KOMOKA PLAN NOT FAVORED BY EXPERT;
FOR COMBINED SPRING AND RIVER WATER*Mr. Maury Presents Report on Local Situation—Considers Combination Scheme
the Best For City—Cost Puts Lake Plans Out of Question.

The water commissioners held a special meeting last night and informally discussed the report presented by Expert Engineer Maury, of Peoria, Ill., who was employed by the commission some weeks ago, to go thoroughly into the water problem here, and recommend the best course for the city to pursue to increase the supply.

In brief, Mr. Maury comes out for a combined river water and spring water supply.

He does not favor the Komoka scheme.

As to the Titus scheme, he says, that through lack of data he is unable to recommend it to the commissioners. He also deals with the Lake Erie and Lake Huron schemes, both of which are out of the question, because of the tremendous cost.

Reports are made as to bringing water from Lakeside and St. Marys, but neither is deemed feasible.

In a supplementary report, Mr. Maury says he considers meters could not be profitably installed by the city. The cost would be very great.

The commissioners at the meeting last night, did not put themselves on record as favoring any scheme, though Mr. Saunders came out strongly in the debate for the Komoka plan.

The combined river and spring water scheme would cost $429,000, upon which the annual interest and sinking fund would be $24,908 11.

The scheme contemplates the collection of water from Cronyn's Springs, on the south bank of the north fork of the Thames, about 4 miles from the city, and from White Springs on the opposite side of the river, and bringing these waters by gravity into a 5,000-gallon covered storage reservoir, to be built southeast of Sutherland's mill; the construction of a pumping station and installing therein of three pumping units of 2,000-gallon gallons daily capacity each, designed to draw water from the covered reservoir and force it into the city mains; a number of mains of large size to serve as the principal arteries for delivering water, and some additional city mains needed for extending the distributional system.

From the two springs mentioned the flow would be about 550,000 gallons per 24 hours, but counting on leakage, the city's supply from these sources would be increased by not less than 750,000 gallons per day.

Take Water From River.

The scheme also contemplates the taking of water from the river at Sutherland's mill race, and pumping it into a 3,000,000-gallon sedimentation reservoir, whence it can flow on to the sand of a 3,000,000-gallon covered filter, from which, after filtering, it will flow by gravity into the 5,000,000-gallon covered reservoir, thence to be pumped, if needed, into the city mains. Power to lift the water into the sedimentation reservoir could be secured from Sutherland's mill dam.

The pumps at Sutherland's mill would be built to operate against a head of 120-pounds pressure, so as to furnish water in case of fire at 100 pounds net at the hydrants.

With this plan, Mr. Maury says, a second main from Springbank would not be absolutely necessary, as the quantity of water from the present reservoir would not be increased, as is contemplated in the Komoka scheme, but he says further in the same paragraph that it would be advisable to put down an 18-inch additional main as a safeguard against accident to the present main.

Cheaper Than Komoka Scheme.

Mr. Maury goes on to say that the Komoka scheme would cost at least 50 per cent more than the combined scheme above outlined, without considering the cost of lands, right-of-way, etc.

The cost of the Komoka scheme he places at $650,000, the annual interest and sinking fund upon which would be $38,167 87.

The total expenses of the combined plan would annually be $32,309 11, against $47,167 87 for the Komoka scheme. Thus the combined plan means an annual saving of about $15,000.

The operating expenses of the combined scheme are given as $3,000, against Komoka scheme expenses of $9,000 annually.

Purer Than Komoka Water.

He also contends that analysis of water from the Komoka district and from the Cronyn and White Springs show that the water from the latter sources is the purest. James' Creek at Komoka, he points out, is not exactly the best class of water for drinking purposes, as it has its source in swampy land.

Of the Thames water, Mr. Maury says he has no hesitation in saying that it can be purified, and that the prejudice of the people against river water is not well based.

Altogether, he would consider the water from the river, if filtered, more palatable and purer than the water from James' Creek.

Then the water from the Cronyn and White Springs, with the 5,000,000-gallon storage in the covered reservoir, would be sufficient for all ordinary needs, and that except in cases of very large fires, river water need not be used at all. When a fire broke out the pumps at Sutherland's mill could Raps Fire Underwriters.

In referring to his combined river water and springs water scheme which he recommends to the city, Expert Maury has something to say regarding the exactions of the Canadian Underwriters' Association in order that the key rate of insurance here might be reduced.

He points out that the underwriters have suggested the installation of a separate fire fighting plant of three 3,000,000-gallon units, with separate mains, etc., with 200 pounds pressure at the hydrants. "These requirements for a city of 45,000 inhabitants," Mr. Maury says, "with only one building six stories high, are so manifestly unreasonable that it is hard to believe that the underwriters really expected that it would be complied with. If they were not complied with, the inference was that the rates would not be reduced. That these requirements should be made at all seems to confirm the suspicions already prevalent among those who have given serious study to the matter, that recent advances in insurance rates all over Canada and the United States have been made less with regard to the real merits of the particular case than from a desire to recoup as quickly as possible the fire losses at Baltimore and San Francisco."

In conclusion, Mr. Maury says that he has had occasions to look into the requirements of the underwriters in several cities in America recently, and nowhere did he find anything which displayed the unreasonableness of the exactions imposed upon London.

WHIRLED AROUND SHAFT, FRED
HOWE MEETS HORRIBLE DEATH*Body Terribly Mangled Before
Machinery Could Be Stopped—
Well-Known Musician.

While attending to his duties in the King street works of the McClary Manufacturing Company yesterday afternoon, Frederick Howe, a laborer, who resided at 552 Horton street, was caught in a shafting and whirled to his death.

It was part of Howe's work to look after the new fire protection service lately installed by the company. Yesterday about 3 o'clock he was cleaning the pipes and valves, and in order to reach certain of them, he was compelled to use a ladder, as the pipes ran along the ceiling of the shop.

Howe's life was crushed out in an instant he was whirled around the shafting. The men working in the room did not know anything was wrong until they heard the screams of Howe.

It is said there was some difficulty in stopping the machinery, as the power could not be turned off in the room in which Howe was caught in the shafting, and the man was whirled around at the rate of several hundred revolutions to the minute before the machinery was brought to a standstill. Howe's life was crushed out of him. There was only a space of two feet between the floor and the shafting, and every time the body went around it struck against the ceiling joists.

Dr. Drake was summoned, but Howe only breathed a minute after being taken from the shafting. The doctor found that both legs were broken in many places, the right arm was torn from the socket, the skull was crushed, and in other ways the body was terribly mangled.

Coroner MacLaren was notified, and after investigating the matter, he ordered an inquest. The body was then sent by the company to Stewart's morgue.

The late Frederick Howe had only been in the employ of the McClary Company about four months. Previous to that time he was employed by the Parnell-Dean Steam Baking Company of South London.

He was one of the best known and most popular musicians in the city. He was connected with the Seventh Regiment Band until the reorganization, and also with the Twenty-sixth Regiment Band. He will be remembered by many Londoners as the bass violinist of Prof. Stevens's orchestra at Bennett's Theater. He was about 50 years of age, and leaves a wife and family.

TO PLAY AFTER ALLWanderers and Thistles to Play For Stanley Cup at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Man., March 22.—The Stanley Cup games are to be played at the Arena Rink, this city, tonight, and Monday night, the majority of goals scored in the two games to decide the winner.

Trustee Foran notified the two clubs yesterday that he withheld decision regarding Wednesday night's game, and ordered the teams to play tonight at Kenora.

A meeting of the executives of the two clubs was held here early this morning, and Wanderers agree to allow the two ex-Ottawa players to play with Kenora if the games were played in Winnipeg.

The weather is very mild and the rink management will have their troubles in keeping water off the ice.

BIG WHOLESALE
HOUSE IS SOLD*Lind, Kerrigan & Co. Secure Clarence Street Property For $30,000.

The purchase of Gorman, Eckert & Co.'s large wholesale house on Clarence street, near York, has been completed by Lind, Kerrigan & Co.

Negotiations for the building had been in progress for some time, and were completed recently, after the Gorman-Eckert Company secured the Bennett property in the east end.

The price paid by Lind, Kerrigan & Co. for the Clarence street house is reported to have been $30,000. The building is four stories, with basement, and is admirably adapted for the purposes for which it is to be used. It also includes a lighting plant.

Gorman, Eckert & Co. are now getting the Bennett building in readiness for occupation. They expect to vacate their present premises on July 1.

BRAINSTORM CASE
IN OLD LONDON*Man Who Killed Millionaire Merchant Whately Pleads Insanity.

London, March 22.—Horace George Rayner was arraigned in the central criminal court today charged with the willful murder of William Whately, the drygoods merchant of Westbourne Grove, on Jan. 24. In his opening statement, counsel for the prosecution, whose assertions were subsequently corroborated on the witness-stand by Louisa Turner, who lived under Mr. Whately's protection, disposed of the fiction that Rayner was an illegitimate son of the man he killed.

George Elliott, counsel for Rayner, in his opening speech for the defense, said it was not part of his case to prove that the prisoner was a son of the late Mr. Whately. Rayner, rightly or wrongly, believed he was his son, and counsel was going to show that Rayner was insane, in the legal sense that he was a degenerate, whose mind was tainted, defective and weakened by the over-indulgence of two generations of his family in drink.

LATER.

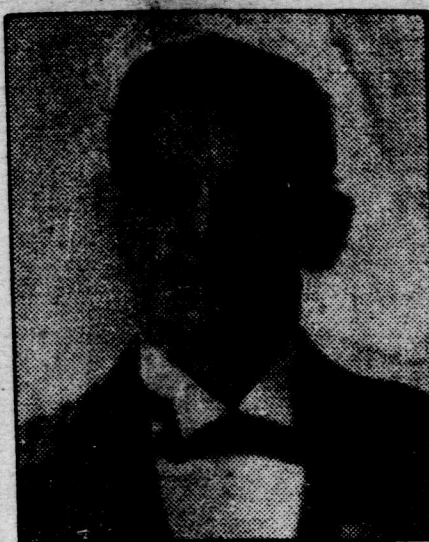

The jury after being absent nine minutes, returned a verdict of willful murder and Rayner was sentenced to death.

TWO-CENT POSTAGEAustralia Seeks To Establish Rate with All Countries.

Melbourne, Australia, March 22.—The Federal Government has decided to introduce a bill during the next session of Parliament, establishing a two-cent rate of postage on letters, not only throughout Australia, but with all parts of the British Empire and all foreign countries that will deliver two-cent letters from Australia.

CONTINUOUS POOL TEST.

New York, March 22.—Thos. Hueston, of St. Louis, beat Jerome Jeog, of Buffalo, last night by 206 points to 121, in the first of a series of three games of 200 points each, for the world's championship at continuous pool, and a side stake of $300.

THE LATE FRED HOWE.*DEMAND USE OF DUTCH LANGUAGE*Afrikaners Stir Up Controversy
at First Meeting of Parliament.

Pretoria, Transvaal, March 21.—After the formal opening of Parliament here today, Lord Selborne ordered the members of the Lower House to retire and elect a speaker. As soon as they had assembled in their hall a language controversy sprang up, the Afrikaners persisting in the use of Dutch.

Mr. Hoffmeyer took the chair and, speaking in English, explained the method of electing a speaker, whereupon Gen. Schalkburger, the former vice-president of old times, shouted:

"Speak Dutch!"

The general's interruption was greeted with enthusiastic cheers by the Boers, and Hoffmeyer complied, finishing his explanation in Dutch. Gen. Botha, the Premier, nominated Gen. Beyers for speaker, and Sir George Farrar, president of the progressive party, proposed Mr. Stockenström, with the object of dividing the ministerialists, many of whom favored the latter.

After several names had been suggested by the Opposition and the honor declined, the proceedings being conducted alternately in English and Dutch, Gen. Beyers was elected speaker and returned thanks for the honor in English.

He said he intended to maintain the traditions of the mother country and the mother colony, namely Cape Colony, and afterwards, speaking in Dutch, he adjourned the House amidst cries from the Opposition of "Speak in English!"

TRANSVAAL BARS JAPSThe Asiatic Ordinance Measure Passes

Pretoria, Transvaal, March 22.—The Upper House of Parliament today passed the "Asiatic Ordinance," providing for the exclusion of the Japanese and other Asiatics who are immigrating to South Africa in increasing numbers.

Detroit, Mich., March 22.—Two persons were fatally injured and nine others, all girls, were more or less seriously hurt today, when a street car was struck at the Fourteenth avenue crossing, by a Michigan Central Railway train.

The fatally injured: James C. Smith, aged 55 years, Detroit; Miss Charlotte Martin, Mason City, Mich.

DOUBLE FERTILE EGYPT

Cairo, March 21.—It is proposed to raise the great Assouan dam 15 ft. This, it is calculated, will make it possible to reclaim an irrigation area one and one-half times larger than the region at present irrigated.

The cost will be $7,500,000. The proposal will be submitted to the Council of Ministers today. If the work is carried out the Island of Philae, with its famous temples, will be submerged completely during a large part of the year.

The inhabitants were compelled to flee for their lives. At Cucuteni, where many Tungarians live, a fight occurred between the Hungarian and Roumanian inhabitants. Four Hungarians are reported killed and 30 wounded.

Fourteen peasants were killed in a collision with troops at Belgiesio, while in Fokshann the people are in revolt against the authorities. The village of Sullo was destroyed by peasant rioters. The fate of the inhabitants is not known.

BIG JOB FOR M'GUIGANAppointed First Vice-President of Great Northern Railway.

St. Paul, Minn., March 21.—James J. Hill said tonight that there is no truth in the statement that he is about to retire from the presidency of the Great Northern Railway. He added that F. H. McGuigan, formerly fourth vice-president of the Grand Trunk Railway, has been appointed first vice-president of the Great Northern, the post heretofore held by Louis H. Hill, son of the president.

No announcement was made as to the place where Mr. McGuigan will live, but it is generally understood that the office of assistant to the president will be created for him.

MR. MARKS FOR TORONTOHas Taken Over the Editorship of Toronto's Labor Organ.

CITY CAN'T BUY RAILWAY AT PAR*President Everett Unchanged in Attitude Regarding Sale of Local System.

Mr. Henry A. Everett, the millionaire president of the London Street Railway, and several other companies, is in the city today, and at 5 o'clock he meets the finance committee of the city council to discuss the purchase of the local street railway lines by the city.

When interviewed by The Advertiser, Mr. Everett said that it would be idle to talk of buying the railway at par. He considers the system a very valuable one.

He stands exactly where he stood, he says, when interviewed by The Advertiser on the subject last fall. This morning Mr. Everett took a trip over the Springbank line in company with Manager King, Treasurer Benson and City Engineer Grayson.

"The changes made by the Grand Trunk west of the city are stupendous," Mr. Everett said to the reporter. "The work is one of the most interesting sights I have ever seen."

The street railway magnate also stated that the change in route of the Springbank line, which was made necessary by the elevation of the Grand Trunk tracks west of the Wharncliffe road, has greatly benefited the line.

Mr. Everett will leave London tonight for Cleveland.

THE LIMIT FOR BIGAMYA Toronto Boxmaker Given Two Years
Less One Day.

Toronto, March 22.—One year and 364 days, the extreme penalty, was given Bert Windsor, a boxmaker, who pleaded guilty to bigamy before Police Magistrate Denison this morning. Four years ago Windsor married Lydia Cattle and had two children by her. He lived with his wife's parents. A short time ago he began paying attentions to a girl named Annie Woodward and when one night about New Years at the roller rink his wife reproached him with it, Windsor struck her. For this he was ordered out of the house by his wife's brothers. He left and went and married the Woodward girl.

DELAY HURTS COMPANY

Toronto, March 22.—There was a large crowd in the private bills committee room this morning in anticipation of the committee taking up the expropriation clauses of the city of Toronto's bill. These clauses were not dealt with however, and after a brief discussion, were laid over till Wednesday morning. Representatives of the Toronto Electric Light Company protested against the delay, saying it had already caused injury to the shareholders of $200,000, necessary work contracted for having been held up.

Who Shortly Goes to the Great Northern as First Vice-President.*HUBBY DISAPPEARS
9 MONTHS WEDDED*Young Wife Can't Account For Actions—Believes He Has Deserted Her.

Wm. J. Healy left his home at 297 Pall Mall street, the other morning, presumably to go to work, but since that time his wife has neither seen nor heard anything of him, and she would like to know something of his whereabouts. She believes he has deserted her.

In June last, Healy led to the altar a young lady of this city, who now entertains anything but kindly feelings towards him. In fact, she told a representative of The Advertiser yesterday that Healy is anything but a gentleman.

Healy, it seems, had no trade, but was constantly shifting about from place to place. Shortly after the couple were married they went to Hamilton, where he worked for a few weeks. Then they migrated to another nearby place, and from there to Detroit. Later they landed in Mount Forest, where he worked for the London Engine Supply Company.

No place seemed to suit Healy for any great length of time, so it was not long before the couple were back in London again. In the meantime, so 'tis claimed, the bride's bank account had dwindled down to the ciphers, and the couple's only available assets were the clothes they wore and the husband's nerve.

On coming to London, Healy hid himself to a local furniture store, and it is alleged, representing himself as a well-to-do lumber merchant, ordered some $300 worth of household furnishings, making a small deposit on the same. Then he ordered a stove from a local firm, paying $5 down. There, it is said, he represented himself as a mechanical engineer. He said he had married a woman who owned considerable property in the Northwest. He explained that he was temporarily short of ready money, but would be on his feet in a few days.

A house on Pall Mall street—297 was the number—looked big enough to accommodate the couple and the furniture, so Healy rented it, and intimated to the owner that he might buy it later on, anything they could strike a bargain. Each morning he left the house, as if to go to work. One morning, however, after he had gone, Mrs. Healy picked up a piece of paper on the floor which proved to be a written application for a position with a London firm. Evidently he had dropped from her husband's pocket. Inquiry at the London Engine Supply Company's works, where Healy told his wife he was employed at $22 a week, elicited the fact that he was not working for the firm, and hadn't been since he left Mount Forest.

Becoming suspicious the young wife searched the house and found Healy's clothes were gone, together with some of her own.

Since then the stove dealers got a tip as to Healy's departure and removed the stove, while the furniture dealers also took possession of what they had sold to Healy, leaving the young bride with an empty house. Relatives of the young lady took her in hand, and she is now being well cared for.

THE ARMY BILL PASSESA Twenty-Seven Hour Session of the British House of Commons.

London, March 21.—The House today adopted the army bill and rose at 5:35 p.m., having been in continual session for nearly 27 hours. At the adjournment the Premier repeated the announcement, previously made today in the House of Lords by the Earl of Crewe, that the Government intended to oppose the passage of the channel tunnel bill.

Toronto, March 22.—In the Legislature yesterday afternoon, Mr. Ross (West Middlesex), inquired: "What are the intentions of the Government in regard to the Western Dairy School at Strathroy? Does it intend to discontinue wholly, or in part, the course of instruction that have been carried on there? If wholly, for what purpose does it intend to use the building and equipment in the future?"

Hon. Mr. Montelth replied: "It is the intention of the Government to consolidate the two dairy schools in the western part of the Province, and after this year to carry on all instruction work at the Central Dairy School at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph. Nothing has yet been decided upon as to the disposal or future use of the building at Strathroy."

Over-capitalization.

In view of recent occurrences, much of the discussion that marked the passage of Hon. Mr. Hanna's joint stock companies act through the committee of the whole, was of great importance. In connection with clauses which placed in the hands of the Government control over the terms on which new stock could be issued by public utility companies, the application of the Toronto Electric Light Company was freely referred to. Over-capitalization, a present-day phenomenon, was also the theme of some discussion. It was said that everything in reason that could be thought of to guard against this evil on the part of public utilities had been adopted. It was, however, impossible, it was asserted to apply the provisions to ordinary industrial companies, or to mining companies. Two other Government measures were also passed by the committee of the whole. Hon. Mr. Matheson's consolidation of the succession duties act was amended by the addition of two clauses. One would exempt subscriptions to charitable and educational institutions from taxation. The other would protect small insurance policies made in favor of near relatives.

Hon. Mr. Foy's amendment to the surveys act passed the committee.

Fairy Tale Prospectuses.

The House put in a couple of solid hours on the joint stock companies act. Mr. Hoyle told some of his experiences with prospectuses. "I have read prospectuses drawn up by men who do nothing else," said Mr. Hoyle. "Such fairy tales I never heard of."

Mr. Hoyle told of a phantom river that was to help carry golden dividends, but when the shareholders looked on the map the river wasn't there. It had its source and outlet only in the prospectus.

A slight amendment was made, providing that a promoter or writer of a prospectus should be liable for misstatements contained in it only when he had a financial interest in the company, and not if he acted solely in a professional capacity.

Restrict Shares.

Speaking of the over-capitalization problem, Hugh Clark (C. Bruce) suggested that new companies should be restricted to 100,000 shares.

Mr. Hanna pointed out that if the Province was too restrictive, companies would get Dominion charters.

Mr. Graham said the Provincial Government did its duty the Dominion would follow suit.

Mr. Hanna said the Province had power to exercise a careful supervision over companies furnishing municipalities with public utilities, but not over industrial or mining companies.

The Dominion Parliament had concurrent jurisdiction over the latter, and by obtaining Dominion charters, the Province lost all power of regulating them and also lost the revenue derived from their incorporation.

Mr. Graham favored the limiting of the number of shares. No matter what the Dominion might do, the Legislature should set its face against over-capitalization. Without meaning to criticize the department, he thought it might exercise closer scrutiny in cases of applications for increases of capital.

Mr. Clark (Bruce) commented on the impossibility of the department investigating every application.

"No issue of stock below par should be allowed," declared Mr. McDougall (Ottawa). That was the way most of the watering was done. Shares were issued at a big discount, but the company tried to pay dividends on the par value.

Mr. Studholme quoted the New York American's interview with Rockefeller on over-capitalization.

No Limit.

The clauses went through without change, and there will be no limit on capitalization. Mr. Hanna pointing out the impossibility of the Government fixing any value upon a company's prospects or earning capacity.

Part XII of the act deals with companies operating municipal franchises and public utilities. It is very largely new and the Provincial Secretary announced differed from the first draft of the bill. He said that Chief Justice Anfin had given particular attention to the clauses.

LONDON, FRIDAY, MARCH 22.

LAURIER AND BOTHA.

Without doubt the two most striking figures at the approaching colonial conference in old London will be Sir Wilfrid Laurier, premier of Canada, and Gen. Louis Botha, premier of the recently-acquired Transvaal Colony.In a way there are points of resemblance between the two men. The mother tongue of each is foreign to that of the king to whom they owe allegiance. Both are loyally serving under a flag which was forced on the forefathers of one and reluctantly adopted by the other. One, though of French origin, is today Canada's foremost statesman, and among the ablest,
most famous and eloquent parliamentarians in the British Empire. The other, Dutch born, is a famous soldier
and a leader of men than whom no
braver can be found of the world over.
The French blood of one has been no bar to his ranging himself amongst the most loyal of his majesty's subjects—
a Canadian first, a Britisher always.
The Dutch blood of the other has cooled down with the stilling of the noise of battle; Dutch prejudices have been overcome, and he tells the British nation, so recently his enemy,
that "Your King shall be my King,
your flag my flag."Such are the two men who will next month take part in the most important colonial conference yet held. For the most important it certainly is, inasmuch as it is the first to be convened exclusively for its own sake, its three predecessors having been incidents of great imperial celebrations—the two jubilees and the coronation.
Of importance, too, are the questions
to come before the conference, embracing as they do the allied question of a permanent committee associated with the imperial council or conference;
preferential trade and the connected
coasting trade and treaty questions;
defense; naturalization laws; emigration to the colonies; judicial appointments; reservation of bills; strengthening of British interests in the Pacific, in view of the approaching construction of the Panama Canal; patents and merchandise acts; reciprocity in professions; the metric system, and various other subjects of importance to the mother country and the colonies.That such men as Laurier and Botha should be called into conference
on such matters of imperial concern is evidence enough that the King and his immediate advisers have confidence in the representative men of the greater empire beyond the seas, whether British-born or not, and should put to shame those super-loyalists in Canada who are wont to raise the race cry, and that, too, from the basest of motives.

ALBERTA'S NEW LICENSE LAW.

The first bill for the regulation of the liquor traffic has been introduced in the Alberta Legislature, and it may be interesting to readers to know how the new province purposes dealing with the problem. The license system which was in operation in the Northwest Territories, is continued under provincial jurisdiction, but with important modifications. One very advanced provision is that which prohibits a license in any place with less than 200 inhabitants. The object is to prevent the existence of "road houses," which are not needed for public accommodation,
but thrive on the proceeds of the bar,
and often by harboring people of dubious character. In fact no licenses will be issued outside of cities, towns and incorporated villages.The licensee in Alberta must keep hotel. In cities every hotel must have at least 45 bedrooms; in towns, 35; and in villages, 15. Only one license will be allowed for the first 500 people in a municipality; one for the second 500,
and one for each additional 1,000 of population. The Ontario law allows one license for the first 250 people; three for the first 1,000; and one for each 600 over the first 1,000. Another clause of the Alberta act provides that checks cannot be cashed in a hotel. It is believed this will assist the wage-earners to resist the temptation of going into bars on pay-day, and will send them
first to the grocery and drygoods stores. The act sets up a standard of sanitation to which licensees must conform.On the whole the license law of the new province is more restrictive than Ontario, which has been the most advanced in the Dominion.

AN EXPLODED LIE.

The Montreal Star some time ago showed questionable enterprise in placing a watch upon the movements of Hon. Mr. Hyman at a California health resort. The Star's correspondent described Mr. Hyman's routine, which was clearly that of a person who was studying his health, not his pleasure,
but the Star chose to misrepresent the testimony of its reporter by insinuating that Mr. Hyman had been sham-ming illness and by publishing a bogus sketch of him. The same newspaper prints a more recent letter from the same correspondent, in which these passages appear:"When he (Mr. Hyman), arrived he had been practically a month without sleep, and he had reached the conclusion that life
was impossible unless the blessing of sleep could come to him in some manner. Coronado is on the beach line of the Pacific Ocean. The days are clear and warm. The surroundings are exquisite. These conditions worked wonders with the Canadian cabinet minister. From an hour's restless sleep out of 24 he began to sleep four, six, eight, and finally ten and twelve hours. The beneficial change of atmosphere made him drowsy, even in the middle of the day. He took short swims in the peaceful waters of the Pacific in the morning, ate a good luncheon and took a long nap in the afternoon.""This routine Mr. Hyman maintained until about six days ago. Then for some, perhaps, unaccountable
reason, insomnia returned to rack his nerves again. For the past few days he has obtained some sleep, but not enough.""Unquestionably, Mr. Hyman has been an exceedingly sick man. His nerves were worn out, and his whole nervous system stretched to a hazardous point. But it is just as certain that he is now on the sure road
to recovery, if he continues to gain
as he has done during his stay here.
His cheek is deeply tanned and his complexion is glowing. His eyes are clear, his manner alert, and his voice firm, with the exception of a slight nervousness of speech, which still lingers."Mr. Hyman's friends in the city who saw him just before his departure for the south, know that he was in a serious condition, and have been indignant at the unfeeling and unfounded assertions by some of his political opponents that the plea of illness was a pretence. The evidence of the correspondent of the Montreal Star, a Conservative journal, should put an end to discussion on this point. Equally unjust was the suggestion that the informality of Mr. Hyman's resignation was intentional. The privileges and elections committee strangled it with red tape, but the matter will be rectified by Mr. Hyman when he is able to return home.With 6,000 miles of railway under construction this year, there should be no idle men in Canada.Expert Maury's report shows water, water, everywhere. Are we not to have a drop for the streets?The British Government has shelved
the project for a tunnel under the English Channel, probably because there was no precedent for it.The imminence of further trouble in the coal mines of the Canadian West shows that the Government was wise
in pushing through its industrial disputes bill.The opening of the Transvaal Legislature was also the opening of a new chapter in the history of the empire. It is to be hoped the Boers have also turned over a new leaf.A German critic calls the English women beautiful dolls. The sly flatterer! If he had invested them with all the graces, except beauty they would never have forgiven him.Sir Wilfrid Laurier was nearly killed by kindness during his last tour of the British Isles. The report that banquets are being arranged for him
throughout the United Kingdom may give him an anticipatory relapse.The Grand Trunk loses a great man in Mr. F. H. McGuigan. His career has been one of the romances of railroad life. To be singled out by Charles M. Hays and later by James J. Hill as next in authority to each of these giants, is a long step for one who began as a trackman.

UNRELIABLE.

[Exchange.]
Misses—Why don't you tell the eggs?
Cook—Sure, I've no clock in the kitchen
to go by.
Misses—Oh, yes, you have.
Cook—What good is it? It's ten minutes
fast.

UNEQUAL DIVISION.

[Somerville Journal.]
Mrs. Watkins—If you are unhappy with your husband, why don't you separate?
Mrs. Wylkyns—Because his plan of dividing assets isn't fair. He wants to take all the bonds and real estate and give me all the children.

LOG-ROLLING.

[Toronto Star.]
The Minister of Education may have meddled in the matter of awarding of saloon licenses, but Pyne is his name, and Pyne has always been more or less connected with log-rolling.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

[New York Press.]
People are awful rich when they aren't afraid to go to a wedding in a street car.
A good way to make the furnace burn
well is to have a warm spell of weather.
The best way for a woman to preserveher ideals about a man is not to marry him.
Money is a very useful thing not to have
in your pocket when anybody tries to borrow from you.
A woman would rather have her husband lie about how he likes to go to church and not do it than to go and admit the truth.

ETIQUETTE.

[Fodder Weekly.]
An assumed critic on etiquette says an invitation to dine should be accepted the same day. Any chump knows that much.
We'd have an answer in the postoffice
within ten minutes.

CRISIS AT THE COAST.

[Montreal Gazette.]
The women of British Columbia have approached the Provincial Government with the suggestion that it secure the repeal of the $500 head tax on Chinamen employed as domestic servants. In consequence of the scarcity created by the tax
a Chinese domestic now costs as much per week as was commonly paid a month in the halcyon days of free entry, and even at that the housewife who can retain the services of her Chinaman is in luck. Girls have been imported, but they get married on the first opportunity, and do not have to wait long for that. The ladies of British Columbia have apparently fallen heir
to a grievance with much endurance.

THE CANADIAN CLUB MOVEMENT.

[Toronto News.]
In its general trend the Canadian Club movement must have great social, political and national value. It is and will be powerful in fashioning our national temper and developing our national spirit, and influential in determining the character of our people, in encouraging a liberal and tolerant disposition and in steadying public judgment.

MADE A NOBLE EFFORT.

[Tit-Bits.]
"No," remarked a determined lady to an indignant cabman who had received his legal fare, "you cannot cheat me, my man. I haven't ridden in cabs for the last twenty-five years for nothing."
"Haven't you?" replied the cabman,
bitterly, gathering up the reins. "Well,
you've done your best!"

WHY HE DIDN'T KNOW HIM.

[Boston Herald.]
An unpoetical business man was once introduced to Abbot Lawrence.
"Mr. Smith?" said Mr. Lawrence, with a musing air. "I don't think I know you,
do I?"
"Well, you ought to," was the reply.
"I've traded with you for twenty years."
"Always paid your bills, perhaps?"
"Of course."
"That accounts for it," said Mr. Lawrence. "I know the others."

OUT OF HIS TURN.

[Cleveland Plaindealer.]
"May I ask your father for your hand
tonight, Miss Ketchum?"
"Can't you wait until tomorrow night, George? I think Charlie Chumpley is going to ask him tonight."

AMBIGUOUS.

[Catholic Standard and Times.]
"Yes," said the would-be author. "The editor sent my manuscript back, but he inclosed a nice note, saying the rejection of the manuscript 'did not necessarily imply lack of literary merit.'"
"Oh, I guess he didn't read it, then,"
said his friend.

UNCLE EBEN.

[Washington Star.]
"I admire a man," said Uncle Eben,
"that keeps hoping for the best. But I don't like to see him sit down an' call
it a day's work."

HIS REPUTATION.

[Cleveland Leader.]
"I never talk of things I don't understand."
"You ought to have a great reputation."
"For discretion?"
"No, for silence."

A REGULAR PATRON.

[Fliegende Blätter.]
"Hello, Rummel, I hear your watch has been stolen?"
"Yes, but the thief has already been arrested. Only fancy, the stupid fellow took it to the pawnshop! There it was at once recognized as mine, and the thief
was locked up."

GOOD FOR THE HAIR.

[Exchange.]
Borely (at 11:30 p.m.)—Yes, my hair is getting quite thin. Is there anything you could advise me to put on it, Miss Smart?
Miss Smart (stifling a yawn)—You might put your hat on it, Mr. Borely.

GUARDING HIS FEELINGS.

[Pick-Me-Up.]
Father—Elmly, what in the name of mercy's become o' them boots o' mine?
Daughter—I hid 'em last night, pa. That new beau o' mine was here, an' I wasn't runnin' no chances o' him havin' his feel-in's hurt.

NEVER.

[Yonkers Statesman.]
Church—Do you suppose they'll ever have women on the police force?
Gotham—Never; couldn't possibly get 'em
to appear as plain clothes women.

STRANGE BEVERAGE.

[Chicago Record Herald.]
"It seems to me," said Mrs. Oldcastle,
"that Dr. Fourtly indulges a good deal in hyperbole."
"I've been thinkin' that same thing," replied her hostess. "Land sakes, I should think that a man with as much sense as him would leave these French drinks alone."

HARRY'S PROGRESS.

[Chums.]
Mrs. Harris (looking up from a letter)—
I'm so glad we sent Harry to a boarding school. He says he is already considered one of the best scholars.
Mr. Harris—Let me see that letter. Why,
that isn't "scholars"; it's "scullers."

IN THE ADIRONDACKS.

[Harper's Bazar.]
Cholly—Did you get the deer?
Algy—Er—no; I mistook it for a hat-
rack.

CROSS-QUESTIONED.

[Denver Post.]
"Mamma, what made you marry papa?"
"Now, daughter, stop trying to tease
mamma."

SPEAK THROUGH THE EAR PIECE

"I had an experience at the telephone
the other night," said a Bell telephone man recently, "which will prove interesting to telephone users in general.
When I called up Central I found that while I could hear all right I couldn't make myself heard. Something was the matter with the transmitter. Now this was where my experience as a telephone man served me well. Nine times out of ten the subscriber—if the matter was pressing—would run over
to a neighbor's and use his telephone.
All I did was to take the receiver from my ear and use it to speak through.
I told the girl at the Central that my telephone was out of order and that I was using the receiver. I got the connection all right and managed to make myself understood.""The receiver being not merely a part of the telephone, useful only to hear through, as most people suppose,
but a telephone in itself. I saved myself a good deal of time and trouble."

TREES A BURIED TREASURE.

Piratic hoards of Spanish doubloons are not the only buried wealth one may seek with spade and pick. A wonderful relic of the past has just been brought to light in Peterborough, England, in the discovery of a buried forest.At a depth of seven feet have been found a number of oak trees which have been covered for some 2,000 years. Most of the trees are almost perfect in condition, and are being sold to furniture manufacturers and others.Altogether about 80 trees have been raised

Nervous Women

Their Sufferings Are Usually Due to Female Disorders Perhaps Unsuspected.

A MEDICINE THAT CURES

Miss L. J. Stowell

Can we dispute the well-known fact that Canadian women are nervous?

How often do we hear the expression, "I am so nervous, it seems as if I should fly," or, "Don't speak to me." Little things annoy you and make you irritable; you can't sleep, you are unable to quietly and calmly perform your daily tasks or care for your children.

The relation of the nerves and generative organs in women is so close that nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous debility, the blues, sleeplessness and nervous irritability arise from some derangement of the organism which makes her a woman. Fits of depression or restlessness and irritability. Spirits easily affected, so that one minute she laughs, the next minute weeps. Pain in the abdominal region and between the shoulders; loss of voice; nervous dyspepsia; a tendency to cry at the least provocation—all this points to nervous prostration.

Nothing will relieve this distressing condition and prevent months of prostration and suffering so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Miss Lelah Stowell, of 177 Wellington St., Kingston, Ont., writes:

"Your Medicine is indeed a Godsend to suffering women, and I only wish that they all knew what it can do for them and there would be no need of their dragging out miserable lives in agony. I suffered for years with bearing-down pains, extreme nervousness and excruciating headaches, but a few bottles of your vegetable Compound made life look new and promising to me. I am light and happy and I do not know what sickness is, and I have enjoyed the best of health now for over four years. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has sent sunshine into thousands of homes and hearts."

Will not the volumes of letters from Women made strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound convince all women of its virtues? Surely you cannot wish to remain sick and weak and discouraged, exhausted each day, when you can be as easily cured as other women.

Out of the Darkness

Still it was looking its best this evening. There was plenty of sunshine. Some church bells were pealing. The air was blowing freshly from the sea. An itinerant band of music had struck up. Knots of gayly-dressed people lingered on the sea wall or at breezy corners. Now and then, down some side street, Rotha could catch a glimpse of yellow sands—of a sea intensely blue; now and then there was a sudden sense of salt freshness, faint sea-weedy smells, a slow, ripple, and a pause, and then the low musical rush of a breaking wave—some restless pulse of Rotha's heart beat more quickly when she heard that. Down past the grammar school and the rows of low windowed houses; past the church, with its lich gate, with the Leatham Hills, and the flickering fires smoking luridly in the distance; behind it, down past the schoolhouse and the sexton's; and there were the grass hillocks and the long sandy sweep, the whole grand curve of the bay, with Welburn lying westward.

Rotha uttered a little cry of pleasure at that sight. How still and calm it all looked! What blue distances, what masses of black uncovered rocks; how lurid those tongues of murky flame looked from those distant furnaces, and how softly the purple line of hills cut against the sunset sky. They had passed a few white-washed cottages, and a gray-looking house or two. By and by they came to a bridge over a disused little railroad, and nearly opposite another gray house, a little larger and more substantial than the others; beyond this were some stubble fields, a suspicion of distant factories, a tract of barren land, intersecting railroads, a sandy hillocks in profusion, with a range of rabbit warrens below.

Rotha knew this was Bryn almost before they stopped. As she walked almost relieved at the want of pretentiousness about the whole place. Bryn was an old-fashioned two-story house, built of gray stone, which gave it a weather-beaten aspect. Just now its many cracks and stains were hidden under a wealth of greenery and climbing roses, which festooned the bay-windows and crept in luxuriant confusion over the stone porch; long trails of Virginia creeper covered up the gray baldness and made old age beautiful.

The front door stood open. Rotha had just time to catch a glimpse of a long dusky hall, with a wide shallow staircase, and glass doors opening on to a pleasant lawn, before a woman with a shrewd sensible face came from behind some swinging doors with two comely-looking country lasses behind her.

"Now Prudence, now Emma, here's the new mistress. Come, look alive, girls! Where's your manners? I am sure, Miss Maturin, we all bid you welcome, kindly to your new home," continued Mrs. Farebrother, as she dropped one hurried courtesy after another, in dire perplexity as to which the new mistress really was. She was fixing on Mrs. Carruthers in her mind when Miss Maturin quietly stepped forward.

"This is my friend, Mrs. Carruthers, Hannah, who is to come and live with me. I am Miss Maturin. I am sure you mean to welcome us very kindly. I have heard so much of you and of Peter," continued the young girl, holding out her hand to each; "you have been such faithful servants and friends to my benefactress—I have heard her so often talk of you both—that I feel as though I know you already." And then, as Hannah held her apron to her eyes, she turned round with a kind word and a smile to the two shy damsels behind.

"I'll never think that silks and satins make a lady again," said Peter, when he sat down beside the hearth that evening, when all the bustle of the arrival was over. "I was thinking to myself at the station how that young looking creature in the black stuff gown can't be our Miss Maturin—why, our Betsy was a sight smarter than her!—when she up and spoke to me. 'Peter,' says she, quite clip-like, and like a Londoner, 'Peter,' says she, 'just look after them boxes while I stay here! Why, you might have knocked me all of a heap all the time the porter was loading his truck. I kept saying, 'That young woman in the black gown over our Miss Maturin!' over and over again, till a blockhead as I was but I saw when she put those long fingers of hers in my hand, with never a ring on them—did you mind that, Hannah?—and spoke so prettily, not a bit pert or proud for all her grand fortune, I just said to myself, 'That there young woman is the right sort after all.'"

"Yes, she is the right sort," returned Mrs. Farebrother, thoughtfully regarding a tin she was polishing, and which was already bright enough to reflect her hard featured Scotch face. "I am not for denying that, Peter; but all this evening I can't get it out of my mind that the poor lassie has a sore heart of it. Her eyes have too sorrowful a look in them to be quite natural to such a young creature. It made me dour to look at her."

"The other one is a widow, I've heard say," suggested Peter, who was looking at a widow, not, she's no beauty to look at," returned Mrs. Farebrother, with whom Meg's homely face and ways had found no favor. "If Miss Maturin wanted a dragon to 'keep her she needn't have gone further and faster worse. She is the Welshwoman by her looks, if ever I have seen one. Well, as I was saying, Peter, I am sure there is something lying heavy on that young creature. When I had given her the keys, and said something suitable of course, I was for showing them the house directly. She wanted to put it off a bit; but Mrs. Carruthers said, very sensible, 'Better get it over; you will feel more settled here,' says she. And so after that she made no more ado. Well, the rooms are good and handsome ones. But law! the use of Fray and me beeswaxing and polishing and fretting ourselves for the last three weeks? She only just looked round them in a tired sort of way, as much as to say, 'I've seen you all before; and I don't want to look at you again!'" The Welshwoman kept nudging her. "What a pretty room, Rotha," she kept saying. "What nice feather beds, Mrs. Farebrother. Look here, my dear, what a view from your dressing-room window. But, bless you, she wouldn't take the hint. But when I threw open the plate and jewel case, and showed her that pile of yellow lace, and the plate and jewel case, 'Don't show me all that, Hannah,' she says very quick and sharp, and with a kind of shudder, 'I don't like to see it. So this is where she slept, poor thing!'" and she went up to the bed and parted the pillow in such a pitiful way. "I think she would have liked to have laid her poor head again there, Meg," she said so soft and sad. Well, I didn't like to hear her go on like that; so I said without thinking, 'Yes, this was her favorite room, poor lady. That one next to it was Mr. Robert's. Yes, she was that fond of him that she could not bear him to be far from her. Bless your heart, I could have bitten my tongue out before I'd have made such a speech. She seems to be a poor sickly-looking body at the best. But that sort of color she has like waxwork. So that was his room?' she said, with such a sigh. 'See, it was just within her own; she always treated him as though he were her own son. You are very right, Hannah, to have left it just as it was,' she went on. 'It must never be touched—never. Someday, when he is not here to see it, or to hear of it, it will please him to think we have left his old room just as it was.' And as she closed the door gently I could see her eyes were full of tears. Was it not odd, Peter, and they such strangers to each other?"

"Odd? Not a bit. We shall see stranger things than that before we've done, missis. What's more natural than that a young woman, kindhearted, with not a bit of pride about her, should take on and pity the poor fellow? Of course it would be against nature not to be pleased with her fine fortune. But all the same, she won't forget them that's lost it." And Peter administered a brisk kick to the coals with an energy that made his wife jump.

"Miss Nettie says that there is some ill-blood in Mr. Robert's mind about her. She couldn't get a word out of the parson nor his wife neither. I don't think they ought to make things difficult for her because the old missis chose to leave her her money. Every-one knows how badly Mr. Robert behaved; but the stubborn neck shall have a fall," the Solomon says.

But how much further Hannah would have got in her quotation was not evident, as at that moment the upstairs bell rung.

Mrs. Farebrother's homely account had not been exaggerated. Meg had been deeply pained for the good woman's disappointment when he saw the weary indifference with which Rotha viewed her new possessions; her simple praises and hints had all been thrown away. Rotha could see nothing but the shadowy Nemesis of her fate lurking in the corners of the room. The jingling of the household keys filled her with a sharp pain and dread. While Hannah opened the presses of sweet-smelling linen, or pointed out the three-cornered cupboard, where the best purple and gold china was kept, she showed her serious face of delicate preserves, Rotha's thoughts were far away in the darkened inn-chamber. Again she was wiping the death-sweat from the wrinkled brow. She could feel the touch of the clammy fingers clutching her so desperately yet powerless to keep their hold. She could see the vivid lips parting slowly as the words dropped from them one by one, "Robert, remember it is all for Robert." Good heavens! Who was she that she should be enriched with another man's goods?

Meg noticed that the passages were two from room to room. It might have been that she was dazed from her long journey; it was strange how dreamlike and misty were her first impressions of her new home; but in a vague unreal way she saw it all.

INSURANCE REPORT CALLED UNBRITISH

Mr. T. B. Macaulay Criticises
Recommendations of the Royal Commission.

Montreal, Que., March 21.—In an interview with Mr. T. B. Macaulay, he was asked by the Montreal Witness for his views as to the report of the royal insurance commission. Mr. Macaulay holds a very high place among the actuaries of the world, having been president of the American Institute and vice-president of the world's congresses held at Paris and Berlin respectively. Mr. Macaulay, in his reply, said:

Those of us who have been hoping for a distinctively Canadian insurance law will look in vain for it in the recommendations of the commission. In banking matters Canadians have little to learn from the United States. We have developed a Canadian bank act and a Canadian banking system that are more nearly a model, as we in Canada believe, than any others in the world. It is possible for us to make our insurance law equally perfect; but this will not be done by simply following an untried United States experiment at legislation and ignoring Canadian conditions and the opinions of Canadian managers. With the thought of a commission on banking that would recommend that our Canadian banking act be amended by adding a large number of sections taken almost word for word from an American act, and spliced into ours and that the views of Canadian bankers should be ignored? Yet that is what our Canadian commission recommends should be done with our insurance act. They propose to add to the existing Canadian act most of the distinctive features of the Armstrong law of New York, adopting apparently even the exact wording to the last letter. The Armstrong law is not only American. It is an act which was pushed through the New York Legislature under the lash of the yellow journals, and is already discredited by the sober second thought of its own land. Its leading provisions have been repudiated. I believe, every legislative commission which has dealt with the subject in the United States, including the great convention of governors, attorneys-general and insurance commissioners of all the states, called by President Roosevelt, have repudiated the Armstrong commission employed as their sole actuarial adviser the actuary of the Armstrong committee, explain their recommendations?

The commissioners are men of the highest character, whose intentions were unquestionably of the best. For probing into the affairs of the companies the commission was an unequalled success. Life assurance is, however, a vast subject. It is immensely more intricate and difficult than banking. To expect three gentlemen, without any experience in the business, to frame a new code of laws for it is to expect too much, no matter how estimable and well-intentioned they may be. It is unreasonable. They simply must take expert advice, and if they are confined to one adviser they are bound to be immensely influenced by that adviser. I must now leave his views may be. Had the commissioners employed any prominent British actuary their report would unquestionably have been very different. Or they could have followed the recommendations of the United Canadian managers. Those managers, however, could speak but once and in public while the American adviser had the commissioners' ears at all times. Besides, there was the Armstrong report before them as a text book. The result we have before us.

Some of the reasons on which the commissioners differ from the Armstrong committee are worth noting. For example, the New York law eliminates stocks from the field of investment while our commissioners would eliminate all stocks—except bank stocks with their denominated liability. Then, too, the Armstrong committee penalized rebating by making it criminal to either give or receive a rebate; our commissioners would provide that any person may bring suit against any director or manager of a company and if he can show that any agent of that company has given a rebate, with or without the approval or knowledge of the director or manager, a fine of a thousand dollars can be collected from such director or manager, one-half of the amount to go to the person bringing the action. They further recommend that any agreement of the company to indemnify a director be void. Are such provisions evidences of wisdom?

The united Canadian managers are keenly desirous of making our insurance law just as perfect in its way as our banking law, and it can be done. With this object they held between fifteen and twenty lengthy sessions and finally agreed unanimously on a number of very important and very valuable recommendations. Some of the suggestions which were thus originated by the Canadian managers have met with such approval in the United States that they are likely to be incorporated in the laws of a number of states. Our own commissioners, however, have brushed most of them aside in favor of the Armstrong provisions. There were points of vital importance covered by our recommendations in regard to which the Armstrong report was silent. So far as my hasty examination has gone the report of our commissioners in regard to these points is also silent.

The commissioners eulogize the British system of "freedom and publicity," but they proceed to frame the most distinctively British legislation that can be imagined, and to deprive the companies of almost every vestige of freedom. We, of course, should not condemn a thing because it is American any more than we should adopt it because it is British. The American system of regulation and restriction has, however, brought terrible disasters and immense loss to American policy-holders, while the British system has worked marvellously well. We want the best, whether it be British or American, and it is only by working out the principles that we can hope to work out something distinctly Canadian and better than either.

BIG STICK FOR CENTRAL AMERICA

United States and Mexico Likely To Join Hands To Stop
the War.

Washington, March 21.—Bluejackets and marines have been landed from at Trujillo and Celba, and probably at Puerto Cortez, Honduras, to protect American interests in those ports. Advice to this effect were received today at the navy department from Com. to Lord E. of the Marietta, and they were at once transmitted to the state department. As yet no word has been received as to whether forces have been landed at Central American ports on the Pacific coast side, but undoubtedly this step will be taken if the American interests are considered in danger.

The navy department feels that the action taken by Commander Fullam brings the situation completely in hand, so far as the safeguarding of trade interests is concerned. It is also regarded here as a diplomatic move that will prevent any international complications growing out of the policy of the United States, not to permit European demonstrations in Central American or South American waters.

Joint intervention by Mexico and the United States in the war which threatens to involve all Central America is now regarded probable by diplomats. Tenders of good offices by the two governments have not been heeded by Nicaragua, Honduras and Salvador, and it has been suggested to the state department that Mexico and the United States send plenipotentiaries to the warring countries to investigate the causes of the present war and order an immediate cessation of hostilities.

Secretary of State Root and Mr. Creel, the Mexican ambassador, have conferred frequently since the outbreak of war, and Latin-American diplomats would not be surprised by the announcement that Mexico and the United States have decided that the war must cease. In fact, such a settlement would be highly satisfactory to many of the South American representatives, who feel that their countries suffer from the warlike reputation of Central American countries.

The co-operation of Mexico with the United States in restoring peace in Central America would disarm criticism of the United States, and show that this country has no thought of acquiring any territory of Latin-American republics.

If you get along with people you do not like, your friends think you have tact and your enemies accuse you of being "smooth."

C. B. SIDETRACKS TUNNEL SCHEME

Both English Parties Against Boring Beneath English Channel.

London, March 21.—The revived project of tunneling the English Channel received its deathblow, at least for a long time to come, by the announcement of the Government's well considered decision against the enterprise in Parliament today.

Premier Campbell-Bannerman in the House of Commons, and the Earl of Crewe, lord president of the council, in the House of Lords, made identical announcements to this effect, which were approved by Mr. Balfour, the Opposition leader in the Lower House.

It is understood that the bill will now be withdrawn.

The Premier, in announcing his decision, said: "If the military dangers could be completely guarded against, there would be a feeling of insecurity leading to constant demands for increased naval and military expenditure, and creating a feeling of alarm injurious to the country's commercial and political interest, which would not be compensated for by the advantages of the tunnel."

WHY M'GUIGAN LEAVES THE G.T.R.

Some Say He Did Not Get Proper
Recognition—His Friends Surprised.

Montreal, March 21.—The resignation of Mr. F. H. McGuigan from the Grand Trunk, to take a position on the Great Northern, does not seem to be quite as big a surprise to the officials of other railways as it was to his fellow-officials of the Grand Trunk. In local railway circles it has long been felt that the Grand Trunk were slow in recognizing Mr. McGuigan, mainly because he did not seem to have as close personal relations with Mr. Hays as some of the other officials. After the resignation of F. W. Morse, a third vice-president of the Grand Trunk, to become general manager of the Grand Trunk Pacific, it was generally believed that Mr. McGuigan would at once have been granted the position. Instead, Mr. Fitzhugh was brought in from the Central Vermont to be third vice-president, and the new office of fourth vice-president was created and given to Mr. McGuigan. In railway circles it was thought the appointment should have been the other way about.

Mr. McGuigan is regarded as a railway man who stands right on his feet and he gained promotion because the results of his work have shown he deserved it.

Only yesterday Mr. W. E. Davis, the passenger manager, who is a close personal friend of Mr. McGuigan, when asked regarding the report that Mr. McGuigan intended to resign, expressed the opinion that it could not possibly be so. He always saw a great deal of Mr. McGuigan in private life and he thought he would know if he had any such intention. Mr. R. S. Logan, assistant to the general manager, expressed the opinion that the report could not be correct, because if Mr. McGuigan intended leaving on April 1, his resignation would have been before now. It is the opinion that Mr. McGuigan had discussed his proposed plans with Mr. Hays before the latter left for England, and it was only later on that the Great Northern interest expressed the desire that Mr. McGuigan should come as soon as possible.

Leading officials of the Grand Trunk still persist in stating that they do not believe that Manager McGuigan has resigned. A telegram was sent to Mr. McGuigan this morning by Mr. Logan but up to 1 o'clock no reply had been received.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"SERGEANT KITTY" TONIGHT.
Pretty music, clever comedy, picturesque characters and splendid equipment of "Sergeant Kitty" make it the brightest and most original comic opera. Helen Byron is a dainty and coquettish charmer that leaves no heart in her audience unwon. The comedians, James McElhearn and Tom Hadaway, keep everyone bubbling with laughter. Taken as a whole, "Sergeant Kitty" is a masterpiece of French army life, and involves the love affairs of three couples. Bewitching Kitty, as played by Helen Byron with her wit and smiles; every song she sings is a gem. Taken as a whole, "Sergeant Kitty" is offered as being in every way a most thoroughly satisfying production.

"KERRY GOW" SATURDAY.
"Kerry Gow" is typically Irish. The story itself is worth anyone's attention, but Mr. Doone has entire the play with the sweetest touches of nature, and dressed all with the truest bits of Irish scenery. The Drew farm is a delightful country picture, and the smithy offers every opportunity for naturalness, which opportunities are taken advantage of by the entire company. Mr. Doone and his helper make music on the anvil while beating red-hot iron into horseshoes, and the chatter and singing and dancing are so true to life that one forgets himself and believes that Mr. Doone has taken him into his own little shop. Then the race is made exciting by the fact that the news is carried to the

SENSIBLE SUGGESTIONS FOR THE TREATMENT OF CONSUMPTION

Sleep alone. Use no hangings, upholstered furniture or useless floor coverings in your sleeping room. Whitewashed or painted walls are preferable to those covered with wall paper.

Expose the bed freely to the outside air when not occupied, and sleep with the windows open. Spend as much time as possible in the open air, and use the bedroom only at night.

Do not be afraid of cold weather as long as the body is protected, and guard against sudden changes in the weather and taking cold.

Take plenty of nourishing food. Consumptives often need more nutriment than they are inclined to take. Milk, eggs and fatty food are especially valuable when they can be assimilated.

There is no known medicine that can cure consumption. Medicine for the relief of coughs and colds, which contain opiates, should be avoided. A simple, effective and inexpensive preparation that is said to break up a cold in twenty-four hours, and cure any cough that is curable, the ingredients for which can be secured from any good druggist, is advised by a noted authority on lung trouble as follows: Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), one-half ounce; Glycerine, two ounces; good Whisky, a half pint; mix well in a bottle and take in teaspoon doses every four hours.

Great care should be exercised to use only pure ingredients, and to this end it is better to purchase each separately and mix them at home. There are many rank imitations of Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) put out under similar names, and to resemble it in appearance. These, however, will not have the desired effect, and are almost certain to create nausea. Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) is put up for dispensing only, in half-ounce vials, each securely sealed in a round wooden case, with engraved wrapper, showing the name—Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), prepared only by Leach Chemical Company, Windsor, Ont.—plainly printed thereon.

stage by carrier pigeons. "Kerry Gow" is natural, it is beautiful. Mr. Doone will be at the Grand tomorrow matinee and night.

FIRST TIME HERE.
Thomas E. Shea will play a week's engagement at the Grand next week when he will present his former successes together with several new plays. Mr. Shea should prove a great favorite here, and is sure to please and make a host of friends during his limited engagement. "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" is one of the features of Mr. Shea's repertoire. Mr. Shea was one of the first actors to essay this role. Nature has fitted Mr. Shea for just such roles in giving him a fine resonant voice and a fine presence.

A CLEVER TRIO.
Wherever Mme. Le Grand Reed has appeared she has received from the musical critics the highest praise that an artist could desire. She will be welcomed to London on Thursday evening, April 4, by all music-lovers in our city. Associated with Mme. Reed in her recital will be two great artists. Mr. Kelly Cole, the brilliant young tenor, has won renown such as few artists enjoy. Mr. Cole is an artist of rare ability, and added to his natural accomplishments, he is intelligent in his interpretation, and just a dash of humor that makes his recital entertaining throughout. Mrs. Ethel Cave Cole, pianist, is an artist that has gained world-wide reputation and received from the musical critics the highest praise.

An Angler's Elysium.
According to advertisements all summer resorts are alike. They are the best ever—but if fishing is better anywhere else than it is in "Georgian Bay" we do not know where it is. There is a greater variety of fish in this water than anywhere else, and they are always hungry. No one ever caught the fish in Georgian Bay, but those that have been caught there have been counted and eaten, and if you read the Government reports on fisheries, you know that Georgian Bay supplies more fish than any other equal body of water in the world. The only place you can afford to fish is where the fish are numerous, big, and delicious in flavor, and that place is Georgian Bay—so the fishermen say. Suppose you send for booklet, issued by Grand Trunk Railway System, free, telling about the home of the bass, pickerel, pike and the noble trout family. Address J. D. RICHEST FRENCHMAN DIES

Month After His Death the Extent of His Wealth is Not Known.

Paris, March 21.—M. Osiris, the richest man in France, had no idea of how much he was worth and the extent of his wealth is not even known now, a month after his death.

He had enough to enable him to leave valid bequests in substantial sums to every conceivable charity and goodly sums for half a score of art projects for the embellishing of Paris, Nancy, Bordeaux, and other cities of France, and still have $600,000 left for the Pasteur Institute.

Among the curious provisions of his will are a legacy for a monument to William Tell at Lucerne, Switzerland, together with a memorial chapel in that hero's honor, and a large bequest to the town of Nancy to pay the cost of moving the statue and put up there in commemoration of Joan of Arc to a more suitable site.

Have You Powers of Resistance?

Importance of Strong and Vigorous Vitality.

If you are subject to coughs, colds, chills, catarrh, bronchitis, pleurisy, pneumonia, loss of appetite, lack of proper assimilation of food, beware! These are but symptoms of very serious trouble. They are evidences of an absence of your powers of resistance against disease of the most insidious and fatal nature. These powers of resistance can be speedily restored, and these symptoms and diseases absolutely banished by the use of Psychine, that wonderful remedy which is revolutionizing the old theories regarding the curability of consumption and all its forerunners.

"My wife was under treatment for a most dangerously diseased condition of the larynx and weak heart. After having taken three bottles each of PSYCHINE and OXOMULSION she was perfectly restored."

"J. J. Rice, Red Deer, N. W. T."

Psychine, pronounced si-keen, is for sale at all drug stores or at Dr. Slocum's laboratory, 179 King street west, Toronto.

SOUTH SNAPSHOTS AT VARIOUS SPORTS

For several days past it has been known that a group of last year's lacrosse players were trying to get a team together and that a meeting for that purpose was to be held at the City Hotel last night. Result? A banker's half-dozen of enthusiasts turned out to the gathering. The same inauspiciousness was apparent when the city hockey league was first advocated last fall. After the thing was started the bunch fell all over themselves to get into the fold. It seems as though the very parties who are always howling "poor sporting town," are generally absent when anything is to be started. If the local lacrosse fans want a team for the coming season they should take it upon themselves to be present on Monday night at the City Hotel, when another meeting will be held. Some of the boys present last night think it would be a good thing for the sport if they entered the C. L. A., which holds a meeting in Toronto next Friday night to receive entries. However, they would like to hear from the "fans," and urgently request a large turnout on Monday. Among those of last year's enthusiasts and players conspicuous by their absence last night were: Billy Amos, Tom Carruthers, A. Cowan, C. Legg, W. Callahan, C. Binks, Mel Brock, Kenneth Casselman, W. MacGregor, J. Purdy, and Archie McMahon. Each one of the parties mentioned and all others that have the interests of the sport at heart are urged to attend the next meeting.

"If baseball on Sunday is to be legalized," said the Rev. Warren H. Wilson, a Brooklyn clergyman, recently, "let us have good, honest, straight-out, professional ball, played by a competent club, under capable direction, and under official control; not the so-called semi-professional ball, which is a menace to the peace of the community and to land values in growing parts of the city. Let it be of the kind that we get every other day of the week. There is some order maintained at a regular professional game."

Evidently the reverend gentleman who made the above remarks doesn't know much about big league baseball. Fancy the New York Giants keeping orderly while playing with Pittsburgh, Chicago or even St. Louis. If you want the orderly kind you'll have to look elsewhere than in the big leagues. This does not mean that all major league contests border on the rowdy order, but that the big fellows are no better than the semi-pros, and not as good as regards field conduct as many amateur clubs.

Abbie Johnson, a London boy, has signed for the coming season with the Portsmouth team, of the Virginia League. In the days of the London Alerts, Abbie had a habit of delighting the fans by his clever work on second base, at Tecumseh Park, and it was with regret that he left London to go with the Buffalo nine. Later he was with Augusta, Me., Louisville, Ky., and Montreal. There are a few of Abbie's old playing mates still in London, including Tom Dandy, Billy Hiscott, Billy Hind, and Billy Ball, but none of them are playing the game.

Billy Amos, the crack long distance runner, who has been ill for some time, is rapidly getting into good trim again and has intimated that, to show that he is still in the ring, he is willing to meet Jack Follinsbee, the champion sprinter of the Meds, Crow Carruthers, champion of the Horton Club, and Vic Dike, the crack runner of the Seventh Regiment A. A., in a five-mile-relay race some time next month. Each of the three men will run 1-2-3 miles, while Amos covers the entire distance. It is the consensus of local opinion that Billy will have his hands full in such a match, but he feels confident that he can turn the trick without much trouble. It should be a good contest at all events.

STRATFORD WILL HAVE SENIOR TEAM

in the W. F. A.—Intermediate Team Also Likely—Association To Affiliate.

Stratford, March 21.—The Stratford Football Club has elected the following officers: Honorary president, Dr. S. B. Gray, re-elected; honorary vice-president, Wm. Preston; president, J. W. Ward, re-elected; vice-president, E. A. Rea, re-elected; secretary, G. Herringer; treasurer, Dr. Beattie; manager, E. Clark; finance committee, W. Osterberg, D. A. McLachlan, W. A. Adams, E. A. Rea; ground committee, T. Rose, G. Herringer, J. Sheddin, H. Magwood, G. Stratton; match committee, D. A. McLachlan, E. A. Rea, E. Clark. It was decided to enter a senior team in the W. F. A. series and an intermediate team if suitable grouping could be secured. A committee was appointed to look into the question of inclosed ground, as in the past the officers have had to trust to the pass-the-hat system on an open playground to cover their expenses. The club will oppose the movement to adopt the rule whereby amateurs and professionals may intermingle without endangering the amateur status of the former.

WILL AFFILIATE.
Toronto, March 21.—Dave Forsyth, of Berlin, the veteran of association football in Canada, writes President Thomas Browne, of the Ontario Association, that the W. F. A. will surely affiliate with the C. A. A. U. He cannot understand the practicability of mixing the amateurs with the pros, as some people suggest.

BOOKIES CASES WILL SOON BE SETTLED

Toronto, March 21.—Now that the supreme court has upheld the conviction registered by Magistrate Denison against Jake Saunders, one of the bookmakers, summoned for keeping a common gaming house at the Woodbine race track during the spring meet of 1906, the cases against the other men summoned at the same time will be shortly settled.

On June 5 the magistrate had before him twenty men, all charged with keeping a common gaming house at the race track. This was the result of informations laid by Staff Inspector Archibald.

J. S. Saunders, A. McDonald, Jerry Jones, Alex. Mitchell and John Sullivan were all fined $50 and costs or 30 days. Sam Blake was discharged, the case against him being withdrawn. The other men, Herbert Bailey, Pat Maylett, Frank Fenton, W. Walsh, W. Nawarky, A. M. Orpen, F. Slocum, R. J. Jones, William S. Scully, Ellison and G. McLeish were all remanded from June 5 to Oct. 15. From then there were other adjournments till Nov. 12, Nov. 19, Nov. 26, Feb. 23 and April 30. On this last date the names will once more appear on the police court calendar when the men

STONE'S STALWARTS LEAD THE LEAGUE

Win Two Games in the Liberal Series From Cooper's Colts at Hyman Hall.

Stone's Stalwarts won two games last night in the Liberal Club series at Hyman Hall from Cooper's Colts, and now lead the league. The games were very interesting, as usual, and some fair bowling was done. A good crowd followed the games.

Boy Cooper got the best single score, with 171 in his first effort. High average, however, went to Adams, who bowled well. He got 161 in each of his attempts. Donaghy bowled a steady game, as usual, taking second for average honors. Worrall was close behind Donaghy. Legg was in hard luck, but pulled off some beautiful shots. The score:

BOWLING.

GARRY HERMANN NEW PRESIDENT.

St. Louis, Mo., March 21.—The final session of the annual convention of the American Bowling Congress convened this afternoon. President D. H. Britson, of Indianapolis, came before the convention for re-election, but was defeated. His opponent was August Hermann, of Cincinnati, being the choice of the delegates.

Cincinnati was selected as the place for holding the next annual tournament. The vote stood: Cincinnati 114, St. Paul 59.

At Crescent rink the regular tournament programme of bowling by two-men teams began. Individual bowling and five-men team bowling took place tonight.

In the individual contests, H. Besen, of Omaha, scored 612 pins today, making the highest individual score so far during the present tournament.

LACROSSE.

HANOVER HAS GOOD TEAM.

Hanover, March 21.—Hanover expects to put a fairly strong intermediate team into the C. L. A. or a northern league, whichever offers the best grouping. Hermann, who will represent the club at the annual C. L. A. meeting in Toronto on Good Friday.

GILLESPIE WITHDRAWS.

Toronto, March 21.—Harry Gillespie, who was nominated for the presidency of the C. L. A., announces that he will not be a candidate for that office. He says that his time is too fully taken up with other matters. Secretary Hall received his withdrawal as a candidate today.

MITCHELL GETTING IN TRIM.

Mitchell, March 21.—The Mitchell lacrosse team has commenced to get into harness for the summer. At the organization the following officers were chosen: Patron, Mayor Skinner; honorary president, W. J. Thompson; president, W. E. Coppin; honorary vice-president, D. L. McKend; vice-president, F. A. May; managing committee, T. J. Ryan, F. Porterfield, L. Monson and N. G. Scherer; representatives to the C. L. A. annual meeting in Toronto on Good Friday are A. Goebel and R. Davidson. It was decided to name Mr. W. J. Thompson for a seat on the C. L. A. council. The team will enter the intermediate series.

GAME REVIVED IN GALT.

Galt, March 21.—The resuscitation of lacrosse in Galt was not unexpected. There is good and ample material here for a first-class team. Galt has always possessed that, but somehow or other last season the bottom fell out of the club and the sport went to pieces. Billy Anderson did his best to revive the national game, but even Billy's noble efforts were abortive, although one would fancy that, in view of this enthusiastic vocation he would be successful in any undertaking.

WILL OPPOSE A CHANGE.

Cornwall, March 21.—Cornwall Lacrosse Club will strongly oppose any attempt that may be made to do away with the two-year residence rule. It was the tourist business that figured most in the breakup of the C. L. A. senior series, and it is assumed it will assuredly break up the present N. L. U. Under a stringent residence rule last season the N. L. U. gave lacrosse lovers the best and most interesting programme in the history of the game.

Cornwall does not have to import players, and the residence rule cannot be made too stringent for Cornwall. Despite the fact that it was generally predicted that Cornwall could not stand professional lacrosse, last season was the most prosperous in the history of the local club.

SAYS WANDERERS ARE IN FAULT

Foran Will Not Allow Their Claim to First Match—Sick of His Position.

Ottawa, March 21.—Trustee Foran today said that he considered the Wanderers are in fault in connection with the Stanley Cup fiasco at Kenora. They had due notice of the dates fixed by the trustees, and should have either reached an agreement with the Kenora or at least signified their intention of playing on the date fixed by the trustees.

This they did not do, and it looks as if they desired to secure a snap decision.

The claim of the Wanderers for winning the first match by default will not be considered by Trustee Foran.

In support of his decision he emphasizes the fact that he had a list of names from which to appoint officials if the teams could not agree, and states he has never been called upon to make official appointments.

Under the circumstances, therefore, he thinks that the Wanderers have poor grounds on which to base their claims for the match.

Trustee Foran is heartily sick of the position as trustee of the new famous cup, and when he departs for England with the Capitals two weeks hence, he will relinquish the holding of the office without a particle of regret. He hopes to meet Mr. P. D. Ross across the pond and there he will lay before him the number of intricacies which have developed in the present situation, and ask him to make final decision, as it seems from the attitude of the clubs there will be no satisfactory solution on the ice, and Mr. Foran says definitely that he will resign the position at the earliest possible moment.

CRICKET.

GALT CLUB'S OFFICERS.

Galt, March 21.—The Galt Cricket Club has elected officers as follows: Honorary president, Hon. Jas. Young; honorary vice-president, C. J. Shurley; president, F. S. Jarvis; vice-president, R. O. McCulloch; secretary-treasurer, F. G. Light; executive committee, John F. Boyd, Herbert Bourne, E. C. Codling, English, W. Birks and Scherbaum.

SKATING.

NEW RINK ASSURED.

Toronto, March 21.—Manager Alex. Miln this morning received a wire from Mr. J. J. Palmer, instructing him to go ahead at once with the construction of a new arena ice rink on the Mutual street site. This settles all doubt as to whether the proposed rink would be built, and a magnificent new home for hockey, curling and skating in winter, and horse shows, conventions, and all classes of entertainment in the spring, summer and fall is assured.

HOCKEY.

WILL HONOR CHAMPIONS.

Stratford, March 21.—A public meeting of those interested in hockey was held in the board room of the city hall for the purpose of arranging some suitable recognition of the double victory and honor which the Stratford Hockey teams have brought to the city. There was a good turnout of citizens. It is proposed to hold a banquet in the city hall and make it self-sustaining. They hope to raise $1,000 by purely voluntary subscriptions through the newspapers. Already $250 has been donated. Gold watches are billed for the juniors.

DUKE DARROCH GOES WEST.

Toronto, March 21.—President D. L. Darroch, of the O. H. A., is in town on his way from Collingwood to the Northwest. He leaves for his new center of business activity on Friday of this week. He will not be a candidate for office next year.

HAD THIRTY-TWO BOILS AT ONE TIME

Two Bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters Cured Him.

Imperfect organic action makes bad blood, so, too, bad blood, in turn, makes imperfect action of every bodily organ. If the blood becomes impure, poisoned or contaminated in any way from constipation, biliousness or any other cause, some especially weak organ must soon become diseased thereby, or the whole system may suffer in consequence.

Pimples, boils, blotches, ulcers, festering sores, abscesses, tumors, rashes or some serious and perhaps incurable blood disease may result. There is no medicine on the market to-day to equal the old and well-known remedy,

BURDOCK-BLOOD BITTERS for all cases of bad blood.

Mr. Ernest B. Tupper, Round Hill, N.S., says: "I think Burdock Blood Bitters a great medicine for boils. I had them so bad I could not work. I had thirty-two on my back at one time. I used only two bottles of B.B.B. and they completely cured me. I cannot recommend it too highly." Price $1.00 per bottle or 6 bottles for $5.00.

These dates have been allotted by the Kentucky racing commission. The decision to hold a running meeting is believed to be the result of an agreement between the Blue Grass Fair people and James B. Haggin, of New York, by which they have agreed that races will be held at the running track here from April 27 to May 4. Harry Brown, of Pittsburgh,

A large coconut tree yields as many as a hundred nuts a year. Natives use the nuts for dishes as well as for food. The use of typewriters is becoming general in Spain. The German machines are being actively pushed, but the American, though more expensive, are preferred.

No Good Flour Can Be Made

EASILY. It takes time, trouble and the closest attention to the minutest detail of every milling process, to say nothing of adding considerably to the cost of production, to make a good flour.

You know you must watch your bread carefully during every process, from the mixing to the baking, but however close the attention you may give it your trouble will be wasted, unless you are using a flour which has been made with corresponding care.

No brands on the market today are made more carefully than our "FIVE ROSES" and "HARVEST QUEEN." The grain itself is cleansed by the newest and most perfect machinery before being ground, and the flour is sifted and tested by experts at every stage of the milling in order to insure the nearest approach to perfection it is possible to obtain by modern methods.

If you use these brands and give corresponding attention to the details of your baking, you will have as a result bread which cannot be equaled for quality and nourishing value.

tention to those sections and Hon. Mr. Hanna remarked that good reason would have to be shown before it would be altered. These statements were made by the minister in reply to Mr. McDougall's objection to section 157, which empowers the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council to issue letters patent in terms and conditions different from those applied for.

Taking the Toronto Electric Light Company as an example, Hon. Mr. Hanna said that the concern wished to issue $100,000 worth of stock when its shares were selling at 150. The company refused to accept any condition as to the manner of floating their new securities. Now, why, he asked, should not the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council enjoy the same powers as the House in dealing with such a case.

WALL PAPER

A snap shot of the new styles in Wall Papers shows that for drawing-rooms and parlors there is nothing daintier, richer or more effective, than Eltonbury's silk fibers. The tints are exquisite.

For dens, dining-rooms and halls, see the new matting, linens and grass effects suitable for the two-thirds treatment.

Bedroom papers are almost without exception pretty floral designs. Landscape friezes are among the newest things, and Forest Tapestries are, too.

Cork-faced dining-room or office Papers are a novelty that everyone fancies.

ABOLISHES PRESIDENCY.

The ladies of the London Golf Club met Wednesday and elected committee for the coming season. The office President was also the official visit to St. David's Lodge of the deputy grand master of the London district, R. W. Bro. O'Neill, of Thamesford, and it witnessed the largest turnout of brethren ever seen in the Railroad City. Over 300 were present, representatives being in attendance from 20 lodges, including those of London, Port Stanley, Fingal, Belmont, Aylmer, Lawrence Station, Glenora and Thamesford.

During the evening the officers of St. David's Lodge, of which Dr. Honsinger is the worshipful master, exemplified the first degree. The work was put on in a faultless manner. In fact, the district deputy, in complimenting the lodge, said the work was possibly the best he had yet seen on his official rounds.

At the conclusion of the lodge, the visiting brethren were entertained at a banquet. Among the guests of the evening were R. W. Bro. Henry Rowe, Dr. Guest and S. Dubber, of St. Thomas, and J. A. Tancock and E. T. Essery, of this city, past deputy grand masters of the London district.

Over 50 members of the eight Masonic lodges went to St. Thomas last night, and were the guests of St. David's Lodge, No. 302, of that place. The occasion was also the official visit to St. David's Lodge of the deputy grand master of the London district, R. W. Bro. REMARKABLE METHODS OF GERMAN PRINCES TO KEEP FOOTING IN SOCIETY.

Berlin, March 21.—German noblemen are growing so shameless in their strenuous search for rich wives that they are publicly advertising themselves for sale.

In a recent daily newspaper of this city this appeared:

"A baron, 30 years old, wishes to meet a young lady of handsome exterior and well furnished mind who would marry him. His title is one of the oldest in Germany, going back to the time of the Crusaders. The baron is a Protestant of firm convictions, but has no objection to a wife of another religion even to a Jewess there is no objection, provided her relations do not insist on social recognition. The baron expects a dowry of 3,000,000 marks ($750,000), half a million in cash handed to him on or before the wedding day."

Another advertisement runs thus: "A prince's crown to be given away. A prince, serenely, royal chamberlain, in the middle of the twenties, a Catholic, healthy, completely free from debt is obliged in consequence of recent legislation to be satisfied with a younger son's portion. With this, however, he cannot maintain the state which his rank and birth require him to maintain, and therefore he is obliged to look out for a wife who in exchange for a prince's crown will place him in the right position. His serenely would require a sympathetic lady, not older than 26, possessed of deep intellectual sensibilities and a warm heart for art and nature. Her fortune must not be less than 6,000,000 marks, of which 1,000,000 must be in cash. The highest references are given and will be expected."

Considerable stir has been caused here by an air in which one of the most ancient of the German aristocratic houses is involved. Prince Heinrich von Hanau is elderly, has lived well and has squandered a large fortune. Wishing to re-establish his position he made the acquaintance of a wealthy Cologne widow, also with many winters to her credit. But her age was no impediment to the gallant greatly pleased with the instrument. Miss Moore and Mr. Percy, both of whom are well known to Londoners, were also greatly delighted with the organ. One evidence of the satisfaction with which those present listened to the organ was the liberality of their offerings towards the organ fund.

The following programme was rendered:

Sonata No. 4 (B flat)Mendelssohn

LONDON WILL HAVE FESTIVAL CHORUS

Local Musicians Decide To Launch Permanent Organization in Near Future.

A large number of London musicians met last night at Somerset House for the purpose of launching a movement to have a festival chorus here.

The attempt met with the hearty approval of all present, and a committee was formed to take charge of the matter for the time. It is composed of Major Hayes, F. G. Coles, A. R. Arkell, A. D. Jordan and Roscoe Pocke. This committee will draft the permanent committees.

It is the intention to have the chorus in shape for next year, when Mr. Charles Beach, of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, will be invited here to assist in the final work of organization.

It is expected that the chorus will be in condition to give a grand concert here about the first of next December, and in March or April of 1938, a big orchestra will be brought to London and with the chorus, a giant festival will be put on.

After the meeting last night, a pleasant time was spent by the musicians. An impromptu programme was carried out, among those who contributed numbers being Miss Mina Taylor, Miss Pearl Ellar, Miss Boomer, Mrs. Grant Harris, and Mr. E. Beach.

ST. JOHN'S AT HOME

Lodge No. 23, A. F. and A. M., Has Annual Social Gathering.

The annual "at home" of St. John's Lodge, No. 23, A. F. and A. M., was held in the Masonic Temple last night. The event had been anticipated with pleasure for some time by the members, about one hundred of whom attended with their wives and friends. Several members of other city lodges were also guests of St. John's 20 for the evening.

The programme included a choice programme of dances, the music for which was furnished by Tony Vita's Orchestra. Mr. James Fox, of Toronto, also gave a number of very entertaining readings. Cards were also enjoyed.

The "at home" was concluded at 3 a.m., the guests all being of the opinion that St. John's 20, knew how to entertain.

Frau Gelharman—that was the lady's name—was happy to meet the prince and showed her appreciation of the honor done her by advancing 1,000,000 marks of the 10,000,000 she was afterward to place in the prince's purse.

But the engagement was somehow broken off and the widow is suing the prince for the million marks. The prince says the money is his and he refuses to give it up.
