Export Information Series Volume III

1993 Edition

External Affairs and International Trade Canada, the federal department responsible for international trade, operates and maintains the Trade Commissioner Service. There are over 518 officers in some 125 cities abroad and 13 cities in Canada. The primary responsibility of the Trade Commissioner is to assist Canadian companies starting or expanding export sales in international markets.

Trade Information

External Affairs and International Trade Canada's bi-monthly trade newsletter, CanadExport, with a national circulation of 38,500, keeps readers informed of international market opportunities. It also provides information on new projects offering export potential, changes in government programs and services that assist Canadian exporters, forthcoming events (e.g. trade fairs, missions and conferences), and export "success" stories and winning strategies.

To obtain copies of our trade publications, such as market guides, export newsletter, trade reports, please contact InfoEx (MKI), External Affairs and International Trade Canada, 125 Sussex Drive, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0G2. Call toll-free: 1-800-267-8376 (Ottawa area: 944-4000). Fax: (613) 996-9709.

InfoEx also provides export assistance counselling to potential or existing exporters. If you need a point of contact or general export guidance, use our toll-free telephone number.

Centennial of the Canadian Trade Commissioner Service • 1894-1994

In 1894 John Short Larke became Canada's first professional trade commissioner when he was appointed by the Government of Canada to open an office in Sydney, Australia. Larke had previously been owner of a newspaper, the Oshawa Vindicator, and of the Oshawa Stove Company. After his appointment he toured a number of Canadian business centres, where he attended fairs and interviewed members of boards of trade. In December 1894 he embarked for Sydney, arriving there in January.

Since Larke's time, our trade officers have worked in many countries the world over, searching out opportunities for Canadian business. Today, there are some 518 located inside and outside Canada, linking Canadian business and industry with potential customers throughout the world.

The thrust of the centennial will be to look ahead to examine the evolving role of the Trade Commissioner Service in supporting Canada's international business development into the next century. A number of interesting events are being planned, and the participation of the Canadian and international business community will be welcomed.

Overview of Services

This Directory of the Canadian Trade Commissioner Service lists External Affairs and International Trade Canada's Trade Commissioners responsible for promoting Canadian trade, investment and tourism. Contacts in Canada and around the world are provided.

If you are new to exporting, or want to find out about trade services offered by EAITC, your first step is to contact the Trade Commissioner in the International Trade Centre nearest you. There is a centre or centres in each of the 10 provinces.

If you are interested in international market prospects for a specific product or service, contact the Trade Commissioner in our International Business Development Divisions in Ottawa.

If you are experiencing problems resulting from market access barriers, unfair competition or similar matters including product standards, technical regulations, testing and certification requirements, address your questions to the appropriate Trade Policy Division in Ottawa.

For information on a specific country or geographic region, contact the Trade Commissioners in our Geographic Trade Divisions in Ottawa.

When you have identified markets of interest, you may then wish to contact the Trade Commissioners at our Trade Missions Abroad.

External Affairs and International Trade Canada and Industry and Science Canada have established International Trade Centres (ITCs) across Canada to assist first-time and experienced Canadian exporters by providing export publications, recruiting participants for trade fairs and missions, providing a wide range of services to companies seeking export counselling, technology transfer or joint ventures with foreign investors. For further information contact the ITC nearest you. Export counselling is also available through External Affairs and International Trade Canada's InfoEx office in Ottawa which can be reached tollfree at 1-800-267-8376; Ottawa area: (613) 944-4000; Fax: (613) 996-9709.

Trade Commissioner Service Abroad

Trade Commissioner Service Abroad

How Trade Commissioners Assist Exporters

Trade Commissioners abroad can help you:

- promote your company to local customers:
- advise on marketing channels;
- recommend appropriate trade fairs;
- identify suitable foreign firms to act as your agent;
- help you find credit and business information on potential foreign partners;
- intercede to help solve problems with duties, taxes or foreign exchange;
- advise you on a country's current trade, business and financial environment and practices; and
- advise and assist you with foreign joint ventures and licensing.

It is recommended that you develop a systematic marketing plan and contact only those Trade Commissioners in your target market area. For help in developing your plan, contact your nearest International Trade Centre.

Informing the Trade Commissioner

The first time you contact a particular Trade Commissioner abroad, please provide the following information:

- your name and title;
- full name and address of your company;
- your telephone number (with area code);
- your telex number (with answerback);
- your facsimile number;
- precise description of your product(s) or service(s) and their use (avoid abbreviations):
- your marketing plan: direct sales, agency agreements, manufacture under licence;
- · target markets;
- export experience Where else are you exporting?;
- five copies of your product or service literature preferably in colour and with a multilingual copy (as a follow-up to your telex or as an inclusion in your letter);
- a detailed description of the assistance you need;
- a summary of your discussions, and the results, with Trade Commissioners in Canada; and
- names and addresses of agents you have appointed.

Trade Missions Abroad

The Trade Commissioner Service of External Affairs and International Trade Canada currently has over 125 offices around the world. When your company has identified export markets of interest, contact the commercial section of the appropriate mission. In addition, the head of mission is ready to assist on matters you prefer to bring to his or her attention.

NOTE: All time differences are based on Eastern Standard Time (E.S.T.). Canada observes Daylight Savings Time from the first Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October. Consideration should be given to this Canadian custom when placing overseas calls. Not all provinces in Canada nor all countries in the world observe Daylight Savings Time.

Working with Your Trade Commissioner

Trade Commissioners in Canadian embassies and consulates overseas and International Trade Centres (ITCs) in Canada can provide Canadian companies with valuable information and advice to help them market their products abroad.

These pages suggest ways of utilizing their assistance most effectively in locating and developing markets for your goods and services. They also suggest ways to avoid problems that Trade Commissioners sometimes encounter in working with Canadian companies.

What the Trade Commissioner Needs to Know About Your Company

Put yourself in the place of a Trade Commissioner in a foreign country making a telephone call to introduce your company's products to a local distributor. He/she has to make a "sales pitch" that highlights what your company does. He/she has to describe your products, explain your reputation in the world marketplace, list your key reference accounts and present the opportunity of working with your company in a favourable light. The more effective this presentation, the greater direct benefit to you in terms of sales and the quality of your agency agreements.

The check list at the end contains a list of the basic information required by the Trade Commissioner if an effective "sales pitch" is to be made on your behalf. You are encouraged to send this information to each of the posts you are approaching for assistance.

Tackle One Marketplace At A Time

Many Canadian companies take advantage of modern office technologies to send an export enquiry to every one of the more than 120 Canadian Trade Commissioners around the world. There is no way that an effective follow-up can be made to all the leads or contacts that these Trade Commissioners will discover. Consequently, this method wastes the time of the company as well as that of the Trade Commissioners. The inability to respond will destroy the credibility of the company in the minds of potential distributors.

Develop one market at a time and wait until you have established an effective distribution process in that area before tackling the next one. For most Canadian companies new to exporting, the nearby United States is the least alien market, and that is usually a good place to start. Circumstances do differ, however, and sometimes other markets hold greater initial potential. Trade Commissioners and the International Trade Centres can help you determine the best market for your initial entry. External Affairs and International Trade Canada (EAITC) has a number of programs which can assist you in developing your international markets. Ask your International Trade Centre about the NEXOS and NEBS programs.

Send Product Literature

The Trade Commissioner will need a small quantity of product literature (five copies) for initial market research. When the time comes for you to visit the region and the Trade Commissioner is setting up appointments on your behalf, an even larger number of copies will be required.

Although English is the language most widely used for commercial purposes, it is at best the second language in many countries. If possible, your product literature and promotional material should be translated into the major language of the target market area. The translation may be done locally and, given sufficient lead time, the appropriate Trade Commissioner can advise you on how to arrange this.

Anticipate Barriers To Sales And Overcome Them

- A local price list should be available for your product. It is easier for the customer to assess interest if you have done all the cost calculations.
- Obtain a customs ruling on your product before you visit the region.
- Include press reviews or other references in your support material to help customers assess the marketability of your products quickly.

Trade Commissioner Service

 Make sure your product meets local standards for power, safety, labelling, etc.

Faster Communication For Faster Response

Communication by mail is often time-consuming. For example, it takes up to 14 days for an air-mail letter to reach Australia. Thus, if four letters are exchanged, two to three months will pass before anything substantive may occur. That is why it is essential to include all necessary information in the first contact. Also, include fax, telephone, or telex or electronic mail numbers, etc., on all letters, letterhead, brochures and business cards.

Follow-up must always be by the most rapid means possible. This means telephone or fax. Most business contacts, whether agents, distributors or customers, measure professionalism or seriousness in servicing the market by the promptness of a reply to their response or inquiry. Fax, telephone and air courier are important aids to creating the right impression.

Take Advantage Of Free Information

Major management consulting firms and major Canadian banks publish series of free booklets on "How to do Business in....". EAITC also issues many publications that will help you to understand various markets. Call External Affairs InfoEx at 1-800-267-8376.

Your Existing Contacts

Many companies active in the international market send representatives to overseas trade shows or receive inquiries from abroad. If you have made any overseas contacts, please refer to them in your request for assistance to a Trade Commissioner. Even if such contacts are no longer active, they may provide the Trade Commissioner with a starting point.

Keep Posts Informed Of Developments

If Trade Commissioners are to help coordinate your marketing efforts in a professional way, it is helpful for them to have copies of your correspondence with local agents. Keep Trade Commissioners informed of successful (or unsuccessful) endeavours, and send them the details of any distribution systems that have been established. This will enable them to keep their agents lists up to date, to refer potential business to your distributors, to obtain feedback on the performance of distributors, to refer other noncompeting Canadian companies to them and, thus, to associate that agent more closely with Canadian interests.

Reputation

Canada's Trade Commissioners are also Canada's official representatives abroad and often have good access to senior officials in local government and business. Companies working abroad, in that they are also representing the Canadian business community, have an obligation to protect the reputation of Canada and its representatives. Please be on time for all appointments, and feel free to ask for assistance in cancelling any appointments you cannot keep.

Following completion of a call that was arranged by a post, it is helpful to express your thanks to the potential distributor. This letter is more than courtesy and will serve to summarize the discussions. A copy to the Trade Commissioner will allow him or her to evaluate the contact and the results obtained.

A Few Words of Advice

To do business, you must convince the customer that yours is a credible and reliable company. Credibility and reliability can be achieved through presence, i.e. meticulous attention to acknowledging correspondence or visiting your client. As part of your overseas trip to other destinations, tell your agent that you will be dropping in to say hello, this costs little and will enhance your credibility, reassure the distributor, and enable you both to address small problems before they get out of hand.

Remember that the Trade Commissioner is your friend, confidant and advisor. All company or market information shared with him or her is commercially confidential.

Exporter's Check List for Briefing Information for Overseas Trade Posts

Note: This CHECK LIST is designed to help summarize the information that an exporting company must furnish to an overseas Trade Commissioner in order to enlist assistance in setting up overseas markets. The list, when completed and sent to the Canadian trade post in the target area, will constitute a briefing document for the Trade Commissioner.

1992 Edition

External Affairs and International Trade Canada, the federal department responsible for international trade, operates and maintains the Trade Commissioner Service. There are over 818 officers in some 120 cities abroad and 13 cities in Canada. The primary responsibility of the Trade Commissioner is to assist Canadian companies starting or expanding export sales in international markets.

Overview of Services

This Directory of the Canadian Trade Commissioner Service lists External Affairs and International Trade Canada's Trade Commissioners responsible for promoting Canadian trade, investment and tourism. Contacts in Canada and around the world are provided.

If you are new to exporting, or want to find out about trade services offered by EAITC, your first step is to contact the Trade Commissioner in the International Trade Centre nearest you. There is a centre or centres in each of the 10 provinces.

If you are interested in international market prospects for a specific product or service, contact the Trade Commissioner in our Sectoral Trade Divisions in Ottawa.

If you are experiencing problems resulting from market access barriers, unfair competition or similar matters including product standards, technical regulations, testing and certification requirements, address your questions to the appropriate Trade Policy Division in Ottawa.

For information on a specific country or geographic region, contact the Trade Commissioners in our Geographic Trade Divisions in Ottawa.

When you have identified markets of interest, you may then wish to contact the Trade Commissioners at our Trade Missions Abroad.

Sectoral Trade Divisions

External Affairs and International Trade Canada has established Sectoral Trade Divisions which offer information and advice on worldwide marketing on a sectoral basis. Direct your questions about specific products or services to the Trade Commissioners in these divisions. In addition, there are divisions with responsibility for specific programs or activities. They are located at 125 Sussex Drive, Ottawa, Ontario, K1A 0G2, Telex: 053-3745; Fax: (613) 952-3907. In your correspondence identify the division (with acronym) that is of interest to you.

Trade Commissioner Service Abroad

How Trade Commissioners Assist Exporters

Trade Commissioners abroad can help you:

- promote your company to local customers;
- advise on marketing channels;
- recommend appropriate trade fairs;
- identify suitable foreign firms to act as your agent;
- help you find credit and business information on potential foreign partners;
- intercede to help solve problems with duties, taxes or foreign exchange;
- advise you on a country's current trade, business and financial environment and practices; and
- advise and assist you with foreign joint ventures and licensing.

It is recommended that you develop a systematic marketing plan and contact only those Trade Commissioners in your target market area. For help in developing your plan, contact your nearest International Trade Centre.

Trade Missions Abroad

The Trade Commissioner Service of External Affairs and International Trade Canada currently has over 120 offices around the world. When your company has identified export markets of interest, contact the commercial section of the appropriate mission. In addition, the head of mission is ready to assist on matters you prefer to bring to his or her attention.

Missions which do not have a resident Trade Commissioner are indicated with an asterisk and the location of the trade mission for the area is given. Where appropriate, territorial cross-references are also provided.

For further information on building an effective relationship with your Trade Commissioner, see Working with Your Canadian Trade Commissioner on page 51.

Working with Your Canadian Trade Commissioner

Trade Commissioners in Canadian embassies and consulates overseas and International Trade Centres (ITCs) in Canada can provide Canadian companies with valuable information and advice to help them market their products abroad.

These pages suggest ways of utilizing their assistance most effectively in locating and developing markets for your goods and services. They also suggest ways to avoid problems that Trade Commissioners sometimes encounter in working with Canadian companies.

What the Trade Commissioner Needs to Know About Your Company

Put yourself in the place of a Trade Commissioner in a foreign country making a telephone call to introduce your company's products to a local distributor. He/she has to make a "sales pitch" that highlights what your company does. He/she has to describe your products, explain your reputation in the world marketplace, list your key reference accounts and present the opportunity of working with your company in a favourable light. The more effective this presentation, the greater direct benefit to you in terms of sales and the quality of your agency agreements.

The check list at the end contains a list of the basic information required by the Trade Commissioner if an effective "sales pitch" is to be made on your behalf. You are encouraged to send this information to each of the posts you are approaching for assistance.

Tackle One Marketplace At A Time

Many Canadian companies take advantage of modern office technologies to send an export enquiry to every one of the more than 120 Canadian Trade Commissioners around the world. There is no way that an effective follow-up can be made to all the leads or contacts that these Trade Commissioners will discover. Consequently, this method wastes the time of the company as well as that of the Trade Commissioners. The inability to respond will destroy the credibility of the company in the minds of potential distributors.

Develop one market at a time and wait until you have established an effective distribution process in that area before tackling the next one. For most Canadian companies new to exporting, the nearby United States is the least alien market, and that is usually a good place to start. Circumstances do differ, however, and sometimes other markets hold greater initial potential. Trade Commissioners and the International Trade Centres can help you determine the best market for your initial entry. External Affairs and International Trade Canada (EAITC) has a number of programs which can assist you in developing your international markets. Ask your International Trade Centre about the NEXUS and NEBS programs.

Send Product Literature

The Trade Commissioner will need a small quantity of product literature (five copies) for initial market research. When the time comes for you to visit the region and the Trade Commissioner is setting up appointments on your behalf, an even larger number of copies will be required.

Although English is the language most widely used for commercial purposes, it is at best the second language in many countries. If possible, your product literature and promotional material should be translated into the major language of the target market area. The translation may be done locally and, given sufficient lead time, the appropriate Trade Commissioner can advise you on how to arrange this.

Anticipate Barriers To Sales And Overcome Them

- A local price list should be available for your product. It is easier for the customer to assess interest if you have done all the cost calculations.
- Obtain a customs ruling on your product before you visit the region.
- Include press reviews or other references in your support material to help customers assess the marketability of your products quickly.
- Make sure your product meets local standards for power, safety, labelling, etc.

Faster Communication For Faster Response

Communication by mail is often time-consuming. For example, it takes up to 14 days for an air-mail letter to reach Australia. Thus, if four letters are exchanged, two to three months will pass before anything substantive may occur. That is why it is essential to include all necessary information in the first contact. Also, include fax, telephone, or telex or electronic mail numbers, etc., on all letters, letterhead, brochures and business cards.

Follow-up must always be by the most rapid means possible. This means telephone or fax. Most business contacts, whether agents, distributors or customers, measure professionalism or seriousness in servicing the market by the promptness of a reply to their response or inquiry. Fax, telephone and air courier are important aids to creating the right impression.

Take Advantage Of Free Information

Major management consulting firms and major Canadian banks publish series of free booklets on "How to do Business in....". EAITC also issues many publications that will help you to understand various markets. Call External Affairs Info Export at 1-800-267-8376.

Your Existing Contacts

Many companies active in the international market send representatives to overseas trade shows or receive inquiries from abroad. If you have made any overseas contacts, please refer to them in your request for assistance to a Trade Commissioner. Even if such contacts are no longer active, they may provide the Trade Commissioner with a starting point.

Keep Posts Informed Of Developments

If Trade Commissioners are to help coordinate your marketing efforts in a professional way, it is helpful for them to have copies of your correspondence with local agents. Keep Trade Commissioners informed of successful (or unsuccessful) endeavours, and send them the details of any distribution systems that have been established. This will enable them to keep their agents lists up to date, to refer potential business to your distributors, to obtain feedback on the performance of distributors, to refer other non-competing Canadian companies to them and, thus, to associate that agent more closely with Canadian interests.

Reputation

Canada's official representatives abroad often have good access to senior officials in local government and business. However, the ease of this access is dependent on the perceived professionalism of our Trade Commissioners. Companies working abroad, in that they are also representing the Canadian business community, have an obligation to protect the reputation of Canada and its representatives. Please be on time for all appointments, and feel free to ask for assistance in cancelling any appointments you cannot keep.

Following completion of a call that was arranged by a post, it is helpful to express your thanks to the potential distributor. This letter is more than courtesy and will serve to summarize the discussions. A copy to the Trade Commissioner will allow him or her to evaluate the contact and the results obtained.

A Few Words of Advice

All things considered, no one will do business with you unless you can convince the customer that yours is a credible and reliable company. Credibility and reliability can only be achieved through presence, i.e. meticulous attention to acknowledging correspondence or visiting your client. As part of your overseas trip to other destinations, tell your agent that you will be dropping in to say hello, this costs little and will enhance your credibility, reassure the distributor, and enable you both to address small problems before they get out of hand.

Remember that the Trade Commissioner is your friend, confidant and advisor. All company or market information shared with him or her is confidential and is shared with no one else.

Exporter's Check List for Briefing Information for Overseas Trade Posts

Note: This CHECK LIST is designed to help summarize the information that an exporting company must furnish to an overseas Trade Commissioner in order to enlist assistance in setting up overseas markets. The list, when completed and sent to the Canadian trade post in the target area, will constitute a briefing document for the Trade Commissioner.

Overview of Services

This Directory of the Canadian Trade Commissioner Service lists External Affairs and International Trade Canada's Trade Commissioners responsible for promoting Canadian trade, investment and tourism. Contacts in Canada and around the world are provided.

If you are new to exporting, or want to find out about trade services offered by EAITC, your first step is to contact the Trade Commissioner in the International Trade Centre nearest you. There is a centre or centres in each of the 10 provinces.

If you are interested in international market prospects for a specific product or service, contact the Trade Commissioner in our Sectoral Trade Divisions in Ottawa.

If you are experiencing problems resulting from market access barriers, unfair competition or similar matters including product standards, technical regulations, testing and certification requirements, address your questions to the appropriate Trade Policy Division in Ottawa.

For information on a specific country or geographic region, contact the Trade Commissioners in our Geographic Trade Divisions in Ottawa.

When you have identified markets of interest, you may then wish to contact the Trade Commissioners at our Trade Missions Abroad.

International Trade Centres

External Affairs and International Trade Canada and Industry, Science and Technology Canada have established International Trade Centres (ITCs) across Canada to assist first-time and experienced Canadian exporters by providing export publications, recruiting participants for trade fairs and missions, providing a wide range of services to companies seeking export counselling, technology transfer or joint ventures with foreign investors. For further information contact the ITC nearest you. Export counselling is also available through External Affairs and International Trade Canada's InfoExport office in Ottawa which can be reached tollfree at 1-800-267-8376; Ottawa area: (613) 993-6435; Fax: (613) 996-9709.

Trade Commissioner Service Abroad

How Trade Commissioners Assist Exporters

Trade Commissioners abroad can help you:

- promote your company to local customers;
- advise on marketing channels;
- recommend appropriate trade fairs;
- identify suitable foreign firms to act as your agent;
- help you find credit and business information on potential foreign partners;
- intercede to help solve problems with duties, taxes or foreign exchange;
- advise you on a country's current trade, business and financial environment and practices; and
- advise and assist you with foreign joint ventures and licensing.

It is recommended that you develop a systematic marketing plan and contact only those Trade Commissioners in your target market area. For help in developing your plan, contact your nearest International Trade Centre.

Trade Missions Abroad

The Trade Commissioner Service of External Affairs and International Trade Canada currently has over 120 offices around the world. When your company has identified export markets of interest, contact the commercial section of the appropriate mission. In addition, the head of mission is ready to assist on matters you prefer to bring to his or her attention.

Missions which do not have a resident Trade Commissioner are indicated with an asterisk and the location of the trade mission for the area is given. Where appropriate, territorial cross-references are also provided.

NOTE: All time differences are based on Eastern Standard Time (E.S.T.). Canada observes Daylight Savings Time from the first Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October. Consideration should be given to this Canadian custom when placing overseas calls.

Not all provinces in Canada nor all countries in the world observe Daylight Savings Time.

Working with Your Canadian Trade Commissioner

Trade Commissioners in Canadian embassies and consulates overseas and International Trade Centres (ITCs) in Canada can provide Canadian companies with valuable information and advice to help them market their products abroad.

These pages suggest ways of utilizing their assistance most effectively in locating and developing markets for your goods and services. They also suggest ways to avoid problems that Trade Commissioners sometimes encounter in working with Canadian companies.

What the Trade Commissioner Needs to Know About Your Company

Put yourself in the place of a Trade Commissioner in a foreign country making a telephone call to introduce your company's products to a local distributor. He/she has to make a "sales pitch" that highlights what your company does. He/she has to describe your products, explain your reputation in the world marketplace, list your key reference accounts and present the opportunity of working with your company in a favourable light. The more effective this presentation, the greater direct benefit to you in terms of sales and the quality of your agency agreements.

The check list at the end contains a list of the basic information required by the Trade Commissioner if an effective "sales pitch" is to be made on your behalf. You are encouraged to send this information to each of the posts you are approaching for assistance.

Tackle One Marketplace At A Time

Many Canadian companies take advantage of modern office technologies to send an export enquiry to every one of the more than 120 Canadian Trade Commissioners around the world. There is no way that an effective follow-up can be made to all the leads or contacts that these Trade Commissioners will discover. Consequently, this method wastes the time of the company as well as that of the Trade Commissioners. The inability to respond will destroy the credibility of the company in the minds of potential distributors.

Develop one market at a time and wait until you have established an effective distribution process in that area before tackling the next one. For most Canadian companies new to exporting, the nearby United States is the least alien market, and that is usually a good place to start. Circumstances do differ, however, and sometimes other markets hold greater initial potential. Trade Commissioners and the International Trade Centres can help you determine the best market for your initial entry. External Affairs and International Trade Canada (EAITC) has a number of programs which can assist you in developing your international markets. Ask your International Trade Centre about the NEXUS and NEBS programs.

Send Product Literature

The Trade Commissioner will need a small quantity of product literature (five copies) for initial market research. When the time comes for you to visit the region and the Trade Commissioner is setting up appointments on your behalf, an even larger number of copies will be required.

Although English is the language most widely used for commercial purposes, it is at best the second language in many countries. If possible, your product literature and promotional material should be translated into the major language of the target market area. The translation may be done locally and, given sufficient lead time, the appropriate Trade Commissioner can advise you on how to arrange this.

Anticipate Barriers To Sales And Overcome Them

- A local price list should be available for your product. It is easier for the customer to assess interest if you have done all the cost calculations.
- Obtain a customs ruling on your product before you visit the region.
- Include press reviews or other references in your support material to help customers assess the marketability of your products quickly.
- Make sure your product meets local standards for power, safety, labelling, etc.

Faster Communication For Faster Response

Communication by mail is often time-consuming. For example, it takes up to 14 days for an air-mail letter to reach Australia. Thus, if four letters are exchanged, two to three months will pass before anything substantive may occur. That is why it is essential to include all necessary information in the first contact. Also, include fax, telephone, or telex or electronic mail numbers, etc., on all letters, letterhead, brochures and business cards.

Follow-up must always be by the most rapid means possible. This means telephone or fax. Most business contacts, whether agents, distributors or customers, measure professionalism or seriousness in servicing the market by the promptness of a reply to their response or inquiry. Fax, telephone and air courier are important aids to creating the right impression.

Take Advantage Of Free Information

Major management consulting firms and major Canadian banks publish series of free booklets on "How to do Business in....". EAITC also issues many publications that will help you to understand various markets. Call External Affairs Info Export at 1-800-267-8376.

Your Existing Contacts

Many companies active in the international market send representatives to overseas trade shows or receive inquiries from abroad. If you have made any overseas contacts, please refer to them in your request for assistance to a Trade Commissioner. Even if such contacts are no longer active, they may provide the Trade Commissioner with a starting point.

Keep Posts Informed Of Developments

If Trade Commissioners are to help coordinate your marketing efforts in a professional way, it is helpful for them to have copies of your correspondence with local agents. Keep Trade Commissioners informed of successful (or unsuccessful) endeavours, and send them the details of any distribution systems that have been established. This will enable them to keep their agents lists up to date, to refer potential business to your distributors, to obtain feedback on the performance of distributors, to refer other noncompeting Canadian companies to them and, thus, to associate that agent more closely with Canadian interests.

Reputation

Canada's official representatives abroad often have good access to senior officials in local government and business. However, the ease of this access is dependent on the perceived professionalism of our Trade Commissioners. Companies working abroad, in that they are also representing the Canadian business community, have an obligation to protect the reputation of Canada and its representatives. Please be on time for all appointments, and feel free to ask for assistance in cancelling any appointments you cannot keep.

Following completion of a call that was arranged by a post, it is helpful to express your thanks to the potential distributor. This letter is more than courtesy and will serve to summarize the discussions. A copy to the Trade Commissioner will allow him or her to evaluate the contact and the results obtained.

A Few Words of Advice

All things considered, no one will do business with you unless you can convince the customer that yours is a credible and reliable company. Credibility and reliability can only be achieved through presence, i.e. meticulous attention to acknowledging correspondence or visiting your client. As part of your overseas trip to other destinations, tell your agent that you will be dropping in to say hello, this costs little and will enhance your credibility, reassure the distributor, and enable you both to address small problems before they get out of hand.

Remember that the Trade Commissioner is your friend, confidant and advisor. All company or market information shared with him or her is confidential and is shared with no one else.

Exporter's Check List for Briefing Information for Overseas Trade Posts

Note: This CHECK LIST is designed to help summarize the information that an exporting company must furnish to an overseas Trade Commissioner in order to enlist assistance in setting up overseas markets. The list, when completed and sent to the Canadian trade post in the target area, will constitute a briefing document for the Trade Commissioner.

TRADE COMMISSIONER SERVICE ABROAD

How Trade Commissioners Assist Exporters Trade Commissioners abroad can help you: promote your company to local

October 15, 1990

customers:

CANADEXPORT

• advise on marketing channels:

• recommend appropriate trade fairs;

 identify suitable foreign firms to act as your agent:

· help you find credit and business information on potential foreign partners:

• intercede to help solve problems with duties, taxes or foreign exchange:

· advise you on a country's current trade, business and financial environment and practices; and

• advise and assist you with foreign joint ventures and licensing.

It is recommended that you develop a systematic marketing plan and contact only those Trade Commissioners in your target market area.

For help in developing your plan, contact your nearest International Trade Centre.

Informing the Trade Commissioner

The first time you contact a particular Trade Commissioner abroad, please provide the following information:

• your name and title;

• full name and address of your com-

 your telephone number (with area code):

• your telex number (with answer-

• your facsimile number;

• precise description of your product(s) or service(s) and their use (avoid abbreviations);

• your marketing plan: direct sales, agency agreements, manufacture under licence, etc.:

target markets;

• export experience - Where else are you exporting?;

• five copies of your product or service literature, preferably in colour and with a multilingual copy (as a followup to your telex or as an inclusion in your letter);

• a detailed description of the assistance you need;

• a summary of your discussions, and the results, with Trade Commissioners in Canada; and

• names and addresses of agents you have appointed.

Trade Missions Abroad

The Trade Commissioner Service of External Affairs and International Trade Canada currently has over 120 offices around the world. When you have identified export markets of interest, contact the commercial section of the appropriate mission. In addition, the head of mission is ready to assist on matters you prefer to bring to his or her attention.

Missions which do not have a resident Trade Commissioner are indicated with an asterisk and the location of the trade mission for the area is given. Where appropriate, territorial cross-references are also provided.

NOTE: All time differences are based on Eastern Standard Time (E.S.T.). Canada observes Daylight Savings Time from the first Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October. Consideration should be given to this Canadian custom when placing overseas calls. Not all provinces in Canada nor all countries observe Daylight Savings Time.

DIRECTORY OF THE CANADIAN TRADE COMMISSIONER SERVICE

Directory of the Canadian Trade Commissioner Service

External Affairs and International Trade Canada, the federal department responsible for international trade, operates and maintains the Trade Commissioner Service. There are over 818 officers in some 120 cities abroad and 12 cities in Canada. The primary responsibility of the Trade Commissioner is to assist Canadian companies starting or expanding export sales in international markets.

.INTRODUCTION_

Overview of Services

This Directory of the Canadian Trade Commissioner Service lists External Affairs and International Trade Canada's Trade Commissioners responsible for promoting Canadian trade, investment and tourism. Contacts in Canada and around the world are provided.

If you are new to exporting, or want to find out about trade services offered by EAITC, your first step is to contact the Trade Commissioner in the International Trade Centre nearest you. There is a centre in each of the 10 provinces.

If you are interested in international market prospects for a specific product or service, contact the Trade Commissioner in our Sectoral Trade Divisions in Ottawa.

For information on a specific country or geographic region, contact the Trade Commissioners in our Geographic Trade Divisions in Ottawa.

When you have identified markets of interest to your company, you may then wish to contact the Trade Commissioners at our Trade Missions Abroad.

Trade Information

External Affairs and International Trade Canada's bi-monthly trade newsletter, CanadExport, with a national circulation of 56 000, keeps readers informed of calls for tender and other international market opportunities. It also provides information on new projects offering export potential, changes in government programs and services to assist Canadian exporters, forthcoming events (e.g., trade fairs, missions and conferences), and export "success" stories and winning strategies.

To obtain copies of our trade publications, such as market guides, export newsletter, trade reports, etc., please contact Info Export (BTCE), External Affairs and International Trade Canada, 125 Sussex Drive, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0G2. Call toll-free: 1-800-267-8376; Ottawa callers: 993-6435.

Info Export also provides export assistance counselling to potential or existing exporters. If you need a point of contact or general export guidance, use our toll-free telephone number.

How Trade Commissioners Assist Exporters

Trade Commissioners abroad can help you:

- promote your company to local customers;
- · advise on marketing channels;
- recommend appropriate trade fairs;
- identify suitable foreign firms to act as your agent;
- help you find credit and business information on potential foreign partners;
- intercede to help solve problems with duties, taxes or foreign exchange;
- advise you on a country's current trade, business and financial environment and practices;
- advise and assist you with foreign joint ventures and licensing.

It is recommended that you develop a systematic marketing plan and contact only those Trade Commissioners in your target market area. For help in developing your plan, contact your nearest International Trade Centre.

Informing the Trade Commissioner

The first time you contact a particular Trade Commissioner abroad, please provide the following information:

- · your name and title;
- full name and address of your company;
- · your telephone number with area code;
- your telex number with answerback;
- your facsimile number;
- precise description of your product(s) or service(s) and their use (avoid abbreviations)
- your marketing plan: direct sales, agency agreements, manufacture under licence, etc.;
- · target markets;
- export experience Where else are you exporting?;
- five copies of your product or service literature preferably in colour and with a multilingual copy (as a follow-up to your telex or as an inclusion in your letter);
- a detailed description of the assistance you need;
- a summary of your discussions, and the results, with Trade Commissioners in Canada:
- names and addresses of agents you have appointed.

Trade Missions Abroad

The Trade Commissioner Service of External Affairs and International Trade Canada currently has over 120 offices around the world. When your company has identified export markets of interest, contact the commercial section of the appropriate mission. In addition, the head of mission is ready to assist on matters you prefer to bring to his or her attention.

Missions which do not have a resident Trade Commissioner are indicated with an asterisk and the location of the trade mission for the area is given. Where appropriate, territorial cross-references are also provided.

NOTE: All time differences are based on Eastern Standard Time (E.S.T.), Canada observes Daylight Savings Time from the first Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October. Consideration should be given to this Canadian custom when placing overseas calls. Not all provinces in Canada nor all countries in the world observe Daylight Savings Time.

Introduction

This Directory of the Canadian Trade Commissioner Service lists Department of External Affairs Trade Commissioners responsible for promoting Canadian trade, investment and tourism. Contacts in Canada and around the world are provided.

If you are new to exporting, your first step is to contact the Trade Commissioner in the International Trade Centre nearest you. There is a centre in each of the 10 provinces.

If you are interested in market prospects for a specific product or service, contact the Trade Commissioners in our Sector Trade Divisions in Ottawa.

For information on a specific region or country, contact the Trade Commissoners in our Geographic Trade Divisions in Ottawa.

When you have identified markets of interest to your company, you may then wish to contact the Trade Commissioners at our Trade Missions Abroad.

How Trade Commissioners Assist Exporters

Trade Commissioners abroad can help you:

- identify market opportunities for your product(s) or service(s);
- promote your company to local customers:
- recommend appropriate technical experts to help you negotiate a deal;
- help you find good translators and interpreters;
- help you select effective agents;
- keep in touch with your agents and encourage them;
- advise you on situations and circumstances affecting travel to and within a country.

It is recommended that you develop a systematic marketing plan and contact only those Trade Commissioners in your target market area.

Informing the Trade Commissioner

The first time you contact a particular Trade Commissioner abroad, please provide the following information:

- your name and title;
- · full name and address of your company;
- your telephone number with area code;
- your telex number with answerback;
- vour facsimile number;
- precise description of your product(s) or service(s) and their use (avoid abbreviations)
- your marketing plan: direct sales, agency agreements, manufacture under licence, etc.;
- target markets:
- export experience Where else are you exporting?:
- five copies of your product or service literature preferably in colour and with a multilingual copy (as a follow-up to your telex or as an inclusion in your letter);
- a detailed description of the assistance you need;
- a summary of your discussions, and the results, with Trade Commissioners in Canada;
- names and addresses of agents you have appointed.

Trade Missions Abroad

The Trade Commissioner Service of the Department of External Affairs currently has 115 offices around the world. When your company has identified export markets of interest, contact the commercial section of the appropriate mission. In addition, the head of mission is ready to assist on matters you prefer to bring to his or her attention.

Missions which do not have a resident Trade Commissioner are indicated with an asterisk and the location of the trade mission for the area is given. Where appropriate, territorial cross-references are also provided.

NOTE: All time differences are based on Eastern Standard Time (E.S.T.). Canada observes Daylight Savings Time from the first Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October. Consideration should be given to this Canadian custom when placing overseas calls. Not all provinces in Canada nor all countries in the world observe Daylight Savings Time.

DIRECTORY OF THE CANADIAN TRADE COMMISSIONER SERVICE

Canada's Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade operates and maintains the Trade Commissioner Service. There are over 600 trade officers in some 125 cities abroad and 13 cities in Canada. The primary responsibility of the Trade Commissioner is to assist Canadian companies starting or expanding export sales in international markets.

Trade Information

The Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade's bi-monthly trade newsletter, CanadExport, with a national circulation of 38,500, keeps readers informed of international market opportunities. It also provides information on new projects offering export potential, changes in government programs and services that assist Canadian exporters, forthcoming events (e.g. trade fairs, missions and conferences), and export "success" stories and winning strategies.

InfoCentre

The department's InfoCentre (formerly InfoEx) is an information, reference and consultation service for Canadian exporters, companies interested in international markets and anyone interested in Canadian foreign policy. If you need a point of contact or general export guidance, use our toll-free telephone number.

To obtain copies of our trade publications, such as market guides, export newsletter, trade reports, please contact the InfoCentre (SKI), Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade, 125 Sussex Drive, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0G2. Call toll-free: 1-800-267-8376 (Ottawa area: 944-4000). Fax: (613) 996-9709.

The InfoCentre now has a facsimile service, FaxLink, accessible 24-hours-a-day: (613) 944-4500. The telephone attached to your facsimile must be used.

WIN Exports

Make sure you register in the WIN Exports database which will showcase your company's capabilities to foreign buyers. To register, fax your request on your company letterhead to 1-800-667-3802 or (613) 944-1078.

International Financial Institutions

Canada is a member of the six established multilateral development banks. These banks were formed to stimulate economic growth and social development in Third World countries. Their activities generate many important commercial opportunities for equipment and consulting services that should be of interest to Canadian companies.

The following is a list of the development banks and the mission responsible:

African Development Bank – see Côte d'Ivoire

Asian Development Bank – see Philippines

Caribbean Development Bank – see Barbados

European Bank for Reconstruction and Development – see Great Britain Inter-American Development Bank – see United States (Washington)

World Bank – see United States (Washington)

Overview of Services

This Directory lists the Trade Commissioners of the Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade, who are responsible for promoting Canadian trade, investment and tourism abroad. Contacts in Canada and around the world are provided.

If you are new to exporting, or want to find out about trade services offered by DFAIT, your first step is to contact the Trade Commissioner in the International Trade Centre nearest you. There is a centre or centres in each of the 10 provinces.

If you are interested in international market prospects for a specific product or service, contact the Trade Commissioner in our International Business Development Divisions in Ottawa.

If you are experiencing problems resulting from market access barriers, unfair competition or similar matters including product standards, technical regulations, testing and certification requirements, address your questions to the appropriate Trade Policy Division in Ottawa.

For information on a specific country or geographic region, contact the Trade Commissioners in our Geographic Trade Divisions in Ottawa.

When you have identified markets of interest, you may then wish to contact the Trade Commissioners at our Trade Missions Abroad.

Working with Your Trade Commissioner

Trade Commissioners in Canadian embassies and consulates overseas and International Trade Centres (ITCs) in Canada can provide Canadian companies with valuable information and advice to help them market their products and services abroad.

These pages suggest ways of utilizing their assistance most effectively in locating and developing markets for your products and services. They also suggest ways to avoid problems that Trade Commissioners sometimes encounter in working with Canadian companies.

What the Trade Commissioner Needs to Know About Your Company

Put yourself in the place of a Trade Commissioner in a foreign country making a telephone call to introduce your company's products and/or services to a local distributor. He/she has to make a "sales pitch" that highlights what your company does. He/she has to describe your products and/or services, explain your reputation in the world marketplace, list your key reference accounts and present the opportunity of working with your company in a favourable light. The more effective this presentation, the greater direct benefit to you in terms of sales and the quality of your agency agreements.

The check list at the end contains a list of the basic information required by the Trade Commissioner if an effective "sales pitch" is to be made on your behalf. You are encouraged to send this information to each of the posts you are approaching for assistance.

Tackle One Marketplace At A Time

Many Canadian companies take advantage of modern office technologies to send an export enquiry to every one of the more than 120 Canadian Trade Commissioners around the world. There is no way that an effective follow-up can be made to all the leads or contacts that these Trade Commissioners will discover. Consequently, this method wastes the time of the company as well as that of the Trade Commissioners. The inability to respond will destroy the credibility of the company in the minds of potential distributors.

Develop one market at a time and wait until you have established an effective distribution process in that area before tackling the next one. For most Canadian companies new to exporting, the nearby United States is the least alien market, and that is usually a good place to start. Circumstances do differ, however, and sometimes other markets hold greater initial potential. Trade Commissioners and the International Trade Centres can help you determine the best market for your initial entry. The Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade (DFAIT) has a number of programs which can assist you in developing your international markets. Ask your International Trade Centre about the NEWMEX, NEXOS and NEBS programs.

Send Company Literature

The Trade Commissioner will need a small quantity of company literature (five copies) for initial market research. When the time comes for you to visit the region and the Trade Commissioner is setting up appointments on your behalf, an even larger number of copies will be required.

Although English is the language most widely used for commercial purposes, it is at best the second language in many countries. If possible, your company literature and promotional material should be translated into the major language of the target market area. The translation may be done locally and, given sufficient lead time, the appropriate Trade Commissioner can advise you on how to arrange this.

Anticipate Barriers To Sales of Products and Overcome Them

- A local price list should be available for your product. It is easier for the customer to assess interest if you have done all the cost calculations.
- Obtain a customs ruling on your product before you visit the region.
- Include press reviews or other references in your support material to help customers assess the marketability of your products quickly.
- Make sure your product meets local standards for power, safety, labelling, etc.

Faster Communication For Faster Response

Communication by mail is often time-consuming. For example, it takes up to 14 days for an air-mail letter to reach Australia. Thus, if four letters are exchanged, two to three months will pass before anything substantive may occur. That is why it is essential to include all necessary information in the first contact. Also, include fax, telephone, or telex or electronic mail numbers, etc., on all letters, letterhead, brochures and business cards.

Follow-up must always be by the most rapid means possible. This means telephone or fax. Most business contacts, whether agents, distributors or customers, measure professionalism or seriousness in servicing the market by the promptness of a reply to their response or inquiry. Fax, telephone and air courier are important aids to creating the right impression.

Take Advantage Of Free Information

Major management consulting firms and major Canadian banks publish series of free booklets on 'How to do Business in...'. DFAIT also issues many publications that will help you to understand various markets. Call the department's InfoCentre at 1-800-267-8376.

Your Existing Contacts

Many companies active in the international market send representatives to overseas trade shows or receive inquiries from abroad. If you have made any overseas contacts, please refer to them in your request for assistance to a Trade Commissioner. Even if such contacts are no longer active, they may provide the Trade Commissioner with a starting point.

Keep Posts Informed Of Developments

If Trade Commissioners are to help co-ordinate your marketing efforts in a professional way, it is helpful for them to have copies of your correspondence with local agents. Keep Trade Commissioners informed of successful (or unsuccessful) endeavours, and send them the details of any distribution systems that have been established. This will enable them to keep their agents lists up to date, to refer potential business to your distributors, to obtain feedback on the performance of distributors, to refer other noncompeting Canadian companies to them, and thus, to associate that agent more closely with Canadian interests.

Reputation

Canada's Trade Commissioners are also Canada's official representatives abroad and often have good access to senior officials in local government and business. Companies working abroad, in that they are also representing the Canadian business community, have an obligation to protect the reputation of Canada and its representatives. Please be on time for all appointments, and feel free to ask for assistance in cancelling any appointments you cannot keep.

Following completion of a call that was arranged by a post, it is helpful to express your thanks to the potential distributor. This letter is more than courtesy and will serve to summarize the discussions. A copy to the Trade Commissioner will allow him or her to evaluate the contact and the results obtained.

A Few Words of Advice

To do business, you must convince the customer that yours is a credible and reliable company. Credibility and reliability can be achieved through presence, i.e. meticulous attention to acknowledging correspondence or visiting your client.

Remember that the Trade Commissioner is your friend, confidant and advisor. All company or market information shared with him or her is commercially confidential.

Trade Commissioner Service

Exporter's Check List for Briefing Information for Overseas Trade Posts

Note: This CHECK LIST is designed to help summarize the information that an exporting company must furnish to an overseas Trade Commissioner in order to enlist assistance in setting up overseas markets. The list, when completed and sent to the Canadian trade post in the target area, will constitute a briefing document for the Trade Commissioner.

Trade Offices in Canada

International Trade Centres

The Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade and Industry Canada have established International Trade Centres (ITCs) across Canada to assist first-time and experienced Canadian exporters by providing export publications, recruiting participants for trade fairs and missions, providing a wide range of services to companies seeking export counselling, technology transfer or joint ventures with foreign investors. For further information contact the ITC nearest you.

Export counselling is also available through DFAIT's InfoCentre office in Ottawa which can be reached tollfree at 1-800-267-8376; Ottawa area: (613) 944-4000; Fax: (613) 996-9709, FaxLink: (613) 944-4500.

Trade Commissioner Service Abroad

Trade Commissioner Service Abroad

How Trade Commissioners Assist Exporters

Trade Commissioners abroad can help you:

- promote your company to local customers:
- advise on marketing channels;
- recommend appropriate trade
- identify suitable foreign firms to act as your agent;
- help you find credit and business information on potential foreign partners;
- intercede to help solve problems with duties, taxes or foreign exchange;
- advise you on a country's current trade, business and financial environment and practices; and
- · advise and assist you with foreign joint ventures and licensing.

It is recommended that you develop a systematic marketing plan and contact only those Trade Commissioners in your target market area. For help in developing your plan, contact your nearest International Trade Centre.

Informing the Trade Commissioner

The first time you contact a particular Trade Commissioner abroad, please provide the following information:

- your name and title;
- full name and address of your
- your telephone number (with area code);
- · your telex number (with answerback);
- your facsimile number;
- · precise description of your product(s) or service(s) and their use (avoid abbreviations);
- your marketing plan: direct sales, agency agreements, manufacture under licence;
- · target markets;
- export experience Where else are you exporting?;
- five copies of your product or service literature preferably in colour and with a multilingual copy (as a follow-up to your telex or as an inclusion in your letter);
- a detailed description of the assistance you need;
- a summary of your discussions, and the results, with Trade Commissioners in Canada; and
- names and addresses of agents you have appointed.

Trade Missions Abroad

The Trade Commissioner Service of the Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade currently has over 125 offices around the world. When your company has identified export markets of interest, contact the commercial section of the appropriate mission. In countries where there are no Trade Commissioners or Commercial Officers, contact the appropriate DFAIT division or the responsible mission (e.g. Angola - see Zimbabwe). In addition, the head of mission is ready to assist on matters you prefer to bring to his or her attention.

NOTE:

All time differences are based on Eastern Standard Time (E.S.T.). Canada observes Daylight Savings Time from the first Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October. Consideration should be given to this Canadian custom when placing overseas calls. Not all provinces in Canada nor all countries in the world observe Daylight Savings Time.
