Binghamton, N. Y., July 23.—The exact number of persons who perished in the fire in the overall factory of the Binghamton Clothing Company yesterday may never be known. The list of employees is in the company's safe in the ruins, only half a dozen bodies recovered having been identified, and many of the missing are unaccounted for.

A rough estimate today places the number of those in the building at the time the fire started at 111. Of these 6 dead have been identified; 15 bodies, charred beyond recognition, are at the morgue; 7 injured are in the hospital; 11 have been reported by relatives as missing; 46, several of whom were mortally wounded, are known to have been saved, and 26 are unaccounted for.

City officials estimate the death toll to be at least 50, but may reach 60 or more.

District Attorney Meagher announced today that a thorough investigation would be made at once as to the cause of the disaster, and to determine the responsibility, if any, for the loss of life.

SEARCH THE RUINS.

Binghamton, N. Y., July 23.—At daybreak today a big force of city employees began to search for the dead entombed beneath the smoldering ruins of the overall factory of the Binghamton Clothing Company at Nos. 17-18 Wall street. Not until the tangled mass of bricks and stones has been removed will the full extent of yesterday's holocaust be known. A conservative estimate places the number of dead at more than fifty.

About 125 employees, mostly women and girls, were trapped in the burning walls. Of these 41 are known to have escaped. Sixteen charred bodies, as yet unidentified, were recovered last night.

The Known Dead.

The known dead are: Nellie Connor, seamstress; Sidney Dimmick, a machinist; Mary Cregan, Miss Fulmer, Louise Partwell, Mrs. Alvin White, Mary Pryor.

The missing include: Mrs. Thomas Doran, Mrs. Nellie Gleason, Louise

[Canadian Press.]

Rome, July 23.—A group of Canadian pilgrims were received in private audience today by the Pope. They were conducted by the Right Rev. Michael P. Fallon, Bishop of London, Ontario, who presented the group to the Pope, and to $2,000. Bishop Fallon delivered an address expressing the loyalty of Canadian Catholics to the Holy See. The Pope then imparted the apostolic benediction.

The pilgrims afterward visited Cardinal Merry Del Val, papal secretary of state.

BARBERS MAY CALL STRIKE

Journeymen Ask For a Two-Dollar a Week Increase in Wages.

AND BOSSES MAY REFUSE

Just when the master barbers of the city are beginning to enjoy a little profit from the increase in shaves from 10 to 15 cents, cold water is dashed upon them by the journeymen, who are circulating a petition asking for a $2-a-week increase in wage.

Five years ago this month the journeymen barbers asked for an increase of $2 a week, and when the bosses refused a strike was called, which lasted for some time, and which was ended by arbitration, the strikers receiving $1 increase.

The journeymen in the downtown shops now receive $12 a week, and 50 per cent. of all they take in over $17 during a week. Some of the shops, however, pay $12 and 50 per cent. over $18. The journeymen are now asking for a guarantee of $13 a week and half over $19.

The bosses contend that they cannot pay the wages asked by the journeymen, and say that some of the men are now making more in wages than the proprietors, while the journeymen, on the other hand, say they cannot live on the wages they receive now.

Just what action will be taken by the union in the event of a refusal on the part of the bosses to pay the wages is problematical, but it is said that another strike will be called.

Held Police Court During Ball Game

New Liskeard, July 23.—Climbing down out of the grandstand while a baseball game was in progress between Halleybury and New Liskeard, Magistrate Wilson held court in a booth on the baseball grounds and got back in time to miss only a part of one inning.

Chief McColl found Jim Hobbs embracing the sidewalk in town, so he took him up to Magistrate Wilson at the baseball grounds.

The magistrate was very reluctant to miss the game, but compromised by holding court in one of the booths on the grounds. It was over in a few seconds. The chief recited the charge. The magistrate said: "Do you plead guilty?"

Hobbs said: "Yes." The magistrate: "One dollar and costs."

And the justice of peace went back to see his team win a victory.

Charge of White Slavery May
Be Laid by Immigration Department.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Sarnia, July 23.—What promises to be one of the most sensational police court trials heard in this district for some time will take place in Port Huron shortly as a result of charges laid by the immigration officers, acting on information given by a Sarnia woman.

Two Sarnia men, both married, and the wives of two other Sarnians, were arrested in Port Huron last evening. Three of the quartette are at present in jail there. One woman was allowed to go home as she has two small children to look after.

It is alleged that the whole affair came to light when the wife of one man became suspicious and trailed him to a house in Port Huron.

All the parties are well known in Sarnia.

A charge of white slavery may be laid against the men by the immigration department.

Supt. W. C. Dodd, of the garbage collection department, denies that the incinerator has a little odor all its own that is far from being an odor.

"There's absolutely no smell at all," declared the superintendent this morning. "You can get three feet from the incinerator and then get an odor. As for saying there are objectionable odors when the incinerator is being fired, there is nothing to it at all. Of course, if you want to get right into the garbage you will find some odor there, but there is nothing to it so far as the other part is concerned."

Supt. Dodd further declared that Supt. T. H. Heard, of the Victoria Hospital, had stated there was no odor from the incinerator. He also deplored that many residents of the neighborhood had claimed to experience the farring to their olfactory nerves from the odor of the mayor's pet project. Apparently the residents he had seen were not those who told their grievances to The Advertiser.

Sir Wilfrid Is Visiting Toronto

[Canadian Press.]
Toronto, July 23.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier arrived here from Ottawa today and is at the King Edward Hotel. Following his invariable custom the Liberal leader declined to talk for publication, and nothing is known of the object of his visit, except his own statement that he is here for a holiday.

Hon. George P. Graham is also in the city. Sir Wilfrid is expected to remain for a couple of days. "There is no political significance whatever to be attached to my visit," said Sir Wilfrid to a reporter.

Hon. Mr. Graham left today for Brockville. He stated that he had come to the city on "purely private business," and did not even know Sir Wilfrid was coming.

Guelph, July 23.—George B. Stuart, of Galt, an inmate of the Homewood Sanatorium, met a fearful death last night. There was no witness to the tragedy. His body was found on the Grand Trunk tracks near the station by a train crew. It is thought he must have deliberately placed himself on the tracks in front of the freight train. The engine driver saw him on the track, but as the train was moving slowly thought he could get out of the way when the whistle blew. An inquest will be held tonight.

TURKEY PLANS NEW WAR WITH BEATEN BULGARS

Takes Advantage of Present Situation, But May Have To Fight All.

The Turkish Army Accused of Horrible Atrocities at Adrianople Recently.

London, July 23.—The Morning Post publishes a Constantinople telegram via Vienna, asserting that after a long ministerial council it has been decided to declare war officially against Bulgaria.

The Turkish army, according to this account, has been ordered not only to occupy Adrianople, but to cross the frontier as quickly as possible, and march into Bulgarian territory.

According to apparently reliable telegrams from Belgrade, the Serbian Government regards this as an attack on the whole Balkan league, and the cabinets at Belgrade, Athens and Cetinje are preparing to act accordingly.

[Canadian Press.]

Sofia, July 23.—It is reported here that the Turks committed indescribable horrors at Adrianople, giving the population no quarter.

It is also alleged that the Turks massacred the inhabitants of Kirk Kiliseh.

[Canadian Press.]

London, July 23.—A Times dispatch from St. Petersburg says:

"The Russian Government is credited with the intention of insisting that the Turks evacuate Adrianople at all costs."

A Bucharest dispatch to the Times says it is feared that the Greek demands will be so extravagant as to delay the signing of an armistice, and indefinitely postpone a meeting of the proposed peace conference.

The Athens correspondent of the Times says that as a result of a fresh understanding between the belligerents and Rumania it has been decided to hold the peace conference at Bucharest.

[Canadian Press.]

Sofia, July 23.—Sofia is still isolated from the outside world, except by telegraph, by way of Bucharest and Sebastopol, which is reserved exclusively for official dispatches and telegrams. No private telegrams are accepted.

No mails from Europe have been received in the past fortnight, nor has any agency news been published for the last four days. Consequently the public is in sublime ignorance of the happenings in Europe.

Nevertheless the country maintains admirable patience and a dignified tranquility in the presence of adversity. All interest in the Balkan situation is virtually dead.

Lieut. General Nelson A. Miles, United States army (retired), and several Europeans are forced prisoners here.

[Canadian Press.]

Zurich, Switzerland, July 23.—Balkans—M. Pichen, the French foreign minister, is quoted by the Nouvelle Gazette today as saying:

"I do not think that Austria is profiting by the circumstances and intends to intervene in the Balkan trouble. The understanding among the powers has not been weakened and will be maintained. It is not likely that any of them will take up arms in the Balkans, and they will under no circumstances permit Bulgaria to be dismembered."

[Canadian Press.]

Sofia, Bulgaria, July 23.—Serbia and Greece today agreed to the proposal that peace negotiations with Bulgaria should take place in Bucharest. An armistice is being signed in Nish.

Greece insists that the armistice and the agreement for peace negotiations be signed simultaneously.

Roumania has refused Turkey's request that she be allowed to participate in the peace conference. The European powers have consented to these arrangements.

Another version of the story of the little London girl, who was picked up in Port Stanley on Sunday night, and who claimed to have run away from her aunt, is told by the latter.

In a statement to The Advertiser this afternoon she admitted whipping the child, but claimed the theft of $32 and other disreputable acts of the part of the girl justified the act.

"She never walked to Port Stanley," said the lady, referring to the statement made by the girl that she had walked to the ladside and had lived on crusts left by picknickers till picked up by the police. "There was $2 that disappeared at the same time she did, and she was too particular about herself to go that distance. $32 was too particular about what she ate to ever have lived on crusts."

Sensational Charge.

She embellished her story with sensational when she declared that the girl had attempted to poison her by putting larders on a chocolate and giving it to her. The girl teased to be allowed to go to work, and the poisoning episode followed. That the girl was constantly in trouble, and that she had been put to considerable expense by reason of this, was an important statement made by the aunt.

She declared that she had to change schools because of the girl taking things from there, that $30 had disappeared, and that the child had run and eaten at various stores, charging candy and eatables to neighbors' accounts.

For which she, the aunt, had been compelled to pay.

Toronto To Have Odorless Plant

Toronto, July 23.—Plans for a $1,000,000 garbage and refuse disposal plant for the city of Toronto are being prepared by Street Commissioner George Wilson.

The board of control, at a special meeting yesterday afternoon, authorized Mr. Wilson to go ahead with the scheme, and voted him $12,500 in order that he may obtain expert advice in connection with the preparation of the plans.

It is expected that the plant will be completed in two years, and Toronto will then have the most modern garbage disposal works in Canada.

The Queen City is the first in Canada to undertake the reduction of garbage. The scheme Mr. Wilson outlined to the controllers provides for a combined system of incineration and reduction, by which grease and kindred substances will be extracted from the refuse and the remainder sold for fertilizer, which is a great revenue producer.

Will Be Odorless.

"All odors will be absolutely eliminated," Mr. Wilson stated. "That is the first consideration. The commercial end of the undertaking is a secondary matter."

STRUCK BY A LOCOMOTIVE THROWN AGAINST TRAIN

Mr. William Hutton Narrowly Escapes Death at Grand Trunk Crossing.

William Hutton, an employee of Jennings' poolroom, Richmond street, is a lucky man. Not in mining ventures or on the stock exchange, but in common every-day luck. And William admits today that sometimes it is a good deal better to be born lucky than rich.

After finishing his work Tuesday night Mr. Hutton walked south on Richmond street as far as the Grand Trunk station, where he was stalled in the centre of the tracks by an east-bound freight. Instead of stepping back Mr. Hutton stood in the middle of one track waiting for the cars to pass, not noticing a train approaching from the east.

The street was practically deserted at the time, P. C. Singleton being the only man in the vicinity. The latter noticed the second train approaching and called a warning to Hutton, but was not heard. The big engine travelling at about 25 miles an hour threw him up against the other train.

When Singleton saw the man hit he thought he was killed, but could not reach him until the second train had passed the crossing. When he got to Hutton the latter was just getting off the ground having been rendered unconscious.

He revived sufficiently to walk to his home. The only injuries he received were a cut on the leg, a cut over the right eye, and a badly bruised hip.

SNAKE ISLAND PARTY OFF ON ANNUAL TRIP

Round Dozen of Londoners Off
On Their Annual Trip.

The Snake Island fishing party, composed of local men, who annually go to Snake Island for a short vacation, left today on a special car via the Grand Trunk for Warton, from which place they will sail to the fishing grounds. The party, which will be absent for two weeks, is as follows: W. Ward, P. Adams, T. Gilman, W. Skinner, J. Scandrett, W. Treble, D. Warr, C. Currie, E. Hayden, G. Loveless, L. Lachie and C. Keene.

If one wants to learn what some of the residents of London think of the $40,000 incinerator, which, against the advice of almost every physician in the city of London and the board of health, was built practically under the windows of Victoria Hospital, he should take a walk along Ottawa avenue from Wellington to Clarence streets, or, in fact, along any of the streets in the immediate neighborhood and ask the residents if they are bothered at all by smoke or dust from the building.

In very short order one will hear so many complaints and protests, and none of them couched in gentle terms, that he will see immediately that the council of 1912, better known as "my council, gentlemen," is not in high favor with some of the people.

Complaints Are Numerous.

Complaints of every description are being registered by the residents of that section. One woman, Mrs. Ford, of 310 Ottawa avenue, has been made ill because of the fumes which escape from the tall chimney, and when the wind is blowing to the northwest or southeast, people are smoked off their verandahs or lawns.

An Advertiser reporter visited that section Tuesday afternoon about 4:30, shortly after the fires in the furnaces were started in full blast, and when he rang the bell at the residence of Mrs. F. W. Paul, 100 Waterloo street, he was nearly sickened by the odor of burning rubbish which swept across the street from the incinerator into houses, through open doors and windows, and into the lungs of people sitting on their verandahs. When Mrs. Paul was asked if the odor was as bad as that at the time, she replied that it was mild just then to what it was last week.

Blows Into Hospital.

Not only that, but the odor and smoke from the chimney blows right into the windows of Victoria Hospital, particularly into the contagious ward, where people are battling for their lives with fever, and where every breath of air counts for a heart beat. At times it is said, the attendants find it necessary to close the windows.

Another phase of the case affecting the hospital is in the meat-cutting room, on the top floor, at the rear of the buildings. Mr. Thomas McCullough, who is employed by Mr. George Jackson, butcher, and who cuts the meat for the hospital, told The Advertiser that the odor there at times is almost unbearable. That it has a bad effect upon the meat which is fed to convalescing patients goes without saying.

Slumbers Disturbed.

Another thing which the residents are loud in protest against is the discharge of surplus steam, which, they declare, has taken place on Sunday and Monday nights from 8 until 12 o'clock, disturbing the slumbers of people on Waterloo street, north of Ottawa avenue.

Dust and Soot, Too.

Mrs. Charles McFadden, 308 Ottawa avenue, says the odor from the place is unbearable at times. She also declares that some mornings her verandah is covered with dust and soot from the place, and that if the conditions continue she will have to move away. She consulted a lawyer about the trouble several days ago, but could not say whether she would take any action in the matter.

Mr. A. Templeton, who lives on the northwest corner of Waterloo street and Ottawa avenue, says the odor about his house sometimes is almost unbearable. "During the first week the place was in operation the smell was almost unbearable," said he. "Last Tuesday and Thursday nights were the worst I have ever experienced in this section. You can smell it all over this section of the city, and not only that, but it goes all through the house, tainting curtains and furniture. Then, to make matters worse, exhaust steam is

Not Enough Places to Go Around Declares the Immigration Agent.

Immigrants from the old land are pouring into London faster than they can be absorbed. The tide of immigration, formerly directed toward Western Canada, but latterly diverted to Western Ontario, has been an exceptionally heavy one. The limit of "places" for all but domestic servants and skilled artisans has been practically reached, and the supply valve for laborers is now to be shut off. Immigration Agent John Riggs was in communication with the city officials today relative to sending orders to the immigration headquarters at Ottawa requesting that no more immigrants be sent to this district until further requests.

Problem to House Them.

Little difficulty has yet been experienced in placing all those who have arrived, but with the labor market filled to capacity, as it apparently is here, and without proper immigration quarters in the city, a complex problem would be caused by a further influx of immigrants. The temporary immigrant quarters in the fair buildings at Queen's Park will have to be given up shortly to the fair association. Without any quarters at place at the disposal of the new arrivals serious results might follow, the housing problem being one of the greatest on the city's hands at the present time.

Notice It Blocks Away.

Mrs. D. MacPherson, who resides on Hill street, near the corner of Colborne, three blocks distant, also complains of the conditions. In fact, practically every woman within a radius of three blocks is making complaint. Some of the residents are even going so far as to suggest that the machinery be stripped out of the building and moved to some place outside the city limits, and the building used for a boiler-house for Victoria Hospital.

"An incinerator is a fine thing," said one man. "We are glad to have our garbage taken care of, but we cannot stand the conditions that exist about here at present, and unless something is done about it, I will enter suit against the city. I am afraid that my family will contract some illness from the odor, which is particularly offensive on damp days, and if it cannot be stopped I will have to move away."

Bryan Lays His Cards on the Table; Will His Critics?

AS SECRETARY BRYAN LOOKS CHATUAQUAING.

An American editorial writer says: Mr. Bryan's summer lecturing gets him money by injuring no man. There is no compulsion upon anybody to attend a Bryan lecture. He has no corner on the lecture field, as Morgan had on credit or Rockefeller on oil. Those who go want to go and pay because they want to pay. And the complaint which receives sympathy among the people isn't that he lectures so much, but that he doesn't make dates enough.

We wonder how many of the critics of Bryan who are jibing him for being "out for the stuff" are themselves working for nothing or indifferent to their incomes?

Claim Water Rates Are Long Overdue

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Kincardine, July 22.—At a meeting of the water and light committee last evening accounts were passed by the finance committee, and some discussion took place regarding the collection of back accounts. It was alleged that one individual has been using water for six years and owes considerable for it. Mr. Wood wanted to know why the collection had not been made, but received no satisfactory reason.

The engineer produced a map of the water mains and gates, and in reply to a question as to whether there were any hydrants out of repair, said all are in good order.

A delegation from the library, consisting of P. Macdonald, J. C. Cook and P. Shields, asked aid from the commission in the shape of free light. Mr. Patterson objected to giving this on the ground that it is a matter the council should deal with.

Winnipeg Loan Was

Financial Authorities Advise Cities
Not To Make Too Great Demands.

London, July 22.—In view of the adverse criticism which recently has been levelled in England against Canadian municipal securities, the splendid reception given to the latest issue by Winnipeg, which was announced today to have been over-subscribed in advance, has produced the greatest satisfaction in Canadian financial circles here.

The comparatively low price at which the loan was floated is unquestionably due, it is said, to the recent uncalculated attacks on civic borrowers by Horne Payne, fiscal agent in England for the Canadian Northern Railway, which it is now apparent the city has not taken too seriously.

Canadian financial authorities on this side are confident that the flotilla will prove an advantage to the Canadian situation generally, but in their opinion it would be better for other cities, especially those of lower rank, not to attach too much importance to Winnipeg's success.

Fell Forty Feet May Not Recover

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Thorndale, July 22.—Wellington Weston, aged 23 years, was terribly hurt at his farm near Kintore, yesterday, when, as he was repairing a silo, he slipped and fell forty feet on to the cement floor of the structure. He has been unconscious ever since the accident and his condition is regarded as critical.

Young Inventor Buried at Aylmer

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Aylmer, July 22.—The death occurred in Detroit on Monday afternoon after an illness of two years of Springs McDonald, a formerly highly esteemed Aylmer young man.

Deceased, who was in his 34th year, is survived by his mother. He left Aylmer some 20 years ago and entered the Central Savings Bank in Detroit. Later he patented a trolley, which he afterwards manufactured, together with automobile parts. For the last few years he had been representing a large automobile concern, travelling throughout the States.

The remains were brought to Aylmer on Wednesday and the funeral took place from the G. T. R. depot, arrival of the 1:15 Wabash eastbound train.

FIRE AT INGERSOLL

Spark From Train Started Blaze in the Roof of Warehouse.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ingersoll, July 22.—What for a time was feared would prove a serious fire broke out yesterday afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock in the roof of a storehouse on the property of Nagle & Mills at the rear of their planing mill. The origin of the fire is believed to have been a spark from a C. P. R. locomotive. Although the flames had made much progress before the firemen arrived, they rendered effective service. The flames were confined to the roof, but water and smoke caused considerable damage to the contents of the building, principally doors and hardwood flooring. The loss is covered by insurance.

GORED BY BULL

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Harrison, July 22.—David McEachern, of Cotswold, had several injuries broken today and was badly shaken up when he was attacked by a bull. The animal knocked him down and commenced goring him, but he had the presence of mind to grab the bull by the ring in his nostril and in this manner regained his feet, and being a powerful man, he gradually kept backing the enraged animal up until he came to a fence, over which he jumped and escaped further injuries. The bull at this stage apparently lost his nerve, and returned to the pasture.

Why is it that the buying and selling of horses usually involves hard feelings and often hard words on the part of the participants to the bargain? Whatever the explanation, even the law recognizes the fact. A Brooklyn judge, in dismissing a suit for slander because a buyer had called the horse's former owner a "skin," said: "Things like that are nearly always said in the course of a horse deal."

Pre-Stock-Taking Clearing of Wall Papers

Tomorrow we begin the greatest clearing of Wall Papers ever known in this department. A few weeks ago we cleared this stock of all remnants and odd lots, and now we are going straight into the regular stocks, and the highest grade goods are included in this sale, but the prices of such are only a fraction of the cost. For instance, you will find a few hand-tinted goods originally sold as high as $3.50 on the 25c table. In most cases the prices are half and less, as we are determined that none of these lines shall be listed at stock-taking next week. Don't miss this opportunity. Buy your papers now for a year hence, and reap a dividend of 100 per cent on the investment.

Polish Your Furniture with 3-in-One oil

Put a few drops of 3-in-One oil on a soft cloth wrung out in cold water. Then wipe your piano, mantel, parlor table, chair, any veneered or varnished furniture. All grime, grease and finger marks disappear. Then polish with dry cheese cloth, rubbing with the grain of the wood (not in circles).

Original Lustre is Restored

before your very eyes, with no disagreeable varnish odor; no grease to rub off on your clothes. No acid or alkali—nothing to injure anything. Rub leather seats, backs, etc., with a dry cloth moistened with a little 3-in-One oil. It preserves the leather, making it soft and pliable; prevents cracking and cracking.

Put 3-in-One oil to the test today! For sale in all good hardware, drug, grocery and general stores. 1 oz. 10c; 6 oz. 50c; 8 oz. 75c; 1 lb. $1.00.

English Girls May Be Well Bred, But They Never Look as "Smart" as American Girls, Writes Billie Burke From London.

BILLIE BURKE.

[BY BILLIE BURKE.]
The Savoy, London, Eng., July 25.—There is a tradition that English women always have the finest complexions in the world, and so they have up to the age of forty; after that most of them have too much color. They grow red and mottled or yellow and parchment-like.
The young English girl of a good family shows breeding always, and she damp air keeps her skin beautiful. She is not afraid of rain or mist and she walks from five to twenty miles every day, rides and practically lives outdoors. She looks healthy and usually has red cheeks and white skin. Besides this, she has always with her a splendid equable temper and a splendid poise. The next time you get angry or give way to any other trying emotion examine your face in a magnifying mirror just afterward and you will see all sorts of changes. Anger will burn the skin up; grief will make it pale and lifeless; joy will paint in rose and pearl. The American girl allows her beauty to such an extent even with the utmost care she is apt to wrinkle early. She never represses an emotion. This she calls "living."
Almost the first thing an English girl is taught is repression. I have often been called cold and lifeless by my girl admirers in America simply because my education in England was begun with repression, carried on with repression and ended when I went on the stage with repression.

An English woman of birth considers it bad taste to show her feelings. The "Lady Clara Vere de Vere" type is what every English girl strives for as much now as when Tennyson's "country clod" told her "where she got off," to drop from poetry into the vernacular.
If the English girl would leave off about half her hair and comb it flat over her head as the average American girl nowadays does and wear her hats on her head instead of perched on top of her funny pompadour, she would look much prettier and much more stylish.
Here is the difference between English and American girls—American girls have a subtle fascination about them even when they are not beautiful. They always look "smart," but not always well bred. English girls have splendidly wholesome complexions, but they never wear their clothes well, never look "smart." They always have an air of being "to the manor born," however.

PROBLEMS OF THE FAIR SEX SOLVED BY CYNTHIA GREY

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn as they are received. No letters can be answered privately.]

Clothes For Normal Wear.

Dear Miss Grey—Would you kindly answer the following questions?

1. What clothes would a girl require who intends to go to Normal in the fall and board away from home?

2. What will remove tan and what will make your arms white and soft?

3. Is a cold-water bath each day beneficial to a person?

4. Will eyes affected by astigmatism lead to nervousness?—NORMALITE.

A.—1. For school wear a dark blue or brown serge dress will give satisfaction. Have waist and skirt made separate, so that shirtwaist can be worn when desired. With this a long coat will be serviceable. Would suggest 6 shirtwaists, 4 plain tailored and 2 lingerie, one separate woollen skirt to alternate with the serge; a pretty dress either of light colored silk and wool goods, or an all-silk textile, trimmed with cream lace, this for special occasions, concerts, Sunday afternoons, etc. A dress of this sort can also be made to do duty for evening parties, but I think it is best to have a dress especially for those—say of mull or crepe in white or a delicate color. Such a frock need not cost much and may be made very simply. With this you will require either black silk stockings and patent leather pumps, or stockings and satin slippers to match the dress.

2. What is the language of flowers?

3. Could you give a simple, inexpensive menu for afternoon tea for four girls?

4. What are the meanings of the following names: Helen, Beatrice, Edith, Eleanor, Henry, Anne, Ellen, Margaret, Madeline, Verna, Bertha, Doris and Pearl?

5. Hoping I have not made myself too tedious a questioner, I remain, dear Miss Grey, your faithful admirer, PAULINE.

A.—The January files were consulted, but without result. If you care to examine the back numbers of The Advertiser for yourself you are quite welcome to do so any time. Perhaps when I have a little more leisure I may locate the poem for you, myself.

Dear Miss Grey—Would it be possible for you to let me know what news-papers are published in London? I have a little more leisure I may locate the poem for you, myself.

Answer.—In St. Mary's the papers published are the Argus and the Journal, both are weeklies. Stratford boasts two dailies, the Beacon and the Herald.

Language of Flowers.

Dear Miss Grey—Kindly advise me about the following as soon as possible:

1. I am nearly 16 years old; have a very friend who weekly sees me home from church. Do you think it advisable to continue this friendship?

2. What is the language of flowers?

3. Could you give a simple, inexpensive menu for afternoon tea for four girls?

4. What are the meanings of the following names: Helen, Beatrice, Edith, Eleanor, Henry, Anne, Ellen, Margaret, Madeline, Verna, Bertha, Doris and Pearl?

5. Hoping I have not made myself too tedious a questioner, I remain, dear Miss Grey, your faithful admirer, PAULINE.

Answer.—1. If your mother approves of it, yes.

2. Candytuft, indifference; china aster, variety; white clover, think; red clover, industry; columbine, folly; daisy, innocence; fern, fascination; white hyacinth, lovelessness; purple hyacinth, sorrow; blue hyacinth, peace; pansy, thoughtfulness; magnolia, your qualities surpass your charms; myrtle, love; pansy, thoughtfulness; rose, love; moss rosebud, confession of love; smilax, constancy; sweet pea, departure; verbenas, pray for me.

3. A dainty list would be: Sandwiches (two or three kinds); Boston brown bread, buttered and thinly sliced; lemon jelly, with walnuts, served on shredded lettuce, with a bit of dressing; tea and lemonade. Or, if you prefer, if, serve a variety of sandwiches, salted almonds, one or two kinds of tea cake, a plain ice cream, or raw fruit and whipped cream, with the two beverages mentioned.

4. Light, happy, rich gift; light, peace; energetic; saint; as Eleanor; pearl; the same; uncertain; mouse, gift of God; a pearl.

5. That depends upon the physical condition. If you take a cold bath and feel chilly after, then you gain little or no benefit from it, and probably will take cold. On the other hand, if a cold bath refreshes you, and makes you feel good, you need not hesitate to take one daily.

6. I believe so, in time. An eye specialist should be consulted without delay. Often the wearing of spectacles

SNOW-WHITE

AS TOLD BY AUNT GERTIE.

CHAPTER V.

There were tears in the eyes of the wee dwarfs as they gathered around Snow-white. They could hardly speak. They were so sad and heavy hearted. How they could live without the bright little girl who cared for their home so nicely, and who ran to open the door for them every night when they came home tired. They lifted her up, combed her hair, washed her and tried to bring her to life again. But it was all no use. The dear little girl was dead. What were they to do with her? Put her in a dark, cold grave under the ground? No, they couldn't do that; they couldn't even think of doing that. Instead they laid her on a bier, then gathered around it and sat for three days and nights, crying. While they sat there one of the seven little dwarfs said: "Let's not put her into the ground. Let's make a coffin of gold." "So we can see her every day," said another little dwarf.

"And let's write her name in gold letters on the coffin," said a third. "Put down that she was a king's daughter, too," said a fourth. And so it was done. When they had finished it and put beautiful Snow-white into the coffin, they set the coffin on a high mountain not so very far from the house. Each night one of them watched so that nothing could harm Snow-white, and she lay all the time as one asleep. So sweet did she look up there that the birds of the forest, first an owl, then a raven, and then a dove, came to mourn over her, too.

Tea-Table Talk

"Dorothy" Writes a Letter.

Dear Nomad,—Having read "Olivia's" little spiel about the tired working girl going to some quiet country home for her holidays, I thought I'd write to you and tell you about my country experiences and back up the advice Olive gave under Tea-table Talk.

Olivia is right about the country being an ideal resting place, and if any girl thinks the country is too slow to spend two weeks in she's got another think coming. Why, Nomad, the country isn't slow at all.

When you visit in the country, your hostess never wakes you in the morning unless she is specially requested to. You're allowed to sleep just as long as you like, and it's such a delicious feeling to open your drowsy eyes, stretch your arms and sit up in your nest of feathers to see if the patch of sky visible through the apple trees outside your window is blue or gray. You're in dress at your leisure, and come down to the kitchen to find your breakfast ready for you. Porridge, or uncooked cereal if you prefer it, "the cream" such as you only get "the cream" of raspberries plump, and red, and juicy; an egg, which an obliging hen has laid specially for your breakfast, toast and coffee. After your meal, don't help with the dishes (although you don't have to) and do your room, which requires some time, as you have to wrestle valiantly with the feather tick before you can get it patted up to the immense height that it ought to be.

Now, you have your choice of doing several things. The men are drawing in the hay, and you know you are welcome, if you want to go back to the field, and ride home on the high, fragrant road. Biddy is in the berry patch, and there is a straw hat with a tin pall beside it in the kitchen, if you feel like "berrying." Or there's the hammock in the orchard and the new Smart Set that you haven't opened yet.

You were up late the night before, so you decide in favor of the hammock and the magazine. There you lie beneath the apple trees, swinging idly back and forth, cutting every little breeze that happens along, and wondering what kind of a bird it is that has that peculiarly sweet trill. You don't read very much. You're too happy in the joy of being nothing to do. You think of the cherry social you're going to tonight, and wonder whether your country cavalier will like you better in the white lingerie frock, or the pink crepe, or the pink-rose and the next thing you know a little freckled, gray-eyed boy is shaking the

One day when one of the little dwarfs was sitting very near Snow-white's coffin, wondering how such a good, little girl could have died so young, a handsome prince came riding by on a fine horse. He saw the coffin on the mountain, and when he got off his horse and came up closer he saw Snow-white lying there as if asleep. He talked a few minutes to the little dwarf who was on watch, and asked him if he might read what the gold letters said.

"Yes," said the dwarf, "but be very careful not to touch the coffin." The prince read and read again. Each time he read he looked more interested, and each time he looked at the face of beautiful Snow-white his eyes seemed to grow more bright. At last, turning to the little dwarf, he said: "Give the coffin with the beautiful girl in it to me. I will pay you anything you ask."

The little dwarf said: "No, I do not want you to take my precious little brothers will not let you have her, either." The prince would not take "No" for an answer, and declared he must go down to the dwarfs' house in the wood and see what all of them would say. He agreed to take him to the house, and they started down the mountain together.

Do you suppose the other six little dwarfs could let the prince take their beautiful Snow-white away?

Well, we'll see.

hammock and saying "Dinner's ready." Dinner is an ambrosial meal of bacon and eggs, fried just the way you like them, new potatoes ("the very nicest from the garden," Dave excitedly informs you), green peas, raspberry, pudding and warm cherry pie, not to speak of butter fresh from the churn, newly-made bread, and as much real milk as you can swallow. After dinner, at the urgent request of the "boys" you go back to the field to help draw in, and you spend the afternoon wallowing in hay more fragrant than the spices of Arabia, and learning the mysterious meaning of "gee" and "haw."

After supper you milk the "quiet" cow (an easy task, although your fingers feel slightly cramped after it), watch Biddy separate, and then you retire to your cool to dress. You put on your silk stockings and daintiest pumps, do your hair as prettily as you know how, don the pink crepe and just as you are pinning on your wide white hat, little Alice knocks at your door and shouts: "Here he comes!"

As you walk out to the gate, where the handsome little sorrel and the buggy stand, you get up, dress at help thinking how nice he looks—the man, not the sorrel. You know, Nomad, country boys don't always wear overalls. They look quite as "dandy" as town boys when they go to take their girls out driving, and they seldom appear without a box of chocolates concealed somewhere about their persons. As for the cherry social, that goodness knows I am running on. If you print this it will take up the whole Tea-Table and overflow Cynthia Grey's domain. But I just want to tell other town girls how their sister enjoyed herself in the country, and to let them know what a dandy place it really is. Yours sincerely,

I cannot tell you how much I enjoyed your letter, Dorothy. Reading it brought back hosts of happy memories of idyllic days spent amid just such surroundings as you describe, and judging by the postmark, not many miles, I fancy, from the place where you are so pleasantly passing the time.

Do contribute something towards "Tea Table Talk" again. I'll enjoy it, and I'm sure readers of this page will also. But next time won't you please sign your name, so that I can give you one corner, just for my own personal satisfaction? For you know being a woman, I'm naturally curious as to your identity.

THE NOMAD.

This is one type of martyr for whom it is well to look out. The right sort of persons do not go about looking for sympathy and ready to weep on every shoulder. It is a cheap trick and it succeeds with good-hearted men and women, sometimes to an amazing degree.

THE MIDSUMMER OUTING HAT.

These are med with white tailored boxes, or the days when the formal hat gives way to the simpler hat more suitable for the country or lakeside resorts. Indeed, now that the moon of summer is upon us and all the world is rushing off to mountain or northern lakes and islands there is practically no use for the formal dressy headgear that was necessary for the June garden party, the June wedding, the June graduation exercises and festivities. And the big shops with their ever readiness to meet every season's needs—or imagined needs—have prepared with an ingenuity of temptation that compels admiration—a variety of outing hats, light of weight, charming in shape, and of every conceivable material, so that the desire is bred within us to have at least one of these to tide us over the heated season. These hats are a delight to the woman of means and a sore temptation to the woman of limited income who must portion out her little income, this for clothes, that for hats, etc. if she is to be honorable and live within her means. LABATT TROPHY DOWN TO SEMI-FINALS;
TWO LONDON THISTLE RINKS IN RUNNING

Heaman and Langford, With Smiley of Paris and Chambers of Alymer Are Left to Battle in the Big Trophy Event.

BOTH TORONTO RINKS WERE PUT OUT OF RUNNING IN THE FOURTH ROUND

Sir John Wilison Was Beaten by Heaman and Van Valkenberg Was Defeated by Smiley of Paris—Hawkes of Galt Lost on Extra End to Chambers of Alymer.

The second day of the W. O. B. A. tournament concluded last evening, and when darkness fell the semi-finals of the Labatt trophy, the premier competition, had been reached. Four rinks are left to battle for the honors. Two of these are London Thistle skips, A. A. Langford, runner-up of last season, and A. M. Heaman, who went into the semi-finals of the W. O. B. A. at Niagara Falls a couple of weeks ago, but was beaten out by Euler, of Berlin, the final trophy winner. The other two rinks are out-riders. One is Art Chambers, Alymer rink, and the other is Smiley's Paris four.

The other competitors are well on their way. The Tecumseh trophy event is well into the first round, while many games have been played in the first round of the McNece. The semi-finals of the former and the fifth or sixth round of the latter will, in all probability, be reached by this evening.

Toronto Rinks Put Out.

The fight into the semi-finals was not an easy one, and the four rinks who are at present enjoying the distinction of being there had to battle all the way for it. Both Toronto rinks were eliminated in the fourth round. Van Valkenberg, of Balm Beach, lost to Smiley, of Paris, by a decisive score. Smiley obtained a big lead on the Beachers in the first round, and after that was never headed.

Sir John Wilison was beaten in a hard game by A. M. Heaman of the Thistles. This game attracted a great deal of attention, and a win for the Toronto Canadians would have proved just as popular as Heaman's did. Sir John has been coming to the W. O. B. A. for many years, and he has been in the running for the Labatt trophy several times. This year, with a slightly changed rink he appeared to be a strong contender after winning his first three games nicely. However, the Heaman rink proved too strong for him, and although the game was nip and tuck the Canadians were unable to stick it out until the end. Heaman's rink came strong on the finish, and won by five shots.

Chambers' Thrilling Victory.

Chambers' Alymer rink had to go an extra end to beat Hawke, of Galt. The latter had cleaned up on his fellow clubman, McIlvaine, of Galt Imperials, earlier in the day, but his game with Chambers was close all the way. By a great bit of bowling Galt tied it up on the last end when Chambers was one up, and then the extra end was played. It was Chambers' last bowl that decided the match. Hawke was laying one, but Chambers took the shot out, and lay one himself. The finish was one of the most exciting of the afternoon.

Langford and Inglis had a great battle in the fourth round also. The final score was 16 to 15, and the game was keenly contested at all stages. Langford scored a couple of big ends although he did not score as often as Inglis, and won out by the narrow margin as a result.

The Scotch doubles will begin today at 1:30 o'clock. The entry list in the doubles this year is larger than it has ever been before, but the history of the W. O. B. A. Seventy-six rinks have entered, and the draw was made last evening.

The draw for the president's special prize was also made last night. This competition is open to rinks who lost their first three games. Six rinks qualified for the honors in this event, and it will also be run off today or tomorrow.

EARL POWELL RELEASED TO BRANTFORD RED SOX

Former London First Baseman Under Suspension Released by London Club to Tom Nelson's Team.

According to a story given out by the London Baseball Club this morning, Earl Powell, the big first baseman of the London team last season, has been released to the Brantford club. Powell, it will be remembered, was suspended by London last August because he is alleged to have threatened to jump the team. This spring Powell came to London to have his suspension raised or his release given him, but the London club refused to do anything in the case until this week, when he was released to the Brantford club.

Powell was one of the best first basemen in the league last season, and he should prove a tower of strength to the Brantford club. He is a hard hitter and a good fielder, and will likely break into the game with Brantford some time next week.

MYERS' SINGLE PAVED WAY
FOR LONDON TO WIN GAME

His Timely Drive Scored Two Runs That Tied Up Game and He Scored Winning Run a Moment Later—Rube Deneau Relieved Chaput in the Sixth and Only One Hit Was Made Off Him.

Berlin, July 22.—It was a weird but at times an exciting game that was provided for a large week-day crowd of fans here this afternoon when London walked off the diamond with the big end of a 9 to 8 score. Rube Deneau, a batting rally in the eighth inning were responsible for today's victory. During the early stages it looked as if the Dutchmen would make it two straight from the leaders.

Del Chaput, who was reported "loaned" to Guelph, was given another chance to make good with the Indians. He was, however, easy picking for Manager White and his rejuvenated aggregation, eight hits and three passes, with incidental errors and steals, netting a total of eight runs for the locals.

Bobby Was Warming Up.

"By Heck" was warming up with C. Rein in the meanwhile, and when Berlin went to bat there was a lightning change in the curtain of the diamond. Heck was approaching the centre field, when he turned around and walked to the mound, told Heck to get on the coaching line and motioned to Reily to cover the centre garden.

Deneau started as if he had no control putting through straight balls to Burns and followed with three fast ones across the centre of the plate. The same was done to Dinsmore, and Sweeney went out from Linneborn to Bierbauer. Only one hit was secured off Deneau, a two-bagger by Dinsmore in the ninth.

Schaeffer Relieves Auld.

Bobby Auld opened for the locals, and was in hot water during the five periods he was in the box, seven hits netting six runs. With Berlin two runs to the good, Bill Schaeffer was sent in to hold London down. He worked fine for two innings, but in the eighth the Indians landed on him for a double, triple and single, and with Gettle's rank error three runs crossed the plate, winning the afternoon's engagement.

Bierbauer Hit a Homer.

London got to a good start in their half of the first, when Linneborn drew a pass; Matteson was retired from third to first, and Louie Bierbauer lifted the ball over the right-field fence for a homer, two runs crossing the plate.

In the second, Neale started down a single, Rube Deneau bunted down the first base line, the entire infield chasing the ball, and while they were looking for it, Neale made the circuit, and Rube landed on third. To cap the climax of this bonehead inside ball, Manager Deneau made the battery look like the small change of 30 cents by a single scored the first two runners. Bierbauer advanced both runners with a sacrifice. Stewart reached first on Auld's fumble of a grounder, and Dinsmore singled scored the first two runners. Stewart was caught off second, and Dunlop died at the same place in an attempt to purloin.

"Dad" Stewart Doubles.

In the fifth, "Dad" Stewart started with a double, and Dunlop followed with a triple. Neale and Deneau fanned in succession, but Myers' single brought in the two runs that tied the game. C. Reily hit an easy grounder to Gettle, who obliged the visitors by letting the ball go through his legs at a critical stage of the game, as usual, and Myers crossed the plate with the winning run.

Berlin scored two in the first on a pass to Burns, singles by Dinsmore, McAvoy and White and Sweeney's sacrifice. In the third three singles, a double, sacrifice and a pass netted four runs. In the fifth two passes, a single and a double steal counted two more for the locals.

Only one hit was secured off Deneau in the last four periods, a double by Dinsmore. Myers stopped what might have been good for a double off McAvoy's bat in the ninth and prevented the game being tied up.

Langford and Chambers Left To Battle In Labatt Finals

Heaman Was Beaten By Aylmer and Paris Rink Succumbed to London Thistles—Both Semi-Final Games Were Decisive Victories for Winners.

A. Chambers, of Aylmer, and A. A. Langford's London Thistle rink, who battled in the semi-final game, Langford put out Smiley, of Paris, and Chambers vanquished the mighty Heaman rink in the semi-finals. The finals will be played Thursday afternoon.

Langford's London Thistle rink entered the finals of the Labatt trophy for the second time in two years by beating Jas. Smiley's Paris rink by the score of 22 to 13. The games were fairly close until the eighth end, Langford scored four on this end and eleven on the next four ends, gaining a lead that Paris could not overcome. Langford finished with a score of 22 to 13.

Look---A Cut-Out! Bobby and His Birch Bark Canoe Made By Crowley, the Wonderful Toy Man, For You

CUT THIS OUT CAREFULLY; PASTE IT ON HEAVY PAPER. SEE WHAT YOU HAVE.

Everybody—here's a real summertime stunt that the clever "cut-out" artist, Jeremiah Crowley, has thought out for us.

See, it is Bobby and his birch bark canoe! All you have to do is to follow the directions, which Mr. Crowley has made very plain. Cut out the canoe and the little boy, and you have one of the cutest toys going. Remember, he advises you to paste the cut-out parts onto thicker paper or thin cardboard, which is cut in exactly the same shape as the original "cut-out."

Here are Artist Crowley's directions: Carefully cut around the outside line of the canoe, bend on the two long dotted lines marked (A-A), paste where indicated and we have the inside and the outside of the canoe.

Bring the ends together and hold in place by pasting the little triangular tabs around each end. Next with a sharp pen-knife or scissors cut out the figure of the boy. Bend on the dotted line and paste together, leaving the arms and circular tabs (X) free. Paste the tabs (X) on the circular space marked (X) in the canoe. Also paste the two hands on the sides as shown in the accompanying sketch of the finished canoe and we are ready to shoot the rapids like the Indians.

HERE'S NEW METHOD OF HANDLING PRISONERS

Handcuffs One to Pcle While He Captures Other, a Former Londoner.

Toronto, July 22.—Although only a short time on the police force, P. C. MacDonald (423) used unique and effective methods when arrested two men yesterday at the market for disorderly conduct.

Patrick Devine, no home, and Louis Gault, 110 Mutual street, formerly of London, Ont., started to fight. The constable was attracted by the crowd of spectators, and as he proceeded to investigate the crowd vanished and the two contestants took to their heels.

The sight of Devine tied to the telephone pole attracted a large crowd of people, who for many minutes were not able to account for the novel situation. Even the street cars stopped on account of the crowd, and it was thirty minutes before the traffic was restored.

How to Make Your Hair Beautiful

Ten Minutes' Home Treatment Works Wonders, Stops Falling Hair, Itching Scalp and Dandruff, and Makes the Hair Soft, Brilliant, Lustrous and Fluffy.

Better than all the so-called "hair tonics" in the world is a simple old-fashioned home recipe, consisting of plain Bay Rum, Lavender, (the compound), and a little Menthol Crystals. These three mixed at home in a few minutes, work wonders with any scalp. Try it just one night and see. Get from your druggist 2 oz. Lavender, 6 oz. Bay Rum and half dram Menthol Crystals. Dissolve the Crystals in the Bay Rum and pour in an eight-ounce bottle. Then add the Lavender, shake well and let it stand for an hour before using. Apply it by putting a little of the mixture on a soft cloth. Draw this cloth slowly over the hair, taking just one small strand at a time. This cleanses the hair and scalp of dirt, dust and excessive oil, and makes the hair delightfully soft, lustrous and fluffy. To stop the hair from falling and to make it grow again rub the lotion briskly into the scalp with the finger tips or a medium stiff brush. Apply night and morning. A few days' use and you cannot find a single loose or straggling hair. They will be locked on your scalp as tight as a vice. Dandruff will disappear and itching cease. In ten days you will find fine downy new hairs sprouting up all over your scalp, and this new hair will grow with wonderful rapidity.

Any druggist can sell you the above. The prescription is very inexpensive, and we know of nothing so effective and certain in its result.

FIFTY FACTORY GIRLS

Hartmann, John Schermerhorn, engineer; Miss Button, Margaret Diamond, Ida Golden, Nellie Gleason, Louise Hartmann, Verna Hamlin, Lena Kennedy, Bessie Ray, Louise Shelp, Catherine Sullivan.

The list of the 134 employees of the company who were on the pay roll Saturday, some of whom were on vacation, is in the safe under the ruins, making the task of computing a list of the dead a difficult one.

Loss Is $200,000.

The loss by fire and water to the buildings and stock of five concerns is estimated at more than $200,000, largely covered by insurance.

The postoffice, built about twenty years ago, was badly damaged, but the mails were saved. A temporary office has been established in the building by garage. The loss of the Binghamton Clothing Company, of which Reed B. Freeman is president, is estimated at about $40,000. This does not include the building valued at $5,000, which was owned by Z. Bennett Phelps, and which was insured for $18,000. The clothing company's loss is covered by insurance. Other losses were sustained by Simon O'Neill, the McKellar Drug Company, and the Binghamton Piano Company, occupants of adjacent buildings.

Slow in Leaving.

The heavy loss of life is believed to have been largely due to the fact that the employees, believing the fire was a frequent fire drill, were being held slow in leaving the building.

The flames spread with lightning-like rapidity, and the intensity of the heat prevented the firemen from getting within fighting range of the building until rescue was impossible. Women and girls, too, weak to go further, dropped exhausted on the stairs. The fire spread to the building, and literally roared to death portions of the bodies dropping into the street. Others jumped and were killed.

Half a dozen of the panic-stricken girls rushed into the elevator which was standing on the fourth floor. A moment later all dropped to their death.

Inscribed on the honor roll are the names of Nellie Gleason and Sidney Dimmick, who stood at their post until the last, watching the lines that went hurriedly past them. Their turn came, but it was too late.

Only the efficient work of the Binghamton fire department prevented the spread of the flames to business blocks lining Water street, between Court and Henry streets. In the building occupied by the McKellar Drug Company, which was the highest, highly explosive chemicals, iron doors and shutters prevented the fire from reaching this building.

Volunteers Helped.

Volunteer firemen employed in the shops along the Erie Railroad, who came to the city yesterday afternoon for their annual tournament, aided the local firemen. In holiday clothes they assisted in running lines of hose to the tops of buildings that were threatened. A fire concert scheduled for last night was abandoned, and today's tournament may not take place.

Reed B. Freeman, president of the Binghamton Clothing Company, estimates there were between 120 and 125 employees in the building when the fire started. He said 80 per cent. of the girls employed were Americans. "It's not the money loss or the business that overcomes me," he said, "but it is the thought of those girls, some of whom have been with us for years, being trapped as they were, and perishing in the flames."

Disliked Drills.

"They perished because they believed the alarm, sounded immediately after the fire broke out, was for a fire drill, several of which had been held in the past few months," said a fireman. "It forced them to appear in the streets in their rough, working clothes. Many of them were proud spirited girls, and they did not like this. The drills were that with complete rest, for three months the girls had been in the streets, and they were not used to it. The British M. P. was decidedly discouraged when Mr. Jones left him. He stays in a Munich hotel and takes his three meals at the hotel, where the doctors can closely follow his case. Mr. Jones said he did not expect that his company will have any trouble through English competition, as cement today is higher in Great Britain than in this country. He is of the opinion that no British capital will come to Canada to be invested in any new cement industry. He expects that the big Pointe Aux Trembles plant as well as the new Medicine Hat plant will be completed in November, and that then the company will have no difficulty in supplying the western demand with the plants located west of Lake Superior. He finds the rate of wages in the States at a higher rate in the States than in Canada, consequently there is very little being imported into the Dominion this summer."

Good Fire Escapes.

Fire Chief Hogg, as he left the ruins early this morning to get a few hours' sleep, declared that in his opinion the fire escape was adequate. "They simply withered from the heat when they got to it," he said. "The escape was a fine structure 42 feet wide by 130 feet long, and was built 18 years ago as a cigar factory. Beside the fire escape, at the rear there were two stairways from the top floor, one to the street and the other to the rear of the building was of wood. The offices and stockroom were located on the first floor, but most of the girls were working on the third and fourth floors.

The fire started in the centre of the first floor, near the stairway. The doors and windows were open at the time, and the fire-like construction of the building created a draft, which carried the flames upward.

tributed to the rapid spread of the flames. A fund for the survivors has been started.

Women Fainted.

Scarcely one of the survivors was able to give a connected account of what occurred on the upper floors of the factory when the employees there, mostly women and girls, realized that the fire call was no false alarm, and that death was stepping down upon them. The coolest among them recalled that women fainted by dozens, and that a scene of indescribable confusion occurred. Some of the men employees seem to have kept their heads, and did their best to rescue the imperiled women.

The fire escapes were not big enough to hold all who rushed madly to the exits and there was a rush for the windows, the girls screaming with pain as the flames swept upon them from behind and seared their bodies.

Jumped From Windows.

Then from windows the fire escapes bodies began dropping. They fell thick and fast. The building was but four stories high, and many who jumped even from the topmost floor escaped with their lives, although most of them were badly maimed. It was on the fourth floor that most of the women operators were working, and it was among these that the loss of life and injury was greatest.

Mary McDonough, an employee in the burned overall factory, told a simple story of her escape. She was on the fourth floor, sitting at her machine, when the fire broke out. The employees on that floor thought it was a fire drill at that time and marshalled into the line slowly. When the flames burst upon them many fainted and a panic seized. Miss McDonough was among those who swooned, and she believes she was carried out by one of the men employees. She reached the street unharmed, and climbed up our ladder. We dropped two girls to the men below. They were standing five or six deep in each window, with the flames waving directly behind them. They were made with pain and the sound of their cries was as if the wind were howling in our ears."

Over in a Flash.

"It was all over in a flash," she said. "The fire burst upon us. There was a period of great confusion. I do not know how I got to the street but I think I fainted and was carried out by someone unknown to me."

Vernon Wilbur, superintendent of service in the burned shop, said: "Lynn Dibbs and I ran to the fire escape, and climbed up our ladder. We dropped two girls to the men below. They were standing five or six deep in each window, with the flames waving directly behind them. They were made with pain and the sound of their cries was as if the wind were howling in our ears."

Only a Joke.

It was just a few minutes before 3 o'clock, when the shop fire first began to clang his warning. The girls were not startled or alarmed. A girl on the crowded fourth floor—the top—called laughingly to a friend in the room below. "It's only another one of the old fire drills. I'm not going down into the street dressed as I am and make a show of myself."

TORONTO HORSE MARKET.
TORONTO, July 22.—The sale at the repository yesterday was a little quiet. The consignments were not as large as they have been during the past two or three weeks, when the sales have been far ahead of the average. Yesterday 144 horses of all classes were offered for sale, over half of them being disposed of. The demand was spread equally over the different classes.

Prices for sound heavy draughts of best axes were $200 to $240; general purpose and express horses, $170 to $200; light delivery horses, $135 to $180; drivers, $130 to $210; serviceably sound horses, $80 to $100; second-hand city workers and drivers, $35 to $50.

PRODUCE AND CATTLE MARKETS.
LIVE STOCK.
TORONTO, July 22.—The run at the Union stockyards yesterday totaled 122 head, including 8,000 cattle, 1,000 calves, 2,000 sheep and 1,000 pigs. The unusually large run of cattle here today caused the price to drop from 25¢ to 23¢. The market was a little better for the trade for good butchers' cattle was very slow, with a decrease of 25¢ being recorded. The sale of good cows, however, remained about steady with last week.

Calves were a little better, but no decrease of any importance was registered. Calves were steady with last week, and were a good sale. The only trade that can be said to have been above normal is the hog market. For the past two weeks this market has been increasing steadily. At the opening today, in spite of the predictions of last week, this market advanced from 10¢ to 12¢. Dealers say that the supply is hardly adequate for the demand, and unless the runs are higher before the close the quotations are liable to increase still further.

The flock for the week in cattle is far from promising. Following today's slow trade, a large number of cattle were left over and lined up for the consignments of the next two days, will tend to keep prices down. The opening run in sheep was a little above the normal, but this market has been fairly steady for the past two weeks. It will not be as seriously affected by large runs during the market as will cattle. Calves will probably remain firm at today's prices. Spring steers, though a little easier today, probably remain steady all week. As has been said before, hogs may do anything this week, but drop the opening run in sheep was a little above the normal, but this market has been fairly steady for the past two weeks. "Intemperance Must Not Be Considered as a Misdemeanor, But as a Disease. The Drunkard Must Be Cured, Not Punished."

[By Eugene Noble Foss, Three Times Governor of Massachusetts.]

Our method of dealing with inebriety is futile. For the habitual abuse of liquor breaks down the power of the human will to a point where a court sentence has no effect in helping the victim to regain his self-control.

20V. FOSS.

Under our present system no attempt can be made by the court to learn the causes of drunkenness. Mere proof that a man has been drunk suffices to satisfy the judge. This is obviously insufficient, yet sentence is imposed.

Now, going to jail does not punish a man effectively. If it did, he would not return for more of the same treatment. His coming back proves that he has lost all self-control and that some way must be found to reach and help him before his will power has altogether broken down.

It is unquestionably sheer stupidity to send the same man to jail fifty successive times for being drunk. Yet this same thing is being done.

If such a man is taken not at his fiftieth commitment, but at his third, or fourth, and incarcerated, not in a prison, but in an industrial or farm colony, AND MADE TO WORK, it is fairly hopeful that he will have health and energy enough left to become a useful member of society.

Once a chronic drunkard is compelled to work hard he will realize the seriousness of being arrested.

We sentence drunkards to long terms of imprisonment, clothing, feeding and housing them. Most of these men are, or should be, wage-earners. In shutting them up we thrust their families into the street to get what they can from private or public charity.

Released prisoners are handicapped for life in their efforts to earn an honest living. I am confident that a large part of the evil of our current method of handling inebriety comes from the disgrace which is cast upon a young man by being sent to jail.

The average county jail is an old building, poorly equipped, doubtfully officered, overcrowded, without proper classification of prisoners, lacking means of exercise, having little or no systematic industry. IMPRISONMENT IN SUCH A PLACE DOES NOT TEND TO REFORM ANYONE.

Owing largely to the congestion of low wage-workers in large cities, the increased cost of living and the twentieth century pressure of industrial life, public intoxication increases constantly. But our method of dealing with inebriety has made no progress during the last one hundred years.

To build up a policy which will lead to prevention and cure, chronic intemperance must be considered not as a misdemeanor, but as a disease.

Our jails, long places of futile punishment, must become moral hospitals.

To bring this about, Massachusetts is now working out a plan whereby the so-called chronic drunkard will be put into confinement very much as if he were mildly insane. The place of incarceration will be a farm colony, where the patient will be given hygienic conditions and put to work.

Such a man must work hard and usefully.

HE MUST EARN MONEY AND THE MONEY MUST BE GIVEN TO HIS FAMILY.

He must stay in confinement until he has conquered his habit.

He must go back to his old surroundings on probation.

Coupled with this proposed reform, I hope that a method will be found by which our courts will extend probation to a larger percentage of early cases of drunkenness, letting the offender off with the admonition that his third or fourth appearance in court will result in his being placed definitely in the custody of the state.

Guards' Demands Rejected by Pope

[Canadian Press.]

Rome, July 23.—The mutinous Swiss guards at the Vatican were given an ultimatum rejecting their demands today and received it with murmurs of dissatisfaction.

They were assembled in the inner court of the Vatican, and notified by their commander that their memorial of Monday, in which they laid down their terms, could not be accepted by the Holy See, as it was destructive of the principle of discipline. He added that those who could not submit to the present military rule were at liberty to return to their homes as freely as they had enlisted. He concluded by declaring the organizers of the agitation dismissed from the corps.

The guardsmen afterward applied for an audience with Cardinal Merry Del Val, papal secretary of state, saying they feared their requests had been misunderstood.

EVERY FOURTH ONE IN CANADA CAME IN LAST 10 YEARS

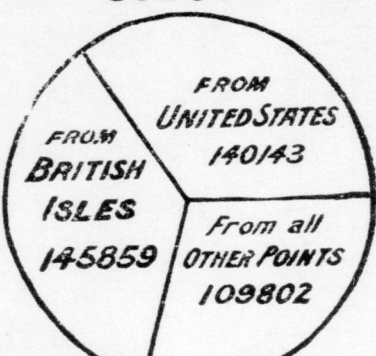

Facts of Year 1912 Shown by Means of Comparative Charts.

Canada Has Become Great Melting Pot of All Nations.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, July 23.—Every fourth person one meets in Canada has come to the Dominion within the past ten years. A tourist in the train or a visitor to any city from coast to coast if he has his eyes open is sure to be impressed with the number of faces he sees that plainly show foreign birth. This continent has become the great melting pot of the nations, and the government report shows that representatives of 90 different nations settled in Canada in 1912. In that year the number who came from the British Isles was 145,859, and from the United States 140,143, the first time on record when the British immigrants outnumbered those from the United States.

"Stay in Ontario."

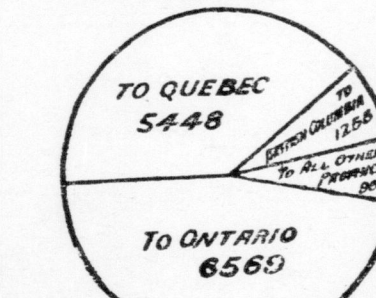

Most people think that the immigration problem is a western one, with Winnipeg as the dividing line. Last year one-half of those settling in Canada chose the Eastern Provinces, Ontario capturing more than any other two.

The Italian immigration is practically all to Quebec and Ontario, but the 1,235 to British Columbia in 1912 are undoubtedly the forerunner of a great tide that will reach the Pacific coast as soon as the Panama Canal is opened.

Steamship companies are already booking passengers for western cities via the canal, and are accepting payment for the tickets in installments. The Italian immigrant, especially the young men, are probably the most studious of any who come from the continent of Europe, and most speedily lose their identity as a foreign people. No educational policy in any city or town in Canada is what it ought to be for unless it includes night schools for work in English by young men and women from whatever nation they come whose children will be as much a part of the nation in a generation as any proud son of Anglo-Saxon origin. Only in this way can they be made an asset instead of a problem.

Aged Wanderer Liked the Pie

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Sarnia, July 22.—Layt Hall, an aged inmate of the Stratford House of Refuge, was returned to that institution by the poor committee of the council.

The old man wandered away from Stratford some two weeks ago, and since that time has been drifting aimlessly from town to town.

He was picked up by the police here last night and given a bed in the station house. Without friends or money he is without an optimistic disposition.

When served with dinner this noon he remarked that the pie was the best he ever ate, and was very enthusiastic over the treatment accorded to him here.

BOARD OF TRADE TO PAY $1,000 TO INDUSTRIAL MAN

But Only After Written Agreement Defining Duties of Mr. Phillips.

Mayor Graham's Promise to Cooperate With the Organization Not Carried Out.

Action of the executive of the London Board of Trade in agreeing to contribute $1,000 yearly to the salary of the new industrial commissioner was ratified by the board at its session last night. The ratification was a provisional one, however, a rider being added that the agreement between the council and board be in writing, and that certain provisions be guarded against. The general feeling of the board was apparently much in favor of having the commissioner act in the dual capacity of publicity man and secretary-treasurer of the board of trade. The members, however, declined to enter into the agreement until they knew definitely just what they were going to secure.

Want Formal Agreement.

On recommendation of ex-President Samuel Stevely, it was decided to ask for a formal agreement that would embody a definition of the time the secretary-commissioner would devote to the board of trade, whether the board would be allowed the use of the rooms to be provided for it in the new city hall for other than board meetings, how the $1,000 salary would be paid, and what the council would expect should the commissioner resign or be removed, and the board left without a secretary.

The question of the use of rooms for other than board purposes was one of the most important in the eyes of the members. The present rooms are being used for holding meetings of various nature—particularly for conventions and visiting deputations. The board considers this an important factor in its work and wanted the same provisions in the city hall rooms, which the council had agreed to furnish in return for the $1,000 paid in by the board.

Should Be in Writing.

Vice-President E. C. Mitchell believed that the action of the council in authorizing the commissioner to act as secretary was comprehensive enough to cover all contingencies that might arise. The other members thought otherwise, however, and the vice-president withdrew his original motion to ratify the agreement as it stood. In favor of one to ratify it, provided the agreement was drawn and the points raised by the members satisfied.

Mr. Stevely, in asking that an agreement be drawn, explained that in the past there had been some difficulty in getting the board and council to work in unison and any agreement should be in writing. He also has something to say about the manner the present council had done business with the board.

Unfulfilled Promise.

"Mayor Graham came here at the beginning of last year and told us that the board would be consulted by the council on all matters of importance in trade and development of the city," said Mr. Stevely. "They haven't been near us except to ask us for this $1,000. I think the duties of the new secretary ought to be defined. The fact that we have to pay out $1,000 is a pretty big item. There are not many thousands of dollars in our treasury, and we don't want to cripple ourselves to such an extent that we will have none left for something that might do the city the most good. I am not opposing the move in having the joint office, but I do think we ought to have the proposition down in black and white."

Vice-President Mitchell, in explaining the verbal agreement entered into by the council, stated that it was part of the program of Publicity Commissioner Phillips to inaugurate a big membership campaign for the board of trade this fall. The suggestion was received with marked approbation.

PERPETUAL MOTION

Italian Inventor Thinks He Has Solved Greatest Mechanical Riddle.

[Canadian Press.]

Turin, Italy, July 23.—Tests have been before scientists here of a machine invented by a mechanician named Florio, by which, it is claimed, perpetual motion is demonstrated. The basic principle underlying the method employed is the contraction and expansion of gas.

The machine collects the caloric energy of the air, which is inexhaustible, and transforms it into mechanical energy. The air is supplied automatically, and the apparatus is in continuous motion by reason of the passage of the gas from the warmer atmosphere to the colder water.

Grasshopper Armies in Countless Numbers Swarm Over Western Country, Eating Every Green Thing

Farmers in Desperation Begin Organized Warfare to Save Crops Next Year; This Year's Gone, Fruit, Corn and Alfalfa—Wheat Has Miraculous Escape—The Grasshopper Liar on the Job.

BY W. H. ALBURN.

Staff Special.

Dodge City, Kan., July 22.—While

the move, marching through fields of late wheat, young corn, kafir and milo. As their wings grew they spread faster and attacked the orchards. Now, with grass and weeds eaten up or killed by the drought, they are a growing menace to all crops.

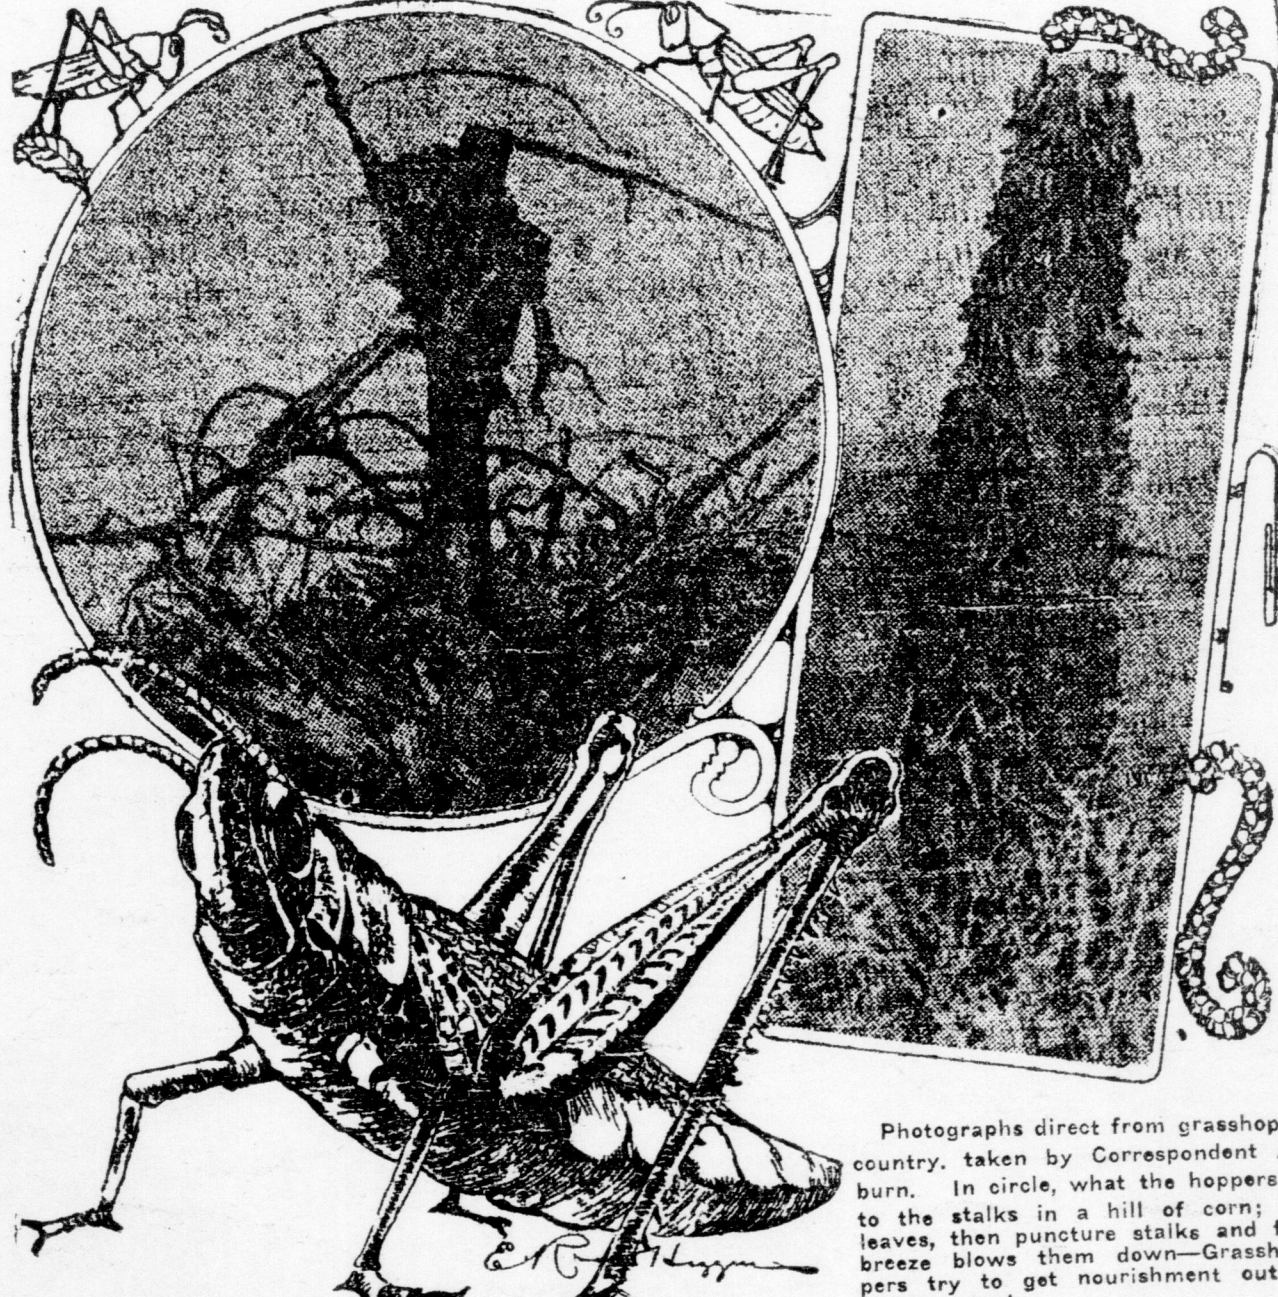

Today I walked into the country to the east of this old "Cowboy Capital." At every step my foot started a little cloud of rasping wings and legs, yellow, brown, black and green.

I saw apple trees stripped of every leaf, green peaches gnawed till bare chewing away like mad on a young maize plant.

The destruction thus far is less a real calamity than a warning. The farmers fear the loss of their forage and fruit crops and a worse plague next year.

And for the first time Kansas farmers are banding together to fight the pest scientifically. The commissioners of Ford county have announced a hopper-killing bee. The county furnishes the "dope" free and the farmers agreed to spread it on their fields. Here's the recipe:

Photographs direct from grasshopper country, taken by Correspondent Alburn. In circle, what the hoppers do burn. In circle, what the hoppers do eat to the stalks in a hill of corn, eat leaves, then puncture stalks and first breezes blow them down—Grasshoppers try to get nourishment out of a fence post.

Bran, 20 lbs.; parls green, 1 lb.; eyerup, 2 qts.; oranges or lemons, 3; water, 3 1/2 gals. Mix and scatter thin in the morning. The hoppers love it dearly as breakfast cereal. They eat it and turn up their toes.

Oklahoma favors the "hopperdozer." It's a long, flat, open tank, mounted on runners, filled with water and kerosene and hauled over the fields by horses. The hoppers jump up, fall into the kerosene and perish miserably to the extent of fifteen bushels a day per hopperdozer.

George A. Dean, Kansas state bugologist, says the pest absolutely can be exterminated by these methods—with the efficient aid of chickens and young hogs, which consider hoppers a great delicacy.

RASH ON FACE HANDS AND ARMS

Skin Would Creak Over and Peel. Spots Large. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Has Not Had a Mark on Her Since. They Also Cured Mother of Pimples on Face.

578 Gladstone Ave., Toronto, Ont.—"My baby's trouble began as a rash and the skin used to sometimes peel off and look as if it were going to get better, but would just creak over again and peel. The spots were large and it used to make her face very red and inflamed all the time. It came on her face, hands and arms, and it used to make her restless at night. She got the rash in March and how I hated to see it on her little face and hands! I tried a lot of different things after that but nothing did any good. I saw the advertisement and sent for samples of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and it started to get better right away. I used them only about once a day, and in little more than two weeks she hadn't a spot on her anywhere. She had it three months before I used the treatment. She has not had a mark on her since and she is two and a half years old now. Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured my baby's rash on my face."

HEAVY SUPPLY OF HAY ON THE MARKET TODAY

Many loads of hay were sold on the market yesterday and today. Twenty-eight on Tuesday, and probably twenty or more today. The price paid ranged from $10 to $13 a ton, and the demand was good. Oats dropped yesterday from $12.50 per cwt. to $11.50, owing to the heavy supply, and the fact that several dealers had cartons of them. Dressed hogs were very firm at $13 to $12.50 a hundred weight, the demand exceeding the supply.

WILL DISCUSS DEMANDING COUNCIL TO RESIGN

Special Meeting of West London Progressives to Consider the Suggestion.

It is likely that a special meeting of the West London Progressive Association will be held a week from tonight to discuss the suggestion made at the Central Progressive Federation at the last meeting, to the effect that a huge mass meeting be held to consider the advisability of asking the present council to resign.

Some of the members of the association have suggested that the council be asked to resign, while others think it would be better to circulate a petition throughout the city, which they feel confident every voter would sign.

There are some men on the council board who are all right, but they are in the minority," said one member of the association. "Of course, they would be asked to resign with the rest if it were put to a vote, but there is no doubt that they would be re-elected in the event of an election. We think that a new council should be elected and the question of the council's action should be left to the voters."

It was charged with conspiracy to defraud Dr. Hans Thorsch, a wealthy young citizen of Vienna, of $115,000 by false pretences in 1911 and 1912.

Newton's companion, Berkeley Bernard Bennett, was sentenced at the same time to eighteen months' hard labor. The judge characterized the crime as a "cold-blooded conspiracy to defraud Dr. Thorsch."

In the course of the testimony it was shown that the defendant had been in the pretense that it was to be invested for him, and the investments chosen were "wild cat" schemes.

Montreal, July 23.—A married man in New York in 1899 and intend to take him back home to California with me.

Such are the claims of Pasquale Ferratta's two "wives," one of whom arrived here yesterday from California, and the other, who has lived in Montreal for some time, Ferratta is behind the bars of the jail charged with the murder of an Italian named Patillo, who was killed in Fresno, Cal., in 1904.

That the case will be fought out in the courts of Ontario was made evident when the two women, each accompanied by a brother, sought the advice of Judge Basin. He told them that the courts of Quebec could have nothing to do with the case.

Giovanni Pazzillo came here from Naples today to be at his sister's side during her troubles. This morning he was arrested on a warrant for bigamy against the man charged with murder, but could not get it. The California wife has in her possession a license, which she claims demonstrates that Ferratta married her.

The Napanee woman also has a wedding certificate and three children.

Resolution of Condolence.—A resolution of condolence to the family of the late Lieut.-Col. J. W. Little was passed by the board of directors last night, being moved by ex-President Stevely, who referred to the great loss his death occasioned to the board. He had been an enthusiastic member of the organization for over 25 years.

Boys in Trouble.—A young man was brought to the jail this morning by High Constable Gumb, who had been charged before Judge Basin with the charge of turning Bailey, of Crumlin, to take $50 belonging to his father. Last night the younger boy stole the money from the house, and both boys were taken to the house, where they bought tickets for Omeme. The constable was notified by Mr. Bailey that they had left for Thorndale, and he caught them as they were about to step on the omnibus.

Death of Hugh Campbell.—Hugh Campbell, son of the late Donald and Jean Campbell, of this city, died at St. Louis on Sunday. He was 22 years of age, and had been ill with pneumonia for a few days. He left London over thirty years ago, after having learned his trade as a printer. He is survived by two sisters, Miss Elizabeth Campbell, of 54 Miles street, this city, and Mrs. C. J. Blodgett, of Marshalltown, Iowa. The funeral will be held from the family residence, 54 Miles street, on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at the residence of the late Mrs. Campbell, at the house and the grave-site, by Rev. T. H. Mitchell, of the New St. James' Presbyterian Church.

WATCHING FOR THIEF.—Word was received by the local police from the chief of police of Gloucester this morning asking them to be on the lookout for a man who broke into one of the rooms in the American Hotel in that place on Tuesday afternoon and stole a suit of clothes and a pair of shoes.

The Gloucester officer thinks the person who committed the theft will try to attempt to dispose of the articles in this city.

COL. LITTLE'S FUNERAL TO BE STRICTLY PRIVATE

Body Will Be Taken From Hazelden to Mt. Pleasant Cemetery.

The family of Col. J. W. Little have decided that the funeral will be strictly private on Thursday afternoon from his country residence, "Hazelden," to Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Many of the citizens and members of the city council have expressed a desire to attend the funeral, but it is not likely that their request will be granted. Who officiating clergyman will be has not yet been decided.

Crippen's Counsel Is Sent to Prison

Defrauded Young Man Out of His Fortune of $115,000.

London, July 23.—A three-years' term of penal servitude was imposed today at the Old Bailey sessions on Arthur Newton, the lawyer who came into so much prominence during the trial of Dr. Crippen for murder.

Newton was charged with conspiracy to defraud Dr. Hans Thorsch, a wealthy young citizen of Vienna, of $115,000 by false pretences in 1911 and 1912.

Newton's companion, Berkeley Bernard Bennett, was sentenced at the same time to eighteen months' hard labor. The judge characterized the crime as a "cold-blooded conspiracy to defraud Dr. Thorsch."

Plan To Validate Imperfect Titles

Many Western Lands in Jeopardy Under Present Conditions.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, July 23.—There is a cloud on the title of a good many acres of land in Western Canada, and pressure is being applied to the Government to have them corrected. When the Hudson Bay Company acquired its land from the British Government, there was a provision in the grant declaring that at any time a right-of-way for a road anywhere could be taken.

Every patent to land sold by the Hudson Bay Company contains this reservation, and it has recently been pointed out that the claim might be made use of in securing a railway right-of-way without compensation.

As the rest is surveyed with a road reservation every mile there is no need for the ancient reservation.

The Government has been asked to issue a future order of the day for this road reservation, and to introduce legislation next session to remove the condition from all patents already issued. It is expected the bill will be introduced.

Hope to Secure Big New Coal Deposits

Scientists Believe Millions of Tons Are in Nova Scotia Fields.

New Glasgow, N. S., July 23.—Millions of tons may be added to the coal resources of Nova Scotia if the possibility of error in the location of the famous Fraser Mountain fault in the Pictou coal beds as suggested by eminent geologists of the party now touring the maritime provinces, and who visited here yesterday, turns out to be correct.

Geologically, the Pictou coal fields are amongst the most interesting in the world, and the feature which has aroused possibly the chief interest is the conglomerate upthrust which cut this bed in two.

Such geologists as the late Sir William Dawson, Hugh Fletcher and Henry Poole entered in placing this fault at a point considerably higher than the mountain and the workings of the big Allan shafts were always supposed to be seriously curtailed by this break in the strata.

Fraser's Mountain is the summit of this conglomerate and point of contact between the conglomerate rocks and the millstone grit had been somewhat a matter of speculation. Some members of the geological party who examined the strata yesterday suggested that possibly this fault was farther north than had usually been thought, and if this theory turns out to be correct it means that the coal resources of the province will be materially enhanced.

Held for Stealing $25,386 From C.P.R.

Regina, July 23.—Sensational developments are expected as the result of the trial of James Wreford, who is held on a charge of stealing $25,386 from the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Four other charges are to be laid against Wreford at the conclusion of the present hearing. When arrested Wreford was found to have several trunks containing goods valued at hundreds of dollars, which were said to have been stolen.

More arrests are in prospect, and those in close touch with the case state that one of the gravest scandals in the history of Canadian railroads will likely be unearthed.

ivray, the Salvation Army immigration agent, is one of the busiest men in town these days. Immigrants are pouring in, and he has to work hard to get them settled in their new positions. Many of the new arrivals are girls, who wish for positions as domes-

Injured By Fall.—William Hill, a farmer on the fifth concession of Lon-falling off a load of hay yesterday. He was standing on the load pitching hay from below, when he took too much on the fork. The weight of the hay caused him to slide off, falling on his back. Dr. MacArthur was called and attended to him, but it is possible that his back is more seriously hurt than appears at the present time.

AROUND THE CITY HALL

An Ex-Reporter.
Industrial Commissioner Gordon Phillips was busy this morning getting straightened out in his new quarters at the city hall. Mr. Phillips is an ex-newspaperman, having been a reporter on the News-Advertiser of Vancouver years ago. From the editorial end of the newspaper game he drifted into the advertising, and from that into publicity and industrial work that made him assistant commissioner of the Winnipeg industrial bureau, and now publicity commissioner of the city of London.

bage collection carts are far from cording to Ald. J. G. Richter the cov-

City Treasurer James S. Bell is taking his holidays by participating in the W. O. B. A. bowling tournament at the greens of the London Rowing and Bowling Club.

Clean Dough Mixing.
Health Inspector James Lutzman has finished his inspection of bakeries and bakeries. According to the inspector, London bakeries are well conducted,
and regulations of the board of health as to proper sanitary appliances and handling of the bread are for the most part observed.

Bricks Are Scarce.
Scarcity of bricks is getting more and more acute, according to contractors' statements, being made to the city building inspector. Pressed brick is now at a premium, and builders are having more than ordinary trouble in securing enough to even begin to rush their work through. The result may be delayed buildings, but relief is promised before the fall.

Speedy Legislation.
When the council referred back the Wortley road pavement on Monday night it inadvertently recalled to mind
some promises made by Mayor C. M.
R. Graham in January of 1912. At that time, the mayor, with much saying of trumpets, announced that he had a policy that would pave many of the "trade arteries" leading into London from the surrounding country.
He stated that work would be started immediately after his inauguration in preparing these roads. Wortley road was one of them. It is not paved yet, but it's going to be—some time. The other arteries will also be paved—some time.

To House "Little Old Car."
Work on the new waterworks hydroelectric plant works and storehouse just south of the Horton street pumping station is being rushed forward. It is expected that the building will be occupied within a month. Among other things this new structure will do with the housing of "that little old car" of the waterworks. General Manager

sion, drives.

No Holidays For These.
School kiddies and school teachers are now enjoying their holidays, but the London school trustees aren't.
Neither is the Collegiate controversy,
or it was better to be said controversy, for their name is now legion. Controversy No. 1—over Principal F. W. C.
McCutcheon's efficiency—has developed into an attempt to reconcile the two factions of the board into consenting to an investigation that will settle the question for all time to come. Controversy No. 2—over the new addition to the school—is one that finds almost as many varied opinions among the board members as does controversy
No. 1.

Pay Yourself Off

Saturday as a rule is pay day and rightly so. It comes at the end of the week when the week's work is done and when there should rightly be some reward for labor. Do you reward your body for the labor it has performed for you? Do you pay yourself off? Are you thankful for the ability to render service? You owe it to your body to take care of it. You can take care of it by taking

Police Asked to Warn Public Against Buying Rotten Goods.

The police have been asked to warn the general public against a woman agent, who, it is alleged, has been selling what is claimed to be kitchen ware from door to door. Those who complained to the detectives stated that the articles secured cracked and soon immediately when heat was applied.

One who complained stated that he was convinced that the ware was not the genuine article, and he wished to warn the public.

A lady visited The Advertiser office this morning with the same story. She said that she gave an order for a three-piece set of the ware. The articles were delivered next day by two men in a carriage, and the lady sought to have them while she tested them. They went away as soon as they were paid, however. She claims that when she tested the set one of the vessels melted. She sought to call the men back but they had disappeared.

She stated that she was anxious to warn the public against buying this kind of ware.

ANNUAL GARDEN PARTY OF ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH

Excellent Musical Program Was Given by Members of the Choir.

The annual garden party given under the auspices of the members of St.
George's Anglican Church, West London, was held last evening on the rectory grounds, and proved a successful event in every respect. Home-made candy and other refreshments were sold at several prettily-decorated booths, and a tableful of plain and fancy articles of the work of the guild, and the King's Daughters, was quite a centre of attraction.

During the evening an excellent musical program was rendered by the Kenrick Male Quartet and members of the choir. Among the numbers given were solos by Misses Elsie Smith and Lillian Finnegan; trio, Misses Hodgson, Smith and Howies; duet, Miss Smith and Miss Jack Power; by Messrs. Dottridge and Barr. The singing of the male quartet, composed of Messrs. L. Barr, Weekes, Adams and Maloney, won especial favor. Rev. Dr.
Sage, rector, acted as chairman. The program was arranged by Miss L.
Gregory, organist of the church.

On the various committees were:
Flower and fruit table—Mrs. S. P.
Sims, Misses L. Calverley, E. and M.
Sims, John Hobbs, Misses E. Hodgson, Lillian Fowler, E. Smith, Alice Andrews, Dorothy Turville and H.
Pope. Ice cream—Messrs. Garrett, Pope, Kershaw, Gregory and Miss A. Platt. Fancy work—Mrs. Sage,
Mrs. Wallace, Walker and Andrews.
Decoration—Messrs. John Hobbs, Neville Pope and Fred Hodgins.

NEW CARTAGE PLAN FINDS OPPOSITION
IN BOARD OF TRADE

Members Object To Change and Want Better Service From the Railways.

Govt. Will Be Asked To Permit Municipalities To Try
Our Commission Rule

Members of the London board of trade do not propose to stand idly by and let the proposed railway cartage scheme, whereby all shippers will have to cart their goods to and from the freight sheds, go into force without raising strenuous objection. Last night the board passed a resolution objecting to the proposed move, and petitioning the Government that action be taken to prevent the change, at least on Oct. 1, when the heavy fall shipments will be on.

Would Disrupt Service.
Following the example of the Hamilton board, the local members declared that the change at that time would disrupt service at the terminals, service that was at the present time insufficient. The members objected to any change at all—except for a better service on the part of the railways. The resolution was sent on to Thomas Marshall, traffic expert of the Toronto board of trade, who is looking after the campaign against the change, while a deputation of local members was named to go to Toronto to the general mass meeting that will be held there shortly to protest to the Government against it.

The members selected to go were:
Messrs. John Marr, of Elliott's Marr
Company; C. A. Whitman, of Hobbs
Hardware Company; William Turnbull, of Edward Adams Company; President
J. I. A. Hunt; Vice-President E. C.
Mitchell, and a representative of the Robinson, Little Company.

Want Commission Rule.
Resolutions were also passed requesting the Provincial Secretary to take some action in appointing a commission for the purpose of passing new municipal legislation, and to Hon. G. E.
Foster, federal minister of trade and commerce, asking for a commission to investigate trans-Atlantic freight rates.

The first resolution asked that investigations be made along the lines of town planning, elimination of slums and such like matters, and at the same time asked that permission be granted to municipalities to try out the commission form of government, suggesting investigations in Europe and United States for the purpose of learning more about commission rule.

Freight Rate Increases.
Trans-Atlantic freight rates are something that is exercising the Toronto Board of Trade. That organization has already adopted a resolution calling attention to the fact that there has been a steady increase of freight rates in recent years apparently with the various steamship companies acting in collusion and asking that the Government appoint a commission to investigate and ascertain by what means the companies justified these increases. At the same time application be made to the Imperial Govt is suggested to the Government that have such matters as trans-oceanic freight rates under its control. The local organization followed the example of the Toronto board.

A request from the international convention of school hygiene to be held in Buffalo, N. Y., on Aug. 25-30, to send a delegation from London was filed. A communication, asking that action be taken along the lines of good road encouragement, was referred to the council of the board.

Before the business of the evening was started President-elect J. I. A. Hunt, thanked the members for electing him to the executive position for the year, the election having taken place during his absence.

RUUD COTTAGE WATER HEATER

At last! A perfect automatic water heater of modest price and capacity for small homes, cottages, bungalows, drug stores, dental parlors or for any special purpose where the hot water supply is limited to one
