BOYS CHEATING

POPCORN MAN

Ingersoll, Nov. 19.—The police are anxious to ascertain the identity of the boys who have been cheating Mr. Miller, popcorn vendor, by tendering him cuppers having a thin coating of lead and receiving change for a quarter in each case. Owing to detective oversight it was not until some time after making the charge that Mr. Miller discovered that he had been victimized. The boys worked the scheme very ingeniously, choosing the evening to make their purchases, and the police have only vague clues to work on.

There are, however, one or two suspicious circumstances, which will be carefully investigated, as it is the intention to bring the guilty ones to justice if possible.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Geo. Sebben, whose death occurred on Saturday, was held this afternoon from the family residence, corner Canterbury and Wellington streets, to the Ingersoll rural cemetery and was largely attended. The esteem in which the deceased was held was evidenced to a striking degree, both by the large attendance and the many floral tributes.

His Honor Judge Finkle presided at a short session of the division court today. There were some 22 cases on the docket, but practically all of them were of minor importance.

The remains of the late Mrs. Campbell, of Verschoyle, were interred in the Ingersoll rural cemetery this afternoon. The deceased had been a most respected resident of the district for many years, and the funeral was largely attended.

Do You Feel Moody, Irritable, Depressed?

When That Languid, Laggish, Easily-Tired Feeling Comes, Your Liver Is Slow.

Tells How To Cure Quickly.

"Even when I was young I was not robust and healthy like other girls. I suffered from headaches, and all sort of blue feelings that deprived me of the joyful sports and pleasures other girls seemed to get. After I married I found I could not throw worries off like other women, and those dull feelings and despondency and weariness made me very unhappy. There was no cause to feel so, and my doctor said my liver was sluggish, and this accounted for my poor color, my headach, languor and despair. The pills the doctor gave me were too purgative, made me weaker, because they were too active for my constitution. Dozens of my friends recommended Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Well, I never used a pill that acted so quietly as Dr. Hamilton's. They were so comfortable to use I was afraid they might not help. But in a week I knew they had been actively engaged in cleaning up my system. They did the work of a tonic and blood medicine combined. I improved in the most perfect kind of health by using them just once or twice a week."

It is Mrs. E. V. Erlanger, well known at Gloucester, who relates the above experience. She proved what you and all others, men and women, can prove—that Dr. Hamilton's Pills are best for restoring health and best for keeping the system in perfect running order. Don't be misled into using anything but Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c a box, 45c for $1, at all druggists and storekeepers, or postpaid by the Cataract Company, Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Ingersoll, Nov. 19.—The police are anxious to ascertain the identity of the boys who have been cheating Mr. Miller, popcorn vendor, by tendering him papers having a thin coating of lead and receiving change for a quarter in each case. Owing to defective eyesight it was not until some time after making the change that Mr. Miller discovered that he had been victimized. The boys worked the scheme very ingeniously, choosing the evening to make their purchases, and the police have only vague clues to work on.

There are, however, one or two suspicious circumstances, which will be carefully investigated, as it is the intention to bring the guilty ones to justice if possible.

THE HOCHELAGA ELECTION.

It is not easy to find the election of the Hochelaga election. The riding itself is not typical of Quebec. It is largely French-Canadian, but it contains the English suburb of Westmount, which in the general election gave Mr. Coderre over 1,400 majority in a straight party fight. Mr. Coderre had then the aid of the Nationalists in the French part of the riding, and was as loud as any of them in denunciation of naval expenditure of any kind, though he discreetly kept this subject in the background in Westmount, and joined in the loyalty cry against reciprocity. In the present election he refused to discuss the question of imperial defence on the ground that the government's policy was not yet before the country. The Liberals were dismayed by this circumstance; Sir Wilfrid Laurier himself advised them not to enter the field, as a contest would put the party in the position of prejudicing the Government on the naval issue. By the Nationalists Mr. Coderre has been attacked as a traitor and a "snake"—Mr. Bourassa's epithet—for deserting his pledges. In 1911 he had subscribed to the demand for a naval plebiscite, with Mr. Monk and Mr. Nantel, Mr. Bourassa and Mr. Lavigne eagerly welcomed the Labor candidature of Mr. Doyon, as a means of punishing Mr. Coderre. Mr. Monk supplied a significant letter, declaring that he had left the cabinet because the Government had refused a plebiscite and that the electors of Hochelaga should profit by the election to express their opinion on the question. On the other hand, no Liberal of prominence gave him aid to Mr. Doyon. The Montreal Herald, Liberal, and La Presse, Liberal, advised Liberals to vote for Mr. Coderre as a means of striking a blow at the Nationalist movement, and of combating the view, taken by Mr. Doyon, that no obligation rested upon Canada to share in the naval defence of the Empire. Evidently a considerable number of Liberals, French and English, accepted this advice. The fact that Mr. Coderre's vote was only 4,222 against 7,178 in 1911, indicates a good deal of apathy. The result being a foregone conclusion, only half as many electors went to the polls as a year ago. It would seem that the Nationalist movement can do little unless in alliance with the Conservative party.

"RALPH CONNOR'S" TERRIBLE INDICTMENT.

Canadians of other provinces had begun to ask whether there was any public conscience in Manitoba, or whether it had been hopelessly seared by familiarity with the methods of the Roblin-Rogers machine. But it has revolted at last; the revelations following the Macdonald by-elections have been too much even for those who had begun to accept crookedness in party politics as inevitable and incurable. The clergy are often silent in the presence of grave public abuses because a protest exposes them to the charge of partisanship, but the Presbyterian Synod, meeting at Brandon the other day, evidently felt that silence would be almost scandalous in the circumstances. The following resolution was moved by Rev. M. C. Rumball, of Brandon, seconded by Rev. Dr. Gordon ("Ralph Connor"), of Winnipeg, and carried without a dissenting voice:

"Under a painful sense of duty, this synod deeply deplores recent evidence of the deliberate prostitution of justice to personal or party ends, and the trampling under foot the sacred right of citizens to individual liberty and fair trial."

Dr. Gordon said that the situation that had recently arisen during the Macdonald election was one of the gravest that had ever taken place in the Dominion. He knew of no one instance where such a cynical disregard of the liberty of the subject was displayed as in connection with that election. It was a deliberate prostitution of the courts of justice to serve party ends. He was recently talking to an influential and consistent supporter of the Conservative party in Winnipeg, who described the recent events as the most infamous that had ever happened in the history of the party. There were two things in the British constitution that had been bought with the blood of those who had gone before—they were the ballot box and the right of a fair trial. But they had never such a thing before where the courts of the land had been wickedly made to serve party ends. Men had been arrested without the shade of a suspicion of any crime against them, and had been kept in the cells for days, and made to eat prison fare without any reason whatever.

For this indictment the famous author is savagely abused by the organ of the Roblin-Rogers machine, the Winnipeg Telegram. In virtually accusing Dr. Gordon of insanity, the Telegram merely shows that it has taken leave of its own senses. Every decent Conservative will be glad to know that the law is on the track of men who have profaned the altar of justice. Surely there are some courts in Manitoba not owned by the Government.

A WARNING TO MUNICIPALITIES.

The Monetary Times warns municipalities to borrow as little as possible in the present condition of the money market. Many Canadian municipalities, it says, are experiencing difficulty in selling their securities. From January, 1910, to October, 1912, the municipal bond sales in Canada were $108,553,125. In addition to the sales in Canada, a large number of our municipal debentures have been sold publicly in London. The Canadian West has come heavily into the market. Last year 232 Western municipalities made issues, compared with 179 Eastern municipalities.

For the present trouble in selling municipal bonds the Monetary Times assigns three leading causes—the congestion of securities of all kinds in the London market, the impression that some municipalities have been over-borrowing, and the desire of the investor for higher returns. In London responsible underwriters were obliged to take 50 per cent. of Saskatchewan's issue; 82 per cent. of Edmonton's; 25 per cent. of North Vancouver's; 84 per cent. of Calgary's, and 73 per cent. of Winnipeg's. The lesson is the need of strict economy. "Olive authorities," says the Monetary Times, "should consider local improvements to absolute necessities and with reasonable regard to future requirements. Our municipalities should not persist in raising money until brought to a sharp check by their bankers. The desirable method, and the one which will hold the confidence of the investor in our debentures, is that which is dictated by a conservative, sane and business-like civic body. It is easy in the heyday of development and prosperity to commence new enterprises without properly counting the cost and allowing for periodical economic depressions."

It was perhaps lucky for Coderre that he got in ahead of the Government's naval policy.

Contrast the role played by the Liberals in Hochelaga with the role played by the Conservatives in Drummond and Arthabaska two years ago.

The New York gunmen have been found guilty. At least one court is helping to wipe out the reproach against the administration of justice in the United States.

Mrs. Alec Tweedie, the English authoress, will write up Canada. It is safe to say the woman who wrote "Through Finland in Carts," will give us something better than the average writer who goes through Canada in a Pullman car.

Hansard should provide unusually good reading during the coming session. It is not generally known that it may be subscribed for. The price is $3, for which it will be mailed daily to any address. Write to Mr. C. M. Goddard, Hope Chambers, 63 Sparks street, Ottawa.

President-Elect Wilson, welcomed at Bermuda, said: "The friendship between the United States and Great Britain is a very happy and natural one. I hope nothing will happen during my administration to disturb the relations of the two countries." The wish will not be reciprocated by Canadian jingoes. Unhappily, to keep up ill-feeling against the United States has become the fixed policy of selfish interests in this country.

A HARD JOB.

[Chicago Record-Herald.] It is going to be difficult to get women to quit judging other women by the furs they wear.

REASON FOR HURRY.

[Spartanburg Republican.] Another increase in the price of diamonds is predicted before Christmas. Do your shopping early.

BALLADE OF SMILES AND GROUCHES.

[T. A. Daly.] For all life's ills, says the optimist, For all the trouble and all the care, For every ailment that may exist, A cheerful smile is a tonic rare.

But when of trouble we get a share, That's much, we fancy, beyond our due, To ease our feelings and clear the air, A grouchy grumble is helpful, too.

This wicked world, says the moralist, Would be so healthy and sweet and fair, Were smiles the fashion and we'd insist, A cheerful smile is a tonic rare.

But since the Devil himself may wear, The merry visage, and all his crew, Perhaps as mark of the rube but square, A grouchy grumble is helpful, too.

An answer soft, says the theorist, Turns wrath away; and for strength to bear, The mellowed weights of the lifted fist, A cheerful smile is a tonic rare.

But when, belittling eyeballs glare, And threatening glances pierce you through, What blessed comfort it is to swear! A grouchy grumble is helpful, too.

ENVOY.
Ah! well for the good folk who declare A cheerful smile is a tonic rare; And yet for sinners like me and you, A grouchy grumble is helpful, too.

OFFICIAL LICENSES.

[Washington Star.] "I see a local man has just been granted a license to aviate."

"What about it?"

"I'd like to know who issues these licenses to aviate."

"The foolkiller, I presume."

A PROPHECY FULFILLED.

[Hon. James Bryce, in 1877.] In the moral and political as in the material world there is in reality no such thing as status quo; all is change and motion, if not from worse to better then from better to worse. England may save the Sultan from foreign invaders, she may add him to suppress internal revolts. But she will not there by arrest that sure and steady process of decay which makes his government more and more powerless for anything but evil. She may delay but she cannot prevent the arrival, after another era of silent oppression varied by insurrections and massacres, of a day when the Turkish Empire will fall to pieces and its spoils be shared by powerful neighbors or revengeful subjects.

THEY KNEW ALL ABOUT IT.

[Harper's Bazar.] "You must have lived in a little Scotch town," remarked a busy London woman, "to appreciate the pinpoints of interest to which a village may be reduced and the absolute publicity of your every movement in such a place. Once while I was visiting at home I happened to be lying down when callers came, so my mother did not disturb me. At tea-time other callers arrived, and by way of making conversation one of them said to me very sweetly: 'We hear you've been lying down.'"

BUSINESS.

[Punch.] Bobbie—My dance, I think? Madge—I'm sorry. It's Duncan's dance.

Ebbie—Oh! That's all right. I bought you from him for two shillings.

SELF-EDUCATED.

[Judge's Library.] "But don't you think you could learn to love me?" he inquired of the beautiful heiress.

"Pa always said I was hard to learn," she replied tantalizingly. "But I am not a book," he protested. "Oh, I can read you all right," she answered.

DELIGHTFUL PROSPECT.

[Stray Stories.] "Do you," said the counsel, "swear that you will tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth?"

"Oh, how lovely!" the fair witness interrupted. "Shall I be allowed to talk all afternoon if I want to?"

THEY CARRY THE SIGN.

[Judge.] "I don't think it's fair," said Mrs. Knagger, "that one can tell whether a woman's married or single by her title, while all men are called mister."

"Well," answered her husband, "married men don't need titles to distinguish them from single ones. All you've got to do is just look at 'em."

REGULARITY.

[Life.] "He's quite regular in his habits, isn't he?"

"Oh, yes. He drinks a quart of whiskey a day, smokes eighteen cigars regularly, and has a regular habit of never getting to bed before 2 a.m."

LOSING ITS MANNERS.

[Manitoba Free Press.] The British House of Commons, "the finest club in Europe," appears to have imported a new set of parliamentary manners and customs from Buda Pesth, where free fights among the deputies are a recognized incident of the parliamentary sittings. Better things than this are expected of Westminster.

HE'LL STILL HAMMER AWAY.

[Excluded Spectator.] Rev. George Woods, of Earl Grey, Sask., has resigned his charge and become a carpenter. He will still have an opportunity for plane living and high thinking.

HOUSEHOLD FASHIONS.

[Joshua Tompkins, in Port Perry Star.] Carpets are out of date, and so is heavy dust-catching curtains. It's getting to be fashionable to be sensible in furnishing a house. Fancy moldings, carved furniture, small window panes, hosts of ornaments, Benetton work in glass cases—everything that makes it hard to keep a house clean, all these things are going out of date, and don't fetch much at an auction sale.

LET ECHO ANSWER.

[Chicago Tribune.] Mrs. Leeder—Mr. McGooovins, what are your reasons for opposing woman suffrage?

Prominent Citizen—They are seven in number—Mrs. McGooovins and our six daughters. In case of a division in the family on a question of public policy, ma'am, how much ice would I cut?

BYRON EPWORTH LEAGUE

Seventeenth Anniversary Was Celebrated—Special Services and Oyster Supper.

The seventeenth anniversary of the Byron Epworth League was held on Sunday and Monday, Nov. 17 and 18, the Sunday services being taken by Rev. R. H. Barnby, R.D., superintendent of Westminster circuit.

On Monday evening an up-to-date oyster supper was served in the town hall. After supper an illustrated lecture on "The Rose, the Shamrock, and the Thistle," interspersed with illustrated songs, was given by Rev. J. E. J. Millard, of London, who proved himself an able and witty entertainer.

The hall, which seats three hundred, was crowded to capacity, people being in attendance from Littlewood, Lambeth, Delaware, Hyde Park and London. The London Street Railway Company kindly provided an extra car to bring the crowd from London at 6:30, and a special car returned to London at 11 o'clock.

The league, which has endeavored to bring the price of their entertainments within the reach of all, were altogether pleased at the hearty appreciation voiced by those in attendance, both of the bountiful supper and the lecture which followed, and they desire to thank all who so kindly helped in making the anniversary a memorable one in the history of the Byron League.

KNAPTON—WATERWORTH

A Pretty Wedding of a Popular London Couple.

Yesterday afternoon at the hour of 5 o'clock a quiet and very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Waterworth, Hellmuth avenue, when their only daughter, Elva, was united in marriage to Mr. Herbert H. Knapperton, of Montreal. Rev. Thomas H. Millard officiated. The bride was attired in white satin and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. Miss C. A. MacDonald, cousin of the bride, played the "Bridal Chorus" during the ceremony.

After the wedding breakfast the newly-married couple left for eastern points on their honeymoon, after which they will take up their residence in Montreal. The bride travelled in a navy blue tailored suit, with black and white hat and mink furs. The presents were both numerous and costly.

A New Book By The Author of Anne of Green Gables

[By Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.]

Miss L. M. Montgomery is the Miss Mitford of Canada. Only she is a far better writer than the author of even such a celebrated book as "Our Village."

In place of the rather stiff prettiness of Miss Mitford's style, our Canadian etcher of quiet village life gives us stories of intense human interest in a style which, while being as clear as one of her own meadow brooks, is also full of a rollicking joy in life.

Whereas generally books like "Our Village" and "Cranford" tire us by their preciseness of tone and similarity of incident, Miss Montgomery's stories are full of a big-hearted zest of life and never-failing newness of plot interest. Miss Montgomery is a writer for Canadians to be proud of; several years have passed since she sent out her first literary venture from her Prince Edward Island home, but she is now one of the most popular women writers in America. Her first book, "Anne of Green Gables," has gone through thirty-two editions, "Anne of Avonlea" sixteen, "Kilnsey of the Orchard" eight, and "The Story Girl" six. These books have simply taken by storm all readers who have ever dipped into their pages. Even such a hardened book reviewer as Miss Carman made this amusing confession about the entrancing Anne: "I take it as a great test of the worth of the book that while the young people are rummaging all over the house looking for Anne, the head of the family has carried her off to read on the way to town." Well, let all lovers of the adorable Anne cheer up, for Miss Montgomery has brought her back to us in one more book, this "Chronicles of Avonlea" (Page & Co., Boston).

In order to depict the humors and pathos of Canadian village life, at least life as it is lived, or was lived, in a down-east community, it is necessary to be an adept in drawing characters of all ages, conditions and degrees. Miss Montgomery shows in this latest book, as in her earlier works, that she is quite at home in portraying the golden-curl'd six-year-old, the pert young miss in her teens, the acidulated vestal virgin, the anxious widow on the quest once more, the man-hating woman who keeps six cats and feeds each cream daily and a one-inch square of butter weekly, and the old ladies proud but poor who endeavor in vain to shield their hearts' secrets from the keen eyes of village gossip.

It is a great compliment for a mere man to play a lady writer, but I must say that Miss Montgomery is quite as convincing in dealing with masculine eccentricities as in portraying the eternal feminine. The wealth of laughter and tears that she can extract from Avonlea folk is truly wonderful!

The most amusing story in this collection is entitled, "The Quarantine." It relates how man-hating Angelina with her black cat, William Adolphus, found herself in the dusty, untidy home of Alexander Abraham Bennett, a woman-hating widower, who loved only one thing in the world, a savage dog named Mr. Riley. It was Mr. Riley who chased Angelina into the Bennett dust-bin, and, once landed there, she could not leave, for the house was quarantined, the doctor expecting daily that the woman-hater would be brought down with smallpox, as he had been exposed to the infection. Having conceived this ludicrous situation, Miss Montgomery gives a most diverting account of the disgust of both the quarantined, to say nothing of the cat and dog. While the man and woman were exchanging opening caustic remarks, Mr. Riley made a bound for William Adolphus, but William was well able to take care of himself, as we gather from this lively piece of narrative:

"He humped his back, flattened his ears, swore once, and then made a flying leap for Mr. Riley. William Adolphus landed squarely on Mr. Riley's bristled back and promptly took fast hold, splitting and clawing and catering."

"You never saw a more astonished dog than Mr. Riley. With a yell of terror he bolted out to the kitchen, out of the hall into the room and so into the kitchen and round again. With each circuit he went faster and faster, until he looked like a bristled streak with a dash of black and white on top. Such a racket and commotion I never heard, and he didn't stop until the tears came into my eyes. Mr. Riley flew around and around and William Adolphus held on grimly and clawed. Alexander Abraham turned purple with rage."

"Woman, cut off that infernal cat before he kills my dog," he shouted above the din of yelps and yowls.

"Oh, he won't kill him!" I said reassuringly, "and he's going too fast to hear me if I did call him. If you can stop the dog, Mr. Bennett, I'll guarantee to make William Adolphus listen to reason, but I can't use trying to argue with a lightning flash."

And Mr. Bennett soon found that to argue with Angelina McPherson, so he took to his bed with smallpox; she cleared up his house, cooked him dainty dishes, and showered him with sarcasms until she nursed him back to health. By that time he discovered that he had also recovered from the woman-hating sickness, and never rested until he persuaded Angelina that she also had been laboring under an unreasonable prejudice against men. So they were married, and William Adolphus fed out of the same dish with Mr. Riley ever afterwards.

The soothing, healing influence of Dr. Chase's Ointment is truly wonderful. The itching it causes is almost beyond human endurance, and doctors are accustomed to give it up as incurable.

But here is a case that was given up and pronounced incurable. The result proves that Dr. Chase's Ointment almost works miracles in curing the worst form of itching skin disease imaginable.

Mrs. Nettie Massey, Concession, Ont., writes:—"For five years I suffered with what three doctors called psoriasis. They could not help me, and one of them told me if anyone offered to guarantee a cure for $50.00 to keep my money, as I could not be cured. The disease spread all over me, even on my face and head, and the itching and burning was hard to bear. I used eight boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and I am glad to say I am entirely cured, not a sign of a sore to be seen. I can hardly praise this ointment enough."

The soothing, healing influence of Dr. Chase's Ointment is truly wonderful. The itching it causes is almost beyond human endurance, and doctors are accustomed to give it up as incurable.

But here is a case that was given up and pronounced incurable. The result proves that Dr. Chase's Ointment almost works miracles in curing the worst form of itching skin disease imaginable.

Mrs. Nettie Massey, Concession, Ont., writes:—"For five years I suffered with what three doctors called psoriasis. They could not help me, and one of them told me if anyone offered to guarantee a cure for $50.00 to keep my money, as I could not be cured. The disease spread all over me, even on my face and head, and the itching and burning was hard to bear. I used eight boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and I am glad to say I am entirely cured, not a sign of a sore to be seen. I can hardly praise this ointment enough."

Cold Weather Coat and a Smart Suit of Blue for the Business Girl's Winter Wardrobe

One of the secrets of looking well on a little is dressing suitably. A business girl's clothes should not only be suitable, but trim and good looking. This combination is not the easiest thing in the world to effect, especially when the purse must be considered carefully while making the choice.

The best plan under these circumstances is to buy a useful, stylish, full-length coat, which may be worn in the day time or at night and a simple one-piece dress. Striped waists, a fancy blouse or two and a separate skirt will then probably be the only other necessities.

Here are the models of striped waists. The wide belt slopes upward toward the front, suggesting the short waist which retains its hold on fashion lovers. A deep astrachan collar and cuffs, with a patch on the pocket, makes the wrap look rich and chic at the same time.

A fine piece of blue mohair is used in the dress, which is trimmed with bits of striped taffeta and plain bone buttons. It has the advantage of being easy to put on, as it fastens down the front with invisible hooks and eyes. The soft turnover collar and the tailored belt are made of the striped taffeta. The sleeves are neither too full nor too tight for comfort, and the waist is made plain across the shoulders with a slight fullness at the belt. The skirt is devoid of trimming except for the strip of taffeta which extends down the front in a straight line from waist to hem.

It is cut in round length just to miss the floor. Patent boots, chamois gloves and a neat, little street hat complete this natty costume.

Children at War Centre

HOW THE LITTLE MONTENEGRINS AND SERBIANS LOOK TO ONE ANOTHER.

One cannot help wondering during war time what the children of the belligerent nations think about it all. How do the panics, the carnage, the firing of guns, appear to their young minds? asks a correspondent in the Winnipeg Telegram.

It is fairly easy to answer this question so far as Montenegro is concerned, for from the earliest age, children take the keenest interest in their father's collection of weapons, and the dozen or so knives, pistols and other knick-knacks he wears in his wide belt.

A Montenegrin would be just as likely to go for a stroll down the village street without his entire "arsenal" as an Englishman would be likely to walk down Piccadilly without his collar.

In Spain I used to watch the children play, and here the game was in variably bull-fighting, but in Montenegro the only game for babies is war to the death with the Turk.

The Montenegrins are a stern race, and the fathers, though devoted to their children, do not believe in pampering them. Indeed, discipline is strictly maintained in the home.

But I shall not easily forget the face of Prince Mirko, the second son of King Nicholas, and the idol of the nation, when he told me of the death of his two children. They caught typhoid in Nice and died within a few days of each other.

"Have you any children?" he asked me.

"None," I replied.

"Well, you may thank heaven for that," said he, "for you will never go through the agony I suffered. I verily thought my heart was broken and that I could never be happy again."

"As it is, I cannot bear to hear the Riviera mentioned, and wild horses will not drag me to Nice again."

Pretty in Looks and Ways.

These children are like pretty little dolls, with great, dark eyes, and wearing long white shirts under charming brown suede-leather zouave jackets edged with fur.

These jackets are most quaint and original, and are decorated with arabesques and devices of gaily colored leathers and pieces of looking-glass sewn in imitation of sprays of flowers.

The fur is left on the reverse side, so that the coats are very warm. I have often wondered on a broiling summer day how they can stand the heat.

Their manners are very pleasing, and they remind one of nice little puppies or kittens. The Serbians have a certain regard for their offspring without any wild devotion.

I remember slightly shocking some of my friends out there by my partiality for four-legged creatures. I was sitting outside a cafe at Uzshitz feeding a cat with the remains of my dish of Kalmak, the Serbian equivalent to Devonshire cream. This excited the attention of a dog with its sugar they thought it was time to remonstrate.

"Gospozna," they exclaimed, "What a strange thing to do! Why, you ought to have put that sugar in your pocket and given it to children on the road."

A Massacre.

In Bulgaria one hears of horrible

Massacres of babes. Only a day or two ago Bulgarians near Rusechak attacked a harmless Turkish settlement and spared neither women nor children.

But the Bulgarians set great store by their schools and in these schools racial hatred is encouraged and even the youngest learns that he will some day have to struggle for mastery with the Serb, the Greek and the Turk.

Unlike the babies of other Slav nations, the Bulgarians are not, as a rule, beautiful. They have wooden-looking flat faces, and are rather Mongolian in type; but they are as hard as nails.

Carmen Skive, of Roumania, might well be called the Children's Queen. She adores children and the grief of her life was when her little daughter died.

She has never really recovered from the loss of her only child, but it has had the effect of making her as good as a mother to all her young subjects.

One of the things that strike a visitor to Roumania is how everything is discussed before the children.

FURNITURE IN WINTER.

Furniture is an excellent barometer, displaying all the varying moods of a fickle season. Damp furniture accumulates dust, it turns blue, has a sticky feeling, and is unattractive. This condition is apparent in damp weather. To polish wood that takes on this sticky hue use a mixture of equal parts of gasoline, linseed oil and strong vinegar. The vinegar cuts all the grease from the woodwork, leaving it as clean as if washed. Use old pieces of cotton to polish.

The Birthday Calendar

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

Do whatever falls to your lot with care and patience. The best way is steady, dull routine to take the place of studying plans for your own advancement.

Those born today, though careless and wasteful, will have fine minds. Their worst faults will be cruelty and passion. With these handicaps comes the strength to win in spite of them, and future greatness is in store for them.

Written Wedding Invitations.

Dear Miss Grey:—In writing a wedding invitation to the few guests who are to witness a ceremony to be performed at home, is the same form observed as those engraved, or are informal notes sent?

PERPLEXED.

A:—Do not try to copy the formal style, but write an individual note to each guest. One of the prettiest wedding invitations I know of was where the bride wrote little missives something like this: "Dick and I are to be married on Saturday at noon, and it will add greatly to our happiness if you witness the ceremony. Hoping to have you with us, cordially yours," etc.

The Proper Thing to Do.

Dear Miss Grey:—Will you kindly tell me if it is correct form for young men to call and leave their cards after they have been invited to a party? Also the correct pronunciation of "Misses" in the Misses Brown.

ALICE.

A:—It is indeed the correct form for young men to make party calls after having perused a person's hospitality, but few of them do it—more the pity. "Misses" is usually pronounced by the word "The," and sounds exactly as if spelled "Mrs."

The First Time.

Dear Miss Grey: This is the first time I have written you. Please send the birthday calendar for April 17, Aug. 4, and Jan. 31. Hope I have not asked too much.

A. D. C.

A:—As I have stated previously, I am unable to supply the calendar for any dates prior to May 1, 1912, but have not asked too much—come again.

Great happiness in social or family affairs is indicated in money and should not be taken great risks in unfamiliar ways. Those born today will be generous and well liked, but have the power to learn, and to people this is to allow their faults to conquer.

Trimming a Beaver.

Dear Miss Grey: I am a reader of The Advertiser, and I hope that I will see these answers printed soon. I have got a new white beaver hat, a handsome shape, and would like for you to tell me how to have it trimmed. I am 18, very tall, and have a complexion, and my hair a blonde.

BLUE EYES.

A:—A beaver hat to my mind, requires very little trimming. Since you are fair, a spray of ribbon flowers in blue satin, with tiny yellow hearts, would make a nice trimming. I think, make no changes unless you are reasonably sure of the result. For your sake do not antagonize people who might later be of assistance to you.

Those born today will value money lightly and their chief interest will be in getting it. This they will do easily.

Mother's Birthday Gift.

Dear Miss Grey:—Would you mind answering the following questions?

1. I am 5 feet 8½ inches in height and weigh 170 pounds. Do you not think I am too stout? If so, please give me some recipe for decreasing my weight.

2. I have a pair of white kid shoes. I would like to know some way of making them black some birthday gift for my mother. Sincerely, R. N. W.

A:—1. You must be a fine big woman. I do not think your weight too great in proportion to your height. I should not advise you to try to reduce.

2. You may have success in dyeing them this way, but I have had no personal experience with the process: Put half a cup of logwood chips in a bowl, cover them with alcohol, and let stand 24 or 48 hours. Then with a piece of shoe, rub the solution well over each shoe, and repeat.

3. For mother's birthday, gift, try to select something which she can enjoy. Even though the gift is a personal gift, it should be of some use to her. A bottle of some dainty sachets, fashioned from bits of ribbon or silk by your own fingers, or a pair of kid gloves, a new prayer, or a photograph of herself in a dainty little oval frame, to stand on her dressing table.

Needs Cleanliness.

Dear Miss Grey:—I. Would you please tell me what will remove blackheads?

HOPELESS.

A:—1. Absolute cleanliness of the skin is usually necessary for prevention and removal of these blemishes. Scrub the face every night before retiring with a fairly rough face-cloth, good soap and warm water. Then rinse in tepid, and lastly, in cool water. A little cold cream might then be applied to the parts affected, and massaged gently with a soft towel, rubbing more cream on as a finish. In the morning wash with cool water, and using it will upon the face. A continuous treatment of this nature will, I feel sure, bring about improved conditions. Eat a fairly plain diet, and drink water in abundance in place of tea or coffee.

If your friend is down and out, say something of encouragement to him, give him heart to begin the fight anew.

Garnish a Feature of French Cooking

That distinctly "foreign flavor" one hears so much about from the returned tourist, as noticed in the soups and sauces concocted by the French chefs, is due largely to the variety of ingredients which go to make up the whole. Nothing is wasted. All the "left-overs" are utilized in this way and so cleverly are they put together and blended that no distinct flavor can be recognized. Then, too, the French chef has an eye for the artistic, and he knows full well that almost as much depends upon the garnishing and serving as upon the cooking of a dish. Who will deny that a clear soup will not seem more attractive if served with the addition of a few green peas, some cubes of yellow sprays of fried parsley, or that the appearance of a cream soup will not be greatly enhanced by the addition of some perfectly fried croutons? After all the "little things" in the way of tasteful garnishing and decorating count for so much that it has been aptly said that "eyes do half the eating."

To one quart of well-seasoned chicken or beef bouillon add four tablespoonsful of sherry. Place in each dish a regularly poached egg and pour the consomme around it.

Cannellons of Chicken.

To one cupful of cooked chicken, chopped fine, add one tablespoonful of minced ham or tongue, two tablespoonfuls of cream, one of butter, the yolk of an egg, one-half cup of stock, salt, pepper, and some chopped parsley. Make into a thick paste, using flour to thicken if necessary. Roll out some rich pie crust, very thin, cut in squares about four inches large, and pinch each a nice brown. of ham, one-half cup of white stock, one carrot, one onion and some sprays of parsley. Cook about one hour, basting often until the meat is well glazed. Thicken and strain the gravy, and pour it over the veal. Serve with a border of fried tomatoes.

Gascony Salad.

Wash and crisp two heads of endive. Dress with an oil dressing, made of two parts of olive oil to one of lemon juice, salt, pepper, and one teaspoonful of anchovy paste. Rub a bowl with garlic, then toss the salad together in the bowl for about six or eight minutes. Garnish with radish roses.

Wafers.

Mix thoroughly one-quarter pound of fresh American cheese with one-quarter pound of butter; add two eggs and flour and water, which have been mixed together to form a stiff paste. Roll out, fold, roll again. Do this three or four times. Then cut in two-inch squares, sprinkle with finely grated cheese and bake in a hot oven, on buttered cake tins. Serve hot.

Napoleons.

Beat together six ounces of butter and two ounces of sugar; add two ounces of sweet almonds, chopped, half a pound of flour and yolk of one egg. Stir well together. Roll out very thin and bake. When cold, cut in strips about two inches wide, and put two or three layers together with jam or whipped cream or both.

ARAB PORTER AS MAID.

He "Shuts Up" Woman Tourist in Her Dress.

In every large hotel the chambermaids are always ready and willing to perform a personal service for the sake of the customary tip that accompanies it. Remembering this the woman tourist, who was stopping at Sheppard's Hotel in Cairo, rang at last for assistance after vainly struggling for fifteen minutes with the intricacies of the rear fastenings of her gown. To her dismay one of the Arab porters responded to her ring. "Madame requires something," his voice was soft and sweetly modulated. "Yes, please send up one of the maids to hook my dress."

"Ah, that is all," he bowed and waved a deprecating hand. "Madame desires to be shut up? I can shut her up."

"Mary's too independent to be a domestic, so she is working in a factory at $2.50 a week."

"Ferdinand meant to propose to Eccelle, but he got so nervous that he recited a lot of lodge stuff that he's learning by heart, and she thought him crazy, and called for help."

"When the speaker said that he was a self-made man, my husband whispered to me that it was fortunate we still had some chips of the old block moving among us."

"He was asked to give an opinion on London's streets, and said he thought they tasted like ordinary mud. You see an auto went past just as he opened his mouth to reply."

SARNIA POLICE ON WATCH FOR GIRL

Sixteen-Year-Old On Hamonic and Parents Want Her Sent Home.

WHERE DO THEY GET IT?

Local Opticists Complain of Numerous Drunks At Town on the Sabbath.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Sarnia, Nov. 19.—A dispatch was received at the police station this morning from Port Arthur, requesting the local authorities to meet the Northern Navigation steamer Hamonic when she arrives here tomorrow and find Elsie Wilson, aged 16 years. The Port Arthur police ask that the girl be returned to her mother in that city when the boat sails on her return trip back up. No further particulars are given in the telegram, and whether the affair is an elopement or five other different things will not be known until the boat arrives.

A drunk was picked up last night on the streets in a intoxicated condition. The man was in a pitiable state, and shook like a leaf. A fine of two dollars and costs was imposed in police court this morning.

London Boy Arrested.
A London boy, who was arrested here as a vagrant two days ago by the Grand Trunk police, was released this morning. The morning following his arrest a fine of one dollar and costs was imposed, and the lad being without funds, was sent to jail. His parents, however, were communicated with, and sent the amount of the fine. The boy left for his home this afternoon.

Port Huron's Peril.
The entire south side of the city of Port Huron is without both water and fire protection as the result of a break in the water main this morning. The pipe in question runs under Black River, close to the ferry landing, and at the spot where the new bridge is being built. One of the dredges while at work this morning struck the pipe, and broke it. It is said that it will be anywhere from two days to a week before the break can be repaired, and in the meantime the residents and businessmen on the south side must look out for themselves as best they can.

The construction of the new bridge, which is being erected over Black River in Port Huron, has meant the loss of an immense volume of Sarnia trade to the merchants on the south side of the river. A pontoon bridge has been constructed to take the place of the old one until the new one is built, but the approaches are so out of the way and awkward that the people coming over from Sarnia prefer to patronize the stores on the north side rather than go to the bother of crossing the temporary bridge.

It is rumored that an important change is about to be made in the ferry company's business. Just what this is has not yet been made public, but it is understood that it has to do with a future landing place for the boats. It is understood that the company will make public their plans in a few days.

Where Do They Get It?
For some time past there have been numerous complaints about the number of drunken men seen in Sarnia on Sundays, and although it is not known where the men secure their liquor, the local opticians are pointing out this particular condition as another argument in favor of putting the town dry. One of the police officers, in speaking of the matter, said that last Sunday he noticed a man come down town perfectly sober and a few hours later go home drunk, with a bottle of whiskey in his pocket. Where do they get the liquor? is the question that more than one citizen is asking, and the question is one that in all fairness cannot be hastily answered. A few of the more impulsive are inclined to blame the liquor, but it is to be remembered that Port Huron, across the river is "wet," and also that much of the liquor may be purchased on Saturdays.

The explosion of a compressor tank at the Mueller Brass Company's works this afternoon seriously injured Herbert Wilson, a workman for the Sarnia Bridge Company, which company has the contract for the erection of one of the new buildings. Mr. Wilson was hurried to the hospital with Dr. Hayes in attendance. What caused the explosion is a mystery.

The local golf club will be incorporated in the near future under the title of the Sarnia Golf Club, Limited, according to a decision made by the members at a meeting held last night. The shares will be sold at a hundred dollars each.

Joe Martin Censures British Speaker

London, Nov. 19.—The Government today managed to straighten out the complications which resulted from the defeat of a portion of the Irish home rule bill in the House of Commons on Nov. 11, and which provoked an open riot two days later.

The House today held a debate on the new financial resolution replacing the one which was defeated by the amendment offered by Sir Frederick Danby, and which was carried by a "snap" division. The new resolution differs little from the old one excepting in form, but it avoids an intolerable breach of precedent. After a long discussion the new resolution was carried by a vote of 218 to 207.

An unusual sequel to the doings during the riot on Nov. 13 was brought about by Joseph Martin, member for East St. Pancras, and a former Canadian, who gave notice of a motion censuring the Speaker for declaring that he did not have power to treat members of the House as disorderly when they confine themselves to parliamentary cries of "Divide," "Adjourn," and similar exclamations, and also for grossly failing in his duty in not suspending the members who prevented the proceedings by those exclamations on Nov. 13.

ALLIES TERMS HARD; TURKS MAY DECLINE

To Secure Peace Sultan Must March Out His Army From Lines at Tchataldja and Surrender Adrianople, Scutari and Janina.

Sofia, Nov. 19.—The Bulgarian Premier Gueshoff has telegraphed to Kiamil Pasha, grand vizier of the Turks, the conditions under which the Bulgarians will consent to an armistice. The allies earlier in the day announced their readiness to consider the proposition made to them by Turkey for an armistice with peace in view, and this is their answer.

The allies will not enter Constantinople if the forts of Tchataldja are evacuated and four important Turkish towns are surrendered. Before they will accept an armistice the diplomats of the little states call upon Nazim Pasha to lead every one of his fighting men from the forts in front of the capital, which he has struggled so long to hold.

Must Give Up City.
Adrianople, which has stood out against Bulgarian and Serb since first the Bulgarians came across the border at Mustapha Pasha, and where so many Turks have lost their lives in desperate battles in the face of galling artillery fire, where cholera and famine have been as bitter an enemy of the Turk as the foe outside his walls, must be surrendered.

And Janina, beleaguered by the Greeks, and Dibri, in Albania, must open their gates to the allies before they will give their promise not to enter the Sultan's city.

Turkey May Decline.
There is a possibility that Turkey may decline to surrender Tchataldja. While her western army has been completely defeated, she still possesses, according to the correspondents at the front, a homogeneous army behind the Tchataldja fortifications, largely composed of some of her best fighting material from the Asiatic provinces, which has not yet been in action. Moreover, the demoralization and disorganization which followed the Kirk-Kiliseh and Lule Burgas retreats appear to have been remedied and the army is now well supplied with food and ammunition.

Premier Post for Bryan

Washington, Nov. 19.—William J. Bryan will be secretary of state in the cabinet of Woodrow Wilson, providing he accepts. It was learned tonight, on authority that can hardly be questioned, that the premier post in the Wilson administration has been offered to the Nebraskaan, and that he probably will accept. Furthermore, Mr. Bryan apparently will be one of Mr. Wilson's chief advisers in selecting the new cabinet.

The tender to Mr. Bryan of the portfolio of state is the only cabinet post that has been formally settled up to this time. Mr. Bryan's influence in the next administration can no longer be minimized. Whether for wear of an armistice the president has made acknowledgments to the leader of the so-called progressive wing of the Democracy by inviting him to sit at his right at the council table and to advise with him in forming a cabinet.

That is the significance that is now attached to Mr. Bryan's forthcoming visit to Bermuda, where President-elect Wilson is now residing. Mr. Bryan has been in Washington for more than a week. He has conferred with many of the party leaders, and to some of them has appeared in a conciliatory attitude.

KIDNEYS WERE SO SORE DIDN'T KNOW WHAT TO DO.

GRAVEL AND SMALL STONES PASSED THROUGH THE URINE.

One of the most painful forms of kidney disease is Gravel or Stone in the Bladder, and is caused by the acid lime in the blood uniting and forming a gritty substance which lodges in the inner surfaces of the kidneys or bladder, and sets up a painful irritation.

To relieve these terrible pains it is necessary to keep the kidneys healthy for healthy kidneys secrete fluids that dissolve the gravel and stones, and they pass out through the urine harmlessly and without pain.

Mrs. Elmore Baldwin, Windsor, Ont., writes:—"I was so weak I could not do my own work. I tried many doctors, and every one of them told me to go to some institution. Reading of Doan's Kidney Pills, I tried them, and am now well and can recommend them to all. My kidneys were so sore I did not know what to do, but after using Doan's Kidney Pills, you would be surprised at all the gravel and small stones that passed through my urine. Now I am well and able to do my own work."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 80 cents per box, 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by T. M. Doan Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. When ordering direct, specify "Doan's."

Harris paid $5.10 for hogs on the fed and watered basis.

HUNDREDS OF LIVES IMPERILLED BY MANIAC'S INFERNAL MACHINE

Los Angeles Police Were Held at Bay for Over an Hour.

Los Angeles, Nov. 19. — Armed with an infernal machine containing enough dynamite to destroy an entire city block, a bottle of nitro-glycerin and a 45-calibre revolver, a masked maniac took possession of the central police station today, and held it for more than an hour, while hundreds of occupants of the buildings and those for blocks around the place, in panic, sought safety in distance.

When Detective James A. Hosick knocked the man unconscious with a leather "billy," after slipping up behind him, the fuse of the infernal machine was automatically ignited, but the box, with the fuse sharply spluttering, and hurled it into the street. Sticks of high power dynamite scattered over the pavement, while hundreds of spectators stood apparently paralyzed with fright. Through a freak of chance, there was no explosion, and Brown continued kicking the sticks of dynamite and jumping on the fuse until he had broken the connection, and extinguished the fire.

Adjourned Courts. The man, who gave his name as Albert Henry Davis, stated, on entering, that the highest official of the Southern Pacific Railway had sent for, so that he might blow him into eternity. "This is no joke," said Davis, "and if you don't believe me, try to take this away from me. My hand is fastened in this box, and if I pull it out—bang—we all die."

A hole had been cut in the box and the occupants of the room saw for the first time that the man's left hand was hidden in the box.

Realizing that the situation was serious, police officials pretended to call up the desired official by phone.

In the meantime, Chief Sebastian ordered the street roped off for a block either way, and steps to have the prisoners in the city jail removed. Upstairs in the building two justice courts were in session, and both court-rooms were crowded.

Cleared the Courts. A detective passed the word to a bailiff in Judge Chambers' court, where a Japanese was having a preliminary examination on a murder charge before a crowd of his countrymen. The bailiff whispered to the judge.

"Court's adjourned until 2 p.m. Clear the courtroom," ordered the judge, promptly, and there was a rush for the stairway. A similar scene was enacted in Justice Frederickson's court.

There were not enough patrol wagons to remove the prisoners from the jail to the Doyle Heights Prison and two street cars were sent for.

At the receiving hospital Davis said tonight he "guessed" the fuse was too long, which was the reason there was no explosion. He said he was born in Germany, was 34 years old, and had lived in this country 15 years. He admitted that Davis was not his right name, and finally he declined to talk about his past.

HOCHELAGA ELECTS SECRETARY OF STATE

Hon. Mr. Coderre Carries Bye-Election With a Majority of 2,206.

Montreal, Nov. 19. — Hon. Louis Coderre, the recently appointed secretary of state of the Borden Government, was returned by his constituency today with the majority of 2,206 over his opponent, Leopold Doyon, the choice of the Nationalist-Labor combines.

Doyon failed by 90 votes to poll the necessary minimum.

Of the total vote polled in the constituency of Hochelaga, Mr. Coderre received 4,444, while Mr. Doyon received 2,248.

The standing in each of the four divisions of the constituency follows:

St. Gabriel—Coderre 1,940, Doyon 668.
St. Cunegonde — Coderre 469, Doyon 331.

St. Henry—Coderre 1,220, Doyon 912.
Westmount — Coderre 1,493, Doyon 55.

When last Mr. Coderre stood for election in Hochelaga he was opposed by L. A. Rivest, and at that time was returned with a majority of 1,262 over his liberal opponent.

Coderre's Statement. "The result shows, beyond a doubt, that French-Canadians are ready to stand shoulder to shoulder with Canadians of other extraction in defence of the rights of Canada and the empire. It shows that they realize that all Canadians must work in concord and harmony in order to develop to the full the wonderful possibilities of this great country. It shows that French-Canadians feel that all their most cherished rights are wrapped up in the maintenance of the British Empire in its present condition; for the day that the British flag falls in battle will be the one on which the rights of Canadians and French-Canadians will be most imperilled."

In these words Mr. Louis Coderre expressed himself concerning the result of today's polling. He addressed several gatherings early in the evening.

Heavy Weight On the Stomach

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Remove it and All Other Forms of Indigestion Quickly.

That awful feeling as though there were a heavy weight on your stomach—as though you had swallowed an enormous lump of lead—is caused by the failure of your stomach to thoroughly digest your foods. You may have eaten too fast, or too much. Your stomach may be overworked, and tired out. It is too weak to produce enough of the digestive juices necessary to take proper care of the food. Gases form and cause all sorts of agony. The stomach demands more pepsin, hydrochloric acid and other digestive agents which it is unable to secrete.

Medicines are not only worthless in cases of this kind, but are actually injurious to the whole system. It is sheer lunacy to pour a lot of vile stuff into the stomach—drugs that have no digestive power whatever.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain ingredients that not only bring quick relief to indigestion sufferers, but actually digest the food for the stomach. One of these little magic tablets taken after each meal will regulate the stomach, revitalize the secretory glands, strengthen the muscular walls—in fact, tone up the entire digestive system.

No home should be without Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets constantly on hand. They step all forms of indigestion, such as sour stomach, belchings, heartburn, dizziness, nervousness, constipation, etc. After a brief course of treatment your appetite improves. You enjoy your food more. You awaken every morning with a happy disposition. Life looks brighter. Your brain becomes clearer and your eyes sparkle with their old-time snap and twinkle. You are practically a new person.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at 50 cents a box.

It is supposed the pills were free samples of some patent medicine carelessly distributed.

JOHNSON WINS POINT

Charge of Abduction Was Not Proved Against Him.

[Canadian Press.] Chicago, Nov. 19.—A charge of abduction against Jack Johnson, negro heavyweight pugilist, was dismissed before Municipal Judge Hopkins, because of the prosecution's inability to prove that association with Johnson led to his arrest, had been abducted by him. The girl and her mother, Mrs. Cameron-Falconet, both of whom are witnesses against Johnson in the federal court action for alleged violation of the Mann white slave act, were not in court when the case was dismissed.

OPPOSE ANTI-TRUST LAW

Labor Men Differ Only on Best Means to Combat Sherman Act.

Rochester, Nov. 19. — An all-day discussion of the Sherman anti-trust law, as interpreted in the Danbury hatter case today prevented consideration by the American Federation of Labor convention of the report by the committee on education on the resolution favoring the adoption of industrial unionism.

Discussion of the Sherman law was ended at 5 o'clock, and the question of taking steps to encourage its amendment was referred back to the committee on the president's report, which will make a recommendation later in the week. By a special order of business, discussion of industrial unionism was not to follow the Sherman law discussion and will be taken up tomorrow morning.

All day speakers arraigned the Sherman law as a menace to the right of workers to associate for purposes of common interest. On this point there was agreement, but a difference of opinion arose as to the best means to combat the law. Whatever means is employed, it was the convention's sentiment that the law must, in the words of President Gompers, be amended or ended.

"HAUNTS AND HOME OF ROBERT BURNS"

Rev. J. G. Inkster's Lecture on the Scottish Poet Was a Rare Treat.

A large crowd in the First Presbyterian Church listened with great appreciation to Rev. J. G. Inkster's lecture on "The Haunts and Home of Robert Burns." There is no doubt but what this lecture will serve to increase the already ardent and numerous admirers of Scotland's national poet, and if the applause accorded Mr. Inkster is any criterion, Robert Burns is very popular among London citizens.

The speaker paid the highest tribute to the Scottish poet, stating that he had struck Scotland at a time when the country was silent, but through his writings the dormant Scots had been awakened and his songs had set them all singing. While Robert Burns was a poet of the first rank, Mr. Inkster said that monuments of the poet had been erected in almost every part of the world. In fact the only places without monuments in his honor were the North and South Poles, and these isolated places would possibly be favored when the work of exploration in these parts had advanced further. However, no statues of Burns were necessary, as his writings would always remain a living monument in the museum of our hearts.

COLORED BELLES WERE A LITTLE TOO PLAYFUL

Mrs. Brown Says She Was Injured in a Mix-Up With Mrs. Henderson.

Mrs. Brown, a colored woman, was admitted to Victor Hospital last evening suffering from a severe fracture of her right arm, which she explained she received in a skirmish with Mrs. Henderson, another colored woman, with whom she boarded at 15 Maitland street.

The injury was a very painful one, but was carefully attended by a member of the hospital staff. Mrs. Brown alleged that when she returned home last evening she was attacked by Mrs. Henderson, who wielded a broom with dire effect. The police were notified but took no action at the time. It is possible that Mrs. Brown will lay an assault charge when she is well enough to be around again.

L. & P. S. R. BOARD WANT LIGHT ON ELECTRIFICATION

Members at Meeting on Tuesday Refused To Be Rushed in the Matter.

ATTITUDE OF THE BIG STEAM LINES

Ald. Ashplant Says He Was Told by a Railwayman That Coal Companies Will Not Use City's Line.

At the meeting of the London and Port Stanley Board, held last evening, it was decided to call in Mr. Gabey, the engineer who made the report, to explain his findings to a meeting of the whole council to be held later this week. Another resolution was passed to the effect that it was in the best interests of the city to maintain the London and Port Stanley line as an independent road. There was quite a long debate over the question, but nothing new was brought out.

Ald. Ashplant insisted that the board should accept the advice of independent experts. The aldermen were not in a position to understand the question, and it should be explained to them by an independent person, acquainted with the situation. It was not to the advantage of the city to rush the matter through.

Ald. Spittal advocated the employment of a railwayman, who could spend some time explaining rates, and the board would be able to ask such questions. He had in mind such a man, and he was of the opinion that much valuable information could be obtained.

The Mayor's Opinion. Mayor Graham explained that in calling the members together he desired to have the report discussed. The communication from the board of trade was well enough in its way, but the board were the responsible body, and must decide what is to be done. They were thankful for the interest taken in so important a matter by the board of trade, but it was impossible to wait until the latter took action before the aldermen decided what was best to be done. Not sufficient time would elapse to discuss the matter.

Mayor Graham expressed the opinion that the report was conservative, and was the best to be obtained. It was for the board to decide what was best to be done. His suggestion was that the whole council be called together, and Mr. Gabey and others who understood the situation called to explain the report in details. That meeting could be arranged without trouble for the present week.

"Would it not be better to secure the services of an independent engineer?" asked Ald. Ashplant. "We are not accustomed to dealing with such problems, and need some assistance. A man could be got at a reasonable figure who would give us an unbiased report. We should receive more information than we have up to the present time."

The Mayor's Report. "We can get men to analyze the present report," said Mayor Graham. "They would not cost much. If we want a man to go into the proposition from beginning to end, that would mean a large sum of money and long delay. The men who made this report are unbiased, and are independent of any railway."

"The men may know something about electrifying the road," said Ald. Ashplant. "There are other phases of the question, however. There is the possibility that the road should be operated as a steam road."

"We should have a railway man in addition," was Ald. Spittal's opinion. "We want a practical man, one who knows the railway situation thoroughly, and one who is able to give definite opinions on these matters. We want to know of the operation of such roads, and the like. There are a host of questions we could ask such a man."

Attitude of the Railways. "What is the attitude of the steam railway lines, likely to use the road, towards electrification?" questioned Ald. Ashplant.

"We cannot obtain that information," answered Mayor Graham. "I am told by one of the best-known coal men in this part of Ontario that the Lake Erie Coal Company will not use the city's line," said Ald. Ashplant.

"There is no doubt they will use the road," declared Mayor Graham. "I talked with the superintendent of the Lake Erie Coal Company, and he appeared to me to be very anxious to do business with the city."

An Independent Line. Ald. Spittal thought the board should express an opinion as to the advisability of keeping the L. and P. S. an independent road.

Ald. Wright moved that it was in the best interests of the city that the London and Port Stanley Road be held as an independent road. This motion carried unanimously. Ald. Ashplant again urged the engagement of independent experts, and declared that it was not necessary to rush the matter through.

"I think we should have Gabey here to explain the report to us," said Ald. Coles. "We want to know where the revenue is coming from. Where is he going to get the freight that will yield us the revenue he says it will. It seems to me that in this matter the report simply states that the expenditure is so much, now get out and hustle for business to meet that."

Only Guesswork. "The report is only guesswork in that respect," declared Ald. Blandford. "What else can it be?" was Ald. Coles' reply.

Ald. Spittal urged that a railwayman be engaged to report to the board. However, after much discussion the board decided to have Mr. Gabey and City Auditor Jewell present at a meeting to be held later in the week. Then if the board desired more information, independent experts would be engaged.

COMMUNITY STUDY CLUB

One Formed by the Young People's Interdenominational Union.

A Community Study Club has been formed by the Young People's Interdenominational Union, with the view of studying the social problems of the city, and of organizing for combined service later on. The club is to meet every alternate Friday.

The first subject which will be discussed is "Our Laws Relating to Morals and Their Importance." Rev. W. R. McIntosh, one of the principal workers in the union, stated that there will be several surprises among the members of the society when this question is brought up for discussion, as many are ignorant of the law in regard to street morals, which are being broken continually on London streets. The executive of the union will be enlarged by adding many who are interested in social service.

ANTI-SUNDAY CAR PEOPLE AWAIT THE FIRST STEP

Will Make No Move Until the Other Side Does, Says Rev. J. G. Stuart.

Rev. J. G. Stuart, of Knox Presbyterian Church, stated to The Advertiser today that the possibility of another anti-Sunday car campaign here had not as yet been discussed.

The anti-Sunday car people are simply waiting for some steps to be taken in favor of their operation. Mr. Stuart told The Advertiser, and when this is done a meeting will be called to discuss the situation.

At present it has not even been decided whether there would be a campaign against the Sunday cars because of the fact that there has not so far been occasion to discuss the question, he said.
