Delicious Bread or Your Money Refunded

Every Barrel Cream of the West Flour Guaranteed for Bread

Yes, madam, I am the Cream of the West miller. I know what Cream of the West is. It's a strong flour. It has extra bread-making qualities, and I'll guarantee great, big, bulging loaves of the lightest, whitest, most wholesome bread.

Cream of the West Flour
the hard wheat flour that is guaranteed for bread

Tell your grocer you want to try Cream of the West. Buy a barrel subject to the guarantee. Tell him we expect him to refund your money if the flour fails to do as we claim. He won't lose a cent. We will reimburse him in full. Show him this paper with the guarantee. It is his authority to pay you back if you ask him.

Guarantee

WE hereby affirm and declare that Cream of the West Flour is a superior bread flour, and as such is subject to our absolute guarantee of money back if not satisfactory after a fair trial. Any dealer is hereby authorized to return price paid by customer on return of unused portion of barrel if flour is not as represented.

CHAPTER VII.

"You don't know?" she echoed. "No, I'm sure you don't, or I should expect you to swoon for sympathy. I thought Ned would, but he didn't. Imagine the most awful thing you are capable of conjuring up, and then double it."

"What a little goose you are, Nat," I interposed, seeing that Roger was by this time staring at her in a puzzled fashion. "It's nothing, Yorke—only that—"

"Only," Nat struck in, stopping me— "only—mind, Doctor Yorke—only that I am to have a governess—that is all. Who would complain of that?"

"What for?" asked Yorke, bluntly. "To make me miserable, of course"—with a pout. "She is sure to do it. How would you feel if some one tried to send you off to school again? How

THREE YEARS OF MISERY

Mrs. Burnside Escaped an Operation by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mahoningtown, Pa.—"For three years I suffered untold misery every month, and had to stay in bed the first two or three days. I also had a displacement and other ailments peculiar to women. I became so weak and run down I could scarcely walk across the floor."

"The doctor told me I would never be well unless I would undergo an operation, but I was advised by my mother to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and after I had taken four bottles I am strong and well. I have got others to take your medicine with the same good results and they can't say enough for it."—Mrs. J. A. BURNSIDE, Mahoningtown, Pa.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials like the above prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

would you like it, do you think?" Yorke had no time to say how he thought he would like it, for just then madame's stately figure appeared, and he further end of the Lady's Walk. Evidently she was looking for us. Nat laid her finger on her lips, and we advanced to meet her.

"I am glad you have come, Doctor," Yorke, madame said, giving Roger a more gracious reception than she usually vouchsafed to him. "I am afraid your patient is not quite so well. As it was so late, I feared we should not see you. Natalie, my love, may come in; it is getting chilly."

"I will stay here until you have done with Batterbin, Yorke," I said. "I want to speak to you. Don't be long—there's a good fellow."

The three walked away, and I fell to pacing the Lady's Walk until Yorke should come out again. Batterbin could not have been in much of a strait, for in a few minutes Roger was beside me again.

"Well, that's over," he said, "and as it is my last visit, I suppose I may take it easy for a little while."

"Nothing dangerously wrong with the poor old dame, I hope?" I questioned. I was fond of Batebin; she had nursed and petted me when I was a youngster.

"Oh, no, although I daresay she suffers a good deal! Rheumatism is no joke."

"By the way," I said, thinking of it suddenly, "to speak of another rheumatic patient of yours, how's old Wilde—on his legs yet?"

"Pretty near," returned Roger, shortly. "He won't be himself again for some time yet, though."

"He has better luck than he deserves in being pulled round at all," I said. "How's Lotty?"

"All right, I suppose," answered Yorke, lighting his cigar. "By the way, speaking of her, what is that is up with that fellow, young Flood?"

"Nothing that I know of. What do you mean?"

"That's just what I can't tell you. But, judging by appearances, it will be long enough before he gets the Wayside Cottage. Hasn't he any work to do?"

"As much as usual, I believe—why?"

"Then it's a pity he doesn't do it. So far as I can see, he spends all his time lounging about by old Wilde's place. Go when I will, the fellow is slouching about there. A sulky-looking customer he is, too," added Roger. "I must have got into his black books somehow, for he scowled at me like a demon this morning, and was hardly civil when I spoke to him."

"He wants a knock on the outside of his thick head, to put a little politeness into it," I returned; "but he was always about the sulkiest fellow in Whittlesford."

"It's more than sulkiest that is wrong with him now. I declare"—and he laughed—"that if I were at all of a nervous turn, I should fancy that he'd come stealing up behind me one of these dark nights, and give me one on the head. He looks capable of it."

I thought suddenly of the day when I had driven to the station to meet Natalie Orme, and had seen Phil Flood standing on the edge of the path of common, staring at old Wilde's cottage. I recalled the fierce scowling anger which had sat upon his dark face then, and understood Yorke's meaning plainly enough. With that expression on his face, he did indeed look desperate enough for anything. But what I meant by looking as he did I did not know in the instant, and, saying so, we changed the subject. Roger and I could always find plenty to talk about.

It was fully half an hour later; the moon was high, and we were leaning in the little gate beneath the horse-chestnut again, when he threw away the end of his smoked-out cigar, and said he must go.

"Bid Miss Orme good-night for me," he said, moving off; then he stopped suddenly, and turned back. "By Jove I forgot! I had a special message to deliver to her from Miss Deeping."

"I think so. The fellow has cheek enough for anything."

"Whew-ew!" whistled Roger. "I should think so, if it comes to that! Well, by Jove!"

He looked as if he were about to whistle again, and evidently had another explosive ready, when a sound higher up the lane startled us, coming from the direction of Whittlesford, the sharp, quick trot of a horse. We both knew who it was; and in another minute the tall thin figure of the master of Holmeadene, mounted on his tall thin horse, swept by swiftly. He did not see us, standing there in the shadow of the horse-chestnut. Roger's blue eyes flashed a look after him that was not particularly pleasant.

"I was thinking, Ned," he said, speaking with a flush of red on his sunburned cheek and a laugh which sounded rather forced, "how vastly I should enjoy pitching that fellow over the hedge yonder, and then rolling him into the ditch on the other side. Good-night!"

I've got it here somewhere, I know. You must give it to her for me, Ned."

"All right! Hand it out."

He began to turn out his pockets, and finally produced a plink envelope bearing Nat's name scrawled in Alice's large sweeping hand. I took it.

"Any message, Roger?"

"No, only that. It's nothing very particular, I think; but Alice threatened me with vengeance if I forgot. Mind you don't!"

"Not I. Nat shall have it directly I get in. How are they all at the rectory?"

"Famous—all but Mrs. Deeping, of course. Alice meant to come round herself to-night, she said, but they had visitors—Major Constable."

"Who?" I asked, for the name was strange to me.

"Why, surely you know the man who has taken the Lodge?" cried Yorke, "or at any rate, you have heard of him?"

"Of course, I had heard of him. The Lodge was a nice comfortable place, although not a very big one, close to the rectory. It belonged to Roxborough Chase, but the earl let it. It had been empty for a long time until a week or two before, when it was announced that a gentleman had taken it—a retired Indian officer, it was believed. But until Yorke mentioned his name, I had forgotten all about Major Constable."

"What sort of a man is he, Yorke?" I asked, curiously.

"Oh, a regular battle-scarred veteran, bronzed and bearded! Nice fellow, though. He has lost his left arm. You will like him I think. He quite took my fancy. He seems in high favor at the rectory."

"And Miss Alice was flirting with him, as usual," I said, laughing.

Miss Deeping's perfectly cool proceedings in that line of business always amused me. She would have flirted with me to keep her hand in. Yorke laughed too.

"Not yet awhile, I think. She was devoting most of her energies to the snubbing of Fraser Froude."

"Froude?" I echoed. "Oh, he was there, was he? That's the reason he didn't turn up here, I suppose?"

"Here?" Roger repeated, in surprise. "He doesn't often come here, does he?"

"Pretty well every day since he took up coming at all, for some reason best known to himself. We shouldn't absolutely break our hearts if he withdrew the light of his countenance though. Madame doesn't care for him, nor Nat either, whereat the gentleman chafes, or I'm mistaken."

"What do you mean?" asked Yorke, sharply.

"Just what I say. Of course it sounds absurd—he's old enough to be my father, for one thing; but I really do believe that she is the magnet. If not, who is?" He's hardly in love with Valia, I suppose?"

"Do you mean to tell me, Ned Chavasse," cried Yorke, folding his arms on the gate to look at me more closely, "that Fraser Froude has the impudence to come here after Natalie Orme?"

"I think so. The fellow has cheek enough for anything."

"Whew-ew!" whistled Roger. "I should think so, if it comes to that! Well, by Jove!"

He looked as if he were about to whistle again, and evidently had another explosive ready, when a sound higher up the lane startled us, coming from the direction of Whittlesford, the sharp, quick trot of a horse. We both knew who it was; and in another minute the tall thin figure of the master of Holmeadene, mounted on his tall thin horse, swept by swiftly. Morris is making good, says McGrath. But who else says it? Certainly not the body of fishermen.
He made a good thing for himself out of Hague Tribunal fees. He has done himself well with penicils. He has made a reputation as the big chief of a Picnic Party, but he has not made good with the fishermen.
The trusted delegates and representatives of 15,000 fishermen at Bonavista have pledged themselves to oust the present Premier and Government. From this it is clear that Sir Edward Morris has not made good with them.
Our correspondent at Burin says he is prepared to send photos to the Hon. J. A. Robinson of the old sheep pen, which he declares is being converted into a hospital with Government money. What has Mr. Robinson to say now?
Turning again to McGrath's shouting about Morris making good, what have the fishermen of Trinity Bay to say about it? Here is an extract from a report passed by the delegates of the Council of Trinity District at Clarendville: "We were surprised to find the Prime Minister supporting Mr. Morison's doing, and as he did and did so brazenly, we trust the people will resent his actions by ousting him from his high office next fall, when the electorate is called upon to render their verdict."
We observe that the Asquith Government intend to take up the Education question in earnest after they have disposed of the Home Rule Bill and the questions now under consideration by Parliament. Education is to be the main plank of social reform. We shall watch the matter with interest. We want education in Newfoundland put on a more effective basis so far as the training of teachers and children is concerned. We want to see the present system improved along the lines of making our teachers better educators, our schools better fitted for the fight of life. We have little sympathy with the present examination system, but we have the utmost sympathy for any attempt that will staff the schools and make them more efficient under the present denominational system.
About a month ago a remarkable notice was sent out about the light at Fort Amherst by the Minister of Marine and Fisheries. We hope to deal with this matter on Monday. It is a question of the gravest importance to the fishermen of the Colony in view of the risks they run.

Week of Prayer.
George St. Church was chosen for the closing service of the series of the Week of Prayer; and the Rev. Dr. Curtis was the speaker. The service was conducted by the Pastor of the Church, the Rev. J. W. Bartlett, and was opened with hearty singing by the people.
Being the last service, quite a rally was made by the people and the different ministers and most of them were present. Among them being the Rev. Dr. Rogers who offered the opening prayer; the Rev. Mr. Matthews, who read the lessons; the Rev. Mr. Thomas, and also the Rev. Mr. Sutherland, who pronounced the Benediction.
At 8.30 Dr. Curtis commenced his address and spoke for twenty-five minutes. Of course, with such a subject as the Home and Education, there was ample matter for a lecture instead of an address. The Doctor dwelt chiefly upon the domestic side of the question, and laid much stress upon the importance of the home life; and upon its influence and effect in after years. The Home may be said to be the corner-stone of the State, and so the speaker affirmed, and in words earnest and zealous spoke to the topic and made a tremendous impression upon the congregation.
Upon the question of Education proper, the Rev. Doctor was even more in earnest, nor is this to be wondered at when we remember that his ministerial life is wholly devoted to it. The school and college question is a big one, and one that seems more and more to claim the attention of the public, and especially of the church. Whether it be that our denominational schools are the best or not, the learned Doctor did not say; but he was very emphatic upon the necessity and importance of children being properly educated, and their education being based upon scriptural and religious, and moral principles. The address was fraught with facts, the certainly concerned in a lecture, and if it could be printed in full it would well repay perusal, and do real good. It is now some time since Dr. Curtis has spoken at such length in public for a while he suffered loss of voice. But we are pleased to say that he has fully recovered, and that his night he crowned the Week of Prayer with one of his best efforts, and most earnest appeals.
Following the address, came the usual song and prayer service, which was conducted with much zeal and heartiness. Especially was this so in the singing, which seemed to be quite congregational, and extended to the few, which is sometimes the case. In closing our notes, it is gratifying to know that the Press has been so liberal in its columns in publishing the reports of the meetings, and it is all cheering to realize that the united efforts of the week were mutual and elevating. The services were good, and each one in its place, and in its own particular subject, left its own special impression upon the congregation.
Following the rule, the topic of last night closes the Week of Prayer, but why should it close further service of a like nature? Why not have for the winter months, in one of our central churches, a mid-week service, conducted on the same lines as those of which we write? If there were an evangelist at hand, we would be sending for him, and running after him and crowding the churches to their utmost capacity. Why not do at least some of this for our own clergymen? We seem to have got, left to us, which thinks that all the zeal and talent, and attraction must be centered in a man who happens to call himself an evangelist.
Are all our big city churches to be closed every night this winter, and every hall of pleasure, and avenue of sport and centre of attraction, to be packed beyond their capacity? Are our churches to have a share? Or are some of the thoughts created by the Week of Prayer just closed. There was surely response enough manifested during the week to guarantee us in thinking that a great united mid-week service could be held on Wednesday night, in such a church as Gower Street; and with such address as the different speakers gave during this week, and with the people willing to the call, it should certainly accomplish much good.—I.C.M.
The services of Mr. Morris and Mr. Martin in reporting the meetings were highly commended.

Obituary.
MRS. VAVASOUR.
There passed away at noon, to-day an old and respected resident of the East End, in the person of Mrs. Maria Vavasour, after a prolonged illness. Deceased was in her sixty-sixth year, and was of a quiet and gentle disposition. She is survived by a husband, two sons and several grandchildren whom together with other relatives and friends, sincere sympathy will be extended.

Here and There.
LEFT FOR PERNAM.—The schooner Canada sailed to-day for Pernambuco with a cargo of fish, shipped by J. Broda.
A GOOD TIME.—An enjoyable time was spent last evening at the house of Mr. L. G. Chafe, Springdale Street, some twenty guests being present. After supper dancing and games were kept up until this morning.
While Philip Butler was in Carnell's factory, with his team outside, the street car passed and struck the horse, which is a most valuable animal, having paid a big price for it last summer. The guard of the car struck the horse on the leading foreleg, just below the knee, and broke its leg. Veterinary McNain was sent for and examined the horse. It is thought the valuable animal will have to be destroyed.
Mr. T. Vavasour, of the Post office is very ill and is confined to his home.
Hon. J. C. Crosbie left by this morning's train for St. Pierre, on business.

Personal.
Mr. A. J. Harvey and Mr. J. Outerbridge and son are booked to take passage by the Floriel to New York. From there they will proceed to England to spend the winter.
Mrs. E. R. Bowring and Mrs. R. H. O'Dwyer were passengers by the Carthaginian, from Liverpool.

Railway Bridge Destroyed
Ice and Water Sweep Away Structure over Leach's Brook—Track Inundated—Forest Trees and Telegraph Poles Levelled.
Late last night the Reid Nfld. Co. were apprised that the steel railway bridge spanning Leach's Brook, about 3 miles above Grand Falls, had been swept away and that all traffic on that section of the railway line has been stopped.
As far as can be gleaned from officials of the Company, this bridge was a steel structure of about 130 ft. in length and one of the most substantial and well built on the system. During the past few days the weather in this section has been stormy with periods of sleet and rain and the Exploits River to which the Brook is tributary became greatly swollen and the ice which covered it gave way suddenly last night. The river overflowed its banks for miles and the water inundated the country on both sides to great depth, while ice in thousands of tons backing up against the bridge carried it completely away from its supports and swept it a distance of 100 yards or more up the bank. The wreckage of the bridge, the banks for a long distance are covered with water to the depth of about 4 feet, and the banks of the stream are piled with great cakes of ice which are rushing along with the bottom of the road, sweeping away the telegraph and telephone poles and lines and levelled the forest growth through a wide extent of country. Though the rains and storms are regarded as contributory causes to the accident, the primal cause is claimed to be the backing up of the waters of the brook by the big dam at Grand Falls which brought such a great body of water up stream that the ice broke suddenly with destructive results. Roadmaster Graham with gangs of section men are at the scene, and this afternoon Messrs. Cobb, Powell and Joyce with a wrecking train are en route to the bridge to get forward from here to clear up the debris and to begin the work of erecting a temporary bridge when the subsidence of the floods permit. Later in the season a new and possibly a more substantial bridge will be built. This evening and to-morrow evening's expresses will be despatched from St. John's to Grand Falls, and those intending to go across country will do better consult the passenger agent or the officials of the dispatching office for information. There is an express from Port aux Basques at the scene of the trouble, and mail and baggage are being transferred to this side of the Brook to be forwarded here. In all probability the Bruce after arriving at Port aux Basques will be ordered to Placentia with mails and passengers, and the same will apply to the Invermore to-morrow. These ships will likely run to Placentia until the temporary bridge is finished over the Brook.

Ambassador Reid's Will.
Special to Evening Telegram.
NEW YORK, To-day.
The entire estate of the late White-law Reid, Ambassador of Britain, is left unconditionally to his widow, with the exception of specific bequests, totalling £110,000. Under the terms of the will made public, to Ogden Mills Reid and Jean Templeton Reid, son and daughter, there is left outright not a penny, although the late Ambassador indicated unmistakably his wish they should be well provided for by their mother. The value of the estate has been variously estimated at from ten to twenty millions.

Big Education Programme.
Special to Evening Telegram.
LONDON, To-day.
The Government has decided that as soon as Home Rule, Welsh Disestablishment and Franchise Reform Bills are disposed of, there will be a colossal scheme for improvement of elementary and secondary higher education. This important announcement was made on the authority of Premier Asquith and Lloyd George by Viscount Haldane at a political meeting in Manchester. Haldane said the existing system of education was chaotic and must be altered. It would be an expensive problem to handle. The expense must not be borne by taxpayers. It would be productive of expenditure, but it was absolutely necessary, "if your productive power is to be maintained in comparison with that of our rivals."

Tramp Steamer Arrives DAMAGED AND SHORT OF COAL.
The s.s. Charlois, Capt. Hans Schmidt, put into port this morning to get repairs and a supply of coal. She was 21 days out from Rotterdam bound to New York in water ballast, and had a tempestuous time of it. Owing to the continuous storms the ship made slow headway and consequently coal began to run short. The steamer also met with mishap. A few nights ago while riding in a terrific gale the wheel box in the aft end of the ship was carried away and washed overboard, also the hand steering gear was smashed and slight damages were done to the machinery. Neither the Charlois nor her captain were ever here before. The ship belongs to the American Petroleum Company of Antwerp and Rotterdam and is 1919 tons register net. Messrs. Bowring are agents for the Charlois, which will be repaired by the Reid Nfld. Co.

Mongolian Arrives.
The R. M. S. Mongolian, Capt. Reith, entered port this morning at 2 o'clock after a stormy and eventful trip of over six days from Philadelphia. Terrific weather was experienced but no damage was sustained. She brought 250 tons of cargo and 22 passengers: L. B. Lincoln, John Dunbar, Thomas Kinney and John Costello. The ship hauled alongside the Carthaginian to-day to unload her cargo and sails this midnight for Glasgow.

SUFFERED RELAPSE.—All will be sorry to hear to-day that Rev. Canon Smith, of Portugal Cove, is again very ill having suffered a relapse of a serious nature a couple of days ago. Dr. Anderson, his physician, is giving him every attention and his parishioners hope to see a change for the better in his condition shortly.

Terrible Experience of the Allan Liner Carthaginian.

THIRTEEN DAYS OUT FROM LIVERPOOL TO ST. JOHN'S—SHIP STORM-TOSSED AND THREATENED WITH DESTRUCTION BY FIRE—MYSTERIOUS FIRE BROKE OUT ON BOARD SHIP IN MID-OCEAN—SPLENDID CONDUCT OF PASSENGERS—150 TONS OF CARGO DESTROYED—DAMAGE ESTIMATED IN THE VICINITY OF $10,000.00.

Shortly after going to press, yesterday, the R.M.S. Carthaginian, Capt. McKellop, reached port from Liverpool, which place she left thirteen days previously, and reported the most trying experience in the history of the Allan Boat, which is nearly 20 years running in the Nfld. route. "It was the wildest weather I ever experienced in my twenty-eight years of seafaring life," said Capt. McKellop. On entering the narrows the ship resembled a floating iceberg, as she was encased in ice from stem to stern. Yesterday the Telegram noted a wireless message from the steamer, intimating that she was off this port encountering rough weather, but little was known that the liner had been ablaze in mid-ocean in the height of a northeast hurricane with over a hundred miles an hour.

Lives in Jeopardy.

As soon as the ship docked at Shea & Co's pier, she was boarded by a Telegram reporter, who got Capt. McKellop's story of the voyage as follows: "The ship left Liverpool at two o'clock in the afternoon of Saturday, December 28th. Right at the outset, terrific weather prevailed. The wind was blowing from the north and with hurricane force. The seas ran mountains high and repeatedly swept the decks, damaging woodwork. Sometimes huge seas would come over the smokestack and frequently the ship was buried beneath the foam, but being a good sea-boat, she behaved splendidly, and would rise on the surface again ready to brave the next attack of the elements. Four days after leaving the home port, conditions moderated slightly but there was an occasional blizzard, whilst it was intensely cold, making it difficult for the crew working about decks, as a few of the sailors had their hands and ears frost-bitten. The hull in the storm did not remain long as on the following day January 3rd, a regular tempest was met, and the elements increased in violence. Despite the adverse conditions, and though laboring heavily, the Carthaginian made fairly good headway. But the worst was yet to come. At one-thirty on the morning of January 7th, Mr. Gillespie, the second officer of the ship, who was standing his watch on the Captain's bridge, noticed

Volumes of Smoke issuing from the ventilators, near the saloon and directly under the Captain's quarters. The officer immediately ran and aroused Captain McKellop, who was asleep in his berth, acquainting him of what he had seen. Without any delay, both officers went to investigate. They discovered the fire in No. 2 hold, 'tween decks, immediately under the main saloon apartment and it was gaining rapid headway. The captain sent in the fire alarm and within the course of ten minutes everybody on board, passengers included, were at work with hoses and fire buckets, fighting the flames. This fire was not the only trouble, however, as the wind and sea were raging furiously. It was blowing a

Northeast Hurricane at the rate of eighty miles an hour, and with twelve degrees of frost. It was intensely cold and it can be imagined what adversities the fire was fought under. About an hour later, the captain found the fire was gaining serious proportions, the second officer having reported to him that the cargo on either side of the ship 'tween decks, in No. 2 hatch, was on fire. Captain McKellop, fearing the worst, sent out

The usual distress call—"S.O.S."—was wireless. "The Carthaginian's position then was 51.10 north latitude and 42.14 longitude. The call was answered by the s.s. Helligoland, a Danish ship bound from New York to Denmark. The latter ship shaped her course for the Carthaginian and in the meantime wireless beck that she had directed the liners, Numidian, Uranium and Arminian to come and give assistance; also that herself and the Numidian would be near the distressed ship in twelve hours. However, after four hours fighting the elements and the fire, Capt McKellop found that the flames were being subdued and the fire was got well under control, so he wirelessed to the Captain of the Helligoland this information and told him to call all stations off and as the Carthaginian was proceeding on her course for St. John's, and no assistance was required. It was then seven o'clock in the morning, but all danger was not passed, as the fire was not wholly extinguished until two hours afterwards. Capt. McKellop states that the fire looked as dangerous as first as ever he saw, the ship being but not the least bit of commotion or excitement occurred on board. He speaks highly of the passengers generally for the assistance they gave, particularly the bluejackets, who were on board bound to St. John's to join the Calypso. They rendered noble service and were in no small degree responsible for putting out the fire. The ship's company worked faithfully and well like true British seamen. They fought the flames hard and won their battle. Capt. McKellop also states that the action of the lady passengers was especially commendable. Their conduct during the crisis was splendid, and gave valuable aid in quenching the fire. But for the gallantry of all on board when the fire broke out, none might have lived to tell the tale. A few minor accidents occurred. Some got their face and hands scorched while a couple of others were suffocated by smoke but occurred. There were 150 tons of cargo en route to Philadelphia, in the hold where the fire took place and nearly all of which is destroyed by fire and water. Considerable damage is done the main saloon and its fittings. It is almost impossible as yet to give an exact estimate of what damage was caused until the report of Lloyd's surveyor is received, and who was surveying the loss to-day, but it is said, that ten thousand dollars will not make good what is destroyed. The origin of the fire remains a mystery.

Capt. McKellop's Theory

is that it was caused by friction of the iron bands that were around the bales of goods. Some few years ago a cotton steamer put into St. John's on fire, which had a similar origin. Repairs to the Carthaginian will be effected at Philadelphia for which port she sails this evening. The ship brought for St. John's, 43 bays of mail, 500 tons of cargo and as passengers in saloon: Mr. Watson, Mrs. E. R. Bowring and Mrs. O'Dwyer, eleven intermediate and 2 steerage.

Who Was She?

The Marine and Fisheries Department had a wire yesterday afternoon from the operator at Admiral's Cove, Fermeuse, saying that a schooner, deeply laden, had entered the harbor and left quickly, going down the shore. She carried 4 jibs, two of which were set, new foresail and dark mainsail with two topmasts. It was thought the vessel might be the missing Regal which left St. Pierre on Dec. 24th, coal laden, on her voyage from Sydney to Harbor Grace. Mr. Piccott wired Mr. P. Lake, Fortune asking if this was his vessel. The Regal, but up to last night had no answer.

Another Concession To the Sealers.

The Bonavista Convention resolved as possible, as no time should be lost in making the arrangements, if the change suggested is granted.

Yours very sincerely,
W. F. COAKER,
President F.P.U.

On Thursday, the President received the following letter from Mr. Job: St. John's, Nfld., Jan. 9th, 1913.

HON W. C. JOB, City.
Dear Sir,—At the recent Convention of the F.P.U., held at Bonavista, I was asked to ascertain whether the Sealing Steamer Owners would permit the F.P.U. to appoint the Chief Cook for each steamer sailing North. This request is made because of the close connection of some cooks, with some Captains, the cooks not being eager to carry out the Sealing Agreement respecting food, when they are closely connected with the Captains, as it is generally thought that the Captains are supreme in such matters. Last Spring some ships were well supplied with food, but the food was not cooked. The men consider that if the F.P.U. for their good behaviour, they will do their best to supply food as provided by the Agreement.

I personally believe that your best interests will be served by granting this request, and all will agree that the interest of the men cannot suffer by this change. I would like to receive a reply from the Owners as soon as possible, as no time should be lost in making the arrangements, if the change suggested is granted.

Yours very truly,
WILLIAM C. JOB.

The Councils concerned have been requested to forward to the President the names of suitable men for the position of Chief Cook on the sealing steamers. No application must be forwarded unless approved by a three-fourth vote of the Council. Every Council sending in applications will be held responsible for the applications and such applications must be sent in immediately to the President.—Fishermen's Advocate.

Madam! If you Are Bilious, Constipated or Headachy Please Try "Syrup of Figs."

All women get bilious, headachy and constipated—simply because they don't exercise enough. They don't eat coarse food, or enough fruit and green vegetables. These are nature's ways of keeping the liver and thirty feet of the bowels active; but very few women employ them. The next best way is delightful, Syrup of Figs.

Nearly all ills of women can be overcome with Syrup of Figs alone. There is no need to have sick headache, backache, dizziness, stomach sour and full of gases, bilious spells, sallowness, coated tongue, bad breath, bad complexion, nervousness and depression. The surest and safest remedy is one or two teaspoonfuls of delicious Syrup of Figs. Try this tonight—you'll feel splendid in the morning when the sour bile, clogged up waste and poisonous matter have been gently but thoroughly moved on and out of your system, without nausea, griping or weakness. Your head will be clear, complexion rosy, breath sweet, stomach regulated; no more constipation, gases, pains and aches.

It is simply a matter of keeping your stomach, liver and bowels clean and regulated. Then you will always be well—always look and feel your best.

But get the genuine—the old reliable. Ask your druggist for "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna." Refuse, with contempt, the so-called Fig syrups sometimes substituted to fool you. The true, genuine, bears the name California Fig Syrup Company; look for this on the label.

Nevada Towed I Will Stake This Medicine Against Your Time

The S. S. Coban, Capt. McPhail, with the S. S. Nevada in tow, arrived here at 5 p.m. yesterday, the former ship having towed the latter from Fermeuse where she had been brought by the Solway which picked her up in a disabled condition and the details of which were referred in the Telegram. The Nevada left here on the 26th December, St. Stephen's Day, for Louisburg and that night had exceptionally stormy weather to contend with. The wind which blew from the N. W. increased in violence and the ship which was light in ballast received a terrible pounding from the mountainous waves which ran. Friday morning, the 27th, wave after wave swept over her and one very heavy sea struck the rudder tearing away the two rudder braces and badly damaging it otherwise. The ship which now would not steer, was at the mercy of the elements and matters looked pretty bad for her. A large steamer was sighted that day in the distance and was signalled for aid but evidently did not see the Nevada and kept on her course. At ten o'clock that night the lights of another steamer were seen and to attract her attention two red lights and a blue light were run up in the rigging while flare ups were burnt on the decks and she answered the signals and came down on them and stood by them for two nights and a day. She was a large four-masted ship, and Saturday, the 28th, made several efforts to get lines aboard the Nevada, a most difficult job in the terrible weather; raging; once a heavy hawser was successfully made fast on board but the rolling and pitching of the ships in the sea this snapped like sack thread and the idea of towing the Nevada had to be abandoned. She remained by the ship until Sunday when she had to resume her voyage. The weather became calmer after this but the ship was at the mercy of the waves and drifted to about a mile from the coast when the Solway hove in sight and Capt. Parsons and his gallant crew despite the storm raging managed to get a line on board and tow the ship to a safe haven as already related in the Telegram. While at Fermeuse wire hawsers were fraped to the damaged rudder and brought forward to the winches which enabled the ship to get steerage way while coming down with the Coban.

Mr. McAlpine, who is here, is looking after the repairs to the ship which is now at the dry dock premises. She will be surveyed to-day and the work of repairing the damage will begin immediately.

A few minutes of your time for a few days and I will demonstrate to you, without expense to yourself, that I have a medicine that drives Uric Acid poison from the system and by so doing cures kidney trouble, bladder trouble and rheumatism. I don't ask you to take my word for it, but simply want you to let me send you some of this medicine; so that you can use it personally.

I am trying to convince sufferers from these diseases that I have something far better than the usual run of remedies, treatments and such things, and the only way I can demonstrate that fact is to go to the expense of compounding the medicine and sending it out free of charge. This I am glad to do for any sufferer who will take the time to write me. Understand, I will not send you a so-called "sample, proof or test treatment," nor will I send you a package of medicine and say that you can use some of it and pay for the rest, but I will send you a supply free of charge and you will be asked to pay for this gift nor will you be under any obligations.

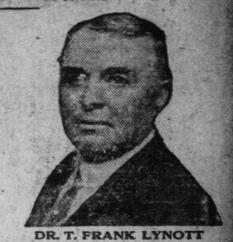

All I want to know is that you have a disease for which my medicine is intended, as it is not a "cure-all," and I give here and will be glad to send you some of it. My address is Dr. Frank Lynott, 841 Franklin Building, Toronto, Ont. You promise me nothing; you pay nothing for it. All I ask is that there shall be no mistake, is that you send me the number of your symptoms or a description in your own words, and that you take the medicine according to the directions I send you. It is my way of getting publicity for my medicine so that it will become widely known.

You will agree when you have used it that it dissolves and drives out uric acid poison. It tones the kidneys so that they work in harmony with the bladder. It strengthens the bladder and other urinary disorders are banished. It stops rheumatic aches and pains immediately. It dissolves uric acid crystals so that back and muscles no longer ache and crooked joints quickly straighten out. It reconstructs the blood and nerves so that you soon feel healthier and more vigorous, sleep better and eat better and have energy throughout the day. It does all this, and yet contains nothing injurious and is absolutely vouched for according to law.

Sufferers from these dreadful and dangerous diseases can surely afford to spend a few minutes each day for a few days to demonstrate to their own satisfaction if they are curable, especially when you consider no expense is involved, and I willingly give you my time and my medicine. All any afflicted person wants to know is if a certain thing will cure HIM or HER, and here is an opportunity to find out without cost, obligation or important loss of time. THESE FEW DAYS may be the turning point in your life.

All who are interested enough to write me for the free medicine will also receive a copy of my large illustrated medical book which describes these diseases thoroughly. It is the largest book of the kind ever written for free distribution, and a new edition is just being printed. I will also write you a letter of diagnosis and medical advice that should be of great help to you; but in order to do this I must know that you need my medicine. Write me the numbers of the symptoms that trouble you, and your age, and I will promptly carry out my promises. Show an inclination to be cured and you will be.

These Are the Symptoms:
1-Pain in the back.
2-Too frequent desire to urinate.
3-Burning or obstruction of urine.
4-Pain or soreness in the bladder.
5-Frequent troubles.
6-Gas or pain in the stomach.
7-General debility, weakness, dizziness.
8-Pain or soreness under right rib.
9-Swelling in any part of the body.
10-Constipation or liver trouble.
11-Palpitation or pain under the heart.
12-Pain in the hip joint.
13-Pain in the neck or head.
14-Pain or soreness in the kidneys.
15-Pain or swelling of the joints.
16-Pain or swelling of the muscles.
17-Pain or soreness in nerves.
18-Acute or chronic rheumatism.

Police Assis's Burglary Thinking It Only a Sham.

Paris, Dec. 27.—Alleged picture show operators made a nice haul near Paris under the eyes of the police. A party of operators accosted a constable outside a villa in the suburbs belonging to a banker and showed him a letter authorizing a moving picture flum burglary on the premises. The police acquiesced and kept on looks back. Two of the operators mounted ladders, broke the windows of the villa, entered and emerged with sacks crammed with spoil. A realistic struggle took place in the garden between picture thieves and picture police.

The genuine police applauded and occasionally offered advice. With the capture of the picture thieves the operators packed their outfit, thanked the police and departed.

The following morning the absent owner of the villa notified the police that $30,000 worth of valuables had been stolen from his residence.

The Burin Hospital.

Special to Evening Telegram.
BURIN, To-day.
The public despatch yesterday, says the Daily News denies that the hospital is being fitted up at Burin and characterizes it as false. We can state that a small building, about thirty years old, and for the last five years used as a sheep house, is being fitted as a hospital for outport patients. It is also being done with public money. If the Government are going to build a hospital, at least give us one that is better fitted for human beings. If Mr. Robinson doubts it, we will send him a photo of the building, sheep, innery, and all attached.

Shipwright's Society

The annual meeting of the St. John's Shipwright Society was held in the Star Hall, on Thursday night, the 9th inst. A large number of the members was present when the roll was called. The Society is in a prosperous condition. For the election of officers, Mr. Benjamin Earle was moved to the chair, and the election resulted as follows: President, William Whitmarsh, re-elected; 1st Vice-President, Samuel Hooker, elected; 2nd V.P., William Foster, elected; Secretary, Frederick Pitcher, re-elected; Treasurer, Lemuel Simmons, re-elected, and a committee of ten.

Pleasing Presentation.

Last night the President and officers and some of the members of the Mechanics' Society, met in their hall and presented Mr. Edward Dohoney with a handsome pipe. Mr. J. P. Scott made the presentation and the address which was a flattering one, and wished Mr. Dohoney every future prosperity; it was responded to by him in a hearty and eloquent manner. Speeches were also made by Messrs. Myrick, McCaffrey, Leahy, Gallivan and O'Keefe. Mr. Dohoney, who is President of the Shoemakers' Union, and who is also an expert miner, goes to South America to take charge of a mine there at a big salary. The Telegram joins with the Society and other friends in wishing him every success.

Presentation to Magistrate McDonnell.

A few evenings ago, several gentlemen of St. George's and Port au Port called on Magistrate McDonnell and presented him with a silver mounted ebony cane, suitably inscribed and the following address:
To Richard McDonnell, Esq., J.P.
Sir.—We the undersigned wish to express to you our high appreciation of your genuine and sterling qualities both in your public capacity as magistrate and as a private citizen.
We might express ourselves very strongly as to your charity to those in need; your sage and disinterested advice that many of us have benefited by; and your open-hearted hospitality, a quality always remarkable in your countrymen, but knowing that these qualities of yours need no herald, we forbear.

Hoping then that you will accept the accompanying gift as a testimonial of our sincere friendship and regard. We pray that the year 1913 may come to you laden with all good gifts—health and happiness—steadfast friends, increasing honors and prosperity. (Signed): A. House, R. J. McDonald, A. J. O'Rielly, J. A. McLean, Walter A. Young, George Goodland, M. F. Abbott, C. E. Carter, Frank Forward.
Magistrate McDonnell having been taken by surprise, spoke very feelingly and thanked those gentlemen for their kind remarks and their appreciation of him both as an officer of the law and as a private citizen.
They then proceeded to the "White Hotel," where dinner was served. Happy speeches were made during the evening and a most enjoyable time spent; before dispersing they all gathered around their guest and sang "For Her's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Hope.

If hope be dead—why seek to live? For what besides has life to give? Love, Life, and Youth, and Beauty too, If Hope be dead—say! What are you?

Love without hope! It cannot be; There is a vessel in you sea, Becalm'd and sailless as Despair, And know—'tis hopeless Love floats there.

Life without hope!—Oh that is not To live; but day by day to rot, With feelings cold and passions dead, To wander o'er the world and tread Upon its beauties, and to gaze Quite vacant o'er its flowery maze; Oh! think, if this be Life! then say— "Who lives when Hope hath fled away?"

Youth without hope! An endless night Trees which have felt the cold spring's blight, The lightning's flash, the thunder's strife, Yet pine away a weary life Which older would have sunk and died, Beneath the strokes their youth defied— But, cursed with length of days are left.

To rail at Youth of Hope bereft, And beauty, too, when Hope is gone, Has lost the ray in which it shone, And seen without that borrowed light, Has lost the beam that made it bright, Now what avail the silken hair, The gentle smile, the gentle air, The beaming eye, and glance refined— Faint semblance of the purer mind— As gold dust, sparkling in the sun, Pointing to where rich strata run? Alas they now just seem to be Bestow'd to mock at misery, They speak of days long, long gone by.

Then point to cold Reality, And with a death-like smile they say— "Oh! what are we when Hope's away?"

Thus Love and Life, and Beauty too, When seen without Hope's brightening hue, All sigh in Misery's saddest tone, "Why seek to live if Hope be gone?"

Feel Badly To-Day? Cascarets To-Night.

No Headache, Biliousness, Sluggish Liver, Constipated Bowels or Sour Stomach by morning.

No odds how bad your liver, stomach or bowels; how much your head aches; how miserable and uncomfortable you are from constipation, indigestion, biliousness and sluggish intestines—you always get the desired results with Cascarets and quickly too.

Don't let your stomach, liver and bowels make you miserable another moment; put an end to the headache, biliousness, dizziness, nervousness, sick, sour, grassy stomach, backache and all other distress; cleanse your inside organs of all the poison and effete matter which is producing the misery.

Take a Cascaret now; don't wait until bedtime. In all the world there is no remedy like this. A 10-cent box means health, happiness and a clear head for months. No more days of gloom and distress if you will take a Cascaret now and then. All druggists sell Cascarets. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle, cleansing, too.

"Mama, Bring Me Drink."

Child's Plea During Prayers Over her Coffin.

The Boston Journal says: The New Year's greeting Mrs. Effie V. Smith, of 25 Bryant Street, Everett, has always brought to her babies, was missed yesterday morning. The three little fellows couldn't realize their father's great sorrow in the death of their mother, but they were keenly aware of the absence of the mother from the family circle, now forever broken.

Mrs. Smith died suddenly in the Massachusetts General Hospital and was buried from her late home on Tuesday afternoon. One little son, Gordon, 11, with pneumonia, was crying for his mother to bring him a drink of water during the funeral services. He caught a severe cold on Christmas Day and now lies critically ill with pneumonia. He has insisted on wishing his mother a merry Christmas day after day when she was in the hospital and even when she lay dead in the home. Suffering from pain and fever, he constantly called during the funeral, "Oh mama, bring me a drink of water."

During the prayer offered by the Rev. A. H. Kennedy, little Roland also broke the impressive silence by plaintively asking for "Mama, my mama." Mrs. Smith was 30 years old and had been married eight years. Besides her husband, Edwin C., and the three boys, she leaves a father, George L. McKens, a brother and two sisters in Hubbards, N.S.

Women and Children First at Tables—Band Plays While Hungry Ones Clear Board.

Chicago, Dec. 29.—Twelve thousand hungry men, women and children were fed in relays of seven hundred by the Volunteers of America, in First Regiment Armory to-day, the feasting lasting continuously from 11 to 5 o'clock.

"Women and children first," was the dictum of the hosts. The men yielded gallantly, but to do so called for something like heroism. Many who waited in the galleries while the mothers and little folks ate had not tasted food for forty-eight hours.

Humor, pathos, band music, turkey and virile appetites were the features. At one table a plasterer, incapacitated for work because too much associated with lime had blinded him, confessed he could not eat.

"To think of me coming to a hand-out!" he said to one of the waiters, a social welfare worker. "I can't eat; it takes my appetite away to think what I was and what I am."

A lodging house habitue was present because he believed no one there would know him. Down the room he saw for the first time in seven years his sister. She was smiling and helping wait on the banquettes. The brother did not wait to satisfy his hunger, but slipped out of the room.

A West Side grocer had charge of one of the tables. He had contributed $200 for this dinner. One of the men he waited on was a fellow who took the grocer—then a down-and-out—to the Volunteers' feast seven years ago.

Besides serving the dinner, the Volunteers sent out 1200 baskets, each of which contained a chicken, two loaves of bread, a half peck of potatoes, beans, sugar and coffee.

Hr. Grace Notes.

It was pleasing news to our townspeople to hear yesterday that the S. S. Adventure was coming here direct this trip with a load of coal.

The sociable and dance on New Year's Night was for the benefit of the K. E. Branch, not the K. E. Brigade, as a former note said. We take all blame, and ask those interested to note that fact.

Owing to the severe frost of the past few days, Mr. Arthur Tapp, plumber, has been in great demand. He is a busy man just now, but is doing his best to satisfy all those in difficulty.

The schr. Lucky Change which drifted from the harbor in a recent gale and went ashore on the South Side broke up yesterday and last night during the heavy north east gale.

At the Agricultural Society meeting on Tuesday night it was intended to have the officers elected for 1913, but owing to the small attendance it was thought unwise to postpone the election until Monday, Jan. 20th, when a full attendance is expected.

Mr. James D. Munn returned from St. John's last night where he had been for a few days on business.

Two of our citizens, Mr. J. A. Whitman and Mr. John Trapnell, have been kept in doorys the past week through illness. We hope they will soon be all right again.

We hear that a man named Power, of the Hill, captured a fox a short distance to the rear of the town a few days ago. If this is so, no doubt others will soon be trying their hand at this quick way of making money—quick only when one can capture the fox.

Quite a number of men left during the week for Port aux Port where they have been engaged to work at the lime quarries.

A man was before the Court here on Saturday last and convicted for the fifth time of a breach of the Temperance Act. He was fined $180.00 or five months in the Penitentiary.

Much suffering has been caused among our people by the scarcity of coal. We have heard of cases where the children have been kept in bed all day, as no firing could be had. These will be particularly pleased to hear of the Adventure coming.

Mr. John L. Oke left for St. John's by yesterday morning's train on a business trip.

Kaiser Plans A Celebration.

Berlin, Jan. 3.—Elaborate preparations are on foot to celebrate the twenty-fifth year of the Kaiser's reign on June 1. It will be one of the greatest festive events since the creation of the empire. All Germany will endeavor to show appreciation of the Kaiser, who during the quarter of a century has placed the nation in the front rank of the industrial, commercial and naval, as well as the military Powers of the world.

According to the local press the other twenty-five rulers of German States including the Kings of Saxony, Bavaria and Wurtemberg, are coming to Berlin personally to congratulate the Kaiser and to participate in the celebration. The United States and all European countries will send special embassies for the occasion. The Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria, and heir to the throne, will represent Emperor Francis Joseph, though there is talk of a bare possibility that the aged monarch of that country, if he is strong enough, will come here personally to repay the Kaiser's many visits to Vienna.

STEADILY IMPROVING—Mr. John Rice, who was stricken suddenly in the Parade Rink, some little time ago, is greatly improved, and is improving as time goes by. Mr. Rice's many friends will be glad to hear of this and hope soon to see him thoroughly recovered.

Life also is out of balance in the respect that there are too many hair vigors and too few hair growers. A tidy fortune also awaits the man who can make all of the seats end seats.

At The City Hall.

The weekly session of the Council board was held yesterday afternoon. John Byrne, Parade Street, asked for water supply; referred to Engineer.

G. Andrews, Pennywell Road, asked for a light in that neighbourhood; referred to Lighting Committee. E. M. White, South Side, made a similar request; deferred.

The annual report of the Sanitary Supervisor was let stand over. A discussion then took place on snow clearing. Councillor Mullaly said that judging from the condition of Water Street the law was being violated and urged that Council officials get busy. He failed to see how the $3,000 subsidy from the Reid Co. would cover a fifth of snow clearing expenditure if present system was continued.

The Mayor contended the remarks of the previous speaker were premature and that the business people on Water Street were doing their utmost to have the snow removed.

Councillor Coaker was the next speaker, advocating what Councillor Mullaly said.

Councillor Martin thought that the residents of back streets should keep walks clear; also that horses and trucks be employed each snowfall to make tracks to the various cemeteries.

Councillor Myrick supported this and it will be adhered to. The Engineer reported a pressure of 60 pounds water pressure on the South Side. Ordered to be reduced to 40 pounds.

The meeting closed at 5 o'clock.

Lora, Jane, Lizzie,

We all sit up to write a tale of broken hearts, of souls that yearn and pant; of lovely maiden in the soup because her lover flew the coop and ran off with her aunt. A thousand women write of dress and diet in the daily press, of household hints and such; of how to bring our children up, of how to paint a china cup, of how to cure the itch; some tells us how to banish moles—but Lora writes of hearts and souls, and Lora looms up strong; she gathers up a human heart and takes the blamed thing all apart, and tells us what is wrong. And when the daily paper comes the house with wild excitement hums—each wants that paper first; tired father takes the sheet from ma, and sisters slugs him on the jaw with length of wienersurst. Then mother takes the rolling pin and swats Matilda on the chin and soaks poor Uncle James; and when the rioting is over we all are crippled up and sore, with bruises on our frames. Oh, Lora writes of slings and darts which penetrate our weary hearts, and hearts are always tripped; she hands us chunks of misery and makes us sadder still when we are in the doleful dumps. No wonder that she's all the rage in this fake optimism age, when sunshine singers prance, when nearly every guy we meet is sure this chestnut to repeat: "Cheer up, and sing and dance."

An Expert Makes Them.

The only man in Canada who has had invariable success in the manufacture of dry yeast is the man who makes White Swan Yeast Cakes. He has had 25 years experience. New Rooms.

The C. C. C. recently had new rooms erected in their Armoury for the 5 Companies comprising the Battalion. Two of these were opened Thursday night when the first drill for the season was held under Capt. Kent. The ladies attended in force, and regularly hereafter during the winter the drills will go on. The other room will be opened in due course and they are comfortable and contain all the requirements for the ladies.

Brigade Matters.

The C. L. B. have finalized preparations for their annual concert, tea and dance to be held next Wednesday night.

The C. C. C. annual "At Home" comes off the first week in February. The Methodist Church held the first of their series of winter drills in the British Hall last night. They will continue drilling there one night each week until their new Armoury is built and ready to occupy.

Revolt Framed Up in The Philippines.

New York, January 2.—A special Washington wire to the New York World, says: According to information received to-day by the Bureau of Insular Affairs and transmitted to the War Department, there is a "frame-up" for a revolution in the Philippine Islands this winter. The plan has been made by wealthy property owners in the Island of Luzon, on which Manila is located. The revolution is planned for the purpose of showing that the Philippines are not yet ready for independence.

The movement originally was planned merely as a political move, to offset the activities of Manuel L. Quezon, Resident Commissioner at Washington, from the Philippines. Quezon has been fighting in and out of Congress for Philippine independence. According to reports received, the insurrection has got away from the leaders to such an extent that it is feared there will be much bloodshed and disorder before it can be suppressed.

Children March from Burning Church. Organist and teacher Brave in Face of Danger.

Chicago, Dec. 29.—Singing "Onward Christian Soldiers," 200 children, members of a Sunday School, marched out of their class room through smoke from a fire that destroyed the Lorimer Memorial Baptist Church.

Mrs. Elmer Anderson, organist, and Miss Martha Marguard, teacher of a primary class, played the music and led the singing until all the children were in safety.

By that time the flames were so close to the two women that they were forced to flee, abandoning their coats and furs. The fire was discovered by a policeman while the Sunday school was in session. Finding that the entire basement of the church was on fire, he ran upstairs and asked the teachers of the Sunday school to play something the children could march to.

The entire structure was in flames by the time the last child was out and the two teachers had escaped.

Butter.

BY H. J. L. RANN.

Butter is an expensive lubricant which is now used almost exclusively to lubricate the higher classes. There used to be a time when the poor man could eat butter with his knife and a clear conscience, but now he would as soon think of spreading his pancakes with hard coal.

The best grades of butter are made of milk which is taken from the domestic cow by brute force and then allowed to stand until the cream can be seen in the act of sitting upright. The cream is then seized by the nap of the neck and thrown into a churn, where the protein and other bacteria are stamped out of it, after which it is stained a bright yellow and sold to people who ride around in electric broughams.

In the old days people made their own butter from one discouraged cow, and the cream was churned after school by a small boy in a gingham apron. A lid was put on the churn so that the look on the boy's face would not sour the cream. Sometimes the butter would refuse to come until it got ready and cause the small boy to say "darn" in a feeling and expressive manner. Many a man cherishes the fond recollection of days when he stood in a knock-kneed attitude over a hand churn and ever and anon received an eyelash of sour cream.

There are various substitutes for butter which are used with great freedom by hotels, restaurants, dining cars and boarding houses. The most popular of these is oleomargarine, which cannot be told from butter by anybody who has a cold in the head. Thousands of people who can tell butter as far off as they can see it are eating oleomargarine every day without knowing it, which should teach us to be humble in spirit.

Butter is always high in the summer because the pastures are poor and several degrees higher in the winter because the cows are not thawed out. The price of butter generally goes up over night, when every body is asleep except the board of trade of Elgin, Illinois, which hires somebody to run up and drive a nail in it.

DISORDERLY ARRESTED.—Last night officers Keefe and Day were called to a residence on James Street, by a woman who feared that her only son would break up the house. The young man, who was under the influence, was taken out of the house by the officers, and his mother will appear against him.

Funeral Of Sir. E. D. Shea.

The funeral of the late Sir Edward Shea was largely attended yesterday afternoon. There were present in the cortege and following the immediate relatives, the members of the Legislative Council, House of Assembly, the Judiciary, legal fraternity, Mayor Ellis, Councillors and men prominent in public and private life. Mr. M. W. Myrick was undertaker and at the R. C. Cathedral the remains were placed in the sanctuary where His Excellency the Governor, Capt. Gale, A.D.C., Mr. Fitzherbert, Private Secretary and Capt. Goodridge, A.D.C., had seats. The service for the dead was conducted by His Grace Archbishop Howley, assisted by Rt. Rev. Monsignor Roche, Revs. J. St. John, Dr. Greene, Rt. Rev. Monsignor Reardon and Rev. D. O'Callaghan and acolytes. The Libera Me and Ego Sum Benedictus were sung, the altar boys taking the responses after which the remains were taken to Belvedere Cemetery and interred in the family plot.

Holy Name Society

The Holy Name Society will be holding their first series of lectures on Tuesday evening, next, in the Holy Name Room. The lecturer will be the Spiritual Director, Rev. D. O'Callaghan, taking as his subject, "Home Rule." The admission fee will be twenty cents, and tickets may now be had from J. J. Whelan, corner of Gower and Colonial Streets, or from the other members of the committee. No doubt the lecturer will do justice to his subject, and we bespeak a full house.

Cable News.

Special to The Evening Telegram.
PARIS, Jan. 10.
The Parisian press is pessimistic to-day over the international situation. The Figaro hints that Germany and Italy are intriguing, the former for herself the possibility of obtaining in the future one of the Aegean Islands, and the latter for the purpose of retaining some of these islands, including Rhodes which she now occupies. The Echo de Paris sees signs of an approaching conflict in the mobilization of Romania's troops; the summons of German reservists to the colors, and the news that the German military law is to be amended in such a way that an immense increase of the effective army on a peace footing will be obtained.

LONDON, Jan. 10.
According to the Times, Dr. Daneff, head of the Bulgarian delegates, has notified his Government that he is unable to make progress as to negotiations with Rumanian delegates. He asks the appointment of another Bulgarian representative to take his place. Meanwhile the Rumanian Government is finding that negotiations are making no headway.

LONDON, To-day.
According to the despatches to the Times, Dr. Daneff, head of the Bulgarian delegates, notified his government that he is unable to make progress in negotiations with Rumanian delegates. He asks for the appointment of a representative for Bulgaria to take his place. Meanwhile the Rumanian government is finding the negotiations are making no headway.
