MOTHER GLAD; WIFE REGRETS

Thaw's Relatives Affected Differently by His Escape

NO TRACE OF HIM SINCE

Evelyn Nesbit Seeks Police Protection Because He is at Large

Belief He Will Be Found—Woman Tells of Escape From the Asylum

(Canadian Press)

New York, Aug. 18.—Harry K. Thaw's "Secret" has twenty-four hour absence from the Mattewan asylum for the criminal insane, had established this morning little beyond the fact that he had escaped and that the State of New York, in the opinion of those qualified to speak, had slim chances of extraditing him. That he is beyond the borders of the state was regarded as certain. With the Connecticut state line but thirty miles from the asylum walls he and his conspirators could reach Connecticut in about thirty minutes or less. That the slayer of Stamford White boarded a yacht off South Norwalk, Conn., was a theory advanced by the presence, and sailing from there yesterday afternoon, of a yellow funnelled craft, but this had not been borne out today. No trace of Thaw had been found in Connecticut, nor were there clues to his having sped on toward the Canadian border. When found, and it was considered today a foregone conclusion that he would be found, the New York authorities, it was said, might try to force his extradition on one of two grounds, first, that in escaping he technically assaulted a keeper; second, that bribery of some attendants of the asylum could be shown. Either these, it is maintained, would constitute an extraditable offence.

Steward Barnum, the venerable gate keeper, past whom Thaw darted through the open gate, remained in jail at Poughkeepsie today. He maintains that he was innocent of implication in any plot. Mother Rejoices; Wife Afsaid

In New York Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, mother of the fugitive, continued to receive visitors at her hotel apartment. To all she expressed her unfeigned joy at her son's escape, meaningly reminding them that she had not family had any hint of the matter until newspapermen told them.

Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, lamenting that her husband is at large, pronounced him dangerous to the community and applied for police protection. She threatened to kill her husband and professed the belief that his presence on the New York stage at this time had gadded him to death for liberty.

One of the clearest accounts of Thaw's escape came from the Matahar, a laundress at Mattewan. She was standing in laundry tower overlooking the yard below. She noticed Thaw on the roadway outside, and saw two cars.

"I stayed as the window lower than usual," she relates, because I noticed a fine blue touring car at the bottom of the hill, which looked like a taxicab, automobile right close to the yard gate. A man was working on the machinery and I thought it was out of order. But the chugging was so loud that I was afraid every moment it might start and crash through the fence.

"Then I noticed two big men step out. They opened both side doors of the car, which looked like a taxicab. One of the men waved his handkerchief to a man who was leaning against the open car at the bottom of the hill. He was driving slowly. As he stopped in front of the gate he climbed over his seat. The milkman walked over to the button and the next moment I heard the big going ring. Then I saw Thaw lean against the gate post as Barnum drew back the lock and pushed the door open. I could hear Hickey urge his horse ahead, and then saw him drive through the gateway.

"There goes Harry Thaw," I shouted out of the window as I saw Thaw slip past the milk wagon and out of the yard. The two men caught Thaw by both arms and threw or half dragged him to the automobile. The chauffeur was on his seat in a second and then the machine seemed to jump down the hill and to the corner, where I saw the big black touring car shoot out of sight."

The yacht seen off South Norwalk, Conn., yesterday was identified today as the Katharine II, the property of Robert F. Fowler, a New York carpet dealer. Mr. Fowler said that he had passed Norwalk in the craft about the time reported yesterday, but he was amused and amazed to know that this incident had been connected in any way with Thaw's escape.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Howard Barnum, who opened the gate through which Harry K. Thaw escaped yesterday was arraigned before Supreme Court Judge Marschauser today on a warrant charging him with bribery. He asked for counsel and the hearing was delayed pending the arrival of a lawyer. Barnum continued stoutly through the innocence. Warrants were issued at Poughkeepsie today for the five men who aided Thaw in his get away.

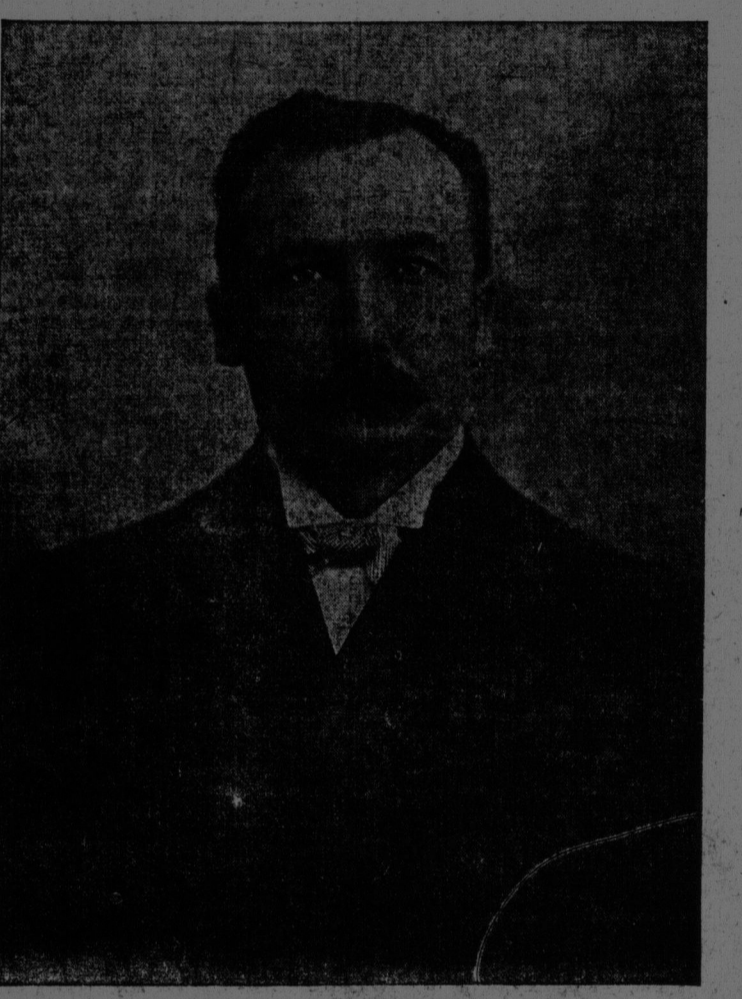

Letter to Mother

New York, Aug. 18.—Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw received about noon today a letter from her son, Harry K. Thaw. He wrote that he planned to take a rest before going to the Thaw country place, Edinburg at Craston, Pa.

FIRST CASE UNDER THE AMENDED LIQUOR ACT

The first case under the amended liquor act was heard in the police court this morning and a liquor dealer fined $5 for allowing a man of drunken habits to remain on his premises. The liquor regulations were amended just prior to the granting of the licenses in May last on the recommendation of the liquor commission, and with a view to having the liquor traffic under closer restraint. One of the principal amendments was to forbid liquor sellers allowing men of drunken habits to loiter on their premises. Until the present case came up no such offence had been reported. This led the magistrate to conclude this morning that the regulation is having a most salutary effect. The liquor dealers, however, complain that it is very difficult to define a man of drunken habits and say that the new regulation is very unfair to them.

NEW HOUSE AND A JOB FOR HAWKINS

Toronto Gives King's Prize Winner a Hearty Welcome

Toronto, Aug. 18.—Private Hawkins, winner of the King's Prize at Bala, was given tremendously enthusiastic reception here on Saturday. The scene in Queen's Park, where an imposing platform had been erected, was unique. As far as the eye could see, the park was a blaze of color, the variegated uniforms assigned here and there with the dress of a civilian.

It was intimated to Hawkins that as soon as the plans were completed, the money that had been subscribed for him would be forthcoming to pay for a home river by a similar way. They will be consulted by the committee in charge as to what sort of a house they want. In addition, the $8,000 already raised, a donation is expected from the Ontario government. An effort is being made to secure for him a government position.

They will be consulted by the committee in charge as to what sort of a house they want. In addition, the $8,000 already raised, a donation is expected from the Ontario government. BOYS DID DAMAGE

Boys' Turn considered manager to the church at Carter's Point on Saturday night and an effort is being made to learn their identity. They gained an entrance to the building and smashed various things without any apparent reason other than a desire to do wrong. The batteries were: For the winners, Blair, McEachern, and Thomas; for the losers, Kierstead, Gibson, Brown, and Peterson. Thomas Owens was umpire.

The question of rates, not agreed on in these conferences, is to be submitted to arbitration. The company has chosen as representative E. P. McGuigan, its general superintendent of that line, and employes having chosen G. D. Robertson, chairman of the C. P. R. employes. The matter is now in conference for the selection for a third member, who will be chairman.

Failing to agree in a few days the matter will be left to the minister of labor. The president of the Industrial Brotherhood of Maintenance of Railway employes, A. B. Low, is in charge of matters for the employes.

GIVE UP SAFE SEAT FOR HARD CONTEST

London, England, Aug. 18.—Sir John Simon, solicitor-general, has decided that at the general election he will relinquish his seat in Parliament in favor of a seat in the House of Commons. He is now in the House of Commons.

RATES WENT UP

The regular omnibus fare between the city and the cemeteries along the Marsh road is supposed to be ten cents. Yesterday the rate advanced first to fifteen cents, and in a remarkably short space of time, business appearing prosperous, to twenty-five cents, even though the distance remained the same. This indignation expressed amongst those who had gone to the cemeteries to visit the graves of departed friends or relatives when they found that the drivers were taking advantage of the crowds attending the A. O. H. decoration exercises, and had more than doubled the rate. It may not have been done by all, but at least one saw a chance of a few extra cents and was not hesitating to ask a quarter for the return fare to the city. Many walked in rather than pay, but the wish was strong for a street car line in operation, not on paper.

SOLD TICKETS FOR ROYAL WEDDING

Prince Arthur of Connaught Has Recalled Them

NONE NOW TILL SEPTEMBER

Noted Ring to Be Among Bride's Presents—Magnificent Gifts to Manual and Bride by King and Queen of England and Queen Mother

(Canadian Press)

London, Aug. 18.—It has reached the ears of Prince Arthur of Connaught and the Duchess of Fife that a very high price is being offered for tickets of admission to their wedding, and it is reported in the royal entourage that a member of the king's household sold to the wife of a wealthy stock broker for $100, six advance tickets which he received last week by virtue of his position. In consequence of this discovery, all the advance tickets which had been issued have been cancelled. None more will be issued before the middle of September.

The tickets will be marked, "not transferable," and the recipients will be notified that if they desire to give them away, they will have to return them to the secretary of the prince or the duchess with the name of the person to whom they wish a ticket to be sent. The prince and the duchess do not approve of this name; the ticket will not be sent.

Queen Mary wishes to be in town in plenty of time to help with practical suggestions in connection with the Connaught-Fife wedding in October. It is understood that Her Majesty, as well as the Princess Royal, mother of the bride, would prefer the wedding to take place in the private chapel of Buckingham palace. Queen Alexandra had a fancy for Windsor, where the parents of the bridegroom were married in 1879. However, the Chapel Royal, St. James, has been chosen on account of its larger space.

Prince Arthur of Connaught is said to have given his fiancée the celebrated mascot ring which belonged to the "Red Prince." It was a gift to him from his mother, who is a descendant of the "Red Prince." The ring is in the form of an anchor, and the "Red Prince" was uniformly successful in his undertakings whenever he wore it.

It is understood that Scottish home-spun will play a prominent part in the royal princess' trousseau. She will wear a bit of tartan and carry a bouquet of white leather on her wedding day, and the scarlet outriders that always distinguished the Duke of Fife's progress in his younger days will escort her home.

MANUEL'S WEDDING

The Prince of Wales will represent the king at the marriage of Manuel of Portugal and Princess Augusta Victoria of Hohenzollern, which is definitely fixed for the wedding on September 5. Manuel will leave for Sigüenza today. Eighty royal princes and princesses will attend the ceremony.

The Kaiser will be represented by one of his sons, the King of Italy by the Duke of Genoa, the King of Spain by the Infant Don Carlos and his wife, the Infanta Louisa.

The wedding presents include a magnificent set of silver for the table from King George and Queen Mary, the largest piece of which bears the inscription: "To King Manuel on the occasion of his marriage, from his affectionate cousins, King George and Queen Mary, September 5, 1913."

The matter was taken to the foreign office, which found that a certain Oxford student had been prominent in seditious circles in London. Lord Kitchener has been warned.

THE DREDGING

It is reported that the trouble between Norton Griffiths & Co. Ltd., and the Norton Griffiths Dredging Company, having been settled, the treasurer of the latter company, William McDougald, of Montreal, will be in St. John this week to settle all the local liabilities of the company. As many of the creditors of the account have been notified by attachments on the remainder of the company's equipment the settlement of the account would be possible on the company to secure control of their property again.

It is reported that the dredging company may resume work in Courtenay Bay but that the arrangement will be temporary and will only be in effect until the chief contractors can bring their own plant to St. John.

LATE SPORTING NEWS

New York, Aug. 18.—By throwing the 16 pound hammer a distance of 189 feet, 6 1/2 inches, Celtic Park yesterday established a new world's record for this event. The former record, by feet 4 and 1/2 inches, was made by the Olympic and world's champion, Matt McGrath, on October 28, 1911.

On the same grounds, Hannes Kolehmainen, a great Finnish and Olympic distance runner, made a new American record of 14:22 3/8-5, in winning the three mile handicap run from scratch.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 18.—A regiment of lawn tennis players, armed with two or three rackets each, equipped with flannels and spiked shoes, strolled into the Casino grounds today for the opening match of the all-comes tournament of the 8th national championships in singles. It is expected that ten days will be required to uncover the title holder for the year. The national doubles will be required to uncover the title holder for the year. The national doubles will be required to uncover the title holder for the year.

THE B. C. STRIKE TROUBLES

Vancouver, Aug. 18.—With no further rioting and with more than 1,200 armed men comfortably distributed among the coal mining towns of the Vancouver Island strike zone, the residents had a chance for quiet nerves over Sunday.

The chief excitement centered in the bringing in of twenty-five refugees from the hills, where they had been driven on last Wednesday by the rioters. Fourteen were women and children. The privations they had suffered were terrible. They had almost nothing to eat, and their hands, faces and clothing were cut in their travels in the woods. They were first given the freedom of a Nanaimo restaurant and were then looked over by a doctor to see they had no permanent injuries.

J. J. Taylor, vice-president of the miners' union and a prominent official of the B. C. Federation of Labor, is in jail, along with Joseph Naylor, president of the Cumberland union. The miners are indignant about these arrests on charges of inciting to riot. These arrests were the signal for a general move on the part of union leaders in all the coast cities to call mass meetings to commence a public agitation for the withdrawal of the militia. Unusual measures are being taken to undermine the military end of the campaign and a call is being sent to all labor organizations to take steps to expel from the militia all militia men who have taken the field.

Vancouver street railway men's union already demanded that any of its members who now belong to the militia, shall resign from the regiment.

REVIVAL OF INTEREST IN OLD COUNTRY

Money Looening up For Investment in the Dominion

THE END OF THE SLUMP?

Easier Financing in London and Optimism of British Business Men Turn the Tide of Capital—Some Strong Recommendations For Us

(Times' Special Correspondence)
London, Aug. 8.—With the prospect of the gold exports from the Rand resuming their normal flow, the passing of the fear of international complications arising out of the Balkan war and the assurance of good harvests on your side of the Atlantic, confidence is returning to the London money market.

Even when things were at their worst the leading Canadian financiers resident in London and the increasing number of principals in British banks and financial firms, who have seen, on the spot, Canada's capacities of recuperation and latent expansion, never lost heart. On the contrary their opinion has been given with a frankness not entirely appreciated in some quarters, that in the long run the recent tightening of the money market would be a healthy if drastic factor in establishing a sounder business basis to the interest of Canada itself.

See It Blessing

"W. M. McLeod, chairman of the Canadian and Empire Investment Trust Company, touched this point at the annual meeting last week. He said: "I am of opinion that the present state of affairs is, in a great measure a blessing in disguise to Canada. So many of the investment in many directions, but the resulting condition of financial stringency will be that speculation in land, especially in outside sub-divisions, will be vigorously discouraged, and greater care will be taken by the lenders of money to Canada to see that it is properly and efficiently spent, and that also, in some directions a more adequate return for it is obtained."

It may sound absurd to Canadians that a chairman should gravely assure the investors in his company, that Canada is financially soundly placed. But necessary such an admission has become can only be appreciated by a close acquaintance with conditions here. For we are on the eve of a revival and most observers agree that there will be no radical change in the direction of investments, and it seems certain that the British investor is turning "home."

Lloyd George and labor troubles, the twin spectres of the investor for many a month, are shorn of their fear. They were in a large measure responsible for that widespread distribution of investments which left British offerings to be hoarded while everything foreign had a vogue. Money poured into China, Brazil the Argentine, Mexico—for safety. Now the investor has wakened up to find political unrest in these countries, and at the same time he finds that in Great Britain he can secure as high and higher returns than those which he went so far to seek.

Into Canada, too, the money poured

In Every City Men Will Find a Buying Opportunity Today

By J. R. HAMILTON
Former Advertising Manager, Wanamaker's, Philadelphia (Copyrighted)

EVERY man in business will understand why this buying opportunity has come to him and what it means.

Every factory in America as well as every store has a broken stock of merchandise which it must clear out at any cost.

There never was a store nor a factory that could regulate its merchandise just right.

Every clothing factory has a surplus clothing stock at this time, which it must move even if it loses money in doing so. The same is true of every clothing store.

Every manufacturer of shirts, of collars, of neckties, has a surplus stock which he is trying to put into your hands. Every Shoe Manufacturer has a Shoe Stock which must be cleared.

These manufacturers are going to the stores in your city, and offering the stocks in many cases far below the manufacturing cost. Your stores are buying up these stocks for your benefit. And they are giving you prices that are unknown at any other time of the year.

A man can understand the reason for these sales because he finds the same necessity for clearance in any line he happens to be in.

Any store or factory that does not clear its stock at least once a year will become a junk shop in three years.

So now is your time to lay in a few straw hats, a couple of suits of clothes, and several pairs of good shoes.

Now is your time to lay in plenty of collars, shirts, stockings and underwear, because these prices will never reach this level again for 12 long months.

You will find all these bargains in the advertising which this paper carries every day. You will be able to save from 33 1-3 to 50 per cent. of your money on anything you buy.

Who wouldn't read the advertising eagerly when he can save from $5.00 to $20.00 on an ordinary amount of purchase!

Turn to that advertising now. And make your business knowledge of advantage to your pocket book.

Good fellow (with a newspaper)—Here's a story about an old bachelor in Ohio who died and left all his money, a fortune of large dimensions, to the woman who rejected him over twenty years ago.

There is a young man in New York who is undoubtedly still wondering whether he has an unusually large foot or whether a certain German lady of generous dimensions from Jersey is troubled with near-sightedness.

The woman in question boarded a New York bound ferryboat with a big heavy valise. Apparently much fatigued from her efforts, she threw herself into a seat, landing her bulky grip squarely upon the toes of a young man next to her.

THE POLICE COURT

"And how does it happen that you're back so soon again?" said Magistrate Ritchie to a man named Mayby, who was allowed to go a few days ago after being fined on a drunkenness charge.

"Well, it's this way, Your honor," he answered. "When I got over that last time of mine I was feeling pretty bad, and a friend of mine told me to take a glass of brandy with a taste of peppermint in it. I tried it and it did me so much good that I kept on trying it till I finally found myself here." He was fined two months and the suspended penalty of two months was added on Saturday. Albert Lauckner and Andrew Irvine were arrested on the Suspension Bridge on Sunday on drunkenness charge. The magistrate fined them in court this morning but allowed them to have another chance by letting the penalty stand.

OCONEE GOES ASHORE BROADSIDE ON; TOWED OFF BY THE DREAM

Captain; to Oblige Belyea's Point Passengers, Went in Too Close -- A Little Delay But no Damage

"This is the first time I ever was on a boat that went ashore," said a little girl on the steamer Oconee at Belyea's Point this morning. "I like it, too," she added as an afterthought.

The rest of the passengers, nearly 200 of them, were not so sure that they liked it until they were sure of speedy relief, which happily came.

The anxiety of the captain of the Oconee to be holding was the cause of the trouble. A boatload of people at Belyea's Point, who should have been out on the steamer had yet left the shore when the Oconee came along. The captain ran in too close to the shore to pick them up, and the steamer ground ed, broadside on, before he got clear of the point.

There was a momentary murmur of dismay when the passengers discovered their predicament. Four or five went ashore and walked to Lingley catch the train. A dozen more engaged a motor boat on the spot and set out for Westfield. The others, numbering 150 or more, decided to wait and help the captain.

Their efforts did not produce great results but such results as they did produce were loudly cheered, and presently the good yacht Dream was perceived hull down on the horizon in the direction of Carter's Point, where she had lain all night.

The captain of the Oconee rushed into the wheel-house and got the signal of distress. The Dream replied, and at the same time a smaller yacht that had lain all night at Water's Landing pointed her nose toward Belyea's. Relief was at hand.

The Dream took a line, and in a twinkling the Oconee was once more in deep water. But she was compelled to lay to until three boatloads of passengers who had gone ashore to lighten her were brought on board again.

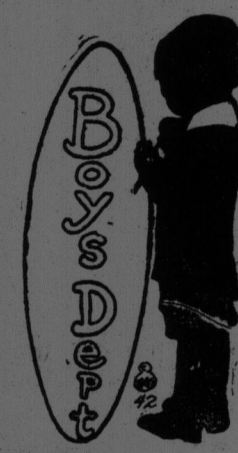

Later, in Grand Bay, she encountered a fog so dense that the shore was invisible, and she sounded her whistle until Boat's Head jammed up and the weather cleared again. While yet in the midst of the fog she passed the D. J. Purdy, which was going up, and the fog was so dense that the latter seemed only a vague and shadowy mass as she swept by. The Oconee arrived at Indiantown only half an hour late.
