MR. BLAKE'S EXTRADITION ACT. The imperial extradition act which applies to colonies makes provision for the extradition of a comparatively lew criminals. Lying alongside such a country as the United States our country has been overrun with criminals who laughed at us and the United States authorities as we had no power to give them up. In 1877 Mr. Blake, while minister of justice, under and by virtue of the powers conferred upon us by the confederation act had a comprehenby the confederation act had a comprehen-sive extradition act passed to include a larger number of crimes and to facilitate the handing over of criminals. This act has been a dead letter ever since. Numerous eases have been tried under it, necessitating large expense, but nothing could be done city, and pay probably $300,000 per annum as the imperial authorities refused to withdraw from Canada the imperial act.

The illustrious house of Derby has done great things for England: the present representative of the family evidently intends great things for the colonies. He had scarcely been named for the office of secretary of state for the colonies when, with a savage smarl he retorts on the great William his own "Hands off," with regard to Egypt, and now, when scarcely warm in his seat, the imperial extradition act is withdrawn from Canada, and our own law prevails.

It is a universal practice in cities of any pretentions whatever, to have on the health beard a medical health officer. At one tune Toronto had two such, one for the east and one for the west; now it has none; nor has it had any for many years past. At the warious meetings of the health committee we hear little or nothing about health measures—only of markets. How are the members to know anything about preven-tive measures with no medical adviser? It may be said that the health of the city is good. How do we know this? Toronto has more medical practitioners in propor-tion to its population than any city we

THE LIBRARIAN FOR THE NEW LIBRARY. Perhaps the mest difficult part of the business connected with the establishment of our free library has yet to come-that of appointing a competent person to take charge of it. It seems to us this has not yet received the attention it deserves. In our opinion the success of the new undertaking rests largely upon the person who is to have it under his control. The power of a librarian to make or mar a library is well known to frequenters of libraries, though not so well to others. What we wish to do is to deliver a word of warning to the promoters of the present scheme while it is yet time. If we get a worthless library now and the scheme falls to the ground through lack of support, it will be a very long day before the ratepayers will vote another, which might also prove abortive. If it should ever be tried here it will be found that a free library with an ignoramus in charge of it is almost as bad as no library at all. The word competent when applied to a librarian covers more ground than many persons would think. Indeed it covers so many qualifications that we are inclined to believe that our city, large though it be, could scarcely produce five persons who could claim the position by virtue of their possession. Unless in the hands of a competent person, the library could never be the credit to the city it should be. The applicant to such a position should have a wide knowledge of books, ancient and modern ; he ought to be a trade away from the dominion the abolition walking encyclopælia of titles, and not only of those charges would tend to draw trade. The only way in which they can be abolished titles, he ought to have as well a general idea of what is inside the covers of books. is by the assumption by either the city of He should be a bibliographer, and be able Montreal or the dominion, of the debt to catalogue the books intelligibly. argued against the abolition of canal tolls and the assumption by the dominion of the Montreal barbor debt. The Spectator is of the opinion that the improvement of the Montreal harbor and the deepening and widening of the river channel are unnecessary because the transfer of produce from the lake vessel to the ocean vessel could be made at Quebec, Tadousac or Rimouski, or some point further down the river. It says the existence of the harbor and city of Montreal are in no way essen-tial to the prosperity of Canada's foreign tial to the prosperity of Canada's foreign trade, and yet it affirms that the exactions of the Montreal harbor commissioners of the Montreal harbor commissioners

Why this trade didn't go to Quebec, Tadonsac, Rimouski, St John or Halifax the spectator doesn't explain, but there are two very good reasons. This trade was driven to New York away from its natural route partly because the only place on the St Lawrence route with adequate facilities for the handling of trade was the city of Mon-treal, and the charges there were so exor-

It is the internal revenue system that has solidified the liquor interest by confining its control to the hands of a few rich and influential men and has thus enabled it, according to Sena-ter Sherman and others, to carry a general election in Ohio, as it now threatens to control the choice of a senator in Illinois. Before the establishment of internal revenue the liquor interest was scattered and sub-missive to the general voice of the com-munity. There were many comparatively missive to the general voice of the com-munity. There were many comparatively poor men in the business and there was no him b ush, monopoly. Teach the Girls to do Somethin able Rates Brings a Good Trade a Yonge Street Bouse. Parents generally appreciate t ing their sons to follow natural inclinations in choosing the proion or pursuit they are to make the object in life. Even the wealthiest fathe loes not expect his son to live in idleness His first care, then, is to model that son's character and education so that he will be fitted for the occupation for which he may ossess peculiar aptitude. Why should not this rule extend to both sexes ? Every one knows that the tastes of girls differ quite as much as the tastes of boys. Why should not girls be subjected to as severe pract training as boys? They may not be obliged to earn their own living, but to feel that they are competent to do it will certainly not detract from their self-regard. They should be taught to do something useful and to develop whatever whose coverings we would often find it whose coverings we would often find it difficult to keep out the rigors of our Cana-dian winters. As the durability, warmth and scarceness of the products of these animals regulate their market value, which is sometimes very high, it is a cheering thing to know that at one place at least furs can be bought at favorable prices. That place is at Tonkin's, 110 Yonge street, a visit to whose establishments will convince talent they may possess. All cannot be-come accomplished in the same way. That they should learn to sew and to cook and to keep house is pretty generally conceded, but it is not every mother who has the courage to inside upon this extinct the set of the keep house is pretty generally conceded, but it is not every mother who has the courage to insist upon this portion of her daughter's education. Even the princesses of the royal families are better trained in this respect than the majority of our own country-women in the more favored walks of life. But while they are getting a household education it will not prevent them mastering trade, art or pro-fession. The field is widening where-in women can earn a livelihood and acquire wealth, but they cannot ex-pect to leap at once into success. A busi-ness of any sort must be learned. Girls do not realize this; they do not fit themselves for an avocation as boys do. It is generally when necessity compels them to de some-thing that they begin to wonder what they can do. Aside from the benefits likely to accure to women from a thorough business education and systematic empleyment is the fact that they will be better. If idle-ness is baneful in its effects on man why not on woman? Busy men and busy women find no time fer wrong-doing. Their thoughts run not to evil. From a moral standpoint alone, then, it is desirable that women as well as men should have employ-ment. That place is at Tonkin's, 110 Yonge street, a visit to whose establishment will convince you of the correctness of this statement. Do not allow your wife, your sister, your daughter, your sweetheart, or yourself to go around without a fur cap, cape, jacket or boa when you can buy all or any of them at barely living rates at Tonkin's. And what is more pleasing than to see your lady relatives or connections wrapped up in comfortable fur coverings. Again, we repeat, what is more pleasing ! A word to the wise is sufficient.

Tear by year is adding to the army of victims, and new types and phases of these affections are also multi-plying. The reports of the sity undertakers will disclose to the inquirer a fearful bill of mortality from this cause alone; nor is the gloomy record re-lieved by a comparison of results in the offserpasted trial of the various prescriptions in common pro-cice. The time-worn customs of by-group years, calomel, burning, leeching, morphine, iodine and digitalis, have in each new patient awakened fresh hopes of recovery, hopes, alas, to be blighted as were those in the hearts of patients who hoped and died while using the remedies. More effectual remedies than those which general-hy prevail are called for, and it is to this end and the belief that scientific investigation in one class of complaints will be more certain to attain success in this direction, than by occasional research and ob-servation, while the mind is divided by general prao-tice, that led to the establishment of the Ontario Pulmonary Institute in this city during the year 1881, an institution which does afford the best poe-sible treatment of this class of diseases. By the permanent establishment of such an insti-tute, invalids can at all times consult the doctor personally-being an advantage that will readily be seen and appreciated by all. Earnest and persevering investigation and fruitin experiments with different resmedial agents have within a few years been made by men of strinent scientific attainments, which have been attended with the most gratifying success. By careful re-search in the paths opened by these pioneers, and by independent investigation through our system of practice, we have obtamed results well worthy of public attention, and our ourse of practice has elicited the attention of many of the best physicians of the day, as well as drawn upon us the gratifued death. of very many persons rescued from disease and death. The mode of administering remedies by the sys-tem of inhalation is acknowledged by all to be the most reasonable of any ver adopted, and most satis-factory in its results. Invalids who have failed to derive benefit from medical treatment, and who have made fruitless trials of nostrums of the day, will find in this prac-tice abundant reason for hope, as numerons in-stances have been reported even of the entire resto-mition to health of parties in this city and vicinity who have made thorough trial of the remedies, al-though they had previously been pronounced in an advanced stage of consumption. Its particular efficiency is especially notices ble in throat diseases, which, if neglected, end in consump-tion, nasal catarrh, bronchitis, asthma, and diseases of the heart. To this class of cases Dr. Williams gives his individual stention. Those who desire to consult me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for an examination, but if impossible to visit the office personally, may write for "List of Questions" and a copy of my" Medical Treatise," both of which will be sent free of charge. Poultry Thieves at Work.

William Crocker of De Grassi street, Riverside, is the owner of some valuable imported fowls. About 2.45 on Tuesday morning he was awakened with the noise some parties made in endeavoring to force an entrance into his hennery. Fancying that all was not well he proceeded to the hennery with gun in hand. In the dim light he perceived the forms of two men, at whom he aimed. Fortunately for the in-truders the cap held fire and did not ignite the charge, and on his return to the scene with a fresh charge of powder the burglars
