The Commercial value of the Irish language has been definitely established by the Registrar of Trade Marks. He has just refused the application of a firm of linen merchants in South Wales for the registration of the word 'Shanice' as a trade mark. Opposition was lodged by the Irish Industrial Development Association. The Opposition was based on the ground that the use of an Irish word was calculated to mislead people in Ireland into the belief that the flour was milled in Ireland. This contention has now been upheld.

FREDERICTON, Saturday—It is believed here the House will adjourn the first week in June. The budget debate will be continued in the legislature to-morrow and will probably finish Tuesday.

The following interesting sketch appeared in a recent number of the Railroad Trainman's Journal. The writer is Mr. Felix J. Koch.

With the various American railways vying one with the other, for records for speed and the like, it is a rather interesting pilgrimage to make, to repair to the home of the first railway on the continent, and, as best one can, to retrace the line of track.

Almost unknown indeed, is the fact that our first American railway had its course laid for it in Canada, in Nova Scotia. To be exact—out of the town of New Glasgow toward Stellarton.

Today the route is transferred by an electric line, running primarily to the Avalon shaft, one of the noted mines of Nova Scotia. The track in parallel a country road and incidentally a modern railroad track as well. You are carried into a valley of open fields and then among quaint red miners' houses built double. It is seven miles from Stellarton to New Glasgow by this route. Far hills are seen, sloping to the mist, ahead is the mine with its buildings of unimposing black, otherwise there is only open country.

The miners' homes, however, vary the monotony. They have gable-ends of a decided ovalness, as the curtains, behind the queer multi-partite windows. The door, too, into each house, opens in a path, a gravelled and pebbled half-way, where plants are set, the vestibule serving to keep out the cold in the winter. Coal piles stand high about, and then you are crossing the track of the old railway.

The first railway in America, as it is called generally, as the curtains, behind the queer multi-partite windows. The door, too, into each house, opens in a path, a gravelled and pebbled half-way, where plants are set, the vestibule serving to keep out the cold in the winter. Coal piles stand high about, and then you are crossing the track of the old railway.

The old railway is a half full of water now, and a half-dozen of men remain buried in the river beside it since that time.

The railway had been built by the mine company in 1828, and was owned by it.

The oldest engine of America's railways, as many will recall, was sent to the World's Fair in 1853. It was returned to Canada, and is now in Montreal. It was desired at that time that the first engineer should accompany it to Chicago, but this his age forbade.

The old man, Davis by name, lived at Stellarton, and is said to be still alive—though where, no man can say. The freeman was a man named Fraser, and he, too, has trekked to parts unknown.

Officially speaking, the first railway in America, ran from Fort Pitt through New Glasgow to Abernethy, a distance of nine miles. In this nine mile grade there was a stretch of two inches—so it was at first thought impossible for a train to cover the 'climb'. Local coal was used in the engine and this was fired at the front, the tender being at the front of the locomotive.

Boys—one recalls from some of them 'boys' who are now old men at New Glasgow—were wont to jump on and off the old train—an indication of its speed, as it was at first thought impossible for a train to cover the 'climb'. Local coal was used in the engine and this was fired at the front, the tender being at the front of the locomotive.

On getting into the train carried one passenger coach, for the directors this, otherwise was fitted for freight only.

Part of the old cradle rails, on which it ran, survive. These, the locomotive. The rails were set up on what resembled a chair—clear over the sleepers however. Trains out of New Glasgow will run over the old sleepers, as they get just beyond the bridge. Part of the old track, too, is utilized by a local coal dealer, Munro by name, who handles the New Arden coal. Over this section a picturesque shunting engine operates.

Later, two locomotives were run on the line where the 'Sampson' had been the first owner. Then the line became more cosmopolitan, until it had to make way for a better.

And the town of the first railway—New Glasgow—Railways at the beginning do not seem to have proved the mothers of towns if one would judge by it. Almost as it was then, so now, New Glasgow is a quiet, rather fascinating country town. There are the usual neat country stores, such as one finds all over Nova Scotia towns—outlined against the dull grey skies that prevail even in July in this province—when the thermometer hovers around sixty degrees. Today the Canadian government railway runs through it—it is a hundred and five miles to Halifax.

MONTREAL, Saturday.—His Eminence Cardinal Logue, Primate of all Ireland, reached Montreal this morning, and was met by Mayor Payette and Archbishop Bruchési.
After Mass at the Archbishop's palace, Cardinal Logue cordially received the representative of the Star, and expressed his great delight at this trip, and about Niagara Falls.
Discussing the more serious topic of home rule, His Eminence remarked that all Ireland are bound to get it, but he felt they would be satisfied with something less than the fullness of the home rule that Canada enjoyed.

A FEW QUESTIONS.
Do you want Campbellton to become a large and important town? Do you want the town to become the industrial centre of the North Shore? Then why do you not try to assist the town's growth? Why do you send to mail order houses for the goods that you should purchase from some of the local merchants?
When you go into a town do you not look to see the fine stores? Yet those stores would soon be closed if everyone sent his money to mail order houses. Imagine Campbellton without a single store. And yet every time you send to a mail order house you virtually say: It makes no difference to me whether Campbellton stores are closed or not.
Oh, you say that you save money by sending outside. We doubt this very much. True the mail order houses sometimes offer a few bargains, but on most things their prices are just as high if not higher than those of the local merchant, who gives you credit when you want it, buys your produce and helps to pay the taxes. If you spend a dollar here you assist directly or indirectly every person in Campbellton and the good work continues, but if you send a dollar to a mail order house the money goes to enrich a distant firm in a distant city.
Do you want to see Campbellton have well lighted streets, asphalt sidewalks, and other improvements? Then if you desire to be consistent, if you wish to be worthy citizens you will patronize your friends and neighbors who are in business in your own town.
Think this over.

Your sympathies determine the breadth of your life.

The best way to lead one to heaven is to help him to a good home here.
The tear of pity is a good thing but it doesn't go far in a thirsty world.
Inviting men to your firelight may be by and by you are inviting them to your faith.
MONTREAL, Saturday.—His Eminence Cardinal Logue, Primate of all Ireland, reached Montreal this morning, and was met by Mayor Payette and Archbishop Bruchési.
After Mass at the Archbishop's palace, Cardinal Logue cordially received the representative of the Star, and expressed his great delight at this trip, and about Niagara Falls.
Discussing the more serious topic of home rule, His Eminence remarked that all Ireland are bound to get it, but he felt they would be satisfied with something less than the fullness of the home rule that Canada enjoyed.

A FEW QUESTIONS.
Do you want Campbellton to become a large and important town? Do you want the town to become the industrial centre of the North Shore? Then why do you not try to assist the town's growth? Why do you send to mail order houses for the goods that you should purchase from some of the local merchants?
When you go into a town do you not look to see the fine stores? Yet those stores would soon be closed if everyone sent his money to mail order houses. Imagine Campbellton without a single store. And yet every time you send to a mail order house you virtually say: It makes no difference to me whether Campbellton stores are closed or not.
Oh, you say that you save money by sending outside. We doubt this very much. True the mail order houses sometimes offer a few bargains, but on most things their prices are just as high if not higher than those of the local merchant, who gives you credit when you want it, buys your produce and helps to pay the taxes. If you spend a dollar here you assist directly or indirectly every person in Campbellton and the good work continues, but if you send a dollar to a mail order house the money goes to enrich a distant firm in a distant city.
Do you want to see Campbellton have well lighted streets, asphalt sidewalks, and other improvements? Then if you desire to be consistent, if you wish to be worthy citizens you will patronize your friends and neighbors who are in business in your own town.
Think this over.

More Terrible Than War!

More terrible than war, far less or perhaps is that awful destroyer, that hydra-headed monster, Consumption, that annually sweeps away many of our best and ablest citizens.

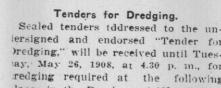

"It is only a cough, a falling cough," say the careless, as the irritation upon the delicate mucous membrane causes them to look upon it as an irritative coughing of the throat. When the irritation settles on the mucous surface of the throat, a cough is the result. To prevent Bronchitis or Consumption of the Lungs, do not neglect a cough however slight as the irritation spreading throughout the delicate lining of the respiratory air passages leads to fatal results. If on the first appearance of a cough or cold you would take a few doses of you would save yourself a great deal of unnecessary suffering. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup contains all the life-giving properties of the pine trees of Norway, and is a most effective remedy for Cough and all throat and lung affections. It is a specific. He who when you ask for Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup to get it. Don't be misled into taking something else. Price 25 cts.

Miss Lena Johnston, Toledo, Ont., writes: "I have used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup for throat troubles after taking numerous other remedies, and I can say that nothing can take the place of it. I would not be without a bottle of it in the house."

ST. JOHN, Sunday.—Hon. I. B. Parsons, who was lately appointed Police Commissioner along the C. P. R. route in New Brunswick was in the city Saturday. He told your correspondent he would leave the next day for a tour of inspection.

FIREARMS SOLD TO NATIVES

Italian Forces Having Trouble Against Rebels in Africa.

ROME, Wednesday.—The fighting which has recently taken place in Italian Somaliland shows signs of an increase in the clandestine importation and sale of firearms to the natives. Reports, both of the encounter between the Italian forces and the Bimal rebels near Merka, and of that between the militia of Obbia and the Mullah's followers, lay particular stress upon the number of rifles captured from the raiders. In the last case some of the Derivishes were armed with firearms of which 40, nearly all of French manufacture, were taken from the men who were killed. Another conference is to be held at Brussels between the Powers who signed the Act of 1890, and Italy will urge that the export of the arms which forbid traffic shall be made more stringent.

VILLAGERS STONED THIS THIEF TO DEATH.

COINTRAI, Thursday.—Practically the whole population of the village of Reilhac, a short distance from Coutras, armed with clubs and stones, set on and killed a man who was caught in the act of burglarizing the famous chapel of the Virgin yesterday. The villagers had been highly incensed at previous church robberies, notably that of the Church of Notre Dame, in this city last December, when the statue of the Virgin, the "Elevation of the Cross," was stolen. Seven of those implicated in the killing of the burglar were arrested. Doctors who made an examination of the body found 27 knife wounds.

DYNAMITERS OUTRAGE

Attempt to Burn Coaly Residence at Port Henry.

PORT HENRY, N. T. Friday.—By a dynamite attempt to wreck the $125,000 residence of George D. Sherman, near here. A heavy charge of the explosive placed near the front of the dwelling blew off the piazza and broke all the windows on that side of the house. The explosion started a fire which was checked before it had gained much headway. Mr. Sherman and his family were not injured by the explosion. The dynamiters gave warning of their intended outrage in a note received by Mr. Sherman last night.

THE AMEERS' THREAT

He tries to Check Anti-British Feeling.

SIMLA, Saturday.—It is reported from Cabul that the Ameers of Afghanistan are now trying to check the anti-British movement in his dominions. He has issued a decree ordering that anybody who preaches a Jihad, or holy war, will have his tongue torn out, and anybody who leaves Cabul for the purpose of fighting the British will have his feet cut off.

PENNY POST

To Be Adopted Between Britain and United States.

LONDON, Saturday.—Addressing a trade conference in London last night, John Henniker, Her Majesty's Secretary of State for the Colonies, is advocating a penny telegraphic rate between Great Britain and the continent of Europe, said that it was common knowledge that penny postage with the United States would shortly be adopted.

MIDDLEBORO, Saturday.—George Anderson, aged 22, was killed by a train from motor cycle tonight. His skull was fractured.

Anticipating Christopher Columbus by a thousand years and more, five Buddhist missionaries in 458 discovered the island of China a big island with an estimated length of 6000 miles between Atlantic and Pacific and distant 22,000 miles from the Asiatic mainland. This definition of America which was named "Fusang" after the magic tree of Mexico, was promptly discovered by an expedition that led those wise men of the East into Alaska from Kamchatka by the Kurile and Aleutian Islands, and then south by the Pacific coast into California and Mexico, in which last state, the climate and the natives pleasing them, they finally established their headquarters.

In 499 Hui Shen, a Buddhist priest from China, visited Fusang, and three years later, after his return, reported to the emperor. He related how a Buddhist mission had evangelized the island and obtained monks among the natives. Nor were the aborigines apparently forgetful of Hui Shen, since there exists today in Mexico the legend of one Wu-Hai-sechou, a name suggestive of the Chinese Hui-Shen, who came from far and habited in a long robe, extolled morality and new religious dogmas.

That Buddhist missionaries forestalled the big event of 1492 seems probable enough. Spaniards, who first had to do with Mexico found in her architecture, arts, and religious science revealing lines of strong resemblance to Oriental practices. Especially the forms of Buddhism prevailed. Thus Asiatics seldom speak of Buddha, but rather of Gattama or Sakya names that, perceived more or less, obtained in Mexico before the conquest. A Colossal legend perpetuates Gattia Saca, a compound of the two. At Campeche is the image of a Buddhist priest in his regular robe of orange, a Buddha sitting cross-legged on a seat that resembles two lions back to back. Among the Aztecs was deity with the head of an elephant although the elephant and lion were unknown to the new world. At Palenque, too, and Milta there are temples dedicating such as Java, the north of China and the fauna of Asia. In Tibet and northern China Buddhist priests are known as Lamas, but in Mexico as Lamas. While finally, the flora and the fauna of Fusang appear to have resembled closely those of modern Mexico.

All this does not detract, however, from the laurels of Columbus, who, in obedience to the general law of civilized aggression, made his venture from the east to west.

OUR TRAIN SERVICE

Some time ago we made the suggestion that the Board of Trade meet and discuss the matter of a more adequate train service for Campbellton, but it seems that there is no one here sufficiently interested to move in the matter. This is a mistake on the part of our business men as today business matters are greatly handicapped by a poor train service. More especially does this effect most order business. To-day a prospective customer between Campbellton and Newcastle can save some days in an order for goods to a Moncton firm and if the case is urgent, whereas here a whole day is lost and in some cases nearly two days would elapse before a ready order is obtained. This should be remedied and we feel confident that if the Board of Trade and Town Council took this matter up, and the proper representations made to the railway department through our member at Ottawa, something could be done.

Just so long as our citizens allow matters to drift along, we will have to put up with the old state of affairs. As far as the present service goes it suits The Morning Graphic better than any previous service could, as it places our issues early at the homes of its readers, down the line, but in the best interests of the town we think a change is needed.

LIKES FIELDING BUDGET.

LONDON, Wednesday.—The Financial Times today analyzes Mr. Fielding's budget speech, saying that the speech is a model of what such reports should be. It is concise to the point, without a superfluous sentence, and entirely free from ambiguous phraseology.

The Financial News says Mr. Fielding's proposed bill amending the Bank act is a clear indication of the expansion of the country's business, which the natural increase of bank capital is apparently unable to cope.

CALCUTTA, Saturday.—A bomb which had been placed on the rail of a street car line here, was exploded yesterday by the wheel of a car passing over it and four natives were injured by the explosion. It was evidently the intention of the perpetrators of the outrage to wreck a street car containing white persons, as notices in Bengali recently have been circulated warning natives not to ride in first class cars. Apparently the bomb was charged with picric acid and not dynamite. This being the fifth attempt within the last five months to blow up street cars, with bombs, and much uneasiness has resulted.

OTTAWA, Saturday.—Preparations for a general election in June are said to be quietly proceeding, and few of the members believe they will be here this day week. The activity arises from the well-grounded belief that there will be no surrender on the Aylesworth election bill, and that the only way out of the deadlock is an immediate dissolution.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Saturday.—Harry Thaw's plea for release from Matteawan Insane Asylum will likely be decided Monday, May 25. Jerome asked Thaw to permit his alienists to examine him and judge of his mental condition. This was declined but Thaw offered to be examined by experts selected by counsel for both sides. This Mr. Jerome refused.

OTTAWA, Saturday.—The National Transcontinental Railway Commission is advertising for tenders for eleven bridges in New Brunswick. Tenders must be in by June 8th next. The bridges must be completed by various dates, ranging from next October to May 1st, 1909.

THE GRAPHIC, Campbellton

CHRISTIANA, Saturday.—In addition to the fact that Mrs. Belle Guinness, the central figure in the La. ree, Indiana, murder mystery was the daughter of Petters Paulsen, a travelling conjurer and musician and performed with her father at places in Norway, the associated press has gathered here and at Trondheim many additional details of her family history. Her mother was regarded as a respectable woman. Her father was a swede of gypsy origin. He was a clever illusionist and attracted large, rather than select audiences. Belle used to travel in his company everywhere in the country and was especially well known in Christiania.

An old friend of Paulsen was found here today. His name is Julius Basted. He says he knew Paulsen at Karlstad, Sweden in 1868, when Paulsen was from thirty to thirty-four years of age. Basted says he was wonderfully clever and the world's best imitator of birds. He earned much money from his exhibitions. His daughter, who was about six or eight years of age, accompanied him. He is described as having been a brutal man and lavish with his money.

Belle Paulsen was confined at Christiania, and South Norway. Her family at that time lived luxuriously. The girl's confirmation dress was ordered from Paris.

Shortly afterwards Paulsen retired from business and invested his savings in a glassware business. His daughter remained at Christiania and Basted says in 1880 or 1889 married an engineer.

Old Paulsen is said to have died last year at Nasvik from the effect of falling down a flight of stairs. It is reported that the daughter before leaving Norway was a participant in a suit in the divorce court and that the case never has been finished.

By one of the saddest accidents of Wednesday afternoon last four of the schoolchildren of four families of this town found water graves, and left wives and children, who depended on these loved ones for their daily bread. The suddenness of the blow, and the sad circumstances surrounding the loss and the delay in the recovery of the bodies, has left these families in a deplorable condition for which they will never recover for some time. Little ones must be fed, and clothed, but the provider has, by an all-wise providence been taken from them.

Under these sad circumstances it behooves the citizens of Campbellton to come to the assistance of these.

With this object in view and so that it may be brought to a practical head, the Graphic will throw open its columns and use its influence to collect funds to assist these families in their hour of need.

All sums sent to the Graphic will be acknowledged in its columns and we trust that there will be a hearty response to this call. Let us all give something, even though it be the widow's mite.

THE QUEEN'S RUSE.
A charming story is told of the former queen regent of Holland, the mother of Queen Wilhelmina. The old king had bought a fine service of Sevres porcelain for the use of the royal family, and he gave orders that any servant who should break any piece of it should be punished by being instantly dismissed. One day a man who had been many years in the royal household, confessed to the young queen that he had broken one of these Sevres cups. Queen Emma spoke comfortingly to him, and suggested that he should mend the cup.

"That said the man, would be useless, for the king would surely notice the cracks. Nevertheless, the queen told him to mend the cup as neatly as possible, and to be sure to give it to her that afternoon at tea time, when the king would be present.

Tea time came, and the queen, after drinking from the mended cup, suddenly rose and let it fall to the floor. It was smashed to atoms. "Think of me as one of the most awkward of your majesty's servants," she said humbly. "I have broken one of your precious Sevres cups. You must dismiss me at once. I don't deserve to be retained in your service." The arbitrary old king was highly amused at her demure manner and considered it a good joke. He never knew the story of the broken cup.

VICTIMS BURIED SATURDAY MORNING

Largely Attended Funeral of Simon Tennier and Joseph Rousi.

The double funeral of Simon Tennier and Joseph Rousi, two victims of Wednesday's drowning accident, took place Saturday morning at nine o'clock and was very largely attended. The members of the Catholic Order of Foresters, of which the former was a member, attended in a body.

Requiem High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Wallace, assisted by the Rev. Joseph Rousi, Father from Mission Point. The church was appropriately draped for the service, and the choir assisted in the solemn service.

The pallbearers were, for the late Simon Tennier, Simons Leveque, John Degrasse, John Kierstead, Joseph Parns, John Allen, and Alex. Arsenault, and for the late Joseph Rousi, James (Cava) Xavier, Messier, Allan Miller, Baptiste Leveque, Henry Savant and Frank Nadeau.

LAPORTE, Saturday.—The burial last night of Andrew K. Helgein was the beginning of the final stage in the Guinness farm mystery so far as human knowledge is concerned. Two more corpses, supposed to have been those of Jennie Olsen and Ole I. Rudberg, have been partially identified, but to the identity of the remaining cadavers no clue exists that gives promise of fulfillment. The relics taken from the death farm, such as watches and rings, may ultimately lead to the determination of the identity of some missing individual who was caught in the Guinness trap but they will give almost no aid in identification of any particular body. The potter's field is most likely to be the ultimate resting place of these seven bodies.

Yesterday witnessed two conclusive findings regarding the bodies unearthed. One by the dentist who fitted Mrs. Guinness' lower jaw with artificial teeth, and the other by the coroner, the piece of jaw bone found in the ruins was from her skull. The other showed that the body taken from the barnyard of the farm was that of Andrew Helgein.

The methods by which the victims were put to death will never be known and the identity of the seven corpses is an enigma. The extent to which Ray Lamberton shared the secrets of Mrs. Guinness is a third. The state insists that it has positive evidence against Lemphers' and the defence positively states that the prisoner cannot be proven guilty of setting off or having participated in the murders.

The Grand Jury, it is announced, will begin to investigate the evidence gathered by Sheriff Smeaton and Prosecutor Smith on Monday.

ST. JOHN, Sunday.—Will Premier Hagen at the next session of the legislature ask for authority to table a plebiscite of the question of prohibition in New Brunswick? At the Every Day Club last night Rev. J. W. Kierstead, said he had heard a whisper to that effect and he hoped it was true. The government should know who its friends were and many of them he believed were old Liberals who were strong temperate men.

The late government had made a mistake in not putting a prohibition plank in its platform, but if the new government had no objection and the Opposition reiterated itself and went to the province and pledged to prohibition in the next general elections he thought it would be returned to power. This was not a question of party politics. He himself had always been a Liberal, but had resented what he regarded as the unfriendly attitude of the late government when an effort was made a few years ago to table a plebiscite to apply there the local option clause of the license law. If a plebiscite were taken he believed it would sweep the whole province.
