CRIMINAL CODE

OF THE

DOMINION OF CANADA

AS AMENDED IN 1907.

WITH

ANNOTATIONS, COMMENTARIES, PRECEDENTS OF INDICTMENTS, &c., &c.

BY

WALTER EDWIN LEAR

(OF OSGOODE HALL, BARRISTER-AT-LAW)

COMPILER OF DIGEST CANADIAN CASE LAW, 1901-5; AND A WORK ON OATHS AND AFFIRMATIONS, &c.

> TORONTO : THE CARSWELL CO. LTD., LAW PUBLISHERS, &C. 1908

Entered according to the Act of the Parliament of Canada, in the y-ar one shousand nine hundred and eight, by THE CANSWELL COMPANY, Limited, in the Office of the Minister of Agriculture.

PREFACE.

The Revision of the Statutes of Canada necessitated many changes in the Criminal Code. In the recent Code there were 983 sections; in the new Code there are 1,152 sections. The former Code was divided into ten titles; the new Code is divided into twenty-five parts.

In preparing the present volume, I have endeavoured to give such information as will be of practical value to the practitioner and others concerned in the administration of the Criminal Law of Canada. It contains:

1. The Criminal Code as amended in 1907.

 The Canada Evidence Act and all other Acts relating to the Criminal Law of Canada.

3. The Forms in the Code are printed under the sections to which they relate, instead of at the end of the Code.

4. A complete set of Precedents of Indictments printed under the section to which they relate.

5. All the cases referred to by the Editors of the Annotations to the R. S. C. have been included; several have been revised and lengthened. It also contains very copious extracts from the Canadian Criminal Cases, Cox Criminal Cases, and other Canadian, English and American criminal reports.

A prisoner should be able to gather from the indictment whether he is charged with an offence at the common law; or under a statute, or, if there should be several statutes applicable to the subject under which statute he is charged, per Esten, V.-C., R. v. Cummings, 15 U. C. R. 16.

This section enacts that where an off-ender is punishable under two or more Acts, or two or more sections of the same Act, he may be punished under either, and also leaves the common law in force. under natural imbecility or disease of the mind, to such an. extent as to render him incapable of appreciating the nature and quality of the act or omission, and of knowing that such an act or omission was wrong.

2. DELUSIONS .- A person labouring under specific delusions, but in other respects sane, shall be not acquitted on the ground of insanity, under the provisions hereinafter contained, unless the delusions caused him to believe in the existence of some state of things which, if it existed, would justify or excuse his act or omission.

3. PRESUMPTION OF SANITY .- Every one shall be presumed to be sane at the time of doing or omitting to do any act until the contrary is proved. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 11.

In sub-section (1) the word "wrong" means legally not morally

See sections 966 to 970 as to procedure when plea of insanity has been maintained.

There are three stages of insanity recognized by law as an excuse for criminal acts. They are respectively illustrated in the three cases following: 1. R. v. Arnold (1724); 2. R. v. Bellingham (1812), 1 Russel on Crimes 118; 3, R, v, McNaughten (1843), 10 C, & F, 200. All three cases are in Kenney's Criminal Cases.

Under the present law, insanity is a good plea: 1. When the mind of the accused was affected to such an extent, at the time of his commission of the act, that he was unable to understand the wrong he was doing; or, 2. When his mind is troubled with delusions which cause him to imagine a condition of things which, if they were which cause into the maximum distribution of a wave of the second state of the seco 839.

Delusions which indicate a defective sanity such as will relieve a person from criminal responsibility are delusions of the senses, such as relate to facts or objects. It is not enough to shew that they have a diseased or depraved mind nor are mere wrong notions or impressions, or that the sense of right and wrong are still, v. Burton (1863), 3 F. & F. 772. See R.

A good test to apply is, would he have committed the crime had a policeman been there at the time of the act?

If the accused sets up the defence of insanity he must accept the onus probandi, R. V. Layton (1849, 4 Cox C. C. 149, Being drunk is no excuse for crime, Pierson's Case (1835), 2 Lewin, C. C. 144, But may be taken into consideration in asgertain-Lewin, C. C. Twis, Full may be taken into conservation in R, v, Meakins (1836), 7 C, & P. 297; R, v, Cruse (1838), 8 C, & P. 541; R, v, Monebause, (1849), 4 Cox C, C, 551; R, v, Mone (1852), 3 C, & K. 319; R, v, Gamlen (1858), 1 F, & F, 90.

Delirium tremens is treated the same as insanity if accused was in such a state of madness as to render himself temporarily incepable of distinguishing right from wrong. R. v. Davis (1881), 14 Cax C. C. 563.

See 3 Burn's Just. 180; 1 Russ. 11; R. v. Dubois, 17 Q. L. R. 203; R. v. Dove, 3 Stephen's Hist, 426, COMPULSION.

20. COMPULSION BY THREATS.—Except as hereinafter provided, compulsion by threats of immediate death or grievous bodily harm from a person actually present at the commission of the offence shall be an excuse for the commission, by a person subject to such threats, and who believes such threats will be executed, and who is not a party to any association or conspiracy, the being a party to which rendered him subject to compulsion, of any offence other than treason as defined by this Act, murder, piracy, offences deemed to be piracy, attempting to murder, assisting in rape, forcible abduction, robbery, causing grievous bodily harm, and arson. 55-56 V., c. 29, 8, 12.

See R. v. Tyler, 8 C. & P. 616; Warb. Lead. Cas. 31; R. v. Dunnett (1844), 1 Car. & K. 425.

There can be no doubt that a man is entitled to preserve his own life and limb; and, on this ground, he may justify much which otherwise would be punishable. The cases of a person setting up as a defence that he was compelled to commit a crime is of everyday occurrence. There is no doubt on the authorities that compulsion is a defence where the crime is not of a heinous character. But killing an innocent person, according to Lord Hale, can never be justified. He lays down the stern rule : 'If a man be desperately assaulted and in peril of death, and cannot otherwise escape, unless to satisfy his assailant's fury, he will kill an innocent person there present, the fear and actual force will not acquit him of the crime and punishment of murder, if he commit the fact; for he ought rather to die himself than kill an innocent.' On the trials for high treason in 1746, the defence of the prisoners was in many cases that they were compelled to serve in the rebel army. The law was laid down somewhat more favourably for the prisoners than it had been before, as the defence of compulsion was stated to apply not merely to furnishing provisions to the rebel army, but even to joining and serving in that army. It was laid down (See Foster 14) that, 'The only force that doth excuse is force upon the person and present fear of death; and this force and fear of death must continue all the time the party remains with the rebels. It is incumbent upon every man who makes force his defence, to shew an actual force, and that he quitted the service as soon as he could. It is noticeable that though most of those who set up this defence must have fought in actual battle and must have killed, or at least assisted in killing the loyalists, and so brought themselves within the stern rule laid down by Hale; it was never suggested that this made a difference.

As to homicide by necessity, see R. v. Dudley, 14 Q. B. D. 273. Warb, Lead. Cas. 102; United States v. Holmes, 1 Wall., jr., 1.

21. COMPULSION OF WIFE.—No presumption shall be made that a married woman committing an offence does so under compulsion because she commits it in the presence of her husband. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 13.

This section abrogates the Common Law rule that all offences commited by a matried woman in presence of her husband, except high trenson and murder, were presumed to have been committed under coercion: R, x, Torpey, 12 Cox C.C. 45, Warb Lead, Cas, 26, and COMPULSION—EXECUTION. [Secs. 21-24 cases there cited: R. v. Buncombe, 1 Cox C.C. 183; 1 Russ. 33, and Grenves' note (n).

22. IGNORANCE OF THE LAW.—The fact that an offender is ignorant of the law is not an excuse for any offence committed by him. 55-56 V., e. 29, s. 14.

See R. v. Mailloux, 3 Pugs (N.B.) 493; R. v. Reed, Car. & M. 308; R. v. Hall, 3 C. & P. 409; R. v. Hearn, cited in Warb. Lead, Cas. 204. Where the criminal quality of an act depends upon its having

Where the criminal quality of an act depends upon its having been wilfully done the actual motive of the offender is immaterial: 7th Rep. Crim. L. Comm. 1843, Art. 10. For criminal purposes, the intention to do the act exists where it is wilfully done. Intention and motive are not the same thing: 4th Rep. xx, and 7th Rep. 29.

In R. v. Craneshaw, Bell C.C. 303, the jury found the defendant guilty, but that he did not know perhaps that he was acting contrary to haw. But, said the Court, the defendant's ignorance of the statute is no excuse for him. As to ignorance of fact, and rule that "actua non facit return nisi mens sit read" see R. v. Prince, 13 Cox C. C. 138; R. v. Tolkon, 16 Cox C. C. 629, 23 Q. B. D. 168, Warb, Lead. Cas, 72, and canese there cited: R. v. Twoke, Warb Lead, Cas, 1; R. v. Hicklin, L. R. 3 Q. B. 300; Dyke v. Goucer, 17 Cox C. C. 421, and cases cited under section 315 post.

Though drunkenness is never an excuse for a crime, yet, where the intention of the guilty party is an element of the offence itself, the Lact that the accused was intoxicated at the time may be taken into consideration by the jury in considering whether he bad he intention necessary to constitute the offence charged: R. v. Cruse, Warb. Lead. Cas. 24, and cases there cited: R. v. Doherty. 16 Cox C. C. 306; R. v. Carroll, 7 C. & P. 145; 1 Russ, 12, and Greaves' note.

Ignorance of the law, an excuse in a specified case under section 29, post.

As to liability, in criminal law, of masters for the acts of their servants: see R. v. Stephens, Warb, Lead, Cas. 37; Rond v. Evans, 16 Cox C. C. 461, 21 Q. B. D. 240; R. v. Rennett, Bell, 1; R. v. Allen, 7. C. & P. 155; Chisholm v. Doulton, 16 Cox, C. C. 475, 22 Q. B. D. 736, and cases there cited; Kearley v. Tylor, 17 Cox C. C. 228; Elliott v. Osborn, 17 Cox C. C. 346; Brown v. Foot, 17 Cox C. C. 509.

23. EXECUTION OF SENTENCE.—Every ministerial officer of any court authorized to execute a lawful sentence, and every gaoler, and every person lawfully assisting such ministerial officer or gaoler, is justified in executing such sentence. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 15.

This section deals with homicide which does not amount to criminal homicide. See sections 26 and 27 as to erroneous sentences, and note under section 24 as to the word "justified."

24. EXECUTION OF PROCESS.--Every ministerial officer of any court duly authorized to execute any lawful process of such court, whether of a civil or criminal nature, and every person lawfully assisting him, is justified in executing the same.

; R. 421. GAOLER.—Every gaoler who is required under such process to receive and detain any person is justified in receiving and detaining him. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 16.

See R. v. King, 18 O. R. 566 under section 26.

"There is a difference in the language used in the sections in this part which probably requires explanation. Sometimes it is said that the person doing the act is "justified" in so doing under particular circumstances. The effect of an enartment using that word would be not only to relieve him from putishment, but also to afford him a statutable defence against a civil action for what he had done. Sometimes it is said that a person doing, an act is "protected from criminal responsibility' under particular circumstances. The effect of an enactment using this language is to relieve him from punishment, but to leave his liability to an action for duanges to he determined on other grounds, the enactment usither giving a defence to such an action where it does not exist, nor taking it away where it does. This difference is rendered necessary by the proposed abolition of the distinction between felony and misdemenaour.

"We think that in all cases where it is the duty of a peace officer to arrest (as it is in cases of felony), it is proper that he should be protected as he now is, from civil as well as from criminal responsibility. And as it is proposed to abolish the distinction between felony and misdemeanour, on which most of the existing law as to arresting without a warrant depends, we think it is necessary to give a new protection from all liability (both civil and criminal) fer arrest, in those cases which by the schemes of the Draft Code are (so far as the power of arrest is concerned) substituted for felonies. In those cases therefore which are provided for in sections 32, 33, 34, 37, 38 (30, 31, 32, 35, 36, of this Code) the word 'justified' is used. A private person is, by the existing law, protected from civil responsibility for arresting without warrant a person who is on reasonable grounds believed to have committed a felony, provided a felony has actually been committed, but not otherwise. In section 35 (38 of this Code) providing an equivalent for this law, the word used is 'justified.

"On the other hand, where we suggest an enactment which extends the existing law for the purpose of protecting the person from criminal proceedings, we have not thought it right that it should deprive the person injured of his right to dumages.

"And in cases in which it is doubtful whether the enactment extends the existing law or not, we have thought it better not to prejudice the decision of the civil Courts by the language used. In cases therefore such as those dealt with by sections 29, 30, 31, 36, 39, 46, 47 (27, 28, 29, 34, 37, 44, 45, of this Cade) we have used the words "protected from criminal responsibility." "—Imp. Comm. Rep.

25. EXECUTION OF WARRANTS.—Every one duly authorized to execute a lawful warrant issued by any court or justice of the peace or other person having jurisdiction to issue such warrant, and every person lawfully assisting him, is justified in executing such warrant.

2. GAOLER.—Every gaoler who is required under such warrant to receive and detain any person is justified in receiving and detaining him. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 17.

26. EXECUTION OF ERRONEOUS SENTENCE OR PROCESS .---If a sentence is passed or process issued by a court having jurisdiction under any circumstances to pass the sentence or issue such process, or if a warrant is issued by a court, justice or person having jurisdiction under any circumstances to issue the warrant, the sentence passed or process or warrant issued shall be sufficient to justify the officer or person thereby authorized, to execute the same, and every gaoler and person lawfully assisting in executing or carrying out such sentence, process or warrant, although the court passing the sentence or issuing the process had not in the particular case authority to pass the sentence or to issue the process, or although the court. justice or other person in the particular case had no jurisdiction to issue, or exceeded its or his jurisdiction in issuing, the warrant, or was, at the time when such sentence was passed or process or warrant issued, out of the district in or for which such court, justice or person was entitled to act. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 18.

See note under section 24 as to the word 'justified,' also West v. Smallwood, 3 M. & W. 418; Phillips v. Byron (1721), 1 Strange 509; Parsons v. Lloyd, 2 Wm. Bl. 845; R. v. Harrison (1812), 15 East. 615; Codrington v. Lloyd (1839), S A. & E. 449.

27. SENTENCE OR PROCESS WITHOUT JURISDICTION .---Every officer, gaoler or person executing any sentence, process or warrant, and every person lawfully assisting such officer, gaoler or person, shall be protected from criminal responsibility if he acts in good faith under the belief that the sentence or process was that of a court having jurisdiction, or that the warrant was that of a court, justice or other person having authority to issue warrants, and if it be proved that the person passing the sentence or issuing the process acted as a court under colour of having some appointment or commission lawfully authorizing him to so act, or that the person issuing the warrant acted as a court, justice or other person having such authority, although in fact such appointment or commission did not exist or had expired, or although in fact the court or the person passing the sentence or issuing the process was not the court or the person authorized by the commission to act, or the person issuing the warrant was not duly authorized so to act. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 19.

See note under section 24 as to the words, "criminal responsibility."

28. ARRESTING WRONG PERSON.—Every one duly authorized to execute a warrant to arrest, who thereupon arrests a person, believing in good faith and on reasonable and probable grounds that he is the person named in the warrant, shall be protected from criminal responsibility to the same extent and subject to the same provisions as if the person arrested had been the person named in the warrant.

2. Assisting in such arrest — GAOLER.—Every one called on to assist the person making such arrest, and believing that the person in whose arrest he is called on to assist is the person for whose arrest the warrant is issued, and every gaoler who is required to receive and detain such person, shall be protected to the same extent and subject to the same provisions as if the arrested person had been the person named in the warrant. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 20.

Where the defendant, arrested by a provincial constable, who believed that a robbery had been committed i, and that the defendant was one of the persons who committed it, and who, being asked to shew his authority, produced and read a warrant against F. E. and others, for breaking and entering a shop and stealing a quantity of goods therefrom, seeing that his name was not mentioned in the warrant, resisted arrest, and in so doing assaulted a constable, and was tried and convicted for assaulting a police officer in the discharge of his duty, with intent to resist lawful arrest, it was hed that the arrest could be justified under the statute, notwithstanding the insufficiency of the warrant: R. v. Sabeans, 37 N. S. R. 223, 7 Can. C. C. 495.

See Hore v. Bush, 1 M. & Gr. 775; R. v. Hood (1830), Moody's C. C. R. 281, and note under section 24, as to the words "criminal responsibility."

"As an officer arresting for felony without warrant is by the common law justified even if he by mistake arrests the wrong person, we think that the man who arrests any person with a warrant for any offence shall at least be protected from criminal responsibility. The right of action is not affected by it."-Imp. Comm. Rep.

of some defect in substance or in form on account apparent on the face of it, if he in good faith and without culpable ignorance and negligence believes that the warrant or process is good in law, shall be protected from criminal responsibility to the same extent and subject to the same provisions as if the warrant or process were good in law, and ignorance of the law shall in such case be an excuse.

2. QUESTION OF LAW .- 'It shall be a question of law whether the facts of which there is evidence may or may not constitute culpable ignorance or negligence in the belief of such person that the warrant or process is good law. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 21.

See note under section 24 as to the words "criminal responsibility."

"It is at least doubtful on the existing authorities whether a person honestly acting under a bad warrant, defective on the face of it, has any defence, though only doing what would have been his dotty if the warrant was good. The section, as framed, protects him. The proviso is new, but seems to be reasonable. It does not touch the question of civil restonsibility."—Imp. Comm. Rep. See R. v. Monkman, 8 Man, L. R. 509 under section 296 post.

30. Arrest by Peace Officer .- Every peace officer who, on reasonable and probable grounds, believes that an offence for which the offender may be arrested without warrant has been committed, whether it has been committed or not, and who, on reasonable and probable grounds, believes that any person has committed that offence, is justified in arresting such person without warrant, whether such person is guilty or not. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 22.

This section protects the officer making the arrest from criminal and civil proceedings, and it also authorizes the arrest. It applies and ervir proceedings, and it also authorizes the affest. It applies to cases where a piece officer may arrest without a warrant as well as to private persons may arrest without a warrant. But this sec-tion does not authorize a justice of the peace to direct a constable to make an arrest without a warrant. McGainess v. Dafoe (1896), 27 O. R. 117; 23 A. R. 704, 3 Can. C. C. 139. Verbal statements to officer that a person had committed a theft the day before does not justify him in arresting such person without warrant: Mousseau v. City of Montreal, Q. R. 12 S. C. 61. A workman in Central Prison was detected conveying tobacco

The warden directed a constable to arrest the workman and in so doing handcuffed him. Held, arrest legal, but the handcuffing under the circumstances was not justifiable, and the constable liable in trespass, but the warden not liable, as evidence failed to shew him a party to the handcuffing. Hamilton v. Massie, 18 O. R. 585.

a person suspected of having committed such offence is justified in assisting, if he knows that the person calling on him for assistance is a peace officer, and does not know that there is no recsonable ground for the suspicion. 55-56 V., c, 29, s. 23.

See McGuiness v. Dafoe (1896), 27 O. R. 117, 23 A. R. 704, 3 Can. C. C. 139, under section 30, as to assisting a peace officer and the codification of the common law. See also Allen v. Wright (1838). 8 C. & P. 522; Leete v. Harte (1866), L. R. 3 C. P. 322, as to what are reasonable grounds for suspicion.

32. Arrest of Persons Found Committing an Offence BY NIGHT .- Every one is justified in arresting without warrant any person whom he finds committing any offence for which the offender may be arrested without warrant, or may be arrested when found committing. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 24.

See note as to word "justified" under section 24. It is not clear that it was necessary to enact in these sections that a person who, being by law duly authorized to do so, arrests any one without warrant, is justified in so doing. The words "finds committing" in this and similar enactments are to be construed strictly. R. v. Phelps, Car. & M. 180. See remarks under section 646, post, as to arrests.

33. Arrest after Commission of Certain Offences .-If any offence for which the offender may be arrested without warrant has been committed, any one who, on reasonable and probable grounds, believes that any person is guilty of that offence is justified in arresting him without warrant, whether such person is guilty or not. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 25.

See section 649, also Jordan v. McDonald (1898), 31 N. S. R. 129.

34. ARREST DURING NIGHT.-Every one is protected from criminal responsibility for arresting without warrant any person whom he, on reasonable and probable grounds, believes he finds committing by night any offence for which the offender may be arrested without warrant. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 26.

"Found committing" means: 1, either actually discovering the person committing the offence; or, 2, immediately and continuously pursuing him from the time he is seen committing the offence (even if seen by a person other than the one pursuing) until he is captured. R. v. Curran (1828), 3 C. & P. 397; Hannay v. Boultbee (1830), 1 M. & R. 15.

If an offender is seen committing an offence by one person, he may be arrested by another, although he did not actually see the commission of the offence, but was immediately informed thereof by a witness and thereupon immediately pursued the offender. R, v. Howarth (1828), Moody's C. C. R. 207.

35. WHILE COMMITTING OFFENCE.—Every peace officer is justified in arresting without warrant any person whom he finds committing any offence. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 27.

"Peace officer" defined section 2, sub-section 26. As to arrest without warrant, see section 648, which applies only to offences against this Act. An officer is bound to arrest in many cases, but the Code has no reference to it.

36. BY NIGHT.—'Every one is justified in arresting without warrant any person whom he finds by night committing any offence.

2. LOITERING BY NIGHT.—'Every peace officer is justified in arresting without warrant any person whom he finds lying or loitering in any highway, yard or other place by night, and whom he has good cause to suspect of having committed or being about to commit any offence for which an offender may be arrested without warrant. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 28.

37. ARREST DURING FLIGHT.—Every one is protected from criminal responsibility for arresting without warrant any person whom he, on reasonable and probable grounds, believes to have committed an offence and to be escaping from and to be freshly pursued by those whom he, on reasonable and probable grounds, believes to have lawful authority to arrest that person for such offence. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 29.

See sections 649 and 652. Night defined section 2, sub-section 23, Peace officer defined section, 2 sub-section 26.

38. STATUTORY POWER OF ARREST.—Nothing in this Act shall take away or diminish any authority given by any Act in force for the time being to arrest, detain or put any restraint on any person. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 30.

39. FORCE IN EXECUTING WARRANT, PROCESS OR SEN-TENCE.—Every one executing any sentence, warrant or process, or in making any arrest, and every one lawfully assisting him, is justified, or protected from criminal responsibility, as the case may be, in using such force as may be necessary to overcome any force used in resisting such execution or arrest, unless the sentence, process or warrant can be executed or the arrest effected by reasonable means in a less violent manner. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 31. If it is necessary to effect an arrest to use force and in course of the struggle the person the officer is trying to arrest or any one assisting hum in resisting the arrest should be killed, the officer attempting to make the arrest is not liable criminally nor civilly; but should it be the officer or any one aiding the officer that should be killed the person killing him is guilty of murder. R, v. Porter (1873), 12 Cox C. C. 444.

40. DUTY OF PERSON ARRESTING.—It is the duty of every one executing any process or warrant to have it with him, and to produce it if required.

2. NOTICE.—It is the duty of every one arresting another, whether with or without warrant, to give notice, where practicable, of the process or warrant under which he acts, or of the cause of the arrest.

3. FAILURE IN DUTY.—'A failure to fulfil either of the two duties last mentioned shall not of itself deprive the person executing the process or warrant, or his assistants, or the person arresting, of protection from criminal responsibility, but shall be relevant to the inquiry whether the process or warrant might not have been executed, or the arrest effected, by reasonable means in a less violent manner. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 32.

See Codd v. Cabe, 1 Ex. D. 352; R. v. Carey, 14 Cox C. C. 214; R. v. Cumpton, Warb, Lead, Cas. 215, and cases there cited.

41. PEACE OFFICER PREVENTING ESCAPE.—Every peace officer proceeding lawfully to arrest, with or without warrant, any person for any offence for which the offender may be arrested without warrant, and every one lawfully assisting in such, arrest, is justified, if the person to be arrested takes to flight to avoid arrest, in using such force as may be necessary to prevent his escape by such flight, unless such escape can be prevented by reasonable means in a less violent manner. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 33.

See section 66, as to excess.

42. PRIVATE PERSON PREVENTING ESCAPE.—Every person proceeding lawfully to arrest without warrant any person for any offence for which the offender may be arrested without warrant is justified, if the person to be arrested takes to flight to avoid arrest, in using such force as may be necessary to prevent his escape by flight, unless such escape can be pre-

43. PREVENTING ESCAPE IN OTHER CASES.—Every one proceeding lawfully to arrest any person for any cause other than an offence in the last section mentioned is justified, if the person to be arrested takes to flight to avoid arrest, in using such force as may be necessary to prevent his escape by flight, unless such escape can be prevented by reasonable means in a less violent manner, if such force is neither intended nor likely to cause death or grievous bodily harm. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 35.

44. PREVENTING ESCAPE OR RESCUE OF ARRESTED PER-SON.—Every one who has lawfully arrested any person for any offence for which the offender may be arrested without warrant is protected from criminal responsibility in using such force in order to prevent the rescue or escape of the person arrested as he believes, on reasonable grounds, to be necessary for that purpose. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 36,

45. IDEM.—Every one who has lawfully arrested any person for any cause other than an offence for which the offender may be arrested without warrant is protected from criminal responsibility in using such force in order to prevent his escape or rescue as he believes, on reasonable grounds, to be necessary for that purpose, if such force is neither intended nor likely to cause death or grievous bodily harm. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 37.

46. PREVENTING BREACH OF PEACE.—Every one who witnesses a breach of the peace is justified in interfering to prevent its continuance or renewal and may detain any person committing or about to join in or renew such breach of the peace, in order to give him into the custody of a peace officer, if the person interfering uses no more force than is reasonably necessary for preventing the continuance or renewal of such breach of the peace, or than is reasonably proportioned to the danger to be apprehended from the continuance or renewal of such breach of the peace. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 38.

47. ARREST IN SUCH CASE.—Every peace officer who witnesses a breach of the peace, and every person lawfully assisting him, is justified in arresting any one whom he finds committing such breach of the peace, or whom he, on reasonable and probable grounds, believes to be about to join in or renew such breach of the peace.

2. GIVING PERSON IN CHARGE.—Every peace officer is justified in receiving into custody any person given into his charge as having been a party to a breach of the peace by one who has, or whom such peace officer, upon reasonable and probable grounds, believes to have, witnessed such breach of the peace. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 39.

"Peace officer" defined section 2, sub-section 23. See Timothy v. Simpson, 1 C. M. & R. 757; Baynes v. Breuster, 2 Q. B. 375; Price v. Secley, 10 Cl. & F. 28; Webster v. Watts, 11 Q. B. 311

48. SUPPRESSION OF RIOT BY MAGISTRATE.—Every sheriff, deputy sheriff, mayor or other head officer of any county, city, town or district, and every magistrate and justice of the peace, is justified in using, and ordering to be used, and every peace officer is justified in using, such force as he, in good faith, and on reasonable and probable grounds, believes to be necessary to suppress a riot, and as is not disproportioned to the danger which he, on reasonable and probable grounds, believes to be apprehended from the continuance of the riot. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 40.

Riot defined, section 88.

Peace officer defined, section 2, sub-section 26.

Sheriffs or other officers are bound to endeavour to suppress a riot, section 94.

A magistrate charged with the preservation of the peace of a city, caused the militia to fire on a person who was thus wounded. Held, magistrate not liable to injured party, the circumstances being such that a person might have reasonably mistaken the necessity for such firing although there was no real necessity. Stevenson v. Wilson, 2 L. C. J. 254.

49. SUPPRESSION OF RIOT BY PERSONS COMMANDED THERETO.—Every one, whether subject to military law or not, acting in good faith in obedience to orders given by any sheriff, deputy sheriff, mayor or other head officer or acting head officer of any county, city, town or district, or by any magistrate or justice, for the suppression of a riot, is justified in obeying the orders so given unless such orders are manifestly unlawful, and is protected from criminal responsibility in using such force as he, on reasonable and probable grounds, believes to be necessary for carrying into effect such orders.

2. QUESTION OF LAW.—It shall be a question of law whether any particular order is manifestly unlawful or not. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 41.

Military law defined, section 2, sub-section 20.

Riot defined, section 94, See the language of Tindal, C.J., in R, v. Pinney, 5 C. & P. 254, and R. v. Rose, 15 Cox C. C. 540.

50. SUPPRESSION OF RIOT BY PERSONS APPREHENDING SERIOUS MISCHIEF.—Every one, whether subject to military law or not, who in good faith and on reasonable and probable grounds believes that serious mischief will arise from a riot before there is time to procure the intervention of any of the authorities aforesaid, is justified in using such force as he, in good faith and on reasonable and probable grounds, believes to be necessary for the suppression of such riot, and as is not disproportioned to the danger which he, on reasonable grounds, believes to be apprehended from the continuance of the riot. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 42.

51. PROTECTION OF PERSONS SUBJECT TO MILITARY LAW. —Every one who is bound by military law to obey the lawful command of his superior officer is justified in obeying any command given him by his superior officer for the suppression of a riot, unless such order is manifestly unlawful.

 QUESTION OF LAW.—It shall be a question of law whether any particular order is manifestly unlawful or not. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 43.

See sections 91, 92, 93 in regard to reading the Riot Act and what is to be done in case the proclamation has no effect.

52. Use of Force.—Every one is justified in using such force as may be reasonably necessary in order,—

- (a) To PREVENT COMMISSION OF OFFENCE—to prevent the commission of any offence for which, if committed, the offender might be arrested without warrant, and the commission of which would be likely to cause immediate and serious injury to the person or property of any one; or.
- (b) ACT AMOUNTING TO OFFENCE—to prevent any act being done which he, on reasonable grounds, believes would, if committed, amount to any such offence. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 44.

Secs. 52-54]

See section 646 as to offences for which arrest without warrant is authorized, and remarks thereunder. See note under section 24 as to the word "justified." See Handcock v Baker, 2 B. & P. 200, and R. v. Rose, 15 Cox C. C. 540.

53. SELF DEFENCE.-Assault.-Every one unlawfully assaulted, not having provoked such assault, is justified in repelling force by force, if the force he uses is not meant to cause death or grievous bodily harm, and is no more than is necessary for the purpose of self-defence.

2. EXTENT JUSTIFIED.-Every one so assaulted is justified, though he causes death or grievous bodily harm, if he causes it under reasonable apprehension of death or grievous bodily harm from the violence with which the assault was originally made or with which the assailant pursues his purpose, and if he believes, on reasonable grounds, that he cannot otherwise preserve himself from death or grievous bodily harm. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 45.

See note under section 24 as to the word "justified," See re-marks under section 201, post. R. v. Knock, 14 Cox C. C. 1, and cases in Archbold, 755: 3 Blacks, 4; Horrigan, Cases on Self-Defence, 720 : see section 261, post.

A man is justified in shooting one of a party who have invaded his house and have committed a wholly unprovoked assault upon him, and who have up to the time of the shooting, continued their violent and unjustifiable conduct there, and were destroying chattels in his house; if he has reasonable apprehension of immediate danger of grievous bodily harm to his wife and children, who are at the time gravous boony harm to mis whe and channel, who are at the Cone in hits house. R. v. Theriault (1894). 2 Can. C. C. 444, 14 Occ. N. 346, 32 N. B. R. 504, See R. v. Bull (1839), 9 C. & P. 22; R. v. Smith (1837), 8 C.

& P. 160.

54. SELF DEFENCE IN CASE OF AGGRESSION .- Every one who has without justification assaulted another, or has provoked an assault from that other, may nevertheless justify force subsequent to such assault, if he uses such force under reasonable apprehension of death or grievous bodily harm from the violence of the person first assaulted or provoked. and in the belief, on reasonable grounds, that it is necessary for his own preservation from death or grievous bodily harm, if he did not commence the assault with intent to kill or do grievous bodily harm, and did not endeavour, at any time before the necessity for preserving himself arose, to kill or do grievous bodily harm, and if before such necessity arose, he declined further conflict, and quitted or retreated from it as far as was practicable.

2. PROVOCATION .- Provocation, within the meaning of this and the last preceding section, may be given by blows, words or gestures. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 46.

See note under preceding section, and section 261. "As a general rule of law, no provocation of words will reduce the crime of murder to that of manislaughter; but under special circumstances there may be such a provocation of words as will have that effect; for instance, if the husband suddenly hearing from his wife that she had committed adultery, and, he having no idea of such a thing before, were, thereupon, to kill her, it might be manslaughter. Blackburn J., in R. v. Rothwell (1871), 12 Cox. C. C. 145, 3 Russ. Cr. 38, 39.

Homicide will only be reduced to manslaughter when the person receiving the provocation acts upon it immediately. If some time elapses between the receiving of the provocation and the commission of the deed, it will be presumed that the person commission of the deed, it will be presumed that the person committed the deed not under stress of such provocation, but with malice and with the intention to kill: and in such a case he would be guilty of murder. R. v. Kirkham (1837), 8 C. & P. 115, Arch. Cr. Pl. & Ev. 723. See R. v. Kelly (1848), 2 C. & K. Sil+, R. v. Shaw (1834), 6 C.

& P. 372.

55. PREVENTION OF INSULTING ASSAULT .- Every one is justified in using force in defence of his own person, or that of any one under his protection, from an assault accompanied with insult, if he uses no more force than is necessary to prevent such assault, or the repetition of it.

2. DISPROPORTIONATE HURT NOT JUSTIFIED .- This section shall not justify the wilful infliction of any hurt or mischief disproportionate to the insult which the force used was intended to prevent. 55-56 V., c. 29 s. 47.

See note under section 53.

56. DEFENCE OF MOVABLE PROPERTY .- Every one who is in peaceable possession of any movable property or thing, and every one lawfully assisting him, is justified in resisting the taking of such thing by any trespasser, or in retaking it from such trespasser, if in either case he does not strike or do bodily harm to such trespasser.

2. ASSAULT BY TRESPASSER.-If, after any one, being in peaceable possession as aforesaid, has laid hands upon any such thing, such trespasser persists in attempting to keep it or to take it from the possessor, or from any one lawfully as-

58. DEFENCE WITHOUT CLAIM OF RIGHT.—Every one who is in peaceable possion of any movable property or thing, but neither claims right thereto nor acts under the authority of a person claiming right thereto, is neither justified nor protected from criminal responsibility for defending his possession against a person entitled by law to the possession of such property or thing. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 50.

59. DEFENCE OF DWELLING-HOUSE.—Every one who is in peaceable possession of a dwelling-house, and every one lawfully assisting him or acting by his authority, is justified in using such force as is necessary, to prevent the forcible breaking and entering of such dwelling-house, either by night or day, by any person with the intent to commit any indictable offence therein. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 51.

See cases under section 291. Also Horrigan, Cases on Self Defence, 749 et seq.

60. SAME AT NIGHT.—Every one who is in peaceable possession of a dwelling-house, and every one lawfully assisting him or acting by his authority, is justified in using such force as is necessary to prevent the forcible breaking and entering of such dwelling-house by night by any person, if he believes, on reasonable and probable grounds, that breaking and entering is attempted with the intent to commit any indictable offence therein. 55-56 V., c, 29, s, 52.

61. DEFENCE OF REAL PROPERTY.-Every one who is in peaceable possession of any house or land, or other real property, and every one lawfully assisting him or acting by his authority, is justified in using force to prevent any person from trespassing on such property, or to remove him therefrom, if he uses no more force than is necessary.

2. Assault by TRESPASSER.—If such trespasser resista such attempt to prevent his entry or to remove him, such trespasser shall be deemed to commit an assault without justification or provocation. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 53.

See cases under 291; 1 Russ. 1028; 1 Burn, 313; Lows v. Telford, 13 Cox C. C. 226, Warb. Lead. Cas. 51; Cook v. Bedl, 1 Ld. Raym. 170; Handcock v. Baker, 2 P. & B. 200; R. v. Hewlett, 1 F. & F. 91; R. v. Hood, 1 Moo, 281; Spirze v. Barrick, 14 U. C. R. 424; Glass v. O'Grady, 17 U. C. C. P. 213; Daris v. Lennon, 8 U. C. R. 299; Pockett v. Poole, 11 Man. L. R. 275.

A full report of the evidence in the case of R. v. Moir, and an imperfect report of Lord Tenterden's summing up are to be found in the annual register for 1830, vol. 72, p. 344. Moir having ordered some fishermen not to trespass on his land by taking a short cut, found the deceased and others persisting in going across. He rode up to them and ordered them back. They refused to go and there was evidence of angry words, and some slight evidence that the deceased threatened to strike Moir with a pole. Moir shot him in the arm, and the wound ultimately proved fatal. Before the man died. or indeed was supposed to be in danger, Moir avowed and justified his act, and said that in similar circumstances he would do the same again. This land, he said, was his castle, and as he could not without the use of firearms prevent the fishermen from persisting in their trespass, he did use them, and would use them again. Lord Tenterden took a different view of the law. He told the jury that the prevention of such a trespass could not justify such an act, and he seems to have left them as the only justification which on these facts could arise, the question whether the prisoner was in reasonable apprehension of danger to his life from the threats of the deceased. Moir was found guilty of nurder and executed. (See this case as since stated in R. v. Price, 7 C. & P. 178, and Roscoe, Cr. Evid, 714.) The law discourages persons from taking the law into their own hands. Still, the law does permit men, to defend themselves.

The law discourages persons from taking the law into their own hands. Still the law does permit men to defend themselves. Vin vi repellere licet modo fat moderamine incultate tutclae, non ad sumendam violence is used for the purpose of repelling a wrong, the degree of violence must not be disproportioned to the wrong to be prevented, or it is not justified. There is no case that we are aware of in which it has been held that homicide to prevent mere trespass is justifiable. The question raised has always been whether it was murder, or reduced by the provocation to manelaughter. . . . But the defence of possession either of goods or land against a mero trespass, not a crime, does not, strictly speaking, justify even a breach of the pence. The party in lawful possession may justify gently haying his hands on the trespasser and requesting him to depart. If the trespasser resists, and in doing so assaults the party in possession, that party may repel the assault and for that purpose may use any force which he would be justified in using in defence of possession, though it arose in the defence of the possession, get in the end it is the defence of the posters. May such a strictly side in a looke shot.

62. ASSERTION OF RIGHT TO HOUSE OR LAND.—Every one is justified in peaceably entering in the daytime to take possession of any house or land to the possession of which he, or some person under whose authority he acts, is lawfully entitled.

2. ASSAULT IN CASE OF LAWFUL ENTRY .--- If any person, not having or acting under the authority of one having peaceable possession of any such house or land with a claim of right, assaults any one peaceably entering as aforesaid, for the purpose of making him desist from such entry, such assault shall be deemed to be without justification or provocation.

3. TRESPASSER PROVOKING .- If any person having peaceable possession of such house or land with a claim of right, or any person acting by his authority, assaults any one entering as aforesaid, for the purpose of making him desist from such entry, such assault shall be deemed to be provoked by the person entering. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 54.

63. CORRECTION OF CHILD BY FORCE .- It is lawful for every parent, or person in the place of a parent, schoolmaster or master, to use force by way of correction towards any child, pupil or apprentice under his care, provided that such force is reasonable under the circumstances. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 55.

A school teacher is to be regarded as having parental authority to chastise a pupil: R, v, Robinson, 7 Can. C. 52. A teacher in one of the public schools, was charged before a magistrate with assaulting, beating, and ill-using J. O., one of the pupils under his care, and was acquitted on the ground that there was no evidence of malice on his part or of permanent injury to the child. Held, that the only question properly before the magistrate Child. Heid, that the only question properly before the magistrate was whether the punishment was reasonable in the circumstances, or, in other words, whether there was excess. Held, that there is no warrant in the Code for the test applied in the American case of State v. Pendergrass, 31 Am. Dec. 365, and adopted by the magis-trate, that it is necessary for the prosecutor to prove either that the person inflicting the punishment was actuated by malice or that bis act resulted in permanent injury to the child: R. v. Gaul, 24 Occ. N. 135, 36 N. S. R. 504, 8 Can. C. C. 178, See R. v. Couner (1836), 7 C. & P. 438; R. v. Cheeseman (1836) 7 C. & P. 455; R. v. Hopeley (1860), 2 F. & F. 202.

64. MASTER OF SHIP .- It is lawful for the master or officer in command of a ship on a voyage to use force for the purpose of maintaining good order and discipline on board of his ship, provided that he believes, on reasonable grounds, that such force is necessary, and provided also that the force used is reasonable in degree. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 56.

An assault with intent to commit a crime is an attempt to commit that crime ; R, v, Dungcy, 4 F, & F, 99. See reporter's note in that case and R, v, John, 15 S, C, R, 384.

An attempt to commit a crime is an intent to commit such crime manifested by some overt act, and, in cases of rape, robbery, etc., etc., necessarily includes an assault : Stephen's Cr. If A., mistaking a post in the dark for B., and intending to murder B., shouts at the post, he has not committed an attempt to murder, necording to the existing law. Does the above section 64 Burber, according to the existing inv. Does the above section 04 change the law in this respect? Indictment for throwing guapowder into a house with intent, etc.— u_{t} and u_{t} unlawfully and wilfully did throw into the dwelling-house of J. N., a large quantity, to wit, two pounds of a certain explosive substance, that is to say, guapowder, with intent threshy then to destroy the said dwelling-house. (Add counts earning the statement of the net, and also stating the intent to be to amage the house.)

Indictment under s. 111 for destroying by explosion part of a dwelling-house, so as to endanger life.— wilfully and unlawfully did, by the explosion of a certain explosive substance, that is to say gunpowder, destroy a certain part of the dwelling-house of J. N., situate one A. N., then being in the said dwelling-house, so as to endanger the life of the said A. N. (1dd counts for throwing down and demagning part of the dwelling-house), under s. 112: See R. v. McGrath. 14 Cox C. C. 598; and ss. 111, 113, 279, 280, 510, and also provide for officnes by explosives.

Prove that the defendant by himself or with others destroyed or was present aiding and abetting in the destruction of some part of the dwelling-house in question, by the explosion of gunpowder or other explosive substance mentioned in the indictment: R. v. Howell, 9 C. & P. 437. It has been held that firing a gun loaded with powder through the keyhole of the door of a house, in which were several persons, and by which the lock of the door was blown to pieces, is not within this section : R. v. Brown, 3 F. & F. 821. But Greaves is of opinion that this case would bear reconsideration : 2 Russ, 104 Prove that it was the dwelling-house of J. N., and situate as note described in the indictment. Prove that the act was done maliciously. that is, wilfully and not by accident. Prove also upon an indictment as ante under s. 111 that A. N. was in the house at the time. No intent need be laid or proved. In R. v. Sheppard, 11 Cox C. C. 302. it was held that, in order to support an indictment under this section, it is not enough to shew simply that gunpowder or other explosive substance was thrown against the house, but it must also be shewn that the substance was in a condition to explode at the time it was thrown, although no actual explosion did result,

The offence of wilfully obstructing or resisting a peace officer in the execution of his duty comes within section 773, and, therefore, notwithstanding the present section, a person charged with having committed that offence, can only be summarily tried by a Magistrate when he has given his consent thereto, as required by section 778. See R, v. Monkman (1892), 13 Occ. N, 16.

It devolves on the prosecution under this section to prove the existence of all the ingredients which go to make up the offence, one of which is the legality of the distress, as for example, in this case, that there was rent in arrear. It was necessary therefore for the Crown to shew that rent was due and in arrear. R. v. Harron, 24 Occ. N. 10, 6 O. L. R. 668, 2 O. W. R. 903, 7 Can. C. C. 543.

The retaking of possession of a chattel by the vendors thereof under the provisions of a conditional sale agreement, is not a seizure within the meaning of this section, so as to subject the purchaser of the chattel, who in good faith disputes the right to retake it, to the penalty prescribed in that sub-section. R. v. Shand, 24 Oec. N. 125, 7 O. L. R. 190, 3 O. W. R. 293.

An order of a County Court Judge for the issue of a writ of replevin out of such other County Court, and the writ issued thereunder, are wholly ultra vires and void, and afford no protection to the officer attempting to execute the writ; and the owner of the goods described in the writ cannot be convicted under this section, for unlawfully obstructing or resisting tae officer in the execution of his duty, because he by force prevented the buildf from taking the goods under the writ. R. v. Finlay, 21 Occ. N. 419, 13 Man. L. R. 383, 4 Can. C. C. 539.

Triable at quarter sessions, section 583. Evidence of perjury must be corroborated, section 1002.

If the same person swears contrary at different times, it should be averred on which occasion he swore wilfully, falsely and corruptly: R. v. Harris, 5 B. & Ald. 926.

A person accused of Derjury cannot have accomplices, and is alone responsible for the crime of which he is accused : R. v. Pelletier, and R. v. Tellier (1870), 1 R. L. 565.

Perjury may be committed on examination for discovery: R. v. 12 B. C. R. 223. Oath administered to prisoner in open Court by clerk of County Court sitting in general sessions of the peace for, and at verbal request of, clerk of the peace - Witness properly sworn : R. v. Coleman, 30 O. R. 93.

Perjury cannot be assigned for false statement in a deposition which is illegal for not conforming to requirements of local statutes: R. v. Oibson, 7 R. L. 573; R. v. Mertin, 21 L. C. J. 156; R. v. De-nault, 8 L. N. 250; R. v. Lloyd, 16 Cox, C. C. 235; 19 Q. B. D. 213.

Not even where the observance of the requirement was subse quently waived : R. v. Martin, 7 R. L. 672. But see R. v. Drew, Q. R. 11 K. B. 477, 33 S. C. R. 228

Accused committed perjury before a coroner and a jury, but was charged with having committed perjury before one of Her Majesty's coroners. Count was withdrawn from the jury who were instructed to acquit the accused because the inquest was before a coroner and jury instead of before a coroner. Upon a reserved case, Court held circumstances of the offence were sufficiently set forth to satisfy the statute, R. v. Thompson (1896), 32 C. C. J. 493.

In same case upon a preliminary investigation before a Justice of the Peace, the accused admitted he gave false evidence at the coroner's inquest and his admission was submitted to jury. Held, evidence should not have been received under Canada Evidence Act. R. v. Thompson, supra.

Attempting to procure woman falsely to make affidavit required by statute is indictable: R. v. Clement, 26 U. C. R. 297. Attempt by letter—Place where offence was complete—Place of trial: 1b.

Joint affidavit—" Each for himself maketh oath," etc.—Each may be indicted: R, v, Atkinson, 17 U, C, C, P. 205. Perjury is committed by taking of oath and defect in jurat of affidavit is not material: 1b.

Any one who falsely swears before a Deputy Returning Officer at a federal election that he is a certain person, is guilty of perjury even though he is not an elector: R, v. Chamberlain (1894), 10 Man. L. R. 2011; R, v. Proud (1876), L. R. + C. C. 71; R, v. Holland (2004) 20 C. L. I. 408; RHolland (894) 30 C. L. J. 428; R. v. Lawrence (1878), 43 U. C. R., Q. B. 164; R. v. Gibson (1896), 29 N. S. R. 88.

Including two charges of perjury in one indictment would not be ground for quashing it. An indictment that follows the form given by the statute is sufficient: R. v. Bain. Ramsay's App. Cas. 191.

False statement by person sworn before County Judge taking evidence in United States in an inquiry under an Ontario statute not perjury, the oath administered by Judge having no legal significance : In re Godson and City of Toronto, 16 O. R. 275.

A magistrate having jurisdiction over a whole district heard a charge in a part thereof in which he did not reside, while by statute such charge could only be tried by a resident Justice. Held, that the hearing was a judicial proceeding and perjury could be assigned for Assignment of perjury in giving evidence in civil action sur faits et articles—Negative averments—Admissibility of evidence—General verdict: R. v. Douenie, 15 S. C. R. 358; 11 L. N. 315.

The non-production by the prosecution, on a trial for perjury, of the plea which was filed in the civil suit wherein the defendant is alleged to have given false testimony, is not unaterial when the assignment of perjury has no reference to the pleading, but the defendant may, if he wishes, in case the plea is not produced, proveits contents by secondary evidence. It is not essential to prove that the facts sworn to by the defendant, as alleged in the indictment, were material to the issue in the cause in which the defendant was examined: R. v. Ross, M. L. 198. BLASPHEMOUS LIBELS.—Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to one year's imprisonment who publishes any blasphemous libel.

2. QUESTION OF FACT—PROVISO—EXPRESSION OF OPIN-ION.—Whether any particular published matter is a blasphemous libel or not is a question of fact: Provided that no one is guilty of a blasphemous libel for expressing in good faith and in decent language, or attempting to establish by arguments used in good faith and conveyed in decent language, any opinion whatever upon any religious subject. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 170.

A blasphemous libel is triable at Quarter Sessions, though not a defamatory nor a seditious libel, section 132.

The gist of blashemous libel is the outrage inflicted upon the religious community: R. v. Pelletier, et al. (1900), 6 R. L. (N., 116

The truth of a blasphemous libel cannot be pleaded as a defence: see cases under section 322, aute; also R, v, Hicklin, L, R, 3 Q, B, 360, and Archbuid, 843.

199. OBSTRUCTING OFFICIATING CLERGYMAN.—Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to two years' imprisonment who, by threats or force, unlawfully obstructs or prevents, or endeavours to obstruct or prevent, any elergyman or other minister in or from celebrating divine service, or otherwise officiating in any church, chapel, meeting-house, school-house or other place for divine worship, or in or from the performance of his duty in the lawful burial of the dead in any churchyard or other burial place, 55-56 V., e. 29, s. 171.

Indictment for obstructing a elergyman in the discharge of his duty— Unlawfully did by force (threats ar force) obstruct and prevent one J. N., a clergyman, then being the vicar of the parish of B., in the county of M., from celebrating divine service in the parish church of the said parish (or in the performance of his duty in the lawful burial of the dead in the church-yard of the parish church of the said parish.)

prisonment who strikes or offers any violence to, or arrests upon any civil process or under the pretense of executing any civil process, any clergyman or other minister who is engaged in or, to the knowledge of the offender, is about to engage in, any of the rites or duties in the last preceding section mentioned, or who, to the knowledge of the offender, is going to perform the same, or returning from the performance thereof. 55-56 V., c, 29, s. 172.

Indictment for arresting a clergyman about to engage in the performance of divine service— unlawfully did arrest one J. N. as clergyman, upon certain civil process, whilst he, the said J. N. as such clergyman as aforesaid, way soing to perform divine service, he the said (defendant) then well knowing that the said J. N. was a clergyman, and was so going to perform divine service as aforesaid.

201. DISTURBING MEETINGS FOR RELIGIOUS WORSHIP OR SPECIAL PURPOSES .- Every one is guilty of an offence and liable, on summary conviction, to a penalty not exceeding fifty dollars and costs, and in default of payment to one month's imprisonment, who wilfully disturbs, interrupts or disquiets any assemblage of persons met for religious worship, or for any moral, social or benevolent purpose, by profane discourse, by rude or indecent behaviour, or by making a noise, either within the place of such meeting or so near it as to disturb the order or solemnity of the meeting. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 173,

These offences are punishable by summary conviction.

Person entering religious meeting, announcing himself a Catholic and French Canadian, and calling upon all of that faith and nationand reach characteristic coming up and or the function in metode ally to leave, is guilty of an offence under this section : Moore v. Gauthier, Q. R. 14 K. B. 530, 11 Can. C. C. 263 Service must be conducted by person lawfully in charge : R. v. Waayl Kapij, 15 Man. L. R. 110, 9 Can. C. C. 186.

202. BUGGERY .- 'Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to imprisonment for life who commits buggery, either with a human being or with any other living creature. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 174, Sodomy or buggery is a detestable and abominable sin, amongst Obristians not to be named, committed by carnal knowledge against the ordinance of the Creator and order of nature by mankind with mankind, or with brute and beast, or by womankind with brute beast : 3 Inst. 58.

If the offence be committed on a boy under fourteen years of age, it is felony in the agent only: 1 Hale, 670. If a boy under fourteen on a man over fourteen, it is felony in the patient only : Archbold, 752.

The evidence is the same as in rape, with two exceptions : first, that it is not necessary to prove the offence to have been committed against the consent of the person upon whom it was perpetrated; and secondly, both agent and patient (if consenting) are equally guilty : 5 Burn's Just. 644.

It is to be conclusively presumed that any person under fourteen years of age is physically incompetent to commit the unnatural offences specified in this section. This presumption is not affected by the provisions of sec. 18, that section referring exclusively to the mental capacity of distinguishing between right and wrong.

Although a person under fourteen years of age cannot be con-victed of sodomy, he may, if the act be committed against the will of the other person, be punished for an indecent assault under section of the other period, we pulsate to the hardwork matrix matrix 10808, R, v, Martlen (1898), R, cn, C, C, 12. In R, v, Jacobs R, δR , δR , 331, it was proved that the prisoner had prevailed upon a child, a boy of seven years of age, to go with him in a back-yard; that he, then and there, forced the boy's mouth open with his fingers, and put his private parts into the boy's mouth, and emitted in his mouth; the judges decided that this did not constitute the crime of sodomy.

In one case the majority of the judges were of opinion that the commission of the crime with a woman was indictable; also by a man with his wife : 1 Russ, 939 ; R. v. Jellyman, Warb. Lead. Cas. 57. As in the case of rape, penetration alone is sufficient to constitute the offence.

The evidence should be plain and satisfactory in proportion as the crime is detestable.

Upon an indictment under this section, the prisoner may be convicted of an attempt to commit the same, section 949.

The punishment would then be under the next section.

The defendant may also be convicted of either of the offences created by sections 206, 291 or 293, if the evidence warrants it; sec. tion 951. See section 294 as to indecent assaults on persons under fourteen.

See R. v. Allen (1848) 1 Dennison C. C. 364.

Indictment,--- in and upon one J. N. did make an assault, and then wickedly, and against the order of nature had a venereal affair with the said J. N., and then carnally knew him, the said J. N., and then wickedly, and against the order of nature, with the said J.N., did commit and perpetrate that detestable and abominable crime of buggery

Indictment for bestiality .- with a certain cow (any animal) unlawfully, wickedly and against the order of nature had a venereal affair, and then unlawfully, wickedly and against the order of nature, with the said cow did commit and perpetrate that detestable and abominable crime of buggery.

203. ATTEMPT TO COMMIT,-Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to ten years' imprisonment who attempts to commit the offence mentioned in the last preceding section. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 175.

. Where there is consent there cannot be assault in point of law: R, v. Martin, 2 Moo. 123. A man induced two boys above the age of fourteen years to go with him in the evening to an out of the way place, where they mutually indulged in indecent practices on each others' persons; Held, that on a case reserved, that under these circumstances, a conviction for an indecent assault could not be upheld :

R. v. Wallaston, 12 Cox C. C. 180. But see now sections 206 and 294.

But the definition of an assault that the act must be against the will of the patient implies the possession of an active will on his part, and, therefore, mere submossion by a boy eight years old to an indecent assault and immoral practices upon his person, without any active sign of dissent, the child being ignorant of the nature of the assault, does not amount to consent so as to take the offence out of the operation of criminal law: R, v. Lock, 12 Cox, C. C. 244. But see now section 234, post,

The prisoner was indicted for an indecent assault upon a boy of about fourteen years of age. The boy had consented. Held, on the authority of R, v. Wollaston, 12 Cox C, C, 180, that the charge was not maintainable: R, v. Laprise, 3 L, N, 139. See now section 204, post.

Assault with intent to commit sodomy, section 293, post,

Indictment.— in and upon one J.N. did make an assuult, and him, the said J.N. did then beat, wound and ill-treat, with intent that detestable and abominable crime called buggery with the said J.N. unlawfully, wickedly, diabolically, and against the order of nature to commit and perpetrate.

204. INCEST—EFFECT OF COMPULSION.—Every parent and child, every brother and sister, and every grandparent and grandchild, who cohabit or have sexual intercourse with each other, shall each of them, if aware of their consanguinity, be deemed to have committed incest, and be guilty of an indictable^o offence and liable to fourteen years' imprisonment, and the male person shall also be liable to be whipped: Provided that, if the court or judge is of opinion that the female accused is a party to such intercourse only by reason of the restraint, fear or duress of the other party, the court or judge shall not be bound to impose any punishment on such person under this section. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 176.

Incest is not an offence at common law.

A verdict of common or indecent assault may be given, sections 291, 292, 294, if the evidence warrants it, section 951.

Or a verdict of assault with intent to commit an indictable offence, section 296.

A verdict of attempt to commit incest might also under certain circumstances be given, section 949. In the United States, in a case of The People v, Murray, 14 Cal, 159, the Court seems to have thought that such a verdict could be given. In Commonwealth v, Goadhae, 2 Met, 193, it was held that one indicted for rape on the person of his daughter might be convicted of incest. But this would not be allowed under this code on a trial for rape, except if the indictment contained also a count for incest; section 626. Then, the verdict would be on the count for incest, if the prisoner had been tried on both counts together.

On an indictment for incest, proof of relationship between the accused and his alleged victim must be established according to the rules of the civil law: $B \times Garroare$ (1889) $P = I = 0 \otimes O = P = 447$

We used and his aneged victim must be estimation according to the rules of the civil law: R. v. Garneou (1889), R. J. Q. S. Q. B. 447. The scienter must be alleged in the indictment. If one of the parties is not aware of the consequentity he is not guilty. In Bergen v. The People, 17 III, 426, it was held that the defendant's admission of relationship with the person with whom he held incestuous intercourse was sufficient proof of such relationship.

INDECENT ACTS.

cannot be given on an indictment under this section. The indictment may simply charge that on at A. B., a male person, in public (in another count "in private")) committed (or wat a party to the commission of) an act of gross indecency with C. D., another person. An indictment charging an atrempt by a mule person to commit an act of gross indecency with another male person lies under section 571, post. Also under section 203, for an indecent assault by a male person on another male person.

207. PENALTY.—Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to two years' imprisonment who knowingly, without lawful justification or excuse.—

- (a) OBSCENE OR IMMORAL BOOKS OR PICTURES—manufactures, or sells, or exposes for sale or to public view, or distributes or circulates, or causes to be distributed or circulated, any obscene book, or other printed, type-written or otherwise written matter, or any picture, photograph, model or other object tending to corrupt morals; or,

3. QUESTIONS FOR JUDGE AND FOR JURY.—It shall be a question for the court or judge whether the occasion of the manufacture, sale, exposing for sale, publishing, or exhibition is such as might be for the public good, and whether there is evidence of excess beyond what the public good required in the manner, extent or circumstances in, to or under which the manufacture, sale, exposing for sale, publishing or exhibition is made; but it shall be a question for the jury whether there is or is not such excess.

- (b) LETTERS OR POST-CARDS—any letter upon the outside or envelope of which, or any post card or post band or wrapper upon which, there are words, devices, matters or things of the character aforesaid; or.
- (c) LETTERS TO DECEIVE AND DEFRAUD—any letter or circular concerning schemes devised or intended to deceive and defraud the public, or for the purpose of obtaining money under false pretenses. 63-64 V., c. 46, s. 3.

This section does not cover letters or writings of an immoral character. The posting to be indictable under this section must be made within Ganada, but whether to be delivered out of Canada or not is immuterial. R. v. McKay, 28 N, B, R, 564.

210. BURDEN OF PROOF.—The burden of proof of previous unchastity on the part of the girl or woman under the three next succeeding sections shall be upon the accused. 63-64 V., c. 46, s. 3.

211. SEDUCTION OF GIRL BETWEEN FOURTEEN AND SIX-TEEN.—Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to two years' imprisonment who seduces or has illicit connection with any girl of previously chaste character, of or above the age of fourteen years and under the age of sixteen years. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 181; 56 V., c. 32, s. 1.

If it is proved that the girl was under fourteen the prisoner must be acquitted. He may then be indicted under section 301.

Previous chastity, according to a case in the United States, is not to be presumed; it has to be proved. West v, The State, 1 Wis. 209; see bishop Stat. Cr. 639. A contrary opinion is held in Archbold. The United States case seems to be correct.

212. SEDUCTION UNDER PROMISE OF MARRIAGE. - EVERY one, above the age of twenty-one years, is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to two years' imprisonment who, under promise of marriage, seduces and has illicit connection with any unmarried female of previously chaste character and under twenty-one years of age. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 182.

Limitation one year, section 1140. One witness must be corroborated, section 1002: subsequent marriage between the parties a good defence, section 214.

There is misdirection when the judge tells the jury that if the seduction took place while there was an existing engagement to marry, this section toos pance while there was an existing engagement to matry, this section applies, for the seduction contemplated by the section is one which is accomplished by means of a promise to marry. R, v. Walker (1893), 1 Terr. L. R. 84.

As to proof of a previous chaste character see under preceding section. If the man is married and the girl knows it there can be no offence under this section. The Pcople v. Alger. 1 Parker, 333; parties a defence, section 214. Verdict of attempt in certain cases, section 949.

The offence by a guardian on his ward need not have been seduction. Illicit intercourse with his ward constitutes an offence even if his ward was not of a previously chaste character.

The offence by an employer on his employee is seduction; the illicit connection must have been with a woman or girl of previously chaste character. Through an error, however, as the section reads, there is no offence whatever of the kind provided for.

Indictment.—That on A. B. being the guardian of one C. unlawfully did seduce and have illicit connection with the said C. D. his ward. (Add another count charging illicit connection only.)

214. SEDUCING FEMALE PASSENGERS ON VESSELS .- Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to a fine of four hundred dollars or to one year's imprisonment, who, being a master or other officer or a seaman or other person employed on board of any vessel, while such vessel is in any water within the jurisdiction of the Parliament of Canada, under promise of marriage, or by threats, or by the exercise of his authority, or by solicitation, or the making of gifts or presents, seduces and has illicit connection with any female passenger.

2, MARRIAGE A DEFENCE .- The subsequent intermarriage of the seducer and the seduced is, if pleaded, a good defence to any indictment for any offence against this or either of the two last preceding sections, except in the case of a guardian seducing his ward. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 184.

Evidence of one witness must be corroborated, section 1002.

Verdict of attempt in certain cases, section 949. A conviction for "unlawfully procuring or attempting to pro-cure" a girl to become a prostitute without Canada, "or with intent that she might become an inmate of a brothel elsewhere," does not disclose an offence under this section, but is void for duplicity and uncertainty. (a) PROCURING GIRL FOR DEFILEMENT—procures, or attempts to procure, any girl or woman under twenty-one years of age, not being a common prostitute or of known immoral character, to have unlawful carnal connection, either within or without Canada, with any other person or persons; or,

- (b) ENTICING GIRL TO HOUSE OF ILL-FAME—inveigles or entices any such woman or girl to a house of ill-fame or assignation for the purpose of illicit intercourse or prostitution, or knowingly conceals in such house any such woman or girl so inveigled or enticed; or, girl any drug, intoxicating liquor, matter, or thing with intent to stupper or overpower so as thereby to enable any person to have unlawful carnal connection with such woman or girl. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 185.

Limitation, one year, section 1140. One witness must be corroborated, section 1002.

A stranger to a girl under fourteen is liable to imprisonment for life if he procures such girl to have enrul connection with any man: sections 63-301; but a mother who so procures her child to have earnal connection with a man is punishable by fourteen gears only. And, in the case of a girl between fourteen and sixteen, the mother who procures her prostitution is punishable by five years whilst a stranger is liable only to two; sections 63-211. The last provision is not a wrong one taken by itself, but to find it in the same section with the first one shows with what carelessness this legislation has been enacted. For a mother to procure the prostitution of her daughter, is less criminal than if done by a stranger to her daughter, if that daughter is less than fourteen years old. But when the daughter is over fourteen and less than sixteen, the procurement of her prostitution by her mother is more criminal than if done by a stranger and a guardian who is accessory to the procuritution of his seventeen years old ward is liable to five years, but only to two years if he himself seduces that ward: es. 213-215.

217. HOUSEHOLDER PERMITTING DEFILEMENT. — Every one who, being the owner or occupier of any premises, or having, or acting or assisting in, the management or control thereof, induces or knowingly suffers any girl under the age of eighteen years to resort to or be in or upon such premises for the purpose of being unlawfully and carnally known by any man, whether such carnal knowledge is intended to be with any particular man, or generally, is guilty of an indictable offence, and is liable.—

- (a) PENALTY—AGE—to ten years' imprisonment if such girl is under the age of fourteen years;
- (b) PENALTY—AGE—to two years' imprisonment if such girl is of or above the age of fourteen years. 63-64 V., c. 46, s. 3.

Limitation, one year, section 1140. One witness must be corroborated 1002.

It is no defence that the accused had reasonable cause to believe that the girl was above sixteen: see R, v, Packer, 16 Cox, 57; R, v, Prince, 13 Cox, 138, Warb, Lend, Cus, 89, Indictment under (a) that A, B, on then being the owner and occupier (the Imperial statute has ("or occucarnally known by a man named W. M. (or by a man) or by men generally. Vary in different counts. If it is proved that the girl is above fourteen, but under sixteen, the conviction may be under (b) : see R. v. Webster, 16 Q. B. D. 136; R. v. Barrett, I., & C. 263, and R. v. Niannard, La & C. 349. If it is proved that the girl is above sixteen the conviction may be, if the evidence warrants it, under section 216.

218. CONSPIRACY TO DEFILE.—Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to two years' imprisonment who conspires with any other person by false pretenses, or false representations or other fraudulent means, to induce any woman to commit adultery or fornication. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 188.

One witness must be corroborated, section 1002: see R, v. Lord Grey, 3 St. Tr. 519; R, v. Mears, 2 Den, 79; R, v. Delarad, 3 Burr, 1435. Adultery is an indictable offence in New Brunswick: R, v. Egre, 1 P. & B. 180; R, v. Ellis, 22 N. B. Rep, 440. But it being unlawful, though not indictable in the other provinces, the above section has only the effect of reducing the punishment which, on an indictment at common law, for such conspiracy would be punishable by five years under section 1052.

219. CARNALLY KNOWING IDIOTS.—Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to four years' imprisonment who unlawfully and carnally knows, or attempts to have unlawfull carnal knowledge of, any female idiot or imbeeile, insane or deaf and dumb woman or girl, under circumstances which do not amount to rape but where the offender knew or had good reason to believe, at the time of the offence, that the woman or girl was an idiot, or imbecile, or insane or deaf and dumb. 63-64 V., c. 46, s. 3.

The words in italies are new ; see R, v. Berry, 1 Q, B, D, 447, One witness must be corroborated, section 1002; verdict of attempt in certain cases when full offence charged, section 949.

See R. v. Pressy, 10 Cox C. C. 635, and R. v. Arnold, 1 Russ. 9.

Consent by the female is not a defence. A verdict of common assault or indecent assault may be given, section 951, but not a verdict of attempt to commit rape. If rape or attempt to commit rape is proved the judge may order that the offender be indicted accordingly.

Indictments that A. B. on at unlawfully and carnally did know (or did attempt to have unlawfully carnal knowledge of) a certain female idiot called C. D. (or imbecile and imagne woman or giri) called C. D. (or deaf and dumb woman or giri) called C. D. under circumstances that do not amount to rape, he, the said A. B., well knowing at the time of the said offence that the said woman (or giri) was an idiot, or (as the case may be.)

220. PENALTY.—Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred dollars and not less than ten dollars, or six months' imprisonment,— substantive punishment, and if it is not imposed in the first instance it cannot be directed on account of default in payment of a fine. For such default over imprisonment for three months can be imposed, under section 739. Section 239 would, were it not for the decisions cited infra, appear to warrant the imposition of both fine and six months' imprisonment. R. v. Stafford (N. S. 1898), 1 Can. C. C. 239 ; R. v. omitting, without lawful excuse, to perform such duty, if the death of such servant or apprentice is caused, or if his life is endangered, or his health has been or is likely to be permanently injured, by such omission. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 211.

See next section. Neglect of servant, a boy of fifteen-Exposure to cold-Gross negligence-Manslaughter: R. v. Brown, 1 Terr, L. R. 475.

When it is necessary to amputate a child's toes by reason of their having been frozen, the Court should not infer therefrom that the child's health had thereby been, or was likely to be, " permanently injured," or that his life had been endangered thereby.

Under this section, a master is not criminally liable for failure to provide his servants with medical attendance or medicine. R. v. Coventry (1898), 3 Can. C. C. 541.

244. OMISSION OF DUTY-PENALTY.-Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to three years' imprisonment who, being bound to perform any duty specified in the three last preceding sections, without lawful excuse, neglects or refuses to do so, unless the offence amounts to culpable homicide. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 215; 56 V., c. 32, s. 1.

See Williams v. E. I. Co., 3 East 192 ; R. v. Nicholls, 13 Cox

C. C. 75; R. v. Pelm, S. Q. B. 359; R. v. Rugg, 12 Cox C. C. 16, 1, In section 242 the words or "head of a family" are added to the words "parent or guardian". Z. The word "necessarias" in section 242, relating to parent and child and husband and wife, is substituted to the words "necessary food, clothing or lodging." whilst the words "necessary food, clothing or lodging." are retained in section 243, relating to master and servant or apprentice. 3. The words "while such child remains a member of his or her household, whether such child is helpless or not," in section 242, are new. 4 In both sections the words "under the age of sixteen years", are new. 5. In section 243 the words "has contracted to provide" are sub-stituted to the words "being legally liable."

The difference in these two sections, 242 and 243, between necessaries and necessary food, clothing or lodging, is a right one. parent is obliged to supply his child, or a husband his wife, with all the necessaries of life, which would include medical attendance (241 & 242 combined, see R. v. Downes, 1 Q. B. D. 25), whilst a master is only obliged to provide his servant or apprentice with the necessary food, clothing or lodging which he has contracted to so provide.

In an indictment under section 210, it is necessary to allege that the refusal, omission and neglect was without hawful excuse and that by such refusal, omission, and neglect to provide the food, etc., necessary to his wife, her life has been and is endangered, or her health permanently injured, or likely to be permanently injured: see R. v. Maher, 7 L. N. 82; R. v. Nasmith, 42 U. C. R. 242. R. v.

Held, Armour, J., dissenting, that the evidence of a wife is inadmissible on the prosecution of her husband for refusal to support her, under 32-33 V, c. 20, s. 25; R. V. Bissell, 1 O, R. 514. Indictment under sections 241-24, against a galact for not pro-then being the master of J.N. his apprentice, the said J.N. being then under the age of 16 years, and the said J.S. having before the said day contracted to provide for the said J.N. as his apprentice as aforesaid, necessary food (clothing or lodging) unlawfully and without lawful excuse, did refuse, omit and neglect to provide the same, so that the life of the said J.N. was and is thereby endangered, (or the health of the said J.N. has been or is likely to be permanently injured). (Add counts varying the statement of the injuries auximed).

245. ABANDONING CHILDREN UNDER TWO YEARS.—Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to three years' imprisonment who unlawfully abandons or exposes any child under the age of two years, whereby its life is endangered or its health is permanently injured. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 216.

This clause is intended to provide for cases where children are abandoned or exposed under such circumstances that their lives or health may be, or are likely to be, endangered: see R. v. Falkingham, 11 Cox C. C. 475, Warb, Lead, Cas. 93; R. v. White, 12 Cox C. G. 83; R. v. Hogan, 2 Den, 277; R. v. Gooper, 1 Den, 459, 2 C. & K. 876; R. v. Philpot, Dears, 179; *R. v. Homicide.

250. DEFINITION.—Homicide is the killing of a human being by another, directly or indirectly, by any means whatsoever. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 218.

251. WHEN A CHILD BECOMES A HUMAN BEING.—A child becomes a human being within the meaning of this Act when it has completely proceeded, in a living state, from the body of its mother, whether it has breathed or not, whether it has an independent circulation or not, and whether the navel string is severed or not.

2. KILLING CHILD.—The killing of such child is homicide when it dies in consequence of injuries received before, during or after birth. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 219.

See R. v. Poulton, 5 C. & P. 320; R. v. Brain, 6 C. & P. 349; R. v. Handley, 13 Cox C. C. 79 If a mortal wound be given to a chad whilst in the act of being born, for instance upon the head as soon as the head appears and before the child has breathed, it may be murder if the child is afterwards born alive and dies thereof; R. v. Senior, I Moo. 346. But the entire child must actually have been born into the world in a living state, and the fact of its having breathed is not a conclusive proof thereof; R. v. Sellis, 7 C. & P. S50; R. v. Cratchley, T. C. & P. S14. A child is born alive when it exists as a live child, breathing and living by reason of breathing through its own lungs alone, without deriving any of its living or power of living by or through any connection with its mother, but the fact of the child being still connected with the mother by the umbilical cord will not prevent the killing from being murder; R. v. Cratchley, T. C. & P. S14; R. v. Trilloe, 2 Moo. 200; R. v. West, 2 C. & K. 754. See post s. 983, as to evidence on a charge of murder of a bastard child by his mother.

252. HOMICIDE WHEN CULPABLE.—Homicide may be either culpable or not culpable.

2. Homicide is culpable when it consists in the killing of any person, either by an unlawful act or by an omission, without lawful excuse, to perform or observe any legal duty, or by both combined, or by causing a person, by threats or fear of violence, or by deception, to do an act which causes that person's death, or by wilfully frightening a child or sick person.

3. OFFENCE.—Culpable homicide is either murder or manslaughter.

4. No OFFENCE.—Homicide which is not culpable is not an offence. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 220.

253. PROCURING DEATH BY FALSE EVIDENCE.—Procuring by false evidence the conviction and death of any person by the sentence of the law shall not be deemed to be homicide. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 221,

254. DEATH WITHIN A YEAR AND A DAY.—No one is criminally responsible for the killing of another unless the death takes place within a year and a day of the cause of death.

2. How RECKONED.—The period of a year and a day shall be reckoned inclusive of the day on which the last unlawful act contributing to the cause of death took place.

3. IDEM.—Where the cause of death is an omission to fulfil a legal duty the period shall be reckoned inclusive of the day on which such omission ceased.

4. IDEM.—When death is in part caused by an unlawful act and in part by an omission, the period shall be reckoned inclusive of the day on which the last unlawful act took place or the omission ceased, whichever happened last. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 222.

255. KILLING BY INFLUENCE ON THE MIND.—No one is criminally responsible for the killing of another by any influence on the mind alone, nor for the killing of another by any disorder or disease arising from such influence, save in either case by wilfully frightening a child or sick person. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 223.

In R, v. Towers, 12 Cox C. C. 530, a man was convicted of manslaughter for frightening a child to death. In R, v. Dugal, 4 Q. L. R, 350, a man in Quebec was convicted of manslaughter upon evidence of death from syncope caused by threats of personal violence and assault without battery on the deceased. If magnetism and hypnotism become more commonly practiced, the law of this section may have to be altered.

256. ACCELERATION OF DEATH.—Every one who, by any act or omission, causes the death of another, kills that person, although the effect of the bodily injury caused to such other person be merely to accelerate his death while labouring under some disorder or disease arising from some other cause. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 224.

No one has the right to shorten the life of another. A contrary rule, it is obvious, would lead to singular consequences. See 1 Hale, 428; R. v. Martin, 5 C. & P. 128.

257. DEATH WHICH MIGHT HAVE BEEN PREVENTED.— Every one who, by any act or omission, causes the death of another, kills that person, although death from that cause might have been prevented by resorting to proper means. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 225.

Punishment of intoxicated soldier—Mode—Tieing up so as to cause death: R.v. Stowe, 2 N. S. R. 121.

258. CAUSING INJURY, THE TREATMENT OF WHICH BRINGS DEATH.—Every one who causes a bodily injury, which is of itself of a dangerous nature to any person, from which death results, kills that person, although the immediate cause of death be treatment proper or improper applied in good faith. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 226.

See R. v. Pym (1846), 1 Cox C. C. 339; R. v. Fletcher (1841), 1 Russell on Crimes, 703; R. v. Holland (1841), 2 Moody & R. 351.

Murder and Manslaughter.

259. INTENTION.—Culpable homicide is murder,—

- (a) if the offender means to cause the death of the person killed;
- (b) if the offender means to cause to the person killed any bodily injury which is known to the offender to be likely to cause death, and is reckless whether death ensues or not;
- (c) if the offender means to cause death, or, being so reckless as aforesaid, means to cause such bodily injury as aforesaid to one person, and by accident or mistake kills another person, though he does not mean to hurt the person killed;
- (d) if the offender, for any unlawful object, does an act which he knows or ought to have known to be likely to cause death, and thereby kills any person, though he may have desired that his object should be effected without hurting any one, 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 227.

260. CULPABLE HOMICIDE MURDER IN CERTAIN CASES.— In case of treason and the other offences against the King's authority and person mentioned in Part II., piracy and ofc.c.—9 fences deemed to be piracy, escape or rescue from prison or lawful custody, resisting lawful apprehension, murder, rape, forcible abduction, robbery, burglary or arson, culpable homicide is also murder, whether the offender means or not death to ensue, or knows or not that death is likely to ensue,-

- (a) IF GRIEVOUS BODILY HARM INTENDED-if he means to inflict grievous bodily injury for the purpose of facilitating the commission of any of the offences in this section mentioned, or the flight of the offender upon the commission or attempted commission thereof, and death ensues from such injury; or,
- (b) NARCOTIC ADMINISTERED-if he administers any stupefying or overpowering thing for either of the purposes aforesaid, and death ensues from the effects thereof; or,
- (c) WILFULLY STOPPING THE BREATH-if he by any means wilfully stops the breath of any person for either of the purposes aforesaid, and death ensues from such stopping of the breath. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 228.

The crime of murder is often proved by what is known as cir-cumstantial evidence. The rule is that where a charge of murder depends upon such evidence it ought not only to be consistent with depends upon such evidence it ought not only to be consistent with the prisoner's guilt, but inconsistent with any other rational con-clusion. R. v. Hodge (1838), 2 Lewin's C. C. 227. Where the prisoner put salts of sorrel in a sugar basin, in order that the prosecutor might take it with his tea, it was held an attempt to administer : R. v. Dale, 6 Cox C. C. 14. See R. v. 261. HOMICIDE REDUCED TO MANSLAUGHTER. - Culpable homicide, which would otherwise be murder, may be reduced to manslaughter if the person who causes death does so in the heat of passion caused by sudden provocation.

2. PROVOCATION DEFINED .- Any wrongful act or insult, of such a nature as to be sufficient to deprive an ordinary person of the power of self-control, may be provocation if the offender acts upon it on the sudden, and before there has been time for his passion to cool.

268. PUNISHMENT FOR MANSLAUGHTER.—Every one who commits manslaughter is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to imprisonment for life. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 236.

R. v. Morris, 10 Cox C. C. 489; R. v. Friel, 17 Cox C. C. 325; see ss. 866 & 969, post.

Indictment,— that A. B. on at unlawfully did kill and slay one and thereby committed manslaughter.

Suicide.

269. AIDING OR COUNSELLING.—Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to imprisonment for life who counsels or procures any person to commit suicide, actually committed in consequence of such counselling or procurement, or who aids or abets any person in the commission of suicide. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 237.

If the suicide was not committed yet the inciting to it is an offence; R, v. Gregory, L. R. 1 C. C. R. 77; so is the conspiracy by two persons to commit suicide together, s. 527.

See R. v. Dyson, R. & R. 523; R. v. Russell, 1 Moo. 356, This last case applies only to an accessory, not to an aider and abettor: R. v. Touke, R. & R. 314.

A, and B, go out together with a gun to kill D. A. fires the shot, but his gun bursts and kills himself (A_{\cdot}) . A, has committed suicide, and B, was alder and abettor to that suicide.

If one encourage another to commit suicide, and is present abetting him while he does so, such person would be indictable under this s. 269 for counselling the other to commit suicide.

At common law, if two persons mutually agreed to commit suicide together, and the means employed to produce death only took effect upon one of them, the survivor would be held to be guilty of the murder of the one who died, and therefore liable to be sentenced to death.

R. v. Allison (1838), 8 C. & P. 418. Indictment.— that on $\begin{array}{cccc} \hline Indictment.-& \text{that on } & \text{at } & \text{one A, D,}\\ \text{committed suicide, and that on divers days before the said offence was committed by the said A. B. in the commission of the said diffence and suicide.) \\ \end{array}$

270. ATTEMPT.—Every one who attempts to commit suicide is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to two years' imprisonment. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 238.

See R. v. Burgess (1862), 9 Cox C. C. 247.

Indictment,— that A. B. on unlawfully and wilfully did attempt and endeavour to unlawfully kill himself and thereby to commit suicide.

Neglect in Childbirth and Concealing Dead Body.

271. NEGLECTING TO OBTAIN ASSISTANCE IN CHILDBIRTH. -Every woman is guilty of an indictable offence who, with either of the intents in this section mentioned, being with child and being about to be delivered, neglects to provide reasonable assistance in her delivery, if the child is permanently injured thereby, or dies, either just before, or during, or shortly after birth, unless she proves that such death or permanent injury was not caused by such neglect, or by any wrongful act to which she was a party, and is liable,---

- (a) PENALTY—If the intent of such neglect be that the child shall not live, to imprisonment for life;
- (b) PENALTY—if the intent of such neglect be to conceal the fact of her having had a child, to imprisonment for seven years. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 239.

See notes to section 251.

Under a charge of child murder the accused cannot be found guilty of the offence under s. 271. A verdict of concealment of birth may be given if the evidence warrants it, s. 951. The punishment would then be under next section

If R. v. Handley, 13 Cox C.C. 79, is good law, the offence covered by this s. 271 would at common law, when the child dies after birth, be murder or manslaughter.

It is not easy to imagine a case where it would be possible to obtain a conviction under this section, where a child dies before, even if it is only just bcfore, his birth. The expression itself "dies before his birth" is not a happy one: see s, 251, ante. The words "unless she proves," etc., are utterly useless. Either the prosecutor's case must be proved or not. If it is, the jury must convict; if not, they must acquit; and it is not if it is proven that the death or injury was caused by the neglect.

A verdict of guilty under s.-s. (b) may be given upon this indictment if the evidence warrants it.

272. CONCEALING DEAD BODY OF CHILD .- Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to two years' imprisonment, who disposes of the dead body of any child in any manner, with intent to conceal the fact that its mother was delivered of it, whether the child died before or during, or after birth. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 240.

The enactment applies not only to a mother, but to every one who disposes of the dead body of a child with intent to conceal birth. The repealed clause had the words " by any secret disposition."

In R. v. Berriman, 6 Cox C. C. 288, Eele, J., told the jury that this offence cannot be committed unless the child had arrived at that stage of maturity at the time of birth that it might have been a living child. But in a later case, R. v. Colmer (1864), 9 Cox C. 506, Martin, J., ruled that the offence is complete on a fortus delivered in the fourth or fifth month of pregnancy, not longer than a man's finger, but having the shape of a child.

Final disposition of the body is not material, and hiding it in a place from which a further removal was contemplated would supfort the indictment: R. v. Goldthorpe, 2 Moo. 244; R. v. Perry, Dears. 471.

Leaving the dead body of a child in two boxes, closed but not locked or fastened, one being placed inside the other in a bedroom but in such a position as to attract the attention of those who daily resorted to the room, is not a secret disposition of the body within the meaning of the statute: R, v. George, 11 Cox C. C. 41.

What is a secret disposition of the dead body of a child within the statute is a question for the jury, depending on the circumstances of the particular case. Where the dead body of a child was thrown into a field, over a wall $4\frac{1}{2}$ feet high separating the yard of a public house from the field, and a person looking over the wall from the yard might have seen the body, but persons going through the yard or using it in the ordinary way would not, it was held, on a case reserved, that this was an offence within the statute: R, v. Brown. 11 Cox C. C. 517, Warb, Lead, Cas, 34.

Although the fact of the prisoner having placed the dead body of her newly-born child in an unlocked box is not of itself sufficient evidence of a criminal concealment of birth, yet all the attendant circumstances of the case must be taken into consideration in order to determine whether or not an offence has been committed: R, v. Cook, 11 Cox C, C, 542.

In order to convict a woman of attempting to conceal the birth of her child, under s. 949, post, a dead body must be found and identified as that of the child of which she is alleged to have been delivered. A woman, apparently premant, while staying in an inn, at Stafford, received by post, on the 28th of August, 1870, a Rugby newspaper with the Rugby post mark upon it. On the same day, her appearance and the state of her room seemed to indicate that she had been delivered of a child. She left for Shrewsbury next morning, carrying a parcel. That afternoon a parcel was found in a waiting room at Stafford station. In contained the dead body of a newly-born child, wrapped in a Rugby Gazette, of August 27th, bearbury, but no proof was given of the woman having been at Stafford Station : Held, that this evidence was not sufficient to identify the body found as the child of which the woman max said to have been delivered, and would not therefore justify her conviction for concealment of birth: R. v. Williows (IST1), 11 Cox C. C. 684.

Where death not proved conviction is illegal: R. v. Bell, 8 Ir. R. C. L. 542.

A, being questioned by a police-constable about the concealment of a birth, gave an answer which caused the officer to say to ber, "It might be better for you to tell the truth and not a lie." Held, that a further statement made by A. to the policeman after the above inducement was inadmissible in evidence against her, as not being free and voluntary. A. was taken into custody the same day, placed with two accomplies, B. and C. and charged with concealment of birth. All three then made statements. Held, that those made by B. and C. could not be deemed to be affected by the previous inducement to A. and were, therefore, admissible against B. and C. respectively, although that made by A, was not so. The prisoners were sent for trial, but before their committal they received the formal caution from the magistrate as to anything they might wish to say. Whereupon the magnetized as to anything they main wish to say. An ender a statement which was taken down in writing, as usual, and attached to the deposition : Held, that this latter statement of A, might be read at the trial as evidence against herself. Mere proof that a woman was delivered of a child and allowed two others to take away its body is sufficient to sustain an indictment against her for concealment of birth : R. v. Bate, 11 Cox C. C. 686.

A woman delivere... of a child born alive endeavoured to conceal the birth thereof by depositing the child while alive in a corner of a field, when it died from exposure. Held, that she could not be in-

The prisoner, who lived alone, had placed the dead body of her new born child behind a trunk in the room she occupied, between the trunk and the wall. On being charged with having had a child she at first denied it. Held, sufficient to support a conviction for concealment of birth: R, v, Piek (1879), 30 U, C, C, P, 409. 273. WOUNDING WITH INTENT .- 'Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to imprisonment for life who, with intent to maim, disfigure or disable any person, or to do some other grievous bodily harm to any person, or with intent to resist or prevent the lawful apprehension or detainer of any person, unlawfully by any means wounds or causes any grievous bodily harm to any person, or shoots at any person, or by drawing a trigger, or in any other manner, attempts to discharge any kind of loaded arms at any person. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 241.

"Loaded arms" defined, s. 2: see R. v. Latimer, 16 Cox, 70, Warb. Lend. Cas. 117; and R. v. Clarence, Warb. Lead. Cas. 130, 22 Q. B. D. 23.

An indictment under the English clause charging that the prisoner did "inflict" grievous bodily harm instead of "cause" is suffi-cient : R. v. Bray. 15 Cox C. C. 197.

On indictment for wounding with intent, a verdict of "guilty without malicious intent" is an acquittal: R. v. Slaughtenwhite, 35 S. C. R. 607.

An indictment under the repealed act, charging the act to have been done "feloniously, wilfully and maliciously" was held bad, the words of the statute, then being "unlawfully and maliciously ": R_{\star} , Ryan, 2 Moo, 15. In practice the first count of the indictment Sec is generally for wounding with intent to murder. These counts are allowed to be joined in the same indictment.

This clause includes every wounding done without lawful excuse with any of the intents mentioned in it; from the act itself malice will be inferred: R. v. Latimer, 17 Q. B. D. 359, Warb. Lead. Cas, 117, and cases there cited.

The instrument or means by which the injury was inflicted need not be stated in the indictment, and if stated need not be proved as laid: R. v. Briggs, 1 Moo, 318. And in the same case it was held that upon an indictment which charged a wound to have been inflicted by striking with a stick and kicking with the feet, proof that the wound was caused either by striking with a stick or kicking was sufficient, though it was uncertain by which of the two the injury was inflicted.

In order to convict of the offence the intent must be proved as laid; hence the necessity of several counts charging the offence to have been committed with different intents. If an indictment alleged that the defendants cut the prosecutor with intent to disable, and to do some previous bodily harm, it will not be supported by proof of an intention to prevent a lawful apprehension : R. v. Duffin. R. & R. 365; R, v. Boyce, 1 Moo. 29; unless for the purpose of affecting his escape the defendant also harboured one of the intents stated in the indictment : R. v. Gillow, 1 Moo, 85; for where both intents exist it is immaterial which is the principal and which the subordinate. Therefore where, in order to commit a rape, the defendant cut the private parts of an infant, and thereby did her grievous bodily harm, it was holden that he was guilty of cutting with intent to do her grievous bodily harm, notwithstanding his principal object was to commit the rape : R. v. Cox, R. & R. 362. So also, if a person wound another in order to rob him, and thereby inflict grievous bodily harm, he may be convicted on a count charging him with an intent to do grievous bodily harm.

An indictment charging the prisoner with wounding A, with intent to do him grievous bodily harm, is good although it is proved that he mistook A, for somebody else, and that he intended to wound another person : R, v, Stopford, 11 Cox C, C, 643 ; see R, v, Hunt, 1 Moo, 93.

The prisoner was indicted for shooting at A. with intent to do him grievous bodily harm. He fired a pistol into a group of persons who had assaulted and annoyed him, among whom was A., without aiming at A. or any one in particular, but intending generally to do grievous bodily harm, and wounded A. Held, on a case reserved, that he was rightly convicted: R. v. Fretwell, L. & C. 443.

With respect to the intents mentioned in the statute it may be useful to observe that to main is to injure any part of a man's body which may render him in fighting less able to defend himself, or annoy his enemy: to disfigure is to do some external injury which may detract from his personal appearance; and to disable is to do something which creates a permanent disability, and not merely temporary injury: Archbold, 606. It is not necessary that a grievous bodly harm should be either permanent or dangerous; if it be such as seriously to interfere with health or comfort that is sufficient; and, therefore, where the defendant cut the private parts of an infant, and the wound was not dangerous, and was small, but bled a good deal, and the jury found that it was a grievous bodily harm, it was holden that the conviction was right; R. v. Cos, R. & R. 302.

Where the intent laid is to prevent a lawful apprehension it must be shown that the arrest would have been lawful; and where the circumstances are not such that the party must know why he is about to be apprehended it must be proved that he was apprised of the intention to apprehend him: Archhold, 667.

While the defendant was using threatening language to a third person a constable in plain clothes came up and interfered. The defendant struck the constable with his fist, and there was a struggle between them. The constable went away for assistance, and was absent for an hour; he changed his plain clothes for his uniform and returned to defendant's house with three other constables. They forced the door and entered the house. The defendant refused to come down, and threatened to kill the first man who came up to take him. The constables ran upstairs to take him, and he wounded one of them in the struggle that took place. Held, upon a case reserved, that the apprehension of the prisoner at the time was unlawful, and that he could not be convicted of wounding the constables with intent to prevent his lawful apprehension : R. v. Marsden, 11 Cox C. (90).

Upon an indictment for an assault with intent to do grievous bodily harm a plea of guilty to a common assault may be received if the prosecution consents: R, v, Razburgh, 12 Cox C, C, 8.

Upon an indictment for any offence under this clause the jury may find a verdict of guilty of an attempt to commit it, s. 949.

A verdict of common assault may also be found, s. 951.

And, if the prosecutor fail in proving the intent, the defendant may be convicted of unlawfully wounding, and sentenced under the next session.

And where three are indicted for malicious wounding with intent to do grievous bodily harm the jury may convict two of the offence under s. 273, and the third of unlawfully wounding under s. 274: R. v. Cunningham, Bell, 72.

R. v. Cunningham, Bell, 72, Where a prisoner was indicted for feloniously wounding with intent to do grievous bodily harm: Held, that the intention might be inferred from the act: R. v. LeDante, 2 G, & O v. (N. S.) 401. L. was tried on an indictment under 32 & 33 V. c. 20, contain-

The first charged that he did anlawfully, etc., kick, strike, wound and do grievous bodily harm to W., with intent, etc., to main; the second charged an assault, as in first, with intent to disfigure; the third charged intent to disable; the fourth charged the intent to do some grievous bodily harm. The prisoner was found guilty of a common assault. Held, that L, was rightly convicted, s. 51 of the Act. 32 & 33 V. c. 20, authorizing such conviction: R, v. Lackey, 1 P. & B. (N. B.) 194.

An indictiment for doing grievous bodily harm, which alleged that the prisoner did "feloniously" stab, cut and wound, etc., instead of alleging, in the terms of the 17th section of 32 & 33 V, c. 20, that he did "unlawfully" and "maliciously" stab, etc., is good; a defective indictment is amendable under 32 & 33 V, c. 29, s. 32, and any objection to it for any defect aplarent on the face thereof must be taken by demurrer or motion to quash the indictment before the defendant has pleaded and not afterwards: R, v. Flynn, 2 P, & B, (N. B.) 321.

ADMINISTERING POISON WITH INTENT TO INJURE.— Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to three years' imprisonment who unlawfully administers to, or causes to be administered to or taken by, any other person any poison or other destructive or noxious thing with intent to injure, aggrieve or annoy such person. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 246.

Words imputing the commission of any of the offences specified in section 277 and 278, are actionable without proof of special damage, Gamble v. Hirchfeld (1894), 26 N. S. R. 486.

Administering cantharides to a woman with intent to excite her sexual passion, in order to obtain connexion with her, is an administering with intent to injure, aggrieve or annoy, within the meaning of s. 278: *R. v. But to constitute this offence the thing administered must be noxious in itself, and not only when taken in excess: R. v. Hennah (1877), 13 Cox. C. 6.547; R. v. (ramp (1880), L. R. 5. Q. B. D. 307. "An intent to injure, in strictness, means more than an intent

"Explosive substance" defined, section 2.

In R, v. Crawford, 1 Den, 100, the prisoner was indicted for maliciously throwing upon P.C., certain destructive matter, to wit, one quart of boiling water, with intent, etc. The prisoner was the wife of P.C., and when he was asleep she, under the influence of jealousy, boiled a quart of water, and poured it over his face and into one of his ears, and ran off boasting she had boiled him in his sleep. The injury was very grievous. The man was for a time deprived of sight, and had frequently lost for a time the hearing of one ear. The jury having convicted, the judges held that the conviction was right.

In R, v. Murrow, 1 Moo, 456, it was held, where the defendant three virtical in the prosecutor's face, and so wounded him, that this wounding was not the "wounding" meant by the 9 Geo, IV, c. 31, s. 12; but it would now fail under this statute. The question of intent is for the jury; R, v. Saunders, 14 Cox C, C, 180.

Secs. 280, 281] SPRING GUNS-MAN-TRAPS.

Indictment under s. 289 for sending an explosive substance with intent, etc. unlawfully did send (or deliver to or cause to be taken or received by) to one J.N., a certain explosive substance and dangerous and noxious thing, to wit, two drachms of fulminating silver, and two pounds weight of gunpowder, with intent in so doing him the said J. N. thereby then to burn (maim, disfigure or disable, or do some griecous bodily harm). (Add counts varying the injury and the intent.)

Indictment under s. 280 for throwing corrosive fluid, with intent, etc. unlawfully did cast and throw upon one J.N. a certain corrosive fluid, to wit, one plut of oll of vitriol, with intent in so doing him the said J.N., thereby then to burn. (Add counts varying the injury and the intent,)

281. SETTING SPRING-GUNS AND MAN-TRAPS.—Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to five years' imprisonment who sets or places, or causes to be set or placed, any spring-gun, man-trap, or other engine calculated to destroy human life or inflict grievous bodily harm, with the intent that the same or whereby the same may destroy, or inflict grievous bodily harm upon any trespasser or other person coming in contact therewith.

2. PERMITTING THE SAME TO BE SET.—Every one who knowingly and wilfully permits any such spring-gun, man-trap or other engine which has been set or placed by some other person, in any place which is in, or afterwards comes into, his possession or occupation, to continue so set or placed, shall be deemed to have set or placed such gun, trap or engine with such intent as aforesaid.

 EXCEPTION.—This section does not extend to any gin or trap usually set or placed with the intent of destroying vermin or noxious animals. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 249.

As to what instruments do, or do not, come within the terms of this section, see Jordin v, Crump (1841), 8 M, & W, 728; *Woot*ton v, Darkins, 2 C, B, NS, 8412; Bird v, Holbrook, 4 Bing, 628; Hott v, Wilkes, 3 B, & Ald, 304.

A dog-spear set for the purpose of preserving the game is not within the statute, if not set with the intention to do grievous bodily harm to human beings : I Russ, 1052.

The instrument must be calculated to destroy life or cause grievous bodily harm, and proved to be such; and, if the prosecutor, while searching for a fowl among some bushes in the defendant's garden, came in contact with a wire which caused a lond explosion, whereby he was knocked down, and slightly injured about the face, it was held that the case was not within the statute, as it was not proved what was the nature of the engine or substance which caused the explosion, and it was not enough that the instrument was one calculated to create alarm; I Russ, 1053.

Prove that the defendant placed or continued the spring-gun loaded in a place where nersons might come in contact with it; and if any injury was in reality occasioned state it in the indictment, and c.c.-10

Indictment.— unlawfully did set and place, and caused to be set and placed, in a certain garden situate a certain spring-gun which was then loaded and charged with gunpowder and divers leaden shot, with intent that the said spring-gun, so loaded and charged as aforesaid, should inflict grievous bodily harm upon any trespasser who might come in contact therewith,

282. PENALTY.—Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to imprisonment for life who unlawfully.—

- (a) INTENT TO INJURE TRAVELLER—with intent to injure or to endanger the safety of any person travelling or being upon any railway,
 - STONE ON RAILWAY—puts or throws upon or across such railway any wood, stone, or other matter or thing.
 - (ii) REMOVING SLEEPER OR RALL—takes up, removes or displaces any rail, railway switch, sleeper or other matter or thing belonging to such railway, or injures or destroys any track, bridge or fence of such railway, or any portion thereof,
 - (iii) DIVERTING POINTS, ETC.—turns, moves or diverts any point or other machinery belonging to such railway.
 - (iv) REMOVING SIGNAL—makes or shows, hides or removes any signal or light upon or near to such railway.
 - (v) OTHERWISE—does or causes to be done any other matter or thing with such intent; or,
- (b) THROWING ANYTHING AT CAR, ETC.—throws, or causes to fall or strike at, against, into or upon any engine, tender, carriage or truck used in motion upon any railway, any wood, stone or other matter or thing, with intent to injure or endanger the safety of any person being in or upon such engine, tender, carriage or truck, or in or upon any other engine, tender, carriage or truck of any train of which such first mentioned engine, tender, carriage or truck forms part. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 250.

Section 577 deals with the offence of endangering property by mischief on railways.

INJURY TO TRAVELLERS.

283. WANTONLY ENDANGERING SAFETY OF PERSONS ON RAILWAYS.—Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to two years' imprisonment who, by any unlawful act, or by any wilful omission or neglect of duty, endangers or causes to be endangered the safety of any person conveyed or being in or upon a railway, or aids or assists therein. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 251.

A verdict of attempt may be given, if the evidence warrants it, s, 949.

An acquittal of the offence under s, 282 was no bar to an indictment for the offence under s, 283 : R, v, Gilmore, 15 Cox C, C, 85 ; but now it would be as a verdict for the offence provided for in s, 283 can be given on an indictment under s, 282 ; s, 951 post.

See post, remarks under s. 489. The forms of indictments there given may form a guide for indictments under the present section.

Prove that it was the duty of the defendant to turn the points; that he wilfully omitted and neglected to do so; and that, by reason of such omission and neglect, the safety of the passengers or other persons conveyed or being on the railway was endangered (which words will include, not only passengers, but officers and servants of the railway company): Archhold. In R. v. Bradford (1860), Bell, C. C. 208, it was held that a

In R. v. Bradlord (1860), Bell, C. C. 268, it was held that a railway not yet opened for passengers, but used only for the carriage of materials and workmen, is a railway within the statute.

In R. v. Bowray, 10 Jur. 211, 1 Russ. 1058, on an indictment for throwing a stone on a railway so as to endanger the safety of passengers, it was held that the intention to injure is not necessary, if the act was done wilfully, and its effect be to endanger the safety of the persons on the railway.

It is not necessary that the defendant should have entertained any feeling of malice against the railway company, or against any person on the train; it is quite enough to support an indictment under the statute if the act was done mischlevously, and with a view to cause an obstruction of a train: R, v. Upton, 5 Cox C, C, 298.

Two boys went upon premises of a railway company, and began playing with a heavy cart which was near the line. Having started the cart it ran down an embankment by its own impetus. One boy tried to divert its course; the other cried to him "let it go." The cart ran on without pushing until it passed through a hedge, and a fence of posts and rails, and over a ditch on to the railway; it rested so close to the railway lines as to obstruct any carringes passing upon them. The boys did not attempt to remove it: Held, that as the first act of moving the cart was a trespass, and therefore an unlawful act, and as the jury found that the natural consequence of it was that the cart ran through the hedge and so on to the railway, the boys might be properly convicted: R, v. Monaghan, 11 Cox C, C 608.

Indictment under s, 282 (b). that on at A.B. unlawfully did throw (or cause to fall or strike against, into or upon) upon a certain carriage (engine, tender, carriage, or truck) then and there used upon a certain railway there called a certain large piece of wood (any wood, stone, or other matter or thing) with intent thereby then and there to endanger the safety of one C. b., then and there being in (in or upon) the said carriage (engine, tender, carriage or truck). Indictment under c. 283 for endangering by wilful neglect the safety of railway passengers.

284. CAUSING BODILY INJURY .- Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to two years' imprisonment who, by any unlawful act, or by doing negligently or omitting to do any act which it is his duty to do, causes grievous bodily injury to any other person. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 252.

A corporation may be indicted for manslaughter and fined. R

Y. Union Coll. Co. (1900), 3 Can. C. C. 523, 31 S. C. R. 81; R. v. Great West Laundry Co., 13 Man. L. R. overruled. The omission of an Electric Railway Co. operating their cars upon a highway to use reasonable precautions so as to avoid en-termination of the second secon upon a highway to use reasonable precautions so as to avoid endangering the lives of the public using the highway in common with the company, is a breach of a legal duty constituting a criminal nuisance: R. v. Toronto R. W. Co. (1900), 4 Can. C. C. 43, R. v. Wood-stock Electric Light Co. (1898), 4 Can. C. C. 107. Lord Blackburn said in the Pharmaceutical Society v. London and Bravianical Survey and the Society of Content o and Provincial Supply Association, Ltd. (1880), L. R., 5 A. C. at pages 809-870: "I quite agree that a corporation cannot, in one sense, commit a crime. A corporation cannot be imprisoned, if im-prisonment be the sentence for the crime; a corporation cannot be hanged or put to death if that be the punishment for the crime; and, so, in those senses, a corporation cannot commit a crime. But a corso, in those senses, a corporation commit a critic, but a corporation may be fined, and a corporation may pay damages; and, therefore, I must totally dissent, notwithstanding what Lord Bramwell said, or is reported to have said. I must really say that I do not feel the slightest doubt upon that part of the case.

In such a case since a corporation cannot suffer the punishment of imprisonment laid down in this section, it may be fined under section 920, and the amount of the fine is in the discretion of the Court by virtue of the provisions of section 1029.

285. INJURING PERSONS BY FURIOUS DRIVING. - Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to two years' imprisonment who, having the charge of any carriage or vehicle, by wanton or furious driving, or racing or other wilful misconduct, or by wilful neglect, does or causes to be done any bodily harm to any person. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 253.

See remarks under s. 283 as to the word "wilful," and under s. 295 as to the words "bodily harm.

 NEGLECT TO GUARD HOLE.—Every one whose duty it is to guard such hole, opening, aperture or place, is guilty of manslaughter if any person loses his life by accidentally falling therein while the same is so unguarded or uninclosed. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 255.

This sub-section (b) provides for what would be manshaughter under s. 252, or at common law.

288. SENDING UNSEAWORTHY SHIPS TO SEA .- Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to five years' imprisonment who sends, or attempts to send, or is a party to sending, a ship registered in Canada to sea, or on a voyage on any of the inland waters of Canada, or on a voyage from any port or place on the inland waters of Canada to any port or place on the inland waters of the United States, or on a voyage from any port or place on the inland waters of the United States to any port or place on the inland waters of Canada, in such an unseaworthy state, by reason of overloading or underloading or improper loading, or by reason of being insufficiently manned, or from any other cause, that the life of any person is likely to be endangered thereby, unless he proves that he used all reasonable means to ensure her being sent to sea or on such voyage in a seaworthy state, or that her going to sea or on such voyage in such unseaworthy state was, under the circumstances, reasonable and justifiable. 55-56 V., c. 29, c. 256; 56 V., c. 32, s. 1.

By -s, 505, no prosecution is allowed for the offences under s. 288 and s. 289 without the consent of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries. This consent must precede the information or complaint before the magistrate, when prosecution begins by information or complaint.

Assaults.

290. DEFINITION.—An assault is the act of intentionally applying force to the person of another, directly or indirectly, or attempting or threatening, by any act or gesture, to apply force to the person of another, if the person making the threat has, or causes the other to believe, upon reasonable grounds, that he has present ability to effect his purpose, and in either case, without the consent of the other or with such consent, if it is obtained by fraud. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 258.

A prisoner indicted for rape may be found guilty of common assault, though the complaint or information is not laid within six months, as provided in s. 1142: R. v. Edwards (1898), 29 O. R. 451. Cannot convict on indicationer for marken or manipuncher:

Cannot convict of, on indictment for murder or manshaughter: R. v. Ganez, 22 U. C. C. P. 185; R. v. Diagman, 22 U. C. R. 283; R. v. Smith, 34 U. C. R. 283;

Firing pistol: R. v. Cronan, 24 U. C. C. P. 106

Abusive language and gestures: R. v. Harmer, 17 U. C. R. B. 555, Assault may be committed though party assaulted consented to fight: R. v. Buchanan (1808), 12 Man, 190, 1 Can, C. C. 442.

291. COMMON ASSAULTS.—Every one who commits a common assault is guilty of an indictable offence and liable, if convicted upon an indictment, to one year's imprisonment, or to a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, and on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty dollars and costs, or to two months' imprisonment, with or without hard labour. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 265.

See s. 122, ante, as to pointing firearms at any person, and s. 290 as to definition of an assault.

Civil action lies after conviction : Marchesault v. Gregoire, 18 L. C. J. 140: 4 R. L. 541.

One charged with an assault and battery may be found quilty of the assault, and yet acquitted of the battery; but every battery includes an assault; therefore on an indictment for assault and battery.

in which the assault is ill-laid, if the defendant be found guilty of the battery it is sufficient: I Hawk, 110; see note to R. v. Read, I Den, 377.

Mere words will not amount to an assault, though perhaps they may in some cases serve to explain a doubtful action : I Burn 309.

If a man strike at another, but at such a distance that be cannot by possibility touch him, it is no assault. But if A, advances in a threatening attitude with his faits clenched towards D, with an intention of striking him, so that his blow would have almost immediately reached B, if he had not been stopped by a third person, this would be an assault in point of law, though at the particular moment when A, was stopped he was not near enough for his blow to take effect: Stephene X, Myers, 4 C, & P, 349.

To collect a number of workmen round a person who tuck up their sleeves and aprons and threaten to break his neck if he did not go out of the place, through fear of whom he did go out, amounts to an assault. There is the intention and present ability and a threat of violence causing fear : $Read v, Coker, 13 \subset B, 950$.

So riding after a person and obliging him to run away into a garden to avoid being beaten is an assault : Mortin v. Shoppee, 3 C. & P. 373.

If resistance be prevented by fraud it is an assault. If a man therefore, have connection with a married woman, under pretense of being her husband, he is guilty of an assault : R_{+V} . Williams, 8 C, & P_{-286} : R_{+V} . Sounders, 8 C, & P 2955, more of range : 208, not

P. 286; R. v. Saunders, S. C. & P. 205; now, of rape: s. 208, post. An indictment declaring that the prisoner did "beat, wound and ill-treat" A. was held to be substantially an indictment for a common assault: R. v. Shannon, 23 N. B. Rep. 1. If the charge is, as under s. 732, post, before the magistrate on

If the charge is, as under s. 732, post, before the magistrate on a legal complaint, and the evidence goes to prove an offence committed which he has no jurisdiction to hear and determine, as if, on a complaint of an assault, the evidence go to shew that a rape or assault with intent to commit a felony has been committed, he may, if he disbelieves the evidence as to the rape or intent, convict as to the residue of it of an assault: Wilkinson v, Dutton, 3 B, & S, 821; Apon, 1 B, & Ad, 382.

In this last case Lord Tenterden held that the magistrate had found that the assault was not accompanied by any attempt to commit felony and that, quood hoc, his decision was final.

In R, v. Walker, 2 M, & Rob. 446, Coltman, J., gave the same interpretation to the clause.

In R, v. Elrington, 1 B. & S. 688, it was held that the magistrate's certificate of dismissal, as under ss. 733, 734 post, is a bar to an indictment for an unlawful assault occasioning actual bodily harm, arising out of the same circumstances: see Wemyss v. Hopkins, L. R. 10 Q. B. 378.

In \mathbb{R} , v. Stanton, 5 Cox C, C, 324, Erle, J., said that in his opinion, a summary conviction before justices of the peace (in England, the law requires two) is a bar to an indictment for a felonious assault arising out of the same facts,

In R. v. Miles, 17 Cox C. C. 9 Warb, Lead, Cas. 320, a conviction of assault was held to be, at common law, a bar to a subsequent indicment for unlawful wounding : see ss. 734 and 1070, post. See Read v. Nutl. 17 Cox C.C. 86, 24 Q.B.D. 669, as to a magistrate granting a certificate illegally.

But a summary conviction for assault is no bar to a subsequent indictment for manshaughter, upon the death of the man assaulted consequent upon the same assault. R, v, Morris, 10 Cox C, C, 480; R, v, Basset, Greaves Cons, Acts, 72; R, v, Friel, 17 Cox C, C, 325.

Where an assault charged in an indictment and that referred to in the certificate of the fact of a complaint having been made and of the same day, it is prima facic evidence that they are one and the same assault, and it is incumbent on the prosecutor to show that there was a in a in R.

a second assault on the same day if he alleges that such is the case. The defendant having appeared before the magistrate the recital in the certificate of the fact of a complaint having been made and of a summons having been issued is sufficient evidence of those facts: R. v. Westley, 11 Cox C. C. 139.

When a question of title to lands arises before him the magistrate's jurisdiction is at an end, and he cannot inquire into or adjudicate upon an excess of force or violence which may be used in the assertion of a title to lands : R. v. Pearson, 11 Cox C. C. 493; s. 707,

A person making a bona fide claim of right to be present as one of the public in a law court at the hearing of a suit is not justified in committing an assault upon a police constable and an official who endeavours to remove him. Such a claim of right does not oust the inrisdiction of the magistrate who has to try the charge of assault, and he may refuse to allow cross-examination and to induit evidence in respect of such a claim; R, v_c Bardly, 49 J, P. 551. By s. 752, post, a magistratic cannot now ity sutumarily a charge of assault if either the person aggrieved or the accused objects thereto.

See s. 1003, post, as to evidence of young children upon a charge of an indecent assault.

Upon the trial of the prisoner, a school teacher, for an indecent assault upon one of the scholars, it appeared that he forbade the prosecutrix telling her parents what had happened, and they did not hear of it for two months. After the prosecutrix had given evidence of the assault evidence was tendered of the conduct of the prisoner towards her subsequent to the assault : Held, that the evidence was admissible as tending to show the indecent quality of the assault. and as being, in effect, a part or continuation of the same transaction as that with which the prisoner was charged: R. v. 293. INDECENT ASSAULT ON MALES .- Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to ten years' imprisonment. and to be whipped, who assaults any person with intent to commit sodomy or who, being a male, indecently assaults any other male person. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 260; 56 V., c. 32, s. 1.

Attempt to commit sodomy is provided for by s. 203.

See ante, notes under ss. 202, 203, 206, and post, under s. 294. Cannot be committed by boy under fourteen, but, if act was against will of other party he could be convicted of assault. R. v. Harlton, 30 N. S. R. 317.

An indictment under this clause is defective even after verdict if it does not aver in express terms that the accused and the assaulted party are males ; R. v. Montminy, on a case reserved, Q. B. Quebec, May, 1893.

See form, ante, under s. 206.

294. CONSENT OF CHILD UNDER FOURTEEN NO DEFENCE .---It is no defence to a charge or indictment for any indecent assault on a young person under the age of fourteen years to prove that he or she consented to the act of indecency. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 261.

This enactment applies to assaults on males as well as on females: R, Y, Mehegan, 7 Cox C, C, 145; R, Y, Johnson, L, & C, 632. and that class of cases are not now law : see R. v. Brice, 7 Man. L. R. 627.

This enactment applies to all offences which include an indecent assault.

295. Assault with Bodily HARM .- Every one who commits any assault which occasions actual bodily harm is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to three years' imprisonment, 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 262.

In R. v. Clarence, 16 Cox C. C. 511: 22 Q. B. D. 23, Warb, Lead, Cas. 130, it was held that a husband who communicates a venereal disease to his wife cannot be indicted for causing her actual bodily barm

In a prosecution under this section it is improper to exclude evidence of statements sworn to by a witness for the prosecution at a preliminary inquiry, the record of the depositions upon which had been lost, as to what was said by the accused at the time of the assault, such statements of the witness having had reference to statements of the accused forming a part of the res gestac.

R, v. Troop (1898), 2 Can, C, C, 22. The defendant may be convicted of a common assault upon an indictment for occasioning actual bodily harm : R, v. Oliver, Bell C, C.

287: R. v. Yeadon, L. & C. 81: 713, post. A man who commits an assault the result of which is to produce bodily harm is liable to be convicted under this section, though the jury find that the bodily harm formed no part of the prisoner's intention, and was done without premeditation, under the influence of passion: R. v. Sparrow, Bell C. C. 298.

It is a maxim of law that "omnia prosumuntur rite et solenniter ease acta donce probetur in contrarium." upon which ground it will be presumed, even in a case of murder, that a man who has acted in a public capacity or situation was duly appointed : R, v, Verelst, 3 Camp, 432; R. v. Gordon, 1 Leach, 515; R. v. Murphy, 8 (C. & P. 297; R. v. Newton, 1 C. & K. 469; Taylor, on Evidence, par, 139, 431. Prove that J. N. was a peace officer, or that he was acting lawfully as such, the defendant may be convicted of a common assault.

The fact that the defendant did not know that the person assaulted was a peace officer, or that he was acting in the execution of his duty, is no defence: R, y, Forbes (1865), 10 Cox C, C, 362.

Held, on a case reserved, that the writ being regular on its face the sheriff was bound to execute it. The error was a mere irregularity which might have been amended and the prisoner was rightly convicted : R. v. Monkman, S Man. L. R. 509.

(Count for common assault).

It must be stated and proved that the apprehension was lawful: see R. v. Davis, L. & C. 64. If this and the intent be not proved a verdict of common assault may be given. But it must be remembered that resistance to an illegal arrest is justifiable, and if, in a case where a warrant is necessary and the officer making an arrest has not the warrant with him, the party whom he tries to arrest, resists and assaults him, he cannot be convicted of an assault on an officer in the due execution of his office : Codd v. - (b) FORCIBLE CONFINEMENT—forcibly seizes or confines or imprisons any other person within Canada.

 NON-RESISTANCE.—Upon the trial of any offence under this section the non-resistance of a person so unlawfully kidnapped or confined shall not be a defence unless it appears that it was not caused by threats, duress or force, or exhibition of force. 63-64 V., c. 46, s. 3.

The defendant may be found guilty of an attempt to kidnap upon an indictment for kidnapping, s. 949,

A verdict of assault may also be given if the evidence warrants it, s. 951.

Held, on the trial of an indictment for kidnapping under 32 & 33 V, c. 20, s. 69, that the intent required applies to the seizure and confinement as well as to the kidnapping, and the indictment should state such intent: Cornweall V, R., 33 U, C, R. 106,

Indictment.— with force and arms unlawfully an assault did make on one A. B., and did then and there, without lawful authority, unlawfully and forcibly seize and imprison the said A. B., within the Dominion of Canada (or confine or kidnap) with intent the said A. B. unlawfully and forcibly to cause to be unlawfully transported out of Canada, against his will.

By the above section transportation to a foreign country is not necessarily an ingredient in this offence-

Unlawful Carnal Knowledge.

298. RAPE DEFINED.—Rape is the act of a man having carnal knowledge of a woman who is not his wife without her consent, or with consent which has been extorted by threats or fear of bodily harm, or obtained by personating the woman's husband, or by false and fraudulent representations as to the nature and quality of the act.

2. Age.—No one under the age of fourteen years can commit this offence. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 266.

Rape and attempt to commit rape are not triable at quarter sessions, section 583. Connection with woman under circumstances which induce her to believe it is her husband, not rape : R, v. Francis, 13 U. C. R, 116.

Idiot or lunatic—Capacity to consent—Evidence — Misdirection : R. v. Convolly. 26 U. C. R. 317. On daughter — Fear or solicitation — Finding of fact : R. v.

On daughter — Fear or solicitation — Finding of fact: R, v. Cardo, 17 O. R. 11.

Evidence of commission of offence — Statement of counsel at previous trial: R. v. Bedere, 21 O. R. 189.

Consent of girl under fourteen immaterial: R. v. Paquet, 9 Q. L. R. 351.

Statement of prosecutrix to police inspector on day following assault not admissible: R. v. Graham (1899), 31 O. R. 77; 3 Can. C. C. 22.

Evidence of prosecutrix — Previous unchastity — Admissibility of question — Refusal to answer: R. v. Laliberté, 1 S. C. R. 117.

of question — Refusal to answer: R. v. Laliberté, 1 S. C. R. 117. Que. Can rape be committed on girl under fourteen? Ex parte Wright, 34 N. B. 127. It ean: R. v. Riopel (1898), Q. R. 8 Q. B. 181.

See R. v. O'Shay, 19 Cox C. C. 76.

On an indictment for rape he may be found guilty of a common assault or of an indecent assault : s. 713; R. v. Brimilae, 2 Moo-122. A husband cannot be guilty of a rape upon his wife, but he may be guilty as an accessory before the fact or an aider and abettor to it : see R. v. Audley (Lord), 3 St. Tr. 402. The offence of rape may be committed though the woman at last yielded to the violence if such her consent was forced by fear of death or by duress.

If a man has or attempts to have connection with a woman while she is asleep it is no defence that she did not resist, as she is then incapable of resisting. The man can therefore be found guilty of a rape, or of an attempt to commit a rape: R, v, Mayers, 12 Cox C. C. 311; R, v, Young, 14 Cox C. C. 114.

In R. v. Hodgson, R. & R. 211, the woman in the witness bot was asked: Whether she had not before had connection with other persons, and whether she had not before had connection with a particular person (named). The court ruled that she was not obliged to answer the question. In the same case the prisoner's counsel offered a witness to prove that the woman had been caught in bed about a year before this charge with a young man. The court ruled that this evidence could not be received. These rulings were subsequently maintained by all the judges.

Although you may cross-examine the prosecutrix as to particular acts of connection with other men (and she need not answer the question anless she likes), you cannot, if she deny it, call witnesses to contradict her R. v. Coekcroft, 11 Cox C. C. 410; R. v. Laliberté, 1 S. C. R. 117.

But she may be cross-examined as to particular acts of connection with the prisoner, and if she denies them witnesses may be called to contradict her: R. v. Martin, 6 C. & P. 562; R. v. Riley, 16 Cox C. C. 191, 18 Q. B. D. 481, Warb. Lead. Cas. 128.

On the trial of an indictment for an indecent assault, the defence being consent on the part of the prosecutrix, she denied on cross-examination having had intercourse with a third person, S. Heid, that S. could not be examined to contradict her upon this answer. This rule applies to cases of rape, attempts to commit a rape, and indecent assaults in the nature of attempts to commit a rape : R. v. Holmes, 12 Cox C. C. 137.

Upon an indictment under section 299, the jury may find the prisoner guilty of an attempt to commit rape under s, 300: R, v. Hapgood, 11 Cox C. C. 471; or may find a verdict of common assault, or indecent assault.

Under s. 300, for an assault with intent to commit rape, the indictment may be as follows: in and upon one A. B., a woman (or girl), unlawfully did make an assault, with intent her, the said A, B, violently and unlawfully without her consent, to ravish and carnally know. (Add a count for a common assault), though it is not necessary.

If, upon trial for this offence, the offence under s, 299 be proved the defendant is not therefore entitled to an acquittal, s, 942, post.

On an indictment for an assault with intent to commit a rape Patterson, J., held that evidence of the prisoner having, on a prior occasion, taken liberties with the prosecutrix was not receivable to show the prisoner's intent; also, that in order to convict of assault with intent to commit rape the jury must be satisfied, not only that the prisoner intended to gratify his passion on the person of the prosecutrix, but that he intended to do so at all events, and notwithstanding resistance on her part: R, v. Lloyd, 7 C, & P. 318.

When a man is charged with rape all that the woman said to other persons in his absence shortly after the alleged offence is admissible in evidence: R, v, Waod, 14 Cox C, C, 46; see R, v, Little, 15 Cox C, C, 319.

In R, v, Gisson, 2 C, & K, 781, it was held that an acquittal on an indictment for a rape could not be successfully pleaded to a subsequent indictment for an assault with intent to commit a rape, because a verdict for the attempt to commit the offence could not be received on an indictment charging the offence itself. But that case is not now to be followed. The case of R, v, Dungeg, $4 \in \mathbb{R}$, \mathbb{R} , 99, is a clear authority that upon a trial for rape the defendant may be no doubt upon this; s, 949, post, is clear. See cases cited under that section.

An assault with intent to commit rape is different from an assault with intent to have an improper connection. The former is with intent to have connection by force and against the will of the woman: R. v. Stauton, 1 C. & K. 415; R. v. Wright, 4 F. & F. 906; R. v. Dangeg, 4 F. & F. 90.

An indictment for an attempt to commit rape is always in the form of an assault with intent to commit rape, as in R, v, Riley, 16 Cox C, C, 191, for instance. And in R, v, Diangey, ubi supra, the judge charged the jury that they could, on an indictment for rape, find the prisoner guilty of an assault with intent to commit rape.

In this Code, however, a difference is made between an attempt to commit an offence and an assault with intent to commit it; ss, 203-203.

In a case of John v. R., in British Columbia, upon a writ of error, the court held that, upon an indictment for rape, the prisoner had been lawfully convicted of an assault with intent to commit rape. That decision was upheld by the Supreme Court: R. v. John, 15 S. C. R. 384: 11 L. N. 313; 8 Occ. N. 88.

That decision was uppear on the variable Contr. A. V. John, 15 is C. R. 384; 11 L. N. 313; 8 Occ. N. 88. In R. v. Wright, 4 F. & F. 967, the prisoner was indicted forrare and for assault with intent to commit rape. Under s. 351,post, there is not the least room to doubt that this can now be done,whatever doubts may have existed in that case.

In a case of rape the counsel for the prosecution should not tell the jury that to acquit the prisoner is to find the woman guilty of perjury: R, v, Rudiand, and R, v, Puddick, 4 F, & F, 495, 497.

On trial for rape evidence was that of a woman alone which, in view of previous admissions and the circumstances, was unsatisfactory: Held, evidence was properly submitted to the jury, but court directed that attention of Executive should be called to the case: R, v. Lloyd, 19 O. R. 352.

Indictment.— that A. B. on in and upon one C. D., a woman, unlawfully and violently did make an assault and her the said C. D. violently and without her consent unlawfully did ravish and carnally know.

Averment of woman's age unnecessary : 2 Bishop, Cr. Proc. 954.

299. PUNISHMENT FOR RAPE .- Every one who commits rape is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to suffer death or to imprisonment for life. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 267.

300. PUNISHMENT FOR ATTEMPT .- Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to seven years' imprisonment who attempts to commit rape. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 268.

ailure of Crown to shew that prosecutrix not wife of prisoner -Objection-Leave to appeal. Rex v. Mullen, 5 O. W. R. 451. Assault with intent to commit, is an attempt: R. v. John, 15 S. C. R. 384; 11 L. N. 313; 8 Occ. N. 88.

301. CARNALLY KNOWING GIRL UNDER FOURTEEN YEARS. -Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to imprisonment for life, and to be whipped, who carnally knows any girl under the age of fourteen years, not being his wife, whether he believes her to be of or above that age or not. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 269.

Proof of penetration is sufficient: R. v. Marsden, 17 Cox C. C. 297.

302. ATTEMPT.---Every one who attempts to have unlawful carnal knowledge of any girl under the age of fourteen years is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to two years' imprisonment, and to be whipped. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 270.

See s. 1003 as to evidence of young children in trials under these two sections. This section 302 has no other effect but to reduce the punishment, which, without it, would be seven years' imprisonment, 8, 570.

The evidence is the same as in rape, with the exception that the consent or non-consent of the girl is immaterial independently of the enactment contained in s. 294. See R. v. Brice, 7 Man, L. R. 627. Upon the trial of an indictment under these clauses the jury may, under s. 951, find the defendant guilty of a common assault, or an indecent assault: R, v. Read, I Den, 377; R, v. Connolly, 26 U, C. R. 317; R, v. Roadley, 14 Cox C, C, 463; even if the girl assented; s. 261, ante.

Under s. 949, post, the defendant may be convicted, if indicted under s. 301, of an attempt to commit the offence charged, if the evidence warrants it: R. v. Ryland, 11 Cox C. C. 101; R. v. Cathcrall 13 Cox C. C. 109; but a boy under fourteen cannot be convicted of such attempt: R, v, Waite, 17 Cox v, C. 554. An indictment for rape still lies for ravishing a girl under four-teen; R, v, Dicken, 14 Cox C, C, 8; R, v, Rateliffe, 15 Cox C, C, 127,

Indictment that prisoner in and upon one J., a girl under four-teen, feloniously did make an assault, and her, the said J., then and there feloniously did unlawfully and carriedly know and abuse, etc.; evidence of consent; general verdict of guilty affirmed; R, v, Chris-holm, Jacobs' Case, 7 Man. Abortion

303. ATTEMPT TO PROCURE .- Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to imprisonment for life who, with intent to procure the miscarriage of any woman, whether she is or is not with child, unlawfully administers to her or causes to be taken by her any drug or other noxious thing, or unlawfully uses on her any instrument or other means whatsoever with the like intent. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 272.

Using instrument-Evidence: R. v. Anderson, 12 O. R. 184.

304. WOMAN ATTEMPTING TO PROCURE HER OWN MIS-CARRIAGE .- Every woman is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to seven years' imprisonment who, whether with child or not, unlawfully administers to herself or permits to be administered to her any drug or other noxious thing, or unlawfully uses on herself or permits to be used on her any instrument or other means whatsoever with intent to procure miscarriage. 55-56 V., c, 29, s. 273.

305. SUPPLYING DRUG TO PROCURE.-Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to two years' imprisonment who unlawfully supplies or procures any drug or other noxious thing, or any instrument or thing whatsoever, knowing that the same is intended to be unlawfully used or employed with intent to procure the miscarriage of any woman, whether she is or is not with child. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 274.

Section 304, as it reads, is an absurdity. It ought to read as in the English Act, "Every woman being with child." Giving oil of savin to procure abortion is indictable: R. v. Stitt, 30 U.c. C. P. 30.

The drug supplied must be a poison or noxious thing, and the supplying an impose a data for a point of a bolton tonic the person supplying it is not an offence against the enactment R, v, Isaacs, L, & C, 220.

In order to constitute the offence within the meaning of this section it is not necessary that the intention of employing the noxious drug should exist in the mind of the woman; it is sufficient if the intention to procure abortion exists in the mind of the defendant: R. v. Hillman, L. & C. 343. The prisoner may be convicted of an attempt to commit this offence, upon an indictment under this section, s. 711.

c.c.-11.

Supplying a noxious thing with the intent to procure abortion Supporting a normalise with the interior of produce abortion is an officace under this section, whether the woman is pregnant or not: R, v, Titley, 14 Cox C, C, 502, In R, v, Dalc, 16 Cox C, C, 703, upon the trial of an offence, as provided for in s. 303, antc, evidence was admitted that at various times, before and after the offence charged, the prisoner had caused other miscarriages by similar means.

See R. v. Whitchurch, 16 Cox C. C. 743, 24 Q. B. D. 420, on a conspiracy to procure abortion.

Under 8, 303, the fact of the woman being pregnant is immaterial: R, v, Goodhall, 1 Den, 187. But the prisoner must have believed her to be pregnant, otherwise there could be no intent under the section. Under an indictment for this offence the prisoner may be convicted of an attempt to commit it : s. 949 : see R, v. Cramp, 14 Cox, 390 & 401, and Warb, Lead, Cas, 120.

Where the prisoner gave the prosecutrix the drug for the purpose of procuring abortion, and the prosecutrix took it for that purpose in the prisoner's absence, this was held to be a causing of it to be taken within s. 303 : R. v. Wilson, Dears, & P. 127 ; R. v. Farrow, Dears. & B. 164.

A man and woman were jointly indicted for feloniously administering to C, a noxious thing to the jurors unknown with intent to procure miscarriage. C., being in the family way, went to the male prisoner, who said he would give her some stuff to put her right, and gave her a light coloured medicine, and told her to take two spoonsfuls gave her a light conduct matchine and the let of the two sphonards till she became in pain. She did so and it made her ill. She then went to him again, and he said the safest course would be to get her a place to go to. C, then began to feel pain and told the female prisoner. Then the male prisoner told what he had given C. They all went home to the female prisoner's, and the mate prisoner then gave C, another bottle of similar stuff in the female prisoner's presence, and told her to take it like the other. She did so and became very ill, and the next day had a miscarriage, the female prisoner attending her and providing all things. Held, that there was evidence that the stuff administered was a noxious thing within the 24 & 25 V, c, 100, s, 58 (Imp.). Also that there was evidence of the female being an accessory before the fact, and a party, therefore, to the administering of the noxious thing: R, v. Hollis, 12 Cox C. C. 463.

4. BIGAMOUS MARRIAGES OUTSIDE OF CANADA.—No person shall be liable to be convicted of bigamy in respect of having gone through a form of marriage in a place not in Canada, unless such person, being a British subject resident in Canada, leaves Canada with intent to go through such form of marriage.

5. EFFECT OF FORM.—Every form of marriage shall for the purpose of this section be valid, notwithstanding any act or default of the person charged with bigamy, if it is otherwise a valid form. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 275.

First marriage took place in Toronto, the second in the United States.

It was a misdirection to withdraw from the jury the question of his having left with intent.

The question or als having reft with intent. Per Wilson, C.J., the indictment did not sufficiently charge the offence. It is a question whether the trial should not be declared a nullity. R, v. And held, on motion for arrest of judgment, that the word "elsewhere" in the statute, gives to the court its jurisdiction regarding offences committed in the United States by British subject, but that the allegation that the accused was a British subject was necessary to support the indictment, and that he was or is a resident in the province, and that he had left the same with intent to commit the offence: R, M, Cd_{ungen} , 2 L C, R, 340. In an indictment for bigamy, it is incumbent upon the Crown

In an indictment for bigamy, it is incumbent upon the Crown to prove that a person marrying a second time, whose husband or wife has been continually absent from such person for seven years then previous, knew that the other consort was living within that time, R. v. Fontaine, 15 L. C. J. 141; R. v. Debuy, 3 N. S. D. 540; R. v. Curgennen, 10 Cox C. C. 152; R. v. Jones, 15 Cox C. C. 284.

In order to prove the second marriage, which took place in Michigan, the testimony of the officiating minister was tendered, that he had solemnized this marriage according to the laws of that state.

The Crown established the fact of the two marriages, which were over seven years apart.

Also The People v. Mosher, 2 Parker 195. In R. v. Liston, Toronto, April, 1893 (unreported), Armour, C. J., also held that adultery is not indictable under the above enactment.

An Indian who according to the marriage customs of his tribe takes two women at the same time as his wives and cohabits with them, is guilty of an offence under above section : R. v. Bear's Shin Bone (1899), 3 Can. C. C. 329; 4 Terr. L. R. 173.

O., (1886), c. 131, s. 1, and that a duly ordained priest thereof was a minister authorized to solemnize the ceremony of marriage, and could not be convicted under this section for so doing. Semble, the words of the statute "church" and "religious denomination" should not be construed so as to confine them to Christian bodies: R. v. Dickout, (1893), 24 O. R. 250.

313. ABDUCTION OF A WOMAN .- Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to fourteen years' imprisonment who, with intent to marry or carnally know any woman, whether married or not, or with intent to cause any woman to be married to or carnally known by any other person, takes away or detains any woman of any age against her will. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 281.

A verdict for assault or for an attempt to commit the offence charged, may be given, if the evidence warrants it : ss. 949, 951, post-On a trial for taking an unmarried girl aged less than sixteen years out of the possession of her guardian, evidence of cruel treat-ment of the girl by the guardian is inadmissible,

Interference of a witness on the way to court to give evidence in order to prevent her testimony from being given, is a contempt of

Secondary evidence of the age of the child abducted may be permitted to go to the jury, Where a child was taken from motives of benevolence, from a barn wherein she had sought refuge, the barn not being on the property or premises of the guardian, and was then placed by the persons who had come to her relief in the charge of defendant as secretary of a society for the protection of women and children, the secretary could not be found guilty of taking out of the possession of the guard-ian : R. v. Hollis, 8 L. N. 229.

Where it appeared that the girl, under sixteen years of age, had left her guardian's house for a particular purpose, with his consent, it was held that she did not cease to be in his possession under the statute: R. v. Mondelet, 21 L. C. J. 154. The indictment should set forth the interest of the woman in the property.

It is a substantial fact which the prisoner has a right to rebut. He cannot do so unless the nature of the interest is disclosed.

When the interest is set forth in the indictment, it must be proved as laid.

Verbal evidence of interest in property cannot, generally, sus-tain such an indictment. R. v. Kaylor, 4 L. N. 196; 1 Q. B. R. 364; 26 L. C. J. 36.

It is not necessary for the crown to prove that the prisoner knew of the interest of the female in the property. Ibid.

ment who, with intent to marry or carnally know any woman, or with intent to cause any woman to be married or carnally known by any person,—

- (a) ADDUCTION OF HEIRESS—from motives of lucre takes away or detains against her will any woman of any age who has any interest, whether legal or equitable, present or future, absolute, conditional or contingent, in any real or personal estate, or who is a presumptive heiress or co-heiress or presumptive next of kin to any one having such interest; or,
- (b) ALLURING AWAY AGAINST WILL OF PARENT—fraudulently allures, takes away or detains any woman, being under the age of twenty-one years, out of the possession and against the will of her father or mother, or of any other person having the lawful care or charge of her, with intent to marry or carnally know her.

2. EFFECT OF CONVICTION ON PROPERTY.—Every one convicted of any offence defined in this section is incapable of taking any estate or interest, legal or equitable, in any real or personal property of such woman, or in which she has any interest, or which comes to her as such heiress, co-heiress or next of kin; and if any such marriage takes place such property shall upon such conviction, be settled in such manner as any court of competent jurisdiction, upon any information at the instance of the Attorney-General, appoints. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 282.

Attorney-General defined, section 2.

Under s. 949 the prisoner may be found guilty of an attempt to commit the offence charged and punished under s. 570.

Under s. 951 the prisoner may be found guilty of an assault, if the evidence warrants such finding.

The intent of the person accused of having abducted an heiress may either be shewn by his own acts and statements, or may be inferred from the circumstances of the case: R. v. Barratt (1840), 9 C. & P. 287.

Upon an indictment under par. (b) of s.-s. 1 of this section, it is not necessarily incumbent upon the prosecution to prove that the accused knew that the person abducted was an heiress: R. v. Kaylor (1881), 1 Dorion's Q. B. R. 364.

(1381), 1 Dorion's Q. B. R. 364. On the trial of an indictment for an offence under s.s. (b) of this section, it is not necessary to prove that the accused knew that the girl he had abducted had an interest in any property : R, v. Kaylor, 1 Dor, Q. B. R. 364.

It is not necessary that an actual marriage or defilement should take place. Under the first part of this section, the taking or detaining must be from motives of lacer and against the will of the woman, coupled with an intent to marry or carnally know her or cause her to be married or carnally known by any other person.

315. ABDUCTION OF GIRL UNDER SIXTEEN.—Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to five years' imprisonment who unlawfully takes or causes to be taken any any unmarried girl, who is under the age of sixteen years, out of the possession and against the will of her father or mother, or of any other person having the lawful care or charge of her.

 CONSENT IMMATERIAL.—It is immaterial whether the girl is taken with her own consent or at her own suggestion or not.

3. BELIEF OF OFFENDER.—It is immaterial whether or not the offender believed the girl to be of or above the age of sixteen. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 283.

The intent to marry or carnally know is not an ingredient of this offence. The only intent which is material is the intent to deprive the parent or legal guardian of the possession of the child. No motives of lucre are necessary. A woman may be guilty of this offence.

the parent or regal guardian of the possession of the child. No motives of lucre are necessary. A woman may be guilty of this offence. It is immaterial whether the girl consents or not, and the taking need not be by force, actual or constructive: R. v. Mankletow (1883), 6 Cox C. C. 143, 1 Russ. 954, Dears, 159, Where a parent countenances the loose conduct of the girl the jury may infer that the taking is not against the parent's will. Ignorance of the girl's age is no defence: 1 Russ. 952; R. v. Robins, 1 C. & K. 450. It is not necessary that the taking away should be for a permanency; it is sufficient if for the temporary keeping of the girl: R. v. Timmins (1860), Bell, C. C. 276; 8 Cox C. C. 401.

On an indictment for abducting a girl under sixteen years of age in appeared that the girl, when abducted, had left her guardian's house for a particular purpose with his sanction: Held, that she had not ceased to be in his possession under the statute: R, v, Mondelet, 21 L. where they spent the night together: Hcld, that it was essential to the offence that the girl should have been in the possession of her father at the time of the taking, and that upon the facts, when she met the prisoner, she had already abandoned that possession; that the reception by the girl of the letters was the motive cause of her abandoning her father's possession, and therefore a material factor in the offence, which in part took place out of the jurisdiction of Canadian Courts; that the letters, so far as they held out the inducement, should not have been admitted in the evidence at the trial: R, v, Blythe (1885), 4, B, C, R, 276, 1 Can. C, C, 263.

A girl under sixteen, who was living in her father's house, was induced by the accused to go to a chaplain, to be married to the former. She was only away from her home for a few hours, and after her return continued to live with her father as before, he being ignorant of what had taken place. The marriage was never consummated. It was held that there was sufficient evidence of her being taken out of her father's possession to constitute the crime: R. V. Baillie (1859), 8 Cox, C. C. 238.

On a trial for taking an unmarried girl under the age of sixteen out of the possession of her guardian is inadmissible. 2nd, That secondary evidence of the age of the child is admissible. 2nd, That in this case the defendant was not guilty of taking the child out of the possession of the guardian is R, v, Hollis, 8 L, N, 229.

To pick up a girl in the streets and take her away is not to take her out of the possession of any one. The prisoner mot a girl under sixteen years of age in a street, and induced her to go with him to a place at some distance, where he seduced her and detained her for some hours. He then took her back to where he met her, and she returned home to her father. In the absence of any evidence that the prisoner knew, or had reason for knowing, or that he believed that the girl was under the care of her father at the time, held by the Court of Criminal Appeal that a conviction under this section could not be sustained: R, v. Green (1862), 3 F, & F, 274; R, v. Hibbert (1869), 11 Cox C, C, 246.

If a man, by previous promises to a girl under sixteen years of age as to what he will do if she will leave her parents' house and go to live with him, induces her at length to do so, and then receives and harbours her secretly, he is liable to be convicted for taking her out of the possession of her parents, even although he does not meet her by any previous arrangement, and is not otherwise actually a party to her act in leaving: R, v, Robb (1864), 4 F, & F. 50

One who takes an unmarried girl under the age of sixteen years out of the possession and against the will of her father or mother is guilty of this offence, although he may not have any bad motive in taking her away, nor means of ascertaining her age, and although she was willing to go: R, v. Booth, 12 Cox C. C. 231 \cdot R, v. Kipps, 4 Cox C. C. 167.

The defence in Booth's case was that the prisoner, actuated by religious and philanthropic motives, had taken the girl from her parents in order to save her from seclusion in a convent. He was found guilty and sentenced.

A girl who is away from her home is still in the custody or possession of her father, if she intends to return; it is not necessary to prove that the prisoner knew the girl to be under sixteen; the fact of the girl being a consenting party cannot absolve the prisoner from the charge of abduction; this section is for the protection of parents: R. v. Mycock (1871), 12 Cox C. C. 28; R. v. Olifier (1866), 10 Cox C. C. 402; R. v. Miller, 13 Cox C. C. 179; R. v. Robins (1844), 1 Car. & K. 456.

To take away a natural child, who is under the age mentioned, from her putative father, is equally a breach of this section: R, v. Sweeting (1766), 1 East P. C. 457.

01

It is no defence to an indictment under this section that the prisoner believed the girl to be eighteen : R. v. Prince, 13 Cox C. C. 138, Warb. Lead. Cas. 89.

It was held in R, v, Bishop, 5 Q. B. D. 259, that under a statute which prohibits the receiving of lunatics for treatment in a house not duly licensed, the owner of a house who had received lunatics was guilty of the offence created by the statute, though the jury found that he believed honestly and on reasonable grounds that the persons received were not lunatics.

"I do not think that the maxim as to the mens rea has so wide an application as it is sometimes considered to have. In old time, and as applicable to the common law or to earlier statutes, the maxim may have been of general application; but a difference has arisen owing to the greater precision of modern statutes. It is impossible now to apply the maxim generally to all statutes, and it is necessary to look at the object of each act to see whether and how far knowledge is of the essence of the offence created ": Per Stephen, J., in Cundy v. 2. GENERAL AUTHORITY TO MANAGERS NOT NEGLIGENCE UNLESS WITH INTEXT.—General authority given to the person actually inserting such defauntory matter to manage or conduct, as editor or otherwise, such newspaper, and to insert therein what he in his discretion thinks fit, shall not be negligence within this section unless it be proved that the proprietor, when originally giving such general authority, meant that it should extend to inserting and publishing defamatory matter, or continued such general authority knowing that it had been exercised by inserting defamatory matter in any number or part of such newspaper.

3. SELLING NEWSPAPERS.—No one is guilty of an offence by selling any number or part of such a newspaper, unless he knew either that such number or part contained defamatory matter, or that defamatory matter was habitually contained in such newspaper. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 297.

Where an indictment for libel contained a general allegation that the newspaper in which it appeared was circulated in the district of Montreal, the court refused to allow evidence of the publication of the article in Montreal, or to allow an amendment of the indictment : R, v, Hickson (1880), 3 L, N, 139.

A defendant committed for trial on a charge of libel, subsequently published other libellous matter concerning the prosecutor after the depositions had been put on file in the Supreme Court, and it would be the duty of the presiding judge thereof at the next sitting of the court to submit the matter to the grand jury. The libels were published on the 30th December, 1885, and the 20th January, 1886, A motion for attachment for contempt was not made until March 27th, 1886.

Held, that defendant had committed a punishable offence, as the proceedings were at the time so far pending in the court as to enable it to act summarily by attachment to punish, if necessary, the offence committed. The main object of the application being to punish for the libelious publications, not to punish for the past offence, it was held not to have been made too late : R, v. Woodworth, 7 Oce, N. 246.

Evidence that the defondant in a criminal prosecution is, at the time of the trial, editor and proprietor of a journal in which the likel was printed, is insufficient. The defendant should be proved to have been a proprietor or publisher at the date of publication: R, v, Sellars, 6 L, N, 197.

In a case of libel it is no ground to change the venue that many of the defendant's witnesses reside at a distance, and the defendant has no funds to bring them to that venue: R, v. Casey, 13 Cox C, C. 614.

342. IDEM-PROVISO.-The provisions of this Part with respect to false trade descriptions do not apply to any trade description which, on the twenty-second day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight, was lawfully and generally applied to goods of a particular class, or manufactured by a particular method, to indicate the particular class or method of manufacture of such goods: Provided that where such trade description includes the name of the place or country, and is calculated to mislead as to the place or country where the goods to which it is applied were actually made or produced, and the goods are not actually made or produced in that place or country, such provisions shall apply unless there is added to the trade description, immediately before or after the name of that place or country, in an equally conspicuous manner with that name, the name of the place or country in which the goods were actually made or produced, with a statement that they were made or produced there. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 455.

An indictment for larveny on board of a British vessel "upon the sea" is sufficient, without saying "upon the high seas": R, v. Sprangli (1878), 4 Q_s L, R, 110.

The accused gave in part payment of the amount due for certain goods purchased a receipt note, by the terms of which the ownership in the goods was to remain in the vendors until the note was paid. The vendors discounted the note at their bank, and when it was not taken up at muturity they paid it by giving in its place a renewal note, the original one being then returned to them. The renewal note was paid, and the vendors then seized the goods, by virtue of the first note. The accused regained possession of the goods, and a charge was then laid against him under this section. On behalf of the accused the point was raised that since the original note had been paid by passed to the makers of the note; or, if that was not so, then that the endorsement to the bank constituted an equitable assignment, and that the bank was therefore the only party which had any right to make a seizure. This objection was upheld by the Court : R, v. Walker (1880), 32 C. L. J. 300.

On a charge of theft of goods from a store, evidence of the finding in the prisoner's house of the goods and of keys fitting the store doors, and of the fact that the goods were in the store exposed for sale at the time of the alleged theft and had not been sold, is sufficient to put the onus upon the prisoner of accounting for his possession. In such circumstances, it is not necessary for the Crown to prove that the goods had not passed from the possession of the owners by some means other than sale: R, v, Theriautl, 11 B, C, R, 117.

348. AGENT PLEDGING GOODS NOT THEFT WHEN.—No factor or agent shall be guilty of theft by pledging or giving a lien on any goods or document of title to goods entrusted to him for the purpose of sale or otherwise, for any sum of money not greater than the amount due to him from his principal at the time of pledging or giving a lien on the same, together with the amount of any bill of exchange accepted by him for or on account of his principal.

In support of an indictment for stealing oysters in a tidal river it is sufficient to prove ownership by oral evidence as, for instance, that the prosecutor and his father for forty-years had exercised the exclusive right of oyster fishing in the locus in quo, and that in 1846 an action had been brought to try the right, and the verdict given in favour of the prosecutor : R. v. The words "grounds adjoining" mean grounds in active contact with the dwelling-nouse. Whether the ground be a park or garden, etc., is a question for the jury. The amount of injury mentioned in this and the following section must be the actual injury to the tree or shrub itself, and not the consequential injury resulting from the act of the defendant : $R_{\rm ev}$, Whiteman (1854), Dears, 353; 23 C, J, (M,C)) 120, The respective values of several_press, or of the damage thereto, may be added to make up the twenty-five dollary_ in case the trees were cut down, or the damage done as part of one continuous transaction : $R_{\rm ev}$, Sheptical, H Cox C, C, 119.

B. 310, On a charge of burglary only, the prisoner cannot be convicted of receiving stolen goods, and a verdict under such circumstances will be quashed on writ of error, R, v, Laurent, 1 Q. B. Held, that, although evidence of possession might support an indictment for larceny, it would not suffice to convict of feloniously receiving the goods; and it was necessary to prove that the property was unlawfully in the possession of some one else before it came to the prisoner. The conviction was therefore quashed: R. v. Perry, 1879, 3 L. N. 12; 10 R. L. 65; 26 L. C. J. 24.

MAKING FALSE DOCUMENT.—Making a false document includes altering a genuine document in any material part, or making any material addition to it or adding to it any false date, attestation, seal or other thing which is material, or making any material alteration in it, either by erasure, obliteration, removal or otherwise.

An indictment may be laid under this section for unlawfully. and with intent to defraud, signing a promissory note made by procuration, although the name signed is the name of a testamentary succession or of an estate in liquidation; but if the indictment does not disclose the particulars, the Crown will be ordered to furnish particulars of the persons who represented such succession or estate at the time when the offence was alleged to have been committed; and the order will also direct that the defendants be not arraigned until such particulars have been delivered, R. v. Weir et al. (1889), 3 Can. C. C. 155.

When the offence of uttering a forged instrument is alleged, the indictment must aver that the accused made use of or uttered the instrument knowing it to have been forged.

52 V. c. 41, ss. 4 and 5, which are unrepealed, may be referred to in connection with this section.

Up to Jan. 1, 1901, this section had the word "unlawfully" at the end of the first paragraph thereof, and did not include the pre-sent s.-s. 2. Under this section, as it thus read formerly, it was held that to constitute the offence mentioned therein, the combinafrom hard to be formule to solve w of unhavefully straining any one or more of the restrictions of trade mentioned in the social R, v_{*} The American Tobacco Co, of Canada (1897), 3 Rev, de

Jurispr. 453.

In the same case it was decided that a manufacturer was entitled to dispose of his goods in the way he deemed best for his own interests, even though this way might perhaps be detrimental to other people in the same line of business, as this amounted only to the ordinary competition of trade, and it did not constitute an unlawful combination under this section

It was also held that it was not unlawful for a manufacturer of goods to agree with as many persons as possible that they should sell his goods exclusively. R. v. The American Tobacco Co. of Canada (1897), 3 Rev. de conceived against the person, corporation, authority or company with which the contract is made or otherwise. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 521.

500. THIS AND PRECEDING SECTION TO BE POSTED UP.— Every such municipal corporation, authority, or company, shall cause to be posted up at the electrical works, gas works, or water works, or railway stations, as the case may be, belonging to such corporation, authority or company, a printed copy of this and the preceding section in some conspicuous place, where the same may be conveniently read by the public; and as often as such copy becomes defaced, obliterated or destroyed shall cause it to be removed with all reasonable despatch.

In a conviction for following in a disorderly manner with a view to compel any other person to abstain from doing any act which he has a legal right to do, the acts which the defendant attempted to obstruct must be specified: R, v. McKenzie [1892] 2 Q, B, 519, 17 Cox C, C, 542.

A threat to an employer that his men will strike if he employs non-mion men, or a threat to an employee that his fellow-employees will strike unless he joins a union, is not intimidation within the meaning of this section.

present that heretofore and at the time of the committing the offence hereinafter in this count mentioned, the said A, B, carried on his said trade and business (state his trade) aforesaid, in the county aforesaid, and that the said C. 502. INTIMIDATION TO PREVENT WORKING AT ANY TRADE, -Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to two years' imprisonment who, in pursuance of any unlawful combination or conspiracy to raise the rate of wages, or of any unlawful combination or conspiracy respecting any trade, business or manufacture, or respecting any person concerned or employed therein, unlawfully assaults any person, or, in pursuance of any such combination or conspiracy, uses any violence or threat of violence to any person, with intent to hinder him from working or being employed at such trade, business or manufacture. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 524.

For a number of workmen to combine to go in a body to a master and say that they will leave the works, if he does not discharge two fellow workmen in his employ, was an unlawful combination by threats to force the prosecutor to limit the description of his workmen: Wabby v, Anley, $B \in \mathcal{K}$, E, 516. And a combination to endeavour to force workmen to depart from their work by such a threat as that they would be considered as blacks, and that other workmen would_strike against them all over London, was unlawful: In re Perham, 5 H. & N. 30. So also was a combination with a similar object to threaten a workman by saying to him that he must either leave his master's employ, or lose the benefit of belonging to a particular club and have his name sent round all over the country : O'Neill v. Longman, 4 B. & S. 376. But those cases are not now law. An indictment or commitment alleging the offence to be a conspiracy to force workmen to depart from their work by threats need not set out the threats: In re Perham, supra, See R. v. Rowlands, 2 Den. 364.

Indicate the assault is pursuance of a conspiracy to raise wages.— that J. S., J. W., and E. W., on amongst themselves conspire, combine, confederate, and agree together to raise the rate of wages then usually paid to workmen and labourto rule the rate of wages then usually paid to workmen and labour-ers in the art, mystery and business of cotton spinners; and that the said (defendants) in pursuance of the said conspiracy, on the day and year aforesaid, in and upion one J. N., unlawfully did make an assault, and him the said J. N., did, to the great dam-age of the said J. N. (Add a count stating that the defendants as-saulted J. N., "in pursuance of a certain conspiracy before then en-tered into by the said labourers in the art, mystery and business of cotton-spinners;" also a count for a common assault.)

INJURIES TO BRIDGES, ETC. (A) (c).

This clause by the words whether over any stream of water or not does away with the difficulties raised in R, v. Oxfordshire, 1 B, & Ad, 289, and R, v. Derbyshire, 2 Q, B, 745. Indictment for destroying a bridge,— a certain bridge, Indictment for destroying a bridge,— a certain bridge, situate unlawfully and wilfully, without legal justification or excuse, and without colour of right, did destroy, with intent, and so as to render the said bridge impassable.

Indictment for damaging a bridge, — unlawfully and wilfully, without legal justification or excuse, and without colour of right, did damage a certain bridge, situate with intent, and so as to thereby render the said bridge dangerous and impassable.

KILLING OR WOUNDING CATTLE. (B) (b).

Indictment for killing, or wounding, a horse.— one borse of the goods and chattels of J. N. unlawfully and wilfully, without legal justification or excuse, and without colour of right, did kill (or wound).

A verdict for the attempt, punishable under next section, may be given if the evidence warrants it, section 949,

The particular species of cattle killed, maimed, wounded or poisoned must be specified; an allegation that the prisoner maimed certain cattle is not sufficient; R, v. Chalkley, R, & R, 258, "Cattle" defined, section 2, sub-sec. 5, antc.

No malice against the owner is necessary. The words "or injured" as to cattle were in the ropealed clause. Other acts of administering poison to cattle are admissible in evidence to show the intent with which the drug is administered: R, Mogg, 4 C, & P. 364. The word wound is contradistinguished from a permanent injury, such as maining, and a wounding need not be of a permanent nature: R, v, Hoggmond, 2 East, P. C. 1076, R, & R, 16. In R, v, Joans, 1 C, & K, 539, it was held that where part of the torms of a hor source of a permanent of the torms of a hor source of a permanent of the torms of a hor source of a

In R, v. Jeans, 1 C, & K, 539, it was held that where part of the tongue of a horse was torn off there was no offence against the statute, because no instrument was used. But, under the present statute, the same act was held to be a wounding within this section : R, v. Bullock, 11 Cox C, C, 125. Upon a case reserved, in R, v. Oucens, 1 Moo, 205 it was held that pouring acid into the eye of a mare, and thereby blinding her, is a maining ; setting fire to a building with a cow in it, and thereby burning the cow to death, is a killing within the statute : R, v. Hauphton, 5 C, & P, 555. The prisoner by a reckless and cruel act caused the death of a

The prisoner by a reckless and cruel act caused the death of a mare. The jury found that he did not intend to kill, maim or wound the mare, but that he knew that what he did would or might kill, maim or wound the mare, and that he nevertheless did the act reck-lessly, and not caring whether the mare was injured or not. Held, that there was sufficient malice to support the conviction: R, v, Welch, 13 Cox C. C. 121. Indicate for breaking down the flood-gate of a fish pond (B) (e) — the flood-gate of a certain private fish-pond of one uninaveful and will be act without here i the sum of a certain private fish-pond of one of a sum of the sum of a certain private fish-pond of one of a sum of the sum of t

Indictment for putting lime into a salmon river (B) (f), unlawfully, and wildully, without legal justification or excuse and without colour of right, did by putting a large quantity, to wit, ten bushels of lime into it. damage a certain salmon river, situate with intent thereby then to destroy the fish in the said river then being.

INJURIES TO MANUFACTURING MACHINES, ETC. (C) (i).

Taking away part of a frame and thereby rendering it useless, R. v. Tacey, R. & R. 452, and screwing up parts of an engine and reversing the plug of the pump, thereby rendering it useless and liable to burst: R. v. Fisher, 10 Cox C. C. 146, Warb. Lead Cas. 105, are damaging within the Act, although no permanent injury be dono. If a threshing machine he taken to pieces and separated by the owner the destruction of any part of it is within the statute: R. v. Mackrel, 4 C. & P. 448. So is the destruction of a water-wheel by which a threshing machine is worked: R. v. Fidler, 4 C. & P. 449. So though the sideboards of the machine be wanting, without which it will act but not perfectly, it is within the statute: But if the machine be taken to pieces, and in part destroyed by the owner from fear, the remaining parts do not constitute a machine within the statute: R. v. West, 2 Russ, 1087. It is not necessary that any part of the machine should be broken; a dislocation or disarrangement is sufficient; R. v. Footor, 6 Cox C, C, 25.

Indictment under (D) (a), two elm trees, the property of J. N., then growing in a certain park of the said J. N., situate in unlawfully and wilfully, without legal justification or excuse and without colour of right, did cut and damage, thereby then doing injury to the said J. N. to an amount exceeding the sum of five dollars, to wit, the amount of ten dollars. (A count may be added for cutting with intent to steal the trees, ander s. 373.

Indictment under (\tilde{D}) (c), ten elm trees, the property of J. N., then growing in a certain close of the said J. N., situate unhavfully and wilfully, without legal justification or excuse and without colour of right, did cut and damage by night, thereby then doing injury to the said J. N. to an amount exceeding the sum of twenty dollars, to wit, the sum of twenty-five dollars. (Add a count under s. 373.)

Note s. 949, as to a verifict for an attempt to commit the offence charged upon an indictment for the offence, in certain cases. A variance in the number of trees is not material. It must be proved, under (D) (a), that the tree was growing in a park, and that the damage done exceeds five dollars.

Under (D) (e) the damage must not be less than twenty dollars and must have been done by night. The amount of injury done means the actual injury done to the trees by the defendant's act; it is not sufficient to bring the case within the statute that, although the amount of consequential damage would exceed twenty dollars; R, v. Whiteman, Dears, 353; see R, v. Levis, 2 Russ, 1067, as to indictment; R, v. Williams, 3 Cox, C, C, 238; R, v. Thoman, 12 Cox, C, C, 54

Defendant was indicted for unlawfully and muliciously committing damage upon a window in the house of the prosecutor. Defendant, who had been fighting with other persons in the street after being turned out of a public house, went across the street, and picked up a stone which he threw at them. The stone missed them, passed over their heads, and broke a window in the house. The jury found that he intended to hit one or more of the persons he had been fighting with, and did not intend to break the window : Held, that upon this finding the prisoner was not guilty of the charge within this section, to support a conviction of this nature there must be a wilfout and intentional doing of an unlawful act in relation to the property damaged : R. v. Pembliton, 12 Cox C. C. 607; see on this last case and R. v. Latimer, 16 Cox C. C. 70.

Indictation to the term of term of the term of term of the term of te 2 Russ, 1067.

The definition of arson at common law is as follows: arson is the malicious and wilful burning the house of another, and to con-stitute the offence there must be an actual burning of some part of the house, though it is not necessary that any flames should appear: 3 Burn, 768. But now the words of the statute are set fire to, merely; and, therefore, it is not necessary in an indictment to aver that the house was burnt, nor need it be proved that the house was actually consumed. But under the statute, as well as at common law, there must be an actual burning of some part of the house; a bare intent or attempt to do it is not sufficient. But the burning or con-suming of any part of the house, however trifling, is sufficient, al-though the fire be afterwards extinguished. Where on an indictment it was proved that the floor of a room was scorched; that it was charred in a triffing way; that it had been at a red heat but not in a blaze, this was held a sufficient burning to support the indictment. But where a small faggot having been set on fire on the boarded floor of a room, the boards were thereby scorched black but not burnt, and no part of the wood was consumed, this was held not sufficient.

The time stated in the indictment need not be proved as laid; If the offence be proved to have been committed at any time before or after, provided it be same day before the finding of the indict-ment by the grand jury, it is sufficient. Where the indictment alleged the offence to have been committed in the night time and it was proved to have been committed in the day time, the judges held the difference to be immaterial. The parish is material, for it is stated as part of the description of the house burnt. Wherefore, if the house be proved to be situate in another parish the defendant must be acquitted, unless the variance be amended; see now ss. 882–883. 885, 859, post. If a man intending to commit a felony, by accident set fire to another's house, this, it should seem, would be arson. If intending to set fire to the house of A, he accidentally set fire to that of B,, it is felony. Even if a man by wilfully setting fire to his own house, burns also the house of one of his neighbours it will be felony; for the law in such a case implies malice, particularly if the party's house were so situate that the probable consequence of its taking fire was that the fire would communicate to the houses in its neighbourhood. And generally if the act be proved to have been done wilfully, it may be inferred to have been done maliciously, unless the contrary be proved; Archbold, 625; R, v, Tivey, 1 C, & K, 704; R, v, Philp, 1 Moo, 263.

It is seldom that the wilful burning by the defendant can be made out by direct proof; the jury, in general, have to adjudicate on circumstantial evidence. Where a house was robbed and burned, the defendant being found in possession of some of the goods which were in the house at the time it was burnt, was admitted as evidence tending to prove the maximum or wilful, evidence is admissible to show that on another occasion, the defendant was in such a situation as to render it probable that he was then engaged in the commission of the like offence against the same property. But on a charge of arson, where the question was as to the identity of the prisoner, evidence that a few days previous to the fire in question, another building of the prosecutor's was on fire and that the prisoner was then standing by with a demenancy which showed indifference or gratification, was rejected.

Upon an indictment for any offence mentioned in this part the jury may, under s. 940, convict the prisoner of an attempt to commit the same, and thereupon he may be punished in the same manner as if he had been convicted in an indictment for such attempt: ss. 570, 571.

See R. v. Newboult, 12 Cox C. C. 148, and R. v. Farrington, 1 R. & R. 207, as to intent.

It is immaterial whether the building, house, etc., be that of a third person or of the defendant himself; but in the latter case, the intent to defraud cannot be inferred from the act itself, but it must be alleged and proved by other evidence. In R, v, Kitson, Dears, 187, the prisoner was indicted for arson, in setting fire to his own house with intent to defraud an insurance office. Notice to produce the policy was served too late on the defendant, and it was held that secondary evidence of the policy was not admissible. "But it must not, however, be understood," said Jervis, C.J., "that it is absolutely necessary in all cases to produce the policy, but the intent to defraud alleged in the indictment must be proved by proper evidence."

Defendant was charged with having set fire to a building the property of one J. H., "with intent to defraud." The case opened by the Crown was that the prisoner intended to defraud several insurance companies, but the legal proof of the policies was wanting, and an amendment was allowed by striking out the words "with intent to defraud." The evidence showed that several persons were interested as mortgagees of the building, a large hotel, and J. H. as owner of the equity of redemption. It was left to the jury to say whether the prisoner intended to injure any of those interested. They found a verdict of guilty. Held, that the amendment was authorized and proper, and the conviction was warranted by the evidence. The indictment in such a case is sufficient without alleging any intent, there being no such avernment in the statutory form: but an intent to injure or defraud must be shown on the trial: R. v. Cronin, 36 U. C. R. 342.

An indictment for setting fire to a stack of beans, R_c , W outward, 1 Moo, 323; or barley, R_c , K stratkins, 4 C, & P, 548, is good; for The court will take notice that beans are pulse, and barley, corn: s. 487, post. A stack composed of the flax-plant with the seed or grain in it, the jury finding that the flax-seed is a grain, was held to be a stack of grain: R_c , Spencer, Dears, & B. 131. the wood set fire to consisted of a score of faggots heaped on each other in a temporary loft over the gateway. Hield, this not to be a stack of wood: R. v. Aris, 6 C. & P. 348. Where the defendant set fire to a summer-house in a wood, and the fire was thence communicated to the wood, he was held to be properly convicted on an indictment charging him with setting fire to the wood: R. v. Price, 9 C. & P. 729. An indictment for setting fire to a cow of the sustained under a statute making it an offence to set fire to a stack of hay: R. v. McKeever, 5 Ir. R. C. L. 86. A quantity of straw, packed on a lory, in course of transmission to market, and left for the night in the yard of na inn, is not a stack of straw within 24 & 25 V. c. 97, s. 17 (Imp.). (19 of our repealed statute), and the setting fire there willy and maliciously is not felony: R. v. Satchwell, 12 Cox C. C. 449; s. 516 post.

Section 19 of repealed statute did not apply to manufactured lumber: R. v. Berthé, 16 C. L. J. 251.

It is equally an offence within this section to set fire to a mine in the possession of the party himself, provided it is proved to be done with intent to injure or defraud any other person. The mine may be laid as the property of the person in possession of or working it, though only as agent: R, v. Jones, 2 Moo. 293. As to setting fire to ships.—A pleasure hoat, eighteen feet long,

As to setting fire to ships.—A pleasure bont, eighteen feet long, was set fire to and Patteson, J., inclined to think that it was a vessel within the meaning of the Act, but the prisoner was acquitted on the merits, and no decided opinion was given: R, v. Bowuer, 4, C, &, F, 550. Upon an indictment for fring a barge, Alderson, J., seemed to doubt if a barge was within the meaning of the statute; R, v. Smith, 4, C, & F, 569. The burning of a ship of which the defendant was a part owner is within the statute: R, v. Wallace, 2 Moo, 200.

In R, v, Philp, 1 Moo, 26%, there was no proof of malice against the owners, and the ship was insured for more than its value, but the court thought that the defendant must be taken to contemplate the consequences of his act, and held that, as to this point, the conviction was right: see R, v, Newill, 1 Moo, 458. The destruction of a vessel by a part-owner shows an intent to prejudice the other partowners, shough he has insured the whole ship and promised that the other part-owners should have the benefit thereof: R, v, Philp, 1 Moo, 26%. The underwriters of a policy of goods fraudulently made are within the statute, though no goods be put on board: Idem. If the intent be haid to prejudice the underwriters then prove the policy, and that the ship sailed on her voyage: R, v, Gilson, R, & R, 138.

A sailor goes on a ship to steal run. While tapping the casks a lighted match held by him set the run on fire, and a conflaration ensued which destroyed the vessel. Held, that a conviction for arson of the ship could not be upheld: R, v, Faulkaer, 13 Cox C, C, 550,

512. ATTEMPT TO COMMIT ARSON.—Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to fourteen years' imprisonment who wilfully attempts to set fire to anything mentioned in the last preceding section, or who wilfully sets fire to any substance so situated that he knows that anything mentioned in the last preceding section is likely to eatch fire therefrom. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 483.

See R. v. Child, Warb, Lead, Cas. 193, and cases there cited,

"Wilfully attempt" in this section is not a happy expression. Can any one be said to not wilfully attempt?

Indictment.— at unlawfully and wilfully did attempt, without legal justification or excuse and without colour of right, to set fire to a certain dwelling-house (building) of F. N.

Where the prisoners were indicted for setting fire to letters in a post-office, divers persons being in the house it was held that there was no evidence of any intent, but it was what is vulgarly called a lark, and even if the house had been burned they would not have been guilty: R. v. Batstone, 10 Cox C. C. 20.

A person maliciously sets fire to goods in a house with intent to injure the owner of the goods, but he had no malicious intention to burn the house, or to injure the owner of it. The house did not take fire but would have done so if the fire had not been extinguished ; line one only evaluation have non-so it is more the net and not been extriministication. Held, that if the house had thereby caught fire, the setting fire to it would not have been within this section, as, under the circumstances, it would not have amounted to felony : R, v. Nattraas, 15 Cox C, C, 73; R. v. Harris, 15 Cox C. C. 73. But see now s. 509.

It is not necessary in a count in an indictment laid under this section to allege an intent to defraud, and it is sufficient to follow the words of the section without substantively setting out the particular circumstances relied on as constituting the offence. Evidence of experiments made subsequently to the fire is admissible in order of experiments made subsequently to the new is submission of the short the way in which the building was set fire to : R, v. Head-tim, 12 Cox C, C, 404. The words " with intent to injure or defraud" have been left out of these sections.

Lighting a match by the side of a stack with intent to set fire to it is an attempt to set fire to it, because it is an act immediately and directly tending to the execution of the crime: R. v. Taylor, 1 F & F. 511. On an indictment against two prisoners for attempting to set fire, one prisoner had not assisted in the attempt, but had counselled and encouraged the other; both were convicted: R, v, Clay ton, 1 C, & K, 128.

Preparing materials—Failure to catch fire—Conviction: R. v. Goodman, 22 U. C. C. P. 338.

2. MAY BE TRIED SUMMARILY .- The magistrate investigating any such charge may, in his discretion, if the consequences have not been serious, dispose of the matter summarily, without sending the offender for trial, by imposing a fine not exceeding fifty dollars, and in default of payment by the commital of the offender to prison for any term not exceeding six months, with or without hard labour. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 486.

as to interfere with the machinery of the points, and prevent them from acting properly, so that if a train had come up while the stone remained as placed by the prisoners it would have been thrown off the line, and a serious accident must have been the consequence. Gutteridge held up the points whilst Upton dropped in the stone. Wightman, J., told the jury that in order to convict the prisoners it was necessary, in the first place, to prove that they had wilfully placed the stone in the position stated upon the railway; and second-ly, that it was done maliciously, and with the purpose of causing mischief, It was his duty to inform them that it was not necessary that the prisoners should have entertained any feelings of malice against the railway company, or against any person travelling upon it; it was quite enough to support the charge if the act was done with a view to some mischlevous consequence or other, and if that fact was made out the jury would be justified in finding the prison-ers guilty, notwithstanding their youth. They were undoubtedly very young, but persons of their age were just as well competent to Very young, Out persons on their age were just as wen compresent to form an opinion of the consequences of an act of this description as an adult person. Verdict, guilty upon the counts charging an in-tent to obstruct the engine : R. v. Upton (Greaves, Lord Campbell's Acts, Appendix).

Indictment under s.-s. 1 .--unlawfully did put and place a piece of wood upon a certain railway called with intent thereby then to obstruct, upset, overthrow, and injure a certain engine and certain carriages using the said railway, and in manner likely to cause danger to such engine and carriages. (The intent may be laid in different ways, in different counts, if necessary.)

520. PENALTY .- WITH INTENT TO INJURE MINE OR OIL WELL.-Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to seven years' imprisonment who, with intent to injure a mine or oil well, or obstruct the working thereof,-

(a) CONVEYING SUBSTANCE INTO-causes any water, earth, rubbish or other substance to be conveyed into the mine or oil well or any subterranean channel communicating with such mine or well; or,

Indictment under (a) — unlawfully and without legal justification or excuse and without colour of right, did cause a quantity of water to be conveyed into a certain mine of J. N., situate with intent thereby then to injure the said mine aud obstruct the working thereof. Acts causing the damages mentioned in this section done in the bona fide exercise of a supposed right and without a wicked mind are not indictable: R_{-N} . Mattheres, 14 Cox C, C, S; R_{-N} . Jones, 2 Mo. 203; R_{-N} . Fider, Warb, Lead. Cas. 195.

Indictinent under (e), — a certain steam engine, the property of J. N. for the draining and working of a certain mine of the said J. N. and belonging to the said mine, unlawfully did, without legal justification or excuse, and without colour of right, damage with intent to render it useless and to injure the said mine and obstruct the working thereof.

See s. 949 as to a verdict for attempt to commit the offence charged in certain cases.

Prove that the defendant pulled down or destroyed the engine, as alleged. A scaffold erected at some distance above the bottom of a mine for the purpose of working a vein of coal on a level with the scaffold was holden to be an ercction used in conducting the business of the mine, within the meaning of the statute: R, whitting have, 9 C. & P. 234. Wrongfully setting a steam-engine in motion, without its proper machinery attached to it, and thereby damaging t and rendering it useless, is within the section: R, v. Norris, 9 C. & P. 241. A trunk of wood used to convey water to wash the earth from the ore was held to be an erection used in conducting the business of a mine within the meaning of the statute: Barwell v, Winterstoke, 14 C. The intent must be alleged in the indictment: R. v. Smith, 4 C. & P. 569.

A person guilty of an offence under this section cannot be sentenced to imprisonment with hard labour in default of payment of the penalty and compensation of costs. R. v. Horton (1897), 31 N. S. R. 217.

Limitation.

- (a) FAIR CLAIM OF RIGHT—any case where the person acted under a fair and reasonable supposition that he had a right to do the act complained of; or,
- (b) SPORTING—any tresspass, not being wilful and malicious, committed in hunting or fishing, or in the pursuit of game. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 511.

Limitation 3 months, section 1140.

Penalty recoverable under section 1043. The ill-usage must be such as there is no need for. There are cases in which the infliction of pain is justified by the surrounding circumstances, and the general rule is that any act done with the object of making an animal more serviceable for the purposes for which it is generally used, even though such act cause the animal pain, does not come within this section. Thus it has been held that the castration of horses is not cruelty. Lewis v. Fermor (1887), L. R., 18 Q. B. D. 534. A person who through an error of judgment, and without any intention to do so, drives a horse to death, would not be guilty of druelty to animals under this section.

In a case in which a charge of cruelty to animals was brought on account of the use of a check rein, it was held that the check was necessary to manage the horse, and that it was lawful to use the same in order to give better appearance to the horse and thus in-crease the value of its owner's property, although the rein caused a certain amount of disconfort to the animal.

a certain amount of discontor to the animal, Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals v. Lowry (1894), 17 L. N. 118. The Imperial Act on cruelty to animals is 12 & 13 V. c. 92, amended by 17 & 18 V. c. 60, and 39 & 40 V. c. 77: see Elliott v. Osborn, 17 Cox C. C. 36. As to dehorning cattle see Ford v. 545. Don the trait for an offence of purchasing forged notes under this section the jury may, if the evidence warrants it, under s. 1919, convict the prisoner of an attempt to commit the same. Indictment.—The Jurors for Our Lord the King present, that A. B. on unlawfully and without lawful authority or excuse, had in his custody and possession five forged bank notes for the payment of ten dollars each, the said A. B. then well knowing the said several bank notes and each and every of them respectively to be forged.

(e) GILDING OR SILVERING COPPER COIN-gilds or silvers any current copper coin, or files or in any manner alters such coin, with intent to make the same resemble or pass for any current gold or silver coin. 55-56 V., c. 29, Indictment .-that J. S., on ten pieces of false and counterfeit coin, each piece thereof resembling and apparently intended to resemble and pass for a piece of current gold coin, called a sovereign, falsely and unlawfully did make and counterfeit.

It is rarely the case that the counterfeiting can be proved directly by positive evidence; it is usually made out by circumstantial evidence, such as finding the necessary coining tools in the defendant's house, together with some pieces of the counterfeit money in a finished, some in an unfinished state, or such other circumstances as may fairly warrant the jury in presuming that the defendant either counterfeited or caused to be counterfeited, or was present aiding and abetting in counterfeiting the coin in question. Before the modern statutes which reduced the offence of coining from treason to felony, if several conspired to counterfeit the King's coin, and one of them actually did so in pursuance of the conspiracy, it was treason The actuary and so in personnee of the compared, it was treason in all, and they might all have been indicted for counterfeiting the King's coin generally: 1 Hale, 214; they may, likewise, now all be indicted as principals under s. 63, ante.

A variance between the indictment and the evidence in the number of the pieces of coin, alleged to be counterfeited, is immaterial; but a variance as to the denomination of such coin, as guineas, sov-ereigns, shillings, would be fatal, unless amended. By the old law the counterfeit coin produced in evidence must have appeared to have that degree of resemblence to the real coin that it would be likely that degree of resemblence to the real coin that it would be interval to be received as the coin for which it was intended to pass by per-sons using the caution customary in taking money. In R, v, Varley, 1 East, P. C. 164, the defendant had counterfeited the semblance of a half-guinea upon a piece of gold previously hammered, but it was not round, nor would it pass in the condition in which it them was, and the index held that the defence may incommende. So, is R, Rand the judges held that the offence was incomplete. So, in R, v. Harris, 1 Leach, 135, where the defendants were taken in the very act of coining shillings, but the shillings coined by them were taken in an imperfect state, it being requisite that they should undergo an-other process, namely immersion in diluted aqua fortis, before they could pass as shillings, the judges held that the offence was incomplete; but now by s. 548 the offence of counterfeiting shall be deemed complete although the coin made or counterfeited shall not be in a fit state to be uttered, or the counterfeiting thereof shall not be finished or perfected.

Any credible witness may prove the coin to be counterfeit, and It is not necessary for this purpose to produce any moneyer of other officer from the mint: s, 980. If it become a question whether the coin, which the counterfeit money was intended to imitate, be current coin, it is not necessary to produce the proclamation to prove rent coin, it is not necessary to produce the proclamation to prove tis legitimation; it is a mere question of fact to be left to the jury upon evidence of usage, reputation, etc.: 1 Hale, 196, 212, 213. It is not necessary to prove that the counterfeit coin was uttered or attempted to be uttered; R. v. Robinson, 10 Cox C. C. 107; R. v. Connell, I. C. & K. 199; R. v. Byrne, 6 Cox C. C. 475. Tal authority or excuse and put on to one J. N., at and for a lower rate and value than the same did then import. Prove that the defendant put off the counterfeit coin as men-tioned in the indictment. In R. v. Woolridge, I Leach, 307, it was holden that the putting off must be complete and accepted. But the words " offer to buy, sell," etc., in the above clause would now make the acceptation immaterial.

If the names of the persons to whom the money was put off can be ascertained, they ought to be mentioned and laid severally in the indictment; but if they cannot be ascertained the same rule will apply which prevails in the case of stealing the property of persons unknown: 1 Russ, 135,

Indictment under (b).— ten thousand pieces of counter-feit coin, each piece thereof resembling a piece of the current silver coin called a shilling, falsely, deceitfully and unlawfully, and without lawful authority or excuse, did import into Canada,—he the said J. 8, at the said time when he so imported the said pieces of counterfeit coin, well knowing the same to be counterfeit. The clause covers the attempt to export in certain cases. Sections 571 and 949 would cover other cases of attempts.

Indictment,— one hundred pieces of counterfeit coin, each piece thereof resembling a piece of the current coin called a sovereign, falsely, deceiffully and unlawfully, without lawful authority or excuse, did export from Canada, he the said C. D. at the time when he so exported the said pieces of counterfeit coin, then well knowing the same to be counterfeit.

556. tended to be used for or in order to the false making or counterfeiting of any such coin. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 466.

Foreign coin not current in Canada—Possessing dies to counterfeit current silver coin of United States—Not necessary to allege that it was not current: R. v. Tierney, 20 U. C. R. 181.

Indictment for making a puncheon for coining,— one puncheon, in and upon which there was then made and impressed the figure of one of the sides, that is to say, the head side of a piece of the current silver coin, commonly called a shilling, knowingly, falsely, deceitfully and unlawfully, and without lawful authority or excuse, did make.

Prove that the defendant made a puncheon, as stated in the indictment; and prove that the instrument in question is a puncheon included in the statute. The words in the statute "upon which there is made or impressed" apply to the puncheon which being convex bears upon it the figure of the coin; and the words "which will make or impress." apply to the counter puncheon which being concave will make and impress. However, although it is more accurate to describe the instruments according to their actual use, they may be described either way: R. v. Leanard, I Leach, 90. It is not necessary that the instrument should be capable of making an impression of the whole of one side of the coin, for the words " or any part or parts" are introduced into this statute, and, consequently the difficulty in R. v. Sutton, 2 Str. 1074, where the instrument was capable of making the sceptre only cannot now occur : see R. v. Heath, R. & R. 184.

And on an indictment for making a mould " intended to make and impress the figure and apparent resemblance of the obverse side" of a shilling, it is sufficient to prove that the prisoner made the mould and a part of the impression: R, v. Foster (1833), 7 C. & P. 495. It is not necessary to prove under this branch of the statute the intent of the defendant: the mere similitude is treated by the Legislature as evidence of the intent; neither is it essential to show that money was detually made with the instrument in question: R, v. Ridgeley (1778), 1 East, P. C. 171, 1 Leach, C. C. 225, The proof of lawful authority or excuse, if any, lies on the defendant. Where the defendant employed a die sinker to make for a pretended innocent purpose, a die calculated to make skillings; and the diesinker, suspecting fraud, informed the authorities at the mint, and under their directions made the die for the purpose of detecting prisoner; it was held that the die-sinker was an innocent agent and the defendant was rightly convicted as a principal. R v. Remere (1844), 2 Moo 200 rightly convicted as a principal: R, v. Bannen (1844), 2 Moo, 300.The making and procuring dies and other materials, with intent to use them in coining Peruvian half-dollars in England, not in order to user them here, but by way of trying whether the apparatus would answer, before sending it out to Peru, to be there used in making the counterfeit coin for circulation in that country, was held to be an indictable misdemeanour at common law: R, v, Roberts, Dears, 539: I Russ, 100. A galvanic battery is a machine within the section : R, v. Goree, 9 Cox C, C, 282.

Indictment for having a puncheon in possession .--- one puncheon in and upon which there was then made and impressed the figure of one of the sides, that is to say, the head side of a piece of the current silver coin commonly called a shilling, knowingly, falsely, deceitfally and unlawfully and without lawful authority or excuse, had in his cutody and possession.

An indictment which charged that the defendant feloniously had in his possession a mould "upon which said mould was made and impressed the figure and apparent resemblance" of the obverse side of a sixpence, was held had on demurrer, as not sufficiently showing that the impression was on the mould at the time when he had it in his possession : R, v, Richmond, 1 C, & K, 240.

[Secs. 556-558

As to evidence of possession, see 3, ante; R. v. Rogers, 2 Moo. 85. The prisoner had occupied a house for about a month before the police entered it, and found two men and two women there, one of whom was the wife of the prisoner. The men attacked the police, and the women three something into the fire. The police succeeded, however, in preserving part of what the women three away, which proved to be fragments of a plaster-of-Paris mould of a half-crown. The prisoner came in shortly afterwards, and, on searching the house, a quantity of plaster-of-Paris was found up-stains. An iron ladle and some fragments of plaster-of-Paris moulds were also found. It was proved that the prisoner, thirteen days before the day in question, had passed a bad half-crown, but there was no evidence that it had been made in the mould found by the police. He was afterwards tried and convicted for uttering the base half-crown. It was held that there was sufficient evidence to justify the conviction and that, on a trial for felony, other substantive felonies which have a tendency to establish the scienter of the defendant may be proved for that purpose: R. v. Wecks, L. & C. 18. IR v. Harvey (1871), 11 Cox C. C. 602, L. R. 1 C. C. R. 284, it was held: 1. That an indictment under this section is sufficient if it charges possession without lawful excuse, as excuse would include authority : 2. That the words "the proof, and do not alter the character of the offence: 3. That the fact that the mint authorities, upon information forwarded to them, gave authority to the die maker to make the die, and that the police gave permission to him to give the die to the prisoner, who ordered him to make it, did not constitute lawful authority or excuse for prisoner's possession of the die ; 4. That, to complete the offence, a felonious intent is not necessary: and, upon a case reserved, the conviction was affirmed.

Indictment for making a collar.— one collar adapted and intended for the making of coin round the edges with grainings apparently resembling those on the edges of a piece of the current gold coin called a sovereign, falsely, deceiffully and unlawfully, without lawful authority or excuse did make, he the said J, S, then well knowing the same to be so adapted and intended as aforesaid.

It must be proved, upon this indictment that the defendant knew the instrument to be adapted and intended for the marking of coin round the edges,

It must be remarked that the said clause expressly applies to tools for marking foreign coin, as well as current coin.

557. CONVEYING OUT OF MINT INTO CANADA—Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to imprisonment for life who, without lawful authority or excuse the proof whereof shall lie on him, knowingly conveys out of any of His Majesty's mints into Canada, any puncheon, counter puncheon, matrix, stamp, die, pattern, mould, edger, edging or other tool, collar, instrument, press or engine used or employed in or about the coining of coin, or any useful part of any of the several articles aforesaid, or any coin, bullion, metal or mixture of metals. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 467.

558. CLIPPING CURRENT GOLD OR SILVER COIN.—Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to fourteen years' imprisonment who impairs, diminishes or lightens any Secs.

current gold or silver coin, with intent that the coin so impaired, diminished, or lightened may pass for current gold or silver coin. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 468.

Indictment .---Indictment.-- ten pieces of current gold coin, called sovereigns, falsely, deceitfully and unlawfully did impair, with intent that each of the ten pieces so impaired might pass for a piece of current gold coin, called a sovereign.

The act of impairing must be shown, either by direct evidence of persons who saw the prisoner engaged in it, or by presumptive evidence, such as the possession of filings and of impaired coin, or of instruments for filing, etc. The intent to pass of the impaired coin must then appear. This may be done by showing that the prisoner attempted to pass the coin so impaired, or that he carried it about his person, which would raise a presumption that he intended to pass it. And if the coin were not so defaced by the process by impairing, as apparently to affect its currency, it would, under the circumstances, without further evidence, be a question for the jury, whether diminished coin was intended to be passed ; Roscoe on Coining, 19,

559. DEFACING CURRENT COIN .- Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to one year's imprisonment who defaces any current gold, silver or copper coin by stamping thereon any names or words, whether such coin is or is not thereby diminished or lightened, and afterwards tenders the same, 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 469,

"Having in possession" defined, s. 2. It has frequently happened that filings and clippings, and gold dust have been found under such circumstances as to leave no doubt that they were produced by impairing coin, but there had been no evidence to prove that any particular coin had been impaired. If it be proved that the accused uttered, either on the day on which he is alleged to have uttered the coin in question, or at other times, either before or after, other counterfeit money, either to the same or to a difference person, the jury may infer therefrom that he knew that the money he is accused of uttering was counterfeit. And the same inference may be drawn from the fact that the accused had other pieces of base coin about his person at the time he uttered the counterfeit money in regard to which the indictment has been made : R. v. Whiley (1804), 2 Leach 983. (The decision of the twelve judges in Thittersull's case was adopted in this decision. See also R. v. Foster (1855), 24 Le. J. M. C. 134.

Indictment.— one piece of counterfeit coin resembling a piece of the current gold coin, called a sovereign, unlawfully, falsely and deceitfully did utter to one J. N, he the said then well knowing the same to be counterfeit.

Prove the tendering, uttering or putting off the sovereign in question, and prove it to be a base and counterfeit sovereign. Where a good shilling was given to a Jew boy for fruit, and he put it into his mouth under pretense of trying whether it were good, and then taking a bad shilling out of his mouth instead of it, returned it to the prosecutor, saying that it was not good; this (which is called vringing the changes) was holden to he an uttering indictable as such: R, V, Franks, 2 Leach, 644. The giving of a piece of counterfeit money in churity is not an uttering, although the person may know it to be counterfeit; as in cases of this kind, there must be some been overruled: $R, V, Page, 8 C, \alpha P, 122.$ But this case has been overruled: $R, V, -mge, 8 C, \alpha P, 122.$ But this case has been overruled: $R, V, -mge, 8 C, \alpha P, 122.$ But this case has

A prisoner went into a shop, asked for some coffee and sugar, and in payment put down on the counter a connerfect shilling: the prosecutor said that the shilling was a bad one, whereupon the prisoner quitted the shop, leaving the shilling and abo the coffee anasugar: held, that this was an uttering and putting off within the statute: R, V, Welch (1854), 20 L, A, M, C, 101, 2 Den, 78. The prisoner and J, were indicted for a misdemeanour in uttering counterfeit coin. The uttering was effected by J. in the absence of the prisoner, but the jury found that they were both engaged on the evening counterfeit shillings, and that in pursuance of that common purpose J, uttered, the coin in question: Held, that the prisoner was rightly convicted as a principal, there being no accessories in a misdemenour: R, V, Greenwood, 2 Den, 453. If two jointly prepare but in concert, intending to share the proceeds, the utterings of each are the joint utterings of both, and they may be convicted jointly: R, V, Hurze, 2 M, & Rob, 300; see R, V, Hermann, 4 Q, B, D, 284.

Husband and wife were jointly indicted for uttering counterfeit coin: Held, that the wife was entitled to an acquittal, as it appeared that she uttered the money in the presence of her husband: R, x, Price, 8 C, & P, 19; see now s, 21, ante.

Proof of the guilty knowledge by the defendant must be given. This of course must be done by circumstantial evidence. If, for instance, it be proved that he ultered, either on the same day or at other times, whether before or after the uttering charged, base money, either of the same or of a different denomination, to the same or to a different person, or had other pieces of base money about him when he uttered the counterfeir money in question; this will be evidence from which the jury may presume a guilty knowledge; 1 Rugs, 127.

A person was convicted, under the above section, of putting off, as and for a half sovereign, a medial of the same size and colour, which had on the obverse side a head similar to that of the Queen, but surrounded by the inscription "Victoria, Queen of Great Britain," instead of "Victoria Dei Gratia," and a round guerling and not square, and no evidence was given as to the appearance of the reverse side, nor was the coin produced to the jury; it was held that there was sufficient evidence that the medal resembled, in figure, as well as size and colour, a half sovereign: R, V, Robinson, $L \ll C$, 60° the medal was produced, but, in the equipse of his evidence, one of the witnesses accidentally dropped it, and it rolled on the floor; strict search was made for it for more than half an hour, but it could not be found.

ATTEMPT TO COMMIT OTHER INDICTABLE OFFENCES. —Every one who attempts to commit any indictable offence for committing which the longest term to which the offender can be sentenced is less than fourteen years, and no express provision is made by law for the punishment of such attempt, is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to imprisonment for a term equal to one-half of the longest term to which a person committing the indictable offence attempted to be committed may be sentenced. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 529.

572. ATTEMPT TO COMMIT STATUTORY OFFENCES.—Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to one year's imprisonment who attempts to commit any offence under any statute for the time being in force and not inconsistent with this Act, or incites or attempts to incite any person to commit any such offence, and for the punishment of which no express provision is made by such statute. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 530.

Neither is the inciting to commit any indictable offence. Sec. 573] CONSPIRACY TO COMMIT OFFENCE.

Members of trade-union conspiring to injure non-unionist workman by depriving him of his employment guilty of indictable offence. What they conspired to do was not for purposes of their trade combination as defined in s. 2 (38): R, v, Gibson, 16 O, R, 704.

At a trial for conspiracy, acts similar to those charged, but committed in respect of different persons, may be proved in order to show guilty knowledge on the part of the accused: R, v, MeCullough andMetillis (1990), 7 Revue de Jurisprudence, 2,

To rob—Withdrawal of one conspirator who was willing to share in profits—No attempt to prevent crime—King's evidence: R, v, Harris, S, C, Dig, 405,

As to what constitutes conspiracy: See R. v. Downie, 13 R. L. 429.

Conspiracy to deprive person, of proper care and nursing whereby his death was caused not a conspiracy to commit indictable offence: R, v, Goodfellow, 11 O, L, R, 359. Nor conspiracy to effect cure by unlawful means, thereby causing death: Ib, See R. v. Rowlands, 3 Den. 364 and R. v. Whitchurch, 16 Cox C. C. 743, for forms of indictment.

Treasonable conspiracies are provided for by ss. 76 & 78: conspiracies to intimidate a legislature, by s. 79; seditious conspiracies by s. 133; conspiracies to bring false accusations, by s. 178; conspiracies to defile women, by s. 218; conspiracies to murder, by s. 206; conspiracies to defined, by s. 444; conspiracies in restraint of trade with assault or threats of violence, by s. 502.

Conspiracies to commit any of the offences which are not triable at quarter sessions are themselves not triable at quarter sessions; s. 583.

The result of this enactment of s. 573 is that, in a number of instances, the conspiracy to commit an offence, whether that offence was committed or not, is more severely punished than the offence itself would be. To obtain parsage on a railway by a false ticket for instance, is punishable by six months (s. 412), but the conspiracy by two or more persons to do so is punishable by seven years' imprisonment.

Conspiracy is a combination of two or more persons to accomplish some unhawful purpose, or a lawful purpose by unlawful means. This is the definition of conspiracy as given by Lord Demman in R, v. Secard, 1 A. & E. 706; and though questioned by the l'arned judge himself in R, v. Peck, 9 A. & E. 686; as an autithetical definition, and in R, v. King, 7 Q. B. 782; as not sufficiently comprehensive, it seems to be so far adopted as the most correct definition of this offence: R, v. Joncs, 4 B. & Al, 345; 3 Russ, 116. Bishop, 2 Cr. L, 171. has in clear and concise terms or an end. See also R, v. Brun, 12 Cox C, C, 316; R, v. Fellorces, 19 V, C, R, 48; Mogul S, S. Cox, McGregor, 23 Q. B. D. 598; Connor v. Kent, 17 Cox V, G. 554, and R. v. de Kromme, 14 Cox C, C, 492; R. v. McGreevy, 17 Q. L, R, 186.

But the word "unlawful" used in these definitions of conspiracy does not mean "indictable" or "criminal" only. The combining to injure another by fraud, or to do a civil wrong or injury to another, is an indictable conspirac_K. So in a case where the prisoner and L, were in partnership, and there being notice of dissolution prisoner conspired with W, & P, in order to cheat L, on a division of assets at the dissolution, by making it appear by entries in the books that P, was a creditor of the firm, and by reason thereof partnership property was to be abstracted for the alleged object of satisfying P, it was held that this was an indictable conspiracy: R, W arbarton, 11 Cox C, C, 584; see R, v, Aspinal, 13 Cox C, C, 231 and 563; R, v, Orang, 14 Cox C, C, 284; were K, Lead, Cns, 81.

Mr, Justice Drummond, in R, v. Roy. 11 C, L, J, 89, has given the following definition of conspiracy : "A conspiracy is an agreement by two persons (not being husband and wife), or more, to do

Acts done to coerce others to quit their employment in pursuance of a conspiracy are indictable: R, v. Hibbert, 13 Cox C, C, 82 : R, v, Bauld, 13 Cox C, C, 282.

R. V. Baulid, 13 Cox C. C. Son, Where two persons are indicted for conspiracy together, and they are tried together, both must be acquitted or both convicted: R. v. Maming, 12 Q. B. D. 241, Warb, Lend, Cas, 84.

574. ACCESSORIES AFTER THE FACT IN CERTAIN CASES — Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to seven years' imprisonment who, in any case where no express provision is made by this Act for the punishment of an accessory, is accessory after the fact to any indictable offence for which the punishment is, on a first conviction, imprisonment for life, or for fourteen years, or for any term longer than fourteen years. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 531.

575. ACCESSORIES AFTER THE FACT IN OTHER CASES — Every one who is accessory after the fact to any indictable offence for committing which the longest term to which the offender can be sentenced is less than fourteen years, if no express provision is made for the punishment of such accessory, is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to imprisonment for a term equal to one-half of the longest term to which a person committing the indictable offence to which he is accessory may be sentenced. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 532.

If several persons are tried upon a single indictment, some being charged as principal offenders, and others as accessories after the fact, and the former are (as is permissible by virtue of s. 713) found guilty not of the offence charged but of some offence included therein, the persons charged as accessories may be convicted as accessories after the fact to the offence of which the principals are actually found to be guilty: R, v, Richards (1877), L. It appears, however, to have been a matter of doubt at the common law whether, when a man died in one county of a stroke common new mother, the offence could be considered as having been completely committed in either county; but by the 2 & 3 Edw, VI, (2, 21, 8, 2, 31 was ep-ted that the trial should be in the county where the death happened.

PART XV.

NT. to for which there is such judge, justice, justice's court, officer or prison as is mentioned in the context:

- (d) 'COMMON GAOL,' 'PRISON' 'common gaol' or 'prison' for the purpose of this Part means any place other than a penitentiary in which persons charged with offences are usually kept and detained in custody;
- (c) 'CLERK OF THE PEACE'—' clerk of the peace' includes the proper officer of the court having jurisdiction in appeal under this Part, and, in the province of Saskatchewan or Alberta, and in the North-West Territories, means the clerk of the Supreme Court of the judicial district within which conviction under this Part takes place or an order is made. R. S., c. 50, s. 102; 55-56 V., c. 29, ss. 839 and 900.

A "lock-up" or small room for the temporary detention of prisoners is not a "common gaol" or "prison": In re Burke (1894), 27 N. 8. 4, 286.

When an accused person is summoned to appear before a justice of the peace having jurisdiction to conduct the proceedings without associate justices, other justices of the peace are not entitled to interfere in the preliminary inquiry or summary trial, or to be associated with the summoning justice, except at the latter's request; and a summary conviction by the magistrate who summoned the accused any heard the charge will be supported, although three other magistrate attended the hearing and purported to dismiss the charge, if the latter magistrate: R. v. M-thae (1887), 2 Can. C. C. 49.

Application of Part.

706. Subject to any special provision otherwise enacted with respect to such offence, act or matter, this part shall apply to,—

- (a) TO ALL CASES OF SUMMARY CONVICTION—every case in which any person commits, or is suspected of having committed, any offence or act over which the Parliament of Canada has legislative authority, and for which such person is liable, on summary conviction, to imprisonment, fine, penalty or other punishment;
- (b) TO ALL CASES WHERE AN ORDER CAN BE MADE. SUMMARILY—every case in which a complaint is made to any justice in relation to any matter over which the Parliament of Canada has legislative authority, and with respect to which such justice has authority by law to make any order for the payment of money or otherwise. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 840.

As to provincial Criminal statutes passed before Confederation, see R. v. Halifax Electric Transvay Co. (1898), 1 Can. C. C. 424.

The offence of forcibly and unhavfully passing a turnpike gate without paying the legal toll is an offence against a provincial law, and concerning a subject which is under the exclusive control of the provincial legislature, and therefore in such a case no appeal lies from a conviction by a maxistrate under s. 879, which only applies to offences over which the Federal Parliament has legislative authority : Lecourts v. Hurtholize (1889), R. J. Q., 8 Q, R. 439.

Jurisdiction.

707. HEARING TO BE BY ONE OR MORE JUSTICES.—Every complaint and information shall be heard, tried, determined and adjudged by one justice or two or more justices as directed by the Act or law upon which the complaint or information is framed or by any other Act or law in that behalf.

2. MAY BE BY ONE JUSTICE UNLESS SPECIAL ACT PRO-VIDES OTHERWISE.—If there is no such direction in any Act or law then the complaint or information may be heard, tried, determined and adjudged by any one justice for the territorial division where the matter of the complaint or information arose: Provided that every one who aids, abets, counsels or procures the commission of any offence punishable on summary conviction, may be proceeded against and convieted either in the territorial division or place where the principal offender may be convicted, or in that in which the offence of aiding, abetting, counselling or procuring was committed, 55-56 V., c, 29, s, 842.

708. ONE JUSTICE MAY DO ALL ACTS BEFORE HEARING,— Any one justice may receive the information or complaint, and grant a summons or warrant thereon, and issue his summons or warrant to compel the attendance of any witnesses for either party, and do all other acts and matters necessary preliminary to the hearing, even if by the statute in that behalf it is provided that the information or complaint shall be heard and determined by two or more justices.

2. AND AFTER HEARING.—After a case has been heard and determined one justice may issue all warrants of distress or commitment thereon.

INFORMATION AND COMPLAINT. [Secs. 708-710

 X EED NOT BE SAME JUSTICE.—It shall not be necessary for the justice who acts before or after the hearing to be the justice or one of the justices by whom the case is to be or has been heard and determined.

4. JUSTICES MUST BE PRESENT TOGETHER WHEN ACTING. —If it is required by any Act or law that an information or complaint shall be heard and determined by two or more justices, or that a conviction or order shall be made by two or more justices, such justices shall be present and acting together during the whole of the hearing and determination of the case. 55-56 V., e. 29, s. 842.

709. TITLE TO LANDS COMING INTO QUESTION.—No justice shall hear and determine any case of assault or battery, in which any question arises as to the title to any lands, tenements, hereditaments, or any interest therein or accruing therefrom, or as to any bankruptcy or insolvency, or any execution under the process of any court of justice. 55-56 V. c. 29, s. 842.

Information and Complaint,

710. WHEN COMPLAINT NEED NOT BE IN WHITING.—It shall not be necessary that any complaint upon which a justice may make an order for the payment of money or other-ticular Act or law upon which such complaint is founded.

2. OR UNDER OATH.—Every complaint upon which a justice is authorized by law to make an order, and every information for any offence or act punishable on summary conviction, may, unless it is by this Part or by some particular Act or law otherwise provided, be made or had without any oath or affirmation as to the truth thereof. [5]

3. FOR ONE OFFENCE OR MATTER.—Every complaint shall be for one matter of complaint only, and not for two or more matters of complaint, and every information shall be for one effence only, and not for two or more offences.

4. MAY BE LAID BY AGENT.—Every complaint or information may be laid or made by the complainant or informant s. 708-710 in person, or by his counsel or attorney or other person authorized in that behalf. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 845.

A conviction for using profance language on a public street is invalid unless the words complained of are therein set out: R, v. Smith (1899), 31 N. S. R. 411.

Smith (1899), 31 N. S. R. 411. A conviction for a second offence under the Camda Temperance Act must show that a second offence was committed after the in-formation had been laid for the first offence : Ex parts LeBlanc (1895), 1 Can. C. C. 12. See also LaBberte v. Fortin (1893), R. J. Q. 3, S. C. 385. Re-versed in Append. R. J. Q. 2 O. B. 578. In R. v. Hazen (1893), 20 A. R. 633, the question arose whether an information which stated that the accused "within the space of D days last most to wir on the 20th and 21st days of July 1892.

30 days last past, to wit on the 30th and 31st days of July, 1892.

did unlawfully sell intoxicating liquor without the license therefor by law required." contravened the provisions of this section. The Court of Appeal was evenly divided as to whether or not this information charged two offences or only one. But it was held by the whole Court that even if the information as worded did contra-vene s.-s. 3 of this section, the defect was one "in substance or in form" within the meaning of s. 847, and that it did not invalidate an otherwise valid conviction for a single offence. Where an information charged the accused with having sold in-toxicating liquor to two persons on the 5th of July, and to two persons on the 8th of July, in contravention of the Indian Act, and the justices, although the defendant's counsel objected to the information as so laid, heard evidence in respect of all the offences charged, then an normal memory evolves to respect a new set of the Sth August for the Sth July, heard further evidence in respect of the substituted charge, and dismissed them and convicted the accused for setling to two persons on the 5th of July, the conviction was quashed,

In this case it was said that it was the duty of the justices when the objection was taken to have amended the information by striking out one or other of the charges, and to have heard the evidence applicable to the remaining charge alone: R, v, Alward (1894), 25 O. R.

Summons and Warrant,

711. COMPELLING APPEARANCE - PROVISO - COPY OF WARRANT TO BE SERVED .- The provisions of Parts XIII, and XIV, relating to compelling the appearance of the accused before the justice receiving an information for an indictable offence and the provisions respecting the attendance of witnesses on a preliminary inquiry and the taking of evidence thereon, shall, so far as the same are applicable, except as varied by the sections immediately following, apply to any hearing under the provisions of this Part: Provided that whenever a warrant is issued in the first instance against a person charged with an offence punishable under the provisions of this Part, the justice issuing it shall furnish a copy or copies thereof, and cause a copy to be served on the person arrested at the time of such arrest.

SUMMONS AND WARRANT. | Secs. 711-713

 SUMMONS NECESSARY WHEN.—Nothing herein contained shall oblige any justice to issue any summons to procure the attendance of a person charged with an offence by information laid before such justice whenever the application for any order may, by law, be made ex parte. 55-56 V., e. 29, s. 843.

The service of a summons at the defendant's usual place of abode while he is without the province is void, and the justice has no jurisdiction to convict in such a case : Ex parte Donovan (1894), 32 N. B. R. 374.

See also Ex parte Doherty (1894), 32 N. B. R. 375.

In an Onitario case, it was held that by virtue of the provisions of this section and of s. 584, a judge of the High Court or a County Court Judge may order a subpersa to issue to witnesses in another province to compet their attendance upon an appeal to the General Sessions from the action of justices of the peace under ss. 873-881 : R. v. Gillespie (1894), 16 P. R. 155. An information under onth which, on its face, purports to be

An information under onth which, on its face, purports to be the information of a person other than the person who has signed and sworn to the same is bad; and where a warrant of arrest based upon such defective information, has been issued to enforce the attendance of the accused before a magistrate, and the magistrate at $||_{0}$ opening of the trial amends the information by inserting therein, in the presence and with the consent of the person who had signed and sworn to the information, it is necessary that the information should be resworn : R, v. MeNut (1886), 3 Can, C. C. 184.

712. BACKING WARRANTS.—The provisions of section six hundred and sixty-two relating to the indorsement of warrants shall apply to the case of any warrant issued under the provisions of this Part against the accused, whether before or after conviction, and whether for the apprehension or imprisonment of any such person. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 844.

713. SUMMONS FOR WITNESS OUT OF JURISDICTION.—A summons may be issued to procure the attendance, on the hearing of any charge under the provisions of this Part of a witness who resides out of the jurisdiction of the justice before whom such charge is to be heard.

2. SUMMONS AND WARRANT SERVED BY PEACE OFFICER.— Every such summons and every warrant issued to procure the attendance of a witness, whether in consequence of refusal by such witness to appear in obedience to a summons or otherwise, may be respectively served and executed by the constable or other peace officer to whom the same is delivered or by any other person, as well beyond as within the territorial division of the justice who issued the same. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 848.

The accused is not denied the right to make "full answer and after hearing the evidence for the prosecution, that a denial on oath by the accused would not alter his opinion as to her guilt: R, v, McGregor (1895), 2 Can, C, C, 410,

A refusal to examine witnesses for the defence and to permit a cross-examination of the witnesses for the prosecution, is a clear miscarriage of justice, and a clear excess of jurisdiction which invalidates the conviction: R. v. Sproule (1887), 14 O. R. 375 at p. 384. And see R. v. Holland (1887), 37 U. C. Q. B. 214; R. v. Wash-ington (1881), 46 U. C. Q. B. 221, at p. 233.

Where it is desired on behalf of the defence to show that a magistrate has an interest in the prosecution, the accused is entitled to call the magistrate as a witness, and if the latter refuses to be sworn, and the associate magistrate refuses to use his authority to compel him to be sworn, the defendant is thereby denied the right of making a "full answer and defence:" R. v. Sproule (1887), 14 O. R. 375.

Where the presiding magistrate is called as a witness for the defence, but refuses to be sworn, a summary conviction made without his evidence should not be quashed unless it is shown that the request to have the magistrate called as a witness was made in good faith, that the magistrate could give material evidence, and that the accused was therefore prejudiced by his refusal; Ex parte Flanna-gan (1897) 2 Cau, C. C. 513.

Where, in summary proceedings, it is desired to call the presiding magistrate as a witness, the application should be supported by an affidavit, stating not only that the magistrate is a necessary and ma terial witness, and that the application is made in good faith, but also disclosing specifically what the party proposes to prove by the magistrate's testimony; and where on an application to quash a summary conviction on the ground that the magistrate refused to give evidence on the trial before himself, the Court is satisfied from the justice of the peace's affidavit, and from the evidence taken in the case, that the magistrate was not a material witness, and that the application to have him sworn as a witness was not made bona fide, the conviction will not be disturbed: Ex parts Hebert (1898), 4 Can. C, C, 153.

716. EVIDENCE TO BE ON OATH.—Every witness at any hearing shall be examined upon onth or affirmation, by the justice before whom such witness appears for the purpose of being examined.

2. COMMISSION TO TAKE EVIDENCE OUTSIDE OF CANADA IN CLETAIN CASES—PROVISO.—A judge of any superior or county court may appoint a commissioner or commissioners to take the evidence upon oath of any person who resides out of Canada and is stated to be able to give material information relating to an offence for which a prosecution is pending under this Part, or relating to any person accused of such offence, in the circumstances and in the manner, mutatis mutantis, in which he might do so under section nine-hundred and ninety-seven; and all the provisions of the said section, in respect of matters arising under this section: Provided that no such appointment shall be made without the consent of the Attorney-General. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 851; 6 E. VII., c. 5, s. 1.

717. PROSECUTOR NEED NOT PROVE NEGATIVE.—If the information or complaint in any case negatives any exemption, exception, proviso or condition in the statute on which the same is founded it shall not be necessary for the prosecutor or complainant to prove such negative, but the defendant may prove the affirmative thereof in his defence if he wishes to avail himself of the same. 55-56 V., c. 29, 8, 852.

It was held that the generality of the prohibition contained in a provincial statute, prohibiting the having in posession of certain game for the purposes of export, etc., was not to be limited by way of inference to game killed within the province: *R. v. Where the defence to a summary prosecution for selling liquer without a license is that the accused was entitled to do so under as statutory exception respecting registered druggists, and by statute the onus is expressly cast on the accused to prove himself within the exception, and provision is made for proving the register by the production of a printed copy thereof, the oral testimony of the accused that he is a duly registered druggist is not competent evidence of the fact, and the magistrate may discepared the same, although no objection was taken to the admission of such testimony: R. v. Herreli (1890), 3 Can, C. C. 15.

The way finder to the above of the terminal of the exception of the state of the distinction between a provise and an exception, see Stapaon e. Recody (1834), 12 M. & W. 736, wherear p. 739, Baron Alderson sold " there is a manifest distinction between a provise and an exception. If an exception must be negatived, or the party will not be brought within the description. But if the exception endows by way of provise, and does not alter the offence, but merely states what persons are to take advantage of it, then the defence must be specially pleaded, or may be given in evidence under the general issue according to circumstance."

718. NON-APPEARANCE OF ACCUSED-EX PARTY HEARING - WARRANT TO PROCURE ATTENDANCE OF ACCUSED .--In case the accused does not appear at the time and place appointed by any summons issued by a justice on information before him of the commission of an offence punishable on summary conviction, then, if it appears to the satisfaction of the justice that the summons was duly served a reasonable time before the time appointed for appearance, such justice may proceed ex parte to hear and determine the case in the absence of the defendant, as fully and effectually, to all intents and purposes, as if the defendant had personally appeared in obedience to such summons, or the justice may, if he thinks fit, issue his warrant as provided by sections six hundred and fifty-nine and six hundred and sixty, and adjourn the hearing of the complaint or information until the defendant is apprehended. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 853; 56 V., c. 32, s. 1.

719. NON-APPEARANCE OF PROSECUTOR — DISMISSAL OR ADJOURNMENT.—If, upon the day and at the place so appointed, the defendant appears voluntarily in obedience to the summons in that behalf served upon him, or is brought before the justice by virtue of a warrant, then, if the complainant or informant, having had due notice, does not appear by himself, his counsel, solicitor or agent, the justice shall dismiss the complaint or information unless he thinks proper to adjourn the hearing of the same until some other day upon such tern s as he thinks fit. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 854.

720. PROCEEDINGS WHEN BOTH PARTIES APPEAR.—If both parties appear, either personally or by their respective counsel, solicitors or agents, before the justice who is to hear and determine the complaint or information, such justice shall proceed to hear and determine the same. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 855.

The absence of counsel for accused from the adjourned sittings at which the magistrate pronounced his judgment, the evidence having been closed at the former sittings at which counsel appeared, was held not to affect the power of the magistrate to convict, notwithstanding that at the previous sittings counsel for accused had objected to the hearing being proceeded with on the ground of irregularity in the service of the summons: R. v. Doherby (1899), 3 Can. C. C. 505.

See also R. v. The Cinque Ports (1886), L. R. 17, Q. B. D. 191.

721. ARRAIGNMENT OF ACCUSED.—If the defendant is personally present at the hearing the substance of the information or complaint shall be stated to him, and he shall be asked if he has any cause to show why he should not be convicted, or why an order should not be made against him, as the case may be,

2. CONVICTION OR ORDER IF CHARGE ADMITTED.—If the defendant thereupon admits the truth of the information or complaint, and shows no sufficient cause why he should not be convicted, or why an order should not be made against him, as the case may be, the justice present at the hearing shall convict him or make an order against him accordingly.

3. IF CHARGE NOT ADMITTED.—If the defendant does not admit the truth of the information or complaint, the justice shall proceed to inquire into the charge and for the purposes of such inquiry shall take the evidence of witnesses both for the complainant and accused in the manner provided by Part XIV, in the case of a preliminary inquiry.

4. EVIDENCE IN REPLY.—The prosecutor or complainant is not entitled to give evidence in reply if the defendant has not adduced any evidence other than as to his general character.

722. ADJOURNMENT.—Before or during the hearing of any information or complaint the justice may, in his discretion, adjourn the hearing of the same to a certain time or place to be then appointed and stated in the presence and hearing of the party or parties, or of their respective counsel, solicitors or agents then present, but no such adjournment shall be for more than eight days.

2. HEARING AT TIME TO WHICH ADJOURNED.—If, at the time and place to which the hearing or further hearing is adjourned, either or both of the parties do not appear, personally or by his or their counsel, solicitors or agents respectively, before the justice or such other justices as shall then be there, the justice who is then there may proceed to the hearing or further hearing as if the party or parties were present.

3. PROSECUTOR NOT APPEARING.—If the prosecutor or complainant does not appear the justice may dismiss the information, with or without costs as to him seems fit,

4. DEFENDANT MAY GO AT LARGE, BE COMMITTED OR PUT UNDER RECOGNIZANCE.—Whenever any justice adjourns the hearing of any case he may suffer the defendant to go at large or may commit him to the common gaol or other prison within the territorial division for which such justice is then acting, or to such other safe custody as such justice thinks fit, or may discharge the defendant upon his recognizance, with or without sureties at the discretion of such justice, conditioned for his appearance at the time or place to which such hearing or further hearing is adjourned.

5. IN EVENT OF NON-APPEARANCE WARRANT MAY ISSUE. —Whenever any defendant who is discharged upon recognizance, or allowed to go at large, does not appear at the time mentioned in the recognizance or to which the hearing or further hearing is adjourned the justice may issue his warrant for his apprehension. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 857.

DEFECTS AND OBJECTIONS. |

[Secs. 723, 724

Defects and Objections.

723. PROCEEDINGS NOT OBJECTIONABLE ON CERTAIN GROUNDS.—No information, complaint, warrant. conviction or other proceeding under this Part shall be deemed objectionable or insufficient on any of the following grounds, that is to sav.—

- (a) that it does not contain the name of the person injured, or intended or attempted to be injured; or.
- (b) that it does not state who is the owner of any property therein mentioned; or,
- (c) that it does not specify the means by which the offence was committed; or,
- (d) that it does not name or describe with precision any person or thing.

2. PARTICULARS MAY BE ORDERED.—The justice may, if satisfied that it is necessary for a fair trial, order that a particular, further describing such means, person, place or thing, be furnished by the prosecutor.

 DESCRIPTION OF OFFENCE IN WORDS OF ACT.—The description of any offence in the words of the Act or any order, by-law, regulation or other document creating the offence, or any similar words, shall be sufficient in law. 63-64 V. c. 46, s. 3.

724. VARIANCE OR DEFECT.—No objection shall be allowed to any information, complaint, summons or warrant for any alleged defect therein, in substance or in form, or for any variance between such information, complaint, summons or warrant and the evidence adduced on the part of the information or complainant at the hearing of such information or complaint.

2. NOT MATERIAL AS TO TIME WHEN.—Any variance between the information for any offence or act punishable on summary conviction and the evidence adduced in support thereof as to the time at which such offence or act is alleged to have been committed, shall not be deemed material if it is proved that such information was, in fact, laid within the time limited by law for laying the same.

748. RECOGNIZANCE TO KEEP THE PEACE.—Whenever any person is charged before a justice with any offence triable under this Part which, in the opinion of such justice, is directly against the peace, and the justice after hearing the case is satisfied of the guilt of the accused, and that the offence was committed under circumstances which render it probable that the person convicted will be again guilty of the same or some other offence against the peace unless he is bound over to good behaviour, such justice may, in addition to, or in lieu of, any other sentence which may be imposed upon the accused, require him forthwith to enter into his own recognizance, or to give security to keep the peace and be of good behaviour for any term not exceeding twelve months.

784. pretending or alleging that he inclosed and sent, or caused to be inclosed and sent, in any post letter, any money, valuable security or chattel, or to prove on the trial that the act was done with intent to defraud. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 618.

847. INDICIMENT FOR TREASON, ETC.—Every indictment for treason, or for an offence against any of the sections, seventy-six to eighty-six inclusive, shall state overt acts, and no evidence shall be admitted of any overt act not stated unless it is otherwise relevant as tending to prove some overt act stated.

848. INDICIMENT FOR STEALING BY TENANT OR LODGER.— An indictment may be preferred against any person who steals any chattel let to be used by him in or with any house or lodging, or who steals any fixture so let to be used, in the same form as if the offender was not a tenant or lodger, and in either case the property may be laid in the owner or person letting to hire. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 625.

See section 360 ante.

849. ACCESSORIES AFTER THE FACT AND RECEIVERS.— Every one charged with being an accessory after the fact to any offence, or with receiving any property knowing it to have been stolen, may be indicted, whether the principal offender or other party to the offence or person by whom such property was so obtained has or has not been indicted or convicted, or is or is not amenable to justice, and such accessory may be indicted either alone as for a substantive offence or jointly with such principal or other offender or person.

2. INDICTMENTS.

850. INDICTMENT. IN RESPECT TO POST OFFICE EM-PLOYEES.—In any indictment against any person employed in the post office of Canada for any offence against this Act, or against any person for an offence committed in respect of any person so employed, it shall be sufficient to allege that the offender, or such other person, was employed in the post office of Canada at the time of the commission of such offence, without stating further the nature or particulars of his employment. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 624.

851. INDICTMENT CHARGING PREVIOUS CONVICTIONS.—In any indictment for an indictable offence, committed after a previous conviction or convictions for any indictable offence or offences, or for any offence or offences, for which a greater punishment may be inflicted by reason of such previous conviction, it shall be sufficient, after charging the subsequent offence, to state that the offender was at a certain time and place, or at certain times and places, convicted of an indictable offence or offences, or of an offence or offences, as the case may be, and to state the substance and effect only, omitting the formal part of the indictment and conviction, or of the summary conviction, as the case may be, for the previous offence or offences, 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 628.

See R. v. Martin, 11 Cox C. C. 343; R. v. Thomas, 13 Cox C. C. 52; R. v. Harley, 8 L. C. J. 280; form of indicment under s. 337, p. 379 ante, and Gregover note, in 2nd edit, of this work, p. 754.

In R, v, Clark, Dears, 198, it was held that any number of previous convictions may be alleged in the same indictment, and, if necessary, proved against the prisoner; by the aforesaid section this is undoubtedly also allowed.

is undoubledly also allowed. In R, v, Fax, 10 Cox C, C, 502, upon a writ of error by the Crown to increase the sentence, the Irish court of criminal appeal perceived that it appeared from the record that the provisions of s, 116 of the Larceny λ et, under which the indictment had been tried, as to the arraigning of the prisoner, etc., had been neglected, and, thereupon, guashed the conviction.

In R, v. Spencer, 1 C, & K, 159, it was held that the indictment need not state the judgment, but the introduction of the words given in italics supra, in 851, seems to require the statement of the judgment. It will certainly be more prudent to allege it.

The certificate, s. 982, must state that judgment was given for the previous offence and not merely that the prisoner was convicted : R_c , $v_c Ackroyd$, I C & K. 158; R_c $v_c Stannell$, I Cox C. C. 142; for the judgment might have been arrested, and the statute ways the certificate is to contain the substance and effect of the inditement and conviction for the previous offence; until the sentence there is no perfect conviction.

At common law a subsequent offence is not punishable more severely than a first offence; it is only when a statute declares that a punishment may be greater after a previous conviction that this 851 applies. So in an indictment for a misdemeanour, as for obtaining

ne a a a money by false pretenses, a previous conviction for felony cannot be charged: R, v. Garland, 11 Cox C. C. 224. And then this chause does not prevent the prosecution from disregarding, if it chooses, the fact of a previous conviction and from proceeding as for a first offence. But the court cannot take any notice of a previous conviction, unless it were alleged in the indictment and duly proved on the trial, for giving a greater punishment than allowed by law for the first offence: R, v. Swammers, 11 Cox C. C. 248; R, v. Willis, 12 Cox C. C. 192.

To complete the proof required on a previous conviction charged in the indictment, when the prisoner does not admit it, it must be proved that he is the same person that is mentioned in the certificate produced, but it is not necessary for this to call any witness that was present at the former trial, it is sufficient to prove that the defend ant is the person who underwent the sentence mentioned in the certificate: $R_{\rm v}$, Crolts, 9 C, & P, 219; 2 Russ, 322.

By s. 964, post, it is enacted that if upon such a trial for a subsequent offence, the defendant gives evidence of his good character, it shall be havful for the prosecutor to give in reply evidence of the previous conviction before the verdict on the subsequent offence is returned, and then the previous conviction forms part of the case for the jury on the subsequent offence.

It has been held on this proviso that if the prisoner crossexamines the prosecution's witnesses, to show that he has a good character, the previous conviction may be proved in reply : R, v. Gadbury, 8 C, & P. 676.

This doctrime was contirmed in R. v. Skrimpton, 2 Den, 319, where Lord Campbell, C.J., delivering the judgment of the court, solid: "It seems to me to be the natural and necessary interpretation to be put upon the words of the proviso in the statute, that if, whether by himself or by his coursel, the prisoner attempts to prove a good character, either directly, by calling witnesses, or indirectly, by cross-examining the witnesses for the Crown, it is lawful for the trossentor to give the previous conviction in evidence for the consideration of the jury." In the course of the argument Lord Campbell said that, however, he would not admit evidence of a previous conviction if a witness for the prosecution, being asked by the prisoner's connect some question which has no reference to the character, should happen to say something favourable to the prisoner's character.

It is said in 2 Russ, 354: "It is obvious, that where the prisoner gives evidence of his good character the proper course is for the proscentar to require the officer of the court to charge the jury with the previous conviction, and then to put in the certificate and prove the identity of the prisoner in the usual way. If the prisoner gives such evidence during the course of the case for the prosecution then this should be done before the case for the prosecution closes; but if the evidence of character is given after the case for the prosecution closes then the previous conviction must be proved in reply." See s. 1053, post, as to purishment in certain cases.

55-56 V., c. 29, sch. 1, form KK.

926. TRIAL OF GROUND OF CHALLENGE. — If partiality, fraud or wilful misconduct, as the case may be, is denied, the court shall appoint any two indifferent persons to try whether the alleged ground of challenge is true or not.

2. NEW PANEL, WHEN.—If the triers find that the alleged ground of challenge is true in fact, or if the party who has not challenged the array admits that the ground of challenge is true in fact, the court shall direct a new panel to be returned. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 666.

927. NAMES OF JURORS ON CARDS.—The name of each juror on a panel returned, with his number on the panel and the place of his abode, shall be written on a distinct piece of card, and all such pieces of card shall be as nearly as may be of equal size.

2. PUT BY OFFICERS IN BOX.—The cards shall be delivered to the officer of the court by the sheriff or other officer returning the panel, and shall, under the direction and care of the officer of the court, be put together in a box to be provided for that purpose and shall be shaken together.

3. TO BE DRAWN BY OFFICER OF THE COURT.—If the array is not challenged or if the triers find against the challenge, the officer of the court shall in open court draw out the said cards, one after another, and shall call out the name and number upon each such card as it is drawn, until such a number of persons have answered to their names as in the opinion of the court will probably be sufficient to provide a full jury after allowing for challenges of jurors and directions to stand by.

4. EACH JUROR TO BE SWORX.—The officer of the court shall then proceed to swear the jury, each juror being called to swear in the order in which his name is so drawn, until after subtracting all challenges allowed and jurors directed to stand by, twelve jurors are sworn.

5. FURTHER NAMES TO BE DRAWN, WHEN.—If the number so answering is not sufficient to provide a full jury, such officer shall proceed to draw further names from the box, and call the same in manner aforesaid, until, after challenges allowed and directions to stand by, twelve jurors are sworn. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 667.

928. CALLING THE JURORS WHO HAVE STOOD BY—PROVISO —OTHER JURORS BECOMING AVAILABLE.—If, by challenges and directions to stand by, the panel is exhausted without leaving a sufficient number to form a jury, those who have been directed to stand by shall be again called in the order in which they were drawn, and shall be sworn, unless challenged by the accused, or unless the prosecutor challenges them and shows cause why they should not be sworn: Provided that if before any such juror is sworn other jurymen in the panel become available, the prosecutor may require the names of such jurymen to be put into and drawn from the box in the manner hereinbefore prescribed, and such jurors shall be sworn, challenged or ordered to stand by, as the case may be, before the jurors originally ordered to stand by are again called. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 667.

929. WHO SHALL BE THE JURY—RETURN OF NAMES TO THE BOX.—The twelve men who in manner aforesaid are ultimately drawn and sworn shall be the jury to try the issues on the indictment, and the names of the men so drawn and sworn shall be kept apart by themselves until such jury give in their verdict or until they are discharged; and then the names shall be returned to the box, there to be kept with the other names remaining at that time undrawn, and so totics quoties as long as any issue remains to be tried.

2. SAME JURY MAY TRY ANOTHER ISSUE BY CONSENT.— If the prosecutor and accused do not object thereto, the court may try any issue with the same jury that has previously tried or been drawn to try any other issue, without their names being returned to the box and redrawn, or if the parles, or either of them, object to some one or more of the jurors forming such jury, or the court excuses any one or more of them, then the court may order such persons to withdraw, and may direct the requisite number of names to make up a complete jury to be drawn, and the persons whose names are so drawn shall be sworn.

3. SECTIONS DIRECTORY.—An omission to follow the directions of this or the two last preceding sections shall not affect the validity of the proceedings. 55-56 V., e. 29, s. 667.

930. GROUND OF CHALLENGE, NAMES NOT ON PANEL. TRIED UPON VOIR DIRE.—If the ground of challenge is that the jurors' names do not appear on the panel, the issue shall be tried by the court on the voir dire by the inspection of the panel, and such other evidence as the court thinks fit to receive. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 668.

PEREMPTORY CHALLENGES. [Secs. 931-933]

931. TRIAL OF CHALLENGE UPON OTHER GROUNDS.—If the ground of challenge be other than as last aforesaid, the two jurors last sworn, or if no jurors have then been sworn, then two persons present whom the court may appoint for that purpose shall be sworn to try whether the juror objected to stands indifferent between the King and the accused, or has been convicted as hereinafter specified or is an alien, as the case may be.

2. JUROR SWORN.-If the court or the triers find against the challenge, the juror shall be sworn.

3. Nor Sworn.—If they find for the challenge he shall not be sworn.

The provision applies to the trial of offences under ss. 292, 301, and 310.

The evidence so given would be evidence to support any verdict allowed in virtue of s. 951 on an indictment for any of the offences provided for in ss. 292, 301, and 310. Held in that sense in R, v. Grantyers. (1893), Q. J. R. 2 Q. B. 376, Sentence, Arrest of Judgment and Appeal.

1004. ACCUSED FOUND GUILTY—QUESTION REFORE SEN-TENCE.—If the jury find the accused guilty, or if the accused pleads guilty, the judge presiding at the trial shall ask him whether he has anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon him according to law: Provided that the omission so to ask shall have no effect on the validity of the proceedings. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 733.

1005. SENTENCE JUSTIFIED BY ANY COUNT.—If one sentence is passed upon any verdict of guilty on more counts of an indictment than one, the sentence shall be good if any of such counts would have justified it. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 626.

Each count must by itself disclose an offence, and all egations in one count cannot help the other counts: $R,\ v,\ Samuels,\ 16\ R,\ L,\ 576.$

1006. WHERE SENTENCE CARRIED OUT WHEN VENUE CHANGED.—When any sentence is passed upon any person after a trial had under an order for changing the place of trial, the court may in its discretion, either direct the sentence to be carried out at the place where the trial was had or order the person sentenced to be removed to the place where his trial would have been had but for such order, so that the sentence may be there carried out. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 733.

1007. MOTION IN ARREST OF JUDGMENT. — The accused may at any time before sentence move in arrest of judgment on the ground that the indictment does not, after amendment, if any, state any indictable offence.

2. DECIDING OR RESERVING.—The court may in its discretion either hear and determine the matter during the same sittings or reserve the matter for the court of appeal as hereinafter provided.

c.c.-34.

3. DISCHARGE .- If the court decides in favour of the accused, he shall be discharged from that indictment.

4. SENTENCE DURING SITTING OF COURT .- If no such motion is made, or if the court decides against the accused upon such motion, the court may sentence the accused during the sittings of the court, or the court may in its discretion discharge him on his own recognizance, or on that of such sureties as the court thinks fit, or both, to appear and receive judgment at some future court or when called upon.

5. SENTENCE SUBSEQUENTLY .--- If sentence is not passed during the sittings, the judge of any superior court before which the person so convicted afterwards appears or is brought, or if he was convicted before a court of general or quarter sessions, the court of general or quarter sessions at a subsequent sittings may pass sentence upon him or direct him to be discharged. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 733.

Section 1014, et seq., provide for reserving a case for the Court of Appeal. The court has no power to make any amendment on a motion in arrest of judgment. Section 886, sub-section (2) relates to a change of venue.

The defendant, after conviction, may move at any time in arrest of judgment before the sentence is actually pronounced upon him. This motion can be grounded only on some objection arising on the face of the record itself, and no defect in the evidence, or irregularity at the trial, can be urged at this stage of the proceedings. But any want of sufficient certainty in the indictment, as in the statement of time or place (where material), or of the facts and circumstances constituting the offence, by omitting to state or not stating definitely anything requisite to constitute the offence, or by omitting to negative any exception which ought to have been negatived or otherwise, will be a ground for arresting the judgment, if not amended before verdict or cured by the verdict.

The court will, ex proprio motu, arrest the judgment, even if the defendant omits to move for it, when it is satisfied that the defendant has not been found guilty of any offence in law. If a substan-tial ingredient of the offence does not appear on the face of the indictment the court will arrest the judgment : R. v. Carr, 26 L. C. J. 61. Judgment will also be arrested if the court does not appear by the indictment to have had jurisdiction over the offence charged: Sth Crim. L. Com. Report, 162; R. v. Fraser, 1 Moo, 407; R. v. Lynch, 20 L. C. J. 187.

A party convicted of felony must be present in court, in order to move in arrest of judgment; so a party convicted of a misdemeanour unless his presence be dispensed with at the discretion of the court: 1 Chit. 663: Cr. L. Com. Rep. loc. cit.

If the judgment be arrested the indictment and all the proceedings thereupon are set aside and judgment of acquittal is given by the court, but such acquittal is no but to a fresh indictment : Archold, 170; Sh Cr. L. Com. Rep. 163; 3 Burn, 58. See R. v. Harris (1898), 2 Can. C. C. 75, and sections 889, 898.

1008. WOMAN SENTENCED TO DEATH WHILE PREGNANT .-If sentence of death is passed upon any woman she may move in arrest of execution on the ground that she is pregnant.

2. INQUERY AS TO PREGNANCY.—If such a motion is made the court shall direct one or more registered medical practitioners to be sworn to examine the woman in some private place, either together or successively, and to inquire whether she is with child of a quick child or not.

3. ARRESTING EXECUTION.—If upon the report of any of them it appears to the court that she is so with child, execution shall be arrested until she is delivered of a child, or until it is no longer possible in the course of nature that she should be so delivered. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 730.

1009. JURY DE VENTRE INSPICIENDO .--- No jury de ventre inspiciendo shall be empanelled or sworn. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 731.

1010. JUDGMENT NOT TO BE STAYED OR REVERSED ON CER-TAIN GROUNDS.—Judgment, after verdict upon an indictment for any offence against this Act, shall not be stayed or reversed.—

2. INDICTMENT SUFFICIENT AFTER VERDICT NOTWITH-STANDING CERTAIN OBJECTIONS.—Where the offence charged is an offence created by any statute, or subjected to a greater degree of punishment by any statute, the indictment shall, after verdict, be held sufficient, if it describes the offence in the words of the statute creating the offence, or prescribing the punishment, although they are disjunctively stated or appear to include more than one offence, or otherwise. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 734.

This section is in conformity with the remarks of the judges in R. v. Roberts, 12 Cox C. C. 574. The Imperial Act is 30 & 31 V. c. 35, s. 9. The Imperial Act does not expressly provide for the case of goods obtained by false not solve the section provides for the case of a solve solution of raises pretenses. The section provides for the case of a sale only of the stolen property: see R. v. Stancliffe, 11 Cox C. C. 318, See R. v. St. Louis (1837), R. J. Q. 6 Q. B. 389.

1048. COMPENSATION FOR LOSS OF PROPERTY .- A court on the trial of any person on an indictment may, if it thinks fit, upon the application of any person aggrieved and immediately after the conviction of the offender, award any sum of money, not exceeding one thousand dollars, by way of satisfaction or compensation for any loss of property suffered by the applicant through or by means of the offence of which such person is so convicted.

2. AWARD AND JUDGMENT .- The amount awarded for such satisfaction or compensation shall be deemed a judgment debt due to the person entitled to receive the same from the person so convicted, and the order for payment of such amount may be enforced in such and the same manner as in the case of any costs aforesaid ordered by the court to be paid. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 836.

"It is probable, however, that criminal courts will decline to exercise the powers thus conferred upon them except in very simple cases, and will, in the majority of instances, leave the applicant to enforce his rights by the ordinary civil procedure."

1049. COMPENSATION TO BONA FIDE PURCHASERS OF STOLEN PROPERTY .- When any prisoner has been convicted, either summarily or otherwise, of any theft or other offence, including the stealing or unlawfully obtaining any property, and it appears to the court, by the evidence, that the prisoner sold such property or part of it to any person who had no knowledge that it was stolen or unlawfully obtained, and that money has been taken from the prisoner on his apprehension, the court may, on application of such purchaser and on restitution of the property to its owner, order that out of the money so taken from the prisoner, if it is his, a sum not exceeding the amount of the proceeds of the sale be delivered to such purchaser. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 837.

1050. RESTITUTION OF STOLEN PROPERTY.—If any person who is guilty of an indictable offence in stealing, or knowingly receiving, any property, is indicted for such offence, by or on behalf of the owner of the property, or his executor or administrator, and convicted thereof, or is tried before a judge or justice for such offence under any of the foregoing provisions and convicted thereof, the property shall be restored to the owner or his representative.

 WRITS OF RESTITUTION.—In every such case the court or tribunal before which such person is tried for any such offence, shall have power to award, from time to time, writs of restitution for the said property or to order the restitution thereof in a summary manner.

3. RESTITUTION ALTHOUGH NO CONVICTION.—The court or tribunal may also, if it sees fit, award restitution of the property taken from the prosecutor, or any witness for the prosecution, by such offence, although the person indicted is not convicted thereof, if the jury declares, as it may do, or if, in case the offender is tried without a jury, it is proved to the satisfaction of the court or tribunal by whom he is tried, that such property belongs to such prosecutor or witness, and that he was unlawfully deprived of it by such offence.

4. RESTITUTION NOT ORDERED IN CASE OF VALUABLE SE-CURITY WHEN RIGHTS OF THIRD PARTIES INTERVENE.—If it appears before any award or order is made, that any valuable security has been bona fide paid or discharged by any person liable to the payment thereof, or being a negotiable instrument, has been bona fide taken or received by transfer or delivery, by any person, for a just and valuable consideration, without any notice or without any reasonable cause to suspect that the same had, by any indictable offence, been stolen, or if it appears that the property stolen has been transferred to an innocent purchaser for value who has acquired a lawful title thereto, the court or tribunal shall not award or order the restitution of such security or property.

5. SAVING.—Nothing in this section contained shall apply to the case of any prosecution of any trustee, banker, merchant, attorney, factor, broker or other agent entrusted with the possession of goods or documents of title to goods, for any indictable offence under sections three hundred and fifty-eight or three hundred and ninety of this Act. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 838; 56 V., c. 32, s. 1.

Sections 796 and 817 also provide for restitution of stolen property in certain cases.

The prisoners were convicted of feloniously stealing certain property. The judge who presided at the train made an order, directing that property found in the possession of one of the prisoners, not part of the property stolen, should be disposed of in a particular manner held, that the order was illegal, and that a judge has no power, either by common law or by statute, to direct the disposal of chattels in the possession of a convicted felon, not belonging to the prosecutor: R, v. Pierce, Bell C. C. 235; R, v. Corporation of London, E. B. & E. 509.

The case of Walker v. Mayor of London, 11 Cox C. C. 280, has no application in Canada. In R, v. Stancliffe, 11 Cox C. C. 318, it was held that the repealed section applied to cases of false pretences as well as felony, and that the fact that the presoner parted with the goods to a bona fide pawnee did not disentifie the original owner to the restitution of the goods: see 2 Russ. 355.

An order of restitution of property stolen will extend only to such property as is produced and identified in the course of the trial, and not to all the articles named in the indictment, unless so produced and identified and in the possession of the court: R, v, Smith, $12 \ Cox C, C, 507.$

It was held, on this clause: R. v. Atkin, 18 L. C. J. 213; that the court will not give an order for the restitution of stolen goods where the ownership is the subject of a dispute in the civil courts: see R. v. Macklin, 5 Cox C. C. 216.

Restitution can be ordered to the owner only: R. v. Jones, 14 Cox C. C. 528.

See 1 Hale, 543; 4 Blacks, 363.

One of the plaintiffs knew something of that firm, and he plaintiffs entered into a correspondence with Blenkarn, and ultimately supplied the goods ordered, addressing them to "A. The plaintif had stolen money of the defendant, and had been prosecuted for it but acquitted on a technical ground. The plaintiff had, previously to the prosecution, converted the money into goods, which were now in the possession of the defendant as being the proceeds of the money stolen from him by the plaintiff. The plaintiff brought an action to claim the said goods. Held, that he had no right of action: Cattley v. Loundes, 34 W. R. 139. A thief's money in the hands of the police after his conviction is not a debt of the police to the thief, and cannot be attached under garnishee proceedings: Bice v. Jarvis, 49 J. P. 204. Under this section the court can order the restitution of the

Under this section the court can order the restitution of the proceeds of the goods as well as of the goods themselves, if such proceeds are in the hands of the criminal or of an agent who holds them for him: R, v, dustices, 16 Cox C, C, 143, 196,

A man was convicted of stealing cattle, which he had sold since in market overt and had been resold immediately also in market overt, the purchasers being in good faith. Restitution ordered to the person from whom they had been stolen: R. v. Horan. 6 Ir. R. C. L. 203; but see now s.-s. 3 of above section. M. was indicted for stealing $95 in bank notes and acquitted.

M, was indicted for stending 895 in bank notes and acquitted. He applied to have 857 in notes, found on his person when arrested, returned to him, which the prosecutor resisted. The statute of P. E. I., 6 Wm, IV, c. 22, s. 38, enacts that "when a prisoner is not convicted the court may, if it sees fit, order restitution of the property where it clearly appears to have been stolen from the owner. When arrested prisoner had the money sewed up in his trousers and among the notes was a 85 note, bank of N, B., 85 note, bank of Halifax, and a 85 note, bank of Montreal. Prisoner said he put the money there fo hide it from the police. Prosecutor had sworn that he had carefully counted the money before the robbery, and that it included a 85 bank of N. B. note, and a 85 bank of Halifax note.

Held, that the evidence was not sufficient to identify the notes as the prosecutor's, and the application must be granted: R, v, Me-Inture, 2 P. E. I. Rep. 154.

2. WHEN MORE THAN TWO YEARS.—Where the offence is punishable with more than two years' imprisonment the court shall have the same power as aforesaid with the concurrence of the counsel acting for the Crown in the prosecution of the offender.

Sections eleven hundred and two to eleven hundred and twelve inclusive do not apply to the province of Quebec. Sections eleven hundred and thirteen to eleven hundred and nineteen inclusive apply to the province of Quebec only. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 926.

General.

1088. RENDER OF ACCUSED BY SUBETY.—Any surety for any person charged with any indictable offence may, upon affidavit showing the grounds therefor, with a certified copy of the recognizance, obtain from a judge of a superior court or from a judge of a county court having criminal jurisdiction, or in the province of Quebee from a district magistrate, an order in writing under his hand, to render such person to the common gaol of the county where the offence is to be tried.

2. [Secs. 1088-1092]

A judge's order under this section authorizing the surveys to render the accused to gaol is not equivalent to an order of commitment to gaol for trial for the purpose of the speedy trial clauses. R, v. Gibson (1896), 3 Can. C. C. 451.

1089. BAIL AFTER RENDER.—ORDER.—The person rendered may apply to a judge of a superior court, or in cases in which a judge of a county court may admit to bail, to a judge of a county court, to be again admitted to bail, who may on examination allow or refuse the same, and make such order as to the number of the surctise and the amount of recognizance as he deems meet.

 LIKE CONDITIONS.—Such order shall be dealt with in the same manner as the first order for bail, and so on as often as the case requires. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 911.

1090. DISCHARGE OF RECOGNIZANCE.—On due proof of such render, and certificate of the sheriff, proved by the affidavit of a subscribing witness, that such person has been so rendered, a judge of a superior or county court, as the case may be, shall order an entry of such render to be made on the recognizance by the officer in charge thereof, which shall vacate the recognizance, and may be pleaded or alleged in discharge thereof. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 912.

1091. RENDER OF ACCUSED IN COURT BY SURFILES.—The surfies may bring the person charged as aforesaid into the court at which he is bound to appear, during the sitting thereof, and then, by leave of the court, render him in discharge of such recognizance at any time before trial, and such person shall be committed to gaol, there to remain until discharged by due course of law; but such court may admit such person to bail for his appearance at any time it deems meet. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 913.

1092. SURETIES RESPONSIBLE FOR HIS APPEARANCE.—The arraignment or conviction of any person charged and bound as aforesaid, shall not discharge the recognizance, but the same shall be effectual for his appearance for trial or sentence, as the case may be.

2. COMMITTAL OR NEW SURETIES .- The court may nevertheless commit such person to gaol upon his arraignment or Sec

2. DETAILS IN LIST.—Such officer shall, in such list, distinguish the principals from the surctices, and shall state the cause, if known, why each such person did not appear, and whether, by reason of the non-appearance of such person, the ends of justice have been defeated or delayed. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 917.

1095. PROCEEDINGS ON FORFEITED RECOGNIZANCE.—Every such officer shall, before any such recognizance is estreated, lay such list before the judge or one of the judges who presided at the court, or if such court was not presided over by a judge, before two justices who attended at such court, and such judge or justices shall examine such list, and make such order touching the estreating or putting in process any such recognizance as appears just, subject, in the province of Quebec, to the provisions hereinafter contained.

See R. v. Nunn, 10 P. R. (Ont.) 395, and R. v. Swalwell, 12 O. R. 391.

1097. 1108. COURT MAY FORBEAR TO ORDER ESTREAT.—Except in the case of persons bound by recognizance for their appearance, or for whose appearance any other person has become bound to prosecute or give evidence on the trial of any indictable offence, or to answer for any common assault, or to articles of the peace, in every case of default whereby a recognizance becomes forfeited, if the cause of absence is made known to the court in which the person was bound to appear, the court, on consideration of such cause, and considering also, whether, by the non-appearance of such person the ends of justice have been defeated or delayed, may forbear to order the recognizance to be estreated.

ORDER THAT SUM FORFEITED BE NOT LEVIED.—With respect to all recognizances estreated, if it appears to the satisfaction of the judge who presided at such court that the absence of any person for whose appearance any recognizance was entered into, was owing to circumstances which rendered such absence justifiable, such judge may make an order directing that the sum forfeited upon such estreated recognizance shall not be levied.

3. MINUTE BY THE JUDGE TO THAT EFFECT.—The clerk of the court shall, for such purpose, before sending to the sheriff any roll, with a writ of fieri facius and capius, as directed by section cleven hundred and five, submit the same to the judge who presided at the court, and such judge may make a minute on the said roll and writ of any such forfeited recognizances and fines as he thinks fit to direct not to be levied.

4. SHERIFF, SHALL OBSERVE MINUTE.—The sheriff shall observe the direction in such minute written upon such roll and writ, or endorsed thereon, and shall forbear accordingly to levy any such forfeited recognizance or fine so directed not to be levied. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 919.

feited recognizance, or sum of money to be paid in lieu or satisfaction thereof, together with all such expenses as are adjudged and ordered by the court, such sheriff or officer shall discharge such person out of enstody, and if such person does not appear in pursuance of his undertaking, the court may forthwith issue a writ of fieri facias and capias against such person and the surety or sureties of the person so bound as aforesaid. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 921.

1110. DISCHARGE OF FORFEITED RECONIZANCE.—The court into which any writ of fieri facias and capias issued under the provisions of this Part is returnable, may inquire into the circumstances of the case, and may in its discretion, order the discharge of the whole of the forfeited recognizance, or sum of money paid or to be paid in lieu or satisfaction thereof, and make such order thereon as to such court appears just; and such order shall accordingly be a discharge to the sheriff, or to the party, according to the circumstances of the case. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 922.

An order made under this section for the discharge of a forfeited recognizance is a civil and not a criminal proceeding, and the diseretionary order for such discharge must be made by court in banc and not by a single judge: Re Meirthur's Bail, 3 Cn., C. (195);33 C. L. J. 630; 17 Occ. N. 301; see In re Tabbor's Bail, 23 O. R. 65.

1111. RETURN OF WRIT BY SHERIFF. — The sheriff, to whom any writ is directed under this Part, shall return the same on the day on which the same is made returnable, and shall state, on the back of the roll attached to such writ, what has been done in the execution thereof; and such return shall be filed in the court into which such return is made. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 923.

1112. ROLL AND RETURN TO MINISTER OF FINANCE.—A copy of such roll and return, certified by the clerk of the court into which such return is made, shall be forthwith transmitted to the Minister of Finance, with a minute thereon of any of the sums therein mentioned, which have been remitted by order of the court, in whole or in part, or directed to be forborne, under the authority of section eleven hundred and eight. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 924.

1116. EXECUTION ON FIAT—COSTS.—Such execution shall issue upon fiat or pracipe of the Attorney-General, or of any person thereunder authorized in writing by him; and the Crown shall be entitled to the costs of execution and to costs on all proceedings in the case subsequent to execution, and to such costs, in the discretion of the court, for the entry of the judgment, as are fixed by any tariff.

2. IMPRISONMENT.—The cognizor shall be liable to coercive imprisonment for the payment of the judgment and costs. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 926; 57-58 V., c. 57, s. 1.

1117. INSUFFICIENT GOODS ON LANDS—ARREST OF COG-NIZOR.—When sufficient goods and chattels, lands or tenements cannot be found to satisfy the judgment against a cognizor and the same is certified in the return of the writ of execution or appears by the report of distribution, a warrant of commitment addressed to the sheriff of the district may issue upon the fiat or practipe of the Attorney-General, or of any person thereunto authorized in writing by him, and such warrant shall be authority to the sheriff to take into custody the body of the cognizor so in default and to lodge him in the common goal of the district until satisfaction is made, or until the court which issues such warrant, upon cause shown as hereinafter mentioned, makes an order in the case and such order has been fully complied with.

2. RETURN OF WARRANT.—Such warrant shall be returned by the sheriff on the day on which it is made returnable and the sheriff shall state in his return what has been done in execution thereof.

3. 1118. PROCESS ON RECOGNIZANCE.—When a person has been arrested in any district for an offence committed within the limits of the province of Quebec, and a justice has taken recognizances from the witnesses heard before him or another justice, for their appearance at the next session or term of the court of competent criminal jurisdiction, before which such person is to undergo his trial there to testify and give evidence on such trial and such recognizances have been transmitted to the office of the clerk of such court, the said court may proceed on the said recognizances in the same manner as if they had been taken in the district in which such court is held. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 926.

1119. RECOVERY BY ACTION.—Whenever any sum forfeited by the non-performance of the conditions of a recognizance cannot for any reason be recovered in the manner provided in the last four preceding sections, the same shall be recoverable, with costs, by action in any court having jurisdiction in civil cases to the amount, at the suit of the Attorney-General of Canada or of Quebec, or other person or officer authorized to sue for the Crown; and in any such action it shall be held that the person suing for the Crown is duly empowered so to do, and that the conditions of the recognizance were not performed, and that the sum therein mentioned is, therefore, due to the Crown, unless the defendant proves the contrary.

2. IMPRISONMENT.—The cognizor for the recovery of the judgment in any such action shall be liable to coercive imprisonment in the same manner as a surety is in the case of judicial suretyship in civil matters. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 926; 57-58 V., c. 57, s. 1.

accused, and direct the judge or justice, under whose warrant he is in custody, to take any proceedings, hear such evidence, or do such further act as in the opinion of the court or judge may best further the ends of justice. 55-56 V., c, 29, s, 752.

This section applies only to cases where the habras $\hat{c}orpus$ issues in the same province in which the magistrate's warrant of arrest or commitment has issued; so that a court or judge in Ontario would have no jurisdiction over a justice in Quebec, whereby the latter could or would be required or compelled "to take any proceedings, hear such evidence," etc.; R. v. Defrica, and R. v. Tamblyn (1894), 1 Can, C. C. 207; 25 O. R. 645; 14 Occ. N. 513.

Where a conviction was quashed for imposing unauthorized penalty, order for further detention was refused: R. v. Randolph (1900), 4 Can. C. C. 165; 32 O. R. 212. See S. C. under ss. 1124, 1130.

A prisoner is not entitled to a discharge on habeas corpus because he was not arraigned at the sitting of the court at which he should have been tried: R. v. Wright (1896), 2 Can, C. C. S.

have been tried: R. v. Wright (1896), 2 Can. C. C. 83, See Brenan's Case (1847), 10 Q. B. 562; Re Spraale, 12 S. C. R. 140; Re Ferguaan (1891), 24 N. S. R. 106; R. v. Bucke (1898), 1 Can. C. C. 529.

1121. CONVICTION AFFIRMED ON APPEAL, OR WARRANT NOT TO BE HELD INVALID WHEN.—No conviction or order made on summary conviction which has been affirmed, or affirmed and amended, in appeal, shall be quashed for want of form, or be removed by certiorari into any superior court, and no warrant or commitment shall be held void by reason of any defect therein, provided it is therein alleged that the defendant has been convicted, and there is a good and valid conviction to sustain the same. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 886.

Notice of appeal from a summary conviction is sufficient when addressed to the convicting magistrate only and need not be addressed to the presentor or complainant: Keohan v, Cook (1887), 1 Terr, L. R. 125, but see contra: R, v, Kennedg, (1894) 10 Man, L. R. 338, Ex parte Kaconagh (1886), 2 Can. C, C, 267.

1122. CERTIORARI NOT TO LEE WHEN APPEAL IS TAKEN.— No writ of certiorari shall be allowed to remove any conviction or order had or made before any justice if the defendant has appealed from such conviction or order to any court to which an appeal from such conviction or order is authorized by law, or shall be allowed to remove any conviction or order made upon such appeal. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 887.

Taking writ of certiorari is waiver or right to appeal, but if time for appealing has not expired, opposite party may ask that certiorari be suspended until it has: Denault v. Robida, Q. R. 10 8, C, 199.

See Ex parte Ross (1895), 1 Can. C. C. 173; Ex parte Levesque (1893), 32 N. B. R. 174; Ex parte Young (1893), 32 N. B. R. 178; R. v. Herell (1899), 3 Can. C. C. 15.

1123. CONVICTION, ETC., OR WARRANT UNDER JUVENILE OFFENDERS' PART.—No conviction under Part XVII. shall be quashed for want of form or be removed by certiorari or otherwise into any court of record; and no warrant of commitment under the said Part shall be held void by reason of any defect therein, if it is therein alleged that the person has been convicted and there is a good and valid conviction to sustain the same. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 820.

1124. CONVICTION, ETC., OR WARRANT IN OTHER CASES-RECTIFYING ERROR .- No conviction or order made by any justice, and no warrant for enforcing the same, shall, on being removed by certiorari, be held invalid for any irregularity, informality or insufficiency therein, if the court or judge before which or whom the question is raised, upon perusal of the depositions, is satisfied that an offence of the nature described in the conviction, order or warrant, has been committed, over which such justice has jurisdiction, and that the punishment imposed is not in excess of that which might have been lawfully imposed for the said offence : Provided that the court or judge, where so satisfied, shall, even if the punishment imposed or the order made is in excess of that which might lawfully have been imposed or made, have the like powers in all respects to deal with the case as seems just as are by section seven hundred and fifty-four conferred upon the court to which an appeal is taken under the provisions of section seven hundred and forty-nine.

2. SUFFICIENCY OF STATEMENT.—Any statement which, under this Act or otherwise, would be sufficient if contained in a conviction, shall also be sufficient if contained in an information, summons, order or warrant. 55-56 V., c. 29 s. 889.

See cases cited under s. 727. A conviction had for uncertainty on its face, should not be amended by the court to which it is removed by certiforari, except when such court can conclude on the evidence that an offence is thereby proved: R. v. Coulson, 1 Can, C. C. 114; R. v. Herrell, 1 Can, C. C. 510; R. v. Hughes, 2 Can, C. C. 5. Finding of facts by a magistrate are not open to review on motion in certiforari proceedings to quash conviction; if there was C.C.=-37 evidence to sustain the conclusions drawn by him : Ex parte Coulson, 1 Can. C. C. 31. See Ex parte Daley, 27 N. B. R. 129, and Re Girard, R. J. Q. 14 S. C. 237.

The provisions in above section re reducing a punishment by a justice where the same is in excess of that allowed by law apply only to cases of "summary convictions," and not to "summary trials" by a police magistrate: R, v, Randolph (1900), 4 Can, C. C, 165, 32 O, Ik. 212. See S. C, under ss. 1120, 1130.

1125. IRREGULARITIES WITHIN LAST SECTION.—The following matters amongst others shall be held to be within the provisions of the last preceding section :—

- (a) The statement of the adjudication, or of any other matter or thing, in the past tense instead of in the present;
- (b) The punishment imposed being less than the punishment by law assigned to the offence stated in the conviction or order, or to the offence which appears by the depositions to have been committed;
- (c) The omission to negative circumstances, the existence of which would make the act complained of lawful, whether such circumstances are stated by way of exception or otherwise in the section under which the offence is laid, or are stated in another section.

 BUT GENERALLY NOT RESTRICTED.—Nothing in this section contained shall be construed to restrict the generality of the wording of the last preceding section. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 890.

1126. GENERAL ORDER FOR SECURITY BY RECOGNIZANCE— OR DEPOSIT.—The court having authority to quash any conviction, order or other proceeding by or before a justice may prescribe by general order that no motion to quash any conviction, order or other proceeding by or before a justice, brought before such court by certiorari, shall be entertained unless the defendant is shown to have entered into a recognizance with one or more sufficient sureties, before a justice or justices of the county or place within which such conviction or order has been made, or before a judge or other officer, as may be prescribed by such general order, or to have made a deposit to be prescribed in like manner, with a condition to prosecute such writ of certiorari at his own costs and charges, with effect, without any wilful or affected delay.

and, if ordered so to do, to pay the person in whose favour the conviction, order or other proceeding is affirmed, his full costs and charges to be taxed according to the course of the court where such conviction, order or proceeding is affirmed. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 892.

A recognizance is required only where the conviction is brought before the court by a writ of certiorari, and no recognizance is required where such a writ is not necessary, or is dispensed with: R. V. Ashcroft (1899), 2 Can, C. C. 385.

1127. No PROCEDENDO NECESSARY ON DISCHARGE OF MO-TION TO QUASH.—If a motion or rule to quash a conviction, order or other proceeding is refused or duscharged, it shall not be necessary to issue a writ of procedendo, but the order of the court refusing or discharging the application shall be a sufficient authority for the registrar or other officer of the court forthwith to return the conviction, order or proceeding to the court or justice from which or whom they were removed, and for proceedings to be taken thereon for the enforcement thereof, as if a procedendo has issued, which shall forthwith be done. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 895.

Accused was convicted under s. 174 of the Manitoha Liquor Licenes Act. Conviction and information upon which it was hased were removed by certificari into a higher court where the conviction was quashed on the ground that the original summons had not been personally served on the defendant, and that she had not authorized any person to appear for her on its return. The presiding judge under the supposed authority of this section, ordered that the information should be returned to the justice, who issued a second information in respect of the offence. On motion for prohibition, held that this section does not give the judge authority to order return of information to convicting justice after quashing the conviction, as the section only applies to cases where before this section a procedudo would have been issued to send back a record. Held, the information was not properly before the justice when he issued his second summons, and he had no jurisdiction : R. v. Zickrick (1, 200).

1128. CONVICTION, ETC., NOT SET ASIDE FOR WANT OF PROOF OF ORDER IN COUNCIL.—No order, conviction or other proceeding made by any justice or stipendiary magistrate shall be quashed or set aside, and no defendant shall be discharged, by reason of any objection that evidence has not been given of a proclamation or order of the Governor in Council, or of any rules, regulations, or by-laws made by the Governor in Council in pursuance of a statute of Cauada, or of the publication of such proclamation, order, rules, regulations or by-laws in the Cauada Gazette. JUDICIAL NOTICE.—Such proclamation, order, rules, regulations and by-laws and the publication thereo' shall be judicially noticed. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 894.

1129. CONVICTION NOT TO BE SET ASIDE FOR DEFECT IN FORM.—Whenever it appears by any conviction made by a justice or stipendiary magistrate that the defendant has appeared and pleaded, and the merits have been tried, and the defendant has not appealed against the conviction, where an appeal is allowed, or if appealed against, the conviction has been affirmed, such conviction shall not afterwards be set aside or vacated in consequence of any defect of form whatever, but the construction shall be such a fair and liberal construction as will be agreeable to the justice of the case. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 896.

A conviction will not be quashed where an apparent variance between an information and a conviction is satisfactorily explained by the magistrate where by mistake, on information against the same defendant on another charge for unlawfully selling intoxicating liquor, is returned on a certiorari to remove the proceedings in respect of a conviction for an offence of keeping liquor for sale.

Nor where a variance in the date of the offence as it appeared in the information returned with the conviction upon a certiorari, is a clerical error on its face, and the other proceedings are regular: Ex parts Kacanagh (1896), 2 Can. C. C. 267.

Where a conviction for keeping a house of ill-fame was defective in form and did not show whether the magistrate acted under the "summary trials" clauses or the "summary conviction" clauses, the court will treat it as a summary conviction, by virtue of the above section and amend it, reducing the sentence where it exceeds that which is authorized by law: R, v. Spooner (1900), 4 Can. C, C, 209.

See also Champagne v. Simard et al. (1895), R. J. Q. 7 S. C. 40.

1130. PROCEEDINGS UNDER SUMMARY TRIALS PART NOT QUASILED FOR WANT OF FORM OR HELD VOLD.—No conviction, sentence or proceeding under Part XVI, shall be quashed for want of form; and no warrant of commitment upon a conviction under the said Part shall be held void by reason of any defect therein, if it is therein alleged that the offender has been convicted and there is a good and valid conviction to sustain the same. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 800.

A warrant of commitment cannot be amended when on a summary trial a magistrate imposes a longer sentence than is allowed by law, as there is not a solid conviction to be sustained: R, v. Randolph (1900), 4 Can, C. C. 165; 32 O. R. 212. See S. C. under sections 1120, 1124.

A commitment recited a conviction for "unlawfully procuring or attempting to procure a girl of 17 years to become, without Canada, a common prostitute, or with intent that she might become an immute elsewhere." was held void as it recited a conviction which was invalid for duplicity and uncertainty. Held, also, that the commitment could not under above section 1130, be supported as alleging a conviction, because there was no valid conviction to sustain it. The conviction was returned under habous corpus proceedings as no offence was disclosed under section 216 upon which the prosecution was based. R. v. Gibson (1898), 2 Can. C. (202): 29 O. R. 600.

orence was based i. R. v. Gibson (1898), 2 Can. C. C. 302; 29 O. R. 560. Upon a summary trial of an indictable offence, a magistrate ordered the accused to pay a fine of 85 in addition to imprisonment, the fine to be paid and ary-lied according to law. The conviction was held invalid for want any adjudication of forfeiture of the fine and the accused should ac discharged from imprisonment; R. v. Burtress (1890), 3 Can. C. C. 536. See also, R. v. Urowell (1897), 1 Can. C. C. 34.

1131. No ACTION MOMINET OFFICIAL WHEN CONVICTION QUASHED.—If an application is made to quash a conviction, order or other proceeding made or had by or before a justice or stipendiary magistrate, on the ground that such justice or stipendiary has exceeded his jurisdiction, the court or judge to which or whom the application is made, may, as a condition of quashing the conviction, order or other proceeding, if the court or judge thinks fit so to do, provide that no action shall be brought against the justice or stipendiary by or before whom such conviction, order or other proceeding was made or had, or against any officer acting thereunder or under any warrant issued to enforce any such conviction or order, 55-56 V., e. 29, s. 891.

A conviction having been quashed, counsel for accused asked for costs against informant, the court refused costs, but added that the accused might recover costs in an action: R, v, Somers (1893), 24 O. R. 244. See also, R, v, Johnstow (1876), 38 U. C. R. 549.

A motion to quash a conviction was unopposed, no costs were allowed and the court laid down that no action should be brought by accused against the convicting magistrate; R, v. MeLeod (1897), 1 Can, C. C. 10, 1132. PROCEEDINGS RELATING TO PART III. NOT VOID FOR DEFECT OF FORM.—No action or other proceeding, warrant, judgment, order or other instrument or writing, authorized by any provisions of Part XII, relating to Part III, or necessary to carry out its provisions, shall be held void or be allowed to fail for defect of form. R. S., c. 151, s. 23.

- (f) ONE MONTH—after the expiration of one month from its commission if the offence be improper use of offensive weapons under sections one hundred and sixteen and one hundred and eighteen to one hundred and twenty-four inclusive.

2. SIX DAYS.—No person shall be prosecuted, under the provisions of section seventy-four or seventy-eight of this Act, for any overt act of treason expressed or declared by open and advised speaking, unless information of such overt act, and of the words by which the same was expressed or declared, is given upon oath to a justice within six days after the words are spoken and a warrant for the apprehension of the offender is issued within ten days after such information is given. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 551.

The laying of the information and subsequent proceedings are the commencement of the prosecution. So, if a statute enacts that an offence must be prosecuted within a certain time, the information must be within that time, but not necessarily the indictment: R. v. Barret, I. Salk, 383; R. v. Austin (1845), I. C. & K. 621; R. v. Brooks (1847), 2. C. & K. 402; I. Dew. 217; R. v. Kerr, 26 U. C. Q. P. 214, and cases there circle : R. v. Gasbolt (1860), 11 Cox C. C. 355; R. v. Parker (1864), 33 L. J. M. C. 135; R. v. Smith, L. & C. 131; R. v. Carbay, 14 Q. L. R. 223. The common law rule is that the Crown is not precluded from reconstring wavefunctions have have barded for the surface wavefunction.

The common law rule is that the Crown is not precluded from prosecuting proceedings by any length of time and that rule applies in all cases in which the time for bringing the prosecution is not specially limited by the Code.

In criminal cases it is not necessary for a defondant relying on a statute of limitation to plead it in bar: see, 905 under the plea of not guilty. It devolves upon the prosecuting power to show by legal evidence that the prosecution was commenced within the statutory period, if the indictment appears to have been found after the expiration of that period; Bish, Stat. Cr. par. 264; R. v. Phillips (1818), R. & R. 309; 1 Chit. 283, 385; even where the enactment limiting the time is contained in a clause separate from the clause creating the offence.

In a case of The People v, Santpoord, 9 Cowen 655, the Supreme Court of New York held that though the crime appears by the indictment itself to be barred by the statute of limitation, this is no ground for arcesting judgment. That decision cannot be supported where the statute is absolute and without restrictions.

where the statute is absolute and without restrictions, See R. v. Hull, 2 F. & F. 16; R. v. Willace, 1 East, P. C. 186; R. v. Killminster, 7 C. & P. 228.

1141. PENALTY OR FORFEITURE BY ACTION WITHIN TWO YEARS.—No action, suit or information shall be brought or laid for any penalty or forfeiture under any Act, except within two years after the cause of action arises or after the offence for which such penalty or forfeiture is imposed is committed, unless the time is otherwise limited by any Act or by-law. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 930.

1142. SUMMARY CONVICTION SIX MONTHS — TWELVE MONTHS.—In the case of any offence punishable on summary conviction, if no time is specially limited for making any complaint, or laying any information, in the Act or law relating to the particular case, the complaint shall be made, or the information laid, within six months from the time when the matter of complaint or information arose, except in the Northwest Territories and the Yukon Territory, in all which Territories the time within which such complaint may be made, or such information laid, shall be twelve months from the time when the matter of the complaint or information arose. 55-56 V., c. 29, s. 841; R. S., c. 50, s. 81; 61 V., c. 6, s. 9; 6-7 Ed, VII, c. 8, s. 2.

This section applies only to the summary conviction clauses. The laying of the complaint or the making of the information should be followed up--within the limited time-by useful proceedings in the shape of a warrant or summons and the arrest of or otherwise bringing the accused before the magistrate or justice. An indictment for rape includes the lesser charge of assault and a verdict thereon of common assault (which might have been tried summarily) was properly followed by a conviction provided the information had been laid within six months after the offence was committed and although that period had expired before the information for rape was laid: R. v. Edwards (1898), 2 Can. C. C. 96; 29 O. R. 451. See also, R. v. West (1898), 1 Q. B. D. 174, Wrayton v. Naylor, 24 S. C. R. 205; Pieton Bank v. Harvey, 14 S. C. R. 617.
