THE PROSPECTS.

Our exchanges, Metropolitan and Provincial, fairly bristle with indications of the forthcoming political struggle, and we must do our Reform conferees the justice of saying that they "buckle to their work" right manfully, and give no uncertain sound upon the questions at issue. Fully conscious of the great interests involved, and of the wary character of the foe with whom they have to deal, they are neither vain-gloriously boastful nor unnecessarily depressed, but relying upon the good sense of the masses, and the inherent strength of their just cause, they bring to the discussion of the merits of the opposing principles, and candidates cheerful confidence in the ultimate result, and a strong...

CHAPTER XXVI.

LOST IN THE GREAT "BUGLE SOUND" - MYSTIC IN THE DEFILE - BURY ROY AND HIS EXPLOITS.

Half-an-hour's further walking brought the wanderers to a narrow defile, from which the signal came with such distinctness that they knew the bivouac of the soldiers was there; and accordingly, when they had proceeded some distance down its narrow path, the lights of their watch-fires flared in their faces, and dusky forms were seen moving about in the fitful illumination.

Just then, too, the bugle broke shrilly forth, seemingly overhead; and looking up to a crag which towered over the other eminences, they saw the bugleman stationed, his outline being dimly brought out against the hazy sky.

"Hilloo!" shouted Gramme back in reply, and his voice produced an instant commotion in the group round the watch-fire. The soldiers rose to their feet uttering loud exclamations; and as the forms of Gramme and Douglass were discerned coming down the defile, Corporal Wingate advanced to meet them.

Hector Gramme was now as imperious and overbearing in manner as previously he had been dismayed.

"By Heaven, Wingate, I shall have you tried by court-martial," he foamed.

"It was not my fault, Captain, I do assure you," replied the corporal, "and I am not your fault! What the devil do you mean by that? Didn't you go off by a wrong road and without me?"

"We thought we were following you, sir, and when we found we weren't, we had no guide to tell us where to go."

"Well, do you know where we are now?"

"I am sorry to say we do not. I hoped the sound of the bugle would bring you to us; but if it had not, my intention was to bivouac here for the night."

"Ah, well, I don't see what else we can do. Who knows how far we are from Loch Nevis?"

"A good many miles, it seems, and the road is dangerous. We came across a Highlander at dusk, who promises to guide us to the loch in the morning, but he won't undertake to do it in darkness."

"What sort of a fellow is he?" The Highlanders hereabouts are not to be trusted.

"This is a shrewd remark, my friend, and in my opinion, but bright enough to know the paths and guide us over them. He is trying by the fire with the rest of the men. You had better question him."

"I shall. Meanwhile bring me something to eat, if your rascals have not consumed all the provisions. We two are as hungry as famished wolves."

"They had now reached a small level place in the defile, where the party had encamped and where the men had gathered round a blazing fire, the materials of which were easily procured from the pine wood which densely covered the slopes. At a smaller fire lay Allan, with his arms still bound, and his guard of two soldiers closely attending him."

"As may be imagined, the feelings of the youth were by no means pleasant or hopeful. He did not immediately fear for his life, but from certain expressions let fall by the soldiers he learned that he was to be put into the hands of Captain Campbell, from whose vindictive vengeance the worst was to be expected. His unsuccessful rival for the hand of Flora, whose worst passions were inflamed against him, would not miss such an opportunity of crushing him; and he was well aware that his complicity in the rebellion gave him the power, even as it had given Hector Gramme to destroy Glendinning. Dark and melancholy, and bitter were the reflections which silently occupied him as he lay upon the ground dreamily gazing at the group round the larger fire, beside whom lay, curled up and sound asleep, the bare-legged, shock-headed Highlander who had promised his services to guide the party to the loch in the morning."

To this man Allan had paid little attention, beyond observing that he seemed a dirty, tattered, stupid fellow, poorly and scantily clad, and his bear head covered with a profusion of matted hair, fiery red, which fully justified the name of Bury Roy, which he gave as his appellation. Before the party came across Roy, Allan had cherished the faint hope that some of his friends in the loch might draw to a head, and effect his rescue; while the military party was wandering in search of the loch. But so soon as Roy was engaged as guide, this hope departed and he resigned himself with all the philosophy he could muster to the hard fate which awaited him.

Softening of the brain is becoming unaccountably prevalent. Statistics show that in ten years, 1856-66, 11,000 deaths were registered from softening of the brain, and not less than 100,000 cases place the vast amount of material for medical vigils against this disease. Price $1. Sold by W. G. & Co., Wholesale and Retail.

BRANFAX—EPP'S COCOA.—GRAPEFUL AND COMFORTING.—The very agreeable character of this preparation has rendered it a general favourite. The West-India Gazette remarks:—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills." Each packet is labelled—James Epps & Co., Homoeopathic Chemists, London. dw

Who is Mrs Winslow?

A S this question is frequently asked, we will simply say that she is a lady who, for upwards of thirty years, has untiringly devoted her time and talents as a Female Physician and nurse, principally among children. She has especially studied the constitution and wants of this numerous class, and, as a result of this effort, and practical knowledge obtained in a lifetime spent as nurse and physician, she has compounded a Soothing Syrup for children teething. It operates like magic—giving rest to the mother, and inducing sleep to the child. In consequence of this article, Mrs Winslow is becoming world-renowned as a benefactor of her race; children certainly do rise up and bless her; especially in this case is this city. Vast quantities of the Soothing Syrup are daily sold and used here. We think Mrs Winslow has immortalized her name by this available article, and we sincerely believe thousands of children have been saved from an early grave by its timely use, and that millions yet unborn will share its benefits, and unite in praising her blessed name. No mother has discharged her duty to her suffering little one, in our opinion, until she has given it the benefit of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup. Try it, mothers—try it now.—Ladies Visitor, New York City.

Be sure and call for MR. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. Having the fac simile of CURTIS'S FERKINS on the outside wrapper. All others are base imitations. Sold by all Druggists.

Bronchitis, Coughs, Asthma AND all disorders of the THROAT and LUNGS, are relieved by using Brown's Bronchial Trochoc. I have been afflicted with Bronchitis during the past winter, and found no relief until I found your Bronchial Trochoc. C. H. GARDNER, Principal of Rutgers Female Institution, N. Y.

It gives me great pleasure to certify to the efficacy of your Bronchial Trochoc, in an affection of the Throat and Voice, induced by public speaking. They have suited my case exactly, relieving my Throat, and clearing my Voice so that I could sing with ease. T. DUCHARME, Chorister French Parish Church, Montreal.

When somewhat hoarse from cold or over exertion in public speaking, I have uniformly found Brown's Trochoc afford relief. HENRY WILKES, D.D., Pastor of Zion Church, Montreal. Sold by all Dealers in 25 cents per box.
