THE MAKING OF ALE.

RIDGELY'S REPORT.

The situation is a most peculiar one. Here are stocks up from 55 to 50 points and still the public do not enthuse. Insiders have calculated to unload their goods ere New Year, but the people bite very gingerly. Insiders are extremely anxious to unload their stuff, but they cannot find enough buyers. The tipsters may guess one side or the other and have an even chance of hitting it right. Indications would seem to be for a gradual sagging market, but no important moves except in a few specialities. Scale trading on the short side, taking moderate profits appears the safest play until something more definite is known. The Munroe inquiry, showing the City Bank is in the habit of loaning money to their friends without security to wash stocks on, proves a state of things existing that justifies Lawson's strictures on these banks. C.F.I., might be bought sparingly, and more on a decline. It will sell higher some day. So might P.M., The market looks like it had seen its highest
