THE HORSE RAN AWAY.

And Mr. Poole's Rig Was Broken—He Claims Damages from the City.

The inaugural meeting of the Board of Works last night was taken up, not chiefly with business, but talk about future strides to be made in the paving of the streets of London. The subject of laying a crushed stone pavement on Dundas street west of Richmond underwent a thorough discussion. It seemed to be the opinion of the members that it would be a decided improvement, and that the cost would be somewhat heavier than that of a block pavement, but that the former would last many years longer. Of course such a move could not be taken for three or four seasons yet, as the present pavement is being paid for on the debenture plan. The advisability of repairing "Jumbo" for purposes in connection with such a scheme was also considered, and last, but not least, the stone-crusher, which some of the city aldermen examined in Chicago, came in for a due share of consideration.

Henry Poole, of Lambeth, applied for redress for damage done to his cutter through defective road on the south side of York street near the bridge. Mr. Poole said that he was driving along York street and was upset through the defect in the highway. The engineer and the member for No. 1 ward will report.

Sidney Loveless forwarded a communication in reference to a report which had been made that he had done other than city work and charged the city time therefor. Mr. Loveless submitted a copy of the time of the men on certain work, but as the objection had not been sent in writing, the committee took no action.

The street railway company, when they extended their tracks east on Dundas to Eva street, tore up the crossing in front of St. Matthew's Church. From statements made by adherents of that church it would appear that the company had not relaid it, leaving the street in a poor condition. The attention of the railway people will be called to the fact.

The concluding item of business was a motion by Ald. Garratt that the committee call for tenders for all necessary repairs for the present year. Carried.

Present: Ald. Thos. Jones (chairman), Shaw, Garratt, Dineen, Secretary Bell, Engineer Graydon and Street Commissioner Owens.

HORNBLLOWER HAPPY.

Rejected at the Bench, He Finds Consolation at the Altar.

New York, Feb. 1.—Wm. J. Hornblower, lately rejected by the Senate as the successor of Justice Blatchford on the supreme bench, and Miss Emily S. Nelson, daughter of Wm. Sanford, were married yesterday at St. James' Episcopal Church by Rev. Dr. Cornelius Smith.

CUT UP.

Pieces of Bone Removed from a Man's Lungs.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 1.—An operation was performed on Wednesday afternoon on Mr. Lounsbury, who was so seriously hurt on Saturday last near Harley. Since the time of the accident the injured man has been lying between life and death, and two physicians from Woodstock, one from Princeton, and Dr. Johnson, of Brantford, decided to perform an operation on the man.

It appears that a bone in the back had become crushed and the back was laid open about ten inches. The pieces of bone were taken out of the crushed joint and two small pieces of bone were found protruding into one lung. They were removed and the opening in the back again closed, after which the man seemed to rest a little easier, and a chance of recovery is now held out. When the operation was performed a small dose of chloroform was administered, but during the whole operation the injured man kept up very well and only once did he speak while the operation was going on.

Death of Peter Redpath.

MONTREAL, Feb. 1.—The death is announced in England of Peter Redpath, a former resident of Montreal, who was the donor of many gifts to McGill University.

Montreal's Mayorality Contest.
MONTREAL, Feb. 1.—The returns of the civic elections were received at the city hall to-night, and at a late hour when the returns were all in the result showed Ald. J. O. Villeneuve had been elected mayor over Hon. Jas. McShane by a total of 176 votes, the total vote standing McShane 11,722, Villeneuve 11,895.

Nova Scotia's Finances.

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 1.—In the House of Assembly to-day the Provincial Secretary Fielding brought down the estimates for 1894. The probable revenue is $821,064 and expenditure the same. The chief sources of revenue are mines royalty $250,000 and Dominion subsidy $320,000. Principal items of expenditure are for education $222,000, public charities $113,500, roads and bridges $117,942 and debenture interest $124,944.

A Novel Story from Down East.

It was in a St. John station the other day that an interesting meeting occurred. An old gentleman came in on an eastern train, seemed impatient at the wait of several minutes that was before him, and finally remarked that he was going on a long journey in search of his son, who had left home eighteen years before and had not been heard from since, except that lately tidings had come in an indirect way that he was in Illinois. The man further explained that he had sold his farm, and, if necessary, would spend all the money in the search for his boy. Soon after this the train from Bangor rolled in, and from it descended a young man with a cigar in his mouth and inquired of the old gentleman when the train for the east would start, adding: "I left home eighteen years ago and have not heard from my folks since. I went to a dance one night. When I got back my father gave me a thrashing. I concluded to leave, and I did. Now I am going home." "He's my son, my long-lost son!" cried the old man, excitedly. "Oh, my boy, my boy!" The united pair left on the next train for Nova Scotia. [Lewis-ton, Me., Journal.]

POND'S EXTRACT CO.—"Having used Pond's Extract for a number of years, I fully endorse all you claim for it, but have used it successfully in a way I have never known you to recommend it in your advertisements. I have five children, and have used Pond's Extract with each one when teething, simply rubbing the swollen, fevered gums with it. It gives almost immediate relief, and seems to be so soothing, and evidently alleviates the pain. Please do not use my name publicly."

When a good idea strikes a musician it is only proper that he should make a note of it.

He—My love will have no ending, dear. She—Now, I say, George, aren't you going to marry me after all!

Give Holloway's Corn Cure a trial. It removed ten corns from one pair of feet without any pain. What it has done once it will do again.

WESTERN ONTARIO.

BRANT.

In the Church of the Sacred Heart, Paris, Wednesday morning Miss Jennie O'Brien, daughter of T. O'Brien, and Mr. Farrell, of Woodstock, were united in the happy bonds of wedlock. The Rev. Father Keough tied the knot.

ESSEX.

Some time ago Inspector Boisnier seized and destroyed a lot of fish nets belonging to James E. Brown, claiming they were of an unlawful mesh. Wednesday Brown entered a suit against Boisnier, claiming $10,000 damages.

City Treasurer Guillot, of Windsor, has given County Treasurer Morand a check for $6,712 13, the amount in the agreement between the city and county. The latter has paid the city the $300 grand upon.

Three men undertook to hold up D. Ryan, of Ryan & Williams, Windsor, Tuesday night. A revolver in the hands of the latter dissuaded them from their purpose.

ELGIN.

In order to reduce expense on the M. C. R. at St. Thomas, F. P. McDonald, assistant superintendent, will assume the duties of train master, and T. E. Scott, the present train master, will become assistant train master, and F. Cowley, the present assistant, becomes a freight conductor.

EURON.

The fishermen of Lake Huron complain that the regulations are too strict as affecting their tackle. It seems that the outfit of a steam fishing tug is from 24,000 to 32,000 yards of gill net, and that of a sailboat from 12,000 to 15,000 yards. The present regulations of the department state that the appointment of gill net for a tug shall be 10,000 and for a sailboat 6,000. This is less than one-half the quantity of net used by every gill net boat that fishes in Georgian Bay, and it will thus be seen that it is placing the fishermen at a serious disadvantage in the pursuit of their business. But that is not the greatest drawback the fishermen complain of. The 5-inch mesh stipulated in the regulations they say is altogether too large, and will allow a 2-pound white fish to escape. The average weight of white fish is 2½ to 3 pounds; a large proportion of lake trout is 1½ to 2½ pounds, although the average is about 4 pounds, and pickerel run less than 2 pounds each.

KENT.

Charles Branton, Wallaceburg, lost a fine driving mare on Monday, valued at least at $200. The animal was taken sick with a peculiar disease of the head.

On Tuesday Mrs. Eliza Richardson, one of the first inhabitants of Chatham, died, aged 80 years and 5 months. She was born in Scotland and leaves five children.

Wm. Nelson, of Thamesville, died in the Chatham hospital. The remains will be shipped to Thamesville, from where the man was sent by the authorities.

LAMBTON.

It is almost certain there will be no war of rates between the river steamers this year.

Alvinston is agitating for natural gas and a test may be made.

Lord Aberdeen will open the new drill hall for the Boy's Brigade at Brantford in the spring. Preparations to receive him are being made.

The funeral of A. E. Vidal, late county treasurer of Lambton, took place Wednesday afternoon from his late residence in Sarnia, to Lake View Cemetery, and was largely attended, the local and surrounding lodges of Masons attending in a body. The last rites were performed by the worshipful master of the local lodge.

Timber Limit Deal—$215,000 Profit.
OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—The Arthur Hill Company composed of Messrs. Hill, Quinn, Whitney and other American lumbermen have purchased the Lumsden's timber limit on Lake Temiskaming for $215,000. This limit was purchased by Mr. Lumsden for $90,000, and that gentleman after making a large quantity of square timber has disposed of it as before stated for $305,000.

Quebec Carnival.

QUEBEC, Feb. 1.—The features of the carnival to-day were the attack on the ice citadel and the fancy drive, which were witnessed by thousands of spectators largely composed of visitors from a distance. The procession was the most complete and the most perfect of its kind ever seen in America, at least so said people from all parts of the United States and Canada.

Five thousand people were assembled in the drill hall to-night to hear the concert given in honor of the Quebec carnival. His Excellency Lord Aberdeen occupied a seat in front of the musicians' platform. Ladies were very numerous. A choir composed of 30 singers aided by 100 instruments performed during the evening.

Insanity Among Women.

The large increase in mental trouble among women is directly traceable to a diseased state of their peculiar reproductive organism. Much of this is brought about by carelessness, late hours, thin shoes, tight corsets, over-work, anxiety and sometimes by excesses. When her delicate mechanism is disabled or deranged nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in restoring it to order.

We are clearing out balance of fancy rockers regardless of cost, and are giving a life-size India ink portrait free to all cash purchasers of $10. Come and get one at KEEFE BROS., 127 King street, opposite Market House.

Another consignment of $1 oak finished rockers just arrived, also great bargains in sideboards, at TRAFFORD'S Popular Furniture House, 93 and 97 King street. Phone 364.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP OF MONOPOLIES.

Is the proposal to grant a lease of the London street lighting to a company for a series of years to be taken as the abandonment of the project to have a civic electric light plant at an early date?

Many citizens who, at the recent municipal elections, voted against the bylaw to provide money for municipal ownership of an electric light plant, were and are favorable to municipal ownership, not only of this common necessity, but as speedily as possible of other civic industries that should be municipal monopolies. The trouble with the electric light proposition was the lateness of the day at which it was arranged. This probably arose from the occupancy of the council with the railway negotiations. The bylaw had the usual fate of propositions to expend large sums of money brought forward at the eleventh hour; the electors simply had not time to consider it in all its bearings; they were preoccupied with the question of the bonus to the Grand Trunk Railway, and they declined to endorse any other large expenditure this year. But this result, which was foreshadowed in these columns, did not settle the question. It only left it open. Municipal ownership to which the citizens committed themselves by an enormous majority in January, 1893, is as desirable to-day as it was then, and it is still a question of formulating a proper scheme, and getting it thoroughly advocated before the people, who we feel assured, will endorse any reasonable endeavor to save money for the citizens by the civic ownership of our lights supply, to be managed as we now manage the public supply of water.

We might well take an example from the thrifty Scottish corporation of Glasgow. That city is generally looked upon as an example of extreme municipal socialism. The city manufactures and sells gas, supplies the citizens with electric lights, owns the street car lines and is about to assume their management, provides laundries for the poor, owns and conducts lodging-houses, will soon supply manufacturers with hydraulic power, has constructed many hundreds of tenements—which it lets to workmen—on the site of old rookeries which it bought and tore down, and is about to construct a lodging house for widows and orphans. As a consequence it has become the custom of British socialists to point to Glasgow as an embodiment of their principles.

It may be interesting for our readers to know how Glasgow chanced to embark in some of these undertakings. About twenty years ago there was a slum region in the heart of the town that threatened the physical and moral health of the community. In the exercise of its police power the corporation bought the land on which the worst and most densely thronged rookeries stood, in the expectation of selling it again to some person who would improve it; but as it happened to be a bad time for building and no purchaser appeared, the city authorities made a virtue of necessity, pulled down the old buildings and erected in their places small flats which could be let to workmen at a moderate rent. They did this in the expectation that private enterprise would follow their example by erecting other buildings for workmen which would be as good, as cheap and as well managed, and this expectation has been realized. The same thing has happened as regards lodging houses, and the lodging houses erected by individuals are even better than those owned by the city and are commercially profitable. The corporation has from the first owned the street car lines. It leased them to a company with a proviso that at the expiration of the lease it should have the privilege of assuming the management of the business and purchasing the equipment, and it does so under the condition that it can thus better preserve the lines for locomotion for the common use of the streets belonging. It has been able to carry on these enterprises with success because of her official position.

ficials. The leaders of what may be called the municipalists in the city government are Robert Crawford, a member of the town council and chairman of the health committee, and John Ure Primrose, a baillie or alderman and a magistrate. Mr. Crawford is the managing proprietor of a large wholesale business, and Mr. Primrose is an extensive miller, and both have been connected with municipal matters for many years. There is no politics about the local affairs of Glasgow. A man's political convictions have no more to do with his acquisition of municipal office than has the color of his hair. It is popularly understood that the local government is a business matter, and the men elected to office are business men who have proved their capacity in private affairs and have acquired reputations for high character and integrity. There is, to be sure, in the town council a division into two sections, a section that advocates the new municipal enterprises and a section that opposes them, but the division is not on party lines. The municipalists are not young in years or experience in municipal affairs, and they have no party organization. Jobbery is unknown in municipal affairs, the administration of public business is clean and efficient, and the men who direct it do so from disinterested motives.

It is maintained by some that these undertakings are not illustrations of socialism, but of municipalism, and that the Glasgow officials who have successfully put them through are not socialists, because they do not believe in carrying municipal efforts to a point at which they will interfere with private enterprise. We prefer the more comprehensive term of municipal ownership, and do not advocate the acquisition by the municipality of the control of any enterprise that does not exist to meet the common needs of the entire people. Public lighting, like water, is one of these necessities to civilized existence, hence our advocacy of municipal monopoly. A future generation may add the street railway system to the list, but past municipal legislators have put a municipal-controlled street railway system out of the reach of the present generation in this city.

THE KINDERGARTEN.

The Toronto City Council, very foolishly in our opinion, at its last meeting passed a resolution recommending the school board to close the kindergartens in connection with the public schools in order to make room for older pupils. Inspector Hughes now writes that the closing of the kindergartens would not increase the school accommodation available, but would necessitate the provision of new school rooms, inasmuch as the trustees admit a larger number of pupils to the kindergartens than to ordinary classes. He further asserts that in Toronto the cost per pupil on the basis of registered attendance is less in the kindergartens than in the other classes, therefore it would increase the school expense to close the kindergartens. Every intelligent educationist now favors the kindergarten as the best ground-work for imparting a sound education to the young, and we are astonished to find a body of men like the Toronto aldermen, with so much to reform in their own sphere, stepping out to dictate the abolition of so useful an institution as the kindergarten, which is under the jurisdiction of a responsible public board.

In London we would not be without the kindergarten. The only complaint is that occasionally children under the age of five are admitted, while those over that age are kept out. The taxpayers in the average Canadian city cannot afford to pay teachers to act as nurse girls. No child should be taken care of at public expense till it has reached the full age of five. That rule lived up to, no one would have any legitimate complaint against the kindergarten.

RECONCILIATION AND WAR.

More than one explanation of the motive that led Emperor William to break through the four-year-old barrier that separated him and Prince Bismarck are offered by the cable correspondents. That from Paris is probably the most sensational, despite the fact that the French press received news of the reconciliation with feigned indifference. Three weeks ago Russian agents apprised the French Ministry of the impending event and of the causes compelling it. Comments were therefore regulated by secret instructions sent from the Ministry. There was, according to a cable correspondent, a ludicrous similarity of utterance in all the organs of public opinion. But, while they were couched in almost contemptuous terms, the real opinion of the journalists was that Emperor William was forced to intrench himself in the popular good-will before risking the chances of the policy that he holds most at heart, and which is almost certain to end in war. As the people have unanimously approved the verdict, it is taken as an unreserved acceptance of his purpose to strike before his enemies grow too strong, if it can be done by throwing the blame of the initiative upon the Franco-Russians. If this conflict is engineered as the prophets say, France and Russia will be on one side, and Germany, Austria and Italy on the other, with Great Britain a very much interested on-looker if any portion of the hostilities are diverted to the far east. To make this disposition of the continental forces more evident, comments Blackwood's Magazine, we have only to look at the actual position of the troops during peace in each of these countries. As an indication of where the danger lies, and the direction which the contest will ultimately take, the disposition of the Russian army is by far the most important factor. Russia, owing to the immense extent of her empire and the comparatively small number of her railways in proportion to those of any other European state, is quite unable to concentrate powerful armies for offensive purposes on any point of her dominions with any approach to the rapidity with which this can be done in France, Germany, Italy or even Austria. She is consequently obliged to mass upon her frontier during peace those forces which she intends at once to throw into action during war. The sure sign, therefore, of where she intends to strike her blow when the inevitable contest ensues is to be looked for in the present actual distribution of her army. This is by no means to the same extent the case with the other great powers, France and Germany, especially, have a perfect system of railways laid out with a distinct strategic purpose. Every preparation for a speedy concentration of their whole forces by these means on any point of their frontiers ever likely to be threatened, either for offensive or defensive reasons, has been so thoroughly made that their troops can be left during peace in a far more dispersed state and much further back than is possible with Russia.

WORK FOR COUNTY AUTHORITIES.

The Toronto World has this to say regarding the movement in certain directions to have Provincial and Dominion officials selected by county councils: "Farmers might try to keep the officials they now appoint from robbing them before they sigh for larger official worlds to rule. Townships and counties are benevolently treated by servants of their own choosing. The Mowat Government is in the main able to keep its officials honest. The townships and counties do not know whether their officials are honest or not. There is more money for the farmers in trying to protect their purses from the rascality of treasurers and clerks than in agitating for larger patronage for their municipal councils."

It is too true that in recent years there have been many peacemongers in connection with the management of township monies. Though the mass of township officials are strictly honest, it cannot be denied that a greater proportion of their class has gone wrong than of probably any class of public officers. It would be interesting to discover the cause of it all. The Legislature has engaged in many a less profitable inquiry than an investigation into the cause of this class of breach of trust, with the object, if possible, of suggesting a remedy. It has been discovered, on the very best authority, that in the last twenty-three years the Government of Ontario has lost but $25,000 by the defalcations of its officials. In the same time, according to a return moved for and brought down at the last session of the Legislature, the defalcations of municipal officers in the Province amounted to the enormous sum of $273,754 61.

—While Rev. J. C. Madill, Congregationalist preacher, has been elected president of the Ontario P. P. A., his fellow-clergyman in the same church, Rev. Ralph Duff, of Vancouver, B. C., has been warning his congregation against joining the organization. He said in a recent address: "The P. P. A. should have its name changed to D. D. A.—Devil's Destructive Association." This is strong language, but no more forcible than that uttered by a Presbyterian minister in the same city—Rev. Mr. McLaren—who said last Sunday that "a man's country should be considered above his creed. They were living in peace with their Roman Catholic brethren, whom they respected as worthy citizens, and he hoped no hot-headed enthusiasts would introduce such a calamity as the P. P. A. into British Columbia." When Bro. Madill gets through with his reconciliation brethren in Ontario, he will have to go scalp-hunting in the Pacific Province if there is much more independent talk among members of the cloth there.

COMMON SCOLDS ONLY:

(Hamilton Herald.)
The Conservative papers are pitching into the Mowat Government right and left, but there is not one of them apparently that knows enough about the party's plans to tell an anxious world what their party would do if it once got into office. As they stand to-day Mr. Meredith has not a platform and his followers have no platform except to find fault and scold away like a lot of old fishwives. How would it do for the Provincial Conservatives to hold a convention and find out where they are at? On such an occasion Mr. Meredith might be induced to come outside of himself for a few moments.

Thousands of Dollars

I spent trying to find a cure for Salt Rheum, which I had 13 years. Physicians said they never saw so severe a case. My legs, back and arms were covered by the humor. I was unable to lie down in bed, could not walk without crutches, and had to have my arms, back and legs bandaged twice a day. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and soon I could see a change. The flesh became more healthy, the sores soon healed, the scales fell off, I was soon able to give up bandages and crutches, and a happy man I was. I had been taking

ATHLETICS.

CORBETT'S MALICE.
The only thing that can be advanced in defense of the prize ring is that it shows that strength can be developed and maintained only by temperance and self-discipline. It is unfortunately true that, while this may be correct in general, demonstration of superior physical achievements as illustrated in the prize ring leads to more intemperance and brutishness of every kind than all other influences exerted by physical culture. The prize ring is not an arena of competitive manhood. It is the last resort of competitive brutes. The malice of Corbett after he drew blood from his antagonist could not have been more savage if he had been frenzied with drink or mad with fear.

WASHINGTON WANTS THE PUGS.
SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 1.—A telegram has been sent to W. A. Brady by the Falls City Athletic Club stating that Spokane will give $45,000 to bring the Jackson Corbett fight here.

THE TRIGGES.

PROPOSED GAME-LAW AMENDMENTS.
TORONTO, Feb. 1.—The Ontario fish and game commissioners met to-day and decided to ask the Ontario Government to amend the game law so as to allow foreign sportsmen to come into the Province to take after having the necessary license to take away from them out of the country each two deer. They are now not allowed to take any. They decided also to recommend the amendment until 1897 of the present law prohibiting the sale of quail, snipe, partridge and woodcock.

THE CUE.

SCHAEFER DEFEATED SLOSSON.
CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 1.—The mel and much-talked-about luxury of a professional billiard tournament in Cincinnati was inaugurated to-night at the Pike Opera House. The game began at 8:15 o'clock and lasted nearly three hours. Schaefer won 6-0, Slosson 4-2.

Merry Maskers!

Hold High Carnival in the Princess Rink.

Pronounced Success of the Young Liberals' Latest Entertainment.

An Immense Turnout and Unlimited Measure of Merriment—Names of Those Who Appeared in Costume.

The Princess Rink presented a gay spectacle last evening while the Young Liberal Club's first annual carnival was in progress. Here was the "Midway Plaisance" in miniature—the Midway with its jostling mass of diversified humanity. And an admirable representation, truly! Many of the spectators present who had visited the cosmopolitan original were refreshed in the remembrance of lingering impressions. Here was the greatest conglomeration of people imaginable—Arabs, with coarse, dark beards and fantastic attire; Turks who looked as care-lacking as when basking beneath the oriental sun; Chinese enjoying themselves as much as ever did their prototypes amid the kingdom of perennial flowers; frauleins whose beauty would have eclipsed Germania's most attractive maidens; Africa's denizens, who displayed their crude notions of adornment by appearing in brilliant and flamingly-colored garbs; and, indeed, a variety of nationalities, any reputation of which would be inadequate description of which would be impossible. Soldiers trimly uniformed and Scots attired in the distinguishing kilts added variety and picturesqueness to the scene.

Some of the miscellaneous, unnational characters represented were extremely ludicrous. W. Brophy was to be seen leading a donkey upon which W. Laughlin sat as "Uncle Sam." A dozen members of the Pickwick Club were dressed as Arabs, and the manner in which they departed themselves afforded much amusement. One of the characteristic features was a German band. Its members effectually disposed of any reputation which such organizations retain as music-producers by rendering several execrable selections. The attendance of spectators was surprisingly large. So much confidence do the citizens place in any event under Young Liberal auspices that an extensive patronage has always been accorded. Last evening in this respect proved no exception to the rule. For two hours standing room could scarcely be found. While to move about required the propulsive qualities of a locomotive. There must have been 1,700 people present. At 9 o'clock uncostumed visitors were allowed on the ice, and increased animation to the panoramic scene was the result.

Among the most interested of the on-lookers were seen a large representation of the influence and brains of the Liberal party. Nor did the veteran fathers forget the fete. They, too, showed their way through the throng, and viewed, with unalloyed pleasure, the sportive maskers. Mr. Charles Hyman, the popular member for this city in the Dominion Parliament, was there. He is a big favorite among the young people.

The seventh band provided a rhythmic accompaniment for the skaters. The committee upon whom the responsibility of management fell, and who admirably met every call upon their energies, were composed of Messrs. L. W. Burke (president), Frank Butler (secretary), John C. Trebilcock (treasurer), J. H. Marshall (admiral) and J. Flaherty (vice-president). The following are a few of

THOSE IN COSTUME:

THREE cats of a species said to be unknown were discovered recently in the spire of a church at Brighton, Mass. The cats are covered with a coat of long, shaggy fur; their teeth are long and almost like tusks. On the nose of each is a large tuft of hair resembling a tusk. They are very agile, and sprang from rafter to rafter with the ease of a squirrel.

WHENEVER a cold snap visits Fort Meyers, far down in sub-tropical Florida, the inhabitants, who have no method of heating their houses, come out into the streets and keep warm by sitting round great fires of wood. The cold snaps are rare, but when they come everybody, even the northern visitor, is thoroughly uncomfortable, and poor folks with few and thin garments really suffer.

THE walls of Paris are about to disappear. The Government having introduced a bill for the demolition of the mural defenses of the capital. No other large city in Europe is now surrounded by a wall, and as the wall around Paris occupies a space of no less than 12,000,000 square yards, or one-eighth of the total area of the capital, the State will derive an immense profit from its removal and the sale of the ground which it occupied.

GEORGE AUGUSTUS SALA wants men's evening dress "reformed" and offered a prize for the best suggestion to that end. The winner, a lady, suggests that the present harmony in black and white would be admirable with a trilling addition, which would lend the necessary touch of color and effect, namely, the gold embroidery of the coat collar and waistcoat over colored knickerbockers, such as crimson or dark blue velvet.

THE words breeches, trousers and pantaloons are now used interchangeably, but originally the significations were quite different. Pantaloons are said to have been at first nothing but long stockings worn in Italy as a sort of trousers. Breeches were originally reached from the waist half way to the knee, and finally to the knee, where they were fastened with a buckle. Trousers are the present style of leg gear, a combination of the former two.

THERE is a story to those calico prints of cats and dogs and rabbits which, sewed together and stuffed with cotton, serve as admirable toys for small children. The idea of such a toy occurred to a woman, and she tried vainly to convince several calico printers that the thing would be profitable. She found, at length, a manufacturer who was willing to undertake the experiment of printing her toys and he has since paid her many thousands of dollars in royalties upon the patent.

WHATSOEVER is most degraded and most superstitious in the religious systems of China owes its origin to Taoism. If an ignorant girl wishes to have her horoscope cast, or a shopkeeper desires to fix upon a fortunate day on which to marry his daughter or to bury his wife, application is invariably made to a Taoist "priest," who, consulting the prophecies of fortune-teller oracular answers, which more or less satisfy the demands of the inquirer.

THE oldest dressmaker's bill in the world has been discovered on a Chaldean tablet, dating 2800 B. C. It has an entry of "92 pure vestments for the priests." Among the items are "ten white robes of the temple, eight robes of the house of his lady, ten collars of the house of his lady, ten pair of gold collars, two white robes and four scarlet robes. Also "two winders," probably scarfs for binding about the waist. Before this the oldest account of this sort was on a tablet dating over 1400 B. C.

WOMEN lecturers on labor topics are a novelty on the Pacific coast, and much interest is aroused in Oakland over the fact that in a course of lectures soon to be delivered there under labor union auspices three women are to lecture on the labor problem as women see it. Women of the Pacific coast are only now beginning to join the labor unions, and the accession of "three lady clergymen" to the ranks of the Federal Labor Union of Oakland a few days ago was made the occasion of an enthusiastic demonstration.

THE PROPOSITION for a great shipway through France between the English Channel and the Mediterranean, came before the Chamber of Deputies again two weeks ago. The plan submitted attracted much attention and was reported as "favorably considered." Napoleon III. was vastly interested in this magnificent project and very favorable to it, but the national exchequer was never in a condition to warrant his beginning the work. The project turns up every once and awhile, and it is predicted that it will surely be accomplished, and at no distant date.

THE MODERN American man-of-war is a little world in itself, or perhaps more properly a floating city, with its inhabitants of many trades and professions. Not only is there a doctor to do your eye and a chaplain to care for your spiritual welfare, but many cooks, several carpenters, skilled machinists, electricians, tailors, musicians and barbers. There is at least one clever sailor-man told off as ship's writer, which officer scribbles closely to the old-fashioned scrivener. It thus happens that one can have almost anything made aboard ship, from an engraved copy of a complimentary resolution to a complicated piece of machinery or cabinet work.

THE belief in a Chinese Columbus was first allowed by scholars only about 50 years ago. The claim is that a Buddhist priest in the fifth century crossed the Pacific to this continent and returned, making a written report of his discovery. The report still exists. It was translated into French in 1791 by M. de Guignes. It gives a narrative of a voyage eastward by a priest for 30,000 li, where he found a country which he named Fungus. People similar to the Indians were described, as well as American plants. The only doubt about the matter is as to the distance meant by 20,000 li. The priest may have reached only some island in the Pacific Ocean.

THE proverbs of savage races are generally pointed and pithy. The Basutos say, "The thief catches himself"; the Yorubas, "He who injures another injures himself"; the Wolofs, "Before healing others, heal yourself." In Accra they say, "Nobility is twice a fool"; among the Ojib, "The moon does not grow full in a day." "The poor man has no friends." A Pashto proverb says, "A feather does not stick without gum." Others are: "A crab does not bite its brother"; "A razor cannot shave itself." "Cross the river before you abuse the crocodile." "Truth is only spoken by a strong man or a fool." "Perseverance always triumphs." "The thread follows the needle." "Preparation is better than afterthought."

THERE has been no subject concerning which more lies have been told than about giants. Until it was found that modern men could not be squeezed into the armor at the Tower of London it was taken for granted that we had degenerated in size. This is not only not the case, but in the matter of giants we have the advantage of our predecessors. The Emperor Maximilian, indeed, was said to have been 8½ feet high, but ancient mensuration, especially in the case of an emperor, is not to be trusted; indeed, from its not having him taller, it is certain that there was no such man nearly so tall. Orestes, it is true, we are told, as 10 feet long after death; but he was not thought so highly of when alive; we may reasonably take 8 feet as his ultimatum. Now, Chang was 8 feet, and there are two giants at present going about in English caravans who exceed that altitude.

The genius of advertisement, working in the brain of a Brooklyn merchant, has inspired a novel application of the ancient "sandwich man" device. He has equipped a big Newfoundland dog with sandwich boards and turned it loose to wander at will about the city streets. The dog is usually large and handsome. Fastened on its back is a white oilskin coat, fashioned like an ordinary dog blanket, except that it is so long as to almost sweep the ground, and is printed thereon, in vivid colors, is an advertisement of the business of the dog's owner. The dog seems to know his business, too, for he spends most of his time trotting up and down the shopping district of Fulton street, where the crowds are thickest. He is good-natured and fraternizes with the children, who accompany the shoppers, and in many ways makes himself conspicuous and thus an efficient advertisement.

The privilege of having danced with the "first gentleman of Europe," is claimed by an old lady, Mrs. Stewart by name, living in a private almshouse in Glasgow. According to her statement, which is well authenticated, Mrs. Stewart was present in 1822 at a ball in Holyrood Palace, when George IV. paid his first and only visit to the Scottish capital. Her uncle was the royal restaurateur in Edinburgh at the time, and by some means, he procured for his niece an invitation to the ball. Chance gave her the King for a partner in a quadrille, and the old lady still recalls how handsomely dressed his Majesty was, with "diamond buckles on his shoes, how he bowed to her and made her feel 'quite at home.'" Mrs. Stewart is now 98 years of age, and her life touches four reigns—the two last Georges, William IV. and Queen Victoria.

AN INVENTOR in Cincinnati has discovered a method for welding aluminum. At a test made recently the success of the method was demonstrated. Not only was the aluminum joined together, but, subjected to a severe strain, the welder joint proved of greater strength than the pure metal. For lack of a more suitable word the welding preparation is called solder, though, properly speaking, it is not an alloy or solder, but a substance that, when combined with the metal and heated to a degree sufficient to melt the ordinary solder, unites with the latter, producing a perfect fusion of the two metals. The use of aluminum has been restrained by the absence of some such methods as discovered by the Cincinnati. The process of welding it after a fashion has been known, but it was unsatisfactory owing to the weakness at the joint, which minimized the strength of the metal. The invention is a valuable one, for it will hasten the day when aluminum can be used in commercial quantities.

ADVERTISE IN THE ADVERTISER

THE DEVIL'S OWN.

By Lillias Campbell Davidson.

"Miss Kitty, the words seemed to pass me in my dream, but as sure as I am here I made out, while my teeth chattered, and I shook so I nearly dropped the rushlight, a tale that struck me dumb with horror. It was about a child—a little lad—and as how Squire Berthon swore he'd have no children in them cottages to harry the game; and as how Seth came home and told her as he wasn't a-goin' to lose a good place for a brat's sake, and there'd be a way to settle. Then there came something about starving, and a strong lad, long to do that war, and Seth in a temper, and out of patience to wait—and a black mark round a thin little neck—and how he'd bound her by a Jew's shillin' never to tell. Miss Kitty, my child! I fair turned sick with right. Not for a hundred pounds would I have stopped a minute longer in that room! I got up to turn and fly, never heedin' the storm and the wind—anywhere out of that place of blood! But just as I stood up, and my chair, as it might be just as I'm doing now, Sally flung out her hand and clutched tight hold of my gown, and sat up sudden, strong and straight, with her eyes wide open. 'Mrs. Berthon,' she says, 'will you, you're a good woman, I doubt. Take this shillin'—and she reached one from under her pillow—and give it to lame Billy when I'm gone. He begged at my door last Easter tide, and all about him with a curse, she says, and now I'm sorry, says she, and I'd like to do one good deed afore I die.' And with that she reached me out the shillin', but my hand shook so it dropped from it, and fell on the floor. Book instead. I just saw as how it was a Jew's penny, and not a real shillin' at all, when there came the most terrible clap of thunder as ever I heard—and a flash as filled the room. There was a roar of bricks falling, and timbers giving, and a smell of burnin' and sulphur. Sally Pinnick gave one great cry, and fell back dead on the pillow; and as for me, I just tore out of the house, and ran through the rain and the blast to Dewsbury, three mile or more away. I was drenched and tore and sore beamed as ever I got there; but there I found shelter and a roof with my niece Elizabeth. And betimes, next mornin', I was ashamed of my fears, in the sunlight, and I fared to do the best for the poor dead creature, and see to my own empty house. Will you believe, Miss Kitty, I found the place a heap of bricks and timbers? They said the lightning had struck the roof, and the fire had got in; but anyhow, I made way to creep to poor Sally's death-room, and that was not so rent as the rest. Only the bed, and she in it, lay piled with bricks from the chimney, that you couldn't see it. 'Yet,' thinks I, 'she laid a charge on me with her last words, and I'll keep it; so I sought for that Jew's penny high and low. They're real siller, I heard Squire Berthon's lady say once, and with a mint, but though I moved the sticks, and lifted the rag carpet—ay, and swept out the room, and even scoured it; and peered into every chink and cranny—not a sign of that bit o' money saw I from that day to this. No, Miss Kitty, nor ever shall for if ever the Old One claimed his own, he came and fetched away the shillin' she bound her soul by, that blessed mid-summer night."

"But what did you do for a house, Mrs. Reynolds?" I murmured, when my line could find their use. "Yours was ruined too, wasn't it?"

"Eh, I bid with my niece Elizabeth till Reynolds asked me, and then I came out here. No more of the Jew's Camp for me, Miss Kitty! But just you tell the mistress at the rectory not to put too much faith in a Pinnick, my dear, and to count the knobs of sugar now and again."

"Old," said Harry, when we were once more on our way over the moorland, where every sprig of heather now glistened with its diamond drop, and the hot sun was drawing up a quivering mist from the soaked earth. "Odd what a lot of superstition still lingers about in country districts. I've a little story, wasn't it, Kitty? I didn't dare catch your eye, for fear of laughing."

"Laughing?" I gave a little shudder—"I thought it was a tale of the Jew's Camp, it was, too. How very strange. One could almost believe there's something in it, after all."

"Something in what?"

"Oh, the old legend about the Jew's Camp. Did you never hear it? Why, you know there's a Roman camp here—you'll see it in another minute—Dewcastle its real name is; but all the country people call it the Jew's Camp, and paper says the corrupted name gave rise to the story. The way the legend runs that when the Romans under Aulus Plautius conquered this place, there was a soldier of the legion who had taken part in the sacking of Jerusalem and got, as part of his booty, the body of a young girl, which had been ever since in the family of the man who sold the Potter's Field. They say that money is the devil's own, and whoever possesses it is ruined, body and soul. The soldier who had this murdered by his comrades for his hoard, and with it they bribed their fellow warriors to kill their own centurion in battle, and place one of themselves in his stead. He turned on his confederates, once he was in power, and would have put them to death, but they fled, carrying the money with them; and finally returned with an army of British, and enough of the pieces of silver still unaccounted for, but by the traitor inside the camp its betrayal, and the slaughter of all its defenders. The other pieces were melted down, or passed into other circulation, still carrying the curse with them to this day; but the ones here are still found, from time to time, and always there has been some horrible story connected with every one that sees the light. My father says it is the large number of Roman coins found about Dewcastle that gave rise to the legend; like Onion's pennies at Silchester. But the poor people believe it firmly, and say that the real names of the about are Judasbury, and Judas-Camp, or the Jew's Camp. It's very odd, Harry, and here's the camp itself."

"A gruesome hole," said Harry. And certainly the square depression on the barren hilltop, without a tree to break the wide brown sea of moor, was desolate and wild enough for any tale of tragedy. The pile of grass-convex mounds that still marked the scene of Mrs. Reynolds' story lay under the shadow of tangled gorse and broom. We strolled across the wierd enclosure, to see how the little spring, swollen by the heavy rain, had burst its banks and run a channel through the ground below. There had been a sort of miniature landscape, and the fresh wet earth was upturned for several yards. As I stood talking to Harry I wondered what was the strange room about. I idly turned over with the toe of my shoe. Suddenly I stooped, and picked it up.

"There," I said, "why that's one of the very coins I was telling you about. Papa says they're all blackberries. And I held it out to Harry as I spoke."

"Jove, so it is," said he. "That's queer." He rubbed it on his coat-sleeve, and stuck knowingly in his eye the little magnifying glass he examines flowers through. "It's a genuine antique. I can just make out Ti Caesar. I believe you've had a real find. Kite, and the first thing you ever gave me is really worth having. I'll put it on my watch-chain, and wear it as long as I live—your first, dear little present."

"Oh, Harry! you mustn't—please don't. Suppose it were to be a Jew's penny!"

"You dear little goose! Are you really a superstitious kitten? Is our future house-hold to be conducted on non-Friday principles, and are all our dinner-parties to collapse if there's a fear of our sitting down thirteen to table? Oh, Kitty! Never mind, even a Jew's penny would bring good luck if it came from you; and wild horses shan't tear from me your very first gift. You never gave me a single thing before—except your darling self, and that sweet something last night at the garden gate. I've given you dozens—and a ring—but you never gave me but that one, and refused me that rose I begged for from your gown at Mrs. Jacobs' tea-party. Kitty, give me your little hand. One ring looks too meagre there—let me get the other one, and put it on to make it look balanced."

"Nonsense, Harry! I blushed violently, and tried to snatch my fingers away, but he then, just as I was about to say such things! That needn't be talked about for ages."

"Ages! the days are ages—what on earth have we to wait for? Thank fortune I'm not a beggar, and you won't mind a snub for a husband, will you, darling? I have a few people for you to be introduced to, and you don't need any gown but that you play tennis in—I'd like you to wear that always. When will you wear it to be married in, Kite? Next Tuesday?—come, dear, say which day."

It is Meary

To many people who have the taint of Scrofula in their blood, the agonies caused by the disease are such that they would rather die than live. There is no other remedy equal to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Scrofula, which cures and every form of blood disease. It is reasonably sure to benefit all who give it a fair trial.

It cures all liver ills.

Gilbey—A man can never make anything out of politics unless he's a hog. Gabby—I don't know. I've been in politics a good deal. Gilbey—And never made anything? Oh, well, there are always exceptions, you know.

For Children and Adults.

DR. LOW'S Worm Syrup cures worms of all kinds in children or adults. It contains no injurious ingredients. Price 25c.

Teacher—What is the feminine of man, Thomas? Thomas—Woman. Teacher—And the feminine of gentleman? Thomas (unhesitatingly)—Dude.

Gilbey's Toothache Gum acts as a temporary filling and stops toothache instantly.

The scarcity of food in Bage has compelled the besieged to resort to various canines dishes up in various styles. There is havoc among the dogs of war in that vicinity.

Highly Pleased.

GENTLEMEN.—I have used your Haggard's Yellow Oil and have found it unequalled for burns, scalds, rheumatism, cramp, and colic. I have recommended it to many friends and they also speak highly of it.

Mrs. Houghton, Montreal, Que.

"In the matter of family," sighed the poor man who had married a widow with nine children. "I seem to have bitten off more than I can shoe."

Untold Misery—What a Well-Known Commercial Traveler Suffered, and How He Was Cured.—Gentlemen,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with dyspepsia, and for three years suffered untold misery from this terrible complaint. I was at that time traveling for Messrs. Walter Woods & Co., Hamilton, and was treated by some of the best physicians in the country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, and to my surprise, and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine, and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure is complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, believing that the persistent use of it will cure any case of dyspepsia. (Signed.) T. S. McINTYRE.

Watts—Doctor, what do you think of the water cure for fits? Dr. Bowless—It might work all right on ready-made clothes.

Why will you allow a cough to lacerate your throat or lungs and run the risk of filling a consumptive's grave, when by the timely use of Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the pain can be allayed and the danger avoided? This Syrup is pleasant to the taste, and unsurpassed for relieving, healing and curing all affections of the throat and lungs, coughs, colds, bronchitis, etc.

"The foreign husband is the absorbing idea!" said the American millionaire as he wrote the wedding check.

Cures Wind Colic and Diarrhea.

Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for FIFTY YEARS by MILLIONS OF MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING with PERFECT SUCCESS. IT SOOTHES the CHILD, SOFTENS the GUMS, ALLAYS all PAIN; CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHEA. Sold by druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Wife—I wonder what became of that angel cake I made yesterday? Husband—I gave it to a poor boy for a football.

Nothing impure or injurious contaminates the popular antidote to pain, throat and lung remedy and general corrector, Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. It may be used without the slightest apprehension of any other ban salutary consequences. Coughs, rheum, flat, earache, bruises, cuts and sores succumb to its action.

"They say Brown has taken the lecture platform?" "Shouldn't wonder; take anything he can lay his hands on."

Worms cause feverishness, moaning and restlessness during sleep. Mother Graves' Worm Expeller is pleasant, sure and effectual. If your druggist has none in stock, get him to procure it for you.

A street car conductor knows what the wild waves are saying when he sees a woman wave her parasol.

Hands—no Features

Sometimes unsightly blotches, pimples or sallowness, opaque skin destroys the attractiveness of handsome features. In all such cases Scott's Emulsion will build up the system and impart freshness and beauty.

ROASTED ALIVE BY HOT METAL.

A Steel Mould Weighing 6,000 Pounds Falls Upon a Workman.

WHEELING, W. Va., Feb. 1.—George Turner, an engineer in the Wheeling Steel Works, met a horrible death last night. He was hauling a red-hot steel mould, weighing 6,000 pounds, on a small truck with a pony locomotive, when the truck, passing over a rough place in the track, careened and allowed the mould to fall across his abdomen. He was literally roasted to death, the hot metal burning his body almost in two. He was conscious fully ten minutes while lying under the burning mass, and was able to give directions to those about him as to the best method for getting the mould off him, but he was dead when removed. He leaves a widow and three children.

SARNIA SUNBEAMS.

Good Ice in the Bay—The Plebiscite Workers—Notes.

J. D. Bruce, champion skater, gave an exhibition of fancy skating at St. Andrew's rink on Wednesday. The band of the Twenty-seventh Battalion discoursed sweet music.

At the annual meeting of the Canada Royal Benefit Society, held in the town hall on Wednesday, the following officers were elected for 1894: President, C. Sanders; first vice-president, John Brehner; second vice-president, D. Barry; physicians, Drs. Maclean and Fraser; directors, Randall Kenney, J. A. Claris, George Lucas; secretary-treasurer, Wm. Storey.

The members of the plebiscite committee for Sarnia met in the police court room to wind up the business in connection with the late campaign. Mr. J. J. Francis was appointed a delegate to attend the convention in Toronto.

Mr. R. D. Scott heads the list with a score of 29 in the contest for the Mackenzie medal at the curling club contests. A few more games have to be played before completed.

The ice in the bay is about six inches thick, and chances are good yet for a profitable ice harvest.

M. C. McElroy, of St. Clair, is building a steamer to run between Port Huron and Detroit next season. Charlie says it will be a fast one, and will make the trip of 60 miles in three hours.

The Christian Endeavor societies of the county of Lambton will hold their annual convention at Watford on Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 21 and 22. Matters of importance will come up for consideration.

Messrs. R. Dyle & Sons are talking and otherwise fitting up the United Empire for next season's business.

Charged with Arson.

WINDSOR, Ont., Feb. 1.—James Leonard, charged with setting fire to a barn in Sandwich belonging to Mrs. Green, was brought before Magistrate Bartlett this morning, and, although not discharged, he was allowed to go with the understanding that he was to appear when wanted.

Business Bad in New Brunswick.

OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—Mr. J. B. Snowball, senator of Chatham, N. B., says business in New Brunswick is in an unsatisfactory condition, owing to the prevailing low prices for fish and lumber. Mr. Snowball thinks the passage of the Wilson Tariff Bill would greatly improve trade in his Province.

It Was a Cruel Fate.

HOLLAND, Feb. 1.—The report sent out from Milwaukee that the schooner Florence and a party of seven persons were lost on the Mississippi River proves untrue. The party started from here last September, and a few days ago a letter was received from the captain, Geo. H. Brooks, saying that the party was all right.

The Hangman Handicapped.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 1.—J. N. Hill, who was recently sentenced to death for murder in Pittsburgh, wears a silver tube in his neck. After killing the woman for whom he is to hang he cut his throat. The doctors patched up his wound; therefore he can breathe with the aid of the tube. It is thought that to hang successfully the tube will have to be removed.

A Great Cargo.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The new White Star Line freighter Cavie, which sailed for Liverpool Tuesday, is said to have carried the largest cargo ever taken from this port. Shipping merchants all over town commented on the size and value of the cargo, which consisted of 144,000 bushels of grain, 9,000 bales of cotton, 890 head of cattle, 400 tons of copper, 300 tons of fresh meat, 3,500 sacks of flour, 3,000 boxes of cheese, 2,000 barrels of oil, 600 barrels of paraffine wax, 2,000 bundles sorted hides, 306 tierces of beef and 500 bales of hay.

Are They Dangerous—the imitations of Pearl-line? How are you going to find out? A few washings with them won't show any damage. It's only after some months, when your clothes go to pieces suddenly, that the danger can be seen and proved.

Are you willing to risk your own clothes in the experiment? Use the original washing compound—Pearline. All the others are founded upon that. Will it pay to use these imitations? Figure up all that they may offer—prize packages, cheap prices, or whatever it may be—and put it against what you may lose.

Beware of imitations. 340 JAMES PYLE, N.Y.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrup, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. Osceola, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

intentionally, misrepresents Dr. Arnett's position in regard to the prescription of in-toxiating liquors. Neither Dr. Arnett nor any other medical man that we know of has ever contended that alcohol should be banished from the list of drugs that may be useful in certain phases of disease.
What Dr. Arnett has done is to follow the practice of those distinguished medical men who no longer prescribe intoxicating liquors in any form except as drugs of the same class as chloroform or the like, to be used with the utmost caution, and only to be resorted to when all other remedies fail. The Free Press, by the way, is adroitly trying to stir up a discussion on the use of intoxicants as drugs in order to cover up the original protest of Dr. Arnett, which was against the anonymous and other attacks made on the president and members of the London
W. C. T. U. in the columns of our contemporary. Citizens may differ about the medical uses of alcohol, but every reputable newspaper reader has but one opinion regarding the propriety of these anonymous and uncalled for onslaughts on this self-denying body of women.LONDON AND ENVIRONS.Little ponds of water,

the City of London is applying to the Legisdesire on the part of London to obtain legislative sanction to the exempt of this city to concentrate within its limits the en-

Railway in this section of the Province. This may mean the absorption of the Brantford

that the City Council should exert itself

stationary engineers employed in London.
It is called the "Canadian Association of Stationary Engineers," and the objects of this organization are in every respect commendable. Its object is not to deal with the matter of wages, but mainly for the mutual improvement of its members in the knowledge of their profession, which, of course, includes running a steam plant, and in the most economical manner for the employers.
The success attending these efforts has been marked. At the next regular session Mr.
G. B. Risler will read a carefully-prepared paper on "The Laws of Steam: Its Generation and Application to Heating Purposes."The California Opera Company.Sergeante, the good-for-nothing.

Stanley Railroad Board met at London yesterday and ratified the lease of the road to the Lake Erie and Detroit River Railroad Company. There is considerable talk about the ultimate result of the deal and its effect upon the Michigan Central Railroad. The matter of terminals has not been settled yet, nor has the Michigan Central been asked to turn the road over.
It has been stated that the latter company, which is now operating the road,
will make an arrangement with the Lake Erie road to carry freight in order that there will be no necessity to run into London. President Walker, of the Lake Erie road, said to the News this morning that the lease had been ratified, but he was unable to say when the road would be taken over. He thought it might be two months yet, and in the meanwhile it would be operated by the Michigan Central.East Middlesex Piebiscite Association.There was a fair attendance at the meeting of the East Middlesex Piebiscite Association in Somerset Hall yesterday afternoon. President (Rev.) Clement was in the chair, and Vice-Presidents J. W. Robson and Gideon Decker and Secretary G.
N. Weekes were also present. The following were named as delegates to the coming prohibition convention in Toronto:
President, Rev. Clement; Secretary, G. N.
Weekes; Messrs. J. W. Robson, Gideon
Decker, R. J. Stevenson, J. M. Keyser, S.
W. Muxworthy, W. J. Saunby, Wm.
Scarrow, E. McCann, Mrs. Decker,
John Cameron, F. Lewis, A. Grant,
J. G. Kerr, Joseph Duffin, E.
Hunt, Adam Nichol, O. M. Maybee,
Rev. Mr. Blatchford, H. E. Baker, E. Sil-
ton, T. Baty, Joseph Howlett, Robt. Sis-son and T. Bedgood. The association was continued as a permanent organization for prohibition and for general temperance work, with the same officers. A deputation from the London and Western Prohibition Union and the W. C. T. U. was heard. The members called the attention of the association to the willful and persistent violation of the Liquor License Act in East Middlesex, and the indifference of the inspector, and also of the commissioners, to such violations, and requested the association to take steps to abate the nuisances, at least so far as the suburbs of the city are concerned.
On motion of Mr. Weekes, seconded by Mr. Duffin, deputations were appointed to wait upon the municipal councils of Nissouri, Westminster and London West with reference to the matter. The president and secretary were appointed a committee to consider further steps. The question of affiliation with the London and Western Ontario Union will be considered at the next meeting. It was moved by Mr. J. W. Robson, seconded by Mr. Adam
Nichol, that the association be dissolved.
That this association has much reason for felicitation on account of the ability and devotedness of those chief in command of the working staff in the late campaign. That much of its success is due to the experience and tact of our worthy president, Rev. B. Clement; but also, in the heat of the conflict, was laid aside by a severe attack of the prevailing epidemic, rendering him unable to do anything further in the work of lecturing, which he had purposed to prosecute. This was the more to be regretted in that other friends who were expected to take a part in the work were also disabled at the same time. In this emergency our able and industrious secretary, Mr. G. N. Weekes, besides attending to the arduous duties of his office as secretary, also took the place of those who were disabled and addressed meetings in a number of places in the constituency. And that while not forgetting others who did good service we give expression to our appreciation of Mr.
Weekes by a hearty vote of thanks.Mr. T. W. Casey was also tendered a vote of thanks for his excellent and valuable services during the late campaign.
The recipients replied fittingly, and the meeting adjourned for two weeks.Prof. Smith's Three Keys will positively

R.K. CowanBarclater, etc., over Bank of Comm. exchange.The appearance among us this winter again of grip is a source of great alarm, not so much for the severity of the disease in itself or fatalities, although the latter is a source of much alarm; but the greatest danger seems to lie, a the greatest medical authorities state, in the cases that have never recovered from previous attacks, and have re-aroused disturbances consequent upon the after-effect of la grippe and the frequent changes of the weather. When this condition prevails we cannot too strongly impress upon our readers the great necessity of keeping open the excretory system of glands,
and at the same time considering thoughtfully
the rheumatic feature that accompanies these cases. The remedy that most promptly suggests itself to my mind, and of most lasting benefit, and one that physicians are not only prescribing, but taking themselves, is Williams' Royal Crown Remedy—two teaspoonfuls four times a day—and a couple of Royal Crown Pills three times a week. This is the remedy that has been so successful in the past in reconstructing the system and enabling it to combat the disease. The genuine should be in every home.FURS! FURS! FURS!

A MONKEY ON A SPREE.Ho Wrecked His Owner's Saloon and Was Taken to Jail by Two Police.ELMIRA, Feb. 2.—Two policemen conducting a drunken monkey to jail was one of the unusual sights seen Tuesday. The monkey is a member of Dad Barker's circus, but has been occupying winter quarters as a side attraction of Easton's saloon on East Water street, and was left chained during the temporary absence of the proprietor. He managed, however, to free himself, and walked over behind the bar.
He glanced in the big looking-glass back of the bar, and seeing a bottle, and, seeing a fellow of his own size, picked up a decanter and let it go with his right, and Mr. Elston's $200 glass was a wreck. His opponent having been got rid of, the monkey proceeded to test the various liquid refreshments on hand. He turned on the beer and took a long, deep draught. Then he sampled the whisky, gin, wine and various kinds of liquors. It wasn't long until he was roaring drunk. Then he tackled the cigar case and demolished that, throwing the cigars about the room in handfuls.
The monkey's screams and the noise of shattering glass attracted a crowd about the front of the saloon, but the door was locked and there was no way to get in.
Finally two policemen came and, boosted by a bold young fellow through the transom.
After a lively tussle he managed to get a rope around the drunken monkey, and he was hoisted through the window and escorted by the two policemen, one on each side, to jail, and lodged in a cell. The next morning the prisoner was very sick and held his head between his paws. Although it was his second offense the record suspended sentence, and he was sent back to the saloon and chained up. The next time he gets drunk the owner will send him to the Keeley cure at Binghamton.RUNS IN THE FAMILY.Mitchell's Father-in-Law Arrested for Assault.New York, Feb. 2.—"Pony" Moore
was arrested last night on a Broadway car, opposite the Metropolitan Hotel, and taken to the Mulberry street station, charged with assaulting Conductor Jacob Cohn.
Cohn said that Moore assaulted him because he had ordered him to cease using vile language. Moore denies the assault and says the conductor struck him. Charlie Mitchell, who was with Moore, says he acted only in self-defense. Moore was admitted to bail.Spring Time Coming.Before the advent of spring the system
