Victor St. Residents Hunting Cowardly "Peeping Tom"

HOUSEHOLDERS ALMOST CATCH NIGHT PROWLER

Stranger Lifts Blind With Stick and Exclaims "Hello, Kid!" To Girl.

OFTEN USES FLASHLIGHT

Grabbed By Ankles, But Breaks Away, Sealing Fence To Safety.

WOMEN members of households on Victor street and Euclid avenue have been almost afraid to go to bed at night for the past two weeks on account of the midnight prowling of a "Peeping Tom." This individual, who is believed to be about 40 years old, has been seen gazing in windows between the hours of 11 and 12 o'clock, and has had several narrow escapes from capture on at least three occasions. A few nights ago, Miss Gladys Lott, who is employed by E. R. Newmans, grocer, corner of the Wharncliffe and Pipe Line road, and who lives next door to the store, was retiring for the night when a stick was thrust through the open window, the blind pushed aside, and a voice exclaimed, "Hello, kid."

Miss Lott immediately screamed for help but by the time a search was instituted the cowardly peeper had disappeared.

Miss Lott is still in a highly nervous condition as the result of her experiences. The man had his closest escape from capture last week, when he endeavored to gaze into the parlor of H. Land, 21 Victor street. One of the members of the house seemed to feel that somebody was looking into the house, and she called her fears to one of the men present, who quietly left the house by the back door, walking around to the side yard where the man was standing, and she had been peering from the residence of W. B. Reid next door, peering into the house. He called to the intruder and grabbed him by the ankles. The man rushed to the fence and climbed over it with surprising agility for one of his years.

Mr. Peeper generally wears a grey cap with a dark overcoat when on his prowling, this being his attire when he was seen emerging from a lane near the corner of Victor street and the Wharncliffe road. He was seen again by two men living on the street, but escaped in the darkness. The "Peepers" actions have got on the nerves of the women of the neighborhood to such an extent that on Friday night, when a slight noise was heard in the cellar of one residence, the whole family armed themselves with stove lifters, poker, etc., and proceeded to the cellar, only to find that the family had been locked in the cellar, and was naturally peeved about it.

According to resident of Euclid avenue, a man answering to the description of the individual who has been terrorizing Victor street has been peering into houses on that street at a late hour at night, using a flashlight to shine in the windows. "I think that the man must be crazy," said one resident in discussing the man's movements. "He seems to be fast on his feet, and given a few yards start, he seems to have little trouble in getting away from his pursuers. A close watch is being kept by the men of Victor street and Euclid avenue for 'Tom,' and if caught he will be a fit subject for the hospital in short order."

SUGGEST MEANS TO SETTLE STRIKE

New York, April 22.—Two methods of ending the national coal strike were proffered last night in which leaders of both sides of the present industrial crisis participated. Philip Murray, secretary of the U. M. W., announced that the coal workers were ready to return to the mines at once if congress would apply the bituminous coal commission's wage award of 1920 to present operations, to remain in effect until a conference of miners and operators could be arranged.

Thomas Watkins, president of the Pennsylvania Coal Coke Company, countered with a challenge to Mr. Murray to "put the men to work on the 1920 scale and save yourselves and the whole country a lot of trouble."

800 BIRDS DIE IN FIRE. Montreal, April 22.—Four hundred hens, 200 ducks and 200 pigeons were burned to death or asphyxiated during a fire that badly damaged a henhouse belonging to the Sulpician Fathers in the rear of the Grand Seminary, Sherbrooke street west, last night.

Renew Hunt For Missing Toronto Theatre Magnate

TORONTO, April 21.—A new worldwide search for Ambrose Joseph Small, millionaire theatre owner, is apparently contemplated by Chief of Police Dickson today. Recent developments indicate that the second search instigated by friends and relatives of the missing magnate may be even more comprehensive and spectacular than the one that followed Small's mysterious disappearance.

Small dropped out of the world Dec. 2, 1919. Toronto police immediately started a search. They sent circulars offering vast rewards to police in every civilized nation, they sent officers on trips through the whole North American continent, they even consulted professional psychics—all in vain. Then came a lull. It seemed that the case of Ambrose Small was to be added to the list of unsolved police mysteries.

New Element in Case.

But now a new element has been injected into the case. Gertrude and Florence, the two sisters of the missing millionaire, declare the police have not prosecuted the search with enough vigor and thoroughness.

And Gideon Grant, attorney for the two sisters, says he will ask Attorney-General W. E. Haney to conduct a new probe—a probe he is satisfied will reveal the fate of the missing magnate.

Meanwhile Mrs. Theresa Small, the wife—or perhaps the widow—of the missing man, has spent vast sums to aid the police.

Thus the whole case has been pushed to the fore. Police are reviewing the disappearance itself and the search that followed.

How He Disappeared.

Here is a summary of all that has transpired in the case to date: Small's fortune at the time of his disappearance seems to have been $2,500,000. He controlled 35 theatres in Canada.

On the afternoon of Dec. 2, 1919, he put through a big theatrical deal involving $1,000,000. Then he left for home where he had told Mrs. Small he would take dinner with her at 6:30.

He stopped to buy a newspaper from his favorite newsboy. He entered a barber shop to be shaved by a barber whose services he always had preferred. Both barber and newsboy have signed affidavits telling of their last talk with Small.

After he left his barber Small vanished. He's not since been heard of. Was he kidnapped? Murdered? Or did he flee?

What Evidence Shows.

Police do not know. But here are the scattered threads of evidence they have collected:

Shortly after Small's disappearance John Doughty, his secretary, also disappeared. He was arrested in Oregon. He is now serving time for the theft of $105,000 in bonds, Small's property, but he could not be directly connected with Small's disappearance.

Other mysterious clues are: The letters of "B. B. Friend." These were sent to Colonel Richard J. Haile, an attorney. The writer professed he could tell Small's whereabouts. But the letters led to nothing.

The story of Alfred Elson, caretaker of Rosary Hall here. Elson says he saw a motor car, containing a bundle which might have contained a body, drive up a road near Rosary Hall on the day of Small's disappearance. He thinks the car passengers may have disposed of Small's body then.

Says He Returned.

The testimony of Catherine M. Dunn, formerly a maid in the Small household. She maintains that Small returned to his home in the interval between his visit to the barber and his disappearance.

The alleged vision of Louis Benjamin, Toronto medium, who said Small appeared to him and told him he was at Honey Harbor, Nantucket, Long Island Sound. It was later learned that Honey Harbor is on Georgian Bay, Ontario.

And the village of Veronica, Ontario, pops its head into the case to insist that a man taken into custody as Small a year ago and later released, was Small, despite statements of relatives that the man was a stranger.

That's the confusing tangle of evidence.

OTTAWA FLOOD HAS SUBSIDED

Ottawa, April 22.—When the wind went down last night the level of the Ottawa River receded two inches, according to reports this morning. A further decline today is expected by residents of that place, many of whom are of the opinion that the peak of the flood has been passed.

that memorable afternoon, the far-famed Ypres salient, heralded as such since the first battle, when the German army.

Four or five days prior to the second battle of Ypres the Canadians relieved the French in the salient. The 2nd Canadian (Highland) Brigade held the left of a 5,000-yard stretch. On their immediate right were their comrades of the 2nd Brigade. The boys from Winnipeg, the prairie and the far west. On their left were the Turcos and Zouaves, under French leadership, making what proved to be their last stand in the line. Further back a few hundred yards was the reserves, the 1st Brigade, the Ontario battalions, including the "Fighting First," with the late Col. Becher in command, and his Londoners from the old 7th Regiment.

The brief story of the second battle of Ypres is how a division almost totally surrounded, stopped an army. That much has long since been conceded by the British war office.

The 22nd was more or less a peaceful day along the front, as peace may be estimated in the danger zone. Apparently to lull suspicion, block our supply trains and cover up his own preparations, the Hun hammered continuously the town of Ypres in the rear, the bombardment gradually increasing in violence until late in the afternoon, when asphyxiating gas of powerful intensity was projected upon the British front, and the battle was on.

Subject to the first waves of gas, the men from North Africa, with no means of protection, fell back hastily, and in great disorder. Those who were in the neighborhood that eventful afternoon will remember that the veritable stampede was staged in the general direction of the village of Vlamertinghe and as far back as Popperghing.

The result was a 4,000-yard gap, through which surged regiment after regiment of the German best, following close upon their gas attack. In the course of the confusion occasioned by the 3rd Brigade "sending back its left" to prevent being actually surrounded, four British guns were lost, in a small wood to the west of the village of St. Julien.

Here it was, after midnight the same night that one of the outstanding engagements of the conflict took place. During the night the Canadian line was being unavoidably forced back, and it was seemingly decided that nothing short of a counter-attack would stop the advance if only temporarily. The 1st Brigade from Ontario, as well as all other available troops, had long since been rushed into position, and even at this time were badly battered.

Early the morning of the 23rd, Canadians—the 10th Battalion from the prairies and the 16th (Canadian

COMMENCE TO PLAN RUSSIAN RESTORATION

Russians Hold Out Against Restoring Freehold Title.

REPLY TO EXPERTS

Claim London Solution Would Mean Exploitation of Country.

Genoa, April 22.—George Chitchevin, the Russian soviet foreign minister, gave the Italian socialists and communists a shock today by meeting King Victor Emmanuel on the king's visit here and accepting his majesty's invitation to a luncheon on board the Italian dreadnought Conte di Cavour.

Actual work on a plan for the reconstruction of Russia was started today by experts representing the soviet government, Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan, Belgium, Czechoslovakia and Holland. The heated politics surrounding the Russian problems has been cooled by M. Chitchevin's note accepting in the main the allied formula stating the terms on which the great powers are willing to resume business relations with Russia. The question is thus suddenly changed from political to economic, as far as the Genoa conference is concerned, and there seem to be bright prospects for a successful outcome. The single important point of difference between the Russians and the Allies representatives is the unwillingness of the former to restore the freehold title of foreigners property, which has been nationalized or requisitioned in Russia, although they are willing to restore it to the former owners for their use.

Although the Russian delegates to the economic conference yesterday forwarded to the entente an acceptance in principle of the allied conditions concerning pre-war debts, the scaling down of war debts and compensation for the property of foreigners seized by the soviet government, they also submitted to the conference another document in answer to the report made by the allied experts sitting in London. It declares Turn to Page 16, Column 2.

SHOWS PHOTOGRAPH TAKEN OF THOSE IN SPIRIT WORLD

Conan Doyle in Carnegie Hall Gives Weird Manifestation of Hectic "Ecstasies."

New York, April 22.—Spirit pictures of women long dead conjured up through the assistance of a medium to sit for their photographs, were shown by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle to an audience which filled every seat in Carnegie Hall last night, and between slight bursts of applause, sat waiting he next weird manifestations of the hectic ecstasies by which Sir Arthur explained the pictures and denounced those who doubted them as persons who did not know of what they were talking.

Sir Arthur gave a short talk on the nature of ectoplasm which he explained was "the raw material of psychic phenomena." He said he had felt it after he had seen it emanating from the body of a medium, and knew by the touch that it was a living matter. The substance is of a viscous nature apparently, is projected in rods from the medium's body, and is not only the material by which spirits are materialized, but that by which the phenomena of tableting is accomplished.

Represents Dominion at Baltimore

MRS. SIDNEY SMALL.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 22.—Resolutions embodying in concrete form the work of the pan-American conference of women, which will end officially this afternoon, will be brought in at the closing session by a committee which includes Mrs. Sidney Small of Toronto, Dona Bertha Lutz of Brazil, Senora DeCalvo of Panama and Senorita Elena Torres of Mexico.

The sessions today dealt entirely with the civil and political status of women in the various countries of the American continent. Canadian and South American delegates led in the discussion.

EXPECT LOWER RATES IN WEST

Winnipeg, April 22.—Grain trade and merchant associations have received assurance from Ottawa that on July 1 there will be amazing reductions in freight rates in Western Canada. The railways, it is said, will go back to what is known as the Crow's Nest Pass agreement.

Rates will go down 23 per cent on July 1, it is expected. Goods affected are agricultural implements, fresh fruits, all grains, hardware, live stock, household furniture.

DENIES ALLEGED EMBARGO VIEWS

London, April 22.—Hon. P. C. Lar-kin, the Canadian high commissioner, authorizes the Canadian Press to declare that he has made no public statement whatever concerning the alleged embargo. He states that certainly he has said nothing about "placing a potential weapon in the hands of the annexationists of the prairie provinces," which a cablegram from England to Canada appears to have attributed to him.

For Be She Fair or Dark of Hair He's Sure to Like Her Best In Blue

BY OLIVIA HOGG.

It is a safe guess that every girl who reads this article has a blue frock or skirt—or both.

I bought a blue frock yesterday. The girl who lives next door to me has one. The girl across the road has several. The girl at the shop round the corner seems always to wear blue. The girl I find in the train, the girl I see at the beach, the girl I sit next to at the theatre—in fact, half the girls I meet wear blue. Why this extraordinary preference for blue?

The answer is simple. Blue suits us all.

From Windsor to Kingston search how you will, where is the girl who looks ill in this color? It may become some girls better than others; different shades of it may appeal to different tastes, but it remains an easy all-around favorite.

When in doubt, wear blue. Red is not everybody's color. Green suits many faces, but not all. Violet and yellow are risky. But with blue you are safe.

For be she fair, or dark of hair, blue frocks are sure to please. Remember, too, that every blue of every shade agrees.

Blue has been called an old-fashioned color. So it is. It never goes out of fashion, and that is why it never comes in as "the rage."

Blue suggests purity and simplicity. It appeals to man's heart as no other color does, for most men are incredibly old-fashioned where their own womanfolk are concerned, however much they may admire sparkle behind the footlights.

If "he" tells you that his favorite color is cerise, orange, or peacock green, don't believe him. Wear blue, and watch his eyes.

Most people dislike some particular color. Personally, I dislike purple. Perhaps you object to red, yellow or violet. But do you know anyone who detests blue?

For be she fair, or dark of hair, blue frocks are sure to please. Remember, too, that every blue of every shade agrees.

INVITES UNION TO SELECT ITS BOARD MEMBER

Representatives of Contracting Parties Must Be Chosen by Midnight Wednesday.

WILL PROBE CUT IN PAY

Federal Conciliation Body Also To Hear Counter Claims For Holidays.

The London Street Railway Company and the Street Railwaymen's Union have until Wednesday next at midnight to choose their representative to sit on a federal board of conciliation to smooth out if possible wage disagreements between them.

Saturday morning, Lewis Parker, secretary of the union, received from the office of the Hon. James Murdock, federal minister of labor, official notification that their request for a board of conciliation, has been granted, and that the same will sit directly by representatives have been appointed by the two contracting parties.

Five days is allowed for this procedure, it is explained.

Discussing the question briefly, John Colbert, president of the union, stated that his executive will decide without undue delay who their delegate shall be.

"We have a good man in mind," he said, "but we have yet to make a final decision."

In both instances the representatives must be disinterested parties.

On March 1 last the company instituted a general three-cent an hour reduction, against which the men have filed counter claims, including increased provision for overtime and a regulation that will allow at least one week's holidays each year for each employee.

SLAYER OF WOMAN FOUND IN VAN ADMITS CRIME

Thomas Roche, Chicago Street Car Conductor, Confessed Murderer, and Another Under Arrest.

Chicago, April 22.—Thomas Roche, street car conductor, confessed last night, according to the police, that he had killed, unaided, the woman whose unclothed and mutilated body was found in an abandoned moving van near Roche's home early yesterday. The woman was identified as Mrs. Anna Corliss, 39, a divorcee, formerly of New Haven, Conn.

According to a police announcement, Roche said that the woman had met him on the street on Wednesday night, and had gone to his apartment. He struck her with a revolver, the police said he admitted, after they had quarrelled. A jewelry store had been wearing was found by the police beneath a carpet in Roche's room. Roche said he kept the body there until Thursday night, when they had quarrelled. Roche said he kept the body there until Thursday night, when they had quarrelled. WIFE SLAYER DIES AT KITCHENER

Kitchener, Ont., April 22.—Henry H. Meyers, who shot and killed his wife last Monday afternoon with a double-barrelled shotgun, and then turned the gun on himself tearing a wound in his left side which exposed the heart, died at the Kitchener-Waterloo Hospital at 10:10 o'clock last night. He took a turn for the worse at 4:30 p.m. yesterday and sank rapidly. Although conscious at the last, he died without making any statement.

7 YEARS TODAY AT YPRES, HUNS ADDED POISON GAS TO WAR'S HORRORS

BY WILLIAM SHARMAN.

It was out past the historic town of Ypres, out beyond the village of St. Julien, shortly after 4 o'clock, seven years ago this afternoon.

It was approaching the tea-hour back on the boulevards of "Gay Paris" and over in the swell hotels in "Blighly," but there was to be no regular refreshment period for the members of the 1st Canadian contingent that afternoon, April 22, 1915.

In the space of the few hours that followed—while war's first gas attack preceded Von Kluck's desperate dash for the channel ports—vivid history was hurriedly penned; history that will survive in Canadian memory down through the ages yet to come.

And the following morning the late Gen. Sir Sam Hughes was able to hurl back a silent reproachful answer to the swivel-chair critics and tacticians safely ensconced in home billets, who for weeks previous had condemned him for his "ragged" band of volunteers: the "obvious pick of the Dominion's riff-raff."

The latter were occupying the death-trap of the line

that memorable afternoon, the far-famed Ypres salient, heralded as such since the first battle, when the German army.

Four or five days prior to the second battle of Ypres the Canadians relieved the French in the salient. The 2nd Canadian (Highland) Brigade held the left of a 5,000-yard stretch. Early the morning of the 23rd, Canadians—the 10th Battalion from the prairies and the 16th (Canadian Scottish)—in the face of what seemed to all practically certain death, charged into the wood at the left of St. Julien and recaptured the guns. How few returned when subsequently it became imperative to retire again, after the guns were destroyed, has long since been recorded in the casualty lists.

Suffice to say the members of the party little knew, as was later explained, that they were but the sacrifice, to enable the remainder to fall back and take up a more secure position. British troops at the moment at Hill 60, five miles away, stated that they were all packed up and ready to drop back several miles had the attack failed. Up until that time, the possibilities of the Canadian division had not seemingly been anticipated. So numerous were the tales of the second battle of Ypres, which really continued until the first week in May, that are worth the telling that it would take a volume at least to relate the fortunes of each individual unit, should such an undertaking be possible. And many were the examples of bravery and devotion that passed unnoticed in the heat of battle or the chaos of retirement.

Suffice to say that the German army was stopped and military critics have since claimed that probably the war was then won, as no better opportunity was later afforded the enemy to make Calais and the English Channel.

SEES 'BAD FORM' IN RESOLUTION

Drury Opposes McNamara Motion Urging Increase of Soldiers' Pensions.

Declines To Support Recommendation To Dominion Parliament.

TORONTO, April 21. — Premier Drury took the position in the Legislature this afternoon that it was bad form or bad manners for the house to pass any resolution calling upon the Dominion government to deal in a particular way with any matters which are exclusively in the federal field of activity.

The point came up when the resolution of J. McNamara (Riverdale) was presented, which would put the Legislature on record as endorsing the demands of war veterans for increased pensions, asking that returned men be given preference in appointments to the Dominion civil service, and requesting that the House of Commons appoint a joint parliamentary committee or royal commission of inquiry to reach a satisfactory decision in regard to requests from the returned soldiers for more generous treatment for themselves, dependents and widows.

Claimed Precedent. Mr. McNamara's resolution has been on the order paper since the session began, and this afternoon he explained that the premier had told him he would not support it until it had been altered. The member for Riverdale maintained that he had good precedent for such a resolution from the Provincial house to the Dominion House in a resolution against reciprocity passed in 1911 by the Legislature of this province.

Premier Drury said the resolution was no doubt constitutional, but it was bad form for the province to interfere with questions that were exclusively in the federal field. The constituencies of this province have direct representation in the House of Commons, and there was no need for the Provincial house to take any action.

The Legislature would resent, he said, any memorial from the Federal Parliament on purely provincial affairs. It should work both ways. The action of the Legislature in regard to reciprocity did not alter his opinion as to the advisability of provincial interference. He therefore, speaking on behalf of the government, would not support the resolution.

Cites Alberta Case. Hon. G. Howard Ferguson said that Alberta had passed a resolution which might be interpreted the same way as this one in regard to interference with federal jurisdiction, but he did not think it was being viewed that way by the Federal Parliament.

The question was somewhat lengthily discussed when the reciprocity resolution was up, but it was a far more political resolution than this, and he did not think the Federal house would resent a provincial resolution regarding returned soldiers.

He asked why Hon. Manning Docherty was sent to Britain to get the embargo lifted. That was interference with the rights of the British Parliament.

"I went over as a private citizen, and I brought home the bacon," interjected Mr. Docherty.

"Not yet," Mr. Ferguson replied.

The resolution was not called, and therefore no action was taken on it. Mr. Drury explaining that he would support it if differently worded, but Mr. McNamara declined to change it.

Oat Kernel Sprouts in Ear, Causing Death.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 21.—An oat kernel which sprouted in the right ear of Peter Everson two weeks ago brought on meningitis, from which Everson died in a hospital here last night.

A doctor at the hospital stated that the oat kernel had lodged in Everson's ear two weeks ago, finally causing severe pain and delirium tremens.

Everson was taken to the hospital yesterday morning and was unconscious throughout the day.

HOLD INQUEST INTO DEATH OF PICKARD

Jury Decides Constable Met Death By Gunshot Wound Inflicted By Seimner Noah.

VICTIM'S LEG BROKEN

Three Prisoners To Be Charged at Preliminary Trial on April 25.

Special to London Advertiser.

THAMESVILLE, April 21.—An inquest into the death of Constable William Pickard of this town, who died on Sunday last, was held here today. Dr. Stewart presided as coroner, and Col. P. T. Smith of Chatham acted for the crown. The verdict as given by the jury, follows: "William Pickard came to his death in the General Hospital at Chatham on April 17, 1922, from the result of a gunshot wound, inflicted by Seimner Noah, while he (Noah) Ryckman and Richardson Logan were robbing the Bank of Montreal, Thamesville, on April 9, 1922. Pickard being there in pursuit of his duty as a constable."

High Constable George Peters, the first witness called, gave an account of the part he took in the arrest. William Noah, constable on the reserve, told of finding the gun in the barn on the reserve.

Ross V. McGuire and John Vance, who were present when Logan made a confession, stated that the confession as read to the jury was correct.

Digby Thompson and Ralph Allard told of assistance given the deceased constable after he was wounded. Dr. Elgie of Chatham, who made an X-ray examination of Pickard, states that he found a bullet in the victim's leg, which had broken both bones. He claimed that death was primarily due to gunshot wounds. Dr. Stewart corroborated the evidence of the former witness. Dr. W. L. McIlwraith, who made the postmortem examination, read his report and gave the cause of death as due primarily to gunshot wounds.

The preliminary trial has been set for Tuesday, April 25, at 2 o'clock, in Chatham, where the three prisoners, Noah, Ryckman and Logan, will be charged with murder. C. Lavrenko of the firm of Brackin and Lavrenko, attended in the interests of Noah, while Barrister McDonald appeared for Logan and Ryckman.

NOMINATED BY LABOR. Brandon, April 21.—A. E. Smith, M.L.A., Brandon, was last night nominated by the Brandon Labor Party to re-contest the seat at the forthcoming provincial election.

AWARDS SLIPPERS TO MISS HAUSKIN

Princess Charming Finds Cinderella at Charity Night Ball in Winter Gardens.

MOST PERFECT FEET WIN

Dr. H. A. Stevenson, M.L.A., Presents Prize to Young Woman Who Qualifies.

Finding the girl with the most perfect foot in London was an interesting feature of the charity night held at the Winter Gardens Friday under the joint auspices of the Campbell Becher and Overseas Chapters, I. O. D. E. Just as the famous glass slippers fitted the exquisite feet of Cinderella of fairy lore, so the slippers, a dainty pair of black suede donated by Aspland & Sons, fitted Miss Hauskin, and were presented by Dr. H. A. Stevenson, M.L.A., to the lucky young woman, who danced in them until the ball ended at midnight.

Princess Charming himself, in a velvet cloak and feathered hat, fitted the feet of the guests present, and even though many wicked step-sisters tried to claim the shoes, the slippers were discovered and the hunt for Cinderella continued once more, until the real princess was found.

Welcomed by Regents.

The many guests were welcomed by the regents of the chapters, Mrs. F. J. Greenaway and Mrs. A. H. Clinger. The interest shown in the affair was greatly accelerated by the proceeds. The Overseas Chapter is applying its share to the subscription made to the War Memorial Hospital, and the Campbell Becher Chapter, having completed its quota, will use part of the money in connection with the "big sistering" education work which they have undertaken.

Excellent music was provided by Lombardo's Orchestra, and dancing continued until midnight. Among those lending their patronage were: Mayor Cameron Wilson and Mrs. Wilson, Major Gen. Panet and Mrs. Panet, Lieut.-Col. W. M. Gartshore and Mrs. Gartshore, Mrs. A. Becher and Mrs. T. H. Smallman.

Committee in Charge. The committee in charge of the excellent arrangements consisted of Mrs. Arthur Keene, Mrs. Ralph Slater, Mrs. James Murray, Mrs. W. Hodgins, Mrs. B. Hookway, Mrs. W. D. McGregor, Mrs. H. Morgan, Mrs. G. Keenleyside, Mrs. J. E. Wylie and Mrs. J. E. Richards for the Campbell Becher Chapter, and for the Overseas Chapter, Mrs. Wakeling, Mrs. H. Lobb, Mrs. Hooper, Mrs. Board, Mrs. A. Croden, Mrs. Irwin, Mrs. Mace, Miss Blanch Pigot, Mrs. Adams and Mrs. McMurray.

FORMER NURSING SISTER CONVICTED

TORONTO, April 21.—"She had friends in the days of her prosperity; in the days of poverty they are gone," declared K. H. Greer, K.C., in the county judge's court today, when Mrs. Eileen Beck, convicted of inducing Col. Lawrence Cosgrave to induce a check for $500, and also convicted of two charges of false pretences, appeared before Judge Coatsworth for sentence.

"I can't help it; I'm sorry," said the judge, as he imposed an indefinite sentence of from six to twelve months at the Ontario Reformatory, sentence to date. On April 1, Mrs. Beck is 26 years old, a trained nurse, and served her country as a nursing sister for nineteen months.

World News CUT SHORT

NAPLES, April 21.—Wolves have been seen roaming about the country surrounding Naples. They have been driven into the plains by the cold weather prevailing in the mountains. The peasants are greatly alarmed for the safety of their children and flocks.

The mayor has awarded a prize to a man who killed one of the animals.

LONDON, April 21.—It is stated here that the Bulgarian delegation has presented to the Genoa conference a memorandum asking a moratorium on the payment of Bulgaria's war reparations. The point is said to have been made that the yearly interest is equal to the entire Bulgarian revenue for the year 1922-23.

MONTEVIDEO, April 21.—The National Council of Administration, which is one of the executive branches of the government of Uruguay, is considering the commercial treaty with Russia lately proposed by Leonid Krassin, soviet commissioner of foreign trade, to the Uruguayan minister in Berlin.

The council has resolved that, prior to any further consideration of the treaty, President Bram must define the relations existing between Uruguay and the soviets, as Uruguay has not yet recognized the Moscow government.

LONDON, April 21.—The ministry of health announces that the Rockefeller Foundation has acquired a site for the proposed school of hygiene in London. The foundation provided $100,000 on the understanding that the British government would become responsible for supplying the staff and maintaining the school.

The site is in Bloomsbury and adjoins land preserved by the government for new buildings for the University of London. The purchase is the result of a meeting a few days ago between Mr. Rose, a representative of the Rockefeller Foundation, and the ministry of health committee.

MADRID, April 21.—Spain's new taxation program, which Minister of Finance Bergamini will present at the forthcoming session of Congress, includes an annual tax of 360 pesetas for private carriages, 120 pesetas for saddle horses and from 660 to 2,500 pesetas for automobiles, according to their horsepower. Extra taxation will be imposed on specially luxurious bodies.

Holders of titles, whether Spanish or foreign, will be taxed 10 per cent. Duty is imposed by the measure upon inheritances.

Those whose incomes are below 2,000 pesetas annually are exempt from income taxation. Bachelors over 25 years of age will pay more income tax than married men.

Domestic postal rates are increased. Interior telegraph tolls will be 10 centimes per word, with a minimum charge of one peseta per message and a charge for deferred telegrams are abolished.

A proportional tax on business turnovers is provided, but the amount is not yet fixed.

MOSCOW, April 21.—A partially itemized bill for the billions of gold rubles which the soviet state plans to send at the Genoa conference for damage done to Russia was announced yesterday by the Rosta, the official Bolshevik agency, simultaneously with the news of the Russo-German treaty. The claims are against the Entente powers.

Among the items are the following: Confiscation by the Czechoslovakia at Jaroslavl of gold valued at 15,000,000 rubles.

Confiscation by the Japanese of six large ships of the Amur flotilla, with cargoes of gold valued at 1,000,000 rubles. The value of the ships is not estimated.

Kolchak's destruction of 167 railroad bridges, valued at 20,000,000, and other railway property "worth hundreds of millions." The damage inflicted at Yaroslavl on the Volga is fixed at 52,000,000 rubles. Kolchak at Kazan confiscated more than 1,000 pounds of gold, worth 641,000,000 rubles.

The damage in Ukraine by Denikin and other raiders is placed at 60,000,000.

BERLIN, April 21.—In 1920 Berlin had 55,000 burglaries as against 11,000 in 1909. Last year's figures have not yet been compiled, but are undoubtedly larger than those of 1920. Business houses, particularly those in the cloak, suit and textile trades, have been particularly hard hit by the wave of crime. These trades have now organized for self-protection on model lines—for Berlin—having found inadequate the present police protection of 2,300 night patrolmen for Berlin's 5,000 streets, many of which are miles long.

From tonight a "dead line" is being drawn at night around the center of the clothing trade section of Berlin, bounded by Kronen, Jerusalem, Markgrafen and Mohren streets, an area approximating four square city blocks. Uniformed watchmen on foot and civilian cyclists will patrol the periphery of the forbidden section from the business closing time until one hour after business reopens in the morning, and nobody will be permitted to cross the dead line, either entering or leaving the district, unless able to prove that he has legitimate business there.

If it proves a success, the system will be extended to other burglarized districts.

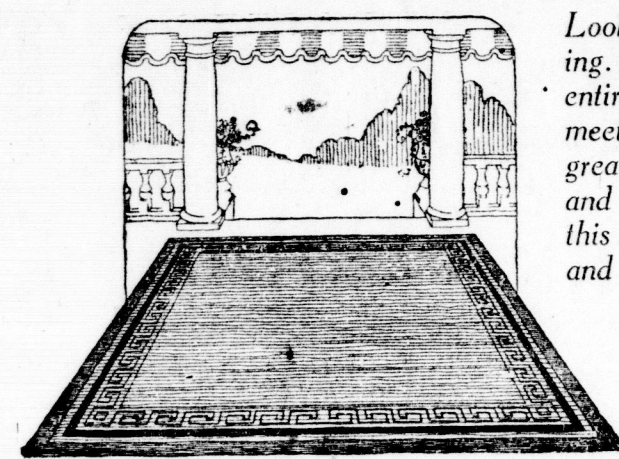

FINDS CONDITIONS IN BRITAIN BETTER

STRATFORD, April 21.—That the serious unemployment situation in Great Britain is gravely reducing itself is the opinion of J. L. Bradshaw who has returned from his 57th crossing of the Atlantic. A marked improvement is also noted in general business conditions. While in London, Mr. Bradshaw saw Misses Edith and McDonald, local teachers, who are interchanging with English teachers.

A Man had two Dreams

The first dream set him thinking, hoping and wondering. A dream of a little home for himself and his family. In this dream-home were comfort, contentedness and happiness.

He awoke from that dream believing it hopeless—yet he dreamed on and hoped and wondered.

The second was less cheerful. He dreamed his life ended while his family were yet young. His wife was left without funds or means of support. His sons and an only daughter were obliged to leave school and take positions. The dream awakened him with a shudder.

The value to him of a Huron & Erie Insured Savings Account immediately became clear. He could set an objective of $1,000, $2,000, $3,000 or more and reach his goal at the end of 120 months. At his age—39—the monthly deposit for an objective of $1,000 is but $9.59. Should he live and make his deposits he would, at the end of the 120th month, have at his credit $1,165. In addition, there would be the accumulated dividends, together with the interest thereon.

Should his life end after his first deposit is made and his application accepted, his wife and family would have $1,000 in cash. Should he die after making deposits for many months they would receive not only $1,000, but in addition, all his accumulated savings, together with the accumulated dividends and interest thereon.

This man determined to make his first dream come true. He has opened an Insured Savings Account, and thereby makes certain of the future. He finds it easy to keep up his monthly deposits. At the end of 120 months he will, if he lives, have over $1,165, which can be applied to ward the purchase of the little home of his dream.

You may set as your objective $1,000 or any multiple thereof up to $100,000.

Make YOUR dreams come true! Telephone, write or call at our nearest branch for our booklet "1,000 For You." It shows how The Old Huron & Erie will place more than $1,000 in your pocket in 120 months.

RAP MAYOR'S SH! SH! SESSIONS

Aldermen Douglass and Judd Object to Urgency Calls.

All Firemen Slated To Go Are Married Men, It's Found.

Protests against the secretiveness and suddenness with which Mayor Wilson calls the secret sessions of his special salary committee are to be made at the next meeting of that committee by Aldermen L. A. Douglass and A. M. Judd.

These two aldermen refused to leave their business at a moment's notice on Friday morning and attend the meeting of the committee at 10:30 o'clock. Ald. Douglass was notified of the meeting at 10:15, or just fifteen minutes before the meeting was to start. He had no other notification, and it is absolutely certain that the calling of a meeting on such notice, there is a proper time specified for calling a meeting and a proper way," said Ald. Douglass.

Unseemly Haste.

Both the aldermen could not understand the unseemly haste. There was nothing so urgent about the matter that sufficient time could not have been allowed for the aldermen to arrange so that they could have been on hand, they contend.

And Ald. Douglass was considerably angered when informed just what the committee of three—Aldermen Childs and Ashton and Mayor Wilson—had decided.

It was this committee that revoked the previous agreement that nine men be dismissed from the department and two superannuated, so that only six will be dismissed.

"I believe that there was not a quorum of the committee at a meeting," said Ald. Douglass, "so that the decisions, if any reached, will be subject to review, and I certainly intend to protest if there are married men, single men supporting widowed mothers, or returned soldiers among the men who are being let out from the department. These are men which the city is in duty bound to retain in employment," declared the alderman.

By the decision of the committee, the last three men hired and three others taken on during the war period, who were over the department's age limit will be let go.

All Married Men.

The whole six men are married men, and of the three last taken on the department two of them are returned soldiers.

During the discussion between the committee and the fire captains, Capt. J. Mitchell informed the meeting that there were several single men who had expressed the intention of resigning their positions rather than have married men with families let out at a time when work was scarce.

Attention has been called to the fact that though the aldermen were not notified individually of the special meeting of Friday, the mayor's journalistic supporter was evidently informed that the meeting was to take place. The courtesy of a notification of any one of these meetings have never been accorded The Advertiser.

White Robin Pays Third Annual Visit To Sick In Hospital

RESIDENTS of Riverview avenue have as their guest for the third successive season a novelty of the "bird world."

A robin, with a white body, with tail feathers almost entirely white, with white and head of a natural grey, arrived recently from its long trip to the southland.

It is frequently seen on the lawn of the Bethesda Hospital, bringing interest into the rather cheerless days of the sick.

ONLY ONE CASE IN WEEK REPORTED

One bad case of scarlet fever was the sum total of the outbreak of serious communicable disease in London during the past week. There were no cases of diphtheria and the only other disease reported were the common types of whooping cough, according to Dr. Downham, medical officer of health.

During the week previous, four cases of diphtheria were reported and one of measles, while whooping cough led with a baker's dozen, making 32 victims in all suffering from this malady.

MRS. MARGARET McLACHLIN, who fell down some stairs at her home in the Rowntree apartments on Stanley street, Thursday noon, breaking her left arm in two places, is improving rapidly. It was stated Saturday.

Mrs. McLachlin was summoned for a few minutes after the fall, and was badly shaken up.

THOMAS MAHER, found guilty a week ago of not maintaining his wife and family, was allowed to go on suspended sentence in police court Saturday morning when he promised to provide for his family. Maher was bonded in the sum of $100 to appear in a month. He promised to obtain work in the city.

IN AN EFFORT to recover the sum of $243.60, which they claim is due them for goods sold to the defendant, McLean, Bean & Nelson of Montreal, through the solicitors, Meredith & Meredith, have entered a writ in the local county court against The Lavender Sales Company of this city.

AS A RESULT of the campaign instituted by the police to prevent people walking across boulevards in the early spring, a number of citizens have received summons to appear in court.

The police issued a warning time ago that offenders in this respect would be prosecuted, but it had little or no effect on some careless individuals, who will now be forced to pay for their "short cuts."

MORE THAN SIXTY attended the Mother and Son banquet which the prep boys held in the Y. M. C. A. hall last evening. This was the closing supper of the season. Moving pictures were shown, and Wilfrid Spearman, assistant boys' secretary, outlined the activities of the boys during the past year. The mothers of the boys present were taken on a tour through the building and were shown the different departments.

AT THE NEXT regular session of the board of education, Trustee Edwin Smith, chairman, will give notice of motion that at a subsequent meeting he will move that such gatherings will be held twice a month in lieu of once a month, as at present. Before that date, however, the chairman will call a special meeting of the board of the various committees, as well as the senior members of the board to discuss ways and means of expediting board procedure.

REV. T. D. McCULLOUGH, district secretary of the Ontario Social Service Council, will be in Stratford Sunday in company with the general secretary, Gilbert Agar. Rev. Peter Bryce, director of child welfare, and Alex. McLaren, the community secretary. These four are to officiate at morning and evening services in four of the Stratford churches, dealing largely in their sermons with the work of the Social Service Council. On the Monday following, it is expected that there will be a meeting held with the object of reorganizing the Stratford Social Service Council.

STUDENTS EXCEL IN LIGHT COMEDY

Western University Fraternity Presents "Wurzel-Flummery" in School Auditorium

DISPLAY UNUSUAL TALENT

Little Theatre Players Also Stage "The Hour Glass" in Delightful Manner.

The Little Theatre Players of Western University closed the season in a burst of glory at the Medical School auditorium Friday night, when they presented a light English comedy, "Wurzel-Flummery," and a much heavier piece, "The Hour Glass," by W. B. Yeats.

Both offerings of the players were exceptionally well received by a fairly large and much-appreciative audience.

Fred Hallet had an extremely difficult part to play as the "Wise Man" in "The Hour Glass" and gave perhaps the most finished rendition of the evening. Mr. Hallet might well rank in the professional class, and deserves the highest praise for his work.

Gwen Williams made the most of a difficult part, while Eleanor Anderson, Alison Bower, Eleanor McCormick and Alison Bower all showed considerably more than average ability in the Yeates play, which was directed by Margaret Glass.

Miss Glass and Margaret Gemmill, under whose direction the comedy was staged, deserve credit for the able manner in which the plays were put on.

"Wurzel-Flummery," a one-act comedy, written by A. A. Milne, a former editor of "Punch" while serving in France, was greatly appreciated by the student audience.

King Boughner, as Robert Crawshaw, M.P., a fussy old gentleman who thought more of £50,000 in cold hard cash than he did of the family name, was splendid. There was not a dull moment in the whole offering, which was due, not only to Mr. Boughner, but also Marie Loughlin, Kathleen Richardson, Edward Cowley and Grant Wiley.

Selected by the Little Theatre Orchestra under the leadership of Helen Gordon Patterson, were greatly appreciated.

NUMBER OF CALLS FOR ASSISTANCE INCREASES

Soldiers' Aid Commission Gives Relief to 148 Families in March.

A greatly increased activity on the part of the local branch of the soldiers' aid commission is shown by the report which was considered by the executive committee of that organization at a meeting Friday afternoon.

During the month of March, the calls for relief were numerous. One hundred and six families were given assistance. Aid was given 53 children, the total amount involved being $2,584.

Of family cases alone, Secretary Lance told the executive there was a total of 148. The relief given was mostly in the form of necessities.

Dealing with the question of unemployment relief, the secretary's report stated:

"With effect from March 17, 1922, the commission undertook to care for soldiers' families where unemployment was the only trouble, in addition to the ordinary welfare work. This has resulted in a tremendous increase in relief granted, but it is understood that a refund will be made of 75 per cent of the cost of the unemployment work if the work is undertaken on behalf of the city authorities."

"In all cases the men must secure a certificate from the employment bureau, and then a careful investigation is made. If conditions warrant assistance, food, fuel, shoes and underclothing can be supplied to married men, and board and lodging for single men."

FIRE STEAMER IN DUBLIN HARBOR

Dublin, April 22.—Fifty armed men raided the steamer Rathlin Head, anchored here, this morning, on board, sprinkled the decks and fittings with gasoline, set the vessel afire, and made off.

The crew of the Rathlin Head, with the assistance of regular Irish republicans, army troops, extinguished the flames before any very serious damage had been done.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH PUTS ON TAG DAY FOR BUILDING FUND

$25,000 Is Objective and Several Thousands Have Already Been Raised.

To give the citizens of London generally an opportunity to contribute towards the fund with which a beautiful red brick and white stone church will be built in the near future on Elizabeth, near Dundas street, the Christian Church, in this city, is conducting a tag day, Saturday.

Several thousand dollars of the total amount of $25,000, which is the objective of the fund, has already been secured, and it is expected that the results of Saturday sales will make a substantial addition to that amount.

The property on the corner of Dundas and Elizabeth street, upon which the present church now stands, is to be sold by tender, and the old church building, which has been a landmark for many years, will give way to business houses, it is expected. The new church building will be erected on the rear of the present property, and on a block of land secured from Dr. Seaborn.

Winnipeg Postmaster Finds Local Applicants Intelligent Lot of Men

T. T. Bower, postmaster at Winnipeg, spent Friday afternoon and Saturday morning in London examining applicants for three positions vacant in the local postoffice. He was sent here by the postal department at Ottawa.

Five applicants for the post of deputy postmaster, a dozen for that of supervisor of outward dispatch and an equal number for the post of overseer of letter-carriers all met Mr. Bower individually and had a ten or fifteen minute talk to him.

It is evident that Mr. Bower is to look over the candidates, and from their appearance and their show of intelligence in his conversation with them judge each of the candidates. His report on the fitness of the men for the position, their general rating and service, will be the factors to be considered in making the appointments.

"I found that London has a splendid staff. In fact, I was surprised to find such an intelligent lot of men in a post office department of a city this size," said Mr. Bower, thus answering indirectly the contention of the Civic Service commission that the applicants for posts in the London postoffice were a mediocre lot of men.

"I had an informal talk with the boys on Friday," continued Mr. Bower, "and I took the opportunity to tell them what a highly intelligent lot I had found them to be."

Mr. Bower said that he is going on to Detroit on Monday to study the layout of the postoffice in that city and will also visit Chicago and other American cities, and as a result of his tour will present recommendations to the postal department.

The post of deputy postmaster has been vacant since July last when the then deputy stepped up as postmaster.

The post of overseer of outward dispatch has been vacant for a similar length of time when Neil McNeill was superannuated. About the first of the year it was announced that when Mr. McNeill's leave was up on Feb. 1, Martin Heystead, the then overseer of letter-carriers, would be named for the supervisor's position, but a few weeks before he was to have taken over his new duties, Mr. Heystead died, thus leaving the two posts vacant.

Shortly afterwards, the civil service sent word to the city that Chas. Perrin, a mail sorter, had been appointed to the position of overseer of letter-carriers, but Mr. Perrin had never applied for the position, and so the other applications still stand and are being considered.

ASHTON CLAIMS SKIRTS CLEAR

Refuses To Accept Labor Party Challenge To Go To People.

Declares Ashplant Talks Only For Publicity and Does Not Seek Support.

Alderman John Ashton will not accede to the demands of the London Labor party and test the feeling of Ward Three at the polls.

"They have nothing on me," Alderman Ashton declared Saturday morning. "It's all foolishness for them to act the way they have been acting. I have never signed any agreement with them that would necessitate my resignation."

"In any event, it is only three or four of them—Mould, Ashplant and Thompson, and the others. I couldn't back up Ald. Ashplant. He does not want me to in any event. He is only talking for publicity."

"I have no quarrel with those fellows, but they do not want to give me a chance. They speak of the cut on the garbage men. When it was done, the ones who made the cut admitted it was a mistake. I don't think they should have been reduced, and I believe that the mayor and council will only be too willing to give them their wages back."

"They must give us a fair show, however. We must get the firemen and policemen straightened away first. However, it's all foolishness this action by the labor party. I am not losing any friends by it. I ward 3 anyway. This bunch never supported me any time. Neither did they support John Colbert when he was elected."

Ald. Fred Watkinson could not be located Saturday morning.

The municipal act is not specific in dealing with cases of vacancy on a council in cities where aldermen are elected by wards, but the act immediately a seat is vacant an election to fill the post must be held within a reasonable time.

This was shown in the case in Ward 4 in 1921, when the late Mr. Moorehead died. Shortly afterwards an election was held to fill the seat, and Ald. Childs was elected.

TEST SOIL OF NEW HOTEL'S SITE

Five men have been engaged for the past few days in sinking artesian wells on the new Lloyd George Hotel site.

Tests are also being taken of the geological structure of the soil preparatory to laying the foundation.

"It's no longer question of selling stock," said H. C. Howard of the Lloyd George Hotel Company. "The hotel is going up anyway."

When the fairly good luck the hotel should be ready for business by New Year's Eve, 1923," he said.

J. P. Anglin of the firm, Anglin, Norcross & Co., will arrive in London next week to personally superintend the construction work.

Magistrate Finds Woman Guilty of Selling and Imposes $400 Fine

Mrs. Rachael Church, 121 York street, was found guilty of selling liquor at her home on April 18 and 19 and fined $400 or 6 months in jail on each count when she appeared before the court on Saturday morning.

In giving judgment, Mr. Graydon stated that he thought a sale had been proved without any doubt, and even if Mrs. Church had not actually sold the liquor, she was responsible for what took place on her premises.

"I have not the slightest hesitation in saying that this woman knew liquor was being sold there," said the judge. "I am satisfied this reputable place, and I don't think that she is giving the liquor away. There is no place in London that has such a bad reputation. I will impose a fine of $400 or costs or six months in jail for each offence."

Inspector Lucas stated that he looked through a hole in the blind into the dining-room of the house and heard Miss Irene Smith ask someone to buy a drink. Later on she asked someone else to buy a drink. There were three men in the room.

The inspector stated that he heard a man ask how much, and saw Miss Smith take two bills from him. The drinks cost $2.50. Another round cost somebody else $3, and Miss Smith took this money, too.

Sergeant James Oakley stated that Mrs. Church refused to open the door when she knew the police were outside, and it had been necessary to break in. He hurried through to the kitchen, and found one of the inmates breaking a bottle of whiskey on the wall. There was a lot of whiskey on the floor.

Mrs. Church denied that she had sold any whiskey. She had not had a drink out of the bottle that had been brought there by one of the men. Her husband had been in the habit of getting four or five a month, and she got two, which accounted for the large number of empty bottles found in the summer kitchen and on the cellar stairs.

Chief Birrell did not offer any evidence against Miss Smith, and the case against her was dismissed.

ASK ALDERMEN TO QUIT SEATS

Members of London Labor Party Challenge Watkinson and Ashton.

Would Test Attitude of Ward Votes in By-Election.

"In view of the fact that Aldermen Fred R. Watkinson and John Ashton have for a number of years represented Labor in the city council, and have gone before the electors on a Labor ticket in a Labor ward, we now challenge them, because of their recent attitude upon city issues directly affecting Labor, to resign their seats at the council and test the feeling of that ward in a by-election."

Such was the resolution passed by the members of the London Labor party in regular session at the Labor Temple, Friday night. But two of the delegates opposed the move, MacKay and Stelk.

As the first move the party indorsed the report of the executive committee recommending that the labor element cease to recognize the two councillors as Labor's representatives. Complete unanimity prevailed in this respect, although certain of the delegates urged that both men be voted out without further parley and incidentally asked to resign.

"We know that they won't resign," said Arthur Mould, "because any man who double-crosses the party as they have done is not man enough to resign."

"Is it not true that Alderman Ashton has already resigned?" questioned J. F. Thompson.

The chairman, ex-Alderman John Colbert, replied that no communication to that effect was at hand.

While Frank MacKay voted that the aldermen be ignored in future by the party he was opposed to pursuing the matter further.

Urged "Recall."

William Tite urged that as the "initiative, referendum and recall" was one of the planks of the labor party, the councillors should be asked to resign.

Speaking to the executive report, ex-Ald. John Colbert, president of the Street Railwaymen's Union, declared "in view of what has happened here we could not see what we could do but to ask you to repudiate them as your representatives."

The matter even worse was their attitude at the last meeting of the council when they again opposed Ashplant on the "bonus question."

He discovered that seemingly the mayor has signed the checks for these bonuses despite the fact, as we understand it, they were to be discontinued this year.

At this juncture two of the delegates moved that all preliminary discussion be averted and the two aldermen be asked to resign. "The masses elected them. Now the masses ask their recall," they said.

"Since he appeared before the executive Ald. Ashton has opposed labor," declared William Tite. "If you consider his stewardship on the council during the past two years and four months you will find that he has always voted with the mayor of the day, despite his pledges to the party."

After certain discussion upon the bonus issue, during which Alderman Ashplant spoke at considerable length, J. F. Thompson declared that Alderman Watkinson was even more to be blamed than Alderman Ashton. "He took a leading part," he said, "in the fight against the civic fish stall, as well as the move to turn the old system of garbage collection. Then he was against labor's wishes."

Blames City Engineer.

William Stewart, secretary, questioned whether it was not City Engineer Brazier who was really to blame, as he understood that Alderman Ashton, as chairman of No. 2 committee, had left the matter mostly at his discretion, upon the grounds that he had always shown fairness to the men.

R. H. Hessel objected to this, holding that Alderman Ashton had made the open admission at the Labor Temple that he had voted injudiciously.

At this point one delegate interrupted the proceedings abruptly with the exclamation: "As a member of the council, I say that the men who are the cause of this matter, somebody is trying to smooth things over here tonight. I'm getting tired of this discussion. Let's get it finished."

After further discussion and the consideration of a resolution from the Independent Labor party couched in similar language, it was moved and passed that the two councillors be challenged to test their case at the polls.

Canadian Labor Party To Open Membership Drive in City

WITHIN a few days the local branch of the Canadian Labor Party will open a campaign in the city for an increased membership. It is now possible, it is announced, for individuals to enter the party as individuals and not as members or representatives of unions or similar bodies.

The officers of the party state that they have many such applications on hand and have accordingly asked headquarters for a charter. When the latter arrives a special open meeting will be held when a new branch will be established.

TO OCCUPY NEW ST. JAMES' PULPIT

Rev. A. B. Winchester, formerly pastor of Knox Church, Toronto, will preach in New St. James' Presbyterian Church at both the Sunday services. Mr. Winchester, who is a lecturer of international reputation, is an earnest student of the school of pre-millennialism, and his work in this direction has been considered so valuable by Knox Church, Toronto, that he is being kept on salary by the church board, in order that he may be free to lecture on the subject.

RIAL KARN.

The death took place Friday at St. Joseph's Hospital of Rial Karn, 77 years old. The funeral will be held at Thamesford Sunday afternoon. The services will be conducted at the Thamesford Methodist Church.

JOHN DOLAN.

John Dolan, of 367 Maitland street, a railway mail clerk, died suddenly at his residence Saturday morning. Mr. Dolan was taken ill immediately after completing his run Friday night. He was 46 years old. Besides a wife, he is survived by one son, John Dolan, four brothers, Michael and Thomas of Stratford, Martin of Grand Rapids and Peter of Toronto, and one sister, Mrs. Hushing of Stratford.

ARTHUR J. PEARSON.

The funeral was held Thursday of Arthur J. Pearson, who died suddenly while at his work at D. S. Perrin's Tuesday morning, from his residence, 22 Evergreen avenue. Interment was made at Woodland Cemetery.

Mr. Pearson, who was 62 years of age, is survived by a widow, Elizabeth Pearson; one son, William; four daughters, Misses Effie, Elva, Olive and Miriam, at home; one brother, Joseph Pearson of Stratford; and two sisters, Mrs. Rowe of this city and Mrs. Merrick of Stratford, also survive.

COURSEY'S DANCE HALL BURNS IN EARLY MORNING

Mysterious Fire Destroys Building and Damages Houses and Barn.

Fire completely destroyed the Coursey dance hall, 745 1/2 Grey street, at 4:20 o'clock Saturday morning, igniting a barn at the rear of 18 Hyatt avenue and damaged two houses adjoining the dance hall. The total damage is estimated at $2,000.

The origin of the fire is unknown. There had been a dance in the hall Friday evening.

When the firemen arrived the fire was burning so fiercely that it seemed as if a number of houses would be burned. Two colored gentlemen, both deaf, were taken from one of the houses by the firemen because it was feared that it would become ignited.

The dance hall, which is a single story frame structure, was valued at $1,000.

GIVES BIG MONEY RETURN

William Holland Delivers Instructive Address Before Poultry and Pet Stock Association.

"There is nothing that will give better returns for the money invested than a good chicken farm," declared William Holland in an address before the members of the London Poultry and Pet Stock Association in Uster Hall, on Friday evening.

Mr. Holland is the owner of a large chicken farm, and his timely advice on the raising and caring for poultry proved valuable.

He advised chicken fanciers to hatch chickens early in the year, as the best results are then obtained. "Chickens that are hatched early in the year are not only much stronger, but they lay during the winter, when eggs command a high price," he stated.

He also urged that an account be kept. "It is then possible to know the price you are paying for feed, and what your returns are. Mr. Holland stated that he kept an accurate account, and could tell the price of eggs each week during the past six years."

In connection with the meeting an exhibition of Single Comb White Orpingtons and Dark Cornish birds was held. The prize-winners were: W. H. Henderson 1, George Young 2, W. H. Henderson 3 and 4.

AIM TO BETTER LOT OF NEEDY

Social Service Workers To Submit Reports On Various Phases of Work.

Father Brennan Would Organize Body of Volunteer Housekeepers in London.

Definite action toward the betterment of condition among the needy is promised as the result of the conference of various units in the city engaged in social service work, which was held in the Y. M. C. A. on Friday evening.

The committee which was responsible for calling together the conference was appointed to call a second meeting at a date yet to be set, when the members will be prepared to submit reports on the relief of housing conditions, the provision of baths and other matters which are connected with the question of relief for the poorer and less fortunate inhabitants of the city.

The need of definite action was made evident to the delegates present by various speakers at the evening, who each dealt with one particular phase of social service and relief work in the city.

Rev. Father Brennan, the first speaker, dealt with the work of the Vincent de Paul Society, and offered the suggestion, which had occurred to him as a result of his work with the society, that a body of women be organized which would be willing to give relief in the homes of the city such as a woman only could give. In cases where a wife might be ill they could act not as a nurse but as a housekeeper, in order that the children might continue in school and the father at his work without interruption.

Hugh Murray spoke of the work of the Kiwanis Club in caring for 66 boys, including those through the crucial ages of from 8 to 13, and up to manhood, with the intention of making of them 100 per cent citizens. He announced the intention of the Kiwanis Club to hold a summer camp at which 200 boys from various towns of Western Ontario would be the guests of the club for a four weeks vacation under canvas.

Following Mr. Murray's discussion of work among underprivileged boys, Miss Helen d'Alvion spoke of the work carried on among girls of the underprivileged class, and of the great need that an example be set them by girls of the privileged class. She also referred to the need of promoting a friendly spirit among girls everywhere, that unfortunate girls might not be ostracized by those who are more fortunate.

Inspector Kelly spoke of the work done by the Children's Aid Society, and was forceful in his appeal for welfare work among children, which would lead to the preservation of the natural home for children, and the proper placing of children in homes for adoption.

Mrs. Stapleton, child welfare nurse, spoke of the vast work accomplished for the welfare of babies in the city and the need of protecting children from the effects of illness and malnutrition before they reached the school age.

OFFERS CASH FOR SAFETY ESSAYS

Toronto, April 22.—The Ontario Motor League has again offered, through the Ontario Safety League, one hundred and forty cash prizes, totaling $200, for compositions on "How Children May Help to Avoid Motor Accidents."

Very valuable results have come from past competitions, and it is hoped that increased benefits to children may come from the 1922 contest. These results accomplished in the past would be increased if teachers could find it convenient to prescribe this subject for a class composition.

The contest will close May 1, and the prizes awarded a month later.

STATES MINERS DISCARD STRIKE ON JOB POLICY

Hon. James Murdock Reports Progress in Nova Scotia Situation.

CLASHES WITH MEIGHEN

Minister of Labor and Opposition Leader Discuss Gillen Board.

OTTAWA, April 21.—(By Canadian Press).—The "strike-on-the-job" policy has been abandoned by the Nova Scotia miners. This information was given to the house tonight by Hon. James Murdock, minister of labor, and it preceded an interesting verbal passage-at-arms between the minister and Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the opposition.

Introduction of the main estimates of the department of labor at a late hour this evening precipitated the discussion on the situation in the Nova Scotia coal mines. On an item of $50,000 to provide for administration of the conciliation and labor act and the printing of the Labor Gazette, Hon. H. H. Stevens (Conservative, Vancouver Centre) asked the labor minister, Hon. James Murdock, what progress was being made in Nova Scotia. It appeared from newspaper reports that progress was unsatisfactory.

Mr. Murdock stated that the Gillen board of conciliation had been reconvened, but that the chairman and the representative of the employees had resigned, stating that they had no authority to deal with the situation. The resignations of these two men had been accepted, and the department of labor immediately took steps to institute a new board. The situation now was that the representatives of the employees had made a recommendation for appointment.

Time Has Elapsed.
The company had not yet submitted the name of its representative, and the time allowed them elapsed to-night. If the company failed to submit a name, it would fall to the minister to select its representative. When this was done five more days must elapse to give the two representatives an opportunity to choose a chairman. Failing agreement, the minister would appoint a chairman.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen said the government had wasted time in reconvening the old board. Under the statute, it could not function. When its representatives resigned, they were leaving positions which they never held. He could not help but think that the minister had been aware of this all along. However, he was glad to see that something had at last been done. He hoped that the new board would go to the root of the trouble and learn all the facts.

Mr. Meighen also expressed the hope that when the minister of labor made a declaration of policy he would be stating the views of the government and not of himself. It was unsatisfactory to have the minister's policy, as stated in the house, denied by his colleagues.

Held Long Debate.
Mr. Murdock replied that he had all along been of opinion that it was impossible to reconvene the Gillen board for the purpose of reinvestigating the reference. The leader of the opposition had suggested that action for the sake of placing some reflection on himself or other members of the government.

Then followed a long argument between Mr. Meighen and the minister of labor, regarding the former's remarks in connection with the reconvening of the Gillen board. When this concluded the item carried.

Labor department estimates totaling $272,000 were carried. On the request of Hon. H. H. Stevens (Conservative, Vancouver Centre) the last item of $100,000 for unemployment relief, was allowed to stand.

The premier stated that private members' resolutions on the order paper would be taken up on Monday. If these were gone through, supply would be the order of the day. The vote for the relief of unemployment would then be considered.

Mr. King stated estimates of the railway department would be considered on Tuesday.

The house adjourned at 11:15 p.m.

DEBATE LARKIN REPORT.

OTTAWA, April 21.—(By Canadian Press).—Further consideration of agriculture estimates in the House of Commons today gave rise to a sharp discussion on the Hon. P. C. Larkin of Toronto, who recently was appointed Canadian high commissioner in London. It was in reference to the British embargo on Canadian cattle.

Had Mr. Larkin, as reported in special cable dispatches, it was asked, represented to members of the British cabinet that failure to remove the cattle ban would place a potential weapon of considerable power in the hands of annexationists of the Prairie Provinces?

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture, was frankly skeptical that Mr. Larkin had ever made such a statement, but eventually intimated that he would make inquiries.

Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance, observed that similar sentiments had about a week ago been attributed to an unnamed Canadian. Now they were being attributed to Mr. Larkin, and perhaps without Mr. Larkin's knowledge.

Denies Statements.
While on the question of "annexationists" Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the opposition, took occasion warmly to deny that he had at any time ever said anything reflecting on the loyalty of Western Canada.

A. J. Lewis (Progressive, Swift Current) read a special cable from London to the Montreal Gazette which attributed the statement to Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian high commissioner at London, that unless the British embargo on Canadian cattle was removed it would place a potential weapon of considerable power in the hands of the annexationists of the Prairie Provinces.

This statement, Mr. Lewis said, should not be permitted to pass unchallenged, and should be dealt with immediately by Parliament. It constituted a reflection on the loyalty and integrity of the people of the Prairie Provinces.

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture, declared that he did not believe Mr. Larkin made any such statement. He had conversations with Mr. Larkin just prior to that gentleman's departure for England, and they both agreed that while they should endeavor to get the embargo removed, they should use the "light pedal."

It was impossible to approach the British government with a club, and Mr. Motherwell felt confident that Mr. Larkin had not indulged in the words attributed to him. Mr. Motherwell added that he would maintain this until evidence to the contrary was submitted to him.

Cable Costs High.
H. C. Hocken (Conservative, Toronto) asked if the government would get in touch with Mr. Larkin by cable, and let the house know what actually had occurred. Mr. Motherwell objected that there would be a large cable bill involved.

The matter was interrupted by shouts of laughter from the Conservative and Progressive benches, and Mr. Hocken interjected:

"I'll pay the bill."

"If everything which appeared in the press was made the subject of a cable it would run up a considerable bill," Mr. Motherwell added.

"I wouldn't be surprised," he continued, "that as a result of yesterday's debate some really remarkable cables appeared in the London papers."

Mr. Lewis declared that the Gazette correspondent in London should be made to retract his report of Mr. Larkin's statements if it were found to be untrue.

Urges Prompt Action.
Right Hon. Arthur Meighen declared it was remarkable that the question of costs should intervene. It was the duty of the government to find out immediately whether or not Mr. Larkin had made the statement attributed to him. Mr. Motherwell should take action without delay fully to inform the house on the situation.

Mr. Motherwell stated, as the subject appeared to be dismissed, that he would reconsider his decision and that when this estimate was through committee he would take whatever steps might appear necessary. There had been a great deal of comment about "annexationists in the West," he added.

Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance, rose at this point with the newspaper in his hand, and said that found in it the same article as had been published a week ago, founded on a statement said to have been made by some Canadian who was then unnamed. Apparently that statement had now been credited to Hon. Mr. Larkin, and perhaps without Mr. Larkin's knowledge.

T. W. Caldwell (Progressive, Carleton Place) spoke of the "annexationist" charges as having been made by prominent men, including the leader of the opposition.

Might Be Misquoted.
This brought Right Hon. Mr. Meighen to his feet to declare that no words of his could have been interpreted as reflecting on the loyalty of Western Canada; even the newspaper dispatches could not have been read in that way. Mr. Larkin might have been misquoted, said Mr. Meighen, adding that he had sympathy for the high commissioner in that regard.

"No word of mine could be construed as a reflection on the loyalty of the West," said Mr. Meighen. "But when a statement gets around that when a man who is seeking office ready to fall into the very things they previously condemned then it might be so construed."

The leader of the opposition added that if Mr. Larkin was going to repeat statements after they were so treated then the sooner he was recalled the better. However, Mr. Meighen was prepared to accept Mr. Fielding's explanation.

Mr. Motherwell rose to say that he had not mentioned Mr. Meighen's name in the matter of annexation talk, but the leader of the opposition had done the cap and pulled it away down over his ears. Mr.

FAMOUS ARTIST IS VISITING ST. MARYS

Arthur Streeton Gains Honors as Australia's Greatest Artist.

WIFE IS CANADIAN

Couple Who Are Internationally Known Holidaying in Stone Town.

Special to London Advertiser.

ST. MARYS, April 21.—St. Marys is at present host to two persons of world fame in the realm of art—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Streeton. Mr. Streeton is Australia's greatest artist, and his wife, formerly Nora Clench of St. Marys, who has won high international honors as a violinist, are holidaying at the home of the latter's mother, who will go to Europe with her daughter soon.

"I was born in Australia; my wife is a Canadian, and our hostess is a Cockney, born in London," said Mr. Streeton. "So you see we are pretty well representative of the British Empire."

Mr. Streeton has traveled a great deal.

Many of his collections of paintings are in England and in the Carnegie Museum in Pittsburgh.

His latest picture, a painting of Sydney Harbor, was purchased by New South Wales and presented to Princess Mary as a wedding gift. It has been placed in the Royal Academy in London, England. A reproduction of it Mr. Streeton carries with him.

He received his first award from the Salon in France in 1892. In 1909 he received the gold medal, which permits him to send two of his best pieces to the Salon each year.

During the war Mr. Streeton served in France as the official Australian war artist.

Although he has done little work in Canada he hopes to return to Canada to make a number of landscapes in British Columbia.

Mrs. Streeton, his noted wife, toured Europe several times.

On one occasion, by special request, she played before the late Queen Victoria.

She studied under various masters, and one of them, Joachim, once said: "I have three favorite pupils in whom I have taken a great interest, and one of these is Nora Clench of Canada."

Mrs. Streeton played in all the European capitals, being a member of a quartet, the other members being Misses May Muckle, Lucy Stone and Sicilia Gates.

LONDONER HELD ON THEFT CHARGE

TORONTO, April 21.—Earl Henderson of London, Ont., James Russell and Alice Chic of Toronto, were taken into custody today on a charge of theft from the T. Eaton store.

The three are alleged to have stolen a number of dresses. There is an additional charge of having drugs, against Henderson, the police claiming that they found two packages of morphine in his possession.

STEAMER GROUNDS AT COLLINGWOOD

COLLINGWOOD, April 21.—The Canada Steamships freighter Canadian, bound for Fort William, is ashore on the rocks a mile east of Grant's Tomb, 25 miles east of this port. Her bottom has suffered damage, but it is expected that she will be released without further injury.

Meighen retorted that Mr. Caldwell had specifically referred to himself. The minister of agriculture then replied that the term had been used frequently in election campaigns, and insisted left and right, "and now," he said, apparently closing the incident for the second time, "let's get back to artificial fertilizers."

Complaints Made.
Donald Sutherland (Conservative, South Oxford) said the vote under discussion was the most important of all those listed in the agriculture estimates. He noted the practically the whole of the amount asked for was to be distributed in Western Canada. He asked Mr. Motherwell whether he had received any complaints against commission men operating on the livestock exchange. Rumors of such complaints having been made were current, and he thought that if they were unfounded the country should know.

Mr. Motherwell replied that practically no complaints had been received.

Mr. Sutherland turned to the British cattle embargo again, expressing the opinion that difficulties were placed in the way of the federal government when it made its effort last year to have the embargo removed.

Some of these difficulties were due to the interference of provincial ministers. One of these ministers had been rebuked by the electorate who had turned him out of office and refused to accept him as their representative in the federal house. He referred to Hon. Duncan Marshall.

"What happened to your own leader?" interjected Mr. Motherwell.

Mr. Sutherland replied that he was not referring to election results except in their relationship to the livestock question.

The vote of $1,000,000 for livestock was then passed, as was the last vote in the department of agriculture, $20,000 for administration of the agricultural instruction act.

BLAME BLAST ON STATE FOES

Monastir Authorities Believe Catastrophe Result of National Enmity.

Gas Fumes Hinder Work of Rescuers Searching For Victims.

MONASTIR, Jugoslavia, April 21.

Salvage work in the section of the city laid waste by Tuesday's explosion is being carried on with the greatest difficulty. Lack of water is hampering the task of putting out the numerous fires, while gas fumes are rendering the soldiers and gendarmes who are searching for victims. Two hundred bodies have been recovered, and there is little likelihood that any more persons will be rescued alive, as the cries of the wounded amid the wreckage, which were heard throughout yesterday, have now died out altogether.

Escapes Explosion.
It is still impossible to estimate the total number of persons killed, but several hundred are wounded, many of them hopelessly. Great numbers of them have been removed to the United States Hospital, which somewhat removed from the scene of the explosion, escaped with but slight damage.

Executives of the American Women's Hospital at Vro arrived last night, bringing coats and blankets. H. H. Reeder, head of the American Relief in Belgrade, is hurrying to Mon-astir with doctors, nurses and medicine.

Most of the houses of the city, flimsy affairs of wood and terra cotta, collapsed under the terrible explosions, burying their occupants in a mass of debris. The ruined area covers many square blocks. The only structures which resisted the explosions were Turkish minarets, which are built of solid masonry.

Day of Mourning.
King Alexander has decreed a day of mourning throughout Jugoslavia. The cabinet has ordered that a commission of army and government experts make a strict investigation to fix responsibility for the disaster, which in some quarters was attributed to enemies of the state.

FEAR LOCKOUTS EFFECT ON MILLION WORKERS

LONDON, England, April 21.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Negotiations between the employers and representatives of the Amalgamated Engineers' Union which had been in abeyance for a while, were resumed today, but they broke down just when there seemed encouragement for the belief that an agreement would be reached.

The point of difference arose on the union representatives' suggestion that the lockout notices, which had been posted up some time since, be removed, and the employers' proposal to withdraw if the men would accept as a basis of settlement the terms in the letter accompanying the notices, namely that the employers reserved the right to review the wage conditions.

This the engineers refused to do.

If the threatened lockout became effective, about a million men will be involved, it is said, as kindred trade unions are concerned in the engineers' trouble.

"London Sixes" Conveying Governor-General and Party On Recent Visit To London

ARRIVAL AT WESTERN UNIVERSITY SITE.

LADY BYNG PARTY ALIGHTING FROM LONDON SIX, SUPREME TOURING CAR.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL PREPARING TO ADDRESS CROWDS AFTER ALIGHTING FROM LONDON SIX SEDAN.

Card of Thanks

We take this opportunity of thanking the various owners of London Six Cars who so very kindly placed these cars at the disposal of this company to enable us to accommodate Lord and Lady Byng and their party upon their visit to this city, that their transportation might be conducted with safety, comfort and satisfactorily.

The large blue-black London Six Sedan loaned by John A. Nash, "My Jeweler," was very much appreciated by Lord and Lady Byng, which was evidenced through the statement of Lady Byng (according to the London Free Press of April 17), "The Most Comfortable That She Had Ever Ridden In." This car, of course, led the procession next the Police Car.

The large brown Sedan loaned by Bert Brooks, London East's Meat Merchant, followed next in line and was quite in keeping with the big occasion, and the two green standard touring cars which drew forth such favorable comment from the party, were owned and contributed by Messrs. Melvin of London East and Mr. Conley of London West.

SEES PERIOD OF PROSPERITY IN AUTO INDUSTRY

Expert Believes Conservative Buying Will Be Feature of New Era.

CAR DEMANDS INCREASE

Manufacturers Forced To Speed Up Production To Meet Requirements.

DETROIT, April 21.—Prosperity just as great as any ever enjoyed by the automotive industry is on the way.

Prosperity for general business is coming.

The greatest period of depression ever known has passed, and improvement is noted on every side today.

The clouds are lifting, and with the bright days of spring at hand, bygone troubles will be forgotten in the hurry and bustle of a renewed business. The coming prosperity will not mean, however, wild extravagance such as have been known in the past. The lesson has been learned. Conservation will rule in the future as it has not always done in the past. Losses, which have been so enormous as to pass comprehension, must be made up.

The total losses of the automobile and truck makers, the parts and accessory makers and tire companies will total far more than any man today knows. Reports of the companies for last year's operations are being made known daily now, and many are far above anything supposed possible. That the automobile makers have pulled through is testimony to the real greatness of the world's third largest industry, to the real necessity of the motor car and motor truck to business.

Today, the automotive industries, after their bath of fire, are coming forth stronger and better than ever, never more to plunge into wild extravagance. Business as it comes will be taken care of, but few, if any of the makers, will endeavor to spread their operation to meet any inordinate demand for cars. Rather they will take all of the business that it is possible to handle with their present facilities, and no more. The lesson has been learned, and is not to be forgotten. Immense manufacturing facilities only partly used spell losses on part-time production or limited production.

Sudden return to prosperous conditions is no longer looked for, although some reports of the manufacturers tell of really startling increases in production for March over the figures originally set. These additions to prospective production schedules for the month were not camouflage with most of the makers, according to the parts men who supply materials.

And when the question arose as to the present rush being camouflage or a spur it was found that releases on material were given under a 90-day clause instead of 30 days, as has been the rule. Hitherto the makers have been so cautious that they were unwilling to take any chances on the future, and they have steadfastly refused to place orders for more than 30 days ahead. That they are now giving specifications for the 90-day period is encouraging proof of the confidence of the makers in the present situation.

It may be said that there are in-controvertible evidences to be found that spring will see an activity far beyond anything known since the start of the business slump. For instance, one manufacturer who had plans to manufacture for storage, and at the rate of 100 cars per day, has been unable to keep ahead of his sales department.

Another maker who scheduled originally 2,800 cars for March was forced in the first week of the month to send forth demands for materials for 5,800 cars. Another started modestly on a schedule for 30,000 cars for March, April, May and June, and demands compelled an increase to 52,000 cars. Another announced that 1922 would show fully 400 per cent greater production than 1921. Still another, and a new maker at that, was compelled to jump production figures from 4,500 to 12,000, with every prospect that the latter figure would not meet the demands.

One of the makers of high-grade cars puts the figures for 1922 at 20 per cent above 1921, and this maker has a good year behind him on which to base an increase. One of the great group makers has already shipped twice as many cars as at the same time last year.

It is the steady improvement which is most desired, and not the rush of business, for the manufacturers are not at all prepared to take care of the latter. They have so steadily maintained their attitude of conservatism that parts makers and accessory makers have been unable to secure a line on prospective business for the year, and so, have not gotten ready. The men who supply the material are praying for moderate but steady gains, that they may get under way to take care of the new business. They state that it will be impossible to keep pace with inordinate demands at this time, as working forces must first be organized, and that is done, after so great a period of depression, slowly at the best.

Workers, trained to their work, have shifted locations, and have entered other lines and almost new forces, in some instances, must be trained. A like situation really exists with the car makers, or will exist, for Detroit, as an instance, has lost more than 70,000 workmen, according to reports of the association, who keep track of such things. These men have drifted away to other parts and to other vocations, and there has been left largely, in the so-called army of unemployed, the scum, pan-handlers mostly, who are last to be given work, naturally.

It has been stated as a fact that cars today are better built than ever before. And for this there is a reason. The makers have exercised the most careful selection in trimming down their forces, and none but the best men have been retained for steady employment. As many men are added and mingled with the good men retained, there must come some careless work, and makers are compelled to hire and fire until they have gained organized quality workmanship of the masses. That is a hard problem.

Buyers who purchase their cars today are getting all of the best of it in quality, as well as in price. For it is the consensus of opinion that before very long, prices generally must rise, as losses are still a matter of record on cars made to a price, and such losses will not be maintained.

Quantity buying is going to come when confidence in the future returns. Buyers are still coy in the face of general business conditions, but the attitude of the manufacturers is evidence that they, the makers, feel that the revival in business in other fields is at hand. They bank on nothing but certainties nowadays and take no chances, and they look for the steady improvement in business which is just what is sought.

The reports from around the country state that the parts trade has jumped 30 per cent within a month. This is indicative of the average gain made in manufacturing. The inquiries for still greater increases are the most encouraging

Kerosene Inefficient Cleanser, Say Engineers

Regular Engine Oil Best to Flush Crank Case.

KEROSENE used to be a good standby on which motorists depended for cleaning their engines.

Now come oil engineers with the declaration that kerosene causes a loss of 18 per cent of the total lubricating capacity of an automobile.

So, instead of using kerosene to flush out the crank case, those who have studied this phase of motoring say the drained case should be cleaned with fresh engine oil.

More Economical. That costs more money, and arouses a bit of suspicion, when it is known that this advice comes from the oil companies. But their engineers have the figures to prove that, in the long run, the new method is the more economical.

Engines that have any form of splash lubrication have oil troughs and pockets in which dirt of the kerosene used for flushing is sure to remain. In some cars, say the oil engineers, the kerosene retained in this way represents 18 per cent of the total lubricating capacity of the car.

It is safer, therefore, to use the regular kind of engine oil. The crank case should be drained about every 1,000 miles in summer, and every 500 miles in winter. Every time the change is made, the case should be flushed with engine oil instead of kerosene. No Waste. The oil used for this purpose can be put to other lubricating uses.

Regular cleaning of the crank case means longer life for the engine. The carbon that accumulates there in a season's run is enough to wear down the bearings, pistons and cylinder walls in a short time.

Right of Way Rules In Western Ontario

At any street or intersection the right of way belongs to any vehicle approaching from your right.

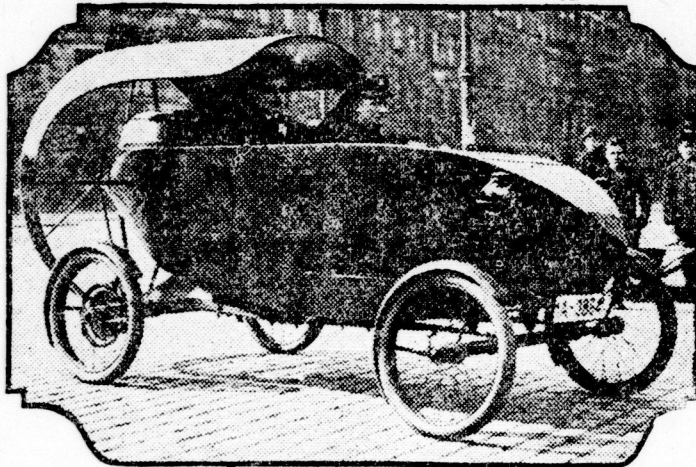

In meeting another vehicle pass on the right, and when you overtake one pass on the left.

Slow moving vehicles shall keep as near the curb as circumstances will permit.

At regular cross walks, on any street, the right-of-way of pedestrians should be recognized.

Unnecessary noise or the use of muffler cut-outs is illegal. In case of accident or collision of any kind, always stop and give your name and address to the person concerned.

GERMANY'S LATEST RUN BY AIR.

A light propeller produces the power which runs the latest form of automobile made in Germany. The car weighs 500 pounds and is driven by a four-cylinder motor of 26-horsepower. It costs less than a motorcycle with side car, its manufacturers say.

The change is made, the case should be flushed with engine oil instead of kerosene. No Waste. The oil used for this purpose can be put to other lubricating uses.

Regular cleaning of the crank case means longer life for the engine. The carbon that accumulates there in a season's run is enough to wear down the bearings, pistons and cylinder walls in a short time.

PLAN TOUR OVER KING'S HIGHWAY

Michigan Pikers Propose To Visit Canada Again On 1922 Trip.

Consider 1,600-Mile Run From St. Ignace To Ottawa.

Although the plans for its 1922 good roads tour "Around Lake Michigan," July 7-20, were only recently announced, the Michigan Pikers Association has already been importuned to consider another international tour, into Canada, for 1923. Dr. P. E. Doolittle of Toronto, president of the Canadian Good Roads Association and honorary vice-president of the Michigan Pikers Association, has made the suggestion of a third tour into Canada.

Dr. Doolittle is anxious to have the Michigan "Pikers" conduct the major portion of their 1923 tour over the "King's Highway," which is being promoted from Halifax to Vancouver. A portion of this highway, due to the topography of the north shore of Lake Superior is in the United States, from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., to Grand Marais, Minn., via the Upper Peninsula's longest road, M-12, from the "Soo" to Ironwood and then across Wisconsin, to Duluth, skirting the south shore of Lake Superior, then north-eastward to Fort William and Port Arthur.

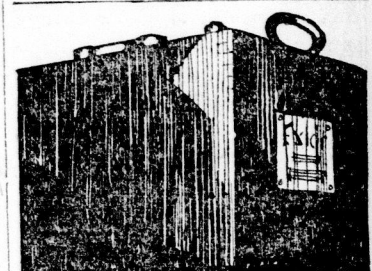

North From Detroit. If the M. P. A. executive decide to accept the suggestion the "Pikers" will tour north from Detroit and cross the international boundary into Canada, at the "Soo." Then the route lies eastward over the 1920 route of the Pikers to North Bay, Ont., and then southeastward to Ottawa. Between North Bay and the Canadian capital, is 55 miles of road, which the Dominion government will improve this year to permit the tourists' passage next summer. This leg of the route follows the Ottawa River, the water trail used by Champlain when he discovered the great lakes. From Ottawa the tourists would travel west to Peterboro, Toronto and Windsor.

The "King's Highway" link of the tour would be the stretch from a point north of St. Ignace, Mich., across the border and east to Ottawa. The total mileage would be around 1,600 and the tour could be made in two weeks. Definite action will be taken at the next meeting of the M. P. A. officers and directors, according to President Capt. W. S. Gilbreath. Capt. Gilbreath declared some time ago that he was strongly in favor of the proposed 1923 international tour, as suggested by Dr. Doolittle.

London Truck Entered. The first entry for the 1922 tour around Lake Michigan, which has as its northern object the Michigan Copper Country, has been made by the Ruggles Motor Truck Co. The Ruggles Company is designing a special truck to carry baggage for the Pike tourists. The body will have three decks for baggage and a capacity of 110 suitcases. It will be mounted on a two-ton chassis and travel at passenger car speeds, as the truck has a maximum rating of 45 miles an hour. The entry was made to President Gilbreath by the general sales manager, and the body has been designed by A. G. Boone, chief engineer.

Real Six Cylinder Comfort for $1,610 F. O. B. London

Sixes run smoother, throttle down lower, pick up faster, climb better—do everything you want a car to do better than a four can do it. You'd sooner drive a six than a four.

And now that the Jewett Six is available at $1,610 F. O. B. London, there is no reason why you should not have a six. No longer need you put up with the lesser abilities of a four when at this low price you can have not only such performance but also such strength and stability as is yours in the Jewett Six.

Paige-designed and Paige-built the Jewett is above all things a quality automobile. The 50 horsepower, 6-cylinder motor—larger and stronger than that used in any other car in its price class—is built complete in the Paige shops. It is the perfected output of a manufacturing institution that for years has built powerful, smooth-running, capable power plants.

Study the flow of this mighty power as it is delivered in the Jewett chassis back through clutch and gear, drive shaft and axle and you will find every essential unit remarkably strong and capable. Here is the sound, sturdy construction that will stand up under the hardest work. And it will last the longer in the Jewett because the inherently balanced, smooth-running six does not jerk and vibrate.

This Six of remarkable performance and unusual strength is available at this low price because of the unusual position of the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Company. With no bonded indebtedness, with great financial strength, with complete facilities, with a rapid turnover of capital, this company was able in producing a new six to take full advantage of the present materials market and to offer you real quality at a price never before possible in a really high-grade six-cylinder automobile.

Ride in a Jewett today and let it prove its strength and power to you in demonstrated performance. We ask the opportunity to prove to you your own satisfaction that this six does beat fours.

The Monkey-Wrench.

THE SITUATION at Genoa does not right itself, and the chances are that, starting as it does in an atmosphere of doubt, distrust and suspicion, it will make little progress unless some very unexpected events turn up to guide the proceedings to happier channels.

Day by day the Bolsheviks grow more arrogant, more amazing, more impossible. Now it is Livinoff who speaks. "The Allies, having lost their war with Russia," he says, "we are here to make peace. We have named our conditions. We must be paid for what Russia did for the Allies, and we must be paid for the damage the Allies did Russia through Kolchak, Denikin and Wrangel and by the blockade, for which America alone is responsible. We claim 125,000,000,000 gold francs. We cannot make peace and go back with less than 20,000,000,000 gold francs."

And the worst of it is that these fellows are in earnest. They have seen various European nations fishing for Russian business, and they have convinced themselves that Europe is really willing to go down on their knees. For this misapprehension Lloyd George is himself in some measure responsible. He has been foremost in urging some measure of intercourse with Russia, and has held out encouragements to Russian representatives. He knew, of course, that he was dealing with political fanatics, but he thought they were shrewd enough to know on which side their bread was buttered. If, as now seems highly probable, the conference is to be wrecked by Bolshevik misapprehension of Europe's attitude it will be hard punishment for the British prime minister, whose hopes were centred in the Genoa assembly. It will bring a certain sardonic satisfaction to the French who, while wishing Lloyd George well, never acknowledged any confidence in his ability to get results from a diplomatic pow-wow with the international outlaws.

The Russo-German treaty is a bit of impudence. It does not materially add to the gloom of the diplomatic outlook. That was already a gloomy as it could be. The Russians have not made themselves any more impossible by taking this astounding step, but the Germans have largely alienated the support of their allies and well-wishers in the Allied countries. Clearly, the Rapallo agreement tends to dispose of property on which the Allies have a lien. Till Germany pays her own obligations she has no moral right to cancel debts owed to her by Russia or any other state. Aside from this aspect of the agreement it is clearly a piece of bravado, designed to influence the Genoa decisions. In this it will signally fail. While it does tend to give Germany a higher position in world affairs it will gain her no concessions, and will eventually prove detrimental to her interests.

It is not too early to predict that the Russians will ruin the conference, and that Germany, by acting as the abettor of the Bolsheviks, will be compelled to share the burden of responsibility.

Lambton Liberals.
SENATOR PARDEE received a compliment from Liberals of West Lambton in the form of a banquet tendered to him that must have been a matter of considerable satisfaction to the recipient. It is one thing to live in a community and be on good terms with the people, and to have pleasant memories of associations of one sort and another. It is quite another matter, at the end of 24 years' of active political life, with the scores of battles won and lost lurking in the offing, to still retain the friendship of the constituents.

SENATOR PARDEE has seen a lot of political life at Ottawa; he has seen a lot of campaigning in the riding of West Lambton, even in the early days, when, according to his own statement, he had to buy a pair of rubber boots to get out on the roads in some parts of the county and ask the voters for their support. After all is said and done, there is something in that form of campaigning that cannot be improved upon. We do not agitate for a moment that the candidates of today should get out and don rubber boots just for the sake of wearing them or wading through the mud, but the idea of getting directly to the person you want to see is, and always will be, a big force in the deciding of elections. There is something in the personal appeal, and the knowledge that the person who is voting knows the man voted for that can hardly be improved upon as a strong point in deciding which way a vote is going to be cast.

The West Lambton Young Liberal Club, which organized the banquet and carried it through to a successful conclusion, are working on right and proper lines. They are seeking to stimulate an intelligent interest in Liberal beliefs and Liberal aims, and in this work are setting an example as well as a pace for the rest of Western Ontario. They realize that the time to get ready for elections is before the eleventh hour, and in this they have the certain knowledge that past events in many ridings has proved to the full the wisdom of their present course.

Killed by Prosperity.

SUNDAY SCHOOL lessons are still in the Old Testament, and it is necessary at times for the teacher to dig deep in order to bring something before the class that can be taken away as a living truth rather than a historical fact.

The lesson that most schools are studying this Sunday is of Uzziah, king of Judah in 810, B.C.

At an early age he was placed upon the throne—16 years. For years all went well. He started out with high hope, with a buoyancy of spirit and commendable determination to do those things that he knew to be right and according to the wish of the Almighty.

And for many years he carried on well. He perfected new methods of offence and defence for his armies. In short, he became a famous man all over the country, until—

"But when he was strong his heart was lifted up, so that he did corruptly, and he trespassed against Jehovah, his God."

Rather human, is it not? In the words of today this man could not stand prosperity. He got so puffed up that he imagined everything centred around or in him. He lost entirely all sense of stewardship, and imagined that he was good enough and important enough to go ahead and exercise all the functions of worship that were the exclusive right of certain appointed people.

Of course, all this happened about 2,800 years ago, but people are pretty much the same today as they were at that far-removed date, and this has been proven time and time again in the lessons of the last two quarters.

It is a hard matter for a man to be prosperous and remain humble. There is at work all the time the tendency to make a man believe that he is a self-centred success. It is much easier for him to go ballooning in a gas bag of his own pride than to remain on the ground to make certain that he is a just and faithful steward.

This old world is full of just such cases, and the tolerant spirit of this age is often abused in that it tends to create a lack of reverence for things sacred.

Sunday, in many places, is now looked upon very much the same as any other day. It is counted in terms of pleasure, and measured by weight of the business done that day.

The Master is regarded as being a very good man who lived on a very high moral plane. The Bible is a collection of Hebrew literature, and the pastor of the church may owe his popularity to the fact that he is a good sort with those he meets.

We need a quickened conscience that will recognize Divine leadership. History is full of warnings. Uzziah, with his leprosy face; Belshazzar and his thousand lords praising the gods of Babylon, while the hand writes on the wall; the Master, with the scourge of cords driving the money-changers from the Temple—surely the teaching is plain and the warning eloquent in the swiftness and certainty of its execution.

The golden text attached to the lesson tells the whole age-long story: "Pride goeth before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall."

LITTLE 'TISERS

And now, in this age of efficiency, no doubt Easter millinery in the household expenses will be written down as overhead expenses.

One seed expert issues a warning not to plant seed too soon. Not needed in many cases, as there are lots of folks who leave off planting until they can secure the finished article at the corner grocery.

The Allies claimed a lot of money was due them from Russia. Russia put in a bill about 50 per cent bigger than the one presented to them by the Allies. Russia is progressing.

At Washington the other day the representative from Texas was referred to as "the greatest liar in America." We've been watching the death notices ever since, but nothing has happened, which convinces us that the generation is sliding down to a low stage.

Montreal Gazette: ROBINSON CRUSOE's island, according to report, contains some 300 families, whose support is fishing. The island, we are told by a skipper who put in there the other day, boasts but one policeman. This island, off the coast of Chile, is the island of JUAN FERNANDEZ, and there it was that ALEXANDER SELKIRK was monarch of all he surveyed for many years (14).

The sage of the Orilla Packet has words dripping in wisdom to deal with a present-day problem. Thus, he writes the following:

"Can't something be done to keep our girls from being insulted on the streets after night-fall?" asks a contemporary. There can. Put them to bed at 8 o'clock, and see that they stay there until morning.—Orilla Packet.

A report has it that when a provincial constable was in Hanover a few days ago he stopped a motorist who was driving a car, the marking number on which was covered with mud. A short time after a number of the younger element in the place proceeded to pelt rotten eggs at the constable, and it was necessary for him to pull a shooting stick out of his pocket in order to make his escape.

The Romance of Words

BY EXTORRIS.

Unavoidable circumstances caused the temporary suspension of these articles, which were commenced in November last. The few remaining will be published weekly. The present article is No. 6. No. 5 was descriptive of occupational and nicknames.

TRANSLATED, COLOR NAMES, ETC.

Names descriptive of appearance or habits correspond pretty closely with those that are found in French. In many cases they are more translations. Mercurius has its French equivalent, Bontemps. Drinkwater is Boleau; Armstrong is clearly Fortinbras; while Lilywhite is translated from Blanchefleur. These are so much alike in each language that there is small doubt of their common origin, arising probably from some personal peculiarity.

Among color names we have Black, Brown, White and Grey, but seem to miss red. The explanation is that for this name we have adopted the northern form, Reid, Reed and Read, or such French names as Rude (rouge), Rouse (roux), Russell (Rousseau). French words have given us Blond, Blunt and the diminutive Blondin, which exist by the side of the old English name Fairfax (Mid. English "fax," hair).

Several other French adjectives have given us names such as Bonner, Bonney (bonnaire), Grant (grand), Curtis (courtois), Power (pauvre). Payn is the French adjective pale, pagan, properly "a dweller in the country." Here is a word which modern meanings do not apply. Pagan (Lat. paganus) originally meant "a dweller in the country," a villager, from pagus, village.

We are surely making rapid advances toward attaining national greatness.

The telephone companies have been having their own worries during the past few weeks. It is a long time since there has been such destruction wrought to their property by storms. Just as though things were not bad enough, a barn roof some place in between Stratford and New Hamburg took a notion to leave its moorings in the last gale, and smashed into the telephone wires, bringing them down. The railway board said the phone companies should not charge more money, and the elements are seeing to it that they part with some of what they now possess.

Down Dunnville way BILL FRY, who runs the Chronicle, is worried, and he says so. It happened this way, according to his writing: "On their arrival in Ottawa the other day member of the House of Commons were recipients of printed notices, to the effect that the baths of the house, located near the shaving parlor, were in readiness for the accommodation of members. The baths, so says the notice, will be in charge of two returned men, graduate masons. The Progressives generally are said to be delighted with the arrangements, but what is ACES going to do?"

See what the Wingham Advance printed in its paper this week: "Friends of Mr. and Mrs. GEORGE PAGE will be sorry to hear that they have left for London where they will live in the future."

Now, see here, BILLY COLGATE, we're going to fight a duel over this thing yet. We know that you're sorry to see your good folks coming down to this part of the country, but when you come out flat-footed and say "sorry to hear they have left for London," well, boy, we just can't sit still in front of our old pine table and take it. Name your weapons, sir, and let the blood flow freely.

Heathen (Anglo-Saxon) also means "a dweller on the heath," or in the woods. Both words received their present meanings only after the introduction of Christianity, because the villagers, being most remote from the centers of instruction, remained for a long time unconverted.

But many nicknames are products of folk-etymology. Coward is for coward, Salomon for Solomon (Hebrew, Salomone), Bone for Boon (good); Deelman is a corruption of Debenham. Play-fair means play-fellow, from an old word connected with the verb to fare, to journey. Patch may sometimes mean a jester, from his parti-colored garments, but is more often a variant of Pash, Pask, a baptismal name given to children christened at Easter (Old Fr. Pasque, Pasque). Easter eggs are still called pash, pash or paste eggs in the north of England. Blood is a Welsh name, son of Lud; and Bevan and Bowen are probably of the same origin. Coffin (and its variant Coffey) is Fr. Chauvin, a derivative of the Lat. calvus, bald. Dance, for Dans, is related to Daniel, as Willis is to William. In the same way Pearce comes from Peter and Pierre, the latter form was borne by the famous playman, and Pears by a great soapmaker.

Names such as Bull, Peacock, Greenman, are often from shop signs. The Green Man still a common shop sign, represented a kind of "wild man of the woods," with which my readers may compare the German "zum wilden Mann." Peacock may not often be encountered nowadays as a surname, no one being vain enough to claim it, but we often find another form, Peacock, with which we can find no fault.

READ YOUR CHARACTER

(By Digby Phillips.)

NO. 195—BALANCING INDICATIONS.

Suppose you saw a man with a forehead which slanted back just a trifle, with a chin which slanted back also just a trifle, nose slightly aquiline, hair medium brown, eyes dark blue and a head rather wide back of the ears.

Would you say that this man was aggressive and energetic or not, and on just what characteristics would you base your opinion?

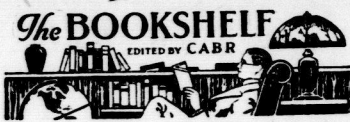

The convex type of profile indicates energy and aggressiveness, as has been explained in a general article. And blonde coloring has much the same significance, as also has been explained. Nevertheless, it would be on the basis of the shape of the head that you should base your judgment that the man is of the energetic and aggressive type.

The reason is not that the convex profile and the light coloring are less important as measures of these traits than the shape of the head, but simply because in this particular case they are not of such emphatic value as the head shape. The forehead that slants back just a trifle, the slightly aquiline nose and the slightly slanting chin do not form a decided convex nose. Neither do brown hair and dark blue eyes constitute a decided blonde, judged by his profile and his coloring this man would be little more than an even balance between energy and passiveness, aggressiveness and easy compliance; it is the indication of the wide head that throws the balance rather decidedly in favor of the two traits mentioned. It is by balances that one must judge character.

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

TODAY'S word is HETMAN. It's pronounced het-man, with accent on the first syllable. It means a Cossack chieftain, tribal leader in Siberia, chief, head. It comes from Polish "hetman," chief, from German "hauptmann," a captain. Companion words—hetmanate, hetmanship. It's used like this: "There is a movement on to deport Gen. Amenoff, the Cossack hetman."

SILVER CROSS. By Mary Johnston. Little, Brown & Co., Publishers, Boston. $2.

THIS is a romantic tale of life in rural England during the sixteenth century, when Henry the Seventh was king.

Those readers who find a welcome relief from the monotony of their daily grind in such literature as portrays periods, manners and modes of life far different from those with which they are all too familiar, will here find their tastes and longings gratified. Of course, the rapid realist will assert that such a story is "untrue to life," because the environment is unfamiliar and the action untypical. But it nevertheless remains true that "life" is the reaction of human character to circumstance. The stage settings do not make the play.

The plot of "Silver Cross" involves a tense rivalry between two religious houses, which were both situated near the thriving town of Middle Forest. Silver Cross Abbey belonged to the order of Cistercians, while the Priory of Saint Leofric was owned by the Dominicans. Their rivalry was not only for precedence in the eyes of king and cardinal, but they were also opposing bidders for popular favor and the profits in the way of gifts and bequests, which would naturally follow this.

For a considerable period there had been no miracle-working by either house. But all of a sudden Brother Paul, a particularly devout Dominican monk, had been informed in a dream of the place where the right hand and arm of Saint Leofric, which had been severed from his body at the time of his martyrdom, had been buried. Dug up, these sacred members at once began healing all diseased pilgrims who touched them, thus creating great local excitement and materially adding to the revenues of the priory.

Thus thrown in the shade the Cistercians were not long in producing a holy man who in a vision of the Madonna was told of a secret grotto concealed in a neighboring wood, wherein was a spring of living water, warranted to heal all the fleshly ills of those who tasted it. The indignant exposure of a pious plot in connection with these miraculous happenings involved attempted vengeance upon both innocent and guilty individuals. The history of the dangers which long beset the path of the chief of these innocent persons, one Richard Englefield, a skillful worker in precious metals, and a by no means equally innocent courtier named Mordant Fox, who happened to escape their enraged pursuers in company, make up the major portion of the story.

The author's method—that of throwing on her clearly limited background a succession of tragic, sordid, pathetic, or supernally beautiful pictures, all instinct with life—is too well known to require lengthy description. The potentiality of spiritual rebirth existing in every child of Adam and the travail and suffering which sometimes lead to such a recreation of the personality are clearly brought out. So may present evil be patiently tolerated by means of the possibility and the immortal hope that it is on its way to future good.

Question—Which is the sunniest part of Canada?

Answer—Victoria, B. C., claims to be the sunniest part of Canada. For eleven months of 1921 Victoria had 2,661 hours of bright sunshine, average daily amount being six hours more than sunniest Britain in the Channel Isles.

Question—Which was the first bank set up in Canada?

Answer—The first bank set up in Canada was the Bank of Montreal, which issued its first notes in 1817. Today it ranks seventh among the banks of the empire in capital and assets.

SPEAKS HIGHLY OF THIS HOME MADE COUGH REMEDY

Says It Acts With Unusual Speed—Loosens the Mucus—Relieves the Irritation and Stops the Cough.

Costs Next to Nothing—For a Big Supply.

Whenever anyone in my family catches cold and begins to cough and sneeze, and hawk and breathe heavy, it doesn't take me many minutes to fix up a remedy that will drive away all such troubles in double quick time. It's no secret—anyone can make a half pint of the finest cough medicine in the world for a trifling sum. Get from any druggist one ounce of Parmit (double strength)—to this add a little granulated sugar and enough water to make one half pint—that's all there is to it.

But now you've got a real medicine—mind you—the first spoonful you take acts directly on the membrane of the throat and nose, the itching, sneezing, almost instantly—the inflammation begins to disappear—up comes the stubborn mucus and often in 24 hours every trace of the cough that frightened you is gone.

It's really remarkable how this home made remedy acts on the mucous membrane and that is one reason it is so helpful to thousands of Catarrh sufferers.—Adv.

Dear Sirs:—

Having been consistent users of daily newspaper space in our advertising for many years, it affords us pleasure to say that we have found the results very gratifying.

In our opinion two of the main points of effectiveness in daily newspaper advertising lie in its directness and the means it affords of launching a selling campaign with the least possible delay.

The advertising of musical products in the main must be addressed to a public with the widest diversity of taste. In reaching this public with maximum selling force we have at all times found satisfaction in the employment of the daily press.

Canada is fortunate indeed in being served by daily newspapers which are clean, wholesome and progressive.

Yours very truly,

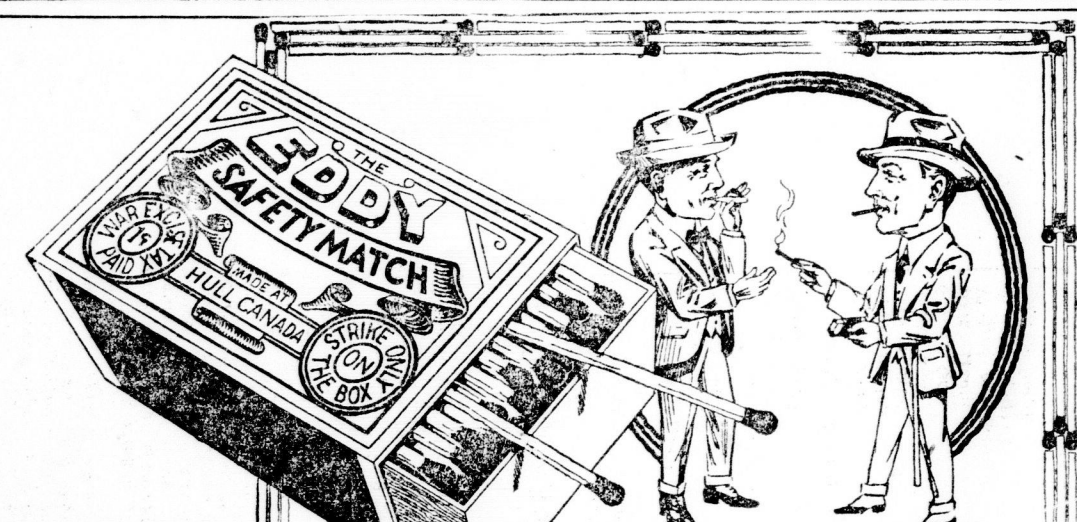

A. E. LONDON

AEL/OIC

This company has found the daily newspaper a constant, practical force in distribution, and a swift-striking ally in taking timely advantage of a notable event in local music. No other advertising in the world can be changed when how and as quickly as such a business house requires. No other can reach many diverse tastes through the one which all men have in common, hunger for the news of the day.

A Man's Match

Men can't be bothered with matches that lose their heads, that break and fizzle out. They get tired fiddling around in a box among broken pieces of wood, looking for a real match. That's why men insist on getting "a man's match"—Eddy's.

They know that Eddy Matches—Safety, Silent or Wax—will light without fizzling out or breaking. They know that every match in an Eddy box is a good match; that the heads won't fly off dangerously or leave an after glow that invites fire. Eddy's are real matches, value for money and absolutely reliable.

Eddy's makes real matches for men. Just say Eddy when you buy matches.

The White Desert

By Courtney

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

A series of mysterious accidents in the lumber mill left him by his father on the condition that he maintain a high out-put, has convinced BARRY HOUSTON that his super-intendent.

FRED THAYER, is guilty of sabotage. Motoring from Boston to the timber lands in Colorado, Houston's automobile plunges over a cliff a few miles from Tabernacle, where the mill is located. Houston is nursed back to health by

BATISTE RENAUD, an eccentric but whole-hearted French-Canadian, who became a trapper following the tragedies of his son's death in France and the unsolved murder of his wife. In Batiste's cabin, Houston meets

MEDIANE ROBINETTE, a girl of twenty who, on a moment's notice, agrees to investigate a mysterious telegram which caused Houston's trip from Boston.

GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"Is there ever a time when the operator isn't there?"

"At noon. He goes out to dinner; and he leaves open the door. If it is something you want, walk in."

"Thanks." A strange eagerness was in Houston's eyes. "I think I'll be able to get up tomorrow. Maybe I can walk over there."

CHAPTER IV.

"BON—good," came from Batiste, as they turned into the little village of Tabernacle the next day.

"BON—the agent is leaving."

"You walk as though going into the station to loaf. Batiste will come behind—and keep watch."

Barry obeyed.

And he was within the converted box car. Houston turned hastily toward the file book and began to turn the pages of the original copy which hung there.

Suddenly he bent forward and examined a notation in a strange hand: "Missent Houston. Resent Blackburn."

It explained much to Barry Houston, that scribble of four words. It told him why he had received a telegram which meant nothing to him, yet caused suspicion enough for a two-thousand-mile trip.

J. C. Blackburn, Chicago, Ill.

Deal Building, Boston deal put over O. K. Everything safe. Suggest start preparations for operations in time complete Boston for the big thing. Have Boston where we want him and will keep him there."

THAYER.

Hastily Houston crawled over the railing and motioning to Batiste, led him away from the station.

The giant traced out the words. He looked up sharply.

"Boston? You came from Boston?"

"Yes. It must mean that Thayer's been running my mill down, to help along some competitor. You'll notice that he says he has me where he wants me."

"Out—yes. But has he? What was the deal?"

"I don't know. Suddenly Houston frowned with presentment. "Thayer's been going with Mediane a good deal, hasn't he?"

"Out—Yes. When Batiste can think of no way to keep him from it."

"It couldn't be that he's made some arrangement with her—about her forest lands?"

"But Batiste would have heard of it," came the repetition. "No, it is something else. Batiste will try to learn who he is, this Blackburn."

They parted. Batiste to lounge back into the tiny town, Houston to take the winding road which led back to the cabin.

He glanced ahead and noticed the trim figure of Mediane Robinette swinging along the road, old lost wing trailing in her rear, astride a calico pony and leading the saddle horse which she evidently had become tired of riding. She had not seen him, and Barry hurried toward her, jamming his cap into a pocket that his hand might be free to greet her. He waved airily as they came closer and called. But if she heard him, she gave no indication. Instead, she turned—swiftly, Houston thought—and mounted her horse. A moment later she trotted past him, and again he greeted her. To be answered by a nod and a slight movement of the lips. But the eyes had been averted. Barry could see that the thinnest veneer of politeness had shielded something else as she spoke to him—an expression of distaste, of dislike.

almost loathing!

It was thus that old friends had passed him by in Boston; it was thus that men who had been glad to borrow money from him in other days had looked the other way when the clouds had come. A strange chill went over him.

"Thayer's told her!"

He spoke the sentence like a man repeating the words of an execution. His features suddenly had grown haggard. He stumbled slightly as he made the next rise in the road and went on slowly, silently, toward the cabin.

There Batiste found him, slumped on the bench, staring out at the white and rose pinks of Mount Talu-chien, yet seeing none of it.

"You worry, huh? Batiste help. There are men at the boarding-house."

"The Blackburn crowd?"

"So, seven carpenters and others. They work for Blackburn. They are here to build a mill."

"On Mediane's land then?" But Batiste shook his head.

"No. It is on the five acres owned by Jerry Martin. Eet is no good—rocks and rocks—and rocks. They build out there."

Houston shook his head.

"I can't see it. I have only the timber around here with the exception of Mediane's land, and you say

CHAPTER V.

THE road narrowed to a mere trail; Batiste tugged on the reins, and motioning to Barry, left the wagon, pulling forth an axe and heavy cross-cut saw as he did so. Batiste stopped and motioned toward a tall spruce.

The axe gleamed in blow after blow. A deep incision appeared in the trunk of the tree and at the base of it Batiste started the saw. Barry working on the other end with his good arm.

"Look out!"

A crackling sound had come from above. Batiste abandoned the saw, and with one great leap caught Houston, and pulled him far to one side, as with a roar, the spruce seemed to veritably disintegrate, its trunk spreading in great splintered slabs, and the tree proper crashing to the ground in the opposite direction to which it should have fallen, breaking as it came.

A moment Batiste stood, with his arm still about the younger man, waiting for the dead branches, severed from other trees, to cease falling, and the disturbed needles and dust of the forest to settle.

"Get break up like an ice jam!" came at last. "That tree, he is not made of wood. He is of glass!"

Barry joined him, studying the splintered fragments of the spruce, suddenly to bend forward in wonderment.

"That's queer. Here's a railroad spike driven clear into the heart."

"Huh? What's that?" Batiste bent beside him to examine the rusty spike, then hurried to a minute examination of the rest of the tree.

"And another," came at last. "And more!"

Four heavy spikes had revealed themselves now, each jutting forth at a place where the tree had split. Batiste straightened.

"Ah, huh! Bat is no wonder! See? The spike, they have been in the tree for mebbe one, two, three year. And the tree, he is not strong. When the winter come, last year, he split in two, from the frost, where the spike, he spread the grain."

"But why the spikes?"

"Wait!" Batiste, suddenly serious, turned away into the woods, to go slowly from tree to tree, to dig at them with his knife. "I have found another!"

"The spike, they are all in this little section," he said finally. "I have cruise' all about here—there are no more."

"But why should trees grow spikes?"

"Ah, why? So that saws will break at the right time. Bat is easy for the iron hunter at the mill to look the other way—eet he knows the sawyer to step out of the way while the blade, he hit a spike."

A long whistle traveled over Houston's lips. This was the explanation of broken saws, just at the crucial moment!

"Simple, isn't it? he asked caustically. "Whenever it's necessary for an accident to happen, merely send out into the woods for a load of timber from a certain place."

"I've seen enough, Batiste. I'm going to Denver and contract myself an entirely new crew."

They drove in silence to the clearing of Barry's mill, with its bunk house, its diminutive commissary, Houston leaped from the wagon, but at the door of the commissary he whirled, staring. A buggy was just coming over the brow of the little hill which led to the mill property. Someone had called to him—a woman whose voice had caused him to start, then, a second later, to go running forward.

Agnes Gordon was beside Thayer in the buggy, leaning forth, one hand extended as Barry hurried toward her, her black eyes flashing eagerly, her full, red lips parted, her olive-skinned cheeks enlivened by a flush of excitement as Houston came to her.

"Agnes," he gasped. "Why did you—"

"I thought—" and the drawing voice of Fred Thayer had a sudden sobbing effect on Houston, "that you weren't hurt very bad. Your memory came back awful quick, didn't it?"

INTER-CLUB ENTERS RANKS OF SENIOR O. B. A.

B. Dulmage, Secretary, Faced Enthusiastic Gathering of Amateur Fans Friday Evening in Orient Rooms.

London was definitely committed to the Senior ranks last night when the Inter-Club League applied for membership. Secretary Mark Dulmage, of Guelph, was on hand to explain the O. B. A., history, records and objectives, and he found an enthusiastic crowd of baseball enthusiasts awaiting him at the Orient Club.

Representatives from the Southern Counties League, President Ford from St. Thomas, Toad Edmunds from Stratford and Secretary Triller of Woodstock, were present at the meeting, but the splendid sportsmanship after they had learned the amateur baseball situation in London, they more or less withdrew their appeal for a team for their circuit, at least temporarily, until the Inter-Club gets started. Later on however, an Industrial team, probably Ruggles, may enter the southern circuit.

Wanted Both. Mr. Dulmage admitted he had to see a group here and a team in London in the Southern Counties League. He did not press for the latter, but to agree that an industrial team in London would be a good provision for both the team and the southern league.

While the O. B. A. secretary was present to do some pioneering in such an "old" region as this, he found that there was no question of whether or not London was to be asked for, but there was only a question of explaining the parts of the constitution.

Incidentally, though, the secretary stated in his talk, some facts and figures show just what a big factor amateur baseball is getting to be in Canada. He traced the O. B. A.'s beginning to 1904, and showed that practically every Ontario east of London was organized in 1904 or eight years ago. He said in affiliation this year, he had, as an evidence of the rapid growth of the game.

View of the fact that London has been playing wild and woolly ball for so long, and the word "amateur" in connection with baseball is such a little term in these parts, the meeting was more concerned about possible reasons than on any other point. While the secretary was not in a position to give definite promises or even to show by rulings elsewhere, he pointed out that the pre-printed talent would not be at all in excess of what they could expect treatment when they applied for membership.

Clubs Instance. Mr. Dulmage gave an instance of the Don Flats in Toronto, many of whom are in order to be "amateur" in connection with a special order of the T. A. B. A., refrained from talking for two years. They were re-instated as they complied, and resident Gifford of the Southern states admitted his circuit needed to be enough conflicting interests to be able to work out. He believed arrangements could be made to an equal division of receipts by other clubs so that a team here could be partly supported if necessary.

Read took occasion to point out with Manufacturers and O. B. A. to the pros, a team playing outside ball would not be a paying proposition. He said the players in the local leagues were practically all inter-changeable, making it impossible to a manager of the Poplar Hill Club, members of the Middlesex Rural League, and the Ontario Amateur League, thought the circuit intended applied for O. B. A. affiliation.

His explanation, looks much like O. B. A. regulations. Eligibility of O. B. A. players for the local leagues was Mr. Dulmage if there were other teams. The possibility of the Essex Rural League affiliating with the Ontario Amateur League, ruled on by the O. B. A., and that a priority claim of senior or intermediate status on the player's services. Komoka player would be residing or to several teams in the Rural League, London, but would not be senior players first call on his own.

The general meeting the executive committee went into a short session with Mr. Dulmage as to final decision of application.

BASEBALL TRAINER IS JACK OF ALL TRADES

Here is what the trainer of a major league club does. He is a jack of all trades. He checks the trunks, carrying uniforms and also the private wardrobe trunks of the players. He sees that hand luggage is delivered to the rooms of the players. He has charge of the bats and balls. He provides drinking water for the players' bench. He gathers up shoes, socks, shirts, pants and sweaters in the club house after the players have thrown them about when through with the workout, and carefully places them in the lockers of the respective owners. He provides soap, towels and sees that the showers have plenty of hot water.

CUBS GET TO EPPA JEPHTHA IN SEVENTH

Dodgers Made 13 Hits Off Barnes, But Giants Beat Them.

CHICAGO, April 21.—Rixey of Cincinnati weakened in the seventh inning today, after holding Chicago to two hits, and was driven from the mound after being pounded for a single, two doubles and a home-run. He walked two men, and Kelleher followed with a triple, which gave the Cubs a 3-2 lead. The score was 3 to 2.

ONE RUN ON 13 HITS. BROOKLYN, April 21. —Brooklyn made thirteen hits off Jesse Barnes, but only got one run, and lost to New York Giants this afternoon 4 to 1.

BOTH HURLERS UNBOXED. BOSTON, April 21. —McQuillan of Boston and Meadows of Philadelphia were knocked out of the box by the Braves. Pillingham relieved McQuillan and received sensational support. Boston defeated the visitors 6 to 0.

FULTON KNOCKS ROPER OUT OF RING. DENVER, Colo., April 21. —Fred Fulton, of Rochester, Minn., won from Bob Roper of Chicago in the fourth round of a scheduled 12-round bout here last night. In the fifth round Roper was knocked through the ropes. Termination of the battle in the fifth round was unexpected, for up to that point Roper had the better of the bout. In the opinion of the judges and newspapermen at the ringside.

DANFORTH STARTED RIGHT. ST. LOUIS, April 21. —Dave Danforth started his mates to victory over Chicago today, but the Browns finally lost 10 to 5 in ten innings. The Sox tied the score in the ninth inning and a six-run rally in the tenth settled the contest.

WINDSOR C. I. REPEATS IN W.O.S.S.A. CAGE TOURNEY

Strathroy Beaten 35-15 in Finals At L. C. I. Gym Last Night.

Windsor Collegiate Institute for the second time won the Rotary Cup, emblematic of the basketball championship of the W. O. S. S. A., as a result of their 35-15 win over Strathroy five in the finals last night.

The two finalists qualified yesterday afternoon, Windsor defeating Brantford 48 to 23 and Strathroy nicking St. Thomas for a 17-11 victory.

The latter game was naturally the best of the afternoon contests. Windsor, after their showing against Brantford, was more or less conceded the title in the final play, despite the fact that Strathroy had been playing together a long time and had team work down to a fine point. However, their team work in the final game last night broke on the Windsor defence, and the border lads were death on baskets in the offensive department.

L. C. I. played St. Thomas and took on Brantford in the evening entertainment.

The line-ups: Strathroy (17)—R. Nicholson (2), R. Sexton (13), R. Layman, P. Nicholson (2), H. Taylor, D. Farner, G. Brock, St. Thomas (11)—W. Johns (7), P. Chantley, C. Lay (2), P. Dawdy, P. Fulton, J. Turpenny (2), E. Lang.

Half-time score—Strathroy 11, St. Thomas 4. Reference—Sedge, Woodstock.

Windsor (48)—B. Philip (11), G. Howell (21), Wezel (14), Stevenson, Perry, Atkins (2), Berry.

Brantford (23)—J. Lashbert (17), E. Davis, T. Greenwood (4), V. Bal-lachy, D. Donohue, R. Otto, R. Zeigler (2).

Half-time score—Windsor 25, Brantford 9. Reference—Sedge, Woodstock.

BUSINESS WILL IMPROVE WHEN COAL STRIKE ENDED

London Dealer Prophesies Good Times—Says Company Plays Fair With Public.

"Business will greatly improve as soon as the coal strike is over in my opinion," says George J. Chantler, of the firm known as Chantler Bros. of 253 Bathurst street.

"Since the strike the public has been afraid of buying. The situation is such that it cannot be fully understood by us, and we have refrained from advising the public until things are more definite.

"The citizens are our customers and we must play fair with them. If we did not it is unlikely that we would have prospered as we have done since the business was started 27 years ago," declared Mr. Chantler. The well-known coal firm is now under the sole directorship of George J. Chantler. They handle D. L. and W. coal.

FINDS HUGE DEMAND FOR FARM AND CITY PROPERTY

George Colbert, Real Estate Agent, Experiences Busiest Spring of Career.

Many people in London are exchanging their city property for farms and a larger number of farmers wish to move into town, according to George Colbert, a prominent real estate man of this city.

There is a great demand for farms of small acreage within a radius of a few miles of London. Mr. Colbert declares. Most purchasers desire the 100-acre size, although some of the more prosperous will not buy anything less than 200 acres.

"Already I have sold seven or eight large farms this spring," stated Mr. Colbert, "and have prospects of selling as many more at the present time."

"My business has reached the stage when I don't have to look around for houses or farms to sell, everything comes right to my office. Just now I have all the business I can handle, but what can one expect in spring when the minds of the old and young married people turn to thoughts of cosy homes and rich farms."

For the past three years, Mr. Colbert has conducted a successful real estate business in London, and this spring, he claims, is the best that he has ever experienced as far as real estate transfers are concerned.

"One can't buy a good improved 100-acre farm for less than $10,000," said Mr. Colbert, "and I have sold a few farms in the vicinity of London for a great deal more than that sum. So far this spring I have sold three farms near London to people living in Detroit. Our Canadian farms are so much better than the farms on the American side in the vicinity of that city that residents of the United States living close to the border usually purchase a farm in Canada."

Succeed In London

"HITCH your wagon to a star."

Boost and you are sure to get somewhere, especially if your star is the future of London. Any mist of unrest or depression are clearing away, and London is rapidly becoming a power in the social and business life of Canada.

It is a self-made city, the realization of the dream of a race of sturdy pioneers, which has become true because men have forged ahead, and relying on themselves, not depending on assistance, have worked up the success of London. To work with London means to succeed with London, and to succeed with London means to enjoy the prosperity, which is the result of your own efforts, but of the splendid generation of men who have made London what it is.

Canada is in the throes of a period of reconstruction, and London must bear its share of whatever that period entails, for the common good of the DOMINION. But reconstruction for London has meant advancement, in every direction, a lifting of financial depression, and the commencement of a period of prosperity, and he who works with London will share that prosperity and succeed with her.

ELECTRIC MOTOR REPAIR SHOP DOUBLES BUSINESS

Installs Larger Equipment and Increases Floor Space to Meet Demands.

Every kind of repair work in connection with electric motors is done by the Electric Motor Repair Company, of which J. L. Wilkes and J. C. Wetzel are the proprietors.

Mr. Wilkes, who has been repairing and rewinding electric motors in London since 1903, is in charge of that department, while Mr. Wetzel specializes in meter repairing.

Although they are still in their original quarters at 349 Talbot street, they have found it necessary to double the floor space and to install larger equipment. Now they have a 60-cycle current for testing, whereas the hydro current is only 25 cycles.

Many of London's larger corporations have put all their meter and motor repair work in the hands of The Electric Motor Repair and have found that all work is done with the utmost care and that satisfaction is guaranteed in every case.

Every motor that is re-wound or repaired, and every meter that is fixed is thoroughly tested before leaving the shop, and by doing this the proprietors are adding to their list of customers every day.

"The majority of our work comes from out of town," stated Mr. Wetzel, "St. Thomas, Chatham, Wallaceburg and Wingham, as well as other cities in Western Ontario, all send in work by express or freight to The Electric Motor Repair in London."

On account of the hold that radio is taking on the people of this continent, all kinds of radio apparatus will be stocked in the near future by Mr. Wilkes and Mr. Wetzel. They will cut panels and construct tuning coils, and will handle rheostats, condenser wire and other radio equipment.

LAUDS CONTRACT SYSTEM AS BUSINESS STIMULATOR

Manager of "London Garment Care" Tells How Firm Won Success.

"Our business is increasing every month," declared A. Brown, manager of the London Garment Care, 339 Dundas street. "Our contract system is one of the reasons.

"Regular customers pay so much a month, and we take care of their clothes. Customers seem entirely satisfied with the plan.

"We can boast of one thing," continued Mr. Brown, "and that is, we never have had any complaint about our work, and we find our best advertisement is our satisfied customers."

"When a suit is needed cleaned in a hurry, we never turn away a customer with the terse reply of 'too busy,' and I think that is another reason why our business has advanced in leaps and bounds," stated Mr. Brown.

As well as the cleaning and pressing department, The London Garment Care also has a first-class tailoring shop. This has also been a great boon to customers, as they are not forced to take their clothes to a tailor to have them repaired. All the work is done in the one establishment. Besides this all kinds of altering is done.

HAS HOSPITAL FOR SICK, SCRATCHY PHONOGRAPHS

Mr. Wormald, Opposite Armouries, Helps Amateurs Build Their Own Machines As Well.

Often, for want of proper attention, or through some unavoidable accident, phonographs become, instead of a source of pleasure, a scratchy, noisy nuisance. Then it is time to look for a reliable hospital or repair shop, where the business of phonograph repairing is made a specialty and is thoroughly understood.

Such a place is located at 312 1-2 Dundas street, opposite the Armouries, and is known as "Wormald Phonograph Repair." There phonographs of all makes from the fifteen dollar to the five hundred dollar variety receive expert attention. Sometimes the most unruly and noisy motor merely requires a little adjusting, oiling and grease in the right place to make it perform like new.

When it is found necessary to replace broken parts, great care is always taken that the new part is made especially for that particular motor. Mr. Wormald believes that a satisfied customer is an asset that cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents. For that reason, all work and material that leaves his shop is guaranteed to give satisfaction or replacements are made free of charge.

Many people are really handy with carpenter tools, and would, no doubt, like to try their hand at making a phonograph for their own home. For the convenience of these, Mr. Wormald carries a stock of phonograph motors, tone arms, sound boxes, needle caps, lid supports, piano hinges, cabinet hinges, and door catches, etc. This material is all of the best that can be procured. The person who builds his own cabinet is always welcome to drop in and ask all the questions he has a mind to regarding this material. He will, no doubt, receive many hints that will simplify the installing of a motor and other appliances.

While in the store, don't fail to hear some of the Starr-Gemett Records, of which Mr. Wormald carries a large stock. He will soon learn which records appeal most to your particular fancy when played on the Starr machines you will find there. You will surely wish to take a number home to delight the rest of the family.

MONTREAL—Trade conditions during the past week have been on the quiet side, being more or less broken up by the Easter holidays, travelers coming in off the road to spend the holidays at home. Cold weather with heavy rains put a big crimp into the retail trade. Quite a number of retailers reported fair sales for the Easter requirements, but if we had had fine weather, retailers claim, their sales would have been very much larger.

COURT DECISION ON ANNEX POINT DUE NEXT WEEK

Ashplant's Appeal To Come Before County Judge.

$1,500,000 UNTAXED

Labor Alderman Explains Object Not To Raise 15-Mill Rate.

A judicial decision on the long drawn out annex question may be had next week when Ald. H. B. Ashplant's appeal against the decision of the court of revision in the matter will come up for a hearing by the county judge.

Ald. Ashplant wrote the city clerk as a ratepayer, contending that the method of spreading the school board tax upon the roll discredited against him. There were industries in the annex which, as a result of the method of taxation in vogue in that section, were not paying a just proportion of the tax.

The clerk presented the letter to the court of revision and that body decided it had not power and let the question go on to the judge in the form of an appeal.

"My appeal has nothing to do with any property in the annex which is not paying the 15 mill tax. At no time have I ever moved for any action to collect more than the 15 mill rate on any property, either factory or household property, in the annex," said Ald. Ashplant, in discussing a report circulated which purported to give the basis of his appeal.

"My appeal has to do with property in the annex, which is now valued on the assessors roll at the city hall, and is not paying any tax at all to the city treasury. The property, which I am dealing with in my action, through the city council, then at the court of revision, and now before the county judge, does not pay the 15 mill rate, or any rate at all.

"Official statements at the city hall, upon which the municipal tax rate has been struck by the city council, show that in the annex there is a valuation of $1,500,000 (more or less) mainly factory property, shown on the assessment roll for war tax, which is exempt from all other tax. The 15-mill rate is not being charged against this valuation of $1,500,000, and neither is any rate being charged against this property to cover the estimates of the board of education.

"My complaint to the court of revision was that owing to the failure of the clerk of the municipality to do his duty in the preparation of the collector's roll, by refusing to spread the amount of the estimates of the board of education over all the rateable property in this municipality, as required by the statutes, and by exempting illegally the said value of $1,500,000 from school rate, I, as a taxpayer, have been over assessed, to provide the funds for the estimates of the board of education, which the owners of the said $1,500,000 have been illegally exempt from paying in their due proportion, by an equitable tax.

"The court of revision refused to consider my complaint as having merit worthy of their consideration; hence my appeal to the county judge.

"The 15 mill agreement has absolutely nothing to do with my issue. No property in the annex which now pays 15 mills will be called on to pay more. I ask that a supplementary tax notice be issued to cover the $1,500,000 valuation now exempted, and that supplementary notice to relate only to the estimates of the board of education.

CLEAR UP SOUTH AFRICAN STRIKE

LONDON, April 22.—Canadian Press Cable.—In connection with a declaration made by General Secretary Crawford, of the South African Federation of Trades Unions, on April 19, that the South African government had struck the federation a blow by withdrawing its original offer to appoint representatives of the federation to the mining industry board that is to inquire into matters in relation to the strike, the minister of mines, Hon. F. S. Malin, is making a definite recommendation to the mining industry board with the object of seeing that the evidence presented is "sifted in order to secure a fair representation of the facts."

Shot by His Wife Blind War Veteran Claims Balm For False Telegrams

OTTAWA, April 21.—Special investigation is being made into an unusual claim for pension by the sub-committee of the house on pensions. This claim is for total blindness. The wife, on account of her husband's absence overseas and conflicting reports regarding his safety forwarded to her, became temporarily insane. After his return, in one of these fits she shot him, and his blindness is due to the injury then inflicted.

SIDE LIGHTS AT OTTAWA

By JOHN J. McLELLAN. Advertiser Staff Correspondent.

HOUSE OF COMMONS, April 21.—Today was a government day in the house and as a consequence the old order prevailed—estimates. Out of the mass of verbiage questioning one subject of particular importance and weight arose—the cattle embargo. This is a subject in which the Conservative members from the counties of Western Ontario have evinced considerable interest. John L. Stansell from Elgin and Franklin White from London both having spoken of it, making particular reference to the part Hon. Manning Bohnet played in his expedition to England to do what he could for the lifting of the embargo.

Today the minister of agriculture predicted a lifting of the embargo by England in the near future, assuring the House that everything that could be done was being done in that direction at the present, a government representative, under the direction of the Canadian high commissioner in London, making representations to the British authorities to aid in the lifting of the embargo.

This statement gave considerable satisfaction to the members, and they expressed themselves as completely satisfied. Later in the evening, the minister of agriculture said that in following the policy he did he was only giving the steps the late administration had taken with regard to the lifting of the cattle embargo. This naturally stifled any sentiment of criticism that could have possibly originated in the Conservative ranks. The western members take as much interest in the cattle embargo as the Ontario members. They complain that since the embargo has become effective in the United States, there has been practically no market at all for the Canadian farmer, and they allege that but for the importunities of the Irish cattle raisers they would long ago have been able to ship their cattle to England free of the embargo.

Western farmers also contend that cattle shipped from the seaports of Canada reach England in better condition than the same cattle from Ireland, because of the rough passage between Ireland and England and because of the smaller boats used in the transportation of cattle between Ireland and England.

DONALD SUTHERLAND put in a most strenuous session tonight. He was one of the principal actors in a dull drama when the agricultural estimates were going through. He held out at some length on the disaster that had overtaken one of his constituents some two years ago, when 245 hogs had been killed on account of an outbreak of hog cholera in his herd. The inspectors did not see fit to grant to the man any compensation for several reasons.

Donald has been urging the cause of this outraged man for a year now. The minister of agriculture in his own government did not think it at all an injustice that the pet constituent should not receive any compensation, yet the member from North Oxford has not been able to get the government to do anything. The minister of agriculture will not be as discreet or as good a judicial mind as the last, and so has entered the old petition with renewed vigor on behalf of his unfortunate constituent. He also gave notice tonight that he intends to introduce a bill shortly prohibiting the adulteration of feed. He declared that it was a crying shame that cattle feed should be adulterated with weed seeds.

He may have support in this, since the general intent of the proposed bill seems to be good.

SPEAKING tonight after the house closed, John L. Stansell did not seem to be particularly buoyed up by the hope expressed by the minister of agriculture today that the cattle embargo would be removed shortly. He declared that what the minister said was only that "there was hope." There has always been hope, though the lifting of the embargo might be nearer than before.

It was difficult to get results when there was no means of enforcing a favorable decision, said the member. At present the only way was to solicit, and that was not a very effective means.

COMMENCE TO RESTORE RUSSIA

that if the terms of the report of the experts were applied "it would lead to the exploitation of Russia and the enslavement of her laborious population to foreign capital."

The memorandum draws a dark picture of the economic condition of the world, with many millions of unemployed in Europe and America alone, England, Italy, France and Germany, it says, from 1916 to 1920, produced 25,000,000 tons of wheat less than before the war, besides losing 8,000,000 tons of wheat which was yearly imported from Russia.

It is already too dear today for Europe. The want of markets and of customers capable of paying, it is declared, has reduced the work of industry to less than half what it is capable of producing.

"Such is the situation which led up to the Cannes resolution and the Genoa conference," says the memorandum.

The man claims that his wife's insanity was due to misleading telegrams forwarded to her by militia headquarters. The sub-committee found that there was no claim for pension under the existing law, but decided to secure the telegrams sent by militia headquarters and consider the case further.

"Nevertheless, despite the patent fact that the great central problem is the reconstruction of Russia in Europe and not the re-establishment of the rights to revenues of small groups of Russian creditors, it is to this latter question that the London report is devoted.

"The only way of obtaining a rapid and powerful revival of Russia economically is to offer the Russian people immediate and energetic assistance from European capital under the form of long-term loans of money or merchandise, instead of sacking Russia's resources and retarding her economic development to the profit of a group of foreign capitalists."

Newspapers of Moscow attack the terms of the London experts principally opposing the capitulation of Russia to "foreign capitalists."

London, April 22.—The replies of the Germans and the Russians to the allied demands at Genoa are variously commented upon in the morning newspapers. The predominant view regards the German note as in accord with that of Premier Lloyd George—that it is a closed incident—although some hostile critics are dissatisfied in his note and greet with apparent satisfaction France's reported protest.

The Russian reply receives stronger criticism. The Times calls it "profoundly disturbing and asks to what purpose the British delegation is encouraging the Bolsheviks to the point of risking a break with France."

The Morning Post thinks the Russians have made a very good bargain, and quotes disparagingly its Genoa correspondent, who predicts the Russians will win de jure recognition. This newspaper foresees that the Bolsheviks are using this recognition to propagate their "pestilential creed and carry on worldwide plots of communism."

The Daily Telegraph, while holding that the Russian reply is "less preposterous than the Russian attitude, and quotes disparagingly its Genoa correspondent, who predicts the Russians will win de jure recognition. This newspaper foresees that the Bolsheviks are using this recognition to propagate their "pestilential creed and carry on worldwide plots of communism."

The Daily Chronicle takes an opposite view. It expresses the belief that the Russian reply removes a perilous obstacle to the success of the conference. Admitting, however, the objection heretofore contended by the Russians at the conference. The newspaper pleads that Russia be not pressed too hard regarding her debts, and supports her claim.

The English financier, Sir George Paish, telegraphs the Westminster Gazette from Genoa in defence of the Russo-German agreement. He urges that the German and Russian are subjected to political isolation and economic pressure, great harm will result. He insists that Great Britain must give Russia reasonable terms.

RUSSIA REPLIES.

GENOA, April 21.—Both the Germans and the Russians today submitted their replies to the Allies' demands. The German reply accepts the Allied proposal that the Germans take no further part in the negotiations between the Allies and the Russians, but the reply does not modify the effectiveness of the Russo-German treaty.

The Russian reply accepts the Allied proposal for the payment of Russia's debts due to foreigners, and the restoration of foreign property nationalized by Russia, in case the Soviet regime is granted recognition by the allied governments as a de jure state, and is given adequate assistance.

The effect of the two replies is to continue the German and Russian participation in the work here, and thus to bridge over the crisis which recently threatened to disrupt the conference. While the Soviet reply apparently accepts practically all the Allied demands, the details of working out the plan and the amounts the Russians may expect in loans to restore their country admittedly present a difficult problem, without any certainty that it can be solved and thus complete the preliminaries necessary for Russian recognition.

Text of Russian Reply.

The Russian delegation has examined with the greatest care the proposal of the Allied governments, as set forth in the official note of April 15, and at the same time has consulted with its government thereon.

"The Russian delegation is of the opinion that the present economic situation in Russia and the circumstances leading to it amply justify, in respect to Russia, the complete remission of all her debts as set forth in the above-mentioned note by recognition of her counter-claim."

"However, the Russian government is ready to go a step further in the quest for a solution and adjustment of differences and to accept articles one and two, and item one of the above-mentioned annex, provided that war debts and arrears in interest, as well as postponed interest on all debts are written down and financial assistance is given Russia to help her to recover from the present economic state in the shortest possible time.

"Regarding article three, part two, on the subject of the above conditions, the Russian government would be ready to restore to the former owners the use of property, nationalized or reserved, under the reservation that in the event of that being impossible, satisfaction shall be given to the legitimate claims of the former owners, either by mutual agreement or by arbitration.

"Financial assistance from foreign sources is absolutely vital for the economic reconstruction of Russia, and so long as there is no prospect of reconstruction forthcoming, the Russian delegation does not see its way to saddling its country with debts of which it would not be able to acquit itself. The Russian delegation wishes it clearly understood, notwithstanding the fact that it appears obvious in point of right, that the Russian government cannot

RAILMEN VOTE STRIKE BALLOT BE DISTRIBUTED

Favor Action As Counter Move To Effort To Crush Organization.

600,000 MEN AFFECTED

President of Employees Believes If Strike Declared, Unanimous Support Is Assured.

Chicago, April 22.—Grievances, centering about the contract system employed by some railroads in the handling of repair work has resulted in a vote for distribution of strike ballots to the 600,000 members of the railway employees department of the American Federation of Labor. The department comprises the six federated shop crafts and the switchmen's union of North America. Authorization for the strike ballots was voted at the sixth biennial convention of the department, which has been in session here two weeks and which concluded its sessions today. The vote to send out the ballots was taken yesterday and officers declared that it was a counter move to "an effort to crush our organization completely."

"If there is a strike, and I feel sure our men will vote solidly for it, it will be in protest of the action of railroads in ignoring decisions of the United States Railway Labor Board," said B. M. Jewell, president of the Railway Employees' department.

"The carriers have arbitrarily reduced wages in defiance of the board," said Mr. Jewell. "They have restored the piecework system and resorted to the farming-out system, which is mere subterfuge, by which they dodge labor board decisions."

SOLDIERS REPAY LOANS

Majority of Veterans Succeed on Farms.

OTTAWA, April 21.—(By Canadian Press).—Major Barnett, chairman of the soldiers' settlement board, giving evidence before the pensions committee of the house today, said that of 88,740 soldiers who had taken up land for themselves, there would be only 5 per cent with no previous agricultural experience.

Fifty per cent, however, were not on the land at the time of enlistment. In many cases men who were farm boys before enlistment had taken up land for themselves.

Payments in arrear at the end of the last fiscal year of the board were $1,023,000 out of $2,236,000. However, the board had also received over $1,000,000 in pre-payments. Total value of the loans accepted was $87,740,000. That amount had been advanced by the finance department. The board had already repaid to the finance department $11,855,000.

DECLINES EX-CONSTABLES

Queensland Government Refuses to Absorb Former Members of Royal Irish Constabulary.

LONDON, April 21.—(By Canadian Press Cable).—Replying to an inquiry from the British government as to whether it would be able to absorb any of the former members of the Irish Royal Constabulary, the Queensland government declined to grant any facilities for the absorption of such in the government forces, according to a Reuter dispatch from Brisbane, Australia. It is said that Hon. James Dooley, the Labor premier of New South Wales, who recently resigned following the defeat of the Labor party at the polls, also refused to accept the imperial government's offer of the services of former members of the Irish Royal Constabulary.

PRINCE OF WALES BIDS TOKIO ADIEU

Tokio, April 22.—The Prince of Wales said farewell to Tokio today, leaving for Yokohama on the special train provided for his use while in Japan.

At Yokohama the royal visitor of the allied war memorial erected by the foreign residents of the city in honor of the men from the foreign communities in Japan who fell during the war. The memorial is in the form of a handsome granite gateway to the foreign cemetery, with appropriately inscribed bronze tablet.

REPORTS ARRIVAL OF ROAD ENGINEER

Special to London Advertiser.

ST. THOMAS, April 21.—F. E. Sharpe, provincial engineer, arrived in the city Friday night to take charge of the construction of the provincial highway from Sandy Mount just north of the St. Thomas to Dunwich.

The road will be similar to that which has been built from London to Lambeth and on account of the character of the soil will necessitate the building of a large number of bridges and culverts.

It is understood that work on the new highway will be commenced in the near future.

WILL ADDRESS BROTHERHOOD.

Major T. J. Murphy, K.C., will address the Men's Brotherhood of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, at their regular meeting Sunday, April 23, at 10 a.m. Subject: "Mothers' Pensions." Hear this!

assume any obligation with respect to the debts of its predecessors until it has been officially recognized de jure by the interested powers.

"Hoping that you will find the foregoing proposals will be an adequate basis for a resumption of discussions, we have the honor to be, Yours very obedient servant, (Signed) "CHICHERIN"

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

BUTTER PLENTIFUL ON LOCAL MARKET

Vegetables in Good Demand, While Maple Syrup Offering Is Fair.

The attendance at the local market on Saturday was the largest in months. Butter was plentiful, selling at 38¢/40¢ per lb wholesale and 42¢/45¢ retail for dairy, and 42¢/43¢ wholesale and 45¢/46¢ retail for creamery.

Vegetables were in good demand. Rhubarb was quoted at 25¢ per dozen for the large variety, and 30¢ a dozen for small. Lettuce sold at 80¢ a dozen bunches.

Three loads of hay brought for $19 per ton. One load of straw sold for $11.50 per ton.

Day's Legislative Doings at Ottawa

MONDAY IN PARLIAMENT. In the Commons.

Private members' business. If time permits, estimates will be taken up. First item for consideration is one of $100,000 for unemployment relief in the labor department estimates.

The Senate will not sit. YESTERDAY IN PARLIAMENT. In the Commons.

Legislation to assist provinces in the enforcement of labor laws, introduced by Hon. D. D. Mackenzie, solicitor-general. Among other provisions the bill prohibits the importation of liquor into British Columbia, except direct to the provincial government.

The House went into committee on estimates of the department of agriculture. Discussion of a vote of $1,000,000 for live stock was lengthy, but the item finally carried. Also one of $20,000 for administration of the agricultural instruction act, completing the estimates of this department. Estimates of the interior department, covering a number of branches, were carried. The total amount of $4,836,950 asked for Dominion lands and parks passed.

All the labor department estimates, with the exception of a vote for $100,000 for unemployment relief, passed. Estimates passed during the day totaled over $5,000,000. Premier King announced that railway department estimates would be taken up on Tuesday. The House adjourned at 11:15 p.m.

In the Senate. The Senate did not sit.

THE OLD HONOLAND. "It's many years since I crossed the Atlantic, but I have always kept in touch with the homeland by reading the News of the World," says a prominent man of the West. The News of the World is the great national journal of the British Isles, and no matter in what part of the globe Britishers may settle, the News of the World, complete with all the week's news, can be obtained. Its thrilling serial stories, up-to-date song, with music, the latest gossip and pictures, make it the most welcome of the week's visitors. It can be obtained direct from the publishers, 30, Abchurch Lane, London, England, but for the convenience of local purchasers, ample stocks are carried by Mr. W. Smith, Byron P. O., London; Mrs. Ellen McEwen, London; Mr. W. O. Loughlin, London; Mr. G. W. Evans, 253 Wellington street, London.

Make sure of a regular weekly supply by placing an order with the agents.

Home - Go - Church - Tomorrow

"YES, I know all the excuses. I know that one can worship the Creator in a grove of trees or by a running brook, or in a man's own house, just as well as in a church. But I also know as a matter of cold fact the average man does not thus worship."

Here are a few benefits to be derived from church attendance:

"You will listen to and take part in reading some beautiful passages from the Bible. And if you are not familiar with the Bible, you have suffered loss."

"You will take part in singing some good hymns."

"You will meet and nod or speak to good neighbors. You will come away feeling a little more charitably inclined toward all the world, even toward those excessively foolish young men who regard church-going as a soft performance."

"Join in church work for the sake of showing your faith in your works."

Make your start in church service tomorrow. A fair trial of church attendance will convince you it's well worth while.

At the Root of Rottenness!

SOMETHING is wrong with the world. The optimism which blinks this is only the wit of the ostrich. Turn to the news pages of this very newspaper which you hold in your hand; if you need any evidence that dishonesty, bad faith, cruelty, selfishness, jealousy, theft and murder are abroad in the world. Social doctors may disagree in their diagnoses, but nobody denies that there is disease. It is necessary to know the cause, if we are to find a cure. Now, let us stop for a moment and consider, in the light of each reader's personal experience and observation, what lies at the root of the varied rottenness in our common life today. Who has the one comprehensive master word for it all? Is not the truth clearly with the church which takes the longest look across history and the deepest look into human nature, and which says that the source and spring of all our ailing is described by one old-fashioned little word of three letters—S-I-N? Master sin in the human heart and there will be no problem left for the sociologist to deal with. Obviously this is so. If the diagnosis is correct, what of the remedy? THE CHURCH HAS IT. She always has had it. It has been her one sovereign specific throughout the ages. By it she has changed savage, bestial nations into the civilization of Canada, the United States and Europe. By it she has scattered institutions of helpfulness all over the earth. By it she has transfused the blood of benevolence for the blood of cruelty into the arteries of society. By it she has exalted the place and welfare of womanhood and childhood. By it she has spread abroad new doctrines, now universally dominant, of human rights, human liberty and human brotherhood. That remedy for sin, which is the root of all evil, is the gospel of Jesus Christ, which saves and transforms the individual and society. Every church in the city is a laboratory for this greatest of social equipments. It is also a Dispensary of Life. And we shall never cure the day's ills until we accept the church's diagnosis and remedy. GO TO CHURCH TOMORROW!

DRURY CLASHES WITH DEWART ON PROCEDURE

Premier Withdraws Remark That Speaker Rules Was Reflection.

MANY BILLS INTRODUCED

Private Members' Measures Receive Consideration in Legislature.

TORONTO, April 21.—This was private members' afternoon in the Ontario Legislature, and a large number of bills were dealt with. The introduction of six insurance bills by the attorney-general, which are to be incorporated into one bill before a third reading, brought a vigorous protest from H. Hartley Dewart, K.C., regarding this method of procedure as "tinkering" with legislation. This brought on a clash when Premier Drury said it was the exact procedure Mr. Dewart had agreed to last night, "but the honorable gentleman has a very high recollection of what occurred last night." This brought Mr. Dewart to his feet demanding a retraction.

Speaker Parliament held that the reference was contrary to the rules of the house, and the premier withdrew the words complained of. Second reading was held up for the bill of F. Rennie (South Bruce), which will enable judges to relieve persons convicted during the war of being defaulters, or of using treasonable or seditious language, from being deprived of the right to vote for the remainder of ten years. It is provided in the bill that a man so convicted may apply to a judge, and if the judge shows that his offence was minor and that he had subsequently shown himself to have been a loyal British subject, the ban against his exercise of the rights of citizenship may be removed. It met with some opposition by members who thought it was forgetting too soon what some men said and did.

It was held up until the attorney-general could ascertain its relation to the power of clemency on the part of the crown. The bill to give the wife or husband of an owner of land the right to vote in municipal elections, but not to be counted in county votes, was introduced by Provincial Secretary Nixon. Biggs Refuses Answer.

The bill to protect municipalities from damage when water overflowed from highways into private lands, was given a second reading on the understanding that it would be limited in committee so that it would not allow municipalities to neglect highway drainage.

A. O. Hogg, representing the grain section of Toronto Board of Trade, said his interests were opposed to the establishment of a compulsory wheat board. The federal government had already invested more money in aid of the grain growers than for any other branch of Canadian industry. The wheat board could control in Canada, but could not control the price in the world markets. This fact might result in a board operating at a loss. The committee adjourned till Monday morning.

Expect Building Boom in Stratford.

Special to London Advertiser. STRATFORD, April 21.—The familiar sign of bygone days of "house to rent" is almost an unknown quantity in Stratford. For the past three of four months it has been practically impossible for home-seekers to secure a house for rent at a moderate rental. New arrivals in the city are thus forced before a decision to build or to buy. A local real estate man stated that as a result of this a stimulus in the sale of houses on the monthly payment plan has been noticeable. A building boom in the city, which is expected to exceed the record year of 1914, is also anticipated.

CLAIMS NEED FOR MARKET CONTROL

Hon. C. M. Hamilton Pleads For Re-constitution of Canada Wheat Board.

URGES NATIONAL SYSTEM

Asserts Any Scheme Would Fail Unless Made Compulsory.

OTTAWA, April 21.—(By Canadian Press).—"I am authorized by my prime minister to make this statement that the Saskatchewan government is prepared to co-operate in the most wholehearted manner," Hon. C. M. Hamilton, Saskatchewan minister of agriculture, informed the house committee on agriculture and colonization this morning when pleading for the reconstitution of the Canada Wheat Board. There was, he said, urgent need for a central marketing control, but in his opinion any system would have to be national in character.

Asked by Hon. Mr. Motherwell, minister of agriculture, if the provinces would be willing to co-operate among themselves, as in Australia, Mr. Hamilton replied that any scheme would fail unless it was compulsory. Ontario would have to enter any provincial scheme, because the terminal elevators were in that province.

Mr. Hamilton made a general plea for agriculture. "To me," he said, "the outlook is not bright, and it would not be out of place for the committee to investigate all possible plans in order to find suitable markets. Other countries were more favorably situated for marketing their crops, and did not have to contend with long rail and ocean hauls. Argentina, India and the United States were among the favored countries, and when Russia was re-established she would prove a strong competitor."

STILL RETICENT AS TO BUDGET

W. S. Fielding Remains Quiet On Matter of Anticipated Alterations in Tariff.

Expected That Minister Will Present Statement Next Thursday.

BY JOHN J. MacLELLAN. Special to London Advertiser. OTTAWA, April 21.—Continued reticence on the part of W. S. Fielding, as to when he will bring down the budget prevails. There is no indication by the minister as to when he will reveal the proposed alterations in the tariff, which is, of course, the big thing that will be contained in the budget. Dispatches from Ottawa have set Tuesday of next week as a likely day for the budget to be introduced. It cannot come on Tuesday, however, for the prime minister announced tonight that next Tuesday the railway estimates would be discussed.

From this it may be deduced, since the railway estimates are likely to be the last of the larger money votes, that the budget speech will be made possible Thursday, giving a margin of a day for the unexpected to happen.

The decision of the crown officers of the law on the wheat board has left the Progressive members somewhat at a loss. They have no practical alternative to offer at the present time. Moreover they cannot blame anyone for the misfortune that has fallen on the wheat board project, because it is a matter that transcends the powers of the present parliament. Nevertheless, the matter is to be pursued, it is expected, and it will not be long before some other suggestion regarding action on the re-establishing of the wheat board will be put forth.

DRUMMER HIT BY CAR ENTERS SUIT

BRANTFORD, April 21.—One of the most peculiar damage suits has been taken by Reginald Allen, a member of the 3rd Machine Gun Company, against the city of Brantford, through his solicitors, Macdonald & MacDonald. It is stated that while Allen was marching with the Machine Gun Company on Brant Avenue about two months ago a street car struck him, throwing him to the ground. The complainant is a drummer in the bugle band of the above company.

PROMPT ACTION SAVES MOTORIST

ST. THOMAS, April 21.—An unknown motorist narrowly escaped serious injury Friday night when he attempted to drive his car across the tracks on Talbot street in front of an L. & P. S. car. Disregarding the watchman's signal the man speeded up and quick action on the part of the motorman was all that saved the car from a bad smash-up. The automobile was only scraped and the motorist proceeded on his way. The license number was not obtained.

ISSUES REPORT ON GOLD DEPOSITS OF PROVINCE

Ontario Department of Mines Flooded With Inquiries Regarding Northern Fields.

TORONTO, April 21.—A report on Ontario's gold deposits, written by Percy E. Hopkins, and published by the provincial department of mines, became available to the public today when the first edition came from the presses. The first copies for the most part are being rushed to the province's agent-general in England to meet the many inquiries in that country regarding the gold mining in Ontario.

With the unsatisfactory conditions of mining in South Africa, and the spectacular rise in Hollinger among the great gold mines of the world, British speculators have been led to inquire into possibilities in this province, and both the daily and the technical papers in the old country have laid considerable emphasis on the swing of Ontario mines into public favor.

The report is a historical digest of gold mining in this province from the earliest development, and the conditions surrounding the various deposits of the precious metal. It gives a great amount of information regarding the developments in Porcupine and Kirkland Lake fields, and in regard to these golden fields.

The report is available to the public on application to the deputy minister of mines.

FRENCH EXPORTER SUES LONDONER

TORONTO, April 21.—J. Dassy of Bordeaux, France, has entered action by a writ issued at Osgoode Hall, against W. G. Coles, wholesale grocer of London, Ont.

Dassy alleges that Coles contracted to buy 500 cases of walnut halves from him early in January, but later in the month, when the price of walnuts had fallen, the contracts were repudiated. The walnuts were then sold elsewhere at a loss of $3,650, it is said.

Dear Miss Grey—I noticed an inquiry for the reading of "Evangeline" and "Car of Wakenfield," signed by T. W. If I please send me her address I shall be only too glad to help her, and also with other reading material. A Boy of 17 writes he would like to have some books to read, books that make him cry (he writes in his letter). I would gladly send him some books, if he had his address. I noticed where Old-Timer wants some patches for quilts. If she will send me her address I will gladly send her some patches, enough for a quilt. I am inclosing a small note for the Children's Hospital.

Port Stanley Notice

The council of Port Stanley hereby notice all ratepayers that it intends to introduce the system of paying taxes twice a year, beginning 1922.

In order to do so the collector's roll must be in the collector's hands in July so that it will be necessary to strike the rate in June and as all estimates must be prepared by that time, notice is hereby given that all works requiring an expenditure of money or requisitions for grants must be placed before the council not later than its May meeting, after which no applications will be entertained.

A meeting of council will be held April 19 and May 8, 1922.

Dated March 1, 1922.

J. S. ROBERTSON,
Municipal Clerk.

NOTICE!

Is hereby given that a special general meeting of the shareholders and policyholders of the London Life Insurance Company will be held at the offices of the company, No. 424 Wellington Street, London, Ontario, on Monday, the 8th day of May, 1922, at 3:45 o'clock p.m., for the purpose of considering, and if approved, confirming and passing a by-law passed by the directors, changing the date of the Annual General Meeting from the second Monday in February in each year to the third Monday in January in each year. JUSTIFY HOME GARDEN WORK

Among the profits of the home garden is one which is seldom counted, but which would alone be sufficient to justify the trouble and expense of growing one's own vegetables.

It lies in the huge advantage of serving things fresh, within a short time of being picked from the plants on which they grow. It has long been known that the exquisite flavor of fresh peas and sweet corn to cite notable examples, began to deteriorate if they were not served within an hour after they were gathered. This opinion has now been fortified by a series of experiments made by the department of agriculture.

The experiments establish that the sugar content of sweet corn will range in the neighborhood of five per cent. This is in the proportion of three spoons of sugar in a cup of coffee. In a normal summer temperature, even with the husks still on, the sugar content will begin to fall in the first 30 minutes after picking. In scientific language, the cause of this is the condensation of polysaccharides chiefly starch. Respiration is, indirectly, also a factor.

In the first 24 hours after corn has been picked, 30 per cent of its sugar will have disappeared and in the next 24 hours, 25 per cent more. About 30 per cent of the sugar remains fixed in the corn, but after 96 hours all evidence of the delicious corn flavor has disappeared.

Wrapping the corn in oiled paper does not help. The only thing which will prevent the loss of sugar is refrigeration. In a freezing temperature, only 7 per cent loss occurred in 24 hours, and in a temperature of 50, about 15 per cent.

In general what is true about sweet corn is true about all vegetables, especially all those which depend upon their sugar content for flavor. The experiments explain why vegetables which are displayed for sale in the hot sun hours after they have left the garden, never possess the flavor of the home garden product. They teach a lesson for both the green grocer and the housewife. First, that if vegetables cannot be served immediately after picking, they should be placed in the refrigerator, and second, that to ensure that they are at their best they should be picked in the garden not more than half an hour before they are placed on the fire for cooking.

And one moral of this is that full enjoyment of "corn on the cob" is reserved for the fortunate families that "grow their own."

Many Ontario gardeners have had substantial success in growing fine big onions by sowing the seed indoors or in hotbeds or cold frames and then transplanting the plants to the garden when the ground would permit.

It is the only way really big, mild, tender-fleshed onions can be grown in Ontario and there are several types of seed which are adapted for growing home "Bermudas."

For young onions, sets should be planted for the first crop with the seedlings to come along for the second early crop, thinning them out to make room for those which are to develop into the big bulbs. Onion soil can't be too rich; in fact, the onion bed should be the best soil in the garden, both from a standpoint of fertility and tilth.

Sow the seed of the big varieties of onions in the house and transplant them into the open six inches apart, if they are all to be grown for big onions, or three inches apart, nothing every alternate onion for young onions, leaving the remainder to develop.

The seed may be grown quite thickly in boxes indoors, or in frames, as the young plants, with their tiny erect spurs take up little room. When transplanted, the tips of the leaves should be snipped off and they should be carefully set and firmed in the soil, without breaking over the tender stems.

They need rather careful handling at this stage, but it is not at all a difficult matter to get them growing. After established, a light dressing of nitrate of soda will set them springing.

Heavy clay soils should be fall-plowed when the moisture content is right. If worked when wet, they are apt to puddle and bake. While it is necessary to plow these soils deeply, the depth should be lowered gradually. The early working of these soils, in the spring, is most important. This will check evaporation as soon as the proper moisture condition is reached, but never when the soil is at all sticky. By passing some wide implement over the land, such as a drag harrow, the surface soil will be loosened and crumbled sufficiently to prevent it from baking into clods. This will check evaporation and maintain the proper moisture condition for a longer period.

Clay soils are generally wet and cold because the water in them is constantly evaporating, and evaporation is a cooling process. It is the coldness of a poorly drained soil, as well as the excess water that it contains that is responsible for the unsatisfactory growth of crops from them. Drainage carries off this surplus water, makes the soil warmer, hastens germination, allows air to enter the soil and brings about favorable conditions for bacterial life.

Add Vegetable Matter.

To keep up the fertility of clay soils and to check their tendency to bake considerable vegetable matter should be added. This can be done by applying strawy manure and by plowing under leguminous crops; as clover, peas, vetches, etc. This can best be accomplished by following a definite crop rotation. By so doing each crop while being grown to its own greatest advantage will be at the same time preparing the soil for the reception of the next. A rotation of four years' duration is giving very satisfactory results on the illustration stations. Briefly this rotation is as follows:

First Year, Hoed Crop—Corn, turnips, mangels or sunflowers.

Second Year, Grain and Seeded—Eight pounds red clover, 2 pounds alsike and 10 pounds timothy.

Third Year, Clover Hay—First cut, clover hay; second cut, clover seed or hay.

Fourth Year—Mixed or pasture.

Farm, Orchard and Country Life

Growers Find Heavy Clay Soil Best Adapted to Raise Grain and Grasses

BY J. C. MAYNARD.

Division of Illustration Stations.

Of all the various types of soil to be found none when properly handled are more productive than the heavy clay. The very fineness of these soils gives them a large water-holding capacity, which will adapt them to the production of small grains and grasses.

The management of these soils presents special problems for consideration. Their fineness gives them a tendency to bake, and to require more than the usual amount of labor in cultivation. The lack of sufficient surface or underdrainage makes them cold and wet in the spring, and when there is a lack of vegetable or organic matter, they are hard to work and less productive.

The methods of treatment here discussed are based on the results of field demonstrations and observations made on the Dominion Illustration Stations in Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. One of the great drawbacks with this type of soil is the fineness of the soil particles. To offset this condition, the farm practice should be so arranged that the operations will systematically open up and make these soils more given to the time and type of plowing and cultivation.

Should Be Plowed First.

Heavy clay soils should be fall-plowed when the moisture content is right. If worked when wet, they are apt to puddle and bake.

While it is necessary to plow these soils deeply, the depth should be lowered gradually. The early working of these soils, in the spring, is most important. This will check evaporation as soon as the proper moisture condition is reached, but never when the soil is at all sticky. By passing some wide implement over the land, such as a drag harrow, the surface soil will be loosened and crumbled sufficiently to prevent it from baking into clods. This will check evaporation and maintain the proper moisture condition for a longer period.

Why You Should Do Business With The London Real Estate Board.

THE London Real Estate Board was organized to promote the real estate interests of the City of London and vicinity, to facilitate the business of buying and selling and renting real estate, and to encourage close and friendly co-operation of owners, agents and customers.

Membership in the board requires honesty, efficiency and fairness in all dealings of members with owners and purchasers, and guarantees to you experience and judgment.

Unbusinesslike methods and unethical dealings are not countenanced by the board, and any person deeming himself unfairly treated by or through any member of the board may lodge a complaint which will receive prompt and careful investigation.

High-class salesmanship is expected of members of the board. A "Realtor" takes pride in his profession. He not only wishes to protect you and his own good name, but also the high standards and integrity of the board.

There is as much difference between the proper conduct of sales or the care of real estate, and that given by those who have had little or no experience in these matters, as there is between the careful or the careless conduct of any other trust.

The efforts and affairs of the board are constantly directed in such a way as to secure at all times the best services of its members for their patrons, to the end that membership in the board shall be indicative of square dealing, and the ethical and dignified practice of the real estate profession.

A REALTOR

"Realtor" is the name adopted by the National Association of Real Estate Boards as describing a member of any one of the more than two hundred boards in the country that are affiliated with the National Association, and have subscribed to the association's "code of ethics." The courts have upheld the claim that this title cannot be used by anyone who is not a member of such a board. Therefore, this term, used instead of "real estate agent," is becoming increasingly known throughout the country as a synonym for correct methods of transacting the real estate business.

LISTING SERVICE

The modern and most satisfactory method of selling real estate is to give one person or firm the exclusive agency for the property. Doing this constitutes that person or office your "agent" and puts him under the obligation of looking out for your interests to the full, and protects him in his advertising and other efforts to obtain the proper price for the property.

COMBINED SELLING EFFORTS

Your agent can sub-list the property with the other members of the board, and by the working agreement between the members of this board, whichever member finds a buyer for your property receives adequate compensation for his efforts. The combined selling efforts of these members of the board, both by personal work and by advertising, are at the command of the clients of the London Real Estate Board without charge unless a sale is effected.

ONE COMMISSION TO PAY

As stated above, you list your property with whichever member of the board you choose to attend to your business for you. Your dealings are with him direct, and the selling commission is paid to him only. You are, therefore, relieved of all possibility of settling disputed commissions, which so often occurred under the old method.

CANADA ISSUES 3,000 LICENSES TO RADIO FANS
Interest in Invention Delays Proposed Union of Government Branches.
TWO DEPUTIES RETAINED
Merging of Militia and Naval Defence Ministries Postponed.

Special to London Advertiser.
HOUSE OF COMMONS, Ottawa.
April 21.—Canada has been bitten hard by the radiophone bug, according to C. J. Desbarats, deputy minister of naval service for Canada. In addition to more than 3,000 licenses for wireless stations, hundreds of applications for radio apparatus have been granted since April 1.
"It is one of the coming things of the times," said Mr. Desbarats, speaking of the radiophone, "and while as yet the poorer apparatus purchased by amateurs is more or less imperfect, it will not be long before a greater degree of perfection will be reached."
The deputy minister remarked that so numerous had the sales of radio apparatus become that it was really worth while for manufacturing concerns to install broadcast stations and give first-class concerts, if only to advertise themselves.
Exhibitions and tests, he said, had been conducted by the government. Chief of the difficulties encountered was interference. If two broadcast stations were within a short distance of each other, even 150 miles apart, broadcasting at the same time invariably resulted in confusion, experts found.

Reaching Agreement.
Mr. Desbarats declared that should two broadcasting stations fail to reach an agreement regarding the time each should be allowed to operate—such stations being within a short distance of each other—then the department will intercede, allotting a certain time to each station.
To date department officials have found no friction-existent. Newspaper offices with broadcasters, when in close proximity to each other, had settled the matter themselves, not finding it necessary to have the department take a hand in the matter.
In the United States, he believed, licenses were restricted to a great extent, in order to prevent interference.
In London there are over eleven amateur wireless operators, and a considerable number in Brantford, Kitchener, Windsor, Sarnia, Woodstock and other Western Ontario cities.
Toronto has a greater number of operators than any other municipality in Canada, nearly every second operator on the government list having a Toronto address.

Radio Upsets Plan.
When the bill of Hon. George Graham, providing for the union of the department of militia and the department of naval defence was introduced, considerable criticism was levelled at the minister for retaining the two deputy ministers. Mr. Graham replied that the deputy minister of naval affairs would only be kept in office for a few years at the most.
Radio has upset this, for if the increase in the use of wireless and radiophone continues at anything like

Half a Cent May Force Hamilton To Walk.
HAMILTON, April 21.—A half cent all that stands between the Dominion Power and Transmission Company and its employees, who have been threatening to strike.
The men offered to work for 4 1/2 cents an hour, and the company is willing to give them 48. There is also some difference about making the settlement retroactive. The different unions involved will hold separate meetings tomorrow to consider the company's offer, and this has caused rumors of dissension among the unions.

the present rate, the deputy minister will be required for a longer period.
At Calgary there is a government station, and although it is small, on a clear night it received reports and messages over the snow-capped Rockies from sunny Honolulu.
Every night scores of radio "fans" in Western Ontario "listen in" on concerts in Pittsburgh, New York, Chicago and other places. The majority of them can send as well as receive. Here is a list of the stations on the government records, with name, address, call signal and metres:

"Tiz" For Tender Sore, Tired Feet
The minute you put your feet in a "TIZ" bath you feel pain being drawn out and comfort just soaking in. How good your tired, swollen, burning feet feel, "TIZ" instantly draws out the poisonous exudations that puff up your feet and cause sore, inflamed, sweaty feet.
"TIZ" and only "TIZ" takes the pain and soreness out of corns, callouses and bunions. Get a box of "TIZ" at any drug or department store for a few cents. Your feet are never going to bother you any more. A whole year's foot comfort guaranteed.—Adv.

"Vampire Complexion" Is Natural, She Says
They say of a certain well-known dancer that she has a "vampire complexion." It is so bewitchingly beautiful. Yet to intimate friends she has confessed that she abhors make-up and that her complexion is really natural. Her secret is—ordinary mercurized wax. She spreads a thin coat of the wax over her face at night, without rubbing it in, and takes it off with warm water upon arising. This simple application actually absorbs the dead particles of scarf skin which daily appear, and a fair, soft, fresh, girlish skin is always in evidence. The complexion is kept perpetually young by preventing the accumulation of the aging and lifeless cuticle.
As mercurized wax is obtainable at any drug store, and as an ounce is sufficient to rejuvenate even the worst complexion, anyone may enjoy the benefits of this remarkable beauty secret. There's nothing more effective for freckles, liver spots, moth patches, pimples and unwholesome skins generally.—Adv.

CHAMBERLAIN'S
Don't Just "Smother" the Headache
Nearly all headaches have their beginning in the stomach, liver or bowels, and the best remedy is Chamberlain's Tablets. They tone the liver, sweeten the stomach and cleanse the bowels. This renders you much less liable to a return of the headache. Try them.

PLAYGROUNDS OF ONTARIO.
Nature, who ordained that man shall earn his bread by the sweat of his brow, also endowed him with a capacity for play. She further provided him with playgrounds wherein he might exercise that natural instinct. The Canadian National-Grand Trunk Railways have issued a booklet that provides an introduction to some of Nature's best playgrounds, set down in the Province of Ontario. In these vast playgrounds of Ontario, Nature is at her best. Ages ago, giant glaciers from the north carved out the beds of Ontario's rivers, lakes and valleys with prodigious profusion and in splendid disarray. To such an ideal setting for a summer sojourn, Nature has added yet one boon more, that of a perfect summer climate. The air is pure and bracing, laden with the scent of the pine. A very brief sojourn in these delightful attitudes brings sure relief to those afflicted with hay fever. To all—old and young, the strong, the weak—the beautiful land, where summer lingers long with its cool nights and haleyn days, brings rest and vigor. A handsomely illustrated booklet entitled "Playgrounds of Ontario," may be had by the asking by applying to any Grand Trunk agent, or C. E. Horning, D. P. A., Toronto, Ont. b
