Letters from the Front

Letters from Our Boys Who Are Fighting for Us

Somewhere in France,
Monday, July 22nd, 1918.

Dear Liz,—
I received your very welcome letter last night, dated June 25th, and I assure you I was very glad to get it. I haven't had a letter from you for quite a long time now, but I suppose you are very busy in the office and haven't very much spare time now. By the way, I have only received three of those "Waterdown Reviews" so far. They were the ones you put in envelopes. That is the only way to send them, for if they are not put up that way why most likely I will never get them, so please when you send me some more, put them in envelopes.

You are vastly mistaken if you think I haven't had any strawberries yet. I had some nearly two months ago and even to-day I had some. I found them in an old deserted French garden. You see there is nobody living around here now, but it used to be very thickly populated and every house has its little garden attached. I had a good feed of red and black currants, raspberries and cherries and gooseberries the other day.

Yes, I am in the line and am having a pretty good time of it. You see things are very quiet around here just at present. We get a few shells occasionally, but nothing to worry about.

The weather over here is beautiful, in fact it has been fine all summer, very little if any rain and the trenches are in fine shape, for which, I might say, we are all truly thankful.

I haven't received the box you sent me as yet, but I am expecting to get it any day now. You see it takes very much longer for a parcel to reach me than a letter does, so I shall likely be getting it any night now.

Say, Liz, who do you think I saw the other day—Harold McClenahan. He is looking fine and dandy and is in the 102nd Battalion. It's surprising who you will see over here in the most unexpected places. I haven't seen Clarence since the time I told you about before, but I guess he's O. K., especially if he made Blighty O. K.

Well, how is everything going? How are you getting on? Do you like the office. Write and tell me in your next letter how you like it.

I don't think I have any more news just at present, so I shall have to close now, hoping to hear from you again soon and hoping that this will find you all in the very best of health and spirits, as it leaves me at present. With love to all,

WILLIE.

Whitley, July 13, 1918.

Dear Mother,—
Just a few lines to let you know that I have just come back to camp from a leave to London, and it sure is some place and I enjoyed my stay there very much.

I was staying at the Union Jack Club. It is a fine place, good beds and plenty to eat. It was at this club that I met sailors and soldiers from all parts of the world, New Zealanders, Australians, South Africans, American, English and Canadians, and they are very fine fellows.

I was going up the Strand one afternoon and I was lucky enough to meet an old Waterdown boy, Lieut. W. L. Attridge. He is a Lieut. in the Flying Corps and he had only been in Blighty two weeks and was spending a few days in London, and I was the first fellow he had met that he knew since he landed.

I was down Piccadilly and Leicester Square. The traffic on these streets is very heavy and all the street cars are double deckers and run on underground electric wires. Some difference to the ones on York Street, Hamilton. And then they have what they call the Tubes. It is an underground railway. It is run by electricity and I think it is the quickest way to get around London, as the cars can travel about 35 miles an hour. And then the motor busses, they are double deckers also, and if a person wants to go sight-seeing, I think they are the best.

I went up to Madame Tussaud's Wax Works and, believe me, I never thought that they could ever make such life-like figures with wax, but it is wonderful what they can do, and if a person ever goes into the "Chamber of Horrors" they never will forget it, I know I never will. I also saw Buckingham Palace, Parliament Buildings, Crystal Palace, Westminster Abbey, St. Paul's Cathedral, and they sure are old buildings, but the stonework on them is magnificent, and then I saw the Horse Guards of Whitehall, which I think is grand, and there are several more places that I could mention, but will tell you about them later.

Hope you are all well at home, as this leaves me fine.

I am, your loving son,

AUSTIN.

France, July 7, 1918.

Dear Mother,—
Just a few lines hoping they will find you all well as it leaves me quite well.

I have received two of the Waterdown papers you sent me and they are very good, it is fine to get them. I saw someone here the other day I did not think about, it was Joe Eager, well, of course, Capt. Eager. He is the M.D. of the 78th Batt., and he heard I was here so he looked me up. It was a very pleasant surprise for me. He said I was the first one he had seen from home, and that is two years now.

Well, the weather is fine here now and everything looks well. I have had a good rest out of the line, so have no kick coming, but I have no news to talk about, so will close with best wishes and love to all. I remain,

Your ever loving son,

PTE. F. J. JAMES.

TO THE CANADIANS

Who nobly crossed the ocean wide
Of their free will to take the side
Of right and who for Freedom died?
Canadians.

Who saved the day by fighting grand,
When poisoned gas by breezes fanned
At Ypres discomforts Gallie band?
Canadians.

Who took the Vimy ridge on high
And said they'd do it or they'd die,
Who glorious fell without a sigh?
Canadians.

Who faced the guns and bullets hail
With spirit brave that ne'er will quail?
Who ne'er in their objective fall
Canadians?

Who fought in many a fateful hour
With wondrous pluck and spirit dour
And ne'er before the Huns will cower?
Canadians.

Who ne'er before the foe retire
But face unflinching hottest fire
With dauntless courage cut the wire?
Canadians.

Whose name shall live for aye and aye
Mid fiercest fight who stand at bay
And fall on many a glorious day?
Canadians.

A Warning

Bathers in the creek are reminded that a great deal of poison ivy is growing along the banks. One fair bather has just cause to remember her last trip to this famous stream. She is still under the Doctor's care, and liable to be for some time to come, through carelessly squatting too close to this dangerous weed.

Council Meeting

Report of the August Meeting Held Last Monday

Pursuant to adjournment, the Village Council met Monday evening, August 12th, at 8 p.m., for general business. Reeve Davies occupied the chair and other members all present. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted.

A communication was received from Toronto announcing the meeting for the discussion of more adequate fire protection.

The requisitions for County Tax, War Tax, High School Rate, Public School Rate and Village rate for 1918 were received, which were respectively $1,884.81, $235.60, $1240.00, $2,400.00, and $2,005.31.

By-law No. 21 was given its three readings and passed, providing for the above mentioned sums, which will require a rate of 25 mills for the year 1918.

Moved by Councillor G. F. Dougherty, and seconded by J. C. Langford, and resolved, that the Reeve be authorized to issue his cheque to pay all the bills or accounts passed at this meeting. The following were passed:

To C. Davids, for support during August, $5; Mrs. A. M. Slater, Treasurer, grant to Women's Patriotic League of Waterdown for August, $15.

Mr. John J. Creen addressed the Council in behalf of the Waterdown and East Flamboro Agricultural Society, asking for a grant to the Society for 1918.

Moved by Councillor R. Smith, and seconded by J. C. Langford, that this Council grant to the Agricultural Society $25.00 for 1918, on condition that the village have the tree use of the grounds where the show is held for mainly sports and patriotic purposes as usual.

On motion duly seconded the Council adjourned to Monday, September 9th, 1918, at 8 p.m., for general business.

J. C. MEDLAR, Clerk.

W. M. S. Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the W. M. S. of the Methodist church held at the home of Mrs. G. Dougherty yesterday afternoon, was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Duets were given by Mrs. Fred Thomas and Miss Bernice Simpson, and Mrs. Bowen and Miss Featherston.

A vote of thanks was extended the delegates for their very interesting report of the convention.

Mrs. Albert Slater gave a very instructive talk on the missionary work among the foreigners of the Northwest. Review questions on this subject will be asked at the next meeting, which will stimulate an interest in the study.

The exterior of the High school has been greatly improved during the summer holidays. The woodwork has been painted the walls Kalsomined, which gives the school a brighter appearance.

The work was done by Mr. Peter Mitchell and reflects great credit on that gentleman.

It is expected that the attendance next term will reach the high figure of 90.

Dr. J. O. McGregor has engaged an expert farm manager from the Guelph Model Farm. The Doctor's crops this year, especially oats, are very heavy. Oats yielding about 100 bu. to the acre. The bean crop is also a record one.

THE SUIT QUESTION

Full Costume or Separate Coat Next Winter?

News of new suits has begun to come in, though it appears in detached and straggling sections. The old discussion revives: Shall it be suits this winter or shall the separate coat have full sway? That is a weighty question, though the chances are that, as usual, there will be an equal division of honors.

The proffered suits have many things about them that will appeal to women who have to think of the length of a suit's life. They are made with every attention given to quality of material and durability of cut, and with a minimum amount of attention showered upon the extra trimmings. Materials and workmanship are costing more and more, but the silver lining to the cloud appears in the fact that manufacturers are taking all that into consideration and producing suits which contain good values and will last for a long time. Prices of materials by the yard have soared to unprecedented heights and labor has gone up apace, to say nothing of the silk which must be used for lining. So it behooves every one to buy wisely and to purchase a suit which has possibilities of everlasting wear.

There seems to be a decided movement toward the adoption of the strictly tailored suit, which we have not seen in any great quantity for some years past. The fit of these new tailored suits, which we have not seen in any great quantity for some years past. The fit of these new tailored things is not so snug as it was when they were popular before, but they have all of the studied finish common to those of a former day. Braid bindings are popular as are rows of stitching to accentuate a certain seam or line.

From all accounts fur will be used sparingly through the coming season, and there is good cause for it. Fur, along with everything else, has attained a high figure of cost. In proportion it has perhaps gone even higher than a lot of other things, and it will not be a common sight to see great and lavish pieces of it used for

A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Miss Kelly Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Newark, N. J.—"For about three years I suffered from nervous breakdown and got so weak I could hardly stand, and had headaches every day. I tried everything I could think of and was under a physician's care for two years. A girl friend had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she told me about it. From the first day I took it I began to feel better and now I am well and able to do most any kind of work. I have been recommending the Compound ever since and give you my permission to publish this letter."—Miss FLO KELLY, 476 So. 14th St., Newark, N. J.

The reason this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, was so successful in Miss Kelly's case was because it went to the root of her trouble, restored her to a normal healthy condition and as a result her nervousness disappeared.

suit and coat trimmings. Here the manufacturers are taking a decided stand, and are trimming the suits with but little strips and tightly fitting collars of the fur.

Hiding Places for Money.

The woman who, as just revealed in the law courts, hid her savings on her mother's grave in Forest Hill cemetery probably hit upon a unique cache. But there is no saying. The person who mistrusts savings banks generally looks around for the most unlikely spot in which to deposit wealth, and more than one may hit on the same idea.

Old cannon, for instance, seem to form favorable depositories. Quite a quantity of jewelry was found some time ago in a solitary gun which stands in the fort at Shoreham, and about the same time a bag containing seventy sovereigns was discovered in an old cannon in Peel park, Bradford.

From one of the old Crimean cannon at Liverpool also some inquisitive youngsters once brought forth a soldier's discharge papers and notes to the value of £100.—London Standard.

Germans Salute British.

During my first few days in Lucerne I had an experience that was humorous and seemingly anomalous until I got an explanation," said a Red Cross worker, who returned recently to the United States. "The mountain republic is filled with interned soldiers from both sides, and I went about a good deal with a British officer in charge of many British prisoners. 'Is he a German?' civilians whispered to one another as we walked to our hotels. The Britisher was literally bombarded with salutes from German soldiers, and at the outset it became embarrassing for him. But his embarrassment could not continue long, as the salutes were so frequent. Soon he was acknowledging them as mechanically as if he had been walking through the streets of London. 'The matter was made plain to me when later I found out that it is the rule in Switzerland that soldiers of all armies salute officers of all armies. German discipline did the rest.'

Mind Study.

A great part of our study must be of the mind, since this controls the hand, and, as we have already seen, the eye and the ear have to be considered also. In production the hand is controlled by the mind and sense is paramount. In distribution the mind is the great factor and the hand but a minor servant.—Industrial Management Magazine.

A CHRISTIAN CAROL.

"You are old, Father William," the Crown Prince remarked,
"And your waist-line shows signs of distress;
But a cheerful of women at seventy miles
Is a very good score, I confess."
"Four years back, Friedrich Wilhelm," the Kaiser replied,
"We began shooting girls by the lot;
And thus by sub-calibre practice grew fit
For this last striking tribute to Gott."
"You are old, Father William," the Crown Prince observed,
"And your wind is not all it might be;
Yet that little Slav tango you did at Litovsk
Was a joy and a pleasure to see."
"Four years back," said the monarch, and smiled on the heir,
"I took up paper scraps as my line,
And the piece from Belgium just made up a nice Little treaty for Mr. Lenine."
"You are old, Father William," the Crown Prince declared,
"Or at least you are well in your prime;
And yet you're some distance away from Paris,
Do you think you will get there in time?"
"Now that," sobed old William, "oh, is just what I fear from the map. Though an expert at scrapping of papers, I'm not quite up to the French kind of scrap."

Hot Well in Colorado Hatches Chicks.

It is reported that on a ranch in a valley of the Colorado desert there is being practised a new and strange method of hatching chickens.

Many artesian wells are in this valley to furnish water for irrigation. One hole was drilled for 750 feet into the earth and a flow of water came up with a temperature of 102 degrees. Since chicks will hatch when eggs are kept just about as warm as this for 21 days, the people who own this well decided to use its heat to hatch eggs.

The earth was dug away from the pipe so that the water as it flowed over formed a pool in which an incubator can be submerged. A round can of galvanized iron was made 18 inches in diameter and 6 inches deep, with a chimney projecting above the water. By stretching the arm and hand down this chimney the eggs are placed on straw on the bottom of the can. In this way, too, they are turned twice each day, and out of the chimney the chicks are drawn when two days old. They are then placed in brooders.

The can is securely fastened in the warm pool by weights. The only things that appear above the water are the chimney and the end of a small tube which is inserted in the bottom of the can and curves upward. Through the chimney the foul air rises and escapes. Into the tube rushes fresh air with moisture which ascends as vapor from the water. Both are necessary to give health and strength to the little birds growing in the shells. These chicks are, as strong as any chicks have ever been and hatched in this way it is claimed that they cut out of their shells one day earlier than when a hen sits on the eggs.

CHOLERA INFANTUM

Cholera infantum is one of the fatal ailments of childhood. It is a trouble that comes on suddenly, especially during the summer months, and unless prompt action is taken the little one may soon be beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets are an ideal medicine in warding off this trouble. They regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach, and thus prevent all the dreaded summer complaints. Concerning them Mrs. Fred Rose, South Bay, Ont., says: "I feel Baby's Own Tablets saved the life of our baby when she had cholera infantum, and I would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Too Many Interruptions.

Vincent Astor recently described an attempt that he had made to introduce cricket on one of his estates.

"Of course, cricket," he said, "is a more leisurely game than baseball—a more leisurely and formal and luxurious game. We played it in the right English manner, and my men seemed very well pleased.

"One of the men—his name is Jethro—seemed particularly pleased. Jethro did full justice before the game to the lunch served in the striped marquee on the lawn. He enjoyed up to the limit the meat tea that pleasantly interrupted the afternoon's play. At each call of time he was on hand when the cigars and feed drinks and sandwiches were passed round.

"At the open-air dinner that wound up the first day's play I turned to Jethro during the chicken course and said:

"Well, old man, how do you like cricket?"
"Mr. Vincent," said Jethro, and he twirled the stem of his champagne glass reflectively, "cricket would be a fine game, sir, if it wasn't for all this here fieldin' and rummin' about between meals."—Exchange.

Difference in Guns.

A certain lady who was traveling in Canada, collecting data for her next book, stayed with a farmer's wife. On the first day when the farmer came in from the fields he stopped some time to rub his gum boots on the door mat.
"Where is your husband?" asked the visitor. "I thought I heard him at the door."
"He's cleanin' his gums' on the mat, ma'am," said the farmer's wife.
When the book was sent to the publisher this passage caught his attention.
"Canadian settlers in the out-of-the-way district can't get toothbrushes, so they use the door mat!"—Exchange.

As You View the World.

The world in which a man lives shapes itself chiefly by the way in which he looks at it, and so it proves different to different men. To one it is barren, dull and superficial; to another rich, interesting and full of meaning. On hearing of the interesting events which have happened in the course of a man's experience, many people will wish that similar things had happened in their lives, too, completely forgetting that they should be envious rather of the mental attitude which lent these events the significance they possess when he describes. To a man of genius they were interesting adventures, but to the dull preceptions of an ordinary individual they would have been stale, everyday occurrences.—Schopenhauer.

RETREAT OF THE FOE IS IN DISORDER

Allies Are Rapidly Driving Back the Harassed Germans.

CAVALRY BUSY

Most Favorable Results for Entente Everywhere.

With the British Army in France, cable: The Allied forces continued their victorious advance on August 21, the last night and today, pushing in the general direction of the upper reaches of the Somme. They were smashing the still resistance interposed by the rearwards of the retreating Germans, the bulk of whom, according to reports considered reliable, are fleeing in disorder.

British cavalry was reported this afternoon operating close to the town of Nesle (Nesle is six miles southeast of Chaubert).

Many hours ago the British, French and American troops had roared roughly the old line held by the Germans before their retirement to the Hindenburg line. They have now pushed beyond in many places.

Joyeuxcourt, two miles northwest of Roye, is reported to have fallen to the British troops.

Other British forces were on the front of Chaubert-Hattencourt and Villers-les-Roye.

The Germans are retiring gradually everywhere in the face of the fire from the British guns, rifles and machine-guns.

The Americans and British north of the Somme had further hard fighting and with fine spirit, pushed on towards Bray. They have traversed the northern spur east of Chilly, and Etinehem as well as in their hands. Gressaire Wood had long since been cleared of the enemy, the allied forces passing around the wood, which was reeking with gas from many pockets.

AIDED BY TANKS.

Here both the British and Americans were helped on their way by tanks. At one place a tank, containing twelve volunteers, rushed a strong enemy position. Scores of Germans were killed and seven officers and 200 men were captured. This permitted the infantry to get on to the line it was holding this morning.

The Germans suffered extremely heavy losses. Up to date 21 German divisions have been in contact with the Allied forces. Of these, 21 have been engaged between the extreme left of the Allies flank and where the French joined the British. A number of prisoners from these divisions have also been captured by the French. Ten divisions of Prince Rupprecht's reserves have been identified in the fighting.

Large groups of prisoners—hungry, thirsty and grimy and appearing thoroughly disheartened—continue to arrive at the collecting cages. Among the captured were five regimental commanders and ten battalion commanders.

Late today strong enemy forces were concentrating east of Proyart, and apparently were making preparations to oppose a determined resistance. However, the German object probably is merely to cover the retreat of the large enemy forces. They have the additional need of attempting to take away a great amount of heavy material, of which they have recently lost a large quantity, and feel the military necessity of risking man power in order to protect the remaining supplies.

ENEMY RETREATING EASTWARD.

The stores of allied observers in airplanes reported that long streams of enemy troops and transports were rushing eastward, including the vicinity east of Bray. Great columns of Germans were crossing the Somme River even by the bridges that had been badly damaged by allied bombers, who have dropped many tons of explosives at vital points. The enemy bombers also have been busy and repeatedly were chased away by the British pursuit planes, to prevent them from dropping bombs to hinder the advance of the troops.

The Germans were reported to be retreating eastward past Peronne in great disorder. Many were said to be without arms, apparently having discarded their weapons. Among them were many wounded men staggering along on foot.

Reports from the south received here say that the French continue to push along the Montdidier-Roye road. Many fires and explosions are reported within the German lines as their retreat goes on. Much of this destruction was caused by the German themselves, but in some cases shells from all guns struck and exploded enemy ammunition dumps.

Chaules was shrouded in clouds of smoke, shot with flame. Among other buildings in the town, the railway station was reported as having been burning for many hours.

The German resistance thus far generally appears to become weaker as the battle progresses toward the centre, especially opposite the positions held by the Austrians. Here, for instance, the artillery of the allies often was required to lift the fire 1,000 yards at a time, so rapid has been the advance of the infantry. All the counter-attacks that the enemy has been able to organize have failed, notably one east of Polles, where extremely heavy casualties were inflicted on the Germans.

Tanks, both the large ones and the "whippers," again performed their good service at a small cost to themselves all along the line. At one small town, south of the Amiens-Roye road, the advancing French infantry sent word to the British that they could not get on because of heavy machine-gun fire from the town.

Five ponderous armored monsters went over and rolled directly into the place. Their crews dismounted five houses were crowded with Germans manning machine guns, principally from second-story windows. One tank leisurely advanced upon a house while a hail of bullets splashed off its metal hide. After reconnoitering at close range, the tank backed off and charged home. Its great weight crushed in the whole building, and it continued forward until the structure was flattened out with the enemy machine-guns defaced.

After this success the four companion tanks engaged various groups of the enemy and the house-crushing machine proceeded to roll down the flattened nine other houses. This tank literally crushed the entire village and all the enemy within.

When the French infantry, who had paused until the way was made clear for them by the British tanks, proceeded on their way they met with no resistance. On the other side of the town, Germans who had withdrawn to Chaubert, led in retreat.

CHARLES BY CAVALRY.

German prisoners have boasted that their forces now are equipped with new anti-tank rifles. firing a large projectile at great velocity. Actual encounter with these rifles, however, demonstrated that they are complete failures when trained on the armored tanks. A number of the weapons have fallen into the hands of the British. During the advance, east of Rosieres, British cavalry sent back word that they could not proceed because of heavy fire from a woods on their front. A number of swift "whippets" rolled around to the back of the woods, but the Germans saw them coming and ran for their lives toward the rear. This gave the cavalry an opportunity and they charged into the enemy, who made a vain attempt to rally. The Germans were sabred right and left and many of them surrendered.

The battle is progressing at this hour from one end of the line to the other, and the most favorable results are reported everywhere for the Allies.

Cheapest of All Oils—Considering the curative qualities of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil it is the cheapest of all preparations offered to the public. It is to be found in every drug store in Canada from coast to coast and all country merchants keep it for sale. So being easily procurable and extremely moderate in price, no one should be without a bottle of it.

VON HUTIER IN A SERIOUS FIX

Three Armies Are After This German's Force.

Will Be Forced Beyond the Somme.

Paris cable: With his right flank menaced and with a third French army under General Humbert harassing his rear to a point where his retreat is disorderly, General von Hutier's army, it would appear, will have to fall back beyond the Roye-Lassigny line to escape a veritable pincerization from the concentration of the three armies under Generals Rawlinson, Debeney and Humbert.

The past three days have witnessed machine-like movements by these three armies, each receiving its designated objectives without a single hitch. The speed shown in manoeuvring is regarded as masterful for such large bodies of troops, all the armies functioning perfectly.

The advance of 12 miles by General Rawlinson's army at the outset of the offensive was accompanied by a push from the French First Army. General Humbert, then delivered his stroke from the south, and joined with precision in executing the prearranged plan.

As a result it seems likely that the Germans will be forced back beyond the Somme. There are some advantages for them in the location of that stream as it winds in a general northerly and southerly direction above the bend near Peronne.

Besides crushing the enemy hope of further menacing Paris, the German retirement under pressure from the Allied important railway facilities the absence of which had previously handicapped their transport.

The converging front of the three armies has made it possible at certain points to employ a cross artillery fire upon the German columns, making the problem of von Hutier in extricating his rear guard from the Montdidier pocket a serious one.

CANADIANS MAD WITH JOY TO GET HUN IN THE OPEN

Captured 6,000 Prisoners, Advanced 14,000 Yards, On First Day of Drive—Formed Whole Batteries of Captured German Guns—Magnificent Gunnery.

(By J. F. B. Livezey.)

With the Canadian Forces in the field special cable says: (Delayed in transmission) is now passing to you up the broad results of the first day of the battle. By the evening of the first day, Thursday, the entire Canadian corps had attained its objective these being an average advance of 14,000 yards. The maximum advance was 15,000 yards, and this constitutes a record in this war for a first day's advance, not even excepting the German advance of last March. The total number of prisoners taken by the Canadians on the first day will reach 6,000. In addition every gun fronting us was captured.

So complete was the surprise that many of these still had on their muzzles covers and their guns were still in their dzeuts.

It may be said here, in parenthesis, that one of the most remarkable things to be seen from the heights, when the great barrage broke at our forward line, was the almost total absence of smoke from the Pacific batteries, that put up a shrapnel barrage over our advancing troops, but made no effort to counter our batteries.

GUNNERY WAS WONDERFUL.

This war has had no more wonderful exhibition of scientific gunnery than that which broke on the enemy yesterday, in a barrage far more intense than even that of Vimy, and pursued his retreating forces relentlessly, raising the precise distance in yards at stated intervals of minutes as our men got into him. It would have been wonderful if the ground had been known and prepared and every feature of the artillery problem carefully studied in advance, as at Lens; it was nothing less than marvelous, when there are taken into account the facts that many of the batteries were only brought up a few hours before the engagement opened, that it was impossible for them to expose themselves by any attempt at registration, and that a great part of the work of the barrage was done from maps by triangulation. The guns were in dormant batteries, unregistered and without permanent emplacements. It was a triumph for Canadian gunnery.

But this was not all. Yesterday the Canadian field batteries were handled like a show of the Royal Horse Artillery, limbering up, dashing for a road, and unlimbering, hard on the heels of the retreating enemy. By nine o'clock batteries were three miles inside the front German line at zero, the hour when the show opened. So sure were the gunners of success that some field batteries started off at that very minute with their horses. After long bitter years of trench warfare all ranks were mad with joy to get at the Hun in open warfare. One of our batteries, carried away by the spirit of the thing, pushed so deeply in that they actually unlimbered within the enemy barrage and lost a number of horses in consequence. It is such stories as that that make Canadian hearts beat proudly.

TURNUED GUNS ON ENEMY.

The story of our wonderful infantry has yet to be told, but this incident may serve now. A Canadian battalion, pushing on throughout the day, came upon an enemy battery. Without a moment's hesitation the company charged the position, took it and immediately turned the guns on the fleeing enemy. Presently a message came over the field telephone to headquarters: "For heaven's sake, rush us some gunners, we are being head up here, serving these beastly guns."

At Vimy we took three German batteries and they were at once turned on the enemy, being named the First, Second and Third Pan-German Batteries. By yesterday afternoon there was a whole Pan-German brigade at work, and by now probably there are two of these, including heavy guns. Among the ascertained booty, at an early hour yesterday, were four 8-inch, ten 5.9-inch and four 4.2-inch guns. Since then the guns have been too hot to count.

Just one more word about the guns. I believe some six hundred rounds had been brought up for each gun, but that they went forward so quickly and so often, that it was impossible to use it up.

The whole affair was a tremendous secret, admirably kept. A captured German officer complimented the medical officer on our dressing station, where his wounds were being dressed, on his excellent step, adding bitterly: "I wish to Himmle! our own intelligent were anything like as good. They told us confidently that the Canadians had been moved to Flanders."

LUCK WITH THEM, TOO.

The work of our dressing stations was splendid, but they had to deal chiefly with Boche wounded. Our own casualties were very light in proportion to the size of the show, being only one-third, it is estimated, of those of the first day at Vimy Ridge. This was largely owing to the fog which came at dawn, at the right time, just as our men advanced, thus indeed rendering unnecessary the smoke screen our gunners had ready, but lifting exactly when needed, when we came to grips in the trenches.

The aircraft rendered great aid in low-bombing of the enemy's front-line supports and back areas. The story of our machine gunners and the cavalry has yet to be written, but all ranks and services covered themselves with glory. All went into the battle certain of victory and of the greatest results. After the sordid years of trench warfare they went into this new game of open warfare like inspired veterans that brought to this grand but more hazardous problem all the clear and dash of the men of our outdoor Canadian life, together with the craft of the woodsmen, the dash of the plainmen, the vision of the mountaineer, coupled with great leadership and patient, sagacious staff work.

They were there to deliver the goods to the Canadian people. Sir Arthur Currie modestly disclaims the credit for the victory, but says that it was due to brilliant preparation. It is the spirit of the men that counts, he said.

"With such men, perfectly prepared, do you wonder that we could set out for our distant objective of that first day with an absolute assurance that we should be there on schedule time?"

Miller's Worm Powders, being in demand everywhere, can be got at any chemist's or drug shop, at very small cost. They are a standard remedy for worm troubles and can be fully relied upon to expel worms from the system and abate the sufferings that worms cause. There are many mothers that rejoice that they found available a remedy for the relief of their children.

THE HUN AND RUSSIA.

Kaiser Calls Crown Council—Helfferich in Terror.

Paris, Aug. 12.—According to the Strassburger Post: The Kaiser has called an important Crown Council at Imperial headquarters, at which Chancellor von Hertling, Ambassador Helfferich, and Admiral von Hintze will be present, as well as von Hindenburg and von Ludendorff. It is said the chief subject to be discussed will be Russia, and important decisions are expected to be reached, according to the latest despatches from Berlin.

Helfferich does not intend to return to Russia after his conference with the Kaiser. It is said the former Vice-Chancellor has shown signs of great uneasiness since the murder of von Blochmann. The fact that several demonstrations were made against him is said to have driven him almost mad. The correspondent of the Wiener Zeitung confirms this, and adds that it is the Ambassador's personal conviction that the Bolshevik rule in Russia is near collapse. His decision, however, is not expected to modify the German policy in Russia, and already there is talk of sending von Rosenburg, who was von Kuchin's collaborator in the Brest-Litovsk treaty, as his successor. It is possible von Helfferich will take the post recently vacated by von Hintze.

BOLSHEVIKI LOSING OUT

Defeated On Chinese Frontier and On the Don.

Lenne and Trotzky Prepare to Flee.

Amsterdam cable: General Semenov, the anti-Bolshevik leader, with the help of Chinese artillery, has defeated the Russian Red Guards on the Chinese frontier and dispersed them, according to a Moscow telegram to the Rheinische Westfaelische Gazette of Essen.

DON REGION NEARLY CLEARED.

Amsterdam cable says: The headquarters staff of the Don Cossack army announces that after three months' operations almost the whole of the Don region has been cleared of the Bolsheviks, according to despatches from Kiev. The Don Cossack army now consists of many thousands of soldiers, and a final decision is imminent, the despatches add.

LENINE MAY FLEE.

London cable: The anti-Bolshevik movement in Russia is growing rapidly, the Bolshevik Soviet organization has virtually gone to pieces and Nikolai Lenin, the Premier, and Leon Trotzky, his War Minister, intend to flee to Germany should the situation become too serious, according to recent Russian newspapers, the Exchange Telegraph correspondent at Copenhagen telegraphs.

The Petrograd newspaper Isvestia is quoted by the correspondent as stating that at several points "in that part of Russian not occupied by the enemy," counter-revolutionary movements have broken out in a number of towns. The Bolshevik Soviets have been overthrown in these places and replaced by Councils consisting of representatives of the Mensheviks or Moderates.

In the city of Kazan, the newspaper adds, the widely-known Bolshevik leader, Oischinsky, has been killed, while there has been great bloodshed among the Bolsheviks in the Novogord and Riazan districts.

Sweet and palatable, Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is acceptable to children, and it does its work surely and promptly.

NEW GERMAN MOVE

To Seize the Trade of Spanish America.

Zurich cable: The Wiener Bankverein and Pester Ungarische Kommerzbank, which are large concerns in Vienna and Budapest, have announced to their shareholders their intention to start together in Madrid a large combined banking house for the economic conquest of Spanish-speaking America after the war.

Business men who know the connection of these houses with the powerful Deutsch bank will see through this connection a veiled plan for Germany's monopoly of trade of Spanish America, Austrian and Hungarian trade with Spanish America. The chief was done through Hamburg and German banks, especially through the Deutsch bank, which apparently stands behind the announced enterprise.

Come early, bring your visitors, have a choice of seats and join in the "Community Singing." Now for a feast of sermon and song.

It might be a good idea for the Village council to purchase a derriek. A great many autos have lately been ditched, and with such a machine it would be possible to lift these cars bodily and place them on the road, thereby saving a lot of inconvenience as well as a great deal of unparliamentary language. Last weeks storm especially played havoc with one car on Mill street.

Miss Edna Greene, who has been visiting her brother G. H. Greene and family, has returned to her home in Davenport, Iowa.

THE DEVIL RESIGNS

The Devil sat by the lake of fire on a pile of sulphur kegs; his head was bowed upon his breast, his tail between his legs; a look of shame was on his face, the sparks dripped from his eyes; he had sent his resignation to the throne up in the skies. "I'm down and out," the devil said; he said it with a sob—"There are others that outclass me, and I want to quit my job. Hell isn't in it with the land that lies along the Rhine. I'm a has-been and a piker, and therefore I resign. One ammunition maker with his bloody shot and shell knows more about damnation than all theimps of hell. Give my job to Kaiser William, or to the Russian Czar, or Von Tirpitz or Francis Joseph or some such men of war. I hate to leave the old home—the spot I love so well, but give the job to Kaiser Bill, he'll run a better hell. Time was when I was on the job to blister those that sinned, but Europe's rulers outclass me—they've got me badly skinned. So here's my resignation, Lord, I hate to give it up, but my region is in danger from bombardments of the Krupp. I cannot ask your kingly smile to ever pardon me, nor take me back to heaven's throne where once I dwelt with thee. But here's my resignation, Lord, it is a bitter pill, but I've come to the conclusion that you'll give my job to Bill." And the devil spat a quart of steam at a brimstone bumblebee, and muttered that he guessed he'd go up and chum with young John D.

"Keeping Canada British."
Bishops and members of Parliament were present at the annual meeting held in London of the Maple Leaf Fellowship for Supplying British Teachers to Western Canada. Bishop Colchester said the work done was of enormous importance in keeping Canada British and Christian, but they must have more schools and teachers. Bishop Norwich suggested the best way of honoring the memory of dead Canadian heroes was by making provision for their children. Joyson Hicks, member of Parliament, urged the necessity in reconstruction after the war of directing emigration to the Dominions to the greatest possible extent. Teachers were especially necessary to educate aliens in our ideals.

The Sweet Young Thing.
A sergeant was taking a lady friend through a flying field and explaining in detail the work of an aviation camp. They had been in the machine shops, the blacksmith shops and hangars where hundreds of our boys were at work when he asked her if there was any question she wanted to ask. The sweet young thing replied:
"Yes. Where are all the soldiers?"
Got His Number.
A Kingston masher forced a flirtation on the street recently, but was assured by the fair one that she "really had to go now — you can phone me at 464." That was as far as he got, except to learn that her name was Susie. He telephoned according to suggestion and found he had police headquarters.

Moved by G. B. Stock, seconded by R. Taafe, and resolved, that leave be now given to introduce a by-law authorizing the execution of an agreement between the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario and the Township of East Flamboro for supplying of power to the Township, and that the same be now read a first time.

Resolutions were also passed and the by-law (No. 628) received the second and third readings.

Moved by W. H. Easterbrook, seconded by J. C. Harper, and resolved, that leave be now given to introduce a by-law to amend By-law No. 522, and that the same be now read a first time. This by-law also received three readings. It fixed the Clerk's salary at $420.00 per year.

Moved by J. C. Harper, seconded by G. B. Stock, and resolved, that leave be now given to introduce a by-law for the purpose of levying the amounts necessary to defray the expenses of the Township for the year 1918, and that the same be now read a first time. This was also given the second and third readings. The rates as levied in this by-law are: County rate, 75 cents; Township rate, 40 cents; War Tax rate, 10 cents; rate for Public School purposes (Sec. 93), 14 cents, and for Waterdown High School, 8 cents on each $100.00 of assessment.

Moved by J. C. Harper, seconded by R. Taafe, and resolved, that the Clerk be instructed to have the proper notices prepared and posted, also advertised in the Waterdown Review, re the closing up of a portion of a road running from the Progression Road to the 5th Concession in time for the October meeting.

Council adjourned to meet again the first Tuesday in September, or at the call of the Reeve.

GEORGE CHURCH, Clerk.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson VII. August 18, 1918. Working in the Church.—Acts 2: 41-47; 4: 23-25; 6: 2-4.

COMMENTARY.—I. Christian Worship (vs. 41-47). 41. received his word—Peter preached to the people who were drawn together by the outpouring of the Spirit on the believers in Jesus at Pentecost, and they not only heard the word, but believed and obeyed it. They were baptized—They were baptized in token of the fact that their sins were washed away through faith in Christ and as a testimony of their faith in Christ. There were added unto them—To the one hundred twenty believers in Jesus who had been waiting for ten days expecting the coming of the Holy Spirit there were added in one day three thousand more, as a result of the gift of the Holy Ghost in his fulness to the world. 42. continued steadfastly—The faith of the converts was active and they came at once into fellowship with the apostles in doctrine and worship. In breaking of bread—The breaking of bread was probably the love-feast which the early Christians celebrated, and it may have been connected with the Lord's Supper. 43. fear came upon every soul—The Lord's presence was so manifest and there were such miracles wrought through the apostles that the mockers were silenced. They were awed even if they were not converted. 44. had all things common—There were large numbers of pilgrims in Jerusalem who were remaining because of the outpouring of the Spirit, and as there was need that they should be provided for, those who had provisions shared with the rest, and thus all were supplied. 45. sold their possessions... and parted them—The spirit of liberality led those who had property to sell it and use the proceeds to provide for those who were in need. 46. in the temple—Religious services were held in the temple, but were not confined to that place. The Christians met in private houses also for worship, singleness of heart—The followers of Jesus were united in their purpose to spread abroad the knowledge of Jesus Christ. 47. praising God—There was gladness in their hearts and there were praises to God on their lips for what they were receiving from him. The Lord added to the church—though the Christians labored to spread the gospel, the Lord gave the increase, such as should be saved—The Revised Version, "Those that were saved," is a better rendering.

II. Christian Liberty (vs. 32-35). 32. The multitude of them that believed—The number of believers had become several thousand and more were constantly being saved, and that in spite of the opposition that was directed against the new sect by the Jewish leaders. of one heart, of one soul—This is a Hebrew form of expression and means complete accord. "It is the outpouring of the Spirit, melting every heart in Christian love, which produces oneness. And that same melting of hearts causes the stream of benevolence to flow," was his own—These Christians had in the possession more or less property, but they considered that they were stewards rather than owners of it. all things common—This is the only instance in scripture of a community of goods, and this arose from the exigencies of the occasion. A gracious revival was in progress, and all were earnestly co-operating to carry forward the work of spreading the gospel. There must also have been many strangers in Jerusalem whose prolonged stay left them without sufficient means to provide for themselves. A common treasury seemed necessary that all might be cared for. 33. with great power—It was the anointing of the Holy Ghost that gave this power. gave the apostles witness—The apostles were doing the work which had been assigned them (Acts 1: 8). They were bearing witness in Jerusalem to the fact of Christ's resurrection, great grace was upon them all—The divine favor was upon all the believers, and not merely upon the apostles. Not only so, but the Lord gave the Christian community favor with the people. 34. neither... that lacked—Being "of one heart and of one soul," the needs of all were met. This was not a time for withholding and accumulating temporal goods, but for distributing as need required. sold them—This indicates how lightly in comparison with spiritual good these early Christians held their earthly possessions. 35. laid them down at the apostles' feet—Owners of property sold it and placed the proceeds at the disposal of the apostles to be used for the support of the needy. Those who had means supported themselves, and those who were destitute were supported by the surplus of those who had more than they needed. distribution was made—Not that an equal amount was given to all, but the needs of all were supplied.

III. Lay helpers (vs. 2-4). 2. Then—When information was received. The twelve—the twelve apostles were the basis of the incomplete organization and took the lead in making the necessary arrangements for the care of the needy. Called the multitude of the disciples—All the converts were in consultation over the steps to be taken. It is not reason—The apostles had been commissioned and empowered to preach the gospel, and that was their first business. Under the arrangement then existing they would be obliged to spend some of their time in looking after the temporal affairs of the community. Leave the word of God—Neglect preaching of the word. Serve tables—This may mean either a money table or a table where food was dispensed. The apostles had to receive the money brought them by the benevolent and must dispense it for the benefit of the poor. It was not reasonable that all this should fall out among you seven men—Although we do not read here that the Lord directly commanded this course to be taken, yet it is evident that he was leading the church to adopt such a measure. There were in this Christian community those who were fitted for the work in hand. Seven men would be enough for this service. Those who were to be thus employed must have some special important qualifications. Of honest report—They must have a good reputation to command the confidence of the church, both those who contributed funds and those who received aid. Full of the Holy Ghost, and wisdom—The high qualifications of the deacons implied that even they were not to be limited to a mere manual service. To feed the poor and tend the sick in a Christian way require service to the soul as well as to the body. In point of fact we find that of two of the seven preachings was largely the providential duty.—Whedon. Whom we may appoint—The multitudes of the disciples were to make the selection and the apostles were to set them apart for their work. 4. To prayer and the ministry of the word—The apostles would not only have all their time for this spiritual service, but without these taxing temporal affairs their minds and hearts would be better fitted to do effective work in preaching the word. The demands made upon them by the spiritual needs and desires of the inhabitants of Jerusalem and the throngs that were there from distant places, would tax their time and strength, but it was a satisfaction to them to preach to those who were eager to hear about the Christ whose resurrection they were proclaiming and who was willing to save.

Questions—Whose preaching had moved the people so that many were converted? Why was this preaching especially effective? How was the Christian fellowship of the converts manifested? Who were added to the church? How did the Christians show their liberality? What was the substance of the apostles' preaching? Why were the seven helpers appointed? What were to be their qualifications?

PRACTICAL SURVEY.
Topic.—The church; its claims and how we may meet them.
I. The church.
II. Its claims.
III. How we may meet them.

I. The church. The Christian church is of divine origin, and continues by divine authority. It is a world-embracing institution, and has a message and mission to "all people." In its true sense it is a spiritual organism; a body of Christ's adherents bound together for fellowship, testimony, and labor for his cause. It has a visible organization for the expression of its faith, and the accomplishment of its purposes. It represents God's kingdom in the world, and is the chosen agency for its advancement. It is the legitimate successor and consummation of the ceremonial dispensation, fulfilling its types and transforming its "shadows" into substance. Unto it as unto Israel of old are "committed the oracles of God." It is the custodian of revealed truth. It is the witness of the truth, through which it is to gather men of all nations into the kingdom which achieves its final and universal conquest by Christ's return in glory. Its experience has been, and will be, a mingling of suffering and success.

II. Its claims. The force of these must depend upon two things: authority and excellence. As a divine institution the claims of the church have authority. The excellence of its principles and purposes render it worthy of support. Its claims are inclusive, embracing possessions, character and service. The world mission and varied activities of the church create great demands, and impose obligations on every Christian for a material response. The ceremonial dispensation demanded the tithing of field and fold, and failure brought barrenness in both (Mal. 3: 8-12). The enlarged privileges and enriched experiences of a spiritual dispensation cannot require less. The great need is a spirit of Christian consecration. The millions squandered for ornament and appetite would fill the missionary coffers, and forward every enterprise of the Master's kingdom. 1. The end of all gospel agencies and efforts is character. The character of the individual determines the character of the church. The average experience fixes the moral tone of the body. Christ is the example, and to "be like him" is the fruition of gospel hope. The church rightfully demands the best type of Christian experience and life of every member. 2. Service. The varied activities of the church afford place and scope for every grade of responsible endowment.

III. How we may meet them. 1. By maintaining a spirit of consecration and benevolence. Consecration means, literally, "to fill the hands." In the act we are not making bestowments, but returning to the owner that which is originally and always his. At best we are but "stewards of the manifold grace of God" (1 Peter 4: 10). An account for every trust may be rendered at the final settlement. 2. By maintaining the highest type of experience and character. The church is an aggregation of individuals. The personal tone fixes the general state.

Possession, Minus Knowledge.

"I left Eugene a political slave; I shall return to it a free woman," remarked Mrs. Panlhurst recently at a meeting of Russia suffragists. "But," she continued gravely, "it is not the possession of the vote that counts, it is knowing how to use it." And in order to illustrate her contention she pedestrian who had nearly been run over by a car.

"You don't know how to drive!" cried the angry man, as he brushed the mud from his clothes. "Don't!" cried the no less infuriated driver. "Here's my driver's certificate." "I don't believe it's your," was the retort. "Not mine?" gasped the indignant driver. "Why, I bought it from a policeman who's gone into the army, and paid for it."—Pittsburgh Chronicle.

LABOR SHORT CUTS FOR THE FARMER.

Cultivation of crops occasions the first great call for farm labor. Cornell Agricultural Experiment Station has made careful study of the capacity of various sized farm machines on a number of New York farms.

Cornell investigations reveal the following facts:
Corn Cultivation.
A one-horse corn cultivator covered 4.4 acres per day.

The same man labor was required for both. In a week a hired man would cover 26 acres of corn with a one-horse machine and almost 40 acres with a two-horse machine.

The cultivation of potatoes, mangels, etc., is approximately the same as that of corn, hence the same figures should apply closely to the potato crop.

Mowing follows close on the heels of crop cultivation and the handling of the hay crop bids fair to present a large problem this year. Cornell found that:

A mower with 4 ft. knife cut 8.3 acres per day.
A mower with 5 ft. knife cut 9 acres per day.
A mower with 6 ft. knife cut 10.2 acres per day.

In each case the machine was drawn with two horses. The importance of the difference is seen when estimating a week's work. The 4 ft. cut covers a little over 49 acres. The 6 ft. cut covers 61 acres.

Wheat, barley and early oat harvest, come crowding along and the matter of cutting the crop just at the right time is of great importance. In this connection the capacity of the binder is a point of interest.

2 horses drawing 5 ft. binder cut 7.6 acres per day.
2 horses drawing 6 ft. binder cut 9.3 acres per day.
3 horses drawing 6 ft. binder cut 10.4 acres per day.

The extra horse is greatly to be desired, since if the crop is medium heavy it is impossible to keep up the speed with the average team.

CUCUMBER MOSAIC.

The attention of cucumber growers is directed to a disease that seriously affects the field of this plant, by the pathological service of the Dominion Experimental Farms. This maintains field stations in several districts so chosen as to afford facilities for the observation of particular crops, and for experimental work in combating their special diseases.

Please Mention This Paper.

The Mosaic disease of cucumbers is not well-known in Ontario gardens, but of late it has begun to appear more frequently, and growers should be on the watch for it. Recent investigations indicate that there are three types of kinds of Mosaic to be met with on cucumber, of which one is very damaging. This is the White Pickle Mosaic, which greatly dwarfs, the plants, and causes the fruit to grow in a lumpy misshapen condition. The distortion in the fruit is due to irregular growth. Certain areas become sickly, assume a light yellow or nearly white colour, and grow very poorly. The remainder of the surface is normal, retains its dark green colour, and grows much faster, thus producing distorted leaves or lumpy fruit.

In the other two types the leaves are the parts most affected. In one of these types the leaves are mottled with lighter, yellowish green areas, the plant is weakened and dwarfed, thus reducing the yield. The Mottled Leaf Mosaic is not so damaging as the White Pickle type. The third type is known as the Speckled Leaf Mosaic, and while the leaves become spotted with sickly areas, as the name indicates, this form of the disease is not considered to be very damaging.

Like other Mosaic diseases, these cucumber troubles are transmissible from one plant to another, though they are apparently not due to any fungus or bacterial parasite. If the juice of a diseased plant be injected into a healthy plant, the disease will be produced, and in the field, transfer of this kind is thought to be brought about by means of sucking insects.

It has been found that the common wild cucumber (Echinocystis) also suffers from this trouble, and that insects will carry it from these wild plants to the cultivated crop in spring. It is not thought to be carried to any considerable extent in the seed.

In view of the transmissible nature of the disease, it is advisable to destroy affected plants and to burn up the dead vines in the fall.

NOTES.

The principal diseases of the grape are powdery mildew and black rot, both of which can be controlled by spraying with Bordeaux mixture. The development of a cow, so far as the milking qualities are concerned, depends largely upon the person who has charge of her during the time she is being turned from a heifer to a cow. Some milkers will not only develop all there is in a cow, but will ruin the heifer for all time afterward. While another will give such treatment as will readily develop all there is in her.

To spoil a good cow quickly, neglect milking her at regular hours and avoid stripping her clean at each milking.

Select the sow that is deep through the side with large heart girth, finely and properly developed hind quarters that parturition may be accomplished without injury to the mother. No aged sow that has proved herself a good breeder and suckler should be disposed of to make room for young and untried sows so long as she raises large litters of good pigs.

One of the benefits of raising good stock is that it makes a man hustle to raise more feed to keep more stock. Pure bred livestock develop the farmer and his farm at the same time. Anything that disturbs or excites a cow just before milking time will have a bad effect on the quantity and quality of the milk. The cow's temper and that of her milker should be serene.

Reduced by Asthma.—The constant strain of asthma brings the patient to a dreadful state of hopeless exhaustion. Early use should be by all means made of the famous Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy, which more than any other acts quickly and surely on the air passages and brings blessed help and comfort. No home where asthma is present in the least degree should be without this great remedy.

THE NEW HATS.

Latest Modes From Fashion's Centres.

Perhaps the most distinctive of the new hats is the wide-brimmed sun hat, a style that is particularly becoming to the young girl. Wider in front, the brim of white linen is bound with linen of cherry red.

The crown, also of white shirred linen, has upon it flat cherries en applique, cut from linen of the same bright hue; round the bottom of the crown is a narrow band of silk ribbon held in a knot at the side.

The whole effect is one of simplicity, with good lines and distinctive coloring. The color scheme might, of course, be changed to suit any summer frock, if one does not care for this cherry and white combination.

Another hat has a glorious patch of color on a high green straw crown. This patch is made of the quantity of crude fruit before mentioned. Scarlet, orange, vivid green, and bright purple are the colors suggested for this model, while round the crown lay down is a narrow band of velvet ribbon the same shade of green as the hat. The brim is of the mushroom type, also bound with velvet, and lined underneath with gauze.

Satin, again, is the material that is used to make a chapeau of a distinctly military type, and it is more unlike that worn by the French gendarme who used to greet the English boat when it arrived at Calais. To the average woman it is very becoming, the brim inclining as it does softly over the face, and the lines that are formed when viewed from the side quite common.

"Oh, woman is a plaything, just a toy." "I know some sob writers say so, but I should think the number we see humped over a sewing machine or a wash-tub would dispose of that theory."—Kansas City Journal.

FIGHTING FOR HAPPINESS

When you get into a frame of mind that makes life seem one dreary duty after another, with no pleasure in it; when ill-health seems to take all the joy out of life and you worry over things that are really not worth worrying about, then your nervous system is becoming exhausted, and you are on the way to a general breakdown in health. In this condition your health and happiness is worth fighting for and good, rich, red blood is what your system needs. It is a hopeless task to try to restore your health while your blood is deficient either in quantity or quality. Remember that no medicine can be of any use to you that does not build up your weak watery blood.

To build up the blood and strengthen the nerves there is one remedy that has been a household word for more than a generation—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. It is the actual mission of these pills to make new, rich, red blood, which strengthens the nerves and tones the entire system. They give you a new appetite, make sleep refreshing, put color in the lips and cheeks, and drive away that unnatural tired feeling that oppresses so many people. If you want to experience new health and happiness give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Nelson

Gunner Sidney Alton is home on a 30 day leave.

We were all glad to see Rev. Mr. Facey back again Sunday, after his vacation.

Sid Alton motored to the Falls on Saturday and returned home Sunday evening.

Mrs. Chas. Springer and family of Caledonia, visited at Mr. Blake Springer on Sunday last.

Miss Gunby is visiting friends at Kilbride.

A syndicate of about 40 farmers has been formed here, and an up-to-date threshing outfit purchased.

The grain crop is good around this locality. Mr. Walter Peer threshed 1400 bushels of mixed grain off 20 acres, and Mr. C. Bell threshed 1700 bushels from the field Wednesday.

William Walker, who broke his leg recently, is improving nicely.

They are still progressing with the Tansley bridge, we hope Jimmies leaving will not hold up the job as they have started to put up the top peers now.

We have a young man in our community, of military age, who has never registered or reported for service. We would suggest that he do so before the 20th.

Scheme For Threshers.

With the completion of seeding the Ontario Department of Agriculture is now considering ways and means of supplying labor for the threshing of the crops. Informers' threshing gangs have been few, but Dr. Riddell, superintendent of the Trades and Labor Branch of the Government, hopes to have 5,000 men available for this work. A pamphlet will be sent out to all farmers' clubs and threshers in the province, containing organization suggestions, which are in effect that eight-men gangs be formed. In the past farmers had to assist one another at threshing, but under the new scheme the department asks that 25 farmers sign an agreement to have one thresher do their work this season. With this guarantee the thresher can forward his application to the Trades and Labor Branch for the number of men he requires.

Dairy of a Gardener.

Monday: Spaded up garden, leveled seed beds.
Tuesday: Leveled up seed beds, planted radishes.
Wednesday: Made new beds, planted radishes.
Thursday: Killed Jones' hen, blacked his eye.
Friday: Jones' dog bit me, broke hoe on him.
Saturday: Made new seed beds, planted radishes.
Sunday: Rain, snow, sleet.

Honored Their Pastor.

Rev. A. W. McComb, for the past three years rector of St. Luke's Church on the Six Nations' reserve, near Brantford, was presented with a purse of gold, and Mrs. McComb with a traveling bag in appreciation by the Indians of their efforts on the reserve. They were also adopted into the Mohawk tribe with the usual Indian ceremony. Rev. Mr. McComb will proceed overseas to join the Imperial forces as chaplain.

Will Try Spanking.

Magistrate Watt, of Guelph, has revived in practice the old-fashioned spanking as a corrective of juvenile delinquency. In several cases recently he has ignored fine or imprisonment and ordered that the youthful offenders be spanked. Bert Andrews, of Drayton, who had informally borrowed an automobile, was the last subject for the official spanker.

It was decided to have the red letter event on September 2nd, Labor Day.

The meeting adjourned to meet at the call of the chairman.

FATAL ACCIDENT IN PROGRESS

On Friday night last as three-year-old Teddy Pitcher was walking along the C. P. R. tracks towards home, a New York and Kennel flyer struck him, fracturing a leg and cutting a deep gash in his side, causing death almost instantly. Coroner Ashbury decided that an inquest was necessary and empaneled the following jury: Dr. Green, Sylvester Bennett, Rastus Gunby, Bartholomew Zimmerman, Nehemiah Porter and Melchezedek Gastle. The jury met at the Progression Boulevard Morgue and after two hours' deliberation brought in a verdict of horseslaughter, and recommended that the settlers confine their livestock to pasture fields and not allow them to endanger their lives by getting on the railway tracks.

The Progression Boulevard Maple Leaf Quartette are giving a series of entertainments. The chief selection, and the one which receives the best applause, is "Nanny, Come Back." Recently a young fellow by the name of Bob from Kennel, had a tiff with his fiancée and the other night as the famous quartette were singing their old standby (Nanny, Come Back) the unhappy young couple happened to come within a half-mile radius of the melodious convicting strains of the quartette and Nanny's heart was really touched and she relented and came back to Bob, whose heart was so full of joy that he requested the Progression B. M. L. Q. to sing "Count Your Many Blessings."

Hardware

A great many people think that spring is the only time to paint. Any time of the year is the time to paint. Paint your buildings and preserve them. The statement is made that only 25 per cent of the surfaces that should be painted are painted. The loss due to decomposition by weather is greater than the annual fire loss. So Paint. We have a stock of pure paints in colors to suit all. fresh this season.
