon the spot. Now, when there is this acrimonious fight for prestige between the ex-premier and Lord French, we learn from Mr. Bonar Law that there is to be no State inquiry, and we are to await what there is to be said on Kitchener's behalf by his old and faithful secretary, General Sir George Arthur. But all this while, Mr. Lloyd George stands aside, and there you see the master strategist!

Wise Men Say—

That they that govern most make least noise.
That working will get you farther than whining.
That misery is rust on a mind that has stopped working.
That the smaller the mind, the longer it takes to make up.
That he who lives without folly is not as wise as he imagines.
That the man who never does anything he doesn't like rarely likes anything he does.
That wit should be used as a shield for defence rather than as a sword to wound others.
That it's difficult for a man to keep straight when he's trying to make both ends meet.
That most people would not have so many troubles if they spent less time talking about them.
That the great thing in the world is not so much where we stand as in what direction we are moving.

The King and the Sailor.

It was in the Palace of Versailles that Jean Bart, the noted privateer captain, was presented to the French King whom he had served so valiantly. He was the roughest of sea-dogs, and as ready to defy etiquette as to brave the Atlantic gales. Jean got tired of waiting for the King, and to the horror of the courtiers, pulled out his pipe and lighted up. Then the King came in, and, not knowing what else to do, told the gallant skipper that he might go on smoking. Then "Jean Bart," said His Majesty, "I have just promoted you to the rank of Commodore."
"Sire," replied Jean Bart, "you have done the proper thing."

THE HOME OF GOOD SHOES.

A Few of the Reasons, Why?

Coupon Gold Notes of the Nova Scotia Tramways are an excellent purchase because they are issued by an enterprise which has been in successful operation for 24 years.

The purpose of this issue is to provide additional rolling stock and extensions and betterments of the lighting, tramway, power and gas system in Halifax, made necessary by the rapid though conservative growth of that city.

These Notes are issued for three years, yield full 7 p.c., and both the principal and interest are payable in New York, as well as in Montreal or Halifax. This provision is of substantial advantage in view of the high rate of premium ruling on New York funds and the early maturity of the Notes.

This issue of Coupon Gold Notes has been authorized, sanctioned and approved by the Board of Commissioners of the Province of Nova Scotia. They are a direct obligation of the Company and rank ahead of the preferred and common shares.

In view of the fact that the Company operates a service indispensable to the public, an unusually stable base is afforded to these securities. During the industrial reconstruction period following the war and while conditions are becoming normal and the trend of trade and industry is being established, an investment in the 3 year Coupon Gold Notes of this public utility, at the attractive yield of 7 p.c., is strongly recommended. These Notes will probably cover the uncertain period of world-wide readjustment and reconstruction, and yet their comparatively early maturity, June 1st, 1922, should stabilize their market price and course, and make them readily saleable at any time desired. Our suggestion is therefore to invest meanwhile in sound, conservative securities which should not be affected by commercial conditions, and it is for this and other good reasons that we regard Coupon Gold Notes as a highly attractive offering, particularly at this time.

Stone and Webster, who are experienced and expert lighting, tramway, gas and power operators, are the general managers of the Company.

The attention of careful investors is particularly directed to this issue. Full particulars on request. To ensure allotment, applications should be lodged immediately.

Superstitions of the Cricket Field.

By J. H. HOBBS, Britain's Finest Batsman.
(In Tit-Bits.)

Most cricketers are superstitious. Some have implicit faith in popular omens, both good and evil, whilst others cherish their own particular and peculiar fetich.

For a team on its way to the ground to meet a funeral is regarded as a sure sign of defeat, and most cricketers would walk a mile out of their way to miss it. A single magpie is almost as bad, though a pair are harmless. A pishad horse brings luck, and so does a humpbacked man, if you can manage to touch him.

A Century in Each Innings.
To walk under a ladder is a fatal thing. Bobby Abel did it once with dire results. The "Guv'nor" at the time was at the top of his form, getting centuries in almost each match.

On his way to the Oval one morning he deliberately passed beneath a ladder in a spirit of sheer bravado, to see if it would change his luck. It did. He "bagged a brace" in that match; and some anonymous joker sent him a peck of peas "to go with the duck."

I used to believe implicitly in the ladder superstition, but my faith has been somewhat shaken recently. On the morning of the trial match at the Oval, at the commencement of the present season, I found two large ladders astride my path just inside the ground. I looked at them apprehensively, but as there were several people about, and I was afraid they would laugh, I crossed my fingers firmly and walked under them both.

I made two centuries in that match, and I have been wondering whether I ought not to purchase a nice-looking ladder to stand against my house, so that I could walk under it every morning. But if one day I forget to cross my fingers, I dread to think what would happen.

"Plum" Warner's Cap.
Many cricketers find the figure nine a bigger bogey than thirteen. A careful examination of the scores in a number of matches will prove that a large proportion of batsmen are dismissed when this fatal figure forms part of their score. There are far more nines than hundreds scored every season.

Some cricketers cherish all sorts of queer fads in regard to dress. One man I know would no more think of putting his right boot on before his left than he would of going to the wicket in his socks. My own particular fad is for putting the left pad on before the right, and in walking out to the wicket at the commencement of a game, or after an interval, I must be on the right-hand side of my partner, or I should be very unhappy. Old caps are perhaps the most popular of mascots. Everybody knows the Harlequin cap which Mr. Warner has worn as long as I can remember. Bobby Abel wore one for so many years that it faded from the deep, rich, Surrey brown to a pale dun colour. I have one which was once blue, and if I opened my bag one morning and found it missing, I am quite certain that the first straight ball would bowl me.

Red-Headed Umpires Are Lucky.

The first desire of one well-known but unlucky cricketer, on arriving at a ground was to get a look at the umpires. If one of them happened to be a red-headed man he was safe for a hundred. This may sound ridiculous, but the strange thing was that it used to come off. Unfortunately, there are few red-haired umpires, which explains why this particular cricketer, although skilful, was unlucky.

To borrow the gloves of a man who has just made a century is considered to be an excellent insurance against ill-luck. Personally, I have no faith in this. But I do know that it is terrible unlucky to leave one in the pavilion. It always means a badly bruised hand, and yet if you wear them religiously not more than one or two balls per season will rap your knuckles.

Merely Habits.

Bad luck may be brought upon a batsman by comrades in the pavilion. If the man, whose turn is to bat next has once put on his pads he should never take them off, even if he has to sit there all day. If he would only loosen the straps, a wicket will be certain to fall.

Many cricketers would no more think of going to the wicket without their pet mascot in a trouser pocket than they would of batting minus the garments themselves. I once knew a man who religiously carried dice in his trousers pocket until one day a particularly fast ball eluded his bat, hit him in the leg, and almost embedded one of his mascots in his thigh. After that he shifted them to the pocket of his shirt.

These fads and fancies are, of course, just as foolish as all other superstitions. When one comes to analyse them they are merely little habits, things we accustom ourselves to do, and unless they are done an unsettled frame of mind is the result.

After all, the unluckiest thing I know of in cricket is to get a real shooter first over.

PILES
Do not suffer another day with this chronic, bleeding, or protruding ailment. No surgical operation is required. At the City Hall.

The regular weekly session of the Municipal Council was held yesterday afternoon. Councillor Morris presided. Present also were Councillors Brownrigg, Ayre, Mullaly and Vinalcombe.

After the preliminary business attached to the opening of the meeting was disposed of, it was decided to hold a meeting on Saturday night at 8 o'clock to discuss proposals regarding the Peace celebration August 4th and 5th.

A letter was read from the American Consul, with a communication from the Acting Secretary of State at Washington, which set forth that the people of the United States appreciate deeply the courtesy and co-operation extended to the crews and officers of the aircraft and surface craft during their stay in Newfoundland. The Secretary of the Navy requested that there be conveyed to the citizens of St. John's the sincere thanks of the American people for their courtesy and congratulations on the successful voyage of the dirigible C-5 from New York to St. John's.

Plan of lay-out of ground on Rennie's Mill Road, belonging to Rennie's estate, was submitted, and ordered to lay over until further information was at hand.

A communication from P. C. Fearn as to sewerage, Cockpit Road, was also deferred.

Repairs to Hill's property, East End, which permit was asked for, was referred to the Engineer.

Mr. Faulkner, who proposes to build on LeMarchant Road, will be asked to pay cost of sewer extension in this street, and if he does he will be permitted to construct in the rear.

D. Brien, Belvidere Street, applied for sewerage. He is to see the Secretary in the matter.

Councillor Mullaly gave notice he would move for a new loan next week for small houses' sewerage.

The hopper complained of by J. T. Martin, will be moved from his ground.

Permits were ordered to be given C. Ude to build a garage for Mrs. Shea, Cochrane St.; to Allan Roberts for a garage, Hamilton Avenue; to John Bartlett to build an addition to house, Coronation St.; to A. G. Barnes for a stable and garage for M. E. Martin, Freshwater Road.

M. Noah's application to build extension, stood over for information.

Patrick Kavanagh will be permitted to build a garage and coach house, Cochrane St. but the place must not be used as a stable.

Plan of house for T. Cornick, passed.

The City Engineer's report on the application of E. G. Cousens for sewerage extension, was deferred.

Enquiry was ordered to be made on the application of P. H. Hudson, re house 14 Fleming St., as his letter came in too late.

Councillor Mullaly drew the attention of the Council to the fact that there were, he was informed, about 100 people driving motor cars at present who have not paid their licenses, and further that a large number of cars were yet unregistered. He urged more activity on the part of the police officer in charge of this business, and asked the attention of the Inspector General be called to the number of drivers playing without license. He also related a conversation with an outboard car owner, who had no number on his car; this man said he never heard of a license or a number being required.

It was decided to tender to the Mayor the Council's congratulations on the marriage of his daughter, accompanied with the members' best wishes.

"Something Wrong Somewhere."

Opening a parcel which had been taken at the door from an expressman by the maid and then passed to her, a west end lady was much startled yesterday afternoon to find $160 in sovereigns and 27 ten-dollar bills, wrapped around by a silken garment of underwear. Not having made any recent purchases and expecting no legacies from rich old aunts, the lady was considerably mystified. The name of the firm from which the parcel had come being on the wrapping paper, however, she repaired to the headquarters, where, after a short while, explanations were made.
