SHE TOOK HER MOTHER'S ADVICE

Now is in the Best of Health because she took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Keweenaw, Sask.—"My mother has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and upon learning of my troubles advised me to try it, as I seemed all run down after the flu and had leucorrhoea very bad. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and used the Sanitive Wash also Dr. Keweenaw's Capsules and Prescription and am much better in every way. I am willing for you to use my letter as a testimonial as I recommend your medicines."—Mrs. Lillian Hanson, Keweenaw, Sask.

It is not always in business that a woman is forced to give up her work on account of ill health. It is quite as often the woman who does her own work at home. When backaches and headaches drive out all ambition, when that bearing-down sensation attacks you, when you are nervous and blue, the one great help for such ailments is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

HARTLAND, N. B., AUG. 4, 1921

TIME TO ADVERTISE

Those who most easily tide themselves over a period of business depression are those who, instead of curtailing their advertising expenditure, actually increase it. They put greater selling effort into the wording. They shave the prices on slow sellers and feature them before the public. A brisk, carefully planned advertising campaign—advertising real bargains and giving what is advertised—is a sovereign remedy for dull times in any store.

When a merchant steps out and quits the advertising field the reading public asks why. Often they correctly take it as an indication of fear, of "cold feet," or the first indication of real business decay.

"It pays to advertise," but it pays to advertise only by keeping everlastingly at it. You cannot keep the business iron red-hot by occasional thrusts into the fire. You must keep it continually in the glowing furnace of unquenchable zeal and business push, which is best evidenced by carefully planned advertising.

Advertising placed in The Observer reaches practically every home in Carleton county. Really attractive offers persistently placed in these columns must eventually bring favorable response.

Just before you definitely decide to cease advertising give advertising twice the careful attention in a little more space for a few weeks. The result may change your decision.

SOFT TIMES PASSING

Today there are nearly 200,000 men idle in Canada. In The Observer's immediate field, very fortunately for all concerned, very few men are idle by force. Nevertheless men who have steady employment and are dependent upon it for maintenance of themselves and their families are realizing the value of the job as they have not done since before the war.

It is a sure fact, however, if times are not hard in Carleton and Victoria counties, business is most wretchedly dull. Farmers have realized this since last fall, and more and more the merchants and other business interests are feeling it. The Observer feels it.

While there may not be such abundant crops, the most optimistic people feel convinced that prices this year will be better than last and business with everybody will brighten. No one, however, is likely to live to see again the abnormally high prices that prevailed during 1919 and the early part of 1920. We simply must make up our minds to that. But if there is a fairly average yield of crops in general, and a fair average price all round, the people of the St. John Valley should be cheerful. And the prospect looks hopeful both for yield and prices.

DEATH OF B. M. COX

On July 22, at the Fisher Memorial Hospital, Birdsell M. Cox of Hartland died a few hours from having been admitted for treatment for heart disease. Mr. Cox had been in failing health for a long time, and for about eight months was unable to do any work. He was born at Victoria.

He was survived by two brothers, Howard and Paul, and one married sister. He also leaves his wife and an adopted daughter. Mr. Cox lived in Hartland during the past 15 years or more. He was a man of many gifts, and was a useful and honored citizen. He was a member of the Reformed Baptist church, and was a conspicuous figure in the work of the local congregation.

The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon from his late residence and the Reformed Baptist church, where Rev. H. S. Dow of Fort Fairfield preached an impressive sermon. Licentiate Hartley Mullen and Rev. W. P. Haigh assisted in the service. The body was laid to rest in the family plot at Victoria.

A letter under date of July 27 informs this office that the matter is being considered at Ottawa.

IN MEMORIAM

Lines written by Rev. C. H. Spurgeon to his wife, while absent in a sanatorium, applied to A. F. Campbell's wife, while absent from the body and present with her Lord:

Over the space that parts us, my wife,
I'll cast me a bridge of song;
Our hearts shall meet, O joy of my life,
On its arch unseen, but strong.

The wooer his new love's name may wear
Engraved on a precious stone;
But in my heart thy image I wear,
That heart has long been thine own.

The glowing colors on surface laid,
Wash out in a shower of rain;
Thou need'st not be of rivers afraid,
For my love is dyed in grain.

And as every drop of Garde's lake
Is tinged with sapphire's blue,
So all of the powers of my mind partake
Of joy at the thought of you.

All earth-born love must sleep in the grave,
To its native dust return;
What God hath kindled shall death outlive,
And in heaven itself shall burn.

Beyond and above the wedlock tie,
Our union to Christ we feel,
Uniting bonds which were made on high,
Shall hold us when earth shall reel.

Though he who chose us, all worlds before,
Must reign in our hearts alone,
We fondly believe that we shall adore
Together before his throne.

With whom are such things sickening sentiment? The answer is: With those, who have never truly loved.

Once again it seems actually necessary to inform all contributors that every article sent for publication must have the name of the writer attached to it. We cannot publish a single line if we do not know who is responsible for it. This advice is intended for regular correspondents as well as occasional ones. Those who sign another's name or a fictitious name lay themselves open to prosecution.

Again it is necessary to announce that it is utterly useless to send original or other "poetry" to The Observer for publication. All poetic ideas in the world were written and published before the end of the Victorian era, and it is useless for amateurs to attempt to continue the finished work of the masters.

COULD BEAT HANDS SHUCKING HIS CORN

At Least J. A. White Would Not So,
After Being Relieved Of Dyspepsia By Taniac

"My wife and myself have had stomach trouble," says Mr. J. A. White, residing on the Leestown Pike, R. F. D. No. 6, near Lexington, Ky., "and have both been nervous and run down."

"We could not eat anything without suffering afterwards and could not sleep at night. We were regular nervous dyspeptics. We tried many remedies without permanent benefit until we heard of Taniac. I got this medicine and began using it. We noticed immediate results. We are both greatly improved by Taniac. We give all credit for the change of health to Taniac. It is a remarkable medicine."

"I personally feel so good that I told my hands a day or two ago that I could beat any of them shucking corn. I meant it and believe I could have beat 'em all."

Of all the maladies that afflict humanity chronic dyspepsia, such as Mr. and Mrs. White suffered from, is probably the most prevalent and hours might be consumed in describing the sufferings, mental and bodily, of the victims of chronic dyspepsia.

A morbid, unreal, whimsical and melancholy condition of the mind, aside from the nervous physical suffering, is the usual state of the average dyspeptic and life seems scarcely worth the living.

Taniac, the celebrated medicine, was designed especially for overcoming this distressing condition and millions of people have taken it with the most astonishing and gratifying results. It seems to go straight to the spot, toning up and invigorating every organ of the body.

For sale—a mowing machine, and raking machine, both new last year; will be sold at a bargain. May be seen at Rockland. Enquire of Barry Drake, Hartland for further particulars.

Better Than— "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm"

If you remember anything about last year's Chautauque program, you have not forgotten how you "laid" and "luffed" and "laid over" the play, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm." And you said, "I wish I could see it over again." You didn't mean that; you meant, "I wish I could see another one just as good."

Well, it's coming! "It Pays to Advertise" has more laughs than "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm." Do you believe it? Some people don't. Do you eat hens' eggs? The leading character in "It Pays to Advertise" says you eat hens' eggs because when she lays an egg, she advertises her product, and when a duck does the same thing, she keeps quiet about it. Hence, you know about hens' eggs and eat them. Anything in that? Come see the play before you decide.

A complete cast, under the personal direction of Elizabeth B. Oliver, whom you all remember for her part in the "Fortune Hunter," "The Man from Home" and "Rebecca," will present it. Special scenery and costumes will add the artistic touches. Have your plans made not to miss it. It's a big feature of the entire week's program at Chautauque.

JUST FUN

Evidently, Not by the Seneca.
An American was with a gushing enthusiasm describing his new car to an English visitor. "It runs so smoothly," he said, "you can't feel it. Not a bit of noise, you can't hear it. Perfect ignition, you can't smell it. And speed, why, it simply whizzes, you can't see it."
"My word!" exclaimed the astonished Britisher. "How do you know the half thing is there?"—Boston Transcript.

Telephone Nightmare.
Church—I understand an arrangement has been patented so that when a person is talking on the telephone the face of the person one is talking to is reflected on a mirror in front of them, even if the person being talked to is miles away.
Gotham—Well, I hope to gracious
if that is so some people I happen to know will never telephone me.

Excessive Success.
"It isn't possible for success to escape the smeer of envy."
"No," replied Cactus Joe. "Success should be taken in moderation. The first time in an event that a man holds four aces everybody congratulates him, the second time everybody gets suspicious, and the third time everybody guesses it's about time to stop the game."

Nettles That Cause Death.
All species of nettles are unpleasant enough to handle roughly, but some of the foreign ones are most formidable plants. Several of the East Indian forms are truly dangerous, for, after the first itching sensation has passed away, it is often followed by a feeling as if hot iron had been rubbed on the flesh, and the pain increases to such an extent that after hours—and sometimes days—the patient is assailed with symptoms like those following influenza and lockjaw, while sometimes death results.

World's Folk Songs.
The subject of folk song is indeed inexhaustible. The Scotch, Irish and Welsh songs are all interesting in their several ways, and there are also songs of Rumania, of many Scandinavian nations, of Greece and of the Netherlands, which have not been mentioned.
The only way to understand and enjoy all these songs is, of course, to hear them, to sing them, and thus to become thoroughly familiar with their characteristics and with the various
and changing emotions they express.

A Noisy Donation.
My most embarrassing moment happened to be while I was in church one Sunday morning. I had collected thirty-five pennies and put them in a box to give to the Christmas collection. I was just about to put the pennies into the basket when, alas, the cover came off of the box and my precious thirty-five pennies went rolling all over the floor. I could not wait until church finished, as I felt all eyes upon me as I picked up my pennies.—Chicago Tribune.

Davy Jones.
Among sailors Davy Jones is a common name for death, but in earlier times it was a name for the evil spirit, who was supposed to preside over the demons of the sea. Davy Jones was thought to be in all storms, and was held to be seen at times, a being of gigantic height, showing three rows of teeth in his enormous mouth, frightful eyes, and nostrils which emitted blue flames. The ocean is still termed by sailors "Davy Jones' Locker."

Paying on the "Nail."
The English expression is to pay on the nail. It is said that in the center of the Limerick exchange is a pillar with a circular plate of copper about three feet in diameter, called the nail.
On this the earnest money of all stock exchange bargains must be paid. A similar custom prevailed at Bristol, where four pillars called nails stood in front of the exchange and were used for the same purpose.—London Mail.

To Rest Sensibly.
When the day's work is over, despite a headache, take a bath and make a change from the working clothes. It is easier to lay aside the working habit of mind if the working garments are removed. To take a walk, to read something interesting, to take an interest in music, to make a call on some one who will not talk shop—these are refreshing, curative things.

Bicycle on Railroad Track.
By means of a light outrigger constructed of pipe, a French inventor has made it possible to make use of a bicycle on railroad tracks. The bicycle is held on one rail, while the end of the outrigger rests on the other,
and all the rider has to do is work
his legs and incidentally to look out for trains which may happen to come from either direction.

Spanish Songs.
The Spanish songs are so closely allied to the dance music of the people that it is not always possible to distinguish one from the other. This is especially noticeable in the Basque songs with their strong syncopated rhythms and continual changes of time.
Perhaps the only other songs with such strong syncopated dance rhythms are the Negro songs.

Pumping Air into the Brain.
A brain tumor often causes idiocy, and sometimes death. Physicists are always working upon some method
by which tumors may be exactly located without injuring the patient.
Recently a doctor has discovered a process by which purified air may be pumped into the brain. This makes it possible to locate exactly the position of tumors, and to remove them.

Phases of Human Nature.
In most homes there is one economical soul whose long winter evenings are spent turning out lights other members of the family turned on.—
Boston Transcript.

True Forgiveness.
Love is generous. Doing once is not enough. Real forgiveness must reach the seventy times seven mark and kindness be repeated indefinitely.

All Must Have Their "Bit."
If there are four ranks of men between you and a beefsteak on the hoof it is going to cost you a good deal of money before you get it.—Exchange.

A Graduate.
Poker is really not a game of chance,
there's no chance to be a winner if you stick to it.—Bigelow Citizen-Press.

Tactful.
Tactful tells a fine story finely,
but he cannot tell a plain story
plainly.—Maculay.

Applied After Shaving

Keeps the Skin Soft and Smooth

MANY men suffer from irritation of the skin
as a result of shaving. With some it assumes a form of eczema and becomes most annoying and unsightly.

By applying a little of Dr.

ing the irritation is overcome
and such ailments as Barber's Itch and Eczema are avoided.

Columbus Stood An Egg On End

But there is no record that he was much of a juggler otherwise. To stand an egg on end is quite a stunt,
but not if you know how, as Columbus did.

To keep half a dozen or more hoops
rolling about the floor in different directions is some stunt, even if you know how. To make these hoops roll about the stage as though they were in grooves is no mean stunt, even if you do it every day in the week, except Sunday.

And that is what John Mangels,
the hoop juggling jester, who is the big attraction on Children's Afternoon at the coming Chautauqua, does.
And that's not all he does by any means, but it's enough to make you and all other children from six to sixty want to see him do it. Be there at the Chautauqua tent on the last afternoon.

And before he begins his juggling
there will be the big Junior Chautaupageant by the children themselves. This new pageant, written especially for this year, and especially for Chautauqua, will be the best et. It is called "Junior Holidays," and it's a winner.

Will you be at Chautauqua on the last afternoon? We hope so, for your sake.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL ITEMS

Several of our good townspeople are gapping in the awful grip of the dread typhus bacillus. All through the protracted dry spell some of our gifted sages were warbling "Just watch out if we don't get some pleasant typhoid callers from this period. I should snicker." No precautions were observed, and alas! they spoke both wisely and too well. Dame typhus arrived and all who had lovingly washed the town pump handle are sorry that they spoke. As in most of small towns, the Board of Health, although appointed by the government, and paid by the government, and supposed at all times to be an active, functioning body, is sort of a joke. Provincial analysts are provided and supported, also, for the protection of the people, but usually any analysis is done subsequent to the damage, whereas good logical white men work the other way to the deuce. It is all very well to be sorry over such results of lackadaisical effort after it is too late. But the more laudable methods are those in which the fellow wiggles his feet and plays the ounce of prevention game.

Typhoid fever is no disease to make light of; no malady for people to shake their heads and say "Oh yes, John or Mary has all the symptoms and earmarks of the disorder but perhaps they haven't got it, or may have we can break it up." Break it up! Such blithering tools should have their heads broken up with a sledge hammer, and the wheels correctly assembled by the town jeweler. No time at the outbreak of such an epidemic for any ~~excuse~~ or the leaving open of any contaminated well as a menace and trap for an unwary and innocent public.

I do not wish to make a trade on this subject, but I wonder if all the public doesn't feel the same—that they deserve every consideration and protection, especially where it is provided and paid for. 'Tis quite hard to get warmed up on the subject unless you just place yourself in the skin of the other poor guy who is laid aside from his task for three, four, or any number of weeks, tossing about on a hot restless bed of languishing and pain, perhaps sacrificing a useful life on the altar of someone's indiscretion or laziness. We sincerely hope that all the stricken neighbors will make a safe recovery, but we also trust that our local Board of Health will see to it that every well in town can safely be labeled "pure." And yet many people bring their hands and rave over the dread evils and results of intemperance. Certainly King Alcohol doesn't get his subjects ready for the "just to dust" chant in a few days. A wise community will have the typhoid gentlemen the question on an "importation placidite" first. John Barleycorn is nearly cuckoo now.

Wilmot Harold and Wilmet Weende spent Sunday in Hawkebay at Dr. Owen's. Friends of Mrs. Harold, aged mother of the former gentleman, will regret to learn that she is no better.

Mrs. B. E. Cliff, who is spending a vacation at her father's home in Bloomfield, spent Sunday in Centreville.

Miss Addie Irvine returned last week from a visit with friends at Mars Hill and Blaine.

The attention which Sherwood's Ltd. gave their electric light plant at the speed shown in mending the break was most praiseworthy; and we are all most grateful to have the lights once more. They proved an especial boon to those who have sick naps in the house.

Miss Edith Champion of Newmarket is visiting her friend, Miss Hilbert Delong.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Owen Nicholson and Mrs. Percy Cunningham have recently returned home after a very pleasant auto trip and visit to Newmarket, where they were the guests of the Rev. and Mrs. J. B. Champion. While there they they picnicked at many beautiful spots, including Mount Church on Miramichi Bay, enjoying its briny water and the view extending to the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Miss Edith Champion came back with them and will visit her many friends for two or three weeks.

Miss Alice Niles is spending a vacation with Mr. and Mrs. John Niles at Andover.

Mrs. D. Rogers of Bristol spent part of last week with her sister, Mrs. L. A. White.

On August 7 Rev. H. R. Bell will preach as follows: Centreville, 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.; Carleton Place, 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.; Carleton Place, 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Morning subject—The Tears of Jesus; Evening subject—The Cities of Refuge. Miss Wilson of Lakeville will sing at the evening service. All are invited.

NOT REALLY "DUMB" ANIMAL

What is Called Instinct in Horses Closely Akin to Intelligence in the Human Race.

As proof of the rare intelligence of a horse, I wish to relate an incident which occurred during the late winter, and which, I am sure, made a lasting impression upon the minds of every passerby who witnessed it.

The day was an extremely cold one, and the streets of the city were covered with thick layers of ice. One street in particular presented a very dangerous appearance. The children were continually drawing their sleds, back and forth upon its icy surface, and it was as smooth and polished as a mirror.

It was late in the afternoon when a horse, drawing a coal cart, which was piled high with coal, started to make his way down the slippery surface of the street. He was making such slow progress that the colored driver climbed down from his seat and tried to aid him. In order to do this the driver had to grasp the reins and walk almost in front of him, collecting and encouraging him to go a little further. They had almost reached the foot of the slippery incline when the driver's foot slipped and he fell to the ground, rolling almost in front of the horse. The horse raised a front foot, ready to make another start down the street. The pedestrians, myself included, watched with abated breath, too much frightened to shout to the horse, and all fearing the worst.

The horse's foot was lowered until it touched the limb of the driver. As the hoof touched the legs which were bound around the driver's limb the horse ceased at the man in a curious manner, as though he knew that something had gone wrong. He immediately raised his foot from the limb of the fallen man and carefully stepped over to avoid any injury.

By this time several of the pedestrians had regained their breath, and some one called to the driver to roll out of the way at the horse, which he did very quickly. When he managed to rise from the ground he made his way to the horse and was patting and petting him when I started on my way homeward.

Now, if this horse had been as dumb as some persons think him, would he have been intelligent enough to save from injury the hard-working colored driver? He sensed the danger, as soon as his hard hoof touched the soft turpentine, and he had horse sense enough to know that he should tread upon the hard surface of the icy street. Could you really call such an animal dumb?—Bertha L. Tribull in Our Dumb Animals.
