HAS A GAY TIME WHILE DYING OF POISON

Macon Lawyer Took Wrong Medicine, and When Told That He Could Not Live, Made His Will, Arranged Business and Started Lavish Entertainments.

Special to The Toronto World.
MACON, Ga., May 18.—Told by his physicians Friday night that he could not live, O. S. Walker, a prominent banker, is making a sort of gala affair of his last hours. He is holding receptions which are largely attended by his friends and is facing his fate with a gaiety that is almost unbelievable. Mrs. Walker has become resigned, and she is assisting in entertaining her husband's friends when they call. With death slowly creeping on him, the Walker home is at present the "gayest" place in Macon. Open house is being kept and there is a constant procession of visitors to see Walker and to keep him cheerful as he is crossing the great divide.

Last Wednesday night Walker took a poisonous drug by mistake for headache powders. Doctors were called and for a time they thought they could save his life, but late Friday the physicians told Walker that his case was hopeless and that death was inevitable. He was told, however, that he might linger for a day or two.

"I intend to die in cheerful fashion, then," said Walker. He summoned his wife and she was told of the verdict of the physicians. Mrs. Walker, who has been married only three years, broke down at first, but was consoled by her husband and agreed in making his last days on earth enjoyable.

Walker at first summoned his lawyers, made his will and put his business affairs in shape. Then the house was made bright with all sorts of flowers and friends were summoned. Saturday and today there has been a stream of visitors and Walker greets them as cheerily as the death were far in the future. He insists on music and one standing on the street would think some great social function was in progress in the Walker home.

Walker's friends put on a brave front while in his home, and in no manner alluded to his coming death. Most of them broke down and went as soon as they left the house. Walker himself has never shown the slightest sign of breaking down. He greets his friends brightly, recalls old times, tells jokes and never intimates that his hours are numbered.

Mrs. Walker is keeping up in a remarkable manner and is meeting her husband's wishes that his last hours shall be joyous.

STRENUOUS PLAYING CAUSED HIS DEATH

Thomas McGrath Collapsed on Football Field and Died in a Few Minutes.

In three months' time Thomas McGrath, 28, 185 Jones avenue, was to have been married. While playing football Saturday afternoon he collapsed on the field, dying a short time afterwards, while being carried to an ambulance. McGrath had strained his heart.

Saturday evening he was to have gone to his fiancée's for tea after the same, which took place at the Hiawatha grounds of the senior T. and D. League on Coxwell avenue, but his death prevented it.

SENT FROM CHICAGO TO SEE NEWCASTLE

New York Woman Called That Cruelty and Was Granted a Divorce.

RENO, Nev., May 18.—Alleging extreme cruelty, failure to provide and desertion, Mrs. Minnie E. Barron, formerly Miss Minnie Ellbeck of New York, was awarded a divorce here yesterday from Alfred E. Barron, a rich foundryman of Chicago. Mrs. Barron's father is a sheriff in Alaska and was formerly a director of the Northwestern Telegraph Company of Canada. Her stepmother lives at the Knickerbocker Hotel in New York.

Her one child is with Barron's sister in Canada. She testified that her husband compelled her and the child to go to Newcastle, Canada, to visit an aunt and that he later refused to allow her to return to her Chicago home, she says her father had to support her.

BELLE VALLEY, O., May 18.—(Can. Press.)—Burned and blackened, the bodies of fifteen miners who lost their lives early last evening when an explosion of fire damp partially wrecked the Imperial Mine, were brought to the surface today by rescuers, working under the direction of Deputy State Mine Inspector Ellwood.

Several attempts were made by rescue parties to enter the mine last night, but the gas had not vanished sufficiently to allow the rescuers to reach the bodies until after daylight this morning. The dead: Henry Fairhurst, 25, rescuer; body recovered; Robert Alton, aged 33, night boss; body recovered; Clarence Brown, aged 30, body recovered; Henry Bryant, aged 45, body recovered; Henry Dudley, aged 32, assistant superintendent; body recovered; Clyde Haskins, body recovered; nine Slav miners.

CORNELL STUDENTS DROWNED

ITHACA, N.Y., May 18.—(Can. Press.)—The finding today of an overturned canoe in Cayuga Lake has led to fears that four Cornell University students, two of them young women, who went for a ride in the canoe last night, have been drowned.

The students were Bradhard Bailey of Troy, N.Y., an editor of the Cornell Daily Sun; Reinhard A. Zimmer of Rochester; Miss Martha E. McCormick of Troy; N.Y., and Miss Neil C. Crackett of Middletown, N.Y.

GUESSES GOING AROUND AT OTTAWA

Sharp Difference of Opinion as to What August Senators Will Do With Naval Bill—Federal Aid to C.N.R. Likely—Relief For Bank Victims.

OTTAWA, May 18.—(Special.)—The three questions about which a great deal of surmising is going on at the capital are the fate of the naval aid bill, the Canadian Northern subsidies, and the relief to be afforded to the depositors and shareholders of the Farmers' Bank.

As to the first, one may hear almost any rumor he likes. The Conservatives seem confident that the senate will pass the bill after a brief discussion on second reading. The Liberals, or many of them, are equally confident that the senate will reject the bill. Another report is to the effect that the senate, upon second reading, will adopt a motion similar to the one presented by Senator Loughheed, when the Laurier naval bill was before the senate in 1910. The Loughheed motion read as follows: "That this house is not justified in giving consent to the said bill until it has been submitted to the judgment of the country."

C. N. R. to Get Aid. As to the Canadian Northern, it is generally believed that some financial aid over and beyond the usual railway subsidy will be granted, and this may take the form of a loan to the company by the government of Canada. Such legislation will be generally favored by the Liberal members, especially from the west, who view with alarm the report that the Canadian Pacific desires to absorb its rival.

It is also quite likely that the Liberals will not oppose some measure of relief for the depositors of the Farmers' Bank, and it is rumored that the depositors may receive from the government a dividend of 50 per cent. The bill to increase senatorial representation from the west will be put through the house, but will be thrown out by the senate. The Liberals are a unit in their opposition to that bill upon the ground that the senate should not be increased until the government has redistributed the representation of the provinces in the house of commons, in accordance with the census of 1911.

FREAK FASHIONS TO BE CENSORED

Pantaloons Gown and Slit Skirt May Disappear From Pittsburg.

Special to The Toronto World.
PITTSBURG, Pa., May 18.—The "pantaloons gown" and "slit gown" will not charm Pittsburg if Councilman W. A. Hovey's resolution, which he will introduce in council, passes. It bravely provides for a committee of three councilmen to confer with modistes and set the legal stands of modesty. This committee will have to decide just what is the smallest circumference allowed a skirt, just how much hoisery it may reveal, and just what fashions are within the law, and what without.

GREECE AND SERBIA STAND IN WAY OF SUCCESS OF PEACE CONFERENCE

LONDON, May 19.—(Can. Press.)—All the delegates to the Balkan Peace Conference are now in London and will be formally welcomed today by Sir Edward Grey, secretary for foreign affairs. The first meeting of the conference will be held Tuesday.

Whether a preliminary peace treaty will be signed this week, as was expected, is still doubtful. The Greek and Serbian delegates have not received authority to sign a treaty, and it is supposed that Greece and Serbia are pursuing a policy of delay in order to keep the Bulgarian forces before the Thetalia and Bulair lines while the territorial disputes with Bulgaria are still unsettled.

It is believed, however, that the powers will be able to influence Greece and Serbia to sign.

LEAPED FROM CAR TO DEATH SUNDAY SERVICE ON RADIAL CARS

Panic-Stricken When Fuse Blew Out, Mrs. Henry Glover Jumped to Pavement.

Frightened by the explosive blowing out of a fuse, Mrs. Mary Glover, wife of George Glover, 307 Bolton avenue, jumped from a westbound Carlton car near Sackville street at 8.30 o'clock Saturday night and broke her neck when she struck the pavement. James W. Derbyshire of 29 Whalen avenue, who was sitting on the front seat in the vestibule, sprang from his place to the street when the explosion occurred, and it is thought that Mrs. Glover followed his example. Mrs. Derbyshire was injured about the head when he fell, but was not seriously hurt.

Mrs. Glover was carried into the General Hospital, but died two minutes after she was admitted. The woman, who was very stout, had been troubled with her nerves, and was seldom allowed to go out alone.

The accident occurred when the car was midway between Sumach and Sackville streets. Claims Agent James H. Forrest of the street railway company immediately ordered the car to be taken to the Sherbourne street car barn, where it will be examined this morning by experts. The car was a new one of the double truck type.

Mr. Forrest states that the explosion is spoken of as a "blow out," and says that it is sometimes caused by two wires of the motor coming in contact.

Mrs. Glover's body was removed to the morgue, where an inquest will be opened at 2.30 today by Coroner M. M. Crawford.

SERIOUS RIOTS IN CINCINNATI

City in Desperation Seeks to Have Railway Put in Receiver's Hands.

CINCINNATI, O., May 17.—(Can. Press.)—The refusal of Governor Cox to send troops to this city in an effort to control the strike of the employees of the Cincinnati Traction Co., after spectacular riots in the early part of the day had influenced Mayor Henry T. Hunt to ask for the lifting of a petition by the City of Cincinnati for a receiver for the company.

After hearing arguments on the petition, Judge Geoghegan of the common pleas court, before whom the action was brought, adjourned court until Monday, when he will hear the remainder of the arguments and pass judgment.

Rioting was almost continuous today from the time the company attempted to operate cars out of the Brighton barns until they withdrew all cars from the streets at noon. The crews as well as the employees of the company riding on the first car out of the Brighton barn, were assaulted and beaten almost into insensibility and three of them are now at the hospital in a precarious condition. Various small riots in which the crews of the cars were beaten or forced to flee for their lives were common.

COLOGNE, May 17.—(Can. Press.)—That a Serbo-Bulgarian conflict is inevitable should Serbia persist in her demand for a revision of the ante-bellum treaty existing between those countries with regard to a division of spoils of war and if Serbia does not submit for Russian arbitration the question of the disposal of districts left open by the same treaty, is the belief expressed in a despatch received by the Cologne Gazette today from its Sofia correspondent, who says he reached this conclusion after interviewing several Bulgarian ministers and the various party leaders at the Bulgarian capital. Continuing the correspondent says: "Bulgaria will not hesitate to conclude an alliance with Austria-Hungary if such a step is necessary to achieve her end. Anti-Serbian feeling in Bulgaria is running high and is increasing hourly, and war if it comes will be most bitter."

Pacific Waters in Panama Canal.

PANAMA, May 18.—(Can. Press.)—The waters of the Pacific Ocean were today let into the Panama Canal. A giant blast, composed of 32,750 pounds of dynamite, was shot demolishing the dike to the south of Miraflores locks and allowing the water to flow into an extensive section in which excavations have practically been completed. The blast was successful in every way, and the vibration was felt in Panama City as there had been a slight earthquake.

WORLD QUESTION INVOLVED IN DISPUTE

London Times Says Editorially That All White Races Are Concerned in Dispute Between Japan and the United States, and Warns Japan to Hasten Slowly.

Special Cable to The World.
LONDON, May 18.—(3.30 a.m.)—(Copyright.)—The London Times publishes a long article today on the Californian alien land bill dispute, from the pen of Sir William Valentine Chirrol, probably the ablest English expert on "far eastern" affairs. Chirrol confines himself almost entirely to an analysis of the causes of the dispute, offering little definite comment beyond the recognition of the magnitude of the issue raised.

The Times in an editorial also emphasizes this. "The ultimate point in the dispute," it says, "does not affect the United States alone, still less the State of California. It is essentially a world question. That Japan's claim should first have become so acute as to be the cause of trouble in California is due to the accident of proximity. California is now the frontier line of the white races, beyond which are the teeming populations of Asia.

Fears Not Groundless. "We shall not judge this question aright unless we first seek to make allowance for nervous apprehension which undoubtedly pervades the inhabitants of the Pacific slope. Their fears are exaggerated and premature, but they are not entirely groundless. No useful purpose will be served by blind condemnation of the tendencies of public opinion in the western states. They spring not so much from race hatred as from the instinct of self-preservation, and even if the present minor dispute is composed, they will assuredly recur. It is an issue that will become more and more insistent whatever may be settled now, and it will have to receive the earnest attention of all the white races in time to come. But the magnitude of the question is out of all proportion to the immediate dispute, and we still hope the immediate dispute may prove capable of amicable adjustment.

Hasten Slowly.

"Meanwhile, altho Japan quite justifiably takes her stand upon her treaty rights, and is fully warranted in doing so, she will do well to remember that a claim to enter a neighbor's garden can at best only be quietly pursued. It is not the kind of claim which can be pressed with unrestricted indignation, however strong its documentary support may be."

Several others were more or less seriously injured, two of them, Frank Foy, chef, and Laura Miller, waitress, are in the hospital.

The cause of the accident has not been determined, but an inquest will be held tomorrow. The parents of Miss Junior reside at Echo Bay.

HYDRO LINEMEN NOW MAY STRIKE

It is understood that the hydro linemen will go out on strike this morning as a result of their failure to reach a settlement with the civic commission. For several days the linemen have been negotiating for a new agreement which includes a higher wage scale. The Toronto Electric Light Company's linemen are still out after a week's leisure. They too want more money.

NATIONAL PRIDE OF JAPANESE WOUNDED

But Strong Faith That the American People Will Decide Against Race Discrimination Is in Evidence and War Talk Is Denounced as Ridiculous.

TOKIO, May 18.—(Can. Press.)—Faith in the American people to see that justice is done the Japanese is the dominating note in the discussion of the Californian alien land ownership legislation. War talk is denounced as ridiculous, and only calculated to embarrass the two governments which are laboring for a peaceful settlement by diplomacy.

It is conceded, however, that failure on the part of the Americans to respond to the Japanese appeal for a discontinuance of the alleged discrimination would be liable to lead to some estrangement of the peoples. The Japanese public generally are convinced that the land bill is a racial and not an economic measure, and hence a blow to national pride, and they feel that the world must be taught the necessity of equal treatment for the whites and non-whites.

Praise Wilson's Course.

The Tokio newspapers are loud in their praise of President Wilson's seal in his endeavours to preserve the traditional friendship, and they recognise the difficulties which confront the president of the United States in the confounding conflict between state and federal rights.

The Nichi Nichi is of the opinion that the question as to whether the Washington government can procure for the Japanese equal rights depends upon the strength of Japanese diplomacy, and urges the government to take a firm attitude.

The joint celebration of the Japanese and American peace societies today was attended by 1000 Japanese. Speeches were made by Count Okuma, former minister of foreign affairs; Baron Sakai-tani, mayor of Tokio, and Tsunejiro Miyaoka, who was councillor of the Japanese embassy at Washington in 1908. All of the speakers endeavored to clarify the situation and decried jingoism.

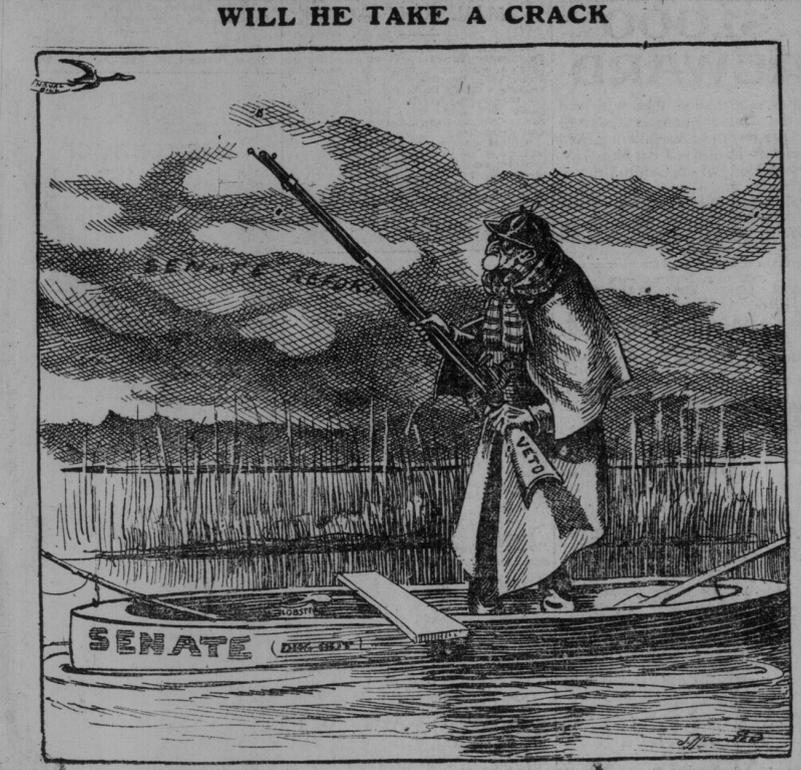

Abased Race Prejudices.

Count Okuma was loudly applauded when he compared the attitude of the Californian legislators with the anti-foreign movement in Japan half a century ago, which he looked upon as an abased race prejudice.

"We despised foreigners," he said, "because they looked different; we did not consider them human beings. Japan finally saw the falsity of its position, and became an admirer of everything western. The same causes underlie the Californian question, but, like the Japanese, the Californians will see the folly of their position, and truth and justice will triumph."

KING'S VISIT TO BERLIN

Several Other Outstanding Anglo-German Differences Will Likely Be Adjusted.

Special Cable to The World. BERLIN, May 18.—(Copyright)—Despite official denial, it is believed in political and court circles in Berlin that King George of England's visit here to attend the wedding of Emperor William's daughter will be made the occasion for a settlement of several Anglo-German differences.

Protection of German Interests. German interests must, of course, be protected, but there is a strong body of opinion that the line cannot possibly pay an actual dividend for a long time, and certainly not until western enterprises, which cannot be confined to one nation, has developed the whole country to an extent of which it is not believed the Turks will ever be capable.

This view, the stoutly opposed by the Deutsche Bank, is being maintained by persons in the emperor's confidence, and is affecting the situation in Vienna, and is affecting the situation in Vienna, and is affecting the situation in Vienna.

HOW'S THIS FOR AN EASTER EGG?

Czar's Gift to Czarina Made of Gold Set in Diamonds and Turquoise.

Special Cable to The World. ST. PETERSBURG, May 17.—Czar Nicholas, who will soon remove from the Winter Palace here to the imperial residence at Peterhof, 16 miles west of the Gulf of Finland, has been permitting certain favored persons to see the wonderful jeweled Easter egg which he added this year to the czar's collection. It was made to commemorate the tercentenary of the Romanoff rule, and is a masterpiece of work on it nearly a year. The outside is of gold, surmounted by a crown set in magnificent diamonds around a huge turquoise. Opening the egg by a tiny spring reveals a revolving pivot of leaves of ivory, each with a reproduction, exquisitely painted, of a ruler of the Romanoff house, beginning with the first Czar, Michael and ending with Nicholas.

This is a valuable addition to a unique collection which represents in value several hundred thousand dollars. The czar began it by giving his wife on the first Easter (1897) after their coronation, an egg of the same kind, the coronation color, decorated with the double-headed imperial eagle in black and surmounted with an exact reproduction of the diamond set which the czarina was crowned in. Inside the egg is placed a copy of the coronation carriage in gold and red enamel, with boxes for the cushions, the seats, gold doors that opened and shut, and gold wheels that revolved. The collection includes also the egg presented to her majesty to commemorate the Siberian Railroad in 1900, which has inside a whole set of cars, all in gold, with the mechanism so complete that they can be taken out and run along the floor.

POPULAR? WELL I SHOULD SAY SO

Mrs. George Keppel Easily First in the Hearts of "Lunnon" Society.

Special Cable to The World. LONDON, May 18.—During the desert at a big restaurant dinner given lately "paper games" were started (one of the modes of the moment), and "Who is the most popular woman in society?" was asked. When the answers were asked and counted nineteen out of the twenty-two guests had voted for Mrs. George Keppel.

Not only do her movements interest all society, but it is the wish of both King George and Queen Mary that Mrs. Keppel and her husband, who planned to spend most of the summer on the continent, shall be in London at least part of the season.

The king has a great liking for the quiet, unobtrusive George Keppel, whose devotion to his wife is an example to many who would sit in judgment on them.

"The queen and myself," the king is said to have remarked on the occasion of the memorial dance at the palace, "hope to see much more of Mrs. Keppel and yourself during the season."

Mrs. Keppel is not in good health. It is solely for this reason that she would prefer the quieter season abroad. She has no fear of facing society these days, for society is only too anxious to be included in her exclusive invitation list.

Will Adjourn Early. Premier Borden's meeting will precede the city council meeting in session after 10 o'clock this afternoon. No business of exceptional importance, to be considered by the council, and routine work will probably be hurried through with very little debate.

ARMIES OF WARRING MAKE THEATRES BATTLE GROUND

John Hansen, American Producer, Asserts Right to Put on Baron de Rothschild's New Play, "Croesus," But Arthur Boucherier, Who Is to Play the Leading Role, Now Holds the Fort.

Special Cable to The World. LONDON, May 18.—(Copyright)—The Garrick Theatre was stormed Saturday by a hundred commissioners hired by Arthur Boucherier, and after a hand-to-hand combat, in which several of the fighters were wounded, the playhouse was wrested from the possession of John SALTER Hansen, an American producer.

Baron Henri de Rothschild's play, "Croesus," was to be produced at the Garrick next Thursday night. It is not known tonight what effect the troubles between Boucherier and Hansen will have on the presentation of the play.

Boucherier watched today's fight from the window of a neighboring club. A great crowd witnessed the melee. The commissioners, several of whom were in the theatre in a phalanx and demanded entrance to Boucherier's private room, which was filled with members of the veteran corps who had been in possession since last night, when, after a fight, they routed the Boucherier forces.

Invaders Used Hammers. The Boucherier phalanx forced the doors and swarmed all over the building, searching for the Hansen battalions. Several of the invaders are said to have been armed with hammers. It is asserted that Hansen's secretary was struck on the forehead by a hammer, another person, it is alleged, was injured on the forehead by a hammer.

The commissioners hounded out the veterans as fast as they got the clutches on them. It was a hot scrimmage while it lasted. The police did not interfere. Attackers and defenders were all ex-soldiers.

Hansen drove up in a motor car just after his men were defeated, and made an attempt to break through the crowd. He was arrested Saturday night in Gray inn road on a warrant issued with a view to putting him under bonds to keep the peace toward Boucherier.

"My reason for refusing to event 'Croesus' from being produced next Thursday," said Mr. Hansen, "is that I believe the play is very weak, and I am sure it will be a failure."

"I have the sole rights of the play, as well as the rights of the Garrick, and inasmuch as I have engaged Mr. Boucherier at a salary of $600 a week to play the leading part, I consider myself the sole manager of the house. I cannot possibly imagine by what right Mr. Boucherier announces 'Croesus' is under his management."

"If I had only got the Garrick in time today I would have shown Boucherier's men a real western scrimmage, and the result of the combat of the veterans and commissioners would have been different."

"I shall not make any application for an injunction to prevent Baron Rothschild from producing his play, 'Croesus,' for it is, in fact, my play. I bought it from him. I wonder if he is right when he says that 'Money can obtain everything but love'?"

"When the combat at the Garrick took place, Hansen was on the way back from Epsom, where he had laid his troubles before a judge."

Two Royal Marriages to Take Place One Week Apart.

PRINCE HENRY OF REUSS

Weds Princess Margaret, and Kaiser's Daughter Becomes Prince Ernest's Bride.

Special Cable to The World. BERLIN, May 18.—Princess Victoria Margaret of Prussia was married today to Prince Henry XXIII of Reuss, the wedding taking place just one week ahead of the bride's cousin, Princess Victoria Louise of Prussia.

Princess Victoria Louise's wedding gown is the finest ever seen, but simple with high neck and long sleeves. Its cost is estimated at $800. The most elaborate part of it is the train, which is four yards long and handmade of the finest lace and embroidered according to a special design by Fraulein von Wedde, one of the most famous embroidery artists in Germany.

Particular attention has been paid to the bridal veil, which was ordered from the Silesian lace school. An attempt was made to buy a picture of the Kaiser's daughter, but the price, furnished the idea for the pattern, which was designed by Fraulein Annakari de Beaulieu, one of the most famous designers in Germany.

The veil is six feet eight inches long and five feet wide. The pattern was made of two hundred separate drawings of the original design, each representing a different picture of blossoms and creepers. The centre design is especially beautiful and will be universally admired.

The veil is the finest example of Silesian lace-making ever seen. More than fifty girls of the Silesian school worked on the veil incessantly for six weeks and Fraulein Beaulieu went seven times to Hildberg, to watch the progress of the work. The cost of the veil is estimated at $1000.

Besides her wedding dress the princess will wear twelve different gowns and twelve tailor-made suits. The lingerie was ordered in Berlin, but the order was divided among twelve firms to avoid customs duties.

Strictly Private. The functions for next week's wedding of the emperor's daughter to Prince Augustus of Cumberland, which is officially described as a "strictly private ceremony," will be a special performance at the opera on Thursday, May 23, a "poiter-abend" in the palace, and the presentation. There will be no official "bring-in of the bride," as is customary, because Princess Victoria is a Berliner anyhow.

The emperor is so notorious that when the crown prince was to be had to subject himself to much chaff from his fellow officers, but it is not likely that the emperor's own jokes will be passed at Friday's banquet.

There will be too many of these jokes about an old Geheimrath who helped arrange to get the emperor's own wedding, is reported to have said.

"Royal Dovecot." The honeymoon will be spent at the emperor's estate at Hildberg, on Lake Werbellin, not far from Berlin, where both the crown prince and his brother Eitel also spent their honeymoons. Eitel calls the little Schloss "the royal dovecot."

Princess Victoria and her future husband occupied part of the time in Hildberg last winter in interviewing and having the servants for their future home at Rathenow, where for a time at any rate Prince Ernest will serve with the Prussian army, a regiment to which he is now attached.

It is said that the princess should not go directly to a palace with a huge staff of military officials, and a complicated hierarchy of palace officials, but that she should go to a small house in Rathenow, where the young couple will reside, she complained that there was "no chicken run" in the engagement, was after the dairy and fowl in the emperor's holiday estate in East Prussia is well known, and the princess has been brought up to share her tastes.

Among the anecdotes current in Berlin is one that the emperor's own wedding, is reported to have said.

"Royal Dovecot." The honeymoon will be spent at the emperor's estate at Hildberg, on Lake Werbellin, not far from Berlin, where both the crown prince and his brother Eitel also spent their honeymoons. Eitel calls the little Schloss "the royal dovecot."

Princess Victoria and her future husband occupied part of the time in Hildberg last winter in interviewing and having the servants for their future home at Rathenow, where for a time at any rate Prince Ernest will serve with the Prussian army, a regiment to which he is now attached.

It is said that the princess should not go directly to a palace with a huge staff of military officials, and a complicated hierarchy of palace officials, but that she should go to a small house in Rathenow, where the young couple will reside, she complained that there was "no chicken run" in the engagement, was after the dairy and fowl in the emperor's holiday estate in East Prussia is well known, and the princess has been brought up to share her tastes.

Among the anecdotes current in Berlin is one that the emperor's own wedding, is reported to have said.

OVER FOUR THOUSAND MARCHED IN GARRISON CHURCH PARADE

Troops Took Half an Hour to File Past Lieutenant-Governor, Who Received Salute at Parliament Buildings— Crowd Estimated at Two Hundred Thousand Lined Streets on the Line of March.

Seldom has there been a more brilliant scene in Toronto than the spring garrison church parade of yesterday. The drizzling rain of some years was not in evidence. Sunlight beamed down all afternoon, and there were breezes so warm that overcoats were unnecessary. Just how many men actually marched in the parade is unknown, as the parade state has not yet been fully made up. It is estimated, however, that including cadets, there were approximately 4000. This estimate is almost verified moreover by the appearance of Massey Hall, where the troops had all entered for the service. Not one seat was unoccupied.

The five mile parade was witnessed by the greatest of Toronto assemblies. It is difficult to even guess at the number of persons who witnessed it. Officers of the different regiments, who have seen the parade for years, stated to The World that the throng that turned out this year was greater than on any previous occasion. These considerations it is safe to say that the brilliant spectacle was beheld by 200,000 of Toronto's citizens.

In scenic effect the parade was a riot of color. Newest fashions in millinery, combined with the presence on the streets of thousands of handsomely dressed women, made the scene one of rare brilliance from the soldier's standpoint. From the standpoint of the sightseer the parade was even more colorful, and only the kinematic color could give a proper idea of the gorgeous display produced as the troops marched up Jarvis street, following to the music of a dozen of the Dominion's best bands.

The main event in the parade was the taking of the salute by Lieutenant-Governor Sir John Gibson. As he took the salute Sir John stood immediately in front of the parliament buildings and smiled for half an hour as the soldiers marched past. The garrison was in command of Major-General F. G. Lessard, C.B., and the different units were in charge of the following officers: Lieut.-Col. Merritt, cavalry brigade; Lieut.-Col. Smith, Governor-General's Body Guard; Lieut.-Col. Sir Henry Pellatt, infantry brigade; Lieut.-Col. Mercer, Q.O.R. regiment; Lieut.-Col. Peuchen and Rennie, first and second battalions Queen's Own Rifles; Lieut.-Col. Christie, Cavalry; Mississauga Horse, and Major McDougall, Ninth Field Battery.

The muster of the troops took place at the armories and as early as one o'clock soldiers from all parts of the city were seen making their way towards University avenue. An hour later the formation of the troops began, and it was ten minutes to three o'clock before everything was ready. Major-General Lessard then gave the command "Forward" and the biggest garrison parade that Toronto has ever seen started south on University avenue.

the divine. Gideon went forth to battle because God had issued a call and he obeyed. There was not a man today to whom there was not a call, as Gideon was called, to do his mission.

"We are all called to the fight, the fight between good and evil. There is a language we cannot help speaking. It is the language of influence. You may try to stand on the fence, or in other words, try to be a cypher, but you cannot. We are either making for right or wrong. For right and the blessing of God or for evil."

Referring to General Gordon, the speaker declared that the famous soldier realized he was a servant of God, and it was for this reason that he accomplished so much. At a certain hour every day he would have a small flag placed outside his tent and while that as the general was then praying to his Master for guidance. Gordon's Bible was one of the late Queen Victoria's most cherished possessions and is now in Windsor Castle.

The sermon was followed by the singing of the hymn, "All people that on earth do dwell," and concluded with "The National Anthem."

As the soldiers left the hall, a recessional was played by the band of the Governor-General's Body Guard.

Particular care was taken to make the marching uniform and dignified, but whenever the pipe band of the 48th Highlanders struck up "Highland Laddie," the regimental march, an easy stride came to the men and the long lines immediately began to lilt to the tune.

Other regiments in addition to the 48th Highlanders came in for praise and admiration. From the standpoint of the lady on the street, the members of the Governor-General's Body Guard in their blue uniforms and silver white helmets with pendant plumes were entrancing. This regiment had a remarkable turnout, having 150 more men in line than any previous year. The full dress uniform of the Royal Grenadiers is always effective on account of the black bear bushes worn by the men. Yesterday the battalion appeared at its best, and shared the praise of the spectators. The Queen's Own Rifles, too, were out in full force, and kept excellent formation.

The cadet organizations were a striking feature of the parade and one which greatly stirred the interest of the crowd. Among those which attracted special attention were the boys from St. Andrew's College, who marched with the 48th Highlanders, and the detachment from Upper Canada College who marched with the Queen's Own Rifles. Besides these cadets, there were hundreds of Varsity in the different battalions.

A representative of The Toronto World saw the show in Detroit on Saturday night and returned to Toronto with the company on a special C. P. R. train yesterday. By doing so The World was able to see the actors both on and off the stage, and a nice crowd of actors it is hard to find. Miss Hoffmann herself has some new "stunts" this year in addition to the beautiful "Spring Song" dance, and does some good as ever, and in addition to her dancing, gets over some very witty lines. She also has some striking costumes. Evey Bernard, who incidentally isn't Scotch, portrays the character of Mr. Cohen from Newark. Now, Mr. Bernard doesn't believe in caricaturing Jews, or anyone else, on the stage, and his "Mr. Cohen" is just as natural as any Hebrew citizen to be seen in Toronto or any place else. In fact, to play a Jewish character, Mr. Bernard needs only to be natural. Dave Jones and Ralph Austin have a reputation as two of the most original funny men in the business, and they live up to it.

See "Sunshine." This isn't to be a critique of the show. If it were, the theatrical critic wouldn't have any job tonight, and he wants to go. But, you ought to see some of the ladies in the company. There's Sunshine, for instance—and that's her name, Marion Sunshine, who is one of the brightest little girls you ever knew. And Ethel Hopkins is some girl, too, with the emphasis on the "sum." Miss Louise Dresser is as popular as ever, and does some good business, especially in her scene with Mr. Abramovitch—beg pardon, Mr. Bernard. Incidentally, Mr. Bernard will play next near in "Potash and Perlmutter."

There are far too many good ones in the company to make very special mention of any. One of the best of the good ones is one of the brightest little girls you ever knew. And Ethel Hopkins is some girl, too, with the emphasis on the "sum." Miss Louise Dresser is as popular as ever, and does some good business, especially in her scene with Mr. Abramovitch—beg pardon, Mr. Bernard. Incidentally, Mr. Bernard will play next near in "Potash and Perlmutter."

Language of influence. "We gather here twice during the year not for parade, but to hear the word of God and take part in his praises and to receive his blessing upon our services as soldiers for the empire," declared Captain the Rev. J. S. Broughall, chaplain of the Governor-General's Body Guard, in opening his address, for which he took as his text: "The Sword of the Lord and of Gideon."

"The story of that battle tells us of the victory of Gideon in his day," he continued. "It also tells us how every man may win a victory today. It tells us the only successful way in which to conduct our life—namely by the co-operation of two forces, the human and

A Great Chorus. The C. P. R. special which brought the company and its baggage and scenery to Toronto consisted of three baggage cars, six parlor cars and a diner. There must have been a thousand chorus girls on board. The train was in charge of the Toronto, which popular railroader, and Syd Worthelm, superintendent of the dining car service, also was on hand to see that the actors got enough to eat. And feeding actors is no picnic.

Be in the Borden Procession. SECOND WEEK IN PALESTINE. Dr. N. W. Hoyles, K.C., will give an address at 3 p.m. today in connection with "Palestine in Toronto," which opens its second week at the transportation building, on the exhibition grounds. Dr. R. E. MacKay will be chairman. It is stated that the past week's attendance record of the exhibition in Toronto exceeds that of any previous presentation on the continent. Among those who attended were 6000 school children who were admitted free of charge. On Victoria Day, "Palestine" will be shown in the morning, afternoon and evening.

Foreigners Are Barred From Holding Land There—People Roused.

BERLIN, May 17.—(Can. RUNAWAY MATCH SPOILED BY CAT

Black Feline Ran in Front of Bride, Who Took It as an Ill Omen.

Special to The Toronto World. WELLSBURG, W. Va., May 18.—A big, gaunt, black alley cat was the cause of bitter tears and the indefinite postponement of a runaway marriage here last night, when Harry Sanderson, a young coal operator of Dawson, Pa., driving a fast automobile, had outdistanced the car driven by H. A. Albright, father of the tancee, Miss Julia Albright, and with her was about to enter the home of the minister where the ceremony was to have been performed. Sanderson and his bride had a good hour's start on Albright. Just a few minutes before the court house closed the young couple obtained a license. Then young Sanderson called up a minister and made arrangements for the marriage.

POPLIN AND MOIRE COMBINED.

This costume displays a favorite grouping of colors and materials. The greater part of it is of the poplin in mole gray with vest front, cuff edges and made buttons of ivory white moire. The back of the coat is rather plain, trimmed on the lower part with groups of the buttons. The front is smartly cutaway and crossed by a brilliant corded sash, which passes through openings made in the small fitting darts. The end is fastened inside the coat, the sash itself extending only a scant width past the opening underneath.

ONCE AGAIN POLICE HAVE TO AID SUFFS

At Hyde Park and Elsewhere Women Are Put to Rout.

LONDON, May 18.—(Can. Press.)—While the scenes of rowdyism in Hyde Park were not so marked today as on recent Sundays when the suffragettes attempted to hold meetings, the operators who espoused the cause of the women found it impossible to make themselves heard on account of interruptions by the crowd. Finally they had to accept the services of the police in obtaining safe escort from the park. Meetings also were held at Hampstead and other suburbs, and the operators received similar treatment.

NURSERY CONDUCTED BY E. Clinon Murray

THE SICK CHILD

It is absolutely necessary to give up one room exclusively to the sick child if a prolonged sickness is anticipated. This should be the quietest, sunniest, best room in the house. The room off the sun-room is ideal. The bed should be placed so that the sun shall not shine directly into the patient's eyes, and also, out of the direct line of a draft from the door and open window. In many cases where it is not possible to select the location for the bed, a screen will protect it from drafts. System is never so important as in the sick room. System means quietness, order and pleasant surroundings, and gives the sick one the best chance possible. No visitors are allowed except with the permission of the doctor. And even then, never more than two persons are allowed in the room at the same time. If there is a nurse in attendance, do not interfere with her in any way. Often a child becomes unmanageable with the nurse because of a mother's interference. Leave her alone, she will gain the child's confidence very quickly if you leave them alone together and let them get acquainted in their own way. Where there is no nurse, one person should be responsible for the patient and the sick room, being relieved only for sleep and exercise.

In contagious diseases the responsible person should not leave the room, but should have her bed there or in an adjoining one. All things should be kept separate, and, even washed in the room, if possible. All clothes, towels and the nurse's outer clothing should be soaked in a solution of carbolic acid—one half ounce to a gallon of water—before they leave the room. No visitors are allowed; even the family are excluded for fear of carrying the contagion about the house.

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY.

A systematic arrangement of all your affairs, especially those concerning health and wealth, will surely gain you a great advantage toward the end of the year. You are warned against wasting time in purposeless discussions. Those born today will be intelligent and energetic and generally fortunate. Their danger will be from growing up under narrow, bigoted surroundings, instead of the broad, scientifically correct training which will best develop their character and powers.

CUPID OUTWITS CZAR AND KING

Servian Prince Will Wed Mrs. Pratt, Dashing American Grandmother.

TWO MARRIAGE KNOTS

Religious Ceremony in Florence and Civil One in Paris.

Special Cable to The World.

FLORENCE, Italy, May 18.—(Copyright.)—Mrs. Huger Pratt of New York and Chicago, and Prince Arsene Karageorgewitch, brother of King Peter of Servia, are to be married in Florence by religious ceremony, it is announced today. The czar of Russia and King Peter have opposed the match in vain. The civil ceremony was to have been performed here too, but the Italian law has proved to contain obstacles, so the couple will have the civil contract of matrimony entered into at Paris, where Mrs. Pratt has resided for a number of years.

Mrs. Pratt is a grandmother. She has been twice married and has had a varied career. She and her second husband, Huger Pratt, once had a summer home at Bar Harbor. Her daughter was married some years ago to Count Mercati of Athens.

Gay Figure in Paris. Prince Arsene Karageorgewitch lodged formerly over a cafe on Rue du Hoelder, Paris. He was there when his brother Peter ascended the Servian throne. He played the races and was a gay figure in Bohemian circles. He went broke in 1904.

Mr. NEWLYWED said—"Well, if he keeps such good salt, I guess everything else in his store must be good, so I would do all my trading there, if I were you."

EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING BY HENRIETTA D. GRAUEL DOMESTIC SCIENCE LECTURER

Strawberry Short Cake. STRAWBERRY short-cake is the most popular of all the fruit cakes, no matter whether it is made "like mother's" or in some way just as good.

The first berries on the market seldom taste as well as they look; a very few of them with cream will satisfy one, but they are fine for short-cake, even if they are sharp and sour.

To make this nice dessert is a pretty housewifely accomplishment that any one who can bake biscuits may easily acquire.

The recipe for the cake part is very similar to a recipe for biscuit. The mixture may be baked in sheets or in layer cake pans, but individual cakes baked in muffin rings are much liked.

A fine recipe is as follows: 2 cups sifted pastry flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons baking powder; sift these together. Add three tablespoons of shortening and two tablespoons of sugar. Mix quickly and lightly with 1 cup of milk. Pat into shape and bake in two cake tins until a golden brown.

A more delicate and richer cake is made by adding eggs. Blend a cup of sugar with 1/4 cup of shortening, add the yolks of 2 eggs well beaten, 1/2 cup milk, 1 1/2 cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder. The whites from the two eggs may be used in the berry filling.

When the cakes are baked split each layer in half with a fork. (To cut warm cake or bread makes it heavy). Butter the layers generously and cover with a cloth while you prepare the fruit.

Wash the berries and, after stemming, cut the small ones in half. Keep the big, fine ones for the top of the cake.

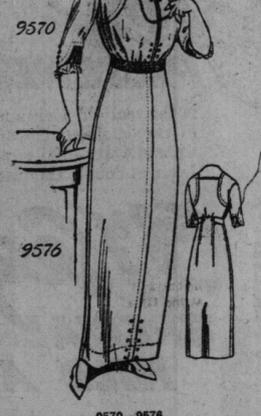

Cover the split berries with powdered sugar and let stand a few minutes, then spread over the cake. Cover the top of the cake with a layer of powdered sugar and lay the plump, perfect berries on it. Heap whipped cream, or the sweetened whites of the eggs over all.

If the berries are very sour make the filling thus: Beat the whites of two eggs to a stand alone froth and thicken this froth with sifted confectioner's sugar. Cut the berries in halves and mix them into this filling so that they are well crushed and the snowy mixture reddens with the berries' contact.

Spread this over the cakes and between the layers and crown the cake's summit with saccharine snow.

THE GARDEN CONDUCTED BY RACHEL R. TODD M.D. BLEEDING HEART (Dielytra Spectabilis)

The first living specimen of this plant seen in Europe was sent to the London Horticultural Society in 1846 by one Robert Fortune, who brought it, along with some other varieties from China, where he had gone in 1842 as a representative of the society for purposes of research.

The illustration calls for two separate patterns which will be mailed to any address on receipt of 15c for each pattern in silver or stamps.

Pastry baskets and rosettes, or tea biscuits covered with crushed strawberries in whipped, sweetened cream is a dessert to thank heaven for, especially when a great pitcher of rich sweet cream is passed with it.

The generic name of fragaria, meaning to give fragrance, was given the strawberry by the Romans. The name of "straw" by which we designate it, came from the early custom of stringing the beauties on straws or long blades of grass, when picking them for market.

Strawberries contain citric acid and salts of lime and are excellent for persons of gouty or bilious temperament, and all physicians agree that they are ideal food in their season.

Those unfortunate persons who "just love berries," but cannot eat them because of the acid in this fruit, may be pleased to hear what Uncle Sam says in his latest bulletin on fruit raising. "The strawberry lover, with whom the fruit does not agree, will be able to indulge in it plentifully if a small quantity of carbonate of soda is taken after eating them."

NO OTHER WAY

bear, the detective could not form a clear opinion. But, in many aspects, she was of the criminal class, and Clancy had an extraordinary genius for projecting himself into the mind of such a woman, and thus forecasting her actions under certain given conditions.

"There," he said to the ticket examiner, when Mrs. Delamar stepped ashore on to a dimly lighted landing stage, "is that the lady to whom you spoke last Tuesday week?"

"That's her," said the man. "I could swear to her among a thousand by her walk, and general get-up, I mean, because I couldn't see her face."

"And you are quite sure she did not go to New York that evening?" "Why, sir, how could she, when she went back to Atlantic City, and passed thru here again this day week?"

"You are positive about the dates?" "I can't help being positive. By mistake, she gave up an out-of-date round trip ticket, and paid the fare for a single journey."

"There may be nothing in the matter, or it may be very important. At any rate, I shall see that an official letter is sent from the bureau to your boss commending you on your attention to detail."

"It's very good of you, sir," said the gratified ticket man. "May I ask who the lady is, and why you are interested in her movements?"

"I shall tell you that subsequently. But no word of my enquiry to anyone. She went into the town and remained there a couple of hours—is that correct?"

"To a minute. There are just two hours and ten minutes between the boats and if you allow five minutes for the stroll into the town—why, there you have it."

"To those unacquainted with the geography of that part of New Jersey it should be explained that Absecon may be approached either by water, either by rail or by a ferry across the channel that shuts off the larger town from the mainland, and the two places are some miles apart."

Clancy, who had already unearthed the sinister fact that Mrs. Delamar, instead of traveling to New York before her husband's disappearance, had actually gone there after it meant to follow up the trail at Atlantic City next day. He took no great credit to himself for the discovery. He was in Absecon for the purpose of shadowing Mrs. Delamar if she returned to "The Rosery."

"Of course, I saw the diary (Kyrle's, I suppose) with bated breath. But the man was a crank, and whether alive or dead, cranks are apt to be unusual. Thus far the only link connecting the woman with the man's death is the presence in the diary of a signature that, presumably, she alone smokes. Just now they impress me as being a trifle too obvious."

But the mood passed as the boat neared "The Rosery." His mind was busy with the why and wherefore of a quest that must either justify itself within a few hours or be abandoned as a useless waste of energy on the part of the detective bureau.

"If ye put yer hand out now, sorr," he whispered, "ye will find a sort of landing place, with a mooring ring about a foot or so from the edge. It will secure the boat if ye light a match; that's the way to get the boat ashore, because none of the people can have reached the house yet."

Clancy, however, preferred to grope about until he had found the ring. He climbed out, sought for his companion's hand, and took a small rope with which he held the boat fast. Then the other joined him, and they crept along a path until they stood among the dense undergrowth within a few feet of the seaward front of the house, and separated from it by a narrow strip of lawn. There was some rustling in the trees overhead; but the two men moved so quietly that never a roosting bird was disturbed.

The detective's object in watching the exterior of the dwelling was simple enough. This was the house that he wished to learn, if only by inference, whether or not Mrs. Delamar would conduct herself in a normal manner. She must be weary of the strain of a longer day. Would she retire to her room as quickly as possible, or would she keep an uneasy vigil till dawn? If the latter, what form would her rest take? A good deal depended upon this small issue. If Mrs. Delamar went to bed and composed herself to sleep within the next hour, Clancy would have added difficulty in believing that she was tortured by the memory of a crime. He laid stress on such trivialities as these, and the servants talked to Stegall in an expansive moment:

"Let me watch any suspected man or woman for an hour while they believe themselves alone and unseen, and I will tell you positively whether they are guilty or innocent. Of course, they must not know they are suspected, because suspicion may torture the innocent far more than the guilty. It is the workings of conscience I want to see, not the anguish of innocence unjustly accused."

Yet, not all his wide experience prepared him for the incidents he was destined to witness that night. If not unique—because stranger things have happened—they were new to Clancy, and he would scarce have credited the story if it came to him only by hearsay.

The watchers had not long to wait. The boat had gone straight to "The Rosery," the cab that brought Mrs. Delamar and the servants to the ferry had soon covered the tortuous road that skirted the scattered buildings of Absecon, and then descended again to the water's edge.

The vehicle stopped at the gate. They heard it drive off, steps sounded on the carriage-way, a key rattled, and a lamp was lighted in the dining room.

An angular, hard-featured woman drew the blinds. "That's Mary Mallow, the housekeeper," whispered the policeman. "A dark night suits her style of beauty," said Clancy, and the other man chuckled; for this bit of sarcasm was intended to come within his comprehension.

Soon a light glimmered in the larder and it was reasonable to suppose that a meal was being improvised. Mrs. Delamar, who was sitting at the table, turned to her bedroom; for a candle-threw a mild beam thru its windows into the darkness. The watchers could see her head and shoulders as she passed to and fro while removing her hat and wraps. Then she went downstairs again, undoubtedly to the dining room; but to make sure, Clancy stole across the lawn, and screwed an eye thru a chink in the blind.

Fortunately, Mrs. Delamar had seated herself in front of the best available opening. She was in profile; but her face was lighted by the lamp, and it was easy to see that Black Care was her vis-a-vis in a perfunctory feast. She tried to eat a breast of chicken and some dainty slices of ham, but the fare looked appetizing enough; but she soon pushed away the plate, and nibbled a crust of bread while sipping some coffee.

Taking a letter from her pocket, she read it, evidently not for the first time, and she was thinking so deeply that some of her really real remarks, beauty fled, and left her cold, calculating, almost repellant.

At last, abandoning the pretence of eating, she rose, crumpled up the paper in one hand, and carried the lamp in the other into the drawing room. She went to a writing table, and was seen for a few moments on her present purpose to bother about the bills, so that a small area of the lawn was faintly illuminated thru three French windows that opened on to a verandah. Clancy thought it advisable to rejoin his companion, which he succeeded in doing by making a detour.

Again there was some nervous rustling and furtive glances up in the trees. The birds perched there probably saw him, and they surely heard him.

Mrs. Delamar wrote, and wrote. She covered page after page of note paper, often consulting the letter produced in the dining room and beginning again after pondering some new passage. Mary Mallow came in, but was promptly shut out. At one o'clock she was in for nearly an hour. Mrs. Delamar addressed an envelope, and picking up the eight or nine sheets of the letter, began to read what she had written, thereby proving herself a more careful correspondent than the majority of her sex.

At that moment a tug snorted its way down the channel, and the policeman, who wondered what motive could inspire this queer little New York detective in watching a woman writing a letter, joggled Clancy's arm. "This shallow water hereabouts, an' the tide will be fallin' a bit, sorr," he muttered. "I had better go and pay out the painter, or our boat will be left high and dry, and it'll be a job gettin' her off."

"If an' sorry to keep you waiting," said Clancy, "but I must go now, until the lady retires. I cannot explain things to you now; but all this helps. I do not think we shall be here (To Be Continued.)"

TORONTO HOUSING PLANS.

The Globe does not appear to have made itself familiar with the proposals of the Toronto housing committee, or even with the act "to encourage housing accommodation in cities and towns," passed in the recent session of the legislature. Otherwise it would not have to make all the objections it raises in its article on Saturday on the request of the housing company to guarantee $850,000 of the company's bonds, being 85 per cent. of the $1,000,000 being raised for the project.

The Globe is afraid the money may be spent outside the city on a tract of land "east of Leaside and far north of Danforth avenue." A housing settlement there is not objectionable to The Globe, but there must be no municipal money put into it. The Globe may relieve its anxiety on this and other heads by perusing the act. The Globe is solicitous for the development of available sites within the city boundaries, and has no mind for garden city suburbs except for private enterprise.

Section four of the act provides that the city council or a committee thereof shall approve the location of the lands and the general plans of the houses. The raising of the money and its disposition, pending the expenditure, must be satisfactory to the council, and the council has the right to appoint a director on the company's board. The books of the company are to be open at all times to the agent of the council. The profits, after the payment of six per cent., are to be spent in acquiring lands, improving the housing accommodation by way of new buildings, additions, extensions or other improvements.

The plans of the housing company, so far as the city is immediately concerned, are not such as should disturb The Globe with visions of a garden city developing on the borders of Scarborough Township. The plot on which the first houses are to be erected is at the back of the General Hospital on Spruce street. The company has other property to be used as sites on Bain avenue. These will probably absorb all the activities of the company until the property far north of Danforth avenue and east of Leaside has been annexed to the city.

MOTOR BUSES IN TORONTO.

Somebody has been raising the motor bus as a bogey to scare the city out of the purchase of the street railway. If buses could compete with the street cars they would have been competing five years ago. What they could do, and that was to take up the summer tourist traffic in the city, carrying the sight-seeing visitors round the lions at a dollar a head.

Bus traffic would be at its best here in summer. In winter passengers could not ride on the top as they do in England. The inside of a bus is a somewhat confined space, and, as winter quarters, would not be attractive even compared with the strap-holding cars. It is not to be forgotten that in London, where motor buses are a success, they are not always in competition with street cars, as no street cars are laid in the City of London proper, or in the west end district.

BRITAIN, THE UNITED STATES AND JAPAN.

Japan's strong protest against the California land legislation as an affront to her national honor was followed by a temporary war scare due to certain precautionary measures taken by the United States Government. It is a defect of democratic government that steps which in European countries would be taken without general knowledge or remark at once become public property and the subject of irresponsible discussion. War at the present time between the United States and Japan while not absolutely unthinkable is certainly highly improbable. President Wilson's attitude has been strictly correct, and Japanese statesmen are of course fully cognizant of the provisions of the United States constitution, rendering it impossible for the federal authority to restrict the jurisdiction of one of the sovereign states of the republic in a matter admittedly within its reserved power. The federal courts alone can say whether or not the legislation of a state within its jurisdiction is or is not compatible with the terms of an existing treaty, which ranks as a federal law.

United Kingdom under its revised agreement with Japan and raised the question of whether and how far would the United Kingdom be involved in the event of war. The answer is simple—in the given case Britain would be in no way involved according to the terms of the agreement, which is strictly of a defensive character. It was originally entered into by the late Conservative Government, having been signed by Lord Lansdowne and Viscount Hayashi in London on August 12, 1905, four months before Mr. Balfour's resignation. Its main objects were the consolidation and maintenance of the general peace in the regions of eastern Asia and India; the preservation of the common interests of all powers in China by insuring the independence and integrity of the Chinese Empire and the principle of equal opportunities for the commerce and industry of all nations and the maintenance of the territorial rights of the contracting parties in eastern Asia and India. For that purpose it bound the two governments to act together in case of unprovoked attack or aggressive action by any other power or powers.

CANADIAN FINANCIAL STANDING

Canada's financial conditions have recently been attracting attention in the United States, and the fact of the large, so-called, adverse balance between the values of goods exported and imported into the Dominion has prompted adverse criticism. These attacks are, probably due to Wall Street's conclusion, as it has for several years been various of the high credit enjoyed by the Dominion in the London market to the detriment of United States investors. These latter have indeed been practically tabooed by British investors, and the main purpose of recent comment on the Canadian situation is apparently to damage the Dominion's credit in London.

The Philosopher of Folly

THE ROOSTER. As a busy booster let your voice be heard; emulate the rooster, that most cheerful bird, who when dawn is peeping o'er night's murky rind rouses from his sleeping fold of slumber and vim. Tho his home's a barrel filled with musty hay, gaily rings his carol to the coming day, loudly sounds his praises, high and clear, as his voice he raises for the world to hear. Hearken to his chanting as he leaves his coop—his is not the ranting of a sorcerer's cry. Tho he's kept imprisoned by a ruthless fate till he's tough and wizened, nothing can abate his delight at waking every morn anew, therefore he is mad and clear, as his do. Yet his life is narrow, cribbed and close confined; thoughts that freeze the marrow often vex his mind—often when and what in thunder is to be his end. Every gleaming hatchet gives him forty fits, for he fears he'll catch thoughts concealing flits. But, these thoughts grow, and he reels, for his family group still he humps and hustles digging grubs and bait, till his weary muscles grow as hard as slate. For this very reason has he been sparsely and each every season he had been prepared for a finish gory, ending up doodle-does! Let us then be joyful, let us shout and crow; let not fears annoy us while we dig and hoe. Seldom do the lazy shirkers towards the stock-pot tend.

BRANTFORD POLICE TO APPEAL

BRANTFORD, May 18.—(Special.)—The girl who was the plaintiff in the suit against the Brantford police was informed on Saturday by her lawyers, Robinette and Co., that an appeal had been entered by the defendants against whom $1500 damages had been awarded. It is contended that no conspiracy was proved at the time, the action having been based on alleged conspiracy, false arrest and assault by doctor and police officers. Subscriptions are again being collected by friends of the English girl to fight the case.

Trusses Like These Are A Crime Such Makeshifts Have Forced Thousands Into Risking Dangerous Operations. Wearing elastic and spring trusses year after year is almost sure to shorten your life. You can't make them hold, even when drawn so tight you can scarcely stand to keep them on. They usually let you get worse all the time—that's why every year they are forcing thousands of people into undergoing operation. They are simply a crime—squeeze the rupture, or strangulation—dig into the pelvic bone in front—press against the spinal column at the back—who wears them. The Plain Truth is This: You can't possibly get well—can't even keep from getting worse—unless your rupture is constantly held in place, just as a broken bone can't knit unless held as surely together. And just as a bandage or splint is the right kind of truss is the only thing in the world that can keep a rupture from coming out and growing worse. You'll feel like a new person from the day you put on that kind of truss. But you know as well as we that you'll never find such a sure-to-hold truss at any drug store. Yet it's easy enough to get. And you can test it first—by sixty days' trial—without having to risk a single cent. It's the famous "Cluette" or "Cluette" Automatic Manager—absolutely guaranteed to hold, and won't cost you a cent if it doesn't. It's so utterly different from everything else for rupture that it has received fifteen separate patents. Made on an entirely new principle, instantly and automatically protects you against every strain so your rupture can't possibly be forced out. Self-regulating, self-adjusting. Far more than just a truss. In addition to constant holding it provides the famous "leg-straps" and "spring" overcoming the weakness which is the real cause of rupture. Just how it does that—entirely automatically—and how it thus completely cures hundreds and hundreds of people whose cases seemed almost hopeless—is all explained in the free book which the coupon below will bring you. No Belt—No Leg-Straps—No Springs. The Cluette Truss does away with the use of belts, leg-straps, and springs. Thousands say it is as comfortable as their clothing. It is waterproof—will hold in the bath. Also perspiration-proof and easily kept clean. THIS BRINGS IT Box 442—CLUTTE COMPANY, 125 East 23rd St., NEW YORK CITY. Send me your Free Book and Trial Offer.
