one man to be always thinking, and another to be always working, and we call one a gentle man and the other au operative; whereas. the working man ought to be always thinking, and the thinker often to be the working, and the thinker often to be the working, and both should be gentlemen in the best sense. As it is, we make both ungentle, the one envying, the other despising his brother, and the mass of society is made up of morbid thinkers and miserable workers. Now it is only by labor that the working man ought to be always thinkworkers Now it is only by labor that thought that labor can be made happy, and the two cannot be separated with impunity.
