RESIGNS FROM C. OF C. IN PROTEST AT DINNER TO SEGREGATIONIST

Charles Edward Russell N.A.A.C.P.
Director, Protests Honor to Sherrill

Charles Edward Russell, member of the Board of Directors of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, recently resigned from the Chamber of Commerce in Washington, D.C. because of a testimonial dinner it was planned to give Col. Clarence O. Sherrill, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds in the National Capital, who has done his utmost to promote segregation.

Mr. Russell had been invited to speak at the testimonial dinner. He is the father of the late Neval H. Thomas, President of the Washington N.A.A.C.P., together with Clyde C. McDuffee and Capt. Harry Atwood, all of Dunbar High School, and they were able to give him such particulars as to Col. Sherrill's activities that Mr. Russell decided to resign from the Chamber of Commerce in protest against the dinner to Sherrill. In his letter of resignation, Mr. Russell says in part:

"Colonel Sherrill, by his deliberate course of contemptuous injustice toward the colored people of this city, took himself out of the category of public servants that merit any applause from their fellow men. Legally, constitutionally, and from every view-point of social welfare, the colored people are entitled to every right and privilege accorded to the white. Colonel Sherrill's defiance of this fundamental truth was so flagrant and therefore so injurious to the best interests of the community that I think the Washington Chamber of Commerce might be better engaged than in showing him honor.

"I am unable to think, as I should be glad to think, that the Chamber is unaware of the intolerable insult he put upon the colored people at the dedication of the Lincoln Memorial, of the means by which he deprived colored people of a bathing beach while providing one for the white, of the gratuitous affront committed in the insolent signs that segregated colored people in Rock Creek Park, of the notoriously unfair treatment of colored people that he enforced at the cafes in the public government buildings under his control.

"Century" Magazine Lauds "New Negro"

Carl Van Doren, Literary Editor of "The Century Magazine" contributes a long review of "The New Negro," edited by Alain Locke, to the March number. In his review Mr. Van Doren says:

"If any evidence is needed, the volume is evidence that the new Negro is a civilized and accomplished being, who not only has given to the nation its most joyous dances, which may have a barbaric strain in them, and its most characteristic music, which may be only a folk-art, but who has learned to write lucid, cogent and charming prose, which is one of the unmistakable signs of an advanced civilization."

Mr. Van Doren declares that "something has been uttered to enlarge the imaginative sympathy between the races which is an absolute essential of any decent solution of the color problem in America."

Whites Join Hindus In Protest at African Law

Clippings from the London Daily Telegraph, received by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, 69 Fifth Avenue, shows that such intense feeling has been aroused by anti-Asiatic legislation of the white man's legislature in South Africa that Europeans, headed by the Bishop of Calcutta and members of the legislature joined with Hindu and Mohammedan leaders in a mass meeting of protest.

Latest reports are to the effect that the color bar bill, which would limit certain employments exclusively for whites, has been advanced in the South African legislature and that General Smuts uttered a grave warning against such legislation, describing it as a firebrand flung into a haystack. The natives all over South Africa were seething with discontent, he said, and he appealed to the Government to modify the legislation at the eleventh hour.

or can be construed only as an endorsement of his course. It is not possible for me to obtain membership in a body so oblivious to the foundation essentials of justice and equality.

"I have therefore the honor to present my check for membership dues to July 1, 1926 and my resignation herewith."

Alone Survives Three Comrades After 41 Yrs.

Chatham Boys Stood Together Since
Pact 41 Years Ago

Four Chatham boys ranging around 12 years of age, agreed to "stand together" as playmates 41 years ago. In a boyish way they carried out the idea of comradeship illustrated by the four famous characters, Athos, D'Artagnan, Porthos, and Aramis in the well known novels, "The Three Musketeers," "Twenty Years After," etc., by Alex. Dumas. Yesterday the last of the four J. W. Montgomery, chief usher of the appellate court at Osgoode and well-known Osgoode Hall official, received the news that he alone of the four survived, the third boy having passed away.

Since 1912 three of them have "crept silently to rest." Charles W. Blackwell was the first to pass away and he died in Chicago in 1912. Robert Larence died in Portland, Oregon, in December, 1924, and John Parker died on Feb. 22nd, 1926, and was buried from the residence of his brother-in-law at Windsor, Ontario.

Brantford League Members Hold Most Successful Concert

On Feb. 26th the Brantford Branch of the Canadian League for the Advancement of Colored People held a very successful concert at Fraternal Hall, Dalhousie Street. From every angle the concert was a success. One of the most pleasing features of the program was the part the children took and the talent displayed by them. However, the part played by the adults was most remarkable and showed evidence of a great amount of latent talent. J. F. Jenkins, Executive Secretary of London gave a very stirring address. He also rendered two selections from Dunbar which were received with deafening applause. Miss Rose Wilson, of Guelph was present and gave a most encouraging and inspiring address. The committee in charge recorded their appreciation of the manner in which the public, white and colored, supported their first effort.

MEMBER OF BRITISH PARLIAMENT CHALLENGES "WHITE SUPREMACY"

New York, Feb. 26—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, 69 Fifth Avenue, has received from England clippings of an article published in English newspapers by the Right Honorable Philip Snowden, Member of Parliament, challenging world domination by white people and asserting that the idea of white supremacy is having to be abandoned. He writes in part:

"The old idea of the right of a people with a higher civilization and with a more advanced economic development to dominate the rest of the world will have to be frankly abandoned. It is being abandoned. The constitution of the League of Nations is an outstanding instance of that fact. Regardless of color, race and size, nations are admitted to the League on terms of equality.

"If it were sought to maintain the domination of the white races over the colored by force the effort would be bound to fail in the long run. It is just a question of numbers. It is seldom realized that six out of seven people in the British Empire are colored.

"If the principle of 'numbers' or counting heads' is accepted as the form of government, then there is no escaping from the fact, unpalatable as it may be to the white races, that in international government the future of the world rests with the colored races."

Mr. Snowden asserts that the 'outcome of the re-adjustment depends on the attitude taken by the white races, that there need not be violence and an array of white against colored, if due respect is given to the aspirations and opportunities of all peoples. "This grave problem," concludes Mr. Snowden, "with its possible menace will be solved if it be recognized that 'all men are equal born;' and that, just as Lincoln said that no man was ever good enough to govern another without his consent, so no race has the right to condemn another race to a position of permanent inferiority."

WHY IS IT NECESSARY TO ASSIST AND ENCOURAGE EDUCATION?

We are often asked: "Why is it necessary to assist and encourage colored boys and colored girls in securing an education when all the schools, high, normal and technical schools are open to them without charge, as they are to all other children?"

To answer this question requires a series of answers. In the first place it is highly necessary that we awaken a desire for an education on the part of our children for the reason, from the very nature of things in this country, there seems to be no special reason why they SHOULD educate themselves. Because there have been some who have prepared themselves, through education, but who were forced to accept manual position or else go to the United States to find positions more in keeping with their training. This, of course, is true in many cases of other races but it is about 100 per cent. true in cases of colored youths. It is a difficult problem to have them believe that they should educate themselves, not so much to secure better positions, but in order to become well-balanced, well rounded and more useful citizens. It is somewhat difficult to have them see that an educated citizen is capable of being a far more useful citizen than an uneducated one although both may be engaged in digging ditches.

However, such is our mission. We are finding specially talented boys and girls here, there and everywhere. We are urging upon them to cultivate such talents. We are holding out to them future hope of better days, better things. We are telling them that education will find a better way or make a better way. We appeal to their sense of patriotism as well as to their race pride. We remind them of the fact that we are all anxious to see our dear old Canada one of the grandest countries on which the sun shines or the moon sets and in order to make it so all citizens, every one of us, from the most high to the most lowly, must do his shear. There can be no backward classes no uneducated class, but there must be a common and intelligent ideal which calls for intelligent striving on the part all.

Our reason for giving financial aid to deserving and talented youths arises from several causes. In the first place the average earning capacity of our family man is small, much smaller than that of the average white man. Where there are three or four children in a family it takes all the father's small earning to supply bodily necessities, fuel and to keep up his payments on his small home. After this, although, our educational system is free, there is little left to supply extra clothing, books, care fare and so forth for the children of school age. The tendency is, therefore, to send the children out to work just about as soon as they are big enough to go to work in order that they may add to the family budget. If course we understand that the same condition exist to some extent among SOME white families but they are the RULE among our own people. For, except in but few cases the best paying positions are not open to our people. And so in order to keep our children at home, in order that there shall be no talent lost which will serve to make our country a better and grander place in which to live, The Canadian League for the Advancement of Colored People has decided, so far as in its power lies, to open the doors of opportunity to deserving colored youths where otherwise it would ever remain closed.

Philosophy in a Wood Lot

The former writing, Oh my friend, was made to enlighten thee as to the manner of my discomfiture of a certain ill-begotten bird, to wit a crow.

Knowing thee to be one zealous in learning the better wisdom of thine elders, I venture to set forth a subsequent matter which has befallen me, trusting thy edification will be my reward.

Know then, that after that singular controversy with the mis-informed crow I bethought me of adding to this experience other like adventure, but could not come by an occasion to compass this result, the reason being of such household duties thrust upon me by my excellent, but at times distressfully zealous housewife, as to frustrate my carefully laid plans. Indeed I think it quite singular, the capacity aptitude of the feminine mind to contrive trivial occupations for a man, occupation of no particular import when examined, but nevertheless of some embarrassment in the aggregate to the contemplative temperament. However as the supply of wood billets was somewhat depleted, I made bold to suggest a visit to the wood lot, to be in the interest of the household, to replenish the supply, and was much pleased to be commended for this thrifty thought.

So then perceive me with our domestic animal securely attached to a suitable vehicle, with certain other preparations duly made, and further furnished with a hamper of delectable edibles to refresh the jaded body, wending my way to the scene of my former adventure.

The merry tinkle of the bells sat sweetly upon the ear, as full breakfasted, content of spirit, I guided the trusty steed toward some new and noble enterprise.

In such knightly spirit we came presently to the wood. Here duly entered I looked eargerly around, if perchance I might glimpse that bird we wot of. Not perceiving which, although I called loudly, and in so insolent tones as I deemed compatible with our diverse stations in life, I finally turned me diligently to my domestic errand and lustily swinging my axe, sank the good blade thereon, eye deep into a log which I judged suitable to my purpose. Whereupon to my great surprise from thence on a sudden, darted a furry fury, of no great dimentions to be sure, but seemingly magnified by indignation.

His grey coat and bushy tail, which was agitated to a most extraordinary extent, while he at the same time kept up an interminable chattering, gave me to understand he was of the species of squirrel common to our latitude.

"Nuts and shells! tail of a pig!" I finally made out he was saying. "Truly thou art as great an ass as our theiving uncle, the crow, called thee but yesterweek." "Ha" cried I much astonished, but keeping my admirable poise of mind, "You then heard and gathered the sense of that discourse." "I heard," said the squirrel, pert enough, "but as to the sense, in a sentence, the only sense I was sensible of was that the crow, who is, in a sense a liar, truly called you an ass." "Beshrew me, little one," I replied soothingly, "I had no thought of disturbing your home, I did but think to get me wood for the house fire." "And who gave you the wood, thou worm in a nut," said he, "this log be mine and all it holds." Now holding as I do strong views on the rights of property, I set myself to discuss the matter in a seemly manner, and also unpacked my hamper for refreshment, though to be sure it was not long since breakfast. "You should know," I began, "this wood is held by me in freem hold, being bartered for good coin of the realm from one Jobes Whitfold as can be easily proven." Upon this the squirrel seemed to take a greater interest, eying me and my basket very closely as he replied, "Thou and other two legs like thee, would own the earth, yet thou made neither trees, sky, waters or aught else.

Thou canst neither fly, jump, nor run; thy skin will neither keep out wet, cold nor heat, and I am told even thy teeth and eyes are made for thee. In the wood thou art altogether helpless; in the water you drown, truly you are conquerors indeed. Why look you," and he drew closer, "your young are the worst trained of all animals; one third of ye all work that one third who cannot work, and other third that will not work, may eat, Lords are ye of noise and smoke and stench, of work houses of mad-houses of sick houses and bad-houses. One could laugh."

Whereupon I took it on me to correct such false ideas and did so at some ength pointing out the superior being of man in a fitting manner and being at length completed, turned me about to refresh me with the toothsome dainties of my basket, and was chagrined to find that the ungrateful squrrel had completely carried off, my store, leaving no whit behind to stay my hunger.

So being justly indignant I vented my spleen on that same log in which was his store of nuts, but found of them no trace whatever, getting only for my pains, somewhat indifferent wood for my fire.

OWEN SOUND

The revival meetings at Owen Sound under the leadership of Rev. H. Wright, of Brantford, are having a glorious time here a spiritual uplift to all believers. The meetings have been of great value to the church in general. The attendance has been very good. On Wednesday, Feb. 17th, Rev. Mr. Keeny of the Central United Church of Canada address the meeting, taken his text from Rom. ch. 3, ver. 23 and 24 "For there is no difference," ver. 23, for all have sinned and come short of the glory of God. The speaker said that all people were alike with God whether Jew or Gentile, but by having faith in Jesus Christ God's son we would be saved from in and by trusting in the power of God's beloved Son we would be kept from the dominion of sin.

On Feb. 28, was the closing day of our revival meetings at Owen Sound. Rev. H. D. Wright had charge of the services. The Holy Communion was served. During the 4 weeks there was 1 conversion and one reclaimed. The revival meetings was a decided success in every way and great credit is given to Rev. H. D. Wright in the way that God used him in our revival meetings.

Colored Citizens Help Settle S. C. Strike

Associated Negro Press

CHARLESTON, S.C., Feb. 24—After a three days' strike of dock labourers at this place, in which several liners were held up for cargo, work has been resumed due to the efforts of the chief of police, Clyde Line representatives, and a committee of leading colored citizens who were asked to lend their influence in settling the difficulty.

The strike began on Sunday morning, February 14th, when the men declared themselves dissatisfied with the result of a complaint that was made, following an alleged assault upon one of their number by a white dock watchman. On Tuesday a committee of the strikers named to the company certain conditions on which they would return to work, which resulted in a peace parley in which W. H. Simmons, E. G. Harleston, and E. A. Harleston, prominent colored citizens, were chosen to represent the city.

Following these negotiations the men returned to work under terms which included a raise in wages, longer dinner period, better working conditions, and the assurance of adequate consideration of grievances when properly presented. This is considered to be an overwhelming victory on the part of the strikers, and the colored committee is receiving the well-merited congratulations of both races for the part they played in helping to settle what at one time threatened to be a serious strike.

eral of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Catharine McArthur has returned home to Buffalo. She took her granddaughter Isibell McArthur to Buffalo with her.

Mr. J. Hessen of Woodstock, who was also in the city attending the funeral of his sister Mrs. C. McArthur of his sister Mrs. C. McArthur, of Collingwood Ontario, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Johnston are on the sick list at this writing with a bad cold and sour throat. Pray for them.

IN MEMORIAM

CHANDLER—In loving memory of my dear husband and father, George Chandler, who died two years ago, March 16th, 1924.

What would I give his hand to clasp,
His patient face to see,
To hear his voice, to see his smile,
As in the days that used to be;
But some sweet day we'll meet again
Beyond the toil and strife,
And clasp each other's hand once more,
In heaven, that happy life.
Sadly missed by his loving Wife and Children.

There is someone who misses you sadly
And finds the time long since you went.

There is someone who thinks of you always
And tries to be brave and content,
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent the voice we loved to hear,
'Tis sad, but true, we wonder why
The best are always the first to die.

What has happened to the C.L.A.C.P.? It should be in action now and doing good work. "Procrastination is the thief of time" as one author says, so we hope to get some early reports of the C.L.A.C.P.'s activities.

We see by the papers that we have a new champion in the middleweight division, by the name of "Flowers," and he is also a deacon of the church; well that's not so bad, there are any number of times that you need fighting deacons and sometimes they need to have a knock-out punch to continue to be a deacon, but "Tiger Flowers" does his fighting outside of the church and seems to be there with everything that is necessary to hold his own. We wish him much luck.

Dehart Hubbard, our most famous athlete broke a world's record that has stood for 18 years, by sprinting 65 yards in 6 4/5 seconds. The previous record was 7 seconds.

The services held in The B.M.E. Church on Sunday, Feb. 28th were as usual of a high order and very interesting. Our pastor, Rev. Stewart, gave a very beautiful discourse at 11 a.m. Text Phil. 3:12 Sub. "God's Plan for Us." God has a plan for every life, and when this plan is realized there is always in the experience of the believer both joy and peace, blessing and power. If anyone is having an up-and-down Christian experience, hot to-day and cold to-morrow, near enough to Christ to-day so that he may almost touch Him, and so far away to-morrow that he questions if he has ever been saved, this is a certain evidence that he or she has not allowed God to work out His plan for them; and there is yet much work to be accomplished by the Holy Spirit of God. God's work is a complete work said the speaker, and an experience of unrest or dissatisfaction displayed by men and women professing to have been saved—dishonors God. We might sum up God's plan for our lives under three heads: thusly; 1. It is God's will that we should be "Regenerated"; 2. That we be "Sanctified" i.e. a "separated people." 3. That we should be ultimately "glorified." At 7 the pastor continued the series on "Sowing" the topic was "Where to Sow." (by all waters) text. Isa. 32:20. These evening sermons are not the you tickle me and I'll tickle you kind, but are intended to arouse God's people to a more active life in the advance of His Church. Our choir is deserving of special commendation for their splendid service to the Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. N. Sharp Sr., Miss S. Stanfield, Mrs. L. B. Jackson, Mrs. Linzey and Mrs. A. Cuff are among those on the sick list.
