MAYOR MARSHALL.

The announcement that Mayor Marshall will probably move from the city at the conclusion of his term as chief magistrate, will be received with surprise and regret by the many citizens who have learned to respect and admire him. Mr. Marshall, besides proving himself a citizen of the desirable kind, has devoted much of his valuable time to serving the city, first as an alderman for a number of years, and then as Mayor. At the City Council Board his advice has been much sought after and always valued and esteemed. He has acted on all of the important committees in civic service, and has never hesitated to give his colleagues the benefit of his long and creditable experience in municipal affairs.

Mr. Marshall holds the enviable reputation of never having been defeated at the polls. Others have come and gone, but the people have always recognized in the present Mayor a man who would give his best services, honestly and fearlessly. He is the kind of a man the electors look for. His election to the chief office in the city was a deserved reward for his unstinted and excellent work of former years. He will be missed in Chatham, if he holds to his present expressed intention of leaving, but he will carry away with him the sincerest good wishes of all.

REVIVAL POST CARDS.

Once more Chatham is visited by the post card revival fiend, and the shorter he makes his visit, the better it will be, both for himself and the community at large. Several of our most estimable citizens have been the recipients of blasphemous messages from this unscrupulous individual, exhorting them to offer up certain prayers, and heaping curses upon the persons who refuse to follow out the instructions given by this fanatical revivalist.

Chatham, like any other city, would receive much benefit from a religious revival, but the threats contained in the epistles above referred to are not at all in keeping with a sincere religious movement. It is, rather, the product of an unbalanced mind, and the person who provoked this disgusting agitation should long since have found his way into a jail or an asylum.

It is lamentable that the post office authorities allow such objectionable missives to pass through the mails. There is no trouble in detecting them, and if a law were passed prohibiting such misguided religious exerts from carrying on their nefarious business, it could be easily enforced. Revival post cards should be placed in the same class as indecent pictures, as far as the use of the mails is concerned.

The story is told of a young man who stood up in a canoe the other day, in his excited desire to shoot a deer, when the canoe upset and the enthusiastic hunter was drowned. It was indeed a dear shoot for him. These lessons are costly.

In Russia, according to despatches, the Government is being continually defied. In the light of the London case, it seems to be the people who are treated that way in this country. If the Czar hears of this, he may send for Sir Wilf.

Premier Whitney has given out that the election to fill the vacancy in East Hamilton caused by the death of Mr. H. Carleton, K. C., M. P., will take place in considerably less time than the three months' limit prescribed by the act. He did not say what the date would likely be, but intimated that it would be decided this week.

Cake, coffee, magazines and entertainment are provided at the Sherbourne street Methodist church, Toronto, after the regular Sunday service, as a novel feature to make the visitor feel at home in the congregation. Well, this may be necessary in Toronto. If they added a little touch "on the side" they might commence a revival among the newspaper men.

Dr. Torrey, the noted evangelist, thinks there are great opportunities for him in Hamilton. What is the matter with the Hamilton preachers? But then—why specify Hamilton?

OUT OF DATE.

"Tax the billboards out of existence," is the battle-cry of the American Civic Association, an organization for promoting civic improvements. There is no more use for billboards in a city with daily newspapers than there is for the now obsolete town crier with bell in hand.

BETTER RESIGN WITH HYMAN.

Hon. M. Ayleworth is supplying evidence daily that he is neither a statesman nor yet a politician.

LONG GREEN FOR US!

Arthur Stringer, the Canadian poet, has some verses in The Smart Set wherein he speaks of "the lyric grass." Experts at the Department of Agriculture say that while the lyric kind is all right for sheep, the dramatic variety is far better for milch cows.

WEDDING FOOLISHNESS.

We are pleased to see that the Grand Trunk is taking steps to suppress the rice-throwing nuisance at stations when the bridal couple are going away. It is a piece of inexcusable foolishness, which ought to be suppressed. The charivari idiot with a gun is next on the list.

JUST A LITTLE BIT OFF THE TOP

The post card revival fiend is busy again. Some enterprising merchant should give this chap a job addressing monthly accounts, and let him work off his surplus itching to write in a useful way.

A number of men who were up in Police Court yesterday morning said that whiskey brought them there. A careful investigation of the case, though, might convince them that they brought the whiskey there.

Misouri has a hog worth $2,000, says a Kansas City paper. Nothing to blow about. There are lots of other hogs who have saved that much.

A Hazelton, Pa., teacher asks her pupils by allowing a two-minute sleep. We have never heard of any preacher following suit, but the results during some sermons are much along the same line.

Although a peace society has been organized in Japan, no nation without a competent navy should take chances on making faces at the little yellow men.

MAPLE CITY CELEBRITIES.

From day to day little nonsense rhymes concerning Chatham's prominent officials, will appear in Off the Top.

M. A. P.'s Career.

Thomas Power O'Connor, the well-known member of the British House of Commons, predicted that self-government for Ireland was but a matter of days, when he addressed the United Irish League convention at Philadelphia recently. Mr. O'Connor sits for Scotland division, Liverpool, and is editor of a popular society journal, M. A. P. (Monthly Address of People). He was born at Athone, Ireland, Oct. 5, 1848. His education was obtained at the College of the Immaculate Conception, Athone, and Queen's College, Galway, from which he was graduated in his 18th year senior scholar in history and modern languages. He entered journalism as a junior reporter on Saunders's Newsletter, a Dublin Conservative Journal, 1867, and migrated to London in search of a situation in 1870. Subsequently Mr. O'Connor served as sub-editor of The Daily Telegraph and was employed in the London office of The New York Herald. He entered Parliament for Galway in 1880, and in 1885 was returned for both Galway and Liverpool. He chose the latter constituency, which he has since represented. Mr. O'Connor was founder and editor of The Star, Sun, Weekly Sun and T. P.'s Weekly. His publications include "Lord Beaconsfield," "The Parnell Movement," "Gladstone's House of Commons," "The Phantom Millions," and other books, articles and essays.

Cull Out the Flock.

The young fowls are now almost fully developed, and we can easily separate the good from the bad. Go over the flock now and send all those that are not up to the standard requirement to the butcher. Do not cull too close, as some few may outgrow apparent defects, and if not they also may be sent later on.

Often half grown fowls show off colored feathers, but after the molt they show no defects. Cull gradually, but do not keep any which are not fully up to the standard requirements—Hens and Fowls. The average man would find it was if he wasn't too apt to find fault.

PLANT PECULIARITIES.

No plant will produce flowers unless there is iron in the soil in which it grows.
All plants are provided with flowers, though sometimes these are so small and so hidden as to escape notice.
The bleeding heart, according to an eastern legend, originated in the drops of blood which fell from Christ's side at the crucifixion.

Every flower that has a perfume at all secretes a volatile oil, the evaporation of which constitutes the peculiar odor characteristic of the blossom.

The smallest flower known to the botanist is said to be that of the yeast plant. It is microscopic in size and is said to be only one-hundredth of a millimeter in diameter.

According to the poetical idea of Catullus, the rose was once white, but blushed red and remained so out of shame for allowing its thorns to inflict a wound on the feet of Venus.

GOOD REASONS FOR ITS SUCCESS

The majority of catarrh remedies are useless. But one that does cure is Catarrhine. It clears the head of all mucous discharge. Patrid matter in the nostrils, phlegm in the throat, and disease germs are completely swept away. The cause of the disease is destroyed, its results are destroyed, and the system is thoroughly cleansed of catarrhal poison that cure is permanent. All types of catarrh, throat and bronchial trouble, colds and coughs are more certainly cured by Catarrhine than any other remedy. Two sizes, 25c. and $1. at all dealers.

His Horse's Meal.

A huckster, coming out of a patron's house one day, saw a boy feeding apples to his horse. Pleased at seeing the animal so well cared for, he asked at no cost to himself, the man patted the boy on the head and said: "That's right; always be good to animals. And where did you buy those pretty apples?" "I did not buy them," the boy answered. "I took them out of your wagon."

PAZOS CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS. Pazo Ointment is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days, or money refunded. 50 cents.

Peanut As Food.

The little peanut that only a few years ago was considered by the physicians as unfit to put into the stomach is now the basis of the food products of one of the largest sanitariums in the country. Analysis shows it to contain three times the nutriment of beef; hence as it becomes better known and its value realized it enters the bill of fare in the shape of peanut butter, salted peanuts, soup, cakes, etc. Many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore a local remedy is of no use. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Making Light of Misfortune.

Bishop Tugwell, of England, now on his missionary travels in the Sahara sends an account of water "too dirty for us to clean it with our bodies. It made excellent coffee, however." Tapistyle resignation of this sort might be copied by British troops at the front or explorers. "House burnt down by natives in the night. Cheerful blaze and wonderful warmth; thanked them formally in the morning. Slept soundly all night on a prickly pear tree."

QUEER LOVEMAKING.

A South American Bird Which Wins Its Mate by Dancing.

There is a bird in South America that makes love with its feet. It is a handsome creature, but walks clumsily, and the only sound it can utter is a hoarse chuck. It dances, however, in a way that wins admiration from the females of its sex, though its antics only serve as an incentive to laughter to human beings who see them.

This bird, known as the cock of the rock, lives in the northern mountainous portion of South America. It is about the size of a large chicken.

The entire bird—body, head wings and tail—is blood red in color, with the exception of the tail feathers, which have a narrow band of brown across them near the ends which are tipped with buff. On the head is a crest of feathers like a great red ball, which contracts or expands at the pleasure of its owner.

When the mating season comes seven to ten males seek some secluded spot where there is a level patch of ground and clear it of any sticks, stones or leaves, stamping down the dirt till it is hard and level.

Then they call the females, who stand at the edges of this novel arena. One at a time the males then perform a most curious dance. Each dancer will first strut up and down a few times and then, to the apparent delight of the rest, commence to caper around in an extremely ludicrous manner, spreading his tail and wings, puffing up his crest, bowing to the others and at the same time keeping up a hopping gait until he is exhausted.

When all the males have danced each female will choose a mate, and the happy pairs depart to begin housekeeping.

ARTIFICIAL FLOWERS.

Each Part of the Larger Ones Is Made by Specialists.

Artificial flowers were invented by pious nuns. In the Italian convents the altars and shrines were up to the end of the eighteenth century decorated with artificial flowers, laboriously put together, of paper, parchment and other stiff materials. In a Venetian warehouse the most wonderful productions of natural flowers are exhibited in glass cases, and in many cases, not only the richest and most brilliant colors, but the very agent of the flowers has been stolen from nature, for some of the artificial flowers are steeped in the perfume distilled from the flower which it represents. Last century a Swiss invented a machine for cutting out the leaves and petals, but it can only be used for the smaller kinds, such as are wanted for pinning, like the valley and other small flowers. In larger petals the irregularities of manual work are preferred to the stiff and correct forms produced by machinery. This material of which the petals are made is woven in special factories. The scissors and other tools used by the girls employed as well as the presses in which the veins are traced on the leaves are of a shape specially adapted to the work. Each part of a flower is made by specialists. In one room, for instance, only stalks of flowers and leaves are made; in another, fruits and berries of all kinds are cut if they are to be blown in made of glass. The cleverest workers are employed in making blossoms of the single petals and bouquets, wreaths and garlands of the single blossoms.—Dundee Advertiser.

First Tariff Makers.

If you turn to a map of Spain, you will take note at its southern point, and running out into the strait of Gibraltar of a promontory which from its position is admirably adapted for commanding the entrance of the Mediterranean sea and watching the entrance and exit of all ships. A fortress stands upon this promontory, called now, as it was called in the time of the Moorish domination in Spain, Tarifa. The name is of Moorish origin. It was the custom of the Moors to watch from this point all merchant ships going into or coming out of the midland sea and to levy duties according to a fixed scale on all merchandise contained therein. This duty was called from the place where it was levied "tarifa," or tariff.

Arnold's Comment.

As school inspector Matthew Arnold was examining a class in geography one day, and holding up the poker with which he was about to stir the fire, he asked if any child could tell him where it was manufactured. There was a long silence, broken by the schoolmistress, who remarked nervously that such information was not mentioned in Cornwell's geography. "No," said Arnold; "Cornwell's an ass!"

The Entertainer.

"My wife is a lecturer, and I am an entertainer," said Hobbs.
"Indeed? I knew your wife appeared in public, but I did not know that you ever did."

"Oh, I don't. I stay at home and entertain the baby."

Butchers.
There was not enough of the good butchers to supply the demand, and the export class was invaded to get enough good cattle. Best butchers sold at $4.25 to $4.50, and a couple of loads of exporters were bought for butchers' purposes at $4.75; medium to fair butchers' $3.85 to $4.15; lighter grades, $3.65 to $3.75; common at $3.25 to $3.50; cows, $2.75 to $3.00; canners, $1 to $2.25 per cwt.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.
Montreal, Oct. 29.—(Special.)—Cattle from Liverpool and London on Canadian cattle were strong and noted an advance in prices of 1/2c to 1c, with sales in the former market at 11½c, and in the latter one at 11½c to 12c. Much cattle in Liverpool were 1/2c higher, at 10½c; demand for ocean space has improved considerably, which has strengthened the market, and rates have advanced 2s to 2s 6d per head, and the bulk of the space has been engaged for the balance of the season at 30s to 35s to Liverpool, 50 miles away.

Imports last week were 2921 cattle. Receipts today were 2000 cattle, 50 miles away, 2000 sheep and lambs, 1000 hogs, 100 calves. The most important feature of the trade was the want for feeding calves, which were sold at 4c to 4c 1/2, and the common stock at 2c to 2c 1/2, while the lean calves were sold at 2c 1/2 to 3c.

The demand for hogs this morning at the above reduction in prices was good, notwithstanding the fact that the pickers were fairly well supplied with stock, and sales of selected lots were made at $5 to $6.25 per 100 lbs. weighed off cars.

The butchers were out strong, and there was a good demand for the best cattle at last week's rates, but the common and inferior beasts were slow of sale at lower prices. Prime hogs were sold at 4c to 4c 1/2 per lb.; pretty good, 3½c to 4c, and the common stock at 2c to 2c 1/2, while the lean calves were sold at 2c 1/2 to 3c.

The estate is estimated to be worth over half a million, the great bulk of which goes to benevolent and religious purposes.

Mount Allison University, of which Mr. Hart was regent, will eventually receive $100,000, and the Nova Scotia Methodist conference and the Missionary Society of Canada, $100,000; the Halifax Y. M. The Signs of Heart Trouble

You can Surely Secure Heart Health and Strength through Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

Heart weakness which can be dealt with at all is nerve weakness. Just as your hand trembles when its nerves are weak, your heart also trembles when its nerves are weak. Other signs are shortness of breath after taking exercise; fainting spells; pain or tenderness about the heart caused by irregular heart action; chills; a sensation in the chest, showing that the heart is not working properly. Usually the left side of the heart is affected, and the blood is not pumped out properly. Dr. Shoop's Restorative will strengthen the heart and nerves, and give you a new lease of life. It is just the same natural and permanent. It is just the same strength as Nature gives to those who are well. Dr. Shoop's Restorative creates strength which overcomes the cause of the trouble as well as the result. For sale and recommended by C. H. GUNN & CO.

Former Orillia Suicides.

Buffalo, Oct. 30.—Charles R. Gray, 48 years old, a writer for journals devoted to horses, committed suicide at the Southern Hotel here yesterday morning. JAILORS CARELESS

May Have Helped on the Escape of the Brampton Prisoners.

Toronto, Oct. 30.—Slackness on the part of Brampton jail wardens is under-estimated by the reported cause of the escape of McDonald and Abbott, awaiting trial on a charge of attempted murder.

Many Turned Out

Six Months In a Jail Too Much For a "Drunk."

Montreal, Oct. 30.—There has been a great jail delivery. Twenty-three drunkards have been let out of the Montreal jail, and a still greater number are to be let out of the Quebec jail.

These men have been released on a writ of certiorari, taken out by I. House, advocate, who took the grounds that the recorders had no right to sentence drunkards to such long terms as from six to nine months. The result of these long terms has been an overcrowding of the jails, so that about 50 of the prisoners had to be sent to Quebec.

His Lordship Judge Taschereau on the 25th inst., and he quashed the judgments given in the recorders' courts, and the result of the judgment will be far-reaching. Not only will a total of about a hundred drunkards and vagabonds be given their liberty, but this hundred has instructed the suits will be sue the city, and the suits will be brought for amounts at the rate of $2 a day for each day spent in prison.

Montreal, Oct. 30.—Mr. R. L. Borden, M. P., delivered an address here yesterday before the Canadian Club on the "Citizen and the State."

Animals Which Washed Dishes.

Beckmann gave a delightful account of a coon which used to amuse itself by washing various odds and ends in a bucket of water. An old pot handle, a small shell, or anything of the sort would do.

But the thing he loved best of all was an empty bottle. Clipping it in his fore paws he would waddle slowly to the bucket with the bottle clasped close to his breast, and then roll it and rinse it in the water. If anyone ventured to disturb him he was furious, and threw himself upon his back, clinging so tightly to his beloved bottle that he could be lifted by it.

Beckmann says that bears will do the same sort of thing. He relates the case of a polar bear which used to roll an old iron pot to and fro in his tank, and then, lifting it out, rub it in his tawny, rough, shaggy skin, and wash his fore paws exactly like a washerwoman washing clothes. THOUSANDS IN A MAD RUSH.

Walker Lake Indian Reservation Thrown Open—A Wild Time.

Thorne, Nevada, Oct. 30.—Early yesterday morning thousands of men were prepared for the dash into the Walker Lake Indian reservation, although the signal for the start was not to be given until noon.

Promptly at 12 o'clock a big charge of dynamite was exploded and the race for gold was on.

Launched, rowboats, automobiles, horses and burros, were used to speed the prospectors to the place where the mineral deposits of the reservation are located.

Charges have been freely made that favoritism is being shown in allowing certain prospectors to enter the forbidden ground and stake out their claims before the signal was given.

Owing to the small force of Indian police have found it impossible to keep the thousands of prospectors in check.

Many of them have evaded the guards and are out of reach.

"Grand Peninsular"

Is an Ornament to the Home.

Popular taste no longer clings to deeply carved, highly ornamental ranges.

People now want rich, yet simple, elegance.

That is the way I make my new Grand Peninsular Range.

The "Grand Peninsular" is easy to keep clean, because there are no deep carvings to collect the dust and dirt. The design is simple but very effective. No fuss or frills. Just smooth surfaces which take a beautiful bright polish. The nickelled castings are detachable, and can be lifted off without loosening a bolt, when the range is to be brushed or cleaned.

Then there is the ALL-STEEL OVEN—the THERMOMETER on the oven door—extra large GRATE BARS—and a dozen other time-and-labor-saving conveniences—that are exclusive with my GRAND PENINSULAR. Have your dealer show you all these points.

WILL BUILD HOTEL

Frank Babcock, Formerly Of The City Will Erect An Up-To-Date
House In London

A message to the effect that Bethune, Bethune and Fuch, architects, Buffalo, will build the new hotel in London when location is decided, which will be yesterday from Mr.
Babcock, who announced a short time ago, while in Toronto, that before long he would have a company organized which would build a large and up-to-date hotel in London.

Evidently Mr. Babcock has succeeded in demonstrating that the proposition is a good one, and has had sufficient capital subscribed to put the proposition through.

It is further announced that the architects mentioned are members of the same firm which built the New Lafayette Hotel, which is known as one of the most modern hotels in Buffalo of any of the other large cities.

Mr. Babcock promises before long to be able to announce definitely and authoritatively when the new hotel will be commenced, and where.

Mr. Babcock is an old Chatham boy and will be remembered by the many local lovers of Canada's national game.

BIG BOILER EXPLODES

Merrill, Oct. 30.—One of the large boilers in the C. H. Campbell farm belonging to Charlie Gore, drilling contractor, exploded on Saturday, and was blown about fifty feet in the air, striking on its flue and only about four or five feet from its original position. The workers on the drilling rig at the time were just hitching in to the tools, which took them away from the offending boiler, and possibly saved loss of life.
The boiler is almost a complete wreck. Low water is supposed to have been the cause of the explosion.

OYSTERS.
We have something new in the way of oysters—or rather in the way of handling. We have just received from Baltimore a large box of solid oysters. These are called Seal Shipped Oysters.

The oysters are opened in Baltimore, put in a large box in their own juice, ice is placed in a separate compartment, they are then sealed and come direct to us. They are SOLID OYSTERS—no water or ice has ever touched them since being taken out of their shells in Baltimore. In this way they retain their flavor and are much superior to the ordinary oysters we are accustomed to here.

They cost more but are cheaper in the end as they are SOLID OYSTERS.

The Gordon Store NOVEMBER Fur Announcement!

Furs are increasingly and deservedly popular as articles of dress. Some of the best fur-producing countries are unsettled, and the hunters' catch hindered or neglected, causing an advance in the price of raw furs, which we were sure would occur. To secure to our customers the very best of values, and equal or even lower prices than former years, we have secured the agency for this section of The Celebrated Beaver Brand Furs.

In the face of a steady advance in the price of furs, we want to show you what a saving you can accomplish by purchasing at The Gordon Store.

In the Beaver Brand you can rest assured you are getting honest manufactured furs, of good quality, the most careful workmanship and up-to-date models. We guarantee satisfaction in style, price and wear. To insure against ripping, wear and tear, especially in astrachan coats, ladies' coat leaders, we have ours reinforced by a new system of seaming and interlining, which shall be fully explained to every purchaser. Saves Frown on Brief Sleep.

The papers read in the physiological section of the British Association for the Advancement of Science in London discussing sleep and rest, were all apposed to the old idea that mankind should be content with short slumber.

The Duke of Wellington's dictum of six hours for a man, seven for a woman and eight for a fool, went by the board.

Francis Dyke Acland urged the necessity for plenty of sleep for the young as necessary to their bodily and mental development. He said that most of a boy's growth was done in bed.

He quoted a letter from the headmaster of a large school, where the breakfast hour had been changed from 7 to 8 o'clock, as saying that the whole school was brighter and doing better work.

Dr. Gotch said that the healthiest sleep was dreamless. He mentioned Lord Kitchener's faculty of being able to go into dreamless sleep at any moment.

Prof. Lewis said that the normal sleep of a laboring man during the first half hour was very deep and then grew shallower.

Prof. Meyers related his own experience with a German doctor. He arranged to be awakened after half an hour to see what his mental condition was. He set himself several problems in arithmetic. The next day he, and so on, increasing the time for sleep by an hour a day until he got six hours.

He found his ability in connection with arithmetic as great after an hour's sleep as after six hours. When, however, he came to try another test this one completely broke down. In trying to test his memory he found it grew in proportion to the number of hours of sleep he took.

When the tip of a dog's nose is cold and moist, that dog is not sick. A feverish, dry nose means sickness with a dog. And so with the human lips. Dry, cracked and colorless lips mean feverishness, and are as well ill appearing. To have beautiful pink, velvet-like lips, apply at bedtime a coating of Dr. Shoop's Green Salve. It will soften and heal any skin ailment. Get a free trial box, at our store, and be convinced. Large, nickel capped glass jars, 25 cents.

Plans of Historic Interest.

Lieut. Philpott's plan of York in 1823, showing the waterfront, the island and the bay, reached the provincial archivist from the British War Office. The reproduction is finely done in colors. A plan of the battle near Quebec in 1760, when the British, under Murray, were besieged by the French, under Lévis, drawn by Major McKellar, and French maps of Quebec showing the fortifications in 1680 and 1723, have also been sent to Mr. Fraser.

Culture of the Grape.

The paramount object in the culture of the grape in most parts of the world has been the obtaining of wine. The extent of this will be surprising and hardly believed by those not acquainted with the statistics. Thus, for instance, there are annually produced on the globe over 4,000,000,000 gallons of wine. Of this amount the United States produces only about 50,000,000 gallons.

PERIL IN ATHLETICS

PHYSICAL EXERCISE SHOULD BE TAKEN IN MODERATION.

Muscle Building Is Not Necessary to Good Health, and Severe Training Weakens the Heart and Nerves and Lowers Vitality.

Once beyond the bounds of moderation, physical exercise and physical training not only weaken the heart for a lifetime, predispose to pneumonia, cause pulmonary tuberculosis and make extra possible a dozen other ills, but they unfit a man from being the ideal husband and father.

Dr. Robert E. Coughlin of Brooklyn, says the New York Times, has been collecting statistics upon and following the careers of athletes for years. He examined the contestants in amateur boxing matches, and the abnormal development of the best of them struck him. Magnificently developed as to their muscles, they were far from being men of normal health and strength. Beyond a certain point the muscular training was at the expense of their vitality. It took away from the heart and lungs. There was scarcely an organ of the system not affected and made less efficient. It seemed worth while to explore further into the cause.

"In regard to the heart, to be derived from athletics," says the doctor, "one has only to remember the physiology of exercise to become convinced of the fact that exercise, per se, may be very beneficial. The point to bear in mind is to advise the person to stop before fatigue becomes evident. We can do this readily when the athlete is interested in games for the mere exercise, but such advice cannot be offered when his aim is to excel in an athletic contest. Here it where athletics do great harm, and it would be a safe rule to advise against all forms of athletics in the nature of a contest.

"Athletics may be said to be beneficial until the heart begins to be markedly hypertrophied. This is the danger signal."

Hypertrophied is the medical man's way of saying enlarged—that is, the walls or muscles of the heart increase in size. Though this is the "danger signal," there is no real danger here, only a warning. The danger comes when, in consequence of additional exertion, the heart dilates, its interior grows larger, displacing the delicate machinery, causing the valves to leak. Then come "murmurs," and though a man may live for years with weakened valves he may die any day and any moment.

Does physical exercise, then, build up the general health and make a better man out of a man? There seems to be a question, with some scientific men saying today very emphatically, "Not unless that physical exercise is very moderate indeed."

Health, one of the big English authorities (Sir Michael Foster) puts it, does not exist. It is like happiness. Each has a goal or limit which, while seemingly attainable, eludes perfect possession. The body consists of a number of mechanisms which have the closest and most exact relations, and as they approximate to harmony there is health, but when disordered there is ill health.

Not necessarily does a man by physical training and much exercise become a better man, nor does he even get better health. Here is the striking evidence of it in scientific statements of the day.

To obtain good health, muscle building is not a necessity. One cannot judge of a person's health by the size and hardness of the muscles. We have seen that the converse may be true. To obtain health one must not be in a perfectly trained condition owing to the effects of severe training on the nervous system. There is no evidence to prove that athletics and muscle building improve the constitution. One should always keep in mind the fact that built up or hypertrophied muscle has a tendency to degenerate. The heart, being a muscular organ, shares in this tendency.

But the athlete is a man who goes through the severest physical strain and training. If he boxes, runs, is a gymnast, a football player, a wrestler, an expert at baseball or tennis, any sport requiring violent exercise and the constant keeping in trim for it, all the rest of his body is sacrificed for the overdevelopment of these special muscles, and the rest of it must somehow suffer.

All the body should develop together, as it were. Body and mind should be built up evenly. If overathletics does nothing else it produces a wearing and tearing nervous strain.

When it comes to the actual athlete, the man who specializes on some form of physical force and muscle power, these conditions are greatly aggravated. Severe athletic training and muscle building, it is now an acknowledged fact of science, are at the expense of the nervous and glandular systems.

"An experienced athlete," says one authority, "gave as his opinion that a man sacrifices a certain part of his life every time he enters a contest of any kind. He also said that a man when 'fit' as expressed by athletes, is in an abnormally nervous condition. In other words, he can never remain at ease for a minute at a time and, like the caged lion, is forever on the move during his waking moments. It has been noticed by observers that athletes are often sickly and particularly susceptible to constipation and appendicitis."

TIRED OF LIFE
AWFUL SUFFERING

From Dreadful Pains From Wound on Foot—System All Run Down After Six Months' Agony—Not Able to Work—Completely Cured in Two Weeks.

MIRACULOUS CURE BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"Words cannot speak highly enough for the Cuticura Remedies. I am now seventy-two years of age. My system had been all run down. My blood was so bad that I had several doctors attending me so finally I went to the hospital, where I was laid up for two months. My foot and ankle were almost beyond recognition. Dark blood flowed out of wounds in many places, and I was so disheartened that I thought surely my last chance was leaving me. As the foot did not improve, you can readily imagine how I felt. I was simply disgusted and tired of life. I stood this pain, which was dreadful, for six months, and during this time I was not able to wear a shoe and not able to work."

"Some one spoke to me about Cuticura. The consequences were I bought a set of the Cuticura Remedies of one of my friends who was a druggist, and the praise that I gave after the second application is beyond description; it seemed a miracle, for the Cuticura Remedies took effect immediately. I washed the foot with the Cuticura Soap before applying the Ointment and I took the Resolvent at the same time. After two weeks' treatment my foot was healed completely. People who had seen my foot during my illness and who have seen it since the cure, can hardly believe their eyes."

Robert Schoenbauer, Newburgh, N. Y., Aug. 21, 1905.

Raising Crops By Electricity.

By spreading currents from a static electrical machine over a plot of growing carrots Professor Lemström of Helsingfors, according to B. Tolksdorf in the Leipzig Illustrirte Zeitung, has increased the yield by 39 per cent. during the first year and 90 per cent. in succeeding years as compared with similar plots not electrically treated. On small parcels of land experiments with potatoes, the currents being generated in the earth by means of copper and zinc plates sunk at intervals and connected by insulated wires above the ground wires, have recorded an increased yield of from 50 to 100 per cent.

Amateur Essays.

Apocryphal of extravagant education there is no more utter waste, whether in board schools or those of higher class, than essay writing by children. A poultry paper quotes a little boy's effort on that subject. "Geese is a nasty animal, for they will jump your back and beat you with their feathers," writes this budding literary genius, "and the turkeys is a large kind of hen." This may be an extreme instance, but it furnishes the text for an essay on "geese" of quite another kind.—London Sketch.

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

A New Shirt Waist Model—Odd Jewels at a Premium.

A mighty swagger lingerie shirt waist is made of alternate strips of rather wide valencienne insertion and slightly gathered two inch puffs of handkerchief linen arranged horizontally. The sleeves are fashioned in the same way and finish just below the elbow with three tiny lace edged ruffles.

Garnets are very fashionable. Odd necklaces and pins of this becoming red stone are searched for in antique shops. A particularly original necklace was run to cover the other day consisting of small blocks of uncut garnets fastened together with invisible links.

Bracelets of all sorts are worn in extravagant numbers. Several narrow ones on the left arm are usually of "semi" as well as precious stones, set in all kinds of clever designs.

The pointed bodice is the newest thing in styles so far. Occasionally a giraffe effect is the form it takes, but more often it is the waist itself, carefully shaped to fit without a wrinkle and slanting into a deep, graceful point directly in front. These waists are close fitting and well boned. There are few figures to which this bodice is not becoming, for anything that makes the waist look smaller is bound to look well on the stout and slim woman alike.

Shades running between brown and gray promise to be the leading colors of the season—such, for instance, as "smoked glass," "elephant's tail," etc.

The dress illustrated is a serviceable little frock for school wear. It is made of navy blue panama cloth trimmed with black braid. The gimp of all over embroidery softens the effect about the face, and, as it is detachable, a fresh one is easily substituted.

HERE AND THERE.

A "Suit Yourself" Hat Season—Simplicity in Tailored Costumes.

All sorts of hats are fashionable, and one may wear what is most becoming or what appeals to one's fancy. Large and small hats have an equal following for precedence. Among the latter class is a delightful little toque formed entirely of pink roses with a splendid black aigret placed directly in front.

Cream tints are apt to make the complexion look yellow, while dead white has much to commend it. Rose and all shades of pink continue popular, but there is no color that can be called a STOP, WOMAN!

AND CONSIDER THE ALL-IMPORTANT FACT

That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers a great many years.

Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, who for many years under her direction, and since her decease, she has been advising sick women free of charge.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman, thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of this vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

If you are ill, do not hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice.

When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women, you cannot well say "without trying it" "I do not believe it will help me."

ORIGIN OF "THE MARSEILLAISE."

Romantic Circumstances Attending Writing of France's National Hymn.

Probably no national hymn has ever roused the frenzy of patriotic enthusiasm which always attends the singing of "The Marseillaise." The bloody deeds of the French Revolution were all commemorated in the music of this inspiring song, and, curiously enough, it seems to fire the hearts of the people when they are actuated by widely different motives.

The origin of the song is interesting and would seem to indicate that it was indeed an inspiration in the true sense of the word. Lamartine gives the story in his "Histoire des Girondins."

A Trying Winter.

In the garison of Strasbourg was quartered a young and well-officer named Rouget de Lisle, a native of Louis de Salmier, in the Jura. He had a great taste for music and poetry, and often entertained his comrades during their long and tedious hours in the garison. Sought after for his musical and poetical talent, he was a frequent and familiar guest at the house of one Dietrich, an Alsatian patriot, Minister of Strasbourg.

The winter of 1792 was a period of great scarcity at Strasbourg. The house of Dietrich was poor, his table was frugal, but a seat was always open to Rouget de Lisle.

"Drink France and Liberty!"

One day there was nothing but bread and some slices of smoked ham on the table. Dietrich, regarding the young officer, said to him, with sad serenity:

"Abundance falls at our boards; but what matters that, if enthusiasm falls not at our throats? Let us drink to the hearts of our soldiers? I have still a last bottle of wine in my cellar. Bring it," said he to one of his daughters, "and let us drink France and Liberty! Strasbourg should have its patriotic solemnity. De Lisle must drink from these last drops one of those hymns which raise the soul of the people."

He Sought Inspiration.

The wine was brought and drank, after which the officer departed. The night was cold, De Lisle was thoughtful. His heart was moved, his head heated. He returned staggering to his solitary room and slowly sought inspiration—sometimes in the fervor of his citizen soul, and anon on the keys of his instrument, composing now the air before the words, and then the words before the air. He sung all, and wrote nothing, and at last, exhausted, fell asleep with his head resting on his instrument, and awoke not till day-break.

Spread All Over France.

The music of the night returned to his mind like the impression of a dream. He wrote it, and ran to Dietrich, whom he found in the garden digging winter lettuce. The wife and daughters of the old man were not up. Dietrich awoke them, and called in some friends, all as passionate as himself for music, and able to execute the composition of De Lisle. At the first stanza, cheeks grew pale; at the second, tears flowed; and at the last the delirium of enthusiasm burst forth. The wife of Dietrich, his daughters, himself, and the young officer, threw themselves, crying, into each other's arms.

The hymn of the country was found. Executed some days afterward in Strasbourg, the new song flew from city to city, and was played by all the popular orchestras. Marseilles adopted it to be sung at the commencement of the sittings of the clubs, and the Marseillaise spread it through France, singing it along the public roads.

From this came the name of "Marseillaise."

The Travel Magazine is an "Old Friend with a New Face," as it is a continuation of The Four Track News, which has been doubled in size to allow the publishers to use larger illustrations. [This will be appreciated by all who were familiar with Four Track News, which was not large enough to show the grandeur of the scenery which is depicted each month in this magazine, which will be realized when looking at "With Rocks and Perpendicular Lines," in the current number. Although the size has been doubled the price of The Travel Magazine is the same as was charged for Four Track News, $1.00 per annum.]

"To Abitibi with the Prospectors," with which the November number of Rod and Gun opens, is a delightful account of a cruise from Lake Temiskaming to Lake Abitibi. It is very fully illustrated, showing the beauty of the scenery through which the travellers passed. The experience of "A Modern Jonah" make attractive reading, but no one would envy his experiences. The wide interest that is felt on the subject of Game Protection is shown in "The Progress of Game Protection" and "Game and Fish Protection in Nova Scotia." In Rod and Gun we have a splendid sporting magazine, second to none in America, and Canadians may feel proud to think Mr. Taylor has succeeded in raising it to the present high standard.

The November number of Table Talk, "The American authority upon culinary topics and fashions of the table," has reached us. Being the Thanksgiving number the recipes are chiefly for edibles that are suitable for that day. Commencing with directions for choosing a good turkey, preparing and cooking it, recipes for many Thanksgiving delicacies are given. There are seasonable menus for every day in November.

In the department Housekeepers Inquiries, which is edited by Cornelius C. Bedford, who was formerly principal of the New York Cooking School, all questions pertaining to food, its preparation, serving, etc., which may be asked by regular subscribers will be answered. The subscription is only $1.00 per annum; published monthly by Table Talk Publishing Co., Philadelphia.

Night and Day is a little magazine which is issued quarterly in the interests of the Dr. Barnardo Homes. As many of our readers know, Dr. Barnardo's Charitable Institutions have done more towards the rescue of neglected children than any other organization in the world. The children that are rescued are trained for a time in England before being sent to this country; when they have successfully passed their term of probation they are sent to Canada and placed in one of the Barnardo Homes here until suitable provision can be made for them. The wonderful work that is being carried on will be realized from these figures.—There were 12,005 applicants for admission in 1905; of these 2,412 were permanently admitted; of the 9,683 who were not destitute, though not admitted permanently, they were either given temporary shelter or were helped in other ways.

Night and Day tells of the many channels through which help can be given to these most worthy institutions.

Night and Day, the Quarterly Magazine of Dr. Barnardo's Homes, has a crowded issue for September. It gives a fully illustrated report of the annual meeting of the Homes, at which Sir John Gorst, the Bishop of Kensington, and Lord Brassey were the principal speakers. A pictorial supplement is devoted to a striking and indeed unique set of 2,412 photographs, showing the face of every boy and girl admitted to the institutions in one year. That that alone speaks eloquently as to the continued necessity for the beneficent labors of the Homes in our midst. So long as ten destitute children can be picked up every day in England, so long will these institutions be rendering the best of service to the State and to humanity! This wonderful charity, which seems to be extending its efforts as rapidly since Dr. Barnardo's death as for years before. A copy of Night and Day will be sent gratis and post free on application at the head office, 18 to 26, Stepney Causeway, London, E. It is worth the attention of all our readers.

"HARKING BACK."

Most of us have moments when we should like to "hark back," when our early memories rise up in appealing images clothed in the freshness of childhood; and we should be glad to forsake the dusty road of middle age and travel backward if we could reclaim them. Charles Emme's story in the November McClure's, "When Jonathan Hatch Harks Back," touches a tender chord in every one of us. Beneath its rollicking humor there is a strain of the homely sentimentality which refreshes and ennobles the weary victim of the strenuous life.
