The Oration Which Won First Prize In Seminary Students Contest, Waterloo

The following address delivered by Student W. A. Schmidt of the Waterloo College was awarded first prize in the Oratorical Contest.

MR. WILLIAM EWART GLADSTONE.

Excepting Peace, the chief topic of interest, to all classes of people to-day is democracy and equality. There is a marked unrest among the workers of Europe and America. We don't know why but the upper and lower classes seem to have no sympathy for each other. We have all been aroused and incensed by the actions of the Bolsheviks, Trotsky and Levine in Russia. They are masquerading under the name of freedom and liberty, but are only dragging the rich and low down to greater depths of despair and poverty than before.

Mr. William Ewart Gladstone, the great British Statesman, who died in 1898, is the man who laid the foundation for the present democratic government of our great empire, British Empire, which has and we fondly hope will continue to lead the world. Mr. Gladstone raised the poor to the level of the rich instead of pulling all classes lower like the Bolsheviks.

Longfellow tells us that: "We can make our lives sublime, And, departing leave behind us Footprints on the sands of time."

The footprints of Gladstone are freedom and wealth which he gave to those who were poor and low down.

A very wealthy merchant of Liverpool gave him the best education to be had. And as he was a very religious boy and conscientious in his studies he was very successful at school. From the first he was a gifted scholar and orator. While at Eton he distinguished himself in debate and exercise. He was a strong influence among the boys for godliness and conscientiousness.

He became famous at Oxford for his oratory and graduated with double first class honors. Nature and Fortune had well fitted him for his tasks, having given him a musical voice with which to charm his hearers, a maturely developed mind and strong athletic body with which to work, and money to help him.

He had written several articles on the church and he had a strong desire to enter its service. But his father influenced him to enter politics. His personal charm and the Sponsorship of the Duke of Newcastle secured him a seat for Newark in 1833 at the age of 24. He was destined to delight and astonish the House for the next 60 years.

It was as Chancellor of the Exchequer that he first displayed that great financial genius which astonished the world. The Scotch are said to be the wisest business men. So possibly it was the Scotch in Gladstone which made him an unequalled master of finance. His first budget speech was a wonder. The budget lessened the burden of the poor taxpayers by raising the incomes of the rich, who could well afford to pay it. It was a tremendous task to make these speeches clear and interesting and to raise the money without burdening anyone. But Gladstone went about it with that conscientious persistence which made him a success. Every member was present and the most intense excitement and interest prevailed when he made his budget speeches. The galleries too were always crowded with people of distinction. The newspapers of the day were full of praise and commendation of his wisdom and justice. He certainly performed a wonderful feat in making mere financial statements so popular. Let us be glad and thankful that a man so powerful used his power for the good of his people.

His devotion to duty, his selfless love of office, his good will of his colleagues could stand between him and what he believed to be his christian duty to the nation. If this was not true he would not have deserted the Tories who were in power. An ambitious man does not seek popularity by forsaking the dominating party. He was naturally a conservative but he could not fail to see the fallacies of their policy. Nor he could not stand by and see the poorer classes down-trodden. In any ordinary man such conduct would have been fatal to success but the British people were so impressed with his unselfishness, his love of liberty and his honest purpose that they forgot the past. And they supported him in spite of it.

We find the words "greater freedom for the people" in almost every bill he has introduced. The three reform bills which he championed increased the voters from 200,000 to over 500,000 and made Great Britain a real democracy. The Redistribution Bill and the Ballot Act divided the voters into constituencies and protected the voters by means of the secret ballot. He abolished the purchase system in the army by means of which wealthy men bought commissions and promotion. Many poor deserving soldiers in the ranks had been held back by this system.

HEALS INFLAMED NOSE-TRILS STOPS CATARRH-AL DISCHARGE CURES COLDS QUICKLY

These remedies have given Catarrh the reputation of being incurable. But it is curable, easily and quickly, if the right method is employed. Snuffing a powder or ointment up the nose will cure Catarrh neither will tablets, douching or stomach medicines cure. These treatments fail because they only affect local conditions, they do not remove the cause, which is germ life established in the lungs, bronchial tubes and nasal passages. Ordinary remedies do not reach these remote parts, but Catarrhzone does, for it is breathed through the inhaler into every air cell in the lungs, into every air passage in the head and throat. No matter where the Catarrh is Catarrhzone will reach it. It kills the germs, heals sore spots, clears the nose and throat instantly. Universally used; pleasant and clean; guaranteed to cure or money refunded.

Don't be an object of aversion to everyone you meet—get Catarrhzone today and use it regularly; it will cure your Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Trouble, spitting and gagging. Large size lasts two months, price $1.00; small size 50c, sample size 25c; at all dealers.

tem. He introduced compulsory education to be paid from the state treasury, and gave power to districts to elect their own school boards.

Ireland owes much to him for the reforms he introduced there. Although he was the ardent defender and admirer of the Church of England, he relieved the Roman Catholics in Ireland of the burdensome taxes which they were compelled to pay to the Church of England. It had been the State church but under him it was disestablished in Ireland. He aided the poor land tenants with many land acts and reforms which lightened their burdens. They had been given the vote by his reform bills. In 1885 Ireland voted solidly for Home Rule and as Mr. Gladstone believed the only right thing to do was to grant it, he set about the task. Home Rule for Ireland was and is to-day a vexing question and whether he was right or wrong opinions differ. The last effort of his political life was to make it the dominating question of British politics. He brought in his Home Rule bill in 1886. It passed the House of Commons but was thrown out by the House of Lords. Home Rule proved to be the rock on which Gladstone's political career was wrecked.

But it was not the British people alone who benefited by his reforms. He championed the oppressed wherever he found them. While travelling in Italy he was aroused by the cruelties which were being perpetrated by the corrupt government. He used his influence to arouse the indignation of all Europe with the result that the government were overthrown. And when the Turks were abusing the Roumanians and Bulgarians he came to the rescue with his powerful following. And won he was High Commissioner to the Ionian Islands the injustice of helping these people separated from the rest of Greece aroused his sympathy he was instrumental in securing their independence.

This great man is gone but his influence is still felt and will continue to be felt throughout the ages. He was an orator, a writer, a financier and a statesman but in my opinion his sense of justice and his intense hatred of wrong are what really made him distinguished. His qualities as an orator are what made him so successful. Sir Wilfrid Laurier said: "He had the eye of a god the voice of a silver bell; and the very fire of his eye, the very music of his voice swept the hearts of men (even before they had been dazzled by the torrents of his eloquence)." Looking over his life and his achievements we see his one desire was to live when Thy summons comes to join.

The innumerable caravan which moves to that mysterious realm, where each shall take.

His chamber in the silent halls of death.

Thou go not like the quarry slave at night, Scourged to his dungeon, but sustained and soothed by his friends, approach Thy grave.

Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams.

Queen Mother Alexandra is a great lover of flowers. Among her floral preferences are violets, the dainty lily of the valley, pansies, white and purple lilac. Long before gardening became a favorite pastime of royalty the Queen Mother, then Princess of Wales, evinced the keenest personal interest in the laying out and in the general management of her gardens.

THE WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT

This newspaper supported the proposal to introduce a Workmen's Compensation Act in Ontario and has had a good opinion of its workings since it became the law of the land.

Prior to its introduction, it was customary for employers to take liability insurance, covering themselves against possible accidents and protecting themselves in case they were sued for damages.

Insurance companies, being business concerns, defended every action brought against their policyholders, with the result that the injured persons even when awarded a sum by a jury, had to bear his own legal expenses, which at a considerable part of the award. When a man was in poor circumstances, he was unable to enter an action at law. He had to bear the injury and the losses it entailed.

In the larger cities, barristers would agree with one who had suffered injury and who had no means to sue the firm employing him, to take the case on a percentage basis. Perhaps fifty-fifty.

Railway companies, in particular, made it a practice when a man lost his life, to send a suave agent to settle the claim, for as small a sum as the widow would accept. Perhaps $300 or $400.

To their credit, he said, it was the employers of the province who supported the idea of introducing a Workmen's Compensation Act. They were paying premiums to liability companies on the expectation that their workmen who suffered injuries, would be fairly compensated.

They were probably paying as much then in accident premiums as they now do to the Workmen's Compensation fund but it was not reaching their employees in full. A toll was taken by the liability companies.

A schedule of compensation, covering the range of injuries from minor to major and loss of life was adopted. A Board was appointed to fairly and impartially carry out the provisions of the Act. The injured workmen received a fixed compensation for his injuries without requiring to sue and defend his claim. The employers are obliged to pay the shot.

The Workmen's Compensation Act has been in force for a number of years. Its benefits are accepted as a matter of course. Few realise what a reformation it has wrought and the extent of the benefits it confers.

The following is the total amount awarded each year:

In 1915—$893,321.
In 1916—$2,011,468.
In 1917—$2,913,085.
In 1918—$3,514,618.

In 1918, the average daily amount of compensation awarded to those who suffered accidents was $11.00.

Last year there was also paid in addition to the $3,514,618 for injuries, the sum of $167,028 for medical attention.

The total number of accidents in which compensation or medical attention was, during 1918, paid was 40,930, of which 382 were death cases; 2,549 permanent disability; 25,446 temporary disability, and 12,553 cases of a minor nature in which medical attention but no compensation was paid.

The estimated number of full year workers covered by Act was, last year, 330,000 and the estimated pay roll $300,000,000. The average amount of compensation received by the injured one was $115 and the average amount of medical aid per accident was about $11.

Clearly the Workmen's Compensation law is a humane measure, since it assures compensation to all who are injured. The majority of injuries are fortunately not such as to permanently incapacitate those suffering them. In the days before the Act was passed, few attempts were made to collect damages for minor accidents, it being felt that the court costs would absorb the award when the case was won and was accompanied by the risk of losing the action and having to bear the expense, as well as the injury.

It has been said that an injured workman is assured of receiving compensation. There is a condition attached. He is obliged to report the accident. In addition his employer and physician must do so. It will be seen that the most important claim is that made by the one who is injured. Otherwise it might be concluded that he does not expect compensation.

It is not expected that everyone understands the provisions of the Act. Few think of it until they meet with an accident. That which an injured workman should then do is to ask his physician or the office where he is employed, to notify the Workmen's Compensation Board of the accident. It will send papers, containing questions as to the nature of the accident, its severity and the wage received. After these have been returned, weekly compensation checks will begin to arrive and continue until the injured man has been compensated in accordance with the extent of his injury.

A correspondent addressed a letter to the Workmen's Compensation Board, through our columns on Tuesday, in which he reports having sustained the loss of several fingers, having returned to work before these were wholly healed and then having sustained a further loss of a finger or fingers, leaving him only four remaining fingers of the original ten.

With respect to the first accident he says he received a check marked "paid in full," but through his not having reported at once the second accident, he fears that he may not receive any further compensation.

Even though he has not reported the second accident and loss, his firm and physician will probably have done so. While technically remiss in not having reported the second misfortune, there should not be any great difficulty in securing compensation for it. The Workmen's Compensation Board plays fairly and is anxious to see that every one receives compensation for injuries.

Further there is probably not a firm in the two counties that would decline to help an injured workman get the compensation to which he is entitled. None would decline to fill in sets of claim papers for an employee unable to do it for himself. Were there one declining, the physician in attendance would "make out the paper" for him.

The point to be remembered by our correspondent is that he is entitled to compensation and will receive it, providing he makes application. His having overlooked making the claim, owing perhaps to the troubles incident to his severe loss, may delay settlement but should not deprive him of compensation. His community would stand behind him and were it necessary leave no stone unturned to get the compensation clearly due him.

Try again!

A CHANGE IN VIEWS

In calling Congress to special session, President Wilson expressed his conviction that the American tariff should be increased to a point where it would afford ample protection to their industries. One report has it that he wishes the U. S. tariff to be furnished with teeth.

War has wrought many changes in tariff views. When it is recalled that Mr. Wilson was a low-tariff man and in 1913, had a revenue measure passed which placed a long list of manufacturer and foodstuffs on the free list, the change in his convictions is remarkable.

The Underwood tariff, as it was called, gave free entry, among other things, to leather, boots and shoes, saddlery, cement, agricultural implements, lumber, wool and iron; to canned and fresh meats, bacon, hams, lard, biscuits and cakes; cornmeal, buckwheat, flour and rye flour, and provided for the free entry of wheat, wheat flour, bran and other products from Canada, providing Canada removed its duties; otherwise the duty was to be reduced from 25 cents per barrel on flour to 10 per cent. That country was experimenting in free trade. Before the Underwood tariff had been very long in force, the war intervened and so his Republican opponents declare, saved his political bacon.

Wilson to-day recommends that there should be a tariff revision upward and that the United States should have a law on its blue books which will provide the means of not only properly protecting itself against foreign competition, but, where deemed necessary, of retaliating when the States consider they are being discriminated against by other nations. This is that which is meant by providing their tariff with teeth.

Although the Underwood tariff had only been in effect about a year before hostilities opened, Canada benefited to some extent, both in natural and partially manufactured products.

How far the special session of the American Congress will go in implementing Mr. Wilson's recommendations cannot be stated. The rival parties are nearly equally represented. The Republicans regard the tariff as their child and may rather see it go partly clad than have it wear a Democratic suit. Again they may go farther than Mr. Wilson desires and frame a tariff, the prototype of the Dingley measure, having claws as well as teeth.

It seems to be a foregone conclusion that Canadian grain growers will not be permitted to sell their wheat crop at the guaranteed American price of $2.26 per bushel, nor to benefit by selling flour, on paying 10 per cent. duty.

Practically every nation is preparing to give increased protection to its people and its factory and farm industries. How unwise it would, at this stage, be for Canada to remove or even lower its tariff wall!

Two Interesting Letters Received

LT. J. C. SCHMUCK WRITES FROM FRANCE

Is with the American Army. Interesting letters with post cards and a newspaper have been received from Lt. J. Charles Schmuck, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. X. Schmuck, this city. Lt. Schmuck wrote from France on May 2nd and in the letters he relates some of his interesting and educative travels through France and Switzerland. He is with the American army and he forwarded one of the newspapers which the army published at the front. It is the Stars and Stripes. The journal is a seven column four page weekly. It is newsworthy and the make up is as good as the average paper. The news in it, of course, is all military and patriotic. Interspersed in it are sections of humor and wit.

The letters written by the lieutenant are interesting reading and will be enjoyed by his many local friends. They follow:

St. Nazaire, France, May 2, 1919.
"Just got back yesterday from a trip through southern France. Was away for eight days for a rest and change of scenery. I had a very good time and visited several of the summer resorts in the Alps Mountains. All the time I was down there it snowed and all of the mountains were snow-capped. The towns down there are very pretty though and I enjoyed myself all the time. Also spent a few days in Paris and went sight seeing."

About my coming home, I don't think it will be for a few months yet but undoubtedly will leave here sometime during the month of July and get back in August. I won't mind staying over here until then because when I do get back I intend taking a rest and then get to work. Am enclosing some postal cards of Aix les Bains and also of Lyon. Lyon is the place where the big fair was held a few months ago and which you told me about in one of your letters. Aix les Bains is one of the big summer resorts in southern France. There are about 250 hotels in this town and that is about all there is. All the world's people of Europe used to come to places like this in peace time and it certainly is wonderful."

"Wrote you this morning and sent you some postal cards views of the city of Lyon and Aix les Bains. The booklet which I sent you is of the hotel at which I stopped while there. It is a very nice hotel and one of the best—you know the best isn't too good for me. Lyon is the second largest city of France and has a population of about one million people. That is the town where the firms from Canada, U.S.A. and in fact all over the world exhibited their samples at the Lyon Fairsometime months ago. You remember you told me about some Kitchener firms who were going to be represented there but I couldn't get down then and inasmuch as I just wanted a rest for a week and a change of scenery I thought I would like to go there. Only stayed there for a day and then went on south right into the Alps Mountains stopping at Aix les Bains and several other towns of the kind. All these towns throughout the mountain region are places where the royalty and nobility and wealthy class of people from all over Europe used to spend some of their summer vacations. It is built much on the same style as our summer resorts at home such as Atlantic City and Kiawah. Nothing but hotels in the towns and a few stores for shopping. They also have a large Casino in which gambling goes on. Any kind of gambling from card games to dice and horse races."

"It was very cold all the time I was there and snowed most of the time. All of the mountains around that country were covered with snow and it seemed just like winter again. Also enclosing here some pictures taken in and around the Palace of Versailles which is just outside of Paris and is the place where the Peace Treaty is to be signed. The Hall of Mirrors where this is going to take place is a wonderful place and mirrors all around with the table on which it is to be signed right in the middle of the room. These views show the palace from outside and the beautiful grounds which surround it. The palace is 1800 feet long and is about 300 years old. Just back of the palace to the left is the Hotel des Reservoirs where the German Peace Delegates are lodged waiting the final day "Der Tag" they call it. I also took several interesting trips around Paris visiting art galleries, paintings, statues, Napoleon's Tomb and places of interest. Although I have been to Paris often before, this is the first time I have gone sight seeing to any extent. Before I saw other things, such as the life of the Parisian, their habits and such things. About the finest thing I have seen so far, is a painting called the Pantheon of Guerre which translated into English means "Glory of the War." It is a painting about 300 feet long by 50 feet high and was painted by two very great French artists. It is in a special building, built especially for the purpose and it is round. On the lower half of the picture it is divided into sections—one for each country which participated in the war on the Allied side. For example it shows America with portraits of President Wilson, General Pershing and other generals and some private soldiers and sailors. Everything is painted from life. The best part of it is that it is so well done it seems as though all these people are standing there looking at you and any minute would walk up to you and speak. The upper half of the picture covers the battlefields from Belgium to the Swiss border and shows the names of the towns at which the big battles were fought. Speaking of Switzerland, when I was south the other day I almost got to Geneva. I got within five miles of it which was as far as they would allow Americans to go so I went back.

"Suppose you have been hearing of the trouble between the Italians and President Wilson at the Conference. Well due to that they have taken all Americans out of Italy and I don't think there will be any chance of me getting to go there on leave now because by that time the feeling will still be high against us and so I'll have to call that off. I would have liked to see Rome and the Pope if possible so that I could have brought you something home which was blessed by the Pope himself but can't now."

"We are the men who load the soldiers on the ships to take them back to America. The brassard on the left arm with the letters 'E' means Embarkation and allows us to get on or off any boat any time we want to."

While lighting a cigarette Wm. Smith, San Francisco, released his hold on the wheel in his car. I struck another auto, costing him $300 to repair damages.

"I Wonder If It Would Help Me"

"NEARLY every place I go I hear someone talking about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. My friends advise me to try it, and yet I never have."

"I wonder why."

"Perhaps it is because I have suffered so much from nervous trouble and found so little benefit from the use of medicine."

"But they tell me that the Nerve Food is different. They say that it is not a mere relief from pain, but a restorative treatment, which will build up the depleted nerve cells and make me well and strong again."

"Goodness knows I have suffered enough from headaches, sleeplessness, hysteria and dread of the future. I want to get away from all this."

"Why cannot I enjoy life like other people do? Perhaps I have not tried to get well. Perhaps I have been discouraged, and thought there was no use trying."

"Well, I am going to begin trying right now, and Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will have a thorough test in my case."

"The future has been all black to me. I have thought at times that I would lose my mind. But while I have been suffering and worrying others have been cured, and I can now see my mistake."

"If Dr. Chase ever had a faithful patient I shall be one, and believe that his Nerve Food will do for me what it has done for so many thousands of others."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a box, 6 for $2.75, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. The portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., are on every box of his medicines.

Under-Currents

By The Duchess

"Listen to me," says Peyton, pressing his arm around her: "you think me a rough wooer no doubt, but I am not, it is only that I am a downright sort of person, and when you said that, about not marrying me, I mean—it seemed to me that I could not bear it, and—well, that I would prevent your saying it to me again, because, I think, I hope, I believe from my soul, that you do love me, not as I love you, indeed, but more than any other thing of silly love me."

"You have never yet told me that you love me," pleads he, his head bent down to hers. "Say it now, I entreat you. Say it, Griselda."

Griselda is silent, but, as if compelled to it, she slowly turns her face up to his. In truth, that sweet, hazardous, experimental earnest had not been an altogether unlucky venture. Beneath it the girl has gently awakened to the knowledge of a fulness in her life, a brightening of dull places hitherto unknown, a certainty, too, that the strong liking she has always felt for Peyton is more than a common friendship—that it is akin to blessed love itself.

O eyes long laid in happy sleep!

O happy sleep, that lightly fled!

O happy bliss, that woke thy sleep!

"Yes I love you," she says simply. The colour has come back to her lips and cheeks; light, a new light, to her eyes.

"But you might have asked me," she says a little later; they are laughing now, and have told each other quite the infinity of silly things that to them seem full of priceless knowledge.

"I did ask you, with no result. You yourself drove me to extremities. But I do not regret it," he laughs again, and presses her nearer to him. "After all, it is your duty to kiss me. Yes, I have thought it all out. You are to kiss me whenever you can, and I am to kiss you on every available opportunity. This is one," says he, promptly.

CHAPTER XXXVI

In the looks does conscious guilt appear

To-day is wet; soaking, steady downpour, that commenced at early dawn, is still rendering miserable the shrubbery and gardens. Dark and forbidding as the old gosse has ever looked with its closed, and senseless barricade of trees that shut out every gleam of sunshine, it looks ten times darker and more forbidding to-day.

The rooms unused to fires, exude in damp weather an odious moisture that seems to penetrate to the very heart of those who feel it.

Jupiter Phryius is indeed holding a grand court to-day. All through the past week Apollo has laughed him to scorn, but now is his revenge at hand and greedily the perched and thirsty earth drinks in the blessed drops that fall thick as oats at reaping time upon its arid bosom.

Beneath the breast of the All-mother the little grassy rootlets feel the gentle moisture stirring them to greater exertions; so that they shall to-day, or perchance indeed to-morrow, throw up fresh juicy spikes of tenderest green to deck the radiant moon.

But these are future hopes. Just now a sullen haze hides all things; the roaring sea is blotted out, only the distant hills are seeming nigh, and against the loose old casements the heavy dashing of the raindrops makes a monotonous music.

Vera, depressed by the melancholy of the day, has cast her book aside, and with a certainty of meeting nobody in the empty rooms and corridors wanders aimlessly throughout their dreary length and breadth. These rooms are well known to her, and presently wearying of them she turns aside and rather timidly pushes open a huge, faded, brize-covered door that leads she scarcely knows whither. Some undefined belief that it would bring her into her uncle's presence has hitherto restrained her from seeking to learn what lies behind it; to-day, however, dullness making her bold, she pushes it back, and looks eagerly inward.

It is not an 8 o'clock after all and there are no signs of her presence anywhere. A large, low, vaulted passage reveals itself, only dimly lighted by a pitted window at the lower end. This end seems quite a mile away. What an enormous old house it is, how capable of being made beautiful. There is a subdued, semi-religious light in here, that affects the senses agreeably and lays a soothing touch upon the wounded spirit.

It seems to be a completely bare passage at first, leading nowhere; but presently, as she runs her eyes along the eastern wall, a door meets them, an old oaken door iron-clasped and literally hung with cobwebs. Evidently this is part of the house in utter disuse, laid aside, as it were and forgotten.

Curiosity grows strong within her. Catching the ancient handle of this door, a mere brass ring sunk in the woodwork, she pushes against it with all her might. In vain. But not deterred, she pushes again and again; and at the last trial of her strength, a sharp sound—ring of something brzen falling on a stone floor, crashes with a quick, altogether astounding noise upon the tomb-like silence that fills the mysterious passage.

Only one English sovereign—George III.—occupied the throne for a longer period than Queen

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS OVERCOME BY SAFE METHODS

Suggestions given whereby Insomnia can be safely and quickly cured.

Worry, overwork, overstudy and indigestion cause insomnia. Healthy, natural sleep can't be produced by drugs. First, the blood circulation must be improved.

Congestion of blood in the head must be removed. Irritation in the brain must be relieved. It's because Ferrozene equalizes circulation, because it soothes the irritation, because it removes congestion that it does cure insomnia.

For building blood and nerve, for instilling force and life into overworked organs, for establishing strength and vitality, where can you find anything so efficient as Ferrozene? Remember, sleep is just as important as food.

You must sleep or break down, but if you'll use Ferrozene and thereby remove the conditions which now keep you from sleep, you'll get well quickly. Ferrozene is not a narcotic, not a dope; it is a health-giving tonic that any child or delicate woman can use. Absolutely safe is Ferrozene.

Take it for a month, take it for a year—no harm, but immeasurable good will result.

To sleep well, look well, feel well, to be free from depression, nervousness or the blues—use Ferrozene. It's a food tonic, a healer to the weak and wretched, a boon to the sleepless—sold in 50c boxes six for $2.50 at all dealers or direct from The Cataract-ozene Co., Kingston, Ont.

Enlightenment on Mission Work

Rev. H. A. Priest Speaks at Zion School

A very interesting address was given in Zion Bible School last night, by Rev. H. A. Priest, B.A., of Toronto, who represents the Missionary Education Movement of Canada.

After a very appropriate and effective solo by Miss Butler, of the Y.W.C.A., views were shown of Japan, Korea, China, India, and our own country, revealing various conditions and phases of missionary work.

There were also pictures showing the life and activities of the Missionary Summer Conference which is held at Whithy, every year. The fourteenth annual conference will be held June 30th to July 7th, and promises to be one of unusual interest, as there will be missionaries in attendance from many lands, representing many phases of work.

An interesting feature of the evening was a selection by a chorus of former Whithytes, and a number of short talks testifying to the benefits of a week at Whithy Conference by those who had attended in former years.

A number of Sunday School workers have declared their intention of going to Whithy, this year, and the indications are that a large delegation of Christian workers and young people from Kitchener and Waterloo will avail themselves of the opportunity of a week of recreation, Christian fellowship, spiritual inspiration, Bible and Mission Study at the Whithy Conference.

Mr. Priest has been in India on mission work for the Baptist Church. His experience enabled him to make the views clearer to the audience. The idea of these meetings is to encourage different churches to send young people to the conference at Whithy to get training for missionary campaigns and work.

Much Legislation Yet to Be Disposed of at Ottawa

OTTAWA, May 20.—Parliament has been in session three months to-day. While a great deal of legislation has been dealt with, much still remains to be disposed of and it is quite possible that the House will run a full five months. To-day was one of the House of Commons' working days. The consolidated railway bill, which was introduced on the first day of the session and which has undergone lengthy consideration by the special committee of which Mr. J.E. Armstrong was chairman, was under consideration and its four hundred and thirty-one clauses were quickly passed.

Then the more controversial clauses were considered, but those of a really contentious nature, such as the power clause, were left over. The power clause in which Toronto and the Toronto and Niagara Power Company are interested, will be discussed on Tuesday or Wednesday next.

At the evening sitting Mr. Mackie East, Edmonton, advocated the giving of annual passes to judges on the ground that their remuneration is inadequate, but Hon. J.D. Reid could not see why the railways should be asked to make good such passes.

"Pumpkin pie—whole one!" It was eight o'clock in the morning, and the Canteener looked back questioning at the boy who gave the order. Under his over-seas cap his face was brown-red like a farmer's at the end of harvest. He looked back at her and grinned broadly.

"But won't you have some breakfast first?" she questioned. "Sure," he grinned "pumpkin pie!" The Canteener smiled as she answered apologetically "but it's too early, the pies are not in yet—we've got apple pie though."

"NIX on the apple pie—gee, ain't that my luck. I'll tell you when I get back to the farm I'm going to have pumpkin pie every day for a YEAR. I haven't seen a piece of pumpkin pie for six months! When I got mine, they put me in a French hospital. I was there for months—couldn't get any of them to understand what I meant—sure there was a nurse or two who could talk our language but there was more than a hundred fellows hollerin' for them to put them straight with the Frenchies. They wanted a piece of pumpkin pie so bad, an' it didn't seem to be any use askin' for pie on the off chance that they would bring pumpkin—it has ALWAYS apple, every time. One day I got hold of a French dictionary and found the word for pumpkin, 'citrouille' and the word for pie which is 'tarte' I wrote them down and handed it to the nurse, and she smiled and nodded and assured me that she would get it for me the following day. I dreamed about it that night, and told all the fellows that I was going to have a treat. I was all worked up about it, I was for the nurse would keep enquiring every time she came near me about 'une belle citrouille'. Well, it came, could you hear, she brought me BOILED PUMPKIN, and mashed potatoes, and the bunch o' yaps expected me to be crazy about it. That was the last time I tried—what was the use!—are ye SURE ye haven't got a bit o' pumpkin pie left over from yesterday?"

Mme. Pierre Curie, who has been decorated by the King of Spain, has been recognized as one of the leading scientists of the world since the discovery of radium by herself and her husband, now deceased, in 1898. Mme. Curie is now 50 years old. She is the daughter of a Polish professor and received her early education at Warsaw, her birthplace. Even as a child, it is said, she was passionately fond of physics and played crucibles and retorts as other little girls of her age played with dolls.

DEMOCRACY VS. PROHIBITION.

To the Editor,

In your issue of May 13th, you published my letter, giving my principles on Democracy as applied to Prohibition. The following day appeared what Dr. Heist styled a reply to my letter. But it did not contain a single answer to any of my points.

Had he been seeking to remove the cause of intemperance, he would have been able to have found it in my letter, where I pointed to the man as the cause, through abusing his affections. I also clearly stated whose duty it was to guide and protect those who cannot protect themselves. He asks me to explain principles that he ought to be familiar with, and without which Prohibitionists cannot solve this serious problem.

When a man displays such gross ignorance of a subject, and manifests such contempt for those who dare to express an opinion contrary to his fantastic fancies, I cannot attempt to enlighten such a man, because he is not capable of discerning those principles. Until he is actuated by a sincere desire to know the truth, he cannot be instructed. The best I could do would be to direct him where he can learn the final result of following his blind fanaticism.

If he is anxious to study, he will find a lesson in Exodus, in the conflict between Moses and Pharaoh, and the result which followed.

I am not a booze fighter, but I will not stand by and see such falacious principles, as those used by Prohibitionists go unchallenged.

They shy at the substance, yet bow and worship the shadow. Not until we remove the cause of intemperance by teaching humanity to be temperate in the use of things and have a will strong enough to say No will this deplorable matter be settled.

As I do not at the present time wish to discuss nor prolong this controversy, I will close by referring to a solemn event, in the life of the Christ, when He ate the Passover with His disciples. He administered the Sacrament of the Holy Supper and gave them bread and wine as a symbol of Good and Truth. The Bread and Wine were material and were a correspondent of Spiritual Principles. Wine is fermented grape juice, and has always been recognised as such. If the Christ used at the last Passover, He surely knew its significance. Will the Prohibitionists tell us by what authority they substituted unfermented grape juice when He told them it was His Blood?

Humanity must realise the symbol contained in the use of Bread and Wine, before they can understand its significance. Just as the Egyptians had to learn by experience, so must all of us. "Eyes they have and see not; ears they have and hear not."

We must all realise this is Judgment Day, or Passover and we must learn how to function under the New Conditions or meet the fate of Egypt and the ending of each Cycle of Evolution through which the Earth has passed.

Prohibition only intensifies instead of alleviates conditions. Our Affections were given us by the Creator for wise purposes, and we should not permit their abuse.

I might remind Dr. Heist "since he is so emphatic" about the people speaking, that this is God's World and he is ruling and will continue to do so regardless of all the Pharaoh's and their sublime ignorances.

WILSON ILLER.

Ministers to Co-Operate in Every Way at Winnipeg

OTTAWA, May 20.—The Winnipeg situation still overshadows everything else at Ottawa. It is realized that there are ominous dangers in the Winnipeg general strike of a most serious character. Hon. Gideon Robertson and Hon. Arthur Meighen will arrive in Winnipeg tomorrow morning, and the Government has hopes that they will be able to bring about a settlement. They will be ready to co-operate in any move for a settlement and will assist in the maintenance of law and order, which the Government is determined to maintain.

The attitude of the Government and of Parliament is that, while every known resource must be exhausted to effect a settlement by compromise and peace, all attempts at lawlessness or of any revolutionary character must be sternly put down.

Must be protected.

There is no disposition to use unnecessary force, but the feeling is strong that public life and property must be protected, and that "Reds," as distinguished from genuine trade unionists, must be taught a lesson in the danger of defying the law. It is doubted here that any Soviet Government has been formed.

The Government is hopeful that with the arrival of the ministers in the West this will be a store communication with the beleaguered city. What information the Government has is encouraging. "Our advice is," said Sir Thomas White in the House to-day, "to the effect that the municipal, provincial and Dominion authorities are all co-operating, and it is believed that measures have been taken to insure the maintenance of law and order."

Fred Davis Ranch, Near Calgary, Hard Hit by Recent Heavy Snows

MITCHELL, May 20.—Word has reached Mitchell that Mr. Fred Davis, M.P.P., who has a large stock ranch near Calgary, had met with a very big loss of stock, owing to a severe snowstorm which visited that part of the country a short time ago. His loss in stock alone is placed at $25,000. It is claimed that it was the biggest snow-storm that ever visited that part of the West and lasted for seven days. The snow was piled in drifts full 10 feet deep. A number of fat cattle and other cattle and sheep were buried and died through want of feed and cold. After the storm was over dead cattle, sheep and horses could be counted by the score. At the time Mr. Davis wrote to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W.R. Davis, of this town, the hides of 139 cattle had been taken off.

Anglican Synod Meets

The Synod of the Anglican Diocese of Niagara opened yesterday morning at Hamilton when Bishop Clark delivered his address. He expressed pleasure at the fact that the minimum stipend for the clergy was now $1,200 and a free house. Social service, he said, must henceforth take its place in the Church along with mission work and religious training. The Church must welcome the returned soldiers and win the clergy were more or less infected with the pleasure-seeking and worldliness of which there was too much in the world. There was too much sectionalism in the national life, which had resulted in feuds between the manufacturers, Labor, farmers and other factions. These should be brought together by a peace conference appointed by the Government. Unity of command had won the war, as the world could be won for Christ only by unity of Christians.

Will Confer With Owners

The City Planning Commission last evening held a session at which the report and recommendation of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board on the new city plan were considered. A committee was appointed to look into the cases where objections have been raised against proposed street extensions and connections; to confer with the owners and Board and to report at the next meeting of the Commission. This committee consists of Messrs. W. H. Breithaupt, Sam Brubacher, Mr. Huenergard and W. Hartung. It was learned that by making a slight deviation in the line of the streets the objections in some of the cases could be overcome. The Commission decided to have a plan prepared of the desired connection between Queen and Frederick streets which improvement they feel would be ratified by the municipal Board, who have not favored the idea of widening Duke Street.

Boys Fecish Act

Boys if they wish to keep out of trouble will not put their hands on automobiles to which they have no right in order to go joy riding. Four young fellows fifteen to seventeen years, have been taught a lesson and were lucky to get away with the payment of a $25. fine each and cost, which brought the amount up to $33.75 each. Magistrate Weir impressed upon them the fact that the government had made the penalty heavier than it has been but that this being the first case of its kind to be brought into the court and since the offenders were so young he would let them go with a small fine. The car stolen was that of Mr. A. Currey of Baden which disappeared in front of the Presbyterian Church here a few days ago and was found near the Pollock manufacturing Co.

Mrs. Chas. Simmons, 45 Blake Street, Stratford, is in receipt of a telegram from the Militia Department informing her that her husband, who sailed for Canada on the steamer Royal George on May 4 is missing off the troopship.

He was seen for the last time on Tuesday, May 6, and according to some of his companions was suffering from seasickness and was leaning over the rail of the boat. Whether he overbalanced and fell into the ocean cannot be discovered. Pte. Simmons enlisted with the 110th Battalion and served in France for almost two years. He was not wounded, but was suffering from the effects of influenza and trench fever. He is well known in Stratford, and prior to enlisting worked in the Grand Trunk shops.

MUNICIPAL HOUSING

In the opinion of the Council, it would, before taking definite action in the housing matter, be expedient to ascertain how many of our citizens would apply for house loans, were such loans limited to the following classes:

A. Those desiring to secure loans with which to erect houses, costing up to $2500, including lot, and who would be prepared to pay 15 per cent. of such sums in cash on making application to the Housing Commission.

B. Those desiring loans to purchase houses and lots, whose individual costs would exceed $2500, and who would be prepared to pay 20 per cent. of the amount in cash on making application to the Housing Commission.

C. Those owning lots whose values are respectively less than the sum represented by the 15 and 20 per cent. ages named above, and who would agree to pay the differences in cash, so as to make their initial payment equal those of either Class "A" or Class "B".

For the information of the Council, will persons desiring to secure assistance to erect houses under the above conditions, and pursuant to the provisions of the Housing Act, apply to the City Clerk at the City Hall, up to Thursday, May 29th. Office will be open from 9 to 5 daily, and on the evenings of Friday 23rd and Wednesday, June 4th, until 9 p.m.

May 22-28, 25c.

SPORTING NEWS BRIEFLETS

Gleanings From the M. O. League

Dr. Shoupe, a military man from Camp Grant, who is visiting here is an admirer of good ball. He says: "You have a good team. They will be heard from, you can bet on that. Give them all support you can."

The arrangements for patriotic day have been completed. At tomorrow's (Friday's) game has already been announced all receipts, above the guaranteed amounts to the clubs to cover expenses, go to the soldiers' fund of the Daughters of the Empire.

Patriotic games, which are played in Michigan and other States several times in a season have proven very successful. And there is no reason why they should not be successful here.

The Daughters of the Empire have completed the program, which includes a procession from the city hall to the park; the decorating of the Victoria monument and an address by Rev. Mr. Lang-Ford, after which the crowd will proceed to the ball grounds. The 10th band will supply the music. Tickets for the game are being sold and have been well taken up. It is certain there will be a big crowd on hand. On the patriotic occasion all admissions to the game must be by cash. Season tickets and passes will not be honored for this game.

Secretary Wegener of the Battle Creek Club who was here: "You have a splendid city. I had heard something about it before I came here, but did not expect anything like this. By the way your town is something like our own, Battle Creek. The people are very much alike. We have a population of about 35,000 with many industries."

Manager Pluvius again scored the biggest victory yesterday.

London's bunch has lost six consecutive games. Yesterday's game was another loss by one run and a hard-fought fixture for Joe Keenan and his men.

Brantford won their first game. They defeated Flint by 5 to 1.

Big Ben Gilbert, pitcher, who joined the London Tecumsehs was to be given a try out in the game with Saginaw this afternoon.

There was an air of uncertainty here yesterday afternoon. "Now they play, now they don't." Early in the afternoon it had been decided that the Beavers and the Battle Creekers would play; this was the intention even up to three o'clock. However it was soon discovered that the grounds were not in shape for playing. So the handful of fans that had gathered under dark and threatening clouds dispersed.

And what about today? It seemed as if another day would go by without a game.

Bay City arrived here this morning for the series to be played in the second half of the week.

Other Brevities

When the junior W.F.A. group, No. 2, schedule was drawn up neither New Dundee nor Tavistock sent delegates. However, a schedule was made out and Secretary Tatham of Woodstock, of the W.F.A. has received the following double schedule, endorsed by all clubs: June 10—Tavistock at New Dundee. June 12—Stratford at Tavistock. June 14—New Dundee at Stratford.
