SERBIAN EPIDEMIC UNLIKELY TO Occur Again After All the Good Work of American Doctors.

By Special Wire to the Courier.
Naples, Sept. 22, via Paris, Sept. 23—Dr. Richard P. Strong, head of the American sanitary commission in Serbia, is on his way home and expects to take the next steamer from Naples. He said to-day that the majority of the American doctors who have been engaged in Red Cross work in Serbia, would leave that country on October 10, feeling assured that because of the measures that had been taken it was unlikely that another epidemic of disease would afflict Serbia, particularly as the people themselves were now fully informed of the best ways to prevent contagion. The entire Serbian army and numbers of the people had been vaccinated against cholera and typhus, Dr. Strong said. By August 20 last virtually all the epidemics that had been raging in the country were suppressed and the spread of typhus in Montenegro had been prevented by adopting energetic sanitary measures. Dr. Strong described the situation in Serbia when the sanitary commission arrived as grave, owing to the widespread scope of the epidemic, having caused demoralization, and the lack of doctors, whose numbers had been depleted because of the war and disease. There were a few English, French and Russian doctors working individually, but no central organization existed. This condition, however, was remedied, however by appointing a central commission headed by Crown Prince Alexander, which was given control of sanitary measures throughout the country. The whole of Serbia was divided into fourteen sanitary districts. One of the most efficacious measures was the disinfection of the population by means of a special train carrying baths, an immense disinfecter for clothing and cars fitted up as dressing rooms and shaving and hair cutting. By this train hundreds of persons would have their clothing disinfected and washed in a few minutes. Thousands were rechecked daily in this manner, the train proceeding from station to station as fast as the work could be done, the houses in each place being disinfected at the same time. All those found affected with typhus were taken to hospitals. Dr. Strong described the work of the commission in Serbia as a "hard but victorious struggle."

BRANTFORD REGIMENT Impossible; But Five Hundred Soldiers Will Train During Winter.

On the visit to Niagara camp yesterday, the party consisted of W. F. Cockburn, M.P., Mayor Spence, Reeve Atkin, South Dumfries Tp., Reeve Burtis, of Burford Tp., Reeve Harris, Brantford Tp., Reeve Walker Onondaga Tp., Ald. Welsh, Ald. Cuff, Ald. Dowling, Ald. Bragg, Ald. Mellen, Capt. Cutcliffe, commanding the Dufferin Rifles, and Major Brooks, commanding and Dragoons. The trip was taken by motor. The main object was to see General Sir Sam Hughes with reference to securing the location of a battalion in Brantford. The Minister received the delegation very cordially, but it was explained that all the battalions authorized had been formed or were in process of formation, and that present recruiting was to keep up their strength. Turning to Col. Logie, commanding No. 21 Regiment, it was remarked that he believed it was the intention to keep men in training in Brantford throughout the winter. Col. Logie replied in the affirmative, stating that there would likely be 500 or more. In the matter of accommodation he seemed to favor the idea of billeting, which has been tried out with success at Lindsay. During the conversation, General Hughes remarked that Brantford and district had done splendidly in the matter of recruiting, and that everything possible would be done in return. Col. Logie, during his tribute to Brantford, remarked that he was of the best commanding officers that he had cognizance of, were Lt.-Col. Ashton, now a Brigadier General, Lt.-Col. Howard, and Lt. Col. Genet. The party went through the camp and saw a number of the Brantford men. They report that everything is in most ship shape order, and that the discipline throughout is most marked.

French Gunnery is Keeping a Steady Fusilade on Hun Trenches.
By Special Wire to the Courier.
Paris, Sept. 23, 2.35 p.m.—The violent artillery fighting which has characterized the operations in France for more than three weeks past, was continued yesterday and last night at a number of places along the battle line, according to an announcement given out this afternoon by the French War Office. The engagements were particularly severe near Roilincourt and to the north and south of the river Aisne. In the Artois district, the enemy last night bombarded violently the sector of Roilincourt as well as our trenches located to the south of River Scarpe, in the department of Bas de Calais. Our artillery responded vigorously. There have been some engagements between trenches in the region of Neuville. Our artillery has directed an intense and effective fire against the German trenches to the north and to the south of River Aisne, an affluence of the Somme, as well as upon Neuvaigues. In the Champagne district a German mine was exploded yesterday to the northwest of Perthes, but without causing important damage. The fire of our batteries resulted in the blow up of several depots of German ammunition. In the Argonne we bombarded repeatedly certain portions of the German lines where earth works were being constructed. Here the German artillery responded feebly. After a successful operation for a broken neck, Samuel Alexander, aged 38, died at Richmond hospital, New York. The inspection of food preparers and servers in New York has revealed many employees unfit to handle food.

FRENCH AIRMEN RAID PALACE NEAR STUTTGART

Reprisal for German Raids on London and Other Places in England.
Paris, Sept. 23.—French aviators have bombarded Stuttgart, capital of the Kingdom of Wurtemberg, according to the French official communication issued last night. They dropped about a hundred shells on the Royal palace and the station. The official report says: "In retaliation for the bombardments by the Germans of open towns and civilian populations of France and England, a group of aeroplanes set out yesterday morning to bombard Stuttgart, capital of Wurtemberg. About a hundred shells were dropped on the Royal palace and the station. Our aeroplanes, which were cannonaded at different points along the line, returned in safety to their base." The point of departure is not named in the communication. It was Nancy the aviators had a straightaway flight of 135 miles to Stuttgart, allowing for no detours. The distance from Berlin is a matter of five miles shorter. A statement issued before the announcement of the attack on Stuttgart tells of the effective bombardment of the railroad station at Conflans, which is an occupied French territory on the line between Verdun and Metz, by a group of seven French aeroplanes. BERLIN'S VEISSION OF RAID. Berlin, Sept. 23.—An official statement issued here yesterday says: "Enemy aeroplanes with German marks on their aeroplanes appeared at 8.15 o'clock yesterday morning over Stuttgart, dropping bombs on the town, killing four persons and wounding a number of soldiers and civilians. The material damage was quite unimportant. The aeroplanes were fired at by our anti-aircraft troops and disappeared in a southern direction at 8.30 o'clock. Owing to the fact that shortly after 7.45 o'clock the military authorities were informed of approaching German aeroplanes, the population could only be warned when it was comparatively late.

THE KARLLUK FROZEN IN THE ICE WITH SOME OF HER CREW IN FOREGROUND.

Dr. Vilhjalmur Stefansson, discoverer of a new land in the Arctic region and who was given up as having perished in the frozen north, has been found, and is now safe and well in Banks Land. The news was brought to Nome, Alaska, by Captain S. P. Cottle, of the power schooner Tubay. He carried Stefansson despatches for the Canadian government. He saw the explorer and his two companions, Storöck, Stork, and Ole Anderson, on Herschel Island. They were preparing then to start on another expedition to the newly discovered land. The Stefansson report to the Canadian government was telegraphed to Ottawa. It was brief and merely said that he was safe and that he was starting out again. This is the first tidings the world has had of Stefansson and his small party in over a year and a half.

RETREAT SAFELY ASSURED

Though Huns Have Gained Some Minor Successes in Their Advance.
By Special Wire to the Courier.
London, Sept. 23, 11.40—The strongly fortified Russian city of Dvinsk, on the Dvina, 110 miles southeast of Riga, has become the new German objective now that the Russians apparently have escaped from the Vilna net. The German forces east and southeast of Lida are now making more rapid progress, but their increased speed at this time is expected to gain them little in view of the fact that the safe retreat of the greater part of the Russian forces now seems to be assured. The chief success of the Germans in the last day or two has been along the Dvina front, which bars the road to Petrograd. Southwest of Dvinsk, the invaders captured Russian trenches on a front of nearly two miles, taking two thousand prisoners and eight machine guns. Further down the river near Friedrichstadt, the Russians have gained a minor success. For the time being the domestic situation in Russia is quiet. A strike in protest at the prorogation of the Duma, has suspended, but may be revived if the government persists in its opposition to the movement in favor of the re-assembly of parliament and permitting the formation of a new cabinet. Along the western front the French report destruction of a German patrol in Champagne. Berlin states that the patrol was withdrawn after destroying French works. Mobilization of Bulgarian forces continues to excite keen interest, but the belligerents as well as the neutral world seems to be in the dark as to the purpose which dictated this movement.

BRITAIN SERIOUSLY AFFECTED

By Balkan Turmoil and Bulgaria's Evident Attitude in War.
By Special Wire to the Courier.
London, Sept. 23.—While the German and Austrian artillery is bombarding the Serbian positions along the whole northern frontier, apparently paving the way for the long awaited thrust toward Turkey, the Balkan states are in a ferment. Mr. Radoslavoff, the Bulgarian premier, has announced to his supporters the signing of a convention with Turkey for the future maintenance of armed neutrality on the part of Bulgaria, says the Times' correspondent at Sofia. The Athens correspondent of the Morning Post says all authentic information from Bulgaria points to warlike preparations having commenced. Orders have been issued by the Bulgarian government that all railway trucks wherever found must be unloaded immediately and reserved for government use. Heavy artillery and field kitchens passed yesterday through Philippopolis by rail. All officers have been recalled from leave. Despite repeated assertions from Bulgarian leaders that mobilization is merely for purposes of "armed neutrality," London now believes that Sofia is ready to throw her lot with the central powers. The problematic factors in the crisis are Roumania and Greece. Athens is in turmoil. On receipt of the news that Bulgaria had ordered a general mobilization of her troops, King Constantine summoned to conference Premier Venizelos, and the members of the general staff of the army. The premier subsequently called a meeting of the cabinet. The greatest activity prevails among representatives of the entente powers in Greece. The British, French and Russian ministers held a conference. The Venizelos' government, Athens' despatches say, faces the situation confidently. Britain views the situation with the greatest seriousness. The Daily News says there are grounds for the belief that the cabinet at its meeting Tuesday, was engaged with grave considerations arising out of the war and in particular with the mobilization in Bulgaria.

DYNAMITE CAUSED COLLAPSE

Of Street Over the New Subway and Seventh Avenue, New York.
By Special Wire to the Courier.
New York, Sept. 23.—Five official investigations of the cave-in of the new subway under construction in Seventh Avenue in which seven persons were killed and about 85 injured, were in progress to-day. The accident, which took place yesterday, was still attributed to a collapse of the wooden street surface as the result of a dynamite blast. The inquiry was conducted by the public service commission, district attorney and other city and state officials. Mayor Mitchell declared that all the subway construction now in progress throughout the city, would be inspected to learn if there is any chance of a similar occurrence elsewhere. The district attorney said he did not yet know whether there was any criminal action to be taken, but the investigation was said to have convinced the coroner and the assistant district attorneys, that the disaster was due to negligence. The search for the blaster who set off the fatal shot, causing the collapse, was continued to-day. He appeared immediately after the explosion. At least five miles of Manhattan's thoroughfares, including those of the avenues carrying heavy traffic, are undermined by subway construction. The wooden surface of the roadways traversed by the street cars, automobiles and heavy wagons, is supported by a honeycomb of wooden girders, said to be similar to that which collapsed in Seventh Avenue. Engineers and experts engaged in subway construction, fear a repetition of the accident, possibly under Broadway, which is more crowded with traffic than was Seventh Avenue at the time of the cave-in. Search of the piles of timber and broken street car tracks in the bottom of the excavation, was resumed to-day for bodies of additional victims. Four of the subway workmen were still missing, and it was feared that their bodies were buried under the debris.

A WORTHY APPEAL

The following appeal is made through our columns, and we feel sure it will be successful in obtaining for this gallant explorer the position he requires: Dear Sir.—Pte. George E. Knowles, 17th Winnick, Street, Brantford, has, as you are probably aware, been honorably discharged from the First Contingent of the Canadian Expeditionary Forces, owing to wounds, gas poisoning, indigestion and congestion of the left eye. He is anxious to get some kind of light employment, preferably in the open air, and we would like to assist him in this direction. We have thought that through the news column of your paper you might be of assistance to us and to Pte. Knowles. Yours truly, L. H. Watt, Sec.-Treas. Canadian Patriotic Fund.

LENGTHY SESSION CLOSES

Without Any Thing Given Out to Public About the Progress of Loan.
By Special Wire to the Courier.
New York, Sept. 23.—The six members of the Anglo-French financial commission continued to-day their deliberations over the proposed big credit loan to Great Britain and France in the hope of concluding their work their conversations with American financiers and of being able to announce not later than Saturday that the loan would be floated. The celerity with which negotiations had proceeded toward this goal apparently had been checked yesterday. With the commission meeting in continuous session from 10 a.m. till early to-day, and with their American associates declining to comment on the situation, Wall Street fell to theorizing as to whether there had been a hitch in negotiations and, if so, upon what points. At the conclusion of the fourteen hour meeting early this morning, the commissioners weary by the long conference sought rest without announcing whether their deliberations would be continued to-day. Word was sent down that there was nothing whatever to be said in their behalf on any of the somewhat disturbing reports current in Wall Street earlier in the day. For the first time since the negotiations began, certain American bankers were inclined to doubt whether the loan would exceed $500,000,000. These bankers failed also to share the commission's reported opinion that the big issue would be eagerly taken by American investors at a five per cent. interest rate. In some quarters there was a growing demand that the rate be made five and one-half per cent. or that the bonds be offered to investors at less than par in order that they might be placed on the same attractive plane as certain high class railroad and industrial domestic bonds. The proposal that the interest rate be fixed at five per cent., it was said to-day, was the commission's suggestion and had been firmly adhered to in the face of many attempts by some American bankers to have the rate increased. Another item upon which it was believed to depend was whether Russia would participate in the loan. No authentic word as to this had been forthcoming to the present

DUMBA REFUSED HIS PASSPORTS UNTIL RECALLED

Washington Will Ignore Request Until Vienna Replies to Note.
Washington, Sept. 23.—Until the Austro-Hungarian government has given a satisfactory response to the American note requesting the recall of its ambassador, Dr. Constantin T. Dumba, the State Department will ignore requests from the Embassy for a safe conduct for the Ambassador. This was made clear here to-day following the receipt of a message from the Austro-Hungarian Embassy at Lenox, Mass., advising, the department that Dr. Dumba had planned to sail for home on Sept. 28 on leave of absence, and requesting that a safe-conduct for him be procured from the British and French governments. The request did not state whether Dr. Dumba proposed to leave on his own volition or whether he was acting in accordance with instructions from Vienna. The department is now arranging for a safe-conduct for Mme. Dumba to sail on the date named. The attitude of the United States in the Dumba case is that it is dealing with the Vienna government and not with the Ambassador, whom it has pronounced persona non grata. If the Austro-Hungarian government replies to the American note announcing Dr. Dumba's recall, the State Department will then endeavor to get a safe-conduct for the Ambassador. Until then it will stand pat. It is understood that Count Bernstorff already has decided to send Capt. Von Popen back to Germany on perpetual leave of absence without waiting for formal action by the United States in the attache's case.

BRAVE AIRMAN SAVED NANCY FROM BOMBING

Single-handed He Put Six Hostile Planes to Flight.
Paris, Sept. 23.—With the exception of an attack by an enemy patrol in Champagne the fighting of the past 24 hours has been largely in the hands of the artillery. Canonading has broken out in Belgium, according to the French official report given out in this city yesterday afternoon. Artillery fighting has taken place also near Arras, between the Somme and the Oise, between the Aisne and the Argonne region and in Lorraine. One French aeroplane carrying Lieut. Daum, as observer, and Sergt. Garnier, as pilot, attacked and destroyed a fleet of six German battle aeroplanes, it was revealed in a general order published yesterday. Both French aviators are mentioned for conspicuous gallantry. The fight took place over Nancy. The French aviators attacked the German machines, one by one, preventing them from bombarding the town. When the French machine landed, it was riddled with bullets. General Joffre, the French commander-in-chief, and the allied commanders on this front—Field Marshal Sir John French and King Albert of Belgium—are developing a new plan of campaign that involves the almost continuous use of artillery on a vast scale along the whole line. Masses of artillery have been employed by both sides since the beginning of operations in preparing for infantry attacks, pounding their adversaries' works for an hour or two, then suddenly suspending fire and assaulting with infantry. The allies are now methodically maintaining their shell fire for days at a time without infantry attacks, dropping projectiles upon the charred front into every fifty-yard square and repeating the process—a deadly, automatic unceasing pounding. The heavy calibre guns send their storms of shells upon encampments of first reserves behind the lines, and upon bridges and provision trains. Official reports obtained by the French army officers from their own observers, and from prisoners and from photographs made by aviators, show that parts of the opposing lines which have been subjected to this unceasing bombardment have been rendered entirely untenable, and that the best the Germans can do is to occupy their abandoned works after the bombardments have let up and then leave quickly when the showers of projectiles begin to fall again.

PRINCESS THEATRE IS BADLY BURNED IN MONTREAL CITY

Much Damage is Done and Building Will Require Reconstruction.
By Special Wire to the Courier.
Montreal, Sept. 23.—The Princess Theatre, one of the largest amusement houses in this city, was badly damaged by a fierce fire at an early hour this morning. The loss on the building is estimated at between $700,000 and $750,000. The interior of the theatre will have to be reconstructed. The fire was first noticed by a watchman at six o'clock this morning when smoke was seen to be issuing from the top gallery. Firemen who were first on the scene stated that the flames apparently were started by the electric current passing through the spot light. The blaze spread very rapidly and the whole of the gallery and roof were soon consumed, the burning rafters dropping into the pit and boxes and spreading the flames. The firemen worked most successfully to salvage the scenery of the play "Trilby" which was being performed in the house by Miss Neilson-Terry and a company of well known actors. Some of the sets were damaged by water and will be replaced before the company opens at Buffalo next week. The fire fighters got out all the costumes in the theatre. Two firemen, Frank Gilmore and Richard Lambert, were caught in a back draft and badly burned. They were standing on a fire escape, when the draft blew out the doors and windows near them and they were enveloped in a tongue of flame that shot up in the air forty feet. They were taken to the General Hospital. The theatre was leased by Lou Solomon, Toronto, and was used for the production here of the theatrical attractions of Shuberts Inc. Mrs. Harold Cole told a judge at Yonkers, N. Y., her mother cast spells over her to make her hate her husband.

SIR SAM HUGHES TALKS TO MACHINE GUN BATTALION

By Special Wire to the Courier.
Hamilton, Sept. 23.—The 96th machine gun battalion the most unique organized in Canada, since its outbreak of the war, left this morning for Niagara Camp. The men were given a public farewell at the Gore and the result was one of the most enthusiastic patriotic demonstrations that Hamilton has witnessed. Sir Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia; Bishop Clark and Mayor Walters were among the speakers. The Minister of Militia in his address to the men said in part: "Hamiltonians made possible the organization of this battalion when they established a record for the Dominion by donating $200,000 for the guns. You are as fine a body of men as I have seen and I know that you will man the guns as the people who gave them desire them to be manned. Machine guns are needed and I hope your battalion will be one of those that will cut its way through to Berlin."

Killed by Car.

Montreal, Sept. 23.—Charles Wier, McCord street, met death near St. Martin's church, McCord street, last night, when a Wellington street car proceeding towards the city knocked him down and dragged him several yards pinioned under the wheels. When the body was taken from under the wheels of the car which had to be jacked back several yards to release him, Wier was found to be dead, his body having been terribly mutilated. Charlotte Brochan, aged 15, of Philadelphia, has eloped with Seaman Robin, the son of her mother's "soulmate."

OVER TWENTY-EIGHT THOUSAND DOLLARS VALUE

Toronto, Sept. 23.—The extensive and predominant part played by the late Lord Strathcona in the world of Canadian finance are revealed by the copy of the late High Commissioner's will which has reached Toronto for probate in the Surrogate Court of Ontario. The gross value of the estate is shown to be approximately $28,000,000, but of this the amount of property held in Ontario, $250,000 is comparatively small.

BALKANS SCENE OF CEASELESS INTRIGUE WORK

Daily News Despatch Tells of Germany's Efforts Since War Started.
London, Sept. 23 (In Montreal Gazette)—The Daily News says: "Bulgaria has been the centre of ceaseless German intrigue in the Balkans ever since the war broke out, and latterly, especially, the Kaiser has lavished flattery on Ferdinand. In August Prince Hohenzollern bore an autograph from his Imperial master to the King of the Bulgarians, in which the Kaiser remarked he regarded the Bulgarian nation as the most vigorous of all the Balkan races and wished to strengthen his friendship with it."

SULPHURIC ACID SCANDAL GETS INTO DAYLIGHT

London Globe Gives Details of Rather Queer Contract.

Toronto, Sept. 23.—Great prominence is given by "The Globe" today to what it describes as the scandal of sulphuric acid. In the spring of this year, for reasons believed to be good and sufficient, doubtless, but which we hope will be made the subject of an inquiry by the House of Commons says "The Globe," "the firm of C. Tennant Sons and Company remotely connected in a familiar sense with a member of the cabinet, was commissioned to buy large quantities of sulphuric acid in America. Why no attempt was made to secure acid in this country we will not stop to inquire."

London, Sept. 23.—Among other matters discussed in the House of Commons last night was the administration of the Press Bureau. Mr. Hogge complained that the country was kept in ignorance and had to get the news of the British fleet by way of New York. He added, as one of the facts which he could not understand why the Government concealed that "since the outbreak of the war we have sunk 50 German submarines." "Every body knows this. I have mentioned it in speeches, yet the press is not allowed to publish it."

The Situation.

It is not so very long ago that the Balkan States had a place in public attention because of their own troubles; now they are figuring very large because of their relationship towards the present great war. That King Ferdinand of Bulgaria has decided to cast in the lot of that country with Germany does not any longer admit of any question. A late despatch stating that the Balkans may even yet get together is not entitled to any credence. As far as Greece is concerned, there is the intimation that she is likely to help the Serbians. M. Venizelos, the premier of the last-named country, is friendly to the Allies. Not so long ago he had a difference with the King which resulted in his retirement, but he is now once more in control, which is cause for thankfulness at this period. He is spoken of as a statesman of the very highest order, and it was mainly through him that a Balkan league was established which overthrew the Turks. The subsequent collapse of that arrangement was chiefly the work of King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, who is now siding with the Kaiser for his own ulterior purposes. Roumania still remains an unknown factor, and neutrality seems to be her present purpose.

Further gains are reported by the French north of the Aisne. In Galicia the Czar's troops continue to do very well, while in Russia the Germans are now making for Dvinsk.

A despatch states that Sweden has some thought of entering the struggle on behalf of the Teutons. The Kaiser in the first place was counting upon said help, but that such will be extended is very doubtful.

The heavy Australian casualty list of some 14,000 men gives one more evidence of the fierce fighting in the Dardanelles. Naturally we do not hear of their exploits in the same way as those of Canadians, but there can be no question that they also are giving a magnificent account of themselves in one of the fiercest areas of the fighting.

The End of Free Trade.

There can be no question that the recent British budget has sounded the knell of Free Trade in the Old Land for many years to come. The new duties can hardly fail to be the precursors of others to be announced later on, for the war is going to impose a financial burden during many long years for which money must be found somehow. The income taxes have now reached such a figure that it is out of the question that such levies will be any further extended, and the only remaining resource is an impost upon Britain's importations.

The official returns show that in this regard Great Britain during the twelve months last recorded took £774,640,000 worth of food, raw materials and manufactures—$3,700,000,000—the total from Canada being $150,000,000 and from the States $625,000,000.

The whole situation is likely to give a great impetus to the idea of Imperial preference. The late Joseph Chamberlain, with his usual foresight, realized the wisdom of such a plan and present hostilities are quite likely to force the scheme into the sphere of practical politics. A unity and a co-operation which have been so abundantly demonstrated on the battlefields might very appropriately be extended to the commercial relationships also.

Canada After a Year of War

Earl Harding a well-known writer, who has been visiting the Dominion, during the course of an article in the Boston Globe says:

"The flags, the music, the cheering, are gone in Canada. Hotel dining rooms have been nearly deserted by women, and evening clothes for men have almost disappeared. There are no large social functions. Even golf is taken rather sadly. Recruiting tents have been staked out in parks. Political leaders are campaigning up and down for recruits. The war became personal since 11,000 Canadians have fallen. But you see no signs of mourning. Canada is just settling down, grimly determined, to the serious business of war. Physical standards have been lowered, and a wife's consent waived."

The above picture is very largely correct. Canadians are naturally taking the war close to heart, and it cannot be otherwise with so many brave lads leaving these shores, and others training to go, a daily sight on the streets of all centres.

Another tribute to this country comes from the Buffalo Commercial as follows:

"Again Canada gives evidence of constructive progressiveness, despite rather than because of the war. This latest particular instance comes in the completion of the new government grain elevator at Calgary, practically made ready for business on September 1st. This completes the chain of Dominion Government between the Rockies and the Great Lakes. The Moose Jaw and Saskatchewan are in operation now. With the new one at Calgary and the monster structure at Port Arthur, the Great Lake Superior port for the grain trade, these will give Canada boundless facilities for the handling of the season's crop in the Northwest, estimated at 175,000,000 bushels for export. In addition the Vancouver elevator, which will be ready in the near future. Whatever one may think of government ownership, and however the economic viewpoint, this string of monster concrete elevators cannot but give to the Dominion matchless equipment for the export of the grain crop at a time when the need for speedy handling was never greater."

The above illustration of activity on the part of the authorities is also worthily commended. Material matters of a domestic nature should be all the more closely looked after, in view of the existing heavy call of Empire needs.

Notes and Comments.

The Kaiser has received a baton from the King of Bavaria. Quite appropriate for a batyryone.

The Mayor of St. Catharines has come into some notice. He refused to sign an address of welcome to General Sir Sam Hughes.

The letter in which Capt. von Popen, German military attache at Washington, wrote of "idiotic Yankees," has more than anything else opened the eyes of our neighbors to the fact that the Kaiserites have been jolly and inwardly chuckling at the same time.

The Colonial Secretary, in the British House of Commons, stated that Sir Robert Borden, during his recent visit to the Old Land, was told all by the British Government. So he was on his former visit, and when he came home and told of a "threatened emergency" he was derided by Grit speakers and Grit newspapers.

Announcement is made that an ample issue of warm and waterproof footwear will prevent the Canadian soldiers suffering from cold feet in the trenches this winter. This refers to the physical end; in the courageous department they have never had them yet.

ANARCHY IS THREATENED IN MEXICO NOW

United States Finds a New Phase Added to the Question.

Washington, Sept. 23.—Publication to-day of a warning by Roque Gonzalez Garza that recognition of General Carranza by the American nations, would bring on anarchy in Mexico, brought sharply to the attention of official Washington the light the Villa element is expected to make on Mexican pacification plan that does not include the northern chieftain's supporters as possible factors. Garza who was one time president of the convention, is here to forward the peace convention plan which the Villa and Zapata elements have accepted at the invitation of the pan-American conferees.

Recognition of Carranza, Garza declares, would result in a situation that would be terrible in its consequences and he urges that the convention be held to establish a provisional government, regardless of Carranza's refusal to participate.

He says that Carranza, next to Huerta, is the most hated man in Mexico, and predicts that, if recognized, he would prove his incapacity in a month.

Garza describes the military situation as a deadlock between the opposition factions and denies Carranza's claim to control of the greater part of Mexican territory. Carranza's delay in removing to Mexico City, Garza asserts is due to fear that such a step would be followed by occupation of Vera Cruz by his enemies.

ATTITUDE UNKNOWN

Until Such is Learned, No Reply Can be Made.

Washington, Sept. 23.—Action by the American Government on the request of Dr. Constantin Dumba, Austro-Hungarian ambassador here, that he be given safe conduct to Vienna will be taken, it became known officially to-day, when the Vienna Government has replied to the request that the diplomat be recalled. The ambassador's withdrawal was asked as the result of a letter he wrote to his foreign minister outlining plans for disturbances in American munition plants. A copy from Vienna is expected within a few days. Pending the receipt of the Austro-Hungarian reply, the question whether the Washington Government will be satisfied if Vienna carries out Dr. Dumba's request and gives notice that he is to be withdrawn "on leave" will not be determined.

The Dumba case was one of the questions discussed at a conference last night between President Wilson and Acting Secretary of State Polk. The president had not decided early to-day what action, if any, to take regarding Austro-Hungarian and German officials involved in the Dumba incident, including among others, Captain Franz von Popen, German military attache here, and Alexander Nuber von Perleked, Austro-Hungarian consul-general in New York.

GERMAN LOSES HIS LICENSE

Lived Over Thirty-three Years in Canada, at That.

Toronto, Sept. 23.—If a German lives 33 years in Canada and at the end of that time doesn't know enough to take out naturalization papers he hasn't the intelligence necessary to conduct a hotel business.

That is the opinion of Chairman Flavelle and Commissioner Fred Dane, of the Ontario License Board. And the said opinion is backed up by a decision announced to-day cutting off peremptorily the license of Cha. Lantz at Burk's Falls. Lantz had conducted the Day Hotel at Burk's Falls for four years.

In connection with the Bracebridge hearing Mr. Flavelle said that an application for a license had been made by the G. T. R. for the Wa Wa Hotel. Local option has been in force some time in the district and deputations which protested against the license pointed out that local option was in operation when the hotel was built, so no excuse could be made for the application.

Regarding trouble at Hamilton, Chairman Flavelle pointed out that under the act the hotelkeepers had the right to refuse liquor to the soldiers if they so desired. He could not say what action the board would take, but he denied that the hotelkeepers had consulted the commissioners before refusing to serve liquor to soldiers.

SOLDIER WRITES FROM GALLIPOLI TO BRANTFORD

He Tells How the British Fight Against the Turk.

"All hills with no villages, or anything but bushes and stubble" is how Corp. Elie Maurice describes the Gallipoli Peninsula in a letter to his brother, Max Maurice of the Brant Theatre, Corp. Maurice is in the Dardanelles and the following letter describes very interestingly and modestly the strenuous conditions under which the soldiers fight against the Turks.

Aug. 28th, Thursday. Lance Cpl. E. Maurice, 28th Coy, 12th Platoon 11. County of Lond, 162nd Infantry Brigade, 54th East Anglian Div, British Mediterranean Expeditionary Force.

My Dear Brother Max—Just a few lines to let you know I am still alive and well. I received your letter together with one from home last Monday, and you may be sure it was very welcome.

An Appeal on Behalf of the National Canadian Patriotic Fund

We have now entered upon the second year of the war, and the end seems as far off as ever. No one imagined, a year ago, that by September, 1915, Canada would have sent her contingents nearly one hundred thousand men, with many more to follow, if necessary.

Then Principal A. W. Burt of the Collegiate Institute, spoke a few interesting words to the boys. He encouraged them to live up to the high standard of ideals set by the high school club, the best school movement that had ever been made.

SOLDIERS SUFFER FROM NERVOUS TROUBLE MOSTLY

This is More Especially True of the Ypres Survivors.

London, Sept. 9 (correspondence).—"Nervous cases are nervous cases," remarked a Canadian medical officer recently encountered by our correspondent in a hospital, and especially in the Ypres survivors.

HESTER, AND A LEGACY

Hester hesitated. She longed with all her heart to refuse the offer. But there were strong reasons for her accepting it. There were others dependent upon her, to whom a few pounds more or less made all the difference in the world; this was a really good offer of Mrs. Vavasour's and she would not be likely to receive such a good one again. The struggle was a hard one, but she could not bring herself to accept it. "May I think it over?" she said slowly. "I am going to London, and will write to you from there."

"Why not decide at once?" Say "Yes"—it will relieve me—and I can make my plans without delay. You mean to accept it, I am sure—and she rose with a little mocking smile on her lips. Hester's eyes flashed, and had she followed her instinct she would have rejected the offer on the spot out of indignant pride. But during the years of her companionship to Lady Lynmouth she had learned self-control, and a mental picture of those she worked for came before her eyes. For their sakes she drove the flash out of her eyes and the scornful refusal from her lips.

"I will think it over and write to you from London," she said again, and with this answer Mrs. Vavasour had to be contented for the time being. The next morning Hester was up and dressed as soon as it was light. It was a miserable day for travelling, pouring with rain and rather windy. Everything looked as dreary and disconsolate as she felt in her heart, but she gave herself no time for melancholy thoughts. She sent her trunk by the gardener, who was going down to the village with an empty barrow, and then went into the morning-room to take an apology for her absence. There all was comfortable as usual; the fire burned brightly, the urn was hissing, and an omelet, freshly cooked, awaited her. But she could eat nothing. She sat down at the table, poured out a cup of coffee, and opened her time-table, which she studied intently, jotting down trains on a slip of paper. While so engaged the door opened and a maid entered the room. She thought it was a servant till Lord Lynmouth spoke.

"Is it true you are leaving the Chase to-day, Miss Philips?" he asked in a calm and steady voice. "Yes," she said very coldly and without looking up. "May I ask where you are going?" "Certainly! I am going to London. I will leave my address with you if you wish it. You may need it," and her lip curled sarcastically. "She wrote the address on a piece of paper, which she laid on the table. He walked over to the window. "A miserable day for travelling," he said. "You are going to drive to the station of course?"

"No, I shall walk." "Ridiculous! In this weather, too! You must have the dog-cart or the brougham. Which do you prefer?" "I cannot accept either, thank you!" she said, and bent again over the time-table. "But I insist! I cannot allow you to leave the house alone and on foot. Pray consider my wishes in the matter!"—and he rang the bell as he spoke. She offered no further resistance, and there was silence between them till the man answered the bell. "Tell James to have the brougham ready for Miss Philips to catch the train." "What time is your train Miss Philips?" "Ten-twenty-five," she replied briefly, underlining a certain place in the time-table at which she was looking. "Ten-twenty-five, then," said Lord Lynmouth, "and tell Thomas to go too and see that everything is comfortable for Miss Philips and that she has a foot-warmer."

The man went away, and Lord Lynmouth walked over to the fire. Hester looked up at him. She was very pale and bore evident traces of having passed a sleepless night, but there was no longer that look of pain in her eyes—her were cold, proud, scornful. Her manner too was expressive of extreme hauteur. "You are exceedingly considerate," she said; "but you are aware that I would gladly dispense with such consideration. It is unpleasant to feel oneself loaded with obligations, you know," she ended ironically. "You altogether misunderstood me yesterday. You took my words to mean far more than they did. I never meant—never dreamed—"

"It was impossible to misunderstand you," she interrupted. "You told me that my conduct was suspicious, facts were against me, that you did not know what to think. You might just as well have made the deliberate accusation in so many plain words; they could not have meant more. No doubt you accuse me also of getting that will made in my favour—that I had the intention."

"I do not accuse you of anything," he exclaimed. I spoke in a moment of miserable doubt—" "That is enough for me." She had risen in the excitement of her speech and faced him with passionate defiance. "You can never expect me to forget the words once said; they have burnt in too deeply ever to be effaced. You have believed me guilty of a crime—perhaps even of intention to murder."

"Good heavens, what a horrible idea. I never for one instant thought such a thing; it would be impossible. There were other suspicions, but not that—never that." "You believed, then, that I hastened your mother's death in some way—perhaps accidentally, but still that I did it and then was afraid to confess—that I am a mean, wretched guilty creature."

to engulf her. It was her one little spark of heroism, and she summoned all her resolution to carry it through. At last she drew up before a lodging house in a dull street, and gathering her things together, she got out and saw her trunk taken into the smutty little maid-servant's upstairs. How shabby the stair carpets were! How grimy everything looked after the freshness and elegance of Lynmouth Chase! Her heart smote her for noticing these things, but they seemed to start out and catch her eye and—Oh, there was her mother—her dear mother at the head of the stairs, waiting to welcome her, and she by stair-carpet and dingy wall-papers faded into oblivion as she felt herself folded in those loving arms! The next moment she was led into the sitting-room, where Nancy lay on the sofa awaiting her with flushed cheeks. She was down on the floor beside her in an instant, and the sisters were hugging one another after the foolish affectionate manner of girls who have each other dearly. Hester's hat fell off and her hair came down, and her appearance was a mere wreck during the warmth of these embraces, but there was no interesting hero to startle her in her dishevelment, and there were no more critical eyes than her mother's and sister's to notice whether it were becoming otherwise. As for them, they were sure to think it becoming—she was their Hester, the Hester who worked for them and saved for them and spent her all upon them, and it was no wonder if she was always beautiful in their eyes.

YANKEES ARE FEELING RILED

Von Papen's Phrase of "Idiotic" Gets Commented by Press

By Special Wire to the Courier. New York, Sept. 23.—That Dr. Dumba's period of tarrying in this country should be made as short as possible and that when he goes Capt. von Papen, coiner of "those idiotic Yankees" phrase should go with him, is the conviction expressed in editorial comments in American newspapers this morning. Some newspapers also express the view that the revelations in the documents taken from James F. J. Archibald in England, warrant the recall of Count von Bernstorff. Some of the comments follow: "The New York Times": "Leaving aside any question of its propriety what facts has Count von Bernstorff in support of this charge that a pass bureau exists here, the work of which is to poison the public mind against Germany? Where is this imaginative and efficient press bureau? What newspapers does it consist of? What newspapers does it serve? From the beginning, the American newspapers have printed the news about it from all sides, so far as they could get it and from all reputable sources. They have been constantly assailed by the German-American press and propagandists. These patriots have ranted continually about "subsidized" press. American opinion, not being in sympathy in this war, must have been poisoned by the newspapers. The accusation has become more a little wearisome. Now the German ambassador officially reports it. Who are the poisoners? Count von Bernstorff should name them. Will he not give a local habitation and a name to the press bureau which spreads falsehood among a trusting but evidently unintelligent people? "Idiotic Yankees," as Captain von Papen gracefully puts it. It would be a great piece of news, a service to truth and the friends of truth.

HAVE FAITH IN HUN LINERS

Amsterdam, via London, Sept. 23.—An appeal to Americans to have in the future as much faith in German liners as they had before the war is embodied in an interview with the general-manager of the North German Lloyd Company, Philip Heineken, which "The Lokal Anzeiger" publishes. Herr Heineken urges that "there is no reason for their deserting us."

The future of German shipping, said Herr Heineken, depends materially on the peace negotiations and the future state of shipping agreements with other countries and partly on the fate of the German colonies, but he trusted it would speedily regain its lost position, "after an undoubtedly victorious issue."

Commercial co-operation of all nations will follow after the war, according to M. Heineken; otherwise there would be danger of a commercial war, which, he believed, must be avoided in the interest of all. The sale of German ships during the war, he considered detrimental, as weakening Germany's shipping commerce after the war. He was unable to say whether the government would indemnify shipping companies for war losses.

Dropped Bomb.

Paris, Sept. 23.—Two German aeroplanes flew over Swiss territory between Coufenay and Porrentruy, and dropped a bomb near the Cras-Dumont farm, injuring a child, according to newspaper despatches from Berne.

Three to Die.

Amsterdam, Sept. 23.—London, Sept. 23.—Five smuggling letters to Holland a German court-martial at Antwerp has sentenced three Belgian citizens to death, and thirty-three others to hard labor in prison for terms ranging from fifteen months to ten years, according to "The Echo Belge." The men condemned to death were: Police Commissioner Alexis, Joseph Bockelmann, an architect, and Alexander Frank, a merchant.
