Mr. Blair's Resignation.

The limited amount of ammunition with which the Conservative campaigners are supplied is evidenced by the jubilation made over Mr. Blair's resignation of the position of chairman of the Railway Commission. "If Laurhad any chance it is gone "Blair owns New Brunswick, and he brings New Bruns wick with him." "One Canadian politician has been too clever for Sir Wilfrid." And so on, ad infinitum. It is What significance has Mr. Blair's resignation at the present moment? He London men fear to tread? "tates that he resigns for several reasons, and because he has an opportunity to better himself. Further, he says he is not going into public life. That. does not look as though he was about entering on an aggressive campaign against the Government. And yet all the Tory papers are crying out with great joy that they have got a man who is going to sweep the Governmen out of existence. It is not a very high compliment to their leader that the possibility of Mr. Blair entering the campaign should be hailed with such enthusiasm. It seems to saw that Mr Borden has been so far somewhat of a failure; and that now the prospect of aid from one who used to be a member of the Liberal Government has awakened their dormant hopes.

Whether or not Mr. Blair will take mains to be seen. If he were going to managers will not even allow Montague do it, one would have supposed he to speak at their meetings! would not wait until two weeks before the election. He would have had a chance to do more work if he had started some time ago. But if he wants to commence electioneering now, either in New Brunswick or elsewhere, he has a perfect right to do so. The cardinal principle of Liberalism is for every man to be free to speak his honest convicsilence Mr. Blair if they could.

the Tories hope? He has done that before. His speech against the Governplied the Conservatives with all their arguments, and gave them ideas upon which they have tried in vain to improve. If Mr. Blair speaks now, his speaking will not be any more effective than it was before. He will tell them nothing new. His appointment on the plot against Ontario beats his famous railway commission did not change his description of the way in which he views in regard to the Grand Trunk Pa. cific. Everyone knew he was opposed to the Government policy. No one accused him of surrendering his opinions when he accepted the appointment. No one suspected that he received the appointment as a bribe to silence him; nobody, that is to say, except possibly some Conservatives, who cannot comprehend how a government could give an important appointment to one with whom they are not agreed, except as a bribe; nor how an honest man could *ccept an appointment from an honest Government without surrendering himself body and soul to the appointing

At all events, the Liberal party had no expectations of gaining Mr. Blair's support to the policy he had only a few months before opposed. He was appointed because, while he differed with the Government as to its policy in regard to the new transcontinental railway, he was yet a man whose knowledge of railway matters, and the details of railway management, gained from several years' experience at the head of the Railway Department of the Government, especially fitted him for the position of chairman of the new railway commission - the legislation for which had been adopted under hiv

His renewal of them now may hearten the Conservatives, but will not change the views of any voters. All the real benefit the Conservatives can get out of Mr. Blair they got when he left the Miss Nettie Blackmore, Minneapolis, tells how any young woman may be permanently cured of monthly pains by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Young Women:—I had frequent headaches of a severe nature, dark spots before my eyes, and at my menstrual periods I suffered untold agony. A member of the lodge advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but I only scorned good advice and felt that my case was hopeless, but she kept at me until I bought a bottle and started taking it. Menstruation is a severe strain on a woman's vitality,—if it is painful something is wrong. Don't take narcotics to deaden the pain, but remove the cause—perhaps it is caused by irregularity or womb displacements, or the development of a tumor. Whatever it is, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is guaranteed to cure it.

If there is anything about your case about which you would like special advice, write freely to Mrs. Pinkham. She will treat your letter as strictly confidential. Furnished by the Special and Occasional Correspondents of the Advertiser.

Thamesford, Oct. 18.-A full account has already appeared in these columns regarding the Thamesford Fair. Suffice it here to say that it was on the whole a success. Owing to the unfavorable weather, the attendance was not so large as last year, but the exhibits were of excellent quality, and fully up to the mark. The trials of speed were well contested, and were the center of attraction on the field. The board will have a nice little surplus, to apply to next year's fair. Much credit is due to the efficient secretary, Mr. B. B. McCarty, and the board of directors, who spared no effort to make the show standpoint of attendance, a decided success. The hall was filled to the doors, and many were not admitted, as there was not even standing room, Notwithstanding the physical discomfort suffered in consequence of the intense heat and overcrowding of the hall, that good order which is char-acteristic of a Thamesford audience prevailed to a fair degree throughout. The programme was not up to the mark and was in some respects a disappointment. It was much discounted by the fact that many of the selections were old, a number of them being a repetition of those given by the same company last year. The part taken, however, by the Misses Schlimme and Mr. Albert Greenlaw, of Woodstock, are deserving of comment. The Misses Schlimme sang with splendid effect "Excelsior" and "Over the Hill, Over the Dale." These selections delighted the audience, and called for hearty encores Mr. Greenlaw possesses that is characteristic of so many military bands. NINE YEARS WITH COLORS

Important New Regulations Passed by British Army Council.

London, Oct. 21. — The British army council has issued an important order, under which, instead of enlisting three years with the colors and nine in the ture enlist for nine years with the colors and three in the reserves, thus practically abolishing the short service system. War Secretary Arnold-Forster foreshadowed this change in a speech ast July, in which he declared that the existing system had proved a failure, because so few men volunteers wish to extend their services with the colors. Some critics, however, declare the existing difficulty of obtaining recruits will be greatly enhanced, under the

It is two days since Sir Herrick sent the little note into the green room: two days since he left London; and she has heard nothing. Flossie, unaccustomed to suspense of any kind, the pampered to suspense of any kind, the pampered favorite of the hour, for whom all things are made smooth and easy, has borne the first day's suspense very well. It is true she has scarcely eaten any-thing, and has been listless and restless by turns, snubbing even the faithful Weston; but as the evening of the second day approaches and no signs come to tell her how her plan has worked. Flossie's spirit begins to wax impatient. Anything was better than this silence. That is the question, and as she asks it of herself repeatedly the suspense grows intolerable.

Intolerable seems the dainty room, in which not one spot nor article but is in perfect taste; intolerable is even the reflection of her own pretty face in the Venetian mirrors, and even the flowers the flowers, which Flossie loves best of all things, next to diamonds. Weston signs to a footman, and hands him out the glittering epergnes and the glass stands containing the dethroned favorites, and then stands and looks at her mistress with an anxious expression tempered with admiration. The board of works decided last night to accept the recommendation of the Civic Improvement Society, to so amend the city bylaws, so as to permit the burning of leaves on the street, but the committee will issue warnings to citizens to keep all bonfires away from the gutters on streets where the curbs are of wood, it having been reported that the curbing has been burned away in many places lately. The board also agreed to allow Park Commissioner Pearce leave of absence to lecture at Farmers' Institute meetings in January. Among the campaign arguments which are being employed the one put forth by ex-Mayor Essery, of Lonlon, is entitled to honorable mention for impudence and grotesqueness. In a recent speech Mr. Essery asked in a loud voice, "Who was it that chopped off a piece of Alaska? It was an appointee of Laurier who had held the axe. If you don't believe it, you can ask one Aylesworth." Now, the com-plaint was that it was a piece of Canada, not a piece of Alaska, that was chopped off, and the British axeman who did the chopping act was not an appointee of Laurier, at all. The appointees of Laurier were two Canadians who protested with much vigor against the said chopping. Evidently Mr. Essery forgets some things.
