"ON THE OLD WOMAN'S SIDE, OF COURSE."

How Mary Ann Brookins Surprised Constable French.

The Case of Assault Against Mrs. Christina Chisolm Was Dismissed Today

The duties of a city constable and the manner in which these duties are performed came out in police court case this morning, when Constable French preferred a charge of assault against Mrs. Christina Chisolm, Sherwood Skinner appeared for the defence. The constable testified that he had two papers to serve in the house, one on Mrs. Chisolm and the other on the son for amounts owing D. J. Purdy. He went upstairs, and after serving a summons on the son he was about to serve one on the mother, who burst forth in words that were not fit to repeat in court. She was a strong woman (who by the way is over 80) and caught him by the shoulders and arms and pushed him out of the house. It was while the woman had hold of him that he managed to lay the summons on her arm. She threw it to the floor and put him rather forcibly out of the house. Mr. Skinner asked the constable how he entered the house, and the constable replied, "Well, I didn't crawl in."

In addressing the court Mr. Skinner said he did not think that any constable had a right to enter a house without ringing a bell or knocking at the door, and then coming through the premises in the manner in which Constable French did. In fact, when the constable entered without asking permission he was in the wrong, and not the woman, Mr. Skinner asked that the case be dismissed. Constable French at this stage of the proceedings said that if such was the case, he would call a witness who could throw some light on the case, and accordingly conducted Mary Ann Brookins to the stand. When asked to tell what she knew of the affair, Mary Ann said: "I don't think it right that the old woman should be brought to court."

"What side are you on?" asked the magistrate. "On the old woman's side of course," said Mary. The constable's witness was decidedly against him, and she was told that she could return to her household duties. The magistrate, in summing up the evidence, said that he did not think any constable, even the highest sheriff, could on such an occasion, should enter a house without ringing the bell or knocking at the door, and then coming through the premises in the manner in which Constable French did. The case was dismissed and the parties concerned informed that they could go home.

MANY PROSECUTIONS AGAINST APPLE PACKERS

Inspector Sangster Tells Moncton People of His Work in St. John

MONCTON, N. B., Nov. 10.—Fruit greatly overgraded, and many violations of packing laws, are reported by fruit inspector George Sangster, who returned home last night from a week's stay in St. John, where he inspected several large cargoes of apples, the output of Nova Scotia orchards. Apples now coming in from Nova Scotia, he says, are of a better quality than earlier in the season, but still not as good as in many years. Many barrels are not marked by the shippers' names, and the fruit within is not of quality in keeping without the outside labels. He says there are likely to be quite a number of prosecutions before the season is over.

SERIOUS FREIGHT WRECK ON THE C. P. R. IN THE WEST

Ten Cars Destroyed and Four Others Derailed—A Broken Wheel the Cause.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 10.—Just east of Meadow, on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, a bar freight train wreck has occurred. Ten cars were totally put out of business, and four others were thrown off the track. The rails were torn up, and for a considerable distance the ties were cut and moved. The wreck appeared to have been caused by broken wheel on the third car from the engine. This car fell across the track and ten cars or so following piled up on top of it, leaving a big mass of debris and wreckage. Strange to say, several cars of cattle kept the track and were apparently none the worse.

CHARGES LEATHAM WITH THREATENING TO SHOOT Mrs. London, on Behalf of Her Son, Wants to Take Action—The Dog Case Settled.

The cruelty case against the young men Leatham and McMaisters for shooting a dog, was resumed in the police court this morning. The penalty is $100 or three months jail, and a compensation may be made with the owner of the injured animal. Under the evidence the magistrates thought that London was not guilty and discharged him, but the evidence pointed that McMaisters was guilty. Several persons had spoken regarding McMaisters' previous good conduct, and as his father had promised to make compensation to Mr. Leatham for the loss of the dog, the sentence was suspended. It came out in the court yesterday that when young Leatham met Harley London on the Suspension Bridge he drew a revolver. Mrs. London claims that young Leatham threatened to shoot her son, and this morning she requested that an action be taken against Leatham for threatening to shoot. She was told to think the matter over, but as she left the court room she was still determined to bring action.

STOLE BRONZE TABLE OFF SLOCUM MONUMENT

Despicable Outrage at Brooklyn by Which the Memorial to the Victims of the General Slocum Disaster Was Damaged.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Probably the meanest and most despicable theft that has taken place about New York occurred last night when the bronze tablet on the monument erected in Lutheran cemetery, in the outskirts of Brooklyn, to the memory of the victims of the burning of the steamer General Slocum, was stolen. The cost of the tablet was about $10. The theft was discovered this morning and reported to Charles Dersch, president of the organization of General Slocum survivors, who erected the monument. The tablet being defaced in the operation. An unsuccessful attempt was also made to remove the tablet from the back of the monument. The police of Middle Village, where the cemetery is located, have information that the theft was committed by men who drove to the cemetery in a buggy from the direction of Glendale.

REVOLUTIONISTS STEAL A GUN AND AMMUNITION

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 10.—The most recent exploit of the St. Petersburg revolutionists is the theft of a machine gun of the latest model, and a large supply of cartridges. It is presumed that an expert gunner is involved, because all the necessary accessories were simultaneously abstracted from the armory. The prefect of police has issued an order specially emphasizing the necessity of recapturing the gun.

SHOT HIS WIFE WHO REFUSED TO LIVE AT HOME

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 10.—Jacob Stehmann, a boiler maker employed at the Pennsylvania Steel Works at Steelton, near here, shot and killed his wife in a crowded Broad street market today. Stehmann and his wife have been living apart for some time, she being employed as housekeeper for a York County trucker, who attended market. Stehmann went to the market today, and after failing to persuade his wife to return to his home he shot her four times. She was 48 years old and was the mother of four children.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Sporting goods valued at $25,000 were damaged or destroyed by fire in the store of A. G. Spaulding & Company, No. 524 Nassau street last night.

A party composed of J. C. Doherty, Elias Doherty, Chas. Everett and J. E. Day left this morning for a week's shooting trip to Wood Lake.

A. Leith Slipp, of Cambridge, and Percy Babbits, of Gagetown, returned today from a month's visit to their uncle, the Hon. C. H. V. Belyea, at Regina, Alberta. Hon. L. J. Tweedie came in on the Montreal express today.

Chas. McDonald Thinks There is Too Much Talk Over New Industries and Not Enough Active Effort—Dr. Roberts an Enthusiast on the 75,000 Club Scheme.

CHAS. McDONALD, Charles McDonald, manager of the St. John Iron Works, puts his idea in an original manner. "There is not a city in North America," said he, "in which there has been more talk of industrial progress than in St. John, and if talk was a marketable commodity we would stand high commercially. Unfortunately for us it is not, but still we continue to produce it. Business men, as a rule, find enough to do in looking after their own affairs, and seldom feel like interfering, but if they who attempt to conduct the affairs of the city could do so with less incompetence and could place the city in its proper position, there would be no need for this agitation about new industries—they would come of their own accord. What is the use of a lot of so-called progressive citizens spending hours at the board of trade rooms in conversation over new industries and talk of exemptions from taxation, when the taxes we are now collecting are being squandered through incompetence? Let us clean our own doors, prove that we can conduct civic business, and the industries will come."

DR. ROBERTS

D. W. F. Roberts is an enthusiast over the idea. "Unless we turn up the stone," he said, "we will never know where we are. Nothing has been accomplished without effort and we need never hope for increased activity in St. John unless we do something ourselves to bring about the desired condition. For years I have been an advocate of the institution of a well-directed campaign for new manufacturing industries, but had almost given up hope when I saw that there was some prospect of such a scheme being introduced. I have learned a little of the working of a 100,000 club in Vancouver and have been impressed with the success met with there. I will gladly do all in my power to help bring such an organization as is proposed for St. John."

E. A. GOODWIN

Mr. Goodwin is also in favor of the new club, and is of the opinion that any industry could be located in St. John if properly managed. He sees no reason why the club should not become a success, and even if the actual organization never takes place much good will have been accomplished in this agitation which will arouse some degree of enthusiasm among the people and lead them to think more about their own city.

DR. ROBERTS

Dr. W. F. Roberts is an enthusiast over the idea. "Unless we turn up the stone," he said, "we will never know where we are. Nothing has been accomplished without effort and we need never hope for increased activity in St. John unless we do something ourselves to bring about the desired condition. I have learned a little of the working of a 100,000 club in Vancouver and have been impressed with the success met with there. I will gladly do all in my power to help bring such an organization as is proposed for St. John."

W. C. CROSS

W. C. Cross thinks that if such a club was formed new enthusiasm would be put into the people, and the city would benefit greatly. Mr. Cross would suggest that a public meeting be held in the near future when the matter can be thoroughly discussed.

FRANK P. STARR

Frank P. Starr said that he had not interested himself to any extent in the matter, but thinks the scheme a good one.

E. R. CHAPMAN

E. R. Chapman said: "I am certainly in favor of the movement, in the western cities, to people have great confidence and in this way are the cities boomed. The St. John people haven't enough faith in their city." Mr. Chapman has no doubt but that the proposed club would bring new industries and would also tend to increase the city's population.

HAZEN DICK

Hazen Dick is in favor of the club being organized. He thinks that new industries should be brought here, and when outsiders become aware that there are good chances for employment here, a good number will soon be residents of St. John. "We need new industries and more people," said Mr. Dick.

THOMAS B. BLAIR

Thomas B. Blair is in favor of the movement, and sees no reason why success should not follow the formation of the club.

GEORGE DICK

George Dick said that he was in favor of the proposed club, and thought that the city would benefit by the proposed formation.

F. E. WILLIAMS

F. E. Williams thinks that the idea is a good one and should be successful.

F. A. DYKEMAN

F. A. Dykeman expressed himself as being heartily in favor of anything which had the interests of the city for its object. He thinks such an association as that proposed ought to be very successful.

J. G. TAYLOR

J. G. Taylor, of the Bank of Commerce, thinks that the proposed club would be of great benefit to the city, and ought to meet with encouragement from everyone.

ANOTHER INCENDIARY FIRE IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—A dangerous fire early today that was thought to be of incendiary origin ruined a five-story brick building on Beverly street in the north end and caused a loss estimated at about $100,000. Two firemen were overcome by smoke, but later recovered, and six others had a narrow escape from being carried down by a falling roof. Four alarms called out a large part of the city apparatus. The Boston Wagon Company and Fleet Tire and Rubber Company were among the heaviest losers.

TWO DRUNKS BEFORE THE MAGISTRATE

Two drunks were before the magistrate this morning. Felix Holland, an old offender went to jail for two months in default of paying an $8 fine. Peter Larsen, who has spent some time in the hospital and who was only a few days ago discharged from that institution, was fined $4 or ten days for drunkenness.

HANLEY IS TIRED OF HIDE AND SEEK

The Missing Quarantine Guard Gave Himself Up.

Has Been Put Back Where He Came From—Says He Did Not Expose Anyone to Contagion

Frank Hanley, who escaped from the house on Garden street which is under quarantine, gave himself up to the Board of Health authorities today. Hanley has been at large for nearly a week and although the police were directed to try and capture him, he kept out of the way until this morning. When questioned Hanley said that he had been living in a camp in the country and wanted it plainly understood that he did not endanger anybody by his wanderings. Secluded life did not suit his tastes evidently, and he thought it better to return and give himself up. His case will be dealt with at a meeting of the Board of Health to be held in the early part of next week. When he gave himself up he was immediately taken back to the quarantined house, where he will be kept for the present. Hanley is the first man who has ever escaped after being in a quarantined house since Secretary Burns has been connected with the Board of Health.

Business Rapidly Increasing on Canada Eastern Branch—Rev. Mr. Shewan Declines Rectorship.

FREDERICTON, N. B., Nov. 10.—Rev. M. C. Shewan has declined to accept the rectorship of the Anglican St. Mary's to which he was recently elected. Freight Manager Tiffin, who has just made a journey over the I. C. R. Canada Eastern branch, reports that business on this line has improved over 25 per cent. The motor year, Mr. Tiffin says that if the motor power is found to work satisfactory at Halifax and St. John, it will be instituted next summer on the suburban train running between here and Marysville. The new attorneys were sworn in this morning by the chief justice at the opening of the supreme court.

INDIAN WITH ELECTION RETURNS IS MISSING

RENO, Nev., Nov. 10.—Tom Bligforth, an Indian runner to whom the election ballots and returns of Wonder Mining district were given Wednesday, has disappeared, and deputy sheriff yesterday was scouring the country 60 miles east of Reno for him. Upon the returns rests the fate of the candidates for judge in the second district and of several Churchill County candidates. It is believed that the Indian was intercepted and robbed of the returns and fled to the hills for fear of prosecution.

SHIPWRECKED CREW LANDED AT HALIFAX

HALIFAX, Nov. 10.—The steamer Farman, New York for Miramichi, put in here this morning with the captain and seven men, the crew of the barquentine Marion C. of Bridgewater, for New York, abandoned 100 miles off Cape Sable. The Marion C. crew were in an open boat for 72 hours, but were well provisioned.

WAS INSPECTING SIGNAL CORPS

Captain F. A. Lister, assistant D. A. A. G. for Canada, who has been in the city inspecting the local signal corps went to Halifax on the Atlantic Express. Captain Lister spoke very favorably of the efficiency of the corps. The signal corps of this city is composed of six members, but in the whole of the district, which comprises the province of New Brunswick, the corps has nearly a hundred members all under command of Captain Powers of this city. The signal corps was only established here three years ago, and already it has grown to be a very important and efficient arm of the service.

THE FUNERAL OF H. LEE JORDAN TOOK PLACE THIS AFTERNOON

From the residence of his father, King street east. A large number of citizens were present to show the last mark of esteem towards one whom they had respected during his life. The body was taken to Trinity church where service was read by Rev. Mr. Stewart. Interment was made in Fenhill. The pall-bearers were J. H. L. Fairweather, J. M. Robinson, Jr., Earnest Smith, Geo. N. Toiberts, H. Evans and A. S. Bowman.

SKATING ASSOCIATION RESIGNS.
MONTREAL, Nov. 9.—The skating association of Canada resigns from the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union. It will join with the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association, and the 25 associations who remain in a movement to form a new body to govern athletics in Canada in the future. The resignation of the skating association with the other associations will be a great loss to the C. A. A. U., as is that of the Montreal A. A. A.

BALLOON PURSUIT RACE.
NORTH ADAMS, Mass., Nov. 9.—Cortlandt Field Bishop, president of the Aero Club of America, won the Alan R. Hawley cup in the balloon pursuit race by automobiles today, arriving at the town of North Adams, N. B., with his car not only within the time limit fixed by the racing committee, but in time to enter in dragging the balloon to the ground. Mr. Bishop had a 25 horse power automobile, and managed to keep within sight of the balloon, L'Orion, practically through all the race. In this he was favored by the fact that the wind was very light and steady, so that the balloon traveled very slowly, and at times it floated back over the course previously traversed. Another automobile driven by N. M. Laporte, of the Pittsfield, Ala., was also in the race, but he was unable to reach the point of descent ten minutes after the balloon landed, and before the occupants had time to reach the spot. J. C. McCoy, had had time to leap from the car. The two other automobiles which entered the race, were unable to finish within the time limit.

On account of the weather conditions the race was decidedly unsatisfactory as a test of the ability of automobiles to follow. When the L'Orion made the ascent from Pittsfield at 12:25 this afternoon, with Mr. McCoy in the car as pilot, and Mr. Hawley, the donor of the cup, as a passenger, the race was scarcely any wind perceptible at the ground level and the balloonists encountered only weak and shifting currents as they ascended the spot. The balloon floated slowly in a general northerly direction taking a zig-zag course through the Williams river, beneath it. When it veered southerly in the direction of North Adams, hanging suspended over this river for nearly three-quarters of an hour before descending at 2:05. The distance in an air line from Pittsfield to North Adams is a little less than 19 miles, but the cyclistometer on the Bishop automobile which followed the balloon, showed a distance of 27 miles. The automobile of Mr. Laporte, which was also in the race, was seen to be heading back toward North Adams, when the Bishop's balloon descended, without covering as many miles of country.

Upon finding themselves over North Adams, the occupants of the balloon hoped that the moderate easterly current in which they were then drifting would carry them over the mountains. They threw out all ballast except a bag and a half, but just about that time the wind shifted to the west and the sun going behind a cloud, lessened the lifting power of the gas in the balloon, so that it was seen to be impossible to pass over the hills. The balloon was then allowed to descend and came to earth in an open field at the south end of the city.

Mr. Bishop, who had been waiting with his machine for the balloon to descend, grasped the rope thrown down from the car and assisted in pulling the big balloon to the ground. As soon as the car landed Mr. Bishop handed his card to Mr. Hawley, and secured the latter's signature, declaring him the winner of the cup.

In telling of the journey of the balloon, Mr. Hawley said: "The trip was absolutely uneventful. After the ascent we remained for over an hour within sight of the city of Pittsfield, the altitude varying from 2,000 to 3,000 feet, according as the sun was observed or not. We drifted over the mountain to Lanesboro and then nearly to Williamstown. Another shift of the wind carried us around the Greylock Mountain in the Hoosick Valley. When over the southern portion of North Adams we remained actually stationary for three-quarters of an hour. Finding that we were below the tops of the mountains we decided to descend. It was not necessary to use the rip cord and we made the landing, which was a perfect one, as if we were descending in an elevator."

INDOOR SPORTS.
MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, Nov. 9.—Martin J. Sheridan of the Irish-American A. C. was the star performer tonight at the opening games of the two days' indoor championship meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States. Sheridan in throwing the 56 pound weight for height, and putting the 8 pound shot, with marks of 10 feet 3 inches and 11 feet 8 inches, respectively, the latter being the new record, gave him a lead above all other competitors. Another Irish-American representative, M. W. Shephard, carried off the honors in the 1,000 yards run in easy fashion, leaving his competitors far behind in the fast time of 2 minutes 17.4 seconds.

C. J. Seltz, N. Y. A. C., kept up his winning gait in the sprints by annexing the 75 yards dash in 8 seconds, just nailing out J. F. O'Connell, club-mate. Other spectacular events were hop-step-and-jump, the 100 yards high hurdles race in which John J. Eller of the Irish-American A. C. won in 24.5 seconds, and the 220 yards high hurdles race in which John J. Eller of the Irish-American A. C. won in 24.5 seconds. A 300 yard dash, won by Lewy Robt. O'Connell, Irish-American A. C. Time 34 seconds.

56-pound weight for height—Won by Martin Sheridan, Irish-American A. C. with 11 feet 8 inches.

1,000 yards run—Won by M. W. Shephard, Irish-American A. C. Time 2:17.4.

The field events were the first to be decided and there was a slump in championship form as James S. Mitchell, who has more than held his own against all comers in regular weight events, was defeated in the throwing the 56-pound weight for height, for 11 feet 8 inches. Martin Sheridan, who won distinction at the Olympic games in Athens last May, was in fine fettle but he could not reach Mitchell's world record of 15 feet 8 inches, his throw being just 3.8 inches short.

Running high jump—Won by H. A. Gidney, Boston A. A. with 5 feet 10 1/4 inches.

Standing broad jump—Won by Ray C. Ewry, N. Y. A. C. with 11 feet 1 1/2 inches.

Putting 8-pound shot, won by M. J. Sheridan, Irish-American A. C. with a mark of 41 feet 8 inches.

Sheridan's put is a new world record.

Pole vault for distance—Won by M. J. Sheridan, Irish-American A. C. with a vault of 37 feet 1 1/2 inches.

Two mile run—Won by S. V. Bonag, Irish-American A. C. Time 9 minutes 29.1-seconds.

One mile run—Won by J. J. Eller, Irish-American A. C. Time 3:00 seconds.

220 yards hurdles—Won by J. J. Eller, Irish-American A. C. Time 24.5 seconds.

100 yards hurdles—Won by J. J. Eller, Irish-American A. C. Time 24.5 seconds.

300 yard dash—Won by Lewy Robt. O'Connell, N. Y. A. C. 34 seconds.

LOCAL NEWS

Capt. Ester of Quebec, inspector of signalling, is in the city, a guest at the Dufferin. His visit here is for the purpose of inspecting the signalling corps.

James Walsh, who was convicted a few days ago before Judge Forbes for carrying a loaded revolver and flourishing it in a threatening manner in Fairville, was sentenced to three months in jail with hard labor.

Major Laybourn, D. T. S. A., went to Fredericton yesterday. His visit is in connection with a court of inquiry to be held at No. 3 regimental depot regarding some official papers which have been lost.

The south branch drive of logs, owned by G. B. Johnson, which has been hung up since spring, was safely boomed at Penobscot yesterday. Two mills are now cutting lumber here. The total shipments will be about two million feet.

A telegram received Wednesday afternoon says that Cross-Courier announced the death of W. H. Coulard in Carney Hospital at Boston, where he had been receiving treatment. The announcement will be heard with general regret by friends in town and country.

Divisional Supt. Downie of the C. P. R. yesterday called upon Ald. McColl regarding the rebuilding of Union street, and it has been decided that the city will commence work at once from the Rodney wharf end. The C. P. R. are making very rapid progress from the other end and are employing a very large number of men.

Yesterday afternoon, Wm. Laskey, who was convicted recently of stealing several ingots of tin from the steamer London City, was brought into court and his Honor Judge Forbes sentenced him to one month in the common jail with a fine of $100 added. The prisoner is to remain in jail until the fine is paid.

The epidemic of voicelessness is on the increase. The doctors are somewhat baffled to know just what causes this general attack. Men and women are alike subjected to its annoyances, several having been in St. John, this city, and a few as long as months. It seems to be a complete collapse of the vocal powers.

Shipping Notes
VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass. Nov. 7.—Schooner Jennie G. Phillips, Gray, from Grinnell Point, N.Y., for Boston, when entering the harbor this morning, was grounded in Grand Flats, was floated off two hours later by steamer Sueda, apparently uninjured, and towed to safe anchorage.

Sch. Charles J. Willard, from Fall River for Yarmouth, fouled with each other, lying at anchor here last night. The Willard had part of headgear carried away; will make temporary repairs and proceed to no damage to the Ida May.

PORTLAND, Me. Nov. 7.—Sch. E. E. Clark, from Yarmouth, when arriving Monday, experienced heavy weather, was taking 600 strokes per minute, and lost 15,000 feet of square timber from deck. She resumed her voyage yesterday.

Wagoner H. H. Crosby, ashore on Bay Ledges, was sold at auction for $1,000. The cargo on board to the same vessel was sold to the same party for $250.

STEAMER VIRGINIA will leave Liverpool Nov. 9 for Halifax, and the NEW YORK, Nov. 9—Steamer Cevric, from Liverpool, reports Nov. 4, lat 44.39, lon 50.51, passed a submerged wreck in the Atlantic, probably a small fishing vessel, which was standing 15,000 feet from the coast.

Two ocean steamers arrived in port yesterday morning. The St. John City, from London via Halifax, and the Bark. The captain of the St. John City reports a very rough passage across the Atlantic.

The Donalson line steamer Inland, Captain Martin, from Glasgow, had a large cargo of 18,500 bags Scotch hard coal, and 358 bags Scotch soft coal. The Inland met heavy weather on the Atlantic, vessels coming to the westward report heavy weather.

COAT SALE AT M. R. A.'S MONDAY.
Tonight's issue of this paper tells of a sale of women's, misses' and children's winter coats at M. R. A.'s Ltd. on Monday. It is interesting news for every person in need of such a garment, and particularly to parents who have a family of school girls. The coats are samples, specimens that have done their duty as such, but in some inferior or damaged. As all M. R. A. sales are scrupulously fair and above-board, prospective buyers may be assured of the genuineness of the bargains quoted tonight in the regular pages.

FINAL NOTICE.
The collector of taxes, Lancaster No. 1, is now issuing citations against all ratepayers and they will be in the hands of the constable on the 15th. In previous years ratepayers took little notice of circulars now will be issued this year. This course is necessary owing to the large number of delinquents owing on real estate.

A MILLIONAIRE'S COUNSEL.
"My boy, if you want to safeguard yourself and make money, get your foot on a slice of earth or a fragment of real estate property if you must pawn your clothes to do it."
That was the advice of an Alderman and wealthy citizen of London, the world's metropolis, to a young man who sought his advice as to investment.

The Alderman had risen from absolute indigence. He was an operative tailor and taking his cue from one who had tried it, scraped together every bit of money he could get. He was a miser. THAT HAS NEVER YET BEEN KNOWN TO MISERABLY WITH ORDINARY. THAT HAS NEVER YET BEEN KNOWN TO MISERABLY WITH ORDINARY. THAT HAS NEVER YET BEEN KNOWN TO MISERABLY WITH ORDINARY.

Another large crowd was present at the Prefecture Show about a year ago. The prize winners were: Door prize, Ross Melvin; air gun competition, E. Burton; excellent, Wm. Colgate; bagatelle, Samuel Ferguson; throwing on the block, Edmund Grant; throwing bean bag, Isaac Ferguson. There will be a band in attendance tonight.

Ralph Freeze, the Rhodes scholar from this province, in a recent letter says that he is at home in Oxford, which he considers the best in the world. Mr. Freeze was to speak at the next college debate on the subject of "Home Rule," he being one of the speakers in favor of the proposition.

Mr. Freeze, a native of Ireland, and for the past five years a resident of this city, left yesterday morning. Mr. Irvine was eighty-two years old and had been ill for about a year. Mr. Irvine lived for years at Lepreau, where he worked for the City-Lumber Company. He is survived by the following children—Mrs. C. M. Quinlan of Marquette, Wisconsin; Mrs. Chas. Foster of Stillwater, Minnesota; Mrs. Feaver of Springfield, Ill.; Mrs. Jeremiah Quinlan of Stillwater, Minn.; W. H. Irvine of Houston, Texas, and D. A. Irvine of Seattle.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON'S AUTOMOBILE WRECKED

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Nov. 9.—An automobile containing Sir Thomas Lipton, Wilson Marshall, whose guest Sir Thomas was, Thomas H. MacDonald and R. A. C. Smith, was wrecked today by the breaking of the front axle, just after the party had started on a trip to a local factory and that serious injury did not result to the occupants is believed to have been due to the fact that the car was running slowly. Just after the machine had gotten under way there came a crashing sound and the car tilted over at a dangerous angle. The occupants of the car calmed and continued on their journey in another machine.

DIED FROM NEGLECT.

There were recorded at the board of health office during the year ending October 31st, a total of 72 deaths. Out of these no less than 22 were due to consumption. This is a little more than one-eighth of the whole number, but there is a different way of looking at these figures which make them more worthy of remark. Of all the deaths 249 were of persons so young as to be of but little use to the community although their lives of course were of one sense as valuable as any of the other, while 249 were of men and women long past their prime, the majority dying from old age.

Consumption, according to medical statistics claims its victims between the ages of fifteen and forty-five. Cases are found of persons developing this disease at a more advanced period of life, but the proportion small. Thus those who should be the best years of life, and of great value to the community are the ones who suffer. From the board of health report it may then be assumed that the 165 persons who died between the ages of fifteen and forty-five, fifty per cent. were consumptives. That ninety men and women who should be active workers in this city have gone to their graves during the past year without any attempt being made to save them.

We are spending thousands of dollars every year in providing safes for our railways; we pay large sums for the inspection of other vehicles of transportation; and still greater amount on different measures to prevent a dent in order that there may be risk in life and limb. But we pay a cent towards protecting the lives of those who are exposed to death from tuberculosis, who could be saved to the community with less trouble and less expense than is required for the prevention of accidents. At the low economic value, the lives of those men and women in St. John which have been lost through neglect during the year were worth as much as it cost to provide a sanatorium to accommodate thirty patients, and to pay the expenses of management for six years. When will we ever learn to look on human life as a valuable public asset?

CHEAPER POWER.

The Grand Falls Company are arranging to furnish power to St. John manufacturers within a reasonably short time. It is stated that construction work on the developing plant will be commenced early in the spring, and that before the end of another year a line will be completed to St. John and power sold at a low rate. A representative of the company has during the past few weeks been interviewing leading manufacturers here with a view to possible contracts. Such an arrangement if carried out will undoubtedly place many industries in a better position than they occupy at present, for it is, of course, to be expected that the electrical power will be supplied at as low a figure as that at which steam power can now be produced. If it is, indeed, the company can see its way clear to selling this energy cheaper than steam, conditions here will be materially improved.

The actual power used in a manufacturing plant is, of course, not ways the principal factor in the running expenses, but at the same time it is of importance, and the saving even two or three dollars per horse power year on a five hundred horse power plant, would pay six per cent on $25,000 capital. St. John at the present time compares very favorably with other towns, not only in the Maritime Provinces but in the whole of Canada, in the matter of cheap power. Several Ontario cities are so situated that in many establishments electricity is used, but it is known that this power costs them fully as much as does steam power in St. John. There is thus in respect to this one feature, every ground for assertion that this city is favorably situated for manufacturing.

In the 75,000 club which might be formed here, it would be a part of the programme to secure exact data on this and other points, to send the information to manufacturers in all parts of America who may be planning extensions to their business, and to induce them whenever possible to locate in St. John. The protective tariff which is now in operation in Canada is keeping the market favorable to the home producers, and this policy of shutting out American goods is forcing manufacturers from across the line to establish works in our country. Many United States companies have already erected plants in upper Canadian cities, others are planning to do the same, and there is no reason why St. John should not get a share of these new industries. All that is required is proper advertising, and it would be the duty of the 75,000 club to attend to this.

CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOLS.

Elsewhere will be found a letter on technical education handed in by Mr. J. J. Motie. The writer argues that correspondence schools are of much value in the educational system of any country, and makes the point that a student who specializes, who is able to do one thing well, is more certain of success than the man with a smattering of half a dozen trades or professions.

Correspondence schools, no doubt, have their own field, and while their value has been proven by their success in the past, yet they will never take the place of a national system of technical education. It might also be noted that the large amounts of money paid for correspondence courses go out of this country, and are a loss.

HOW THE GROCER WAS FOOLED.

A distracted fellow entered a grocer's shop and said: "I believe I am an injured husband, sir, and I desire to verify my suspicions by watching a house in the next street. But I can do this safely only from the rear of your shop. Will you be good enough to let me sit by the open window there for half an hour." "To be sure," said the grocer. "The grocer rushed through the shop rolling his eyes and muttering: "Till I'll kill her. I'll go home and get the gun!" "Your wife?" asked the grocer. "Yes," sobbed the man. "My false wife, my adored Mary. I cannot doubt her guilt!" The grocer tried to detain him, but he got away. Nothing happened in the way of murder for an hour or more, and then the grocer made an investigation in the back of the shop to find that there had passed out through the open window three tubs of flour and a crate of eggs, two bags of flour and a dozen hams.

HER CHANCE TO SLEEP.

"Bridget, you used to work for the Pencers, didn't you?" "Yes, mum." "Made you earn your money, didn't they?" "They did, mum." "Routed you out of bed good and early in the morning?" "Not on Monday mornin'. That was the day Mrs. Pencer paid me, an' sometimes she'd let me sleep till noon, so she cud keep the money longer."

COMPLIMENTARY.

"My dear sir," enthusiastically exclaimed the young lawyers, after he had heard his new client's story, "you certainly have a good case. I think we can secure a verdict without much trouble." "That's what I told my wife," said the man, "and yet she insisted at first that we ought to engage a first-class lawyer."

HOW, INDEED?

"Did you read Pott's latest book?" "Yes; I waded through it, but it was mighty dry." "How could it be dry if you waded through it?"

"I've been pondering over a singular thing." "What's that?" "How placing a ring on a woman's finger generally gets you under her thumb."

SATURDAY SERMONETTE.

BLIND, DEAF, DUMB.

Some people see too much. It would be better for them and their world if they saw less. Parents see too much when they see every little fault and note every little defect and then magnify them. They see too little when they do not see how well the children do their work. The husband sees too little when he does not notice how well his wife did her work, how patient and faithful she is in looking after the little things that make his home so sweet, and yet he sees not the cheer, the pleasant room, the easy life, the warm slippers.

He who is blind when she does not how tired the husband is and does not note the worn look as she tells him of all the disagreeable things that have happened in her little world. And then if could be dumb and she was not able to speak, instead of the child that has put into their home there would be calm and peace. But the man could not be dumb. It was not her husband that cried out in anger, it was his overwrought nerves that gave way. He saw too much when he saw slight things, he heard too much when he listened under and gossip. We talk too much on our criticise unfairly or tell the story that is true but ought to be dead.

Why is it that we are blind when we try to see? Why does death have to be in our eyes? We never saw the devotion of our friend until too late to do our best of praise. We never loved until it was dust the hand I was always working for. We never loved until it was dust the hand I was always working for. We never loved until it was dust the hand I was always working for.

I have come up and down the St. John River when it was like sailing through fairy land. I remember one day when I was on the boat with my men and women on the boat who were eating cheap stories and saw not the charms. I remember one day when I was on the boat with my men and women on the boat who were eating cheap stories and saw not the charms.

A sensation was created by the Ellis Co. at the Opera House, with their performance of the "White Slave." Every act, and there were six of them, is splendid. Tonight is the last night to go and see it. It is great. The burning steamboat and explosion is very realistic. "Lost Paradise" next Monday night.—Adv.

A ROUSING FAREWELL FOR POLLARD CHILDREN

Enthusiastic Crowd at the York Theatre Last Evening Said Good bye to the Little Ones.

Seldom has such an expression of popular appreciation been accorded any company as that extended towards the Pollard children at last evening's performance. At the close of the audience went fairly wild. Men and women rose in their seats, cheered and applauded fairly shook and shouted good bye to the little singers, a most unusual tribute to a most remarkable company.

The Pollards, too, were not unmoved, and even Teddy and Daphne were surprisingly moved about the eyes. "It is a shame, a bloomin' shame, that we have to leave," gasped Teddy, "the finest town on the 'ole coast," and this represented the feelings of all the children who have grown to regard St. John as a home.

Last evening's concert was the most enjoyable of the engagement. It consisted of the same of all operas in the repertoire together with a number of other songs, all given in costume, and several attractive dances. All the favorites appeared, and the enthusiasm of the audience was intense. Again and again the children had to respond to the singers, as well as a number of bouquets. At the close of the programme Jack Pollard made a farewell speech, Miss Eva Moore sang "Auld Lang Syne" and the company and audience joined in the singing of God Save the King.

This afternoon's matinee will end the engagement and the children leave St. John on the six o'clock train.

GETS A MONOPOLY OF ALL MEXICAN FISHERIES

EL PAZO, Tex., Nov. 9.—What is perhaps the greatest monopoly of its kind in the world, has been secured. It was learned today, by John C. Miller, a mining engineer of El Paso, through a concession granted by the government of the Republic of Mexico, giving Miller exclusive fishing rights on the west coast of Mexico from Guaymas on the north, to Manzanillo on the south, and on the east coast from parallel 24 on the north to the Bay of Campeche on the south, including all the rivers, bays, inlets and also the lakes for 20 miles inland. This covers, perhaps, the finest fishing and oyster territory in the world.

HONORED FOR WORK IN THE TEMPERANCE CAUSE

LONDON, Nov. 9.—In one of the committee rooms of the House of Commons Judge Wm. Jefferson Pollard, of the Second district court of St. Louis, was today presented with an address by Leitch Stratton Jones, M. P., congratulating him upon his successful treatment of drunkards brought before him by the giving them the option of taking a definite period instead of inflicting a penalty.

Mr. Jones is president of the United Kingdom (Temperance) Alliance, and he spoke in behalf of thirty other members of the House of Commons interested in the temperance question. To the mind of the signers of the address the course pursued by Judge Pollard is "one of the most interesting and hopeful experiments yet tried in connection with the administration of the laws against drunkenness and demonstrates that the laws can be genuinely remedial as well as punitive."

Miss Tilly McCarthy, of San Francisco, who has been spending the summer with Mr. and Mrs. John McCarthy of the North End, left for home on Thursday.

NEW ANIMALS FOUND BY AFRICAN EXPLORERS

Thirteen Mammals Now Added to the Species Already Known to Man.

Mountain Peaks 16,300 Feet High Are Ascended for the First Time.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The Hon. Gerald Legge, the first of the British Ruwenzori expedition to return to England after an absence of a year, has given an interesting account of the work achieved up to the time he left.

Very satisfactory results have been obtained by the expedition, the object of which was to make a thorough collection from the Ruwenzori range. Thirteen new mammals have been discovered, and peaks to the height of 16,300 feet have been ascended for the first time.

On arriving at Entebbe 150 carriers were engaged, but the march into the interior was slow, owing to the transport of the collecting boxes and other impediments. A porter was swept away in crossing the Wini river half-way between Fort Portal and the Mbuku Valley, but he was rescued. His load was lost.

Arriving at the height of 7,000 feet, a permanent base camp was found, and after a house had been built all the porters were sent home, only personal boys and cooks being retained.

The Wagonka people inhabiting the region were peaceful, and assisted the expedition in trapping mammals. They have many curious customs. On the occasion when the expedition beat the meaning of the continual beating of tom-toms, that had been going on for six-four hours, they were told that the people were celebrating the death of a chief which occurred four years before.

BIG TREASURE HUNT FOR SUMMERGED GOLD

Hulk of Vessel, Wrecked in 1859, May Yield Vast Fortune

Many Coins Found by Seashore Dwellers in the Vicinity of the Wreck.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Another search for lost treasure is about to begin under the auspices of a British company. This time it is gold brought from Australia in 1859 that is the object of the search. It is believed to be in or near a wreck at Moelfre, on the coast of Anglesey.

The wreck in question was one of the most terrible in seafaring annals. The Royal Charter, a full-rigged ship sailed from an Australian port with nearly 500 persons, crew and passengers, on board.

A large portion of the passengers were gold-diggers who had "made their pile," and were returning home as rich men. The gold they brought with them was contained partly in belts worn by the owners, but mainly in two great boxes.

The value of all the gold on the ship is estimated at more than $7,500,000. The Royal Charter struck on a reef at Moelfre, and became a total wreck. Four hundred and fifty-nine of her crew and passengers were drowned.

There have been many efforts to recover the gold from the wreck, and it is understood that the smaller of the chests that contained the bulk of the treasure was found at an early period. Dwellers along the coast profited by digging in the sands, and even in recent years prospecting of this sort has been rewarded occasionally by the discovery of a few coins.

The wreck is still in existence, and

MOTHER OF FUTURE KING OF SWEDEN DECIDES TO LEAVE HER HUSBAND.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Princess Adolphus of Sweden, formerly Princess Margaret of Connaught, is here shown with her little son, the Duke of Westerbotten, propped up against a couple of cushions. The Princess has decided to leave her husband, declaring that she cannot endure his boorishness, although every effort is being made by King Edward and King Oscar to make her give up this idea, which involves the future of the child, who will in time be King of Sweden.

Ill. Cen. Passes Into Hands of Harriman Interests.

Railroad King Now Controls 23,000 Miles of Track Capitalized at Over $1,700,000,000.—J. T. Harahan Succceeds Stuyvesant Fish.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—By the election today of J. T. Harahan as President of the Illinois Central Railroad Co. to succeed Stuyvesant Fish, it is believed that E. H. Harriman has at last realized the fulfillment of his plan to control a railroad line from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean. In this great plan the Illinois Central was the one link missing to complete a line of track from New York to San Francisco and Portland, Ore., from the great lakes to the Gulf of Mexico and from the Gulf to the Pacific again. Until within a few months eastern terminals of the Illinois Central was the one link missing to complete a line of track from New York to San Francisco and Portland, Ore., from the great lakes to the Gulf of Mexico and from the Gulf to the Pacific again.

The survey parties have fixed for all time a portion of the dividing line between Canadian and American soil. A. J. Harabazon had charge of the Canadian survey party who were confined to the Alsek River. W. F. Ratz devoted attention to the Whiting River, and the Craig party was back of Juneau. The Alsek party's work changed the misconception that the line crosses the river at the forks and was there marked by a succession of lofty peaks. The line is found to be six miles below the forks and Canada is a distinct gainer by getting valleys of great fertility that lie between the mountain peaks. Messrs. Harabazon and Ratz have left for Ottawa to report to the Government.

HAD TO DODGE AN AVALANCHE

United States Surveyors in Alaska Have Close Call.

They Saw the Great Mass of Rock Sweeping Down a Mountainside, and Were Able to Find Shelter

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 9.—Crouching close to one another, prone on the ground while an avalanche passed over them, three members of the United States party that is demarcating the Alaska boundary line, had the closest call of their lives. Members of the Canadian survey party who were in the field with the Americans tell the adventure. The men belonged to Prof. Blackwelder's party and were working along the Alsek River. They had reached the canyon when they saw rock, stones and trees coming down the precipitous mountain which overflows the swift waters. Not having time to run to a place of safety they crouched down as close to one another as they could get, and fortunately the great mass of falling debris passed over them. To indicate how narrow their shelter was it may be stated that the whole choulder and sleeve of a man's coat on the outside was swept away so speedily that he did not realize it till he stood up when the danger was over.

COURT OF INQUIRY HELD IN CEMETERY

Evidence Taken Among Tombstones to Settle Claim to American Estate.

Photographer Takes Pictures of Coffin Plates, Bones and Human Skulls.

CORK, Nov. 10.—The remarkable spectacle of a court of inquiry sitting and taking evidence in a graveyard, among the tombstones, was witnessed on Wednesday afternoon at St. Joseph's cemetery, Cork. A Cork man named John Sullivan died intestate in Seattle some years ago, leaving property valued at over $1,000,000, and several commissions were issued by the superior court of Washington for the taking of testimony in Cork and elsewhere of Irish claimants to the estate.

On Wednesday the commission assembled in the graveyard. The commissioners sat on a tombstone, and the official stenographer on a grave, while fathered round were several professional gentlemen, American and local. Permission was obtained from the owners of the cemetery to open a particular grave, and the diggers commenced their gruesome task. After going down three or four feet they brought to the surface breast plates alleged to be the remains of the parents of the late John Sullivan. These were carefully photographed. The coffin containing the remains of Hannah Callaghan was next taken up and laid by the side of the open grave. The remains of four other persons were also brought to the surface and arranged in a heap, with four skulls in the background. These were photographed, and an inventory made by the shorthand writers present. The remains were then replaced in the grave and the grave closed.

SOUND CHAMPAGNE IN THIS YEAR'S CROP

While Quantity is Not Large Indications Point to an Excellent Wine

Charles Heidsieck Says That Vintage of 1906, Now in Consumption, is Grand.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Charles Heidsieck, the famous wine grower of Reims, has sent the following interesting letter on this year's crop to the daily newspapers:

"The month of February was very rainy, making it almost impossible for work to be carried out in the vineyards. This was followed by very cold weather in March and April—in fact, the first snow of the year fell in March, the winter having been exceptionally mild—consequently the vegetation was much retarded, and during the Lune d'Eté, which lasted nearly up to the end of May, cold and changeable weather was experienced.

"During the spring we had light frosts for several nights running, which did serious harm to the whole of the Marne Valley, from Ay to Vincelles, reducing the quantity of the grapes by half. Honey and Ambronnay also suffered considerably. Very fortunately the white grape district, which is easily affected by frost, escaped.

"During the greater part of May and June the weather continued unsettled, and the flowering of the grapes began only at the end of June, and was somewhat irregular, more especially in the district of the Montagne de Reims. However, every possible attention being given to the vines, they remained

LONDON POLICEMEN ATTEND NIGHT SCHOOL

Education of Many "Bobbies" in the English Capital is Most Defective

Stalwart Constables Seek to Gain Knowledge Neglected or Denied in Youth.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The fact, as stated by Sir Edward Henry, the chief commissioner of police, to the royal police commission, on Tuesday, that "reports of police constables are often extremely illiterate, many constables finding it difficult to write reports owing to their defective education," has long been known to the authorities.

Special police classes are held in connection with many evening continuation schools, both in London and the suburbs, the chief object being to teach illiterate members of the force how to write reports on such cases as street accidents, burglaries, acts of suicide and murders.

A reporter, who paid a visit to one of these classes, found a number of stalwart constables seated at desks in a school classroom.

"We specialize on burglaries and murders," said the teacher; "imaginary ones, of course." He picked up a paper from one of the desks. It proved an account of a ghastly crime, written in a free, bold hand by a constable, who was imagining the circumstances in which he found a murdered man's body. A second paper was an essay on cats, setting forth the law both as it affects "cats" and his "fury," and also the duties of the police. A third paper told how an arrest is made, and a fourth dealt with the removal of dead bodies.

"I have a police code," explained the teacher, "for my guidance, and I use that as a basis for the lessons. After a lesson—today the subject was perjury—

STATUE OF LORD SALISBURY AS CHANCELLOR OF OXFORD

LONDON, Nov. 9.—This unique statue of the late Marquis of Salisbury was unveiled the other day by the Earl of Clarendon. The statue, which is the work of George Frampton, represents the late Prime Minister in his robes as Chancellor of the University of Oxford.

Starting for the southeast in the direction of Lake Albert Edward, the explorers found many new birds but few mammals. In July they proceeded westward by Congo territory, to work in which they obtained permission from Brussels. Owing to the tribes being in revolt, a Belgian officer and thirty soldiers were attached to the party, and soon afterward the officer and ten of the soldiers had a fight with natives, losing a sergeant killed and five men wounded—two fatally. The men had been attacked while marching through elephant grass twenty feet high.

The march to Fort Beni was performed to the accompaniment of the sound of war horns by the rebel tribes. There were stray shots from the enemy the day long, and poisoned arrows were thrown from the bush. Two porters were hit. The advance guard killed some of the natives.

From Fort Beni the explorers passed through the Ituri forest to reach Irumu, and so get back to Fort Portal. For eight days they marched through the great forest, but, although they saw the trails of tiny human feet and signs of buffalo and elephant on all sides, they only came across two pygmies.

The party reached Fort Portal on August 22, and from that point Mt. Ittebe, whence he traveled direct to England.

EMPEROR NICHOLAS AND A GROUP OF THE OFFICERS WHO ARE HIS PERSONAL FRIENDS

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 9.—A snapshot of Czar Nicholas of Russia, surrounded by his officers, taken during the recent manoeuvres. In spite of the violent outbreaks against the Russian Government, nobody can deny that the Czar has not a single enemy among those who have come into personal contact with him, with the exception of the Grand Dukes, who resent his interference with their dishonesty and dissipation.

KING ALFONSO AND QUEEN VICTORIA ON A HUNTING TRIP

MADRID, Nov. 9.—King Alfonso and Queen Victoria are here shown reading after the deer hunt which the King recently organized at Rodrio. The Queen appeared unexpectedly, when the hunters were about to have their luncheon, in which she joined, sitting at the roadside as shown in the picture.

free from disease, and in a very healthy condition, but warm and dry weather was much needed, and this fortunately started in July, and continued during the whole of August.

"The vines began to suffer at the beginning of September from want of rain, and it was noticeable in some districts that some of the grapes were becoming dried up. Rain fell toward the middle of September, which greatly improved matters, and the vintage began in Ay and along the Valley of the Marne on September 21.

"In the White Grape District, Cramant, Avize and Mesnil, the gathering was started about the same time, and the vintage went on under very favorable weather conditions. The Montagne de Reims was somewhat backward owing to the flowering having taken place later than in the Marne District, and the vintage only started there on October 2.

"On the whole, the vintage was carried out under very favorable circumstances, and as far as one is able to judge from the must there is every prospect of an excellent wine, although the quantity will not be large. As there was no disease in the vines, the wine will certainly be very sound. Of course, until after the fermentation, it is impossible to foretell whether 1906 will be a great year in the annals of champagne.

"Nineteen hundred is a grand wine. It is now in consumption, and its qualities continue to be universally appreciated. "The wines of 1904 are developing well, are excellent in quality, and show great delicacy."

FOSHORN IN FLAT

Used as Opposition to Singing of "The Lady Downstairs."

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Suggestions of neighbors "in the flat below" who sang from morning to night constituted the defense set up at the Brompton county court yesterday, when H. H. Cochrane, an engineer, was sued for rent, said to be due in respect to a flat in Fitz-James avenue, West Kensington.

Mr. Cochrane counter-claimed for damages for breach of covenant, on the ground that two ladies, who took the flat below, commenced musical gymnastics, one lady with a loud voice practising from morning to night. The other lady and a gramophone and a dog added to the entertainment.

Paris Revives the Pretty Sloping Shoulders

THE little suggestion of long shoulders got at in the new suits and dresses this fall has been lifted into a revival of the old-fashioned sloping shoulders—a revival sanctioned by no less an authority than the great Paquin himself. His first use of it was for evening gowns—decidedly Empire in effect, with fascinating, short, frilly sleeves, or with no sleeves at all, except for a bit of soft, cloudy drapery which defines the length of the shoulder line still more effectively.

As yet, only the more dressy sorts of suits and gowns—those particularly good for theatre or afternoon wear—show the sloping shoulder, although even the plainest of walking suits finds ways of cutting the shoulders as broad, as possible. In the dressier sort, odd little cape effects stretch out over the top of the sleeve, which is tucked up underneath the line of the seam, where it is stitched in, robbing it of the effect of dropping off the shoulder.

But the sloping shoulder of long ago has been given all sorts of pretty touches—this later revival is far more beautiful and shapely than its predecessor. The whole gown, in fact, is built upon more artistic lines than before, and made to conform in every respect to the sloping shoulders, not the shoulders given, without rhyme or reason, in an utterly incongruous fashion, to a dress whose whole character demands the squarer lines—not narrow, but less markedly broad.

Nearly all the gowns for house or afternoon wear show elbow or three-quarter sleeves, and evening gowns show a sleeve so vague and indefinite that it is practically no sleeve at all.

Very full skirts are worn, laid in tiny pleats or inch-wide plaits over the hips.

With many of them, these plaits are stitched down for about seven inches, then allowed to fall very full. When the material is of the diaphanous, chiffony order, the plaits are left without stitching, bands of velvet ribbon weighting the delicate stuff into the long, clinging lines it must have to be in good style. And everything in the way of skirts, except the "trotting skirts," is long—very much so.

Dead leaf green and a new, rich shade of seal brown form one of the most popular color combinations, the green a dull, soft tone not unlike one of the many shades of sage green.

Some Paris Evening Fashions

THOUGH the winter season, as far as private entertaining goes, is still a long way off, the theatres and restaurants have already assumed a very "chic" air, quite enough so to allow the discussion of evening fashions as they are worn—not merely seen in the shops.

First and foremost comes the burning question of hats. A French woman appreciates the value of a proper framing to her face. There is nothing that she loves so much as a becoming hat; hence the "no hat" rule at the national theatres, which has also been taken up by several others as they open for the season, is giving her no end of concern. And boxes and loges, wherein hats are still permitted, sell at a greater premium at each succeeding performance.

Hats in the meantime increase daily in size and airiness of construction. Gold and silver lace are the favorite materials for covering the wire frame. These are used only in their most cobweb-like forms, and after they have been tacked into their place are rendered even more ethereal by a covering of finest white tulle, which is gathered over the hat with studied carelessness, the brightness beneath delicately glinting through.

White or pink ostrich plumes, occasionally a graceful bird of paradise, with a few pink roses, constitute the trimmings most popular. Feathers are put on at the left side of the back, often directly in back, falling over the wide brim and much beupuffed hair.

1—Gown in pelerine style, in rose-pink cloth, trimmed with gilt and white and black fancy soutache braid. The tiny yoke is of baby Irish or net, which is in high favor at present. The buttons are of gilt.

2—Gown in pelerine style of smoke gray crepe de chine trimmed with bands of velvet ribbon of a darker shade, and with jeweled buttons. The undersleeves and yoke effect are of Venetian lace.

3—Gown of the new seal, with brown yoke of felt. Tiny bows of dead leaf green velvet are finished with small brass buckles. Hat is of white felt, with a hard and big bow of dead leaf green velvet, back lined in with tulle.

they are rather heavy in a certain rich way that lends itself happily to the magnificent materials in vogue: velvets, silks and the equally gorgeous, if less expensive, liberty satines. These are lined and interlined, and in their most extravagant forms covered with braiding and exquisite hand-embroidery. Emerald green, topaz, pink and yellow, and sapphire blue are the gorgeous hues that are finished off with bands of the softest sable, sealskin or ermine. After its long absence, fur has reappeared as the trimming par excellence for evening wraps. A brand-new feature, which has so far taken much better in evening fashions than in those of day wear, is the trying one of sloping shoulders. To a single picturesque figure, out of a possible dozen, is it becoming, as we know from only a very recent experience. "A burnt child" —many a woman has still on hand a bolero jacket that for the very best of reasons was much too good to throw away.

In walking suits, at least, we will beware of the long shoulder. In the new shawl-like wraps it is very graceful and often becoming, while for the meagre Empire shape of gown it is really lovely where there is any real chance of wearing it well. Such a gown is made, let us say, of cream broadcloth, with a wide blend of panne velvet around the bottom of the narrow, pointed train skirt, which extends slightly above the waist in front, though it is fitted normally to the figure.

And the sloping shoulders are made in the following way: A sash of panne velvet, lined with liberty satin and edged with narrow fringe, is cut in two long pieces ending in a sharp point at one end, gracefully rounded off at the other. These two pointed ends are fastened under either arm just at the waist line; they are then drawn over the opposite shoulder, in fichu fashion, crossed in the front just above the waist line and finally tied at the back with a tiny bow from which fall long streamers reaching to the skirt's edge. The sleeves that reach below these fichus are very short and full, edged with two or three ruffles of lace.

Shoes made of suede to match every gown are the thing; very occasionally gold or silver tissues replace these, but that is more a ballroom fashion. Whether it is her health or the shape of her ankle that a French woman guards, the fact remains that she rarely wears slippers. E. D.

The Return of the Picturesque Old Reticule

ONE of the prettiest of all the handbags Paris has sent over is really a reticule, the quaintest, most interesting thing in a retrievable, and a true copy of one of the reticules which were in fashion in Louis XVI's time.

Being nothing more difficult than bead embroidery, it is an easy thing to make at home, even the mounting upon the metal top made comparatively easy by the new tops, pierced as they are for sewing through.

The bag may be made of silk, with only the design embroidered in gilt beads, or the silk foundation may be entirely hidden by an embroidery of white and gold beads, the white ones filling in every bit of the design picked out in gilt.

In the reticule shown, both the design itself and the gilt beads are eloquent of Empire influences, the wreaths the famous typical ones which occupy so prominent a place in decorations of the Empire period.

The Latest in Laces

VERILY, this is a lace season!

You may combine three or four different kinds upon the same gown, and rest content, for you are in the fashion.

If you possess a bit of Chantilly or Spanish lace, which has been stored away for generations, get it out and rejoice, for now is the time to wear it. If you have no such heirlooms, the modern maker can supply the want, for never in the history of lace making have more beautiful "antique patterns" been put on the market.

Black is extremely popular, and one of the absolutely new offerings of the season is a black Irish crochet lace.

Panel effects are worn more and more. A well-known actress appeared not long since in a very striking white gown, and from the shoulders was suspended, stole-fashion, panels of black lace. The innovation met with the approval of the feminine half of the audience, at any rate.

Black over white is a French touch that is taking on this side of the water. A handsome black gown trimmed with black lace, which has the black cut away from under its most striking patterns, letting a white lining show through, gives something the appearance of medallions set on, but is much newer.

What is known as the filet or square effect is distinctly an item of this year's mode. It may be introduced into panels, galloons, medallions, ornaments, even into blouse patterns and robes, and is always pretty.

A blouse made of black lace "fall-over" and lined with chiffon, is particularly charming when this filet effect is present.

The lace alovers, by the way, grow more and more popular. They come in black, white, cream and coral, and in the most exquisite designs. The handsomest are really embroidery upon a net foundation, and this combination of embroidery upon lace is one of the features of the 1906 season.

It is introduced into the smallest lace pieces and ornaments, as well as into the large, and is said to be a great help to the dressmaker, for if she has so many different combinations to choose from, her task of designing something new in a costume is greatly lessened.

For those who have wearied of the val there is the Meelin in narrow widths.

Real laces, always dear to the feminine heart, are shown in the greatest profusion this season.

Never has the white Irish crochet lace been so much in demand, and never has it been shown in such a distracting number of forms, shapes, styles and patterns.

There are edgings, insertions, galloons, medallions, alovers, ornaments, big and little, and not a single one but what is beautiful.

PUBLIC SUBSCRIPTION FOR P. E. ISLAND MEN

Who Risked Their Lives to Save Wrecked Sailors—Mate of the Svalinto Dying of Pneumonia—Another Body Found

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., Nov. 10.—Public subscription lists have been started to get a purse for Austin Grady and Duncan P. Campbell, two young fishermen of Priest Pond, who at the imminent danger of their lives set out in an ordinary double dory and rescued two out of the three men remaining on the wrecked Finnish ship Svalinto on Thursday morning.

The mate of the ship is ill with pneumonia, and his recovery is doubtful. Another body was found today at Black Bush, four miles from the wreck. The sunken vessel will be sent home by the Russian consul at Halifax.

STANDARD OIL TO CONTROL STEAMERS

Secures an Interest in the Mercantile Marine—The First Step in a New Branch of Competition.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The Journal of Commerce today says that it was learned last night from a responsible source that Standard Oil interests have recently acquired a substantial interest in the securities of the International Mercantile Marine Company. This interest is so extensive that the Standard Oil people have asked representation on the board of directors of the company. In compliance with this request, Thomas W. Joyce, one of the representatives of J. P. Morgan & Company on the board, handed in his resignation early this week, and at a special meeting of the board yesterday John F. Archbold was elected to fill the vacancy. Mr. Archbold is the son of John D. Archbold, vice president and director of the Standard Oil Company. No little importance was attached to the news on the entrance of the Standard Oil interests into the steamship combine by local shipping interests when the news became known. It was in the first place regarded as an indication of a much more vigorous policy, including the building of new vessels to compete with the Leviathans under construction and contract by the opposition lines.

JAMES J. HILL AS AN ADVOCATE OF RECIPROCITY

His Railroad Extensions in the West Have Aroused Him to an Interest in This Question.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 10.—The movement to bring about reciprocal tariff arrangements with Canada will be given new impetus tonight through an address by James J. Hill, President of the Great Northern Company before the Merchants Club on "Canada and Reciprocity." The sudden and spectacular development of the far northwest, the flow of immigration thence from the United States and the promised cultivation of vast sections of hitherto wild prairie into rich wheat and corn acreage are said to have inspired the latest crusade for closer and more satisfactory trade relations with the Dominion.

EIGHTEEN YEAR OLD BOY CONFESSES MURDER

Charles Bishop Tells of the Brutal Killing of Mrs. Henry Williams.

STAFFORD SPINGS, Conn., Nov. 9.—Charles Bishop, the 18 year old farm hand employed on the farm of Henry Williams, has confessed that he murdered Mrs. Williams, the farmer's aged wife, whose body was found lying in a pool of blood late yesterday afternoon, in her house, according to a statement made tonight by Coroner Fiske. Bishop, it is stated, has also confessed to taking the money from a trunk in the upper room. The confession, it is said, followed a lengthy inquest held this afternoon to inquire into the killing of Mrs. Williams, who was found dead with her throat cut and head battered and a towel twisted tightly about her neck.

Early in the day Bishop had been under examination by the town authorities and also by the state police officers. It was while under the fire of the latter that several discrepancies are said to have appeared in his story, and the state police at the end of their inquiry announced that Bishop had been formally arrested charged with the murder. While no details in regard to the confession are given out, it is understood that Bishop has implicated no one else in the affair. He was taken to the Tolland jail to await a preliminary hearing next Tuesday morning. Inary hearing next Tuesday morning.

SET FREE BECAUSE HE MURDERED A NEGRO

DOTHAN, Ala., Nov. 9.—When the trial of William Crockett, white, charged with the murder of Lum Henry Pearce, a negro, ended today, Judge Henry Pearce, in dismissing the jury, declared that he had acquitted Crockett because he was a white man and had killed a negro. In concluding Judge Pearce said: "If the dead man had been a white citizen, it would not have taken you two hours to have returned a verdict of guilty and I don't see how any member of the jury can go from this court house and face his fellow citizens in the street."

TEXAS RANGERS WERE AMBUSHED

Had Been Sent Out to Investigate a Murder

And Were Fired on by Armed Mexicans—Military Sent to the Scene to Arrest the Offenders

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 9.—A special to the Chronicle from Laredo, Texas, says: Four Texas Rangers sent to Rio Grande City to quiet turbulent political conditions there and investigate the assassination of District Judge Welch, which occurred the night before the election, were ambushed by a body of armed Mexicans between Fordyce and Rio Grande City late last night. The Rangers were asleep in camp when awakened by a volley of shots from the darkness. A light ensued and four of the attacking party were killed, one fatally wounded and two captured. The Rangers escaped unscathed.

Governor Llanahan today ordered a company of cavalry to Starr county. The situation in Starr county was brought about by alleged election irregularities, due to political clubs supplying Mexican residents with poll tax receipts and insisting that they be allowed to vote. Judge Welch had gone from his home in Corpus Christi to be present at Rio Grande City on election day in an effort to prevent disorders. He was assassinated while he was asleep Monday night. It is charged that armed representatives of political clubs controlling the Mexican vote patrolled the voting places on election day and refused to allow Mexicans of the opposing factions to vote. Several shooting affrays occurred but no one was killed or wounded. It is charged by one faction that Judge Welch was murdered by a hired assassin and that last night's ambush of the Rangers was instigated by the same faction. There are reports here of continued rioting at Rio Grande City, the extent of which is not known.

BIG HOTEL COLLAPSED; MANY WORKMEN KILLED

Structure in California, on Which 150 Men Were Employed, Fell to the Ground.

LONG BEACH, Cal., Nov. 9.—Five stories of the central wing of the new $700,000 Elby Hotel collapsed today, carrying nine workmen to death in the tons of tangled wreckage. About 150 artisans and laborers were in the building at the time of the collapse. The structure at the moment it fell and of these one hundred were severely hurt. Thirteen men on the contractor's rolls are unaccounted for, but are probably safe. None of the injured will die.

The dead are: R. M. Perkins, Carlton Brashour, A. E. Demers, Albert Hartle, J. M. Phillips. Four unidentified workmen.

The injured are: E. P. Watson, F. W. Schulte, Alexander Bavy, George Parker, F. H. Inlay, H. G. Rinbarger, J. J. Walsh, Nicholson, Alexander Zozay.

Immediately after the collapse of the structure hundreds of bystanders lent aid in the rescue. Company H, Seventh Regiment, National Guard, was called out and lines were thrown about the building, all but the rescuers being excluded.

Pitiful scenes were enacted among the throngs who stood outside the lines waiting for news. An aged mother stood all day long on the curb looking the hotel, weeping and watching for the body of her son.

THREE MORE INCENDIARY FIRES IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Three fires, all said by the police to be of incendiary origin, caused a panic tonight among the people living in the block on East 25th Street, between second and third avenues.

After the fires had been extinguished the police found that gasoline had been freely used in the places where the fires started.

The police believe the same persons that started three fires last night in the neighborhood of 61st street and Columbus Avenue, set the blazes tonight. The fact that an engine company is stationed in the same block probably saved the house in 25th street from destruction. The property loss was insignificant.

STILL ANOTHER MAN TO SUCCEED DURAND

New York Having Guessed at Curzon and Howard Now Suggests Cecil Rice.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—It was asserted in this city last night that Cecil Arthur Spring-Rice will probably be the next ambassador to the United States from Great Britain. As far as could be learned the British foreign office has not yet definitely decided on the appointment, but of all those mentioned for the office Mr. Spring-Rice is regarded as the most probable appointment. Mr. Spring-Rice is at present in Persia, having succeeded Sir A. Hardings at Teheran. Before that he was first secretary of the embassy at St. Petersburg. He was born in 1829 and was educated at Eton and Balliol, Oxford. He became a clerk first in the war office and then in the foreign office, and for a time was assistant secretary to Earl Granville and writer to Lord Rosebery. Mr. Spring-Rice is a comparatively young man for the post at Washington. If he succeeds Sir Henry Durand his promotion will be due, in some part at least, to the fact that he is on exceedingly friendly terms with President Roosevelt. His father was the Hon. Charles Spring-Rice. In 1891 he married Florence, daughter of Sir Frank Lawley.

TAKE ACTION AGAINST ALL ON BOARD THE FROLIC

BOSTON, Nov. 9.—After two brief sessions yesterday and today, the special Federal Grand Jury this afternoon reported indictments against the twenty-one Chinese who landed at Providence from the smuggling schooner Frolic and later were arrested. All the members of the crew and the other white men including James C. Lehman, Captain Colby and Coolman Phillips, were also named. They are charged with conspiracy, and as this charge is new in so far as it concerns the Chinamen, it may have the effect of increasing the bail of the Chinese now detained at Providence and may possibly cause their eventual removal to Boston for trial.

NO AMERICAN TYPE EXISTS YET

British Parliament Receives Report on Immigration Which Deals Very Exhaustively With the Question

LONDON, Nov. 9.—A blue book presented to parliament yesterday gives an exhaustive report of immigration into the United States prepared by R. P. Lindsay, second secretary of the British embassy at Washington.

Dealing with the question of the exclusion of undesirable immigrants, Mr. Lindsay contends that it is impossible to devise a system not liable to mistake but that the matter must be regarded from the view point of an American who has the right to prefer that several desirable should be excluded rather than one pauper admitted. The author of the report argues that it would be fantastic to expect the various European races in America to fuse physically. There is no such thing as an American type, many generations as the French are from the Germans. But an assimilation of the sterner or more superficial nature has been in progress ever since the colony was organized, and it is not easy to discern this movement now. America pays a heavy price for her new citizens inasmuch as arriving adults, the heavy burden of this report may have added some evidence to show that in spite of the gravity of the task, America has little reason to fear failure.

—Add PERSONAL— Miss G. Housman and Miss H. Van Wert are enjoying a visit to Hamstead, Queens county, guests of Dr. and Mrs. MacDonaid.

Mrs. J. H. Miller, of Toronto, formerly of St. John, will receive 2nd and 4th Tuesdays, in her new home, 120 Wright street, city.

John B. Williston, of Fredericton, was a passenger on the city on the Boston express last night, and is at the Royal.

St. Stephen Curzon: Rev. Mr. Macrae, a son of Rev. Dr. Macrae, of St. John, who has recently returned from the Canadian west, will be the winter in the Presbyterian church next Sunday.

The second assembly of the B. and O. Club will be held in the assembly rooms of the York Theatre on the 20th instant. The chairmen will be Mrs. E. J. Ritchie, Mrs. John F. Morrison and Mrs. Henry O'Regan. The committee in charge of arrangements are J. A. Barry, F. J. Murphy, E. J. Simpson and A. P. Fitzgerald.

Rev. C. P. Flemington, of Point de Date returned home yesterday.

This is men's night at St. Andrew's Hallway, the band will play fast music. The number of children who are finding their way to the Hallway during the last two or three days is a strong indication that the children's carnival is going to be a big success, and the number of telephone calls that are being made by parents would indicate that they are as much interested as the children. Those who witnessed the Pollard children's performances will easily remember many costumes any of which can be easily and cheaply made and might possibly win a prize.

MISSING STEAMERS

FINN AND SYMRA

HAVE TURNED UP

ST. JOHN, Nov. 9.—The missing Norwegian steamers Finn and Symra have both turned up safely. The Symra is reported as having passed Quebec and is now nearing Montreal. Tonight the coal company received word from the captain of the steamer Douglas H. Thomas, which was sent in search of the Finn, that a large steamer had been anchored in the lee of the island, and that she was seen to raise her anchors at noon and proceeded on her way. While the steamer was not identified positively as the Finn, there is no doubt it was her. There has been great anxiety over both boats, but more especially the Finn, and the news that they are safe was received with relief.

ELEVEN STAB

WOUNDS IN BODY

Autopsy Performed on Body of Thomas Ryer Who was Probably Murdered

BENNINGTON, Vt., Nov. 9.—The autopsy performed today on the body of Thomas Ryer, who is believed to have been murdered and robbed on the highway leading from Fernal, Vt., to North Adams, Mass., about a week ago, showed eleven stab wounds in the body, four of them penetrating the heart. Ten of the man's ribs were broken. All the stab wounds were made with a knife having two edges, but as the cuts are of varying width, the authorities believe that at least two men attacked Ryer with their knives.

Dr. B. H. Stone of the state laboratory, Burlington, and Dr. C. H. Beecher, of the University of Vermont, conducted the autopsy.

No arrests have been made and the officials have as yet found no direct clue to Ryer's assailants, though it is believed that the wounds were made with knives of the kind often carried by Italian laborers.

Tonight State Attorney William R. Batey if Bennington went to Fernal and will conduct the investigation there.

MANAGERS TO BE HEARD NEXT WEEK

OTTAWA, Nov. 9.—The insurance commission next week will hear the Life Insurance Managers' Association. The Policyholders' Association and the Mutual Reserve will probably be required into to see whether they have complied with legislation passed two years ago.

It is said that the insurance department is preparing some new actuarial calculations on the Foresters. The last calculations were disproved by the experience of the Foresters.

TORONTO, Nov. 9.—While Police Constable Robert Lewis was asleep in his home on Ossington avenue, early yesterday morning a burglar robbed the house, carrying away a purse and some money before being disturbed.

A. O. H. CADET

CORPS FORMED

There were over 200 boys present at St. Malachi's hall last evening to join the new organization to be known as the A. O. H. Cadets. The boys ranged in age from ten to sixteen years, and were put through their preliminary drill. They will elect their own officers after they have shown themselves efficient. At their drill last evening the officials were surprised at the quickness with which they learned the initial movements.

The boys will be divided into signallers and pioneer scouts, so that a complete battalion will be formed. The meetings will be held on Friday evenings, so as not to interfere with the school lessons.

One very important feature of the work will be that any students who neglect their school work will be suspended. If a teacher complains that any of the boys is behind in his work, he will be suspended until the teacher says he has regained his efficiency in school work. There will be four divisions, North End, Lower Cove, city proper and Fairville, but for the first few weeks the boys are requested to assemble every Friday evening at St. Malachi's hall for drill. Major Thomas Kiekam is in charge, assisted by Sergis. Stanton and McCarthy.

HUNGARIAN DEPUTY IS IMMURED IN ASYLUM

Recovering Consciousness After Fall From Horse He Finds Himself Among Lunatics.

BUDAPEST, Nov. 10.—Count Eugen Zichy, a prominent deputy, great traveler and millionaire, declares that he has been wrongfully confined for six weeks in a lunatic asylum.

He says that last June, while shooting he had a sunstroke, and fell from his horse. For four days he remained unconscious, and when he recovered was tricked into entering a private asylum. When he realized his position he was prevented from leaving the place, and letters written to friends were not delivered. Permission to see his son was refused, and the Count says that during the whole time it required all his strength of mind to prevent him really becoming mad.

Finally the president of the Lower Hungarian Chamber paid him a visit and secured his liberation, when the doctors declared him sane.

The matter was raised by Deputy Ugron at a sitting of parliament today, and the standing committee who watch over the immunity of members was directed to make inquiries.

WILL BE SUCCEEDED BY ACTIVE CONSERVATIVE

SANDWICH, Ont., Nov. 9.—William Sparks, governor of the county jail here, has been notified by Sheriff Iler of his removal from office, to take effect November 20th. Sparks' resignation is the result of the suicide in the jail of Chris Spindelman, awaiting examination for murdering his wife last July. Spindelman strangled himself in the cell with his shoe laces. The act was not discovered for three or four hours after his death, though guards were supposed to be on duty.

John Harmon, marble dealer and politician, of Windsor, where he has resided over twenty years, is selected to succeed Governor Sparks. He has been an active worker in the Conservative party.

ANOTHER WONDERFUL CASE

HERE IS SOMETHING THAT WILL BE WELCOME NEWS TO MANY A DISCOURAGED ONE.

"For several years I have been troubled with gas around my heart, shortness of breath, in fact, if I walked my usual gait my breath would get so short I would be compelled to make several stops during my walk.

"Of late my food did not digest properly. It turned sour in my stomach, causing me great distress; often, too, I had disagreeable attacks of belching air and heartburn.

"I was bothered with severe pains across the small of my back, and the least bending or turning would cause me to almost cry out.

"I was induced to try Dr. Leonard's Anti-Pill and from the very first found relief.

"For the last three months I have had no recurrence of my former complaint, so I am bound to say Anti-Pill has indeed cured me."

This is the voluntary statement of Wm. H. Reel of 165 Queen St., Kingston, Ont.

All Druggists sell Anti-Pill. The Wilson-Frye Co., Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont.

The remedy that cured such an extreme case is surely worth trying.

FINANCIAL INCREASE

OTTAWA, Nov. 9.—The financial figures for the first three months of the fiscal year show the revenue on consolidated accounts to have been $23,882,850, an increase of $4,094,531 over the same period last year. The expenditure on the same account for the period was $18,811,081, or $5,071,769 less than for the same period last year.

From customs for the three months ending on Nov. 31, 1906, an increase of two and a quarter millions. The revenue from excise was $5,184,604, an increase of three-quarters of a million. Revenue from post office was $1,778,889, an increase of a hundred and forty thousand. Revenue from public works, including railways, was $3,784,000, an increase of six hundred thousand.

CONGREGATIONAL SOCIAL

A very pleasant congregational social was held in St. Andrew's church last night. The social which was given by the Ladies Aid Association was attended by a large number of the members of the church and their friends.

The lecture room of the church was decorated for the occasion. An address of welcome was given by the pastor Rev. David Lang.

This was followed by a short musical programme. Miss Elise McLean gave a violin solo, and vocal solos were rendered by Miss M. Lindsay; Miss Ida Farbox and Mrs. W. J. Hennies. During the evening Mrs. J. H. Thomson made an address.

At the close of the programme refreshments were served by the Ladies' Association.

CANADIAN FAKES.

Many of the Wildest Nature Being Floated in England.

Millions of Pounds Involved—Railways, Canals, Waterpower and Land Propositions.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—At the meeting of the British Columbia Electric Railway, R. M. Hornby said the prosperity of British Columbia would really commence from the time when she began to attract capital from the world. For this reason the people of British Columbia would do well to think twice before they sent forth to the world resolutions and by-laws threatening antagonism to capital. The Canadian market had hitherto been kept clean and wholesome, but he had received recently prospectuses of at least a dozen enterprises of the wildest nature, involving millions sterling. If these were taken up there would be not the least doubt that ninety per cent of the capital would be lost. The report was adopted, and the capital increased to $1,500,000.

Mr. Hornby added that the schemes he referred to included railways, water power schemes, marine railways, canals and townsite and land schemes. There were also two safeguards, he said. Avoid United States names on Canadian enterprises like the plague, and make sure to get the names of leading commercial Canadian and important banks on the prospectuses. Above all, there should be no confusion between the social and political position, and the financial and commercial position.

BULL'S LIFE SAVED

Audience Hiss Fighter and Demand That Animal be Spared.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—The Petit Marcellais relates the unusual occurrence of a bull released at a bull fight at Valladolid.

The bull, which was a particularly fine animal, and called Aldano, fell out of the hand of his keeper and followed him about like a dog. These facts became known to the public, and applauded Aldano when he was led into the arena.

The keeper cried bitterly that his friend would be killed, and his sobe so distracted the matador during the fight that the torador became nervous, and instead of killing the bull with a blow of his knife, only wounded him in the shoulder.

The audience hissed the clumsy fighter, and then demanded that the bull's life be spared. So great was the uproar that the president of the bull fight was obliged to declare that Aldano should not be killed.

WHY LORD ROSEBERY RESIGNED.

Fearing That Intervention in Armenian Outrages Would Mean War.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The cloud of mystery which surrounded Lord Rosebery's resignation of the leadership of the opposition has been dispelled by an entry in the late Prince Hohenlohe's memoirs.

Lord Rosebery had been plately told by M. de Staal, during that diplomat's visit to Delmeuz, immediately before the czar arrived in Scotland, that isolated intervention by Great Britain in the Armenian atrocities would involve the risk of a European war; and, as he was not prepared to take any share in such a risk—for the policy of such intervention was then being strongly urged in influential Liberal quarters—he preferred to withdraw from the leadership of the party.

FINED FOR HAVING SMUGGLED LIQUORS

The case against James McCarthy for knowingly keeping and selling smuggled liquors on the 9th of February and the 31st of March last, was disposed of in the police court yesterday afternoon. H. A. McKeown on behalf of the defendant entered a plea of guilty and asked his honor to impose the minimum fine, as while he admitted that the liquors were bought by the defendant he was in ignorance of the fact that the duties had not been paid.

His honor imposed a fine of $50 for each offense. The defendant also agreed to pay the plaintiff $10 in costs. E. H. McAlpine appeared for the government.

SMUGGLING PASTIME

ADOPTED BY A WOMAN

Excitement of Trips Across Frontiers is Sole Motive of Her Erratic Acts.

GENEVA, Nov. 10.—The customs authorities on the Franco-Swiss frontier are in despair concerning Mile. Martine Rey, a pretty woman who has adopted wholesale smuggling as a pastime.

Mile. Rey, who is only 24 years old, and wealthy, lives at Drisy, a frontier village, in a charming villa left her by her late father, who was reputed to be a French millionaire.

Tiring of home life, Mile. Rey decided that smuggling was the most exciting diversion she could find. Tobacco, sachets and snuff were very dear in Haute Savoie, and very cheap in Geneva. It was easy to fill her automobile with contraband in Switzerland, and then dash across the frontier, selling it at enhanced prices, and giving the proceeds to the poor.

At first the scheme was highly satisfactory. Mile. Rey had several narrow escapes from capture by the customs inspectors, but this only added to the attraction of the enterprise. On one occasion she was closely pursued by indignant French officials, but her car out-distanced them, and the contraband exchanged hands before they recovered the trail.

Misfortune came with a new chauffeur, however. The former one, a middle-aged man, became crippled with rheumatism in consequence of his frequent night journeys across the frontier, and a substitute was engaged. He was not expert in the art of smuggling, and on the second trip the car was overhauled by the French authorities and the occupants arrested.

Mile. Rey, who wore a smart Paris costume, treated the matter as a joke, paid the exorbitant fines imposed, surrendered her contraband sacharin to the inspector and motored merrily back to Switzerland to get another cargo.

Encouraged by this capture, however, the French guards increased their vigilance, and the motor car was captured a second and a third time. On each occasion Mile. Rey nonchalantly signed checks for the amounts of the heavily increased fines, and ironically complimented the authorities on their vigilance.

The third time she was informed that her car would be confiscated if she persisted in this form of amusement. Mile. Rey retorted that they would have to catch her first! They did catch her again, and after the usual formalities of seizure and fines had been concluded at Sellying, in Haute Savoie, Mile. Rey coolly hired a pair-horse landau, and with her chauffeur drove back home, leaving contraband behind valued at $600.

"My car is not fast enough," Mile. Rey told the chief inspector at Sellying. "Now I shall get a really big one. By-and-by my chauffeur will know the roads better, and then—we shall see! Smuggling is the finest sport in this dull world!"

Desires to Come to Understanding With Italian Government.

ROME, Nov. 10.—The Giornale d'Italia publishes tonight an important interview with one of the cardinals of the Curia relative to the so-called Roman question. His Eminence said that a reciprocal agreement between the two great political and religious powers in Italy would prove an immense benefit from a utilitarian standpoint, and, moreover, it imposed itself as a stern necessity for the future welfare of the fatherland, which was threatened by a hydra of evils.

KILLED BY HIS FAMILY

Wife, Daughter and Two Sons Guilty of Murder.

GENEVA, Nov. 10.—The wife of an elderly man named Heger, who lived at Alport, in the Canton of Uri, has confessed that, with the assistance of her 18-year-old daughter and two younger sons, she murdered her husband.

The man's body was found in the River Reuss yesterday, three weeks after the crime. Heger was persuaded to walk into a wood by his daughter, and the mother and two sons, armed with sticks, followed.

On coming up with her husband the woman struck him to the ground with a blow on the head, and the children then rained blows on him until he was dead. Afterward they threw the body into the river.

The family have been placed under arrest and will be put on trial for murder.

BETRAYED WHILE ASLEEP

Women Pretends She is Ignorant of French, but Speaks it in Dream.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—A woman who was arrested on Saturday for picking pockets, and who pretended to speak an unknown language, betrayed herself in her sleep.

When brought before the magistrate the woman was interrogated by Turkish, Russian, Polish and Hungarian interpreters, but none of them could understand her, although one believed she spoke a little-known dialect of French.

The magistrate was not convinced, and ordered her to be kept in the prison infirmary under strict surveillance. Last night in her sleep the woman talked fluent French, with the true Parisian accent.

"I was shaking dice with a swordfish, sir, and was stuck for the drinks," he said.

Head of Brokerage Firm
Makes Interesting Statement

Knows of Other Cases Where Bank
Manager Dealt in Stocks on Margins
With Bank's Funds

TORONTO, Nov. 9.—A. E. Ames, head of the brokerage firm of Ames & Co., this morning gave the lie to entries in the books of the Ontario Bank which indicated wiping out of a large loan from the bank to the broker. Mr. Ames was again the witness when the preliminary examination into the case of ex-manager Charles McGill was resumed. Contrary to expectations, the inquiry did not proceed upon the new charge of "theft," laid at the instance of the magistrate, but upon information of wifely making false returns or statements to the Minister of Finance. McGill appeared in court, ruddy and smiling after his unpleasant experiences of the past few days.

Robert E. McKay, junior counsel for the defense, cross-examined Ames and secured the rather interesting statement that the broker had known of other cases where bank managers had dealt in stocks on margins with the bank's funds. These cases he would not describe, however, in the words attempted to be used by McKay as "not infrequent." Ames also said he had known of an official of a corporation to invest the corporation's money in his own name. This again was not usual. It was customary to have securities held by at least two officials.

Ames before he left court was asked to give the position of his office with regard to Ontario bank on July 1 of this year. The bank books showed a liability from the Ames firm to the bank of $45,000. Ames produced a leaf from his ledger on the same date, which proved that McGill owed his firm $77,000 and that Ames and Company held collateral for that amount.

When J. G. Langton, the former chief accountant of the bank, was called he asked for protection. Crown attorney acquiesced, and the magistrate extended the hearing until the warning that it would be no bar to the proceedings against the witness upon a perjury charge, presuming that perjury might occur.

Langton described innovations in bookkeeping which he found in the bank. He told of the statement of current loans, which made them $597,788. He knew this was not a true statement of current loans, and he spoke to the manager about it. McGill assured him that it was the statement of the bank, and would take the responsibility for it. "Well the time is coming soon when he will have an opportunity of explaining it," commented the magistrate. "Why did you leave the bank?" "I left," replied the witness, "because I was not satisfied to continue signing statements which I knew to be false. But I had to wait until I had an opportunity, that is, until I had another situation. Besides I did not wish my leaving to excite comment."

The witness in answer to other questions from the magistrate, said that he could not say how much the directors knew of the inner financial methods of the bank. In 1903 a minute book appeared upon the directors' book which required that all purchases and all sales of stock should be reported to the board. Witness presumed this notice would not be put on the book unless the directors knew what was going on.

Langton said that he had never told any of the directors that these stock speculations were going on. He was unaware how much they knew. One day he had seen President Cockburn and Manager McGill looking at a book in which speculative transactions were entered, but he could not say which account was being examined.

Stephen Daley, who was convicted last March for breaking and entering McGuire's liquor store on Mill street, and allowed out on suspended sentence, was brought before Judge Forbes yesterday afternoon, as it was alleged that he had not been conducting himself with propriety lately. Judge Forbes gave him a severe lecture and some good advice, after which he was allowed to leave the court room with the admonition to "go and sin no more."

The Marquis of Ripon expressed the government's satisfaction that it had been able to continue the foreign policy of Lord Lansdowne, and said he was glad to be able to declare, after consultation with Sir Edward Grey, that at the present all indications pointed toward peace.

UNCHANGE; CITIZENS HOPEFUL

SYDNEY, N. S., Nov. 9.—One week ago the blast furnace of the D. I. & S. Co. were closed down owing to the Steel officials claim, the failure of the Dominion Coal Company to live up to a contract made in 1903 by which the coal company was to supply the steel company with 800,000 tons of coal per year at $1.24 per ton, and while the coal company will say nothing in this regard, it is believed they were losing money on it, and thus the whole difficulty arose.

DONALDSON LINER
ASHORE AND FLOATED

MONTREAL, Nov. 8.—Donaldson Line steamship Athenia, McNeill, from Montreal to Glasgow, went ashore this morning at Cape Rouge, 45 miles this side of Quebec. The steamer was floated at high water this afternoon and proceeded to Quebec. It is not thought she received any serious damage.

AN INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT

Steady Progress of the Sussex
Manufacturing Comp'y.

Sussex Will Soon Possess One of the Best Equipped Industrial Establishments in Maritime Provinces.

SUSSEX, Nov. 9.—In a quiet way, but none the less surely, an important industrial development is in progress in Sussex. From small beginnings the Sussex Manufacturing Company has developed rapidly within the past three or four years, and the projects now on foot seem to assure to Sussex the possession of one of the busiest and best equipped industrial establishments in the Maritime Provinces.

LORD TWEEDMOUTH,
First Lord of Admiralty

This, in itself, is an industrial achievement of no mean magnitude, but the activity of the new management does not stop here. Immediately in the rear of the woodworking plant two new dry kilns are being erected to facilitate the handling of the large quantities of lumber which will be required, a steel tramway is being built on which to run cars of lumber from the yard into the drying rooms, and the Hanrahan system of kiln-drying is the one to be adopted here.

MR. MAKEPEACE—HE WAKES FROM A PLEASANT DREAM!

MONTREAL, Nov. 9.—Still doubtful as to whether or not there will be two Liberal candidates in St. Ann's division by election Dr. Guerin, who was beaten in the convention Thursday night by 85 to 50, claims that he did not get fair play. The charges that notices sent to delegates known to favor him were not delivered until last evening while the Welsh delegates received notes by special delivery. He also alleges that St. Ann's ward is his stronghold, and the largest division of the constituency was given an inadequate representation.

DR. GRENFELL HONORED

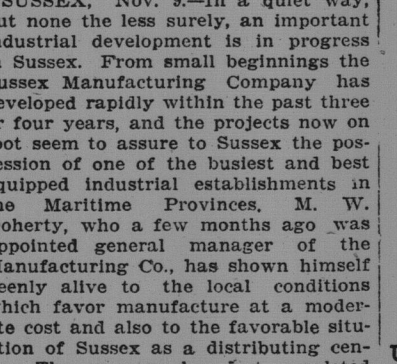

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Nov. 9.—Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, the medical missionary who founded and conducted the Labrador Deep Sea Mission, figured today, it is learned, among the King's birthday honorees, being created a companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

Parties Interested Much Elated Over
Report of Experts—Traces of Silver and Lead

WOODSTOCK, N. B., Nov. 9.—The parties interested in the copper mine at Northampton, four miles below town on the other side of the river, are greatly elated upon receiving today from an expert in Boston confirmation of an assay made recently by another expert in Bayonne, N.J., showing the existence of copper to the extent of from $21 to $30 to the ton. High Sheriff Hayward sent the ore to the parties who made the assays and vouches for their origin. He has also sent a box of samples to Butte, and is daily awaiting the report of the assayer who is comparing them with the ore in Butte Hill.

JUDGMENT RESERVED

FREDERICTON, N. B., Nov. 9.—Argument in the case of Collins v. the City of St. John, was concluded this afternoon in the supreme court and judgment was reserved.

ONE MONTH IN JAIL
WITH HARD LABOR

MONCTON, Nov. 9.—William LeBlanc was sentenced by Magistrate Kay this afternoon to one month in jail, with hard labor, for Scott act violation. The case was one of those in which the information was laid as a result of Saturday evening's raid by the police, and there were two witnesses, the two officers who raided the barroom. They gave evidence of having seen a beer pump, and taking a small quantity of frothy matter from it, and also seeing a number of empty bottles. Geo. P. Thomas appeared for the defendant, but no defense was offered. This afternoon was the first imprisonment fine which Magistrate Kay has imposed since his judgment was upheld by the supreme court at Fredericton.

THE TWO BRADLEY BOYS WERE SUSPENDED

Principal Stoddard Says the Patience of Teachers is Exhausted—The Trouble on Wednesday.

Principal Stoddard, of Winter street school, explained to the Star today about the trouble with the two Bradley boys. Mr. Stoddard says that these boys are inveterate truants, who have been a continuous source of annoyance to their teacher, and who have time and again been warned about their conduct. They have a habit of coming to school in the mornings and at recess jumping over the fences and remaining away from school for two or three days. Their mother and sister have been to the school repeatedly pleading that the boys be given one more chance, as they have promised over and over that they would be good in future. These last chances were given until the patience of the principal and teachers were exhausted, and finally Dr. Bridges was appealed to. The doctor suggested one more last chance and the boys failed to live up to their promises. While in class they are continually causing disturbances and in short are most difficult to handle.

On Wednesday, one of the boys, who is in Miss Waring's room, was particularly annoying and after Miss Waring had several times appealed to Mr. Stoddard, the latter went up and found young Bradley kicking and shouting. The time for punishment had come and Mr. Stoddard laid young Bradley to hold out his hand. Bradley refused and Mr. Stoddard then proceeded to use the ruler in that section of the boy's anatomy which providence has provided for the punishment of boys.

This performance was conducted in the hall, and the other Bradley, who, in some way heard of what was going on, slipped out of Miss Hayward's room, and when near Mr. Stoddard tried to grab the ruler. He failed to get it but ran down stairs and out of the school grounds. The boy who was punished became very meek and went back to his class where he remained until school closed, although he threatened not to come back to school. When the classes were dismissed, this Bradley made an attack on a little boy who had been sent by Miss Waring to summon Mr. Stoddard. He was caught and stopped. Miss Waring walked home with the lad and found that Bradley was waiting on the street for him, but seeing the teacher he slunk away.

On Thursday morning the two Bradley boys slipped into school unnoticed by the teachers, but when their presence was discovered Mr. Stoddard ordered them to leave. He has suspended them and states that he will not take them back, as they have gone beyond the limit.

HOW SAN FRANCISCO IS BEING REBUILT

Mrs. Robert Clark Here on a Visit to Friends.

Tells of the Suffering Which Followed the Earthquake—Labor Strikes a Hindrance to the Work

Mrs. Robert Clark, of Alameda, California, is in the city visiting her brother-in-law, Chas. A. Clark, of the City Fuel Co. Mrs. Clark was at her place at the time of the great earthquake in San Francisco, and says that although Alameda is over twelve miles from San Francisco, the earthquake was very severely felt there. All the brick buildings were entirely destroyed and many other places were badly damaged. Mrs. Clark says the scene shortly after the calamity when the refugees began to come over to Alameda from San Francisco was terrible to witness. Most of the refugees were temporarily out of their minds and some of the household effects which they brought over from their wrecked homes caused some amusement even in the midst of the calamity.

Mrs. Clark speaks of the great courage and zeal shown by the people of San Francisco in rebuilding their homes. Temporary places of shelter were erected and now small wooden shacks have taken the place of the destroyed, a step nearer completion. There is no doubt that San Francisco will soon be the beautiful and magnificent city it once was.

The only drawback to the immediate rebuilding of the city is the demand for laborers. These named unrelaxably high wages and several serious strikes resulted from the refusal of the builders to comply with their demands. The cost of building material has also gone up considerably. Now, however, a compromise has been made, the wage to the workers and the rebuilding of the city is fast being accomplished.

Mrs. Clark is the wife of Robert E. Clark who left St. John a number of years ago and is now located in Alameda, where he carries on his business as contractor and builder. Mrs. Clark is a devoted mother and intends to make a visit to friends in New England States, after which she will return to her home.

JAMES R. ANDREWS GIVEN GOLD WATCH

North End Citizen Remembered by Main Street Baptists—Leaves for Calgary on Wednesday.

At the close of the social prayer service in Main street Baptist church last evening James R. Andrews, who leaves for the west on Wednesday, was made the recipient of a valuable gold watch by the church people. Rev. D. Hutchinson made the presentation in a eulogistic address, in which he referred very feelingly to the faithful service of Mr. Andrews in the church and Sunday school for many years, and of the keen regret felt on all sides because of his removal.

Mr. Andrews, who was taken completely unawares, was prevented from making an extended reply by a flood of emotion. Realizing he was parting with friends and associates of a lifetime, from the home circles and church circles in which he had reared his family, and from the church to which he had given his best effort, at the occasion, muttering a few words of thanks and regret at parting.

The scene was an affecting one, and clearly indicated how firm are the friendships and bonds of love that exist between the earnest men and women, their church and its people. As a trustee, deacon and Sunday school superintendent and in other official capacities Mr. Andrews has always been an enthusiastic and consistent worker.

Next Wednesday, accompanied by his wife and daughter, Miss Sadie, Mr. Andrews' trade, in that section of the city where he has been for some time, is understood there is a good deal of carriage building and repair work. Mr. Andrews' trade, in that section of the west, and North End citizens generally while sorry to lose so good a citizen, will wish Mr. Andrews every possible good fortune.

TYPED WRITERS, ETC.

The public typewriting bureau has now been open to the public for the past nine months, and is being patronized by contractors, merchants, doctors, insurance underwriters, civic authorities, government representatives, etc.

The increased patronage now being secured by this department has compelled the management to call in the services of Miss Florence J. Baxter, who has had six years' experience as a public stenographer. Miss Baxter will take full charge of this department which is equipped with six new modern typewriters, one wide carriage billing machine, one Edison Rotary Mimeograph, up-to-date filing systems, card systems and the latest modern conveniences for the quick execution of this line of work.

No order is too small or too large for the office, and a corps of six competent stenographers are held in readiness for any emergency. A competent representative will be sent to any office or address in the city in response to a message, or letters may be dictated over the telephone, if desired. A private office is connected with the department for the convenience of its patrons.

This department occupies nearly the whole ground floor of the Farrell building recently occupied by the American Express Co., No. 29 Canterbury St. The phone number is 1765.
