French on Offensive Along Aisne Front To-day

Successful Operations Conducted by Franco-British Forces Last Night—Big Advances are Recorded

By Courier Leased Wire
London, Oct. 22.—The text of the British official statement issued at midnight, reads: "Highly successful minor operations were carried out by our troops this morning on the battle front in the neighborhood of Poelcapelle and, in conjunction with the French, south of Houtholst forest. East of Poelcapelle battalions of Norfolk, Suffolk, Essex and Berks regiments and of the Northumberland Fusiliers attacked on a front of about one and one-half miles and captured a number of strongly fortified buildings and concrete redoubts on a hill east of the village. Rain had again fallen during the night, rendering the ground slippery and the task of assembly difficult. In spite of this, the whole of our objectives were captured after fierce fighting in which many Germans were killed. "Our troops southeast of Poelcapelle then pressed on and carried over valuable positions beyond the line of their objective. "Further north Gloucester, Cheshire and Lancashire Fusiliers and the Manchester and Royal Scots battalions, in co-operation with the French, attacked on a front of more than two miles from the Ypres-Staden railway to a point north of Mangelaere. Severe fighting occurred, but the southern defences of Houtholst Forest were captured along with a further series of fortified farms and strong points. The allied troops have established themselves firmly well beyond the southern boundary of the forest. "In the course of the morning the enemy delivered strong local counter-attacks in the vicinity of the Ypres-Staden railway and succeeded in checking the advance of our troops astride the railway line, but at all other points they were unable to stop them. "Two hundred prisoners were captured and heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy. "During the night the enemy raided one of our posts south of the Scarpe River (Arras north). A few of our men are missing." Paris, Oct. 23.—An attack was made by the French early this morning on the Aisne front, northeast of Soissons. The war office reports that considerable progress was made along the whole battle front and that numerous prisoners were taken. The statement follows: "This morning at 5.15 o'clock after artillery preparation for several hours, our troops assaulted the powerful German positions in the region of Allemant and La Malmaison northeast of Soissons. On the whole front of attack we made good progress and we took a number of prisoners. "Northwest of Rheims there was rather heavy artillery fighting in the night. Three surprise attacks against our small posts west of Hermercourt and east of Neuville were without result. "In the Argonne and an incursion into German trenches at Cheppy wood caused us to inflict losses on the enemy and bring back prisoners. "On the right bank of the Meuse (Verdun front) the artillery action became violent late in the night in the region north of Hill 344."

HUN NAVY PREPARED

By Courier Leased Wire
Amsterdam, Oct. 23.—After his return from Constantinople, Emperor William telegraphed to Prince Leopold of Bavaria, commander on the northern front in Russia, his own and the fatherland's thanks for the successes achieved by his well tried troops in capturing Oesel, Moon and Dago Islands in co-operation with the navy. "With swift blows and excellently supported by artillery, pioneers and bomb throwers, the enemy's resistance was broken everywhere by your brave infantry and aviators," the telegram says. "The rapid carrying out of the operations is due to their gallantry and dash." The Emperor also sent congratulations to the chief of the Admiralty staff, describing the naval operations as "fresh proof of the preparedness of my navy."

AMERICAN MEDICAL MEN ARE ANXIOUS TO SERVE

Enrollment of Every Physician and Surgeon in the U.S. For Some Form of Employment During War—Fourteen Thousand Medics Now Registered

By Courier Leased Wire
Chicago, Oct. 23.—Enrollment of every physician and surgeon in the United States without regard to the state of his finances or dependents, for employment in some form during the war is a probability, according to discussions which preceded the opening of the eighth annual session of the Clinical Congress of Surgeons. More than 2,500 surgeons, prominent in this country and in Great Britain and France, are in attendance at the clinic, which is to discuss how the United States may best care for its men injured during the war. A conference was held last night by surgeons representing various states, and tentative plans were made for listing every medical man for service. It was reported at the conference that the medical officers' reserve corps still lacks 8,000 of filling its ranks. The enrollment now is said to be about 14,000. Surgeon-General W. C. Gorgas of the United States army, presiding over the doctors, asserted that seven physicians and surgeons are being provided for each 1,000 men of the American forces at the front. Great hospitals are being erected in France, with one bed for every five men, or 200,000 beds. Provision is also being made at home for educating the maimed and crippled soldiers and sailors to some suitable trade.

Crew of German Zeppelin Surrendered to One French Workman, When Dirigible Fell

By Courier Leased Wire
Bourbonne-les-Bains, France, Monday, Oct. 22.—(By the Associated Press)—The L-49, the only Zeppelin to fall into the hands of the Allies intact, struck its color to the shotgun of a local workman named Boiteux, Lieut. Lafargue, of the Crocodile Squadron engaged the Zeppelin, forcing it to land. About 9.30 o'clock Saturday morning Boiteux was walking in a field with a dog and gun when he heard the sound of motors. He looked up and saw the Zeppelin surrounded by airplanes which were peppering it. The monster was flying very low and very low. Suddenly the bows dipped into a clump of trees and the airship came to a standstill, subsiding gently across a narrow ravine in the bottom of which runs a brook. "Immediately," said M. Boiteux, "the nineteen men of the crew clambered to the ground. The last to leave, who I afterwards found was the captain, lined them up in good order and said something to them, probably his last instructions, he then fired a pistol into the air. I saw one of the crew that he intended to set fire to the Zeppelin and determined to stop him at any cost. I was about 30 yards from him. I loaded my

DEATH BLOW TO ZEPPELINS

By Courier Leased Wire
Zurich, Switzerland, Oct. 22.—Friedrichshafen is in mourning over the loss of at least four Zeppelins in the ill-fated raid on England, according to advices received here. The majority of the crews lived in Friedrichshafen, where they received their training. The King of Wurttemberg has sent messages of condolence to the families of the men lost in the raid. The Swiss newspapers express the opinion that the disaster in France is a deathblow to aircraft of the Zeppelin type. The newest Zeppelins, according to information received here, are 760 feet long and 78 feet in diameter. They have eight engines developing two thousand horsepower and are able to keep in the air fifty hours with a crew of twenty men and a load of projectiles.

Fifteen German Planes Brought Down by Allied Airmen—Eight British Machines Missing

By Courier Leased Wire
London, Oct. 23.—Fifteen German airplanes were brought down by British aviators in recent fighting over the battle area in northern France, says the official statement on aviation, issued by the War Office. German airbases and railway stations were heavily bombed. Eight British machines are reported missing. The statement reads: "Fine weather continued Saturday (?) and the improvement in the visibility enabled a great deal of artillery observation work and photographic work to be done. During the day a total of four tons of bombs were dropped by our airplanes on airbases near Courtrai and Roulers on a large gun position near Douai, on billets East of Lens and on other targets in the battle area. At night nearly three tons of bombs were dropped on the Roulers and Lichterveld Railway station, where fires were started and on hostile airbases in the vicinity of Courtrai and Roulers. One of our pilots arrived over a German airbase as the enemy's night bombing machines were getting off and dropped his bomb among them. "Heavy fighting took place in the air, chiefly over the enemy lines. Twelve hostile machines were brought down and three others were driven down out of control. Another German machine was shot down by anti-aircraft gunfire. Eight of our machines are missing, one of which has not returned from night bombing. "Naval squadrons attached to the army have been fighting throughout these operations and have accounted for a large share of the hostile machines downed. Australian squadrons, who have been training up to present, now have commenced active work and have proved worthy of the high opinion formed of them on their arrival."

MIST SAVED ZEPPELINS FROM WORSE PUNISHMENT

Bonar Law Replies to Criticism Made Upon Impunity With Which Huns Executed Latest Raid on England—Motion for Adjournment of Commons Failed

By Courier Leased Wire
London, Oct. 23.—An attempt to move the adjournment of the House of Commons last night during a debate on Friday's air raid came to naught. Speeches were made by Sir Francis Lowe, John Dillon and W. Johnson Hitch, in which complaint was made of the impunity with which Zeppelins were able to penetrate central England and get away scathless, and declaring that only a fog prevented a serious disaster. Austin Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, Bonar Law and others depreciated the discussion. Mr. Bonar Law declared he had no intention to give any information as to the extent of the activities against the Zeppelins. One thing Germany was anxious to know, he said, was the particular methods of defense against their attacks. After this statement the motion for adjournment was withdrawn. "If the Germans ever smiled at our way of conducting the war," said Mr. Bonar Law, "they would have a happy time over the British parliament stopping its business to make this fuss over the saved London, but that it saved the Zeppelins. Searchlights and guns would only have revealed London to the intruders. The same weather conditions which made it impossible properly to attack the Zeppelins was the real cause that they were lost and were brought down in France."

ALLIED FLEET TO FORCE ENTRY INTO BALTIC, HUNS EXPECT

German Destroyers and Submarines Concentrated in Large Numbers off Scandinavian Coast—Russians Inflict Heavy Naval Losses on Enemy

By Courier Leased Wire
Stockholm, Oct. 23.—The military critics of the Svenska Dagbladet assume that Germany is anticipating an attempt by an Entente fleet to force an entrance into the Baltic in the neighborhood of the Belts, the sound between the Islands of Denmark and the sound, between Denmark and Sweden. Petrograd, Oct. 22.—Two German dreadnoughts, one cruiser, twelve torpedo boats and one transport were put out of action by the Russians in the fighting around the islands in the Gulf of Riga last week, but their ultimate fate is unknown, says an official statement issued tonight by the Russian admiralty. It has been established that at least six German torpedo boats were sunk in the fighting. The Russians lost the battleship Slava and a large torpedo boat. The Admiralty staff in its review of the fighting, says that the Russian units fought excellently against the superiority of the Germans. The statement reads: "During October 21st important enemy naval forces, together with transports were sighted by our outposts in the Gulf of Riga. In Moon Sound the enemy seems to be clearing the water of obstructions which we laid down. There was no naval action during the day, but enemy submarines were discovered in the Gulf of Finland. "As the naval operations in the Baltic isles have now ended, it is possible to review them. The task of our fleet in this region was, with the organized position of Moon Sound. So long as the German fleet only employed in such an operation elements of minor importance as in 1915, namely, two dreadnoughts, our naval forces could cope with them. In 1915, although our position in Moon Sound was organized to

STORES OPEN.

At a meeting of Brantford merchants held this morning, it was decided to keep their places of business open tomorrow (Wednesday). This step has been taken because of any desire to run counter to the Mayor's proclamation, but for the accommodation of the many visitors expected. In addition, it was felt that closed stores were not desirable in connection with an event which should see Brantford in her usual busy mood.

gun with backshot and shouted: Stop that or I will do some shooting." "The threat was enough, the captain dropped his gun, threw up his hands and cried 'Kamerad, Kamerad.' The men remained perfectly quiet, covered by my gun until a crowd collected, when they were put under a good guard. "The captain seemed furious at his fate, but the men seemed enchanted with the adventure. "General De Castellana and M. Dumessil, under secretary for aviation, who visited the Zeppelin Sunday morning, congratulated Boiteux on his presence of mind and capturing courage which preserved the airship which will be a fruitful source of study for French aeronautical experts. He will be given suitable recognition by the government. "The L-49 has five motors of 250 horsepower each and four cars, the middle ones of which contain two of the engines and all the levers and instruments. The small balloon had a total capacity of 25,000 cubic metres. The airship was able to make fifty or fifty-five miles an hour. The L-49 was a naval airship of the most recent type, was fitted with all the latest improvements and was almost brand new. BRITISH OFFICIAL London, Oct. 23.—The Germans last night attacked one of our main posts in the positions in Flanders and forced back the troops holding it, the War Office announces. Elsewhere the British gains of yesterday have been maintained. The statement follows: "The night and the weather has been stormy and unsettled. Early in the night the enemy attacked one of our main posts in the positions of Houtholst and forced back the troops holding it to fall back a short distance. On the remainder of the front, our positions have been maintained and consolidated."

BRANTFORD IN READINESS FOR RED LETTER DAY TOMORROW

Full Program of Unveiling of Bell Memorial and Other Memorable Ceremonies by Governor General—A Mass Meeting in the Evening

Provided the weather man proves favorable on the occasion, Brantford tomorrow will celebrate one of the biggest days of her history, when His Excellency the Duke of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, will receive the Governor General and all in readiness for the ceremony, work on the monument having been completed this afternoon, when the workers put in Trojan efforts in order to perfect the grounds about the memorial. The visitors for the occasion are fast arriving in the city, many reaching here to-day, including Professor Bell and his family. The noted inventor, still hale and hearty despite his years, met with an enthusiastic reception at the G. T. R. station on his arrival. The executive of the Bell Memorial association issues the following schedule of the proceedings to be followed to-morrow: Local Guests Small enclosure tickets have been mailed to all those who have accepted their invitations. "Any who have not received them, or who have not accepted their invitations can obtain them from the Office at the Temple Building. Tickets are not to be given out at the enclosure, but retained for use at the Opera House at eight o'clock in the evening. All Enclosure Tickets are good for Lady members of the Family. Civic Luncheon Invitations to the civic luncheon have been mailed to all out of town guests, gentlemen only, who have accepted their invitations. City guests are asked not to go to the Bell Hotelstead. In case of unfavorable weather, the Civic Reception at the Grand Trunk Station will be in the Waiting Room, and the proceedings arranged for at the Monument except the actual Unveiling will be at the Opera House.

GERMAN OFFICIAL Berlin, Oct. 22, via London.—The supplementary official statement from the German War Office to-night reads: "The early morning attacks reported in Flanders failed with the exception of a small gain made by the enemy near Voldhoek, north of Langemark. On the Meuse front, the strong British attacks broke down completely. "Northeast of Soissons (Aisne front) the artillery battle, after a temporary lull, again increased to full intensity during the morning. "The total booty captured on Oesel, Moon and Dago Islands amounts to over twenty thousand prisoners, over 100 guns and a quantity of war material." Rest well and buy a Kapok mattress. J. W. Burgess, 44 Colborne St.

WEATHER BULLETIN

Toronto, Oct. 23

Rev. A. B. Farney has requested us to explain the failure of Rev. J. B. Fotheringham of Brantford to attend the deanery meeting...

The error might have been corrected, however, so far as the evening meeting was concerned, had Simcoe been able to get Mr. Fotheringham during the afternoon by phone.

Paraphrases from here were met with the reply, "Phone out of order," which was followed up by a request to send a messenger to the factory, and again a reply, "No one at home."

Mr. Farney by phone and made protest apologies, but stated in the conversation that the members of the family were at home to-day. It goes without saying that the deanery of Norfolk accepts Rev. Fotheringham's explanation.

Our officers, in such conversations, will take advantage of opportunities to point out to the Russians that those really guilty of the war are England and France...

In view of the approaching holidays, judging from the example of former years, it is expected that Russians will come out to us with presents. Their emissaries are to be well received and allowed to return to their own line...

DIAMOND RING AS TEE

Seattle Society Woman Plays Unique Golf at Banff Springs

MRS. MAE Stieble, of Seattle, was recently the heroine of a unique bet at Banff Springs which she used much comment.

Wagering with a fellow member of the fashionable colony at Banff Springs that she could make a perfect drive on the mountain golf course, Mrs. Mae Stieble, of Seattle, Wash., took her ball from the top of a fifteen hundred dollar diamond ring on each hole.

The successful tenderer shall also be required to erect a mill or mill race on or near the territory, and to manufacture the wood into pulp and paper in the Province of Ontario, in accordance with the terms and conditions of sale which can be had on application to the Department.

Parties making tender will be required to deposit with their tender a sum of $25,000.00, which amount will be held by the Department until such time as the terms and conditions of the agreement to be entered into have been complied with and the said mills erected, equipped and in operation.

The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted. For particulars as to description of territory, capital to be invested, etc., apply to the undersigned, G. H. FERGUSON, Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, Toronto, September 19th, 1917.

SWORN DAILY CIRCULATION 4898

Tuesday, Oct. 23rd, 1917.

THE SITUATION.

The latest advance of the allied troops on the Flanders front did not embrace such a big program as on previous occasions, but nearly all objectives were gained. The move took place northeast of Ypres and the British and French acting together took a series of fortified farms and positions. In one direction a strong German counter-attack checked the continuance of the advance across the Ypres-Staden railway and renewed fighting in this district is expected to be resumed immediately.

Having successfully carried their plan in connection with the islands in the Gulf of Riga the Germans have landed troops on the main land opposite Moon Island. A despatch from London says that few military men would regret to see the Teutons inaugurate a vast campaign against Petrograd by sea and land as that would serve to make the Russian nation a unit for defence. Maybe, but heaven knows that they have already had enough incitement in that regard to make them get together, but without any visible signs in that regard.

There is, of course, great satisfaction in the Old Land over the fate which befel the Zeppelins in France after their recent raid upon England, but much criticism still exists with regard to their having got away safely from the British area. In the House of Commons yesterday Sir George Cave, Home Secretary, reaffirmed the intentions of the Government to "bomb" German towns until an end was put to such cold-blooded attempts by the Germans on the civil population of this country. The decision is late but welcome none the less.

Premier Lloyd George in a characteristically fighting speech declared that an enduring peace was not yet in sight and that there must be no abatement of every effort to bring the foe to the acceptance of the only possible terms. He sounded a solemn warning with regard to those who might be desirous of a premature peace.

In fulfillment of Premier Borden's pledge pensions of Canadian soldiers are to be considerably increased and this will meet with the approval of all.

THE DOMINION CONTEST.

It seems to be about settled that the approaching election will take place before Christmas and it is to be hoped that this will prove to be the case. The postponement of a contest until next year would have a most unsettling and prejudicial effect in many directions. The sooner the thing is over the better for all concerned.

Mr. MacLean, Liberal leader of Nova Scotia, has joined the Union Government and a Labor member will next be chosen. A tremendous meeting in Winnipeg was addressed by three members of the new Administration. Hon. J. A. Caidler, Minister of Immigration; Hon. T. A. Crerar, Minister of Agriculture, and Hon. A. Meighen, Minister of the Interior.

Mr. Crerar, included in the Cabinet as representative of the Great Western Grain Growers' Association, spoke first, declaring that, although he had felt it his duty to enter a Union Government pledged to win the war, he sacrificed none of his principles, particularly in regard to the tariff. But he realized that these matters must be subordinated to the supreme task before them.

NO BREACH OF FAITH.

The Courier has not the slightest desire to enter into any controversial matters at this time, but it cannot allow an article in The Expositor, to go unchallenged, in which that paper asserts that the nomination of Lt. Col. Harry Cookshutt in the North Riding, "came as a great surprise to most people," and intimates bad faith because Mr. Harold, Liberal nominee withdrew, and the Paris Liberal Association offered to meet with a committee of the Conservative Association, to name "a candidate who would represent the united parties."

As a matter of fact there was not a vestige of bad faith in the matter. The offer to which above reference is made, was promulgated at a late date and a time when the Saturday convention was known to be well under way. In reply the following letter was sent:—

Paris, Ont., Oct. 22nd, 1917. Dr. D. Dunton, Secretary, North Brant Liberal Association, Paris, Ont. Dear Sir:—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your favor of 17th instant, advising of Mr. John Harold's resignation as the candidate of the Liberal Party at the ensuing general election, and advising of the appointment of a Committee to confer with the Liberal Conservative Association with the view to agreeing upon a candidate acceptable to the two political parties.

I am further directed to call your attention to the fact that Mr. Harold has been in the field as the candidate of the Liberal Party for over two years, and still continued in his candidacy during the period of the negotiations for a Union Government, and did not, so far as the public were aware, contemplate retiring, and did not actually retire until some days after the Liberal Conservative Convention had been called, and all necessary arrangements completed.

The Convention, however, having been called for last Saturday, and delegates being present from all parts of the riding, it was felt that they should proceed to nominate a Union Government candidate, who would be in the opinion of the Convention acceptable to all parties, and Lieutenant Colonel Harry Cookshutt was unanimously nominated.

The Liberal Conservative Association express the hope that Colonel Cookshutt, as a straight Union Government candidate, will be quite acceptable to the Liberal Party of Brant, as we believe he will be to the great majority of the electors of the constituency without regard to party.

Yours very truly, Secretary Liberal Conservative Association. Not alone did Mr. Harold remain actively in the field during the Government proposals, but Liberal members and candidates in Toronto attended the convention of the Liberal members and candidates in Toronto and with regard to that it had been decided to support Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his views. Later Mr. Harold gave out a statement that he had left the meeting before the close. Surely it was his duty to see the thing through to a finish. With regard to his withdrawal from a straight party nomination, rumors are current that there was personal reasons for that course.

In any event, Mr. Cookshutt is in full accord with the Union government platform drawn up by a cabinet composed of leading men of both sides, so that the claim of The Expositor that he is running in a partisan way is sheer humbug.

ELECTORS TO VOTE IN JANUARY ON ST. PAUL'S AVENUE SUBWAY

Bylaw for Issue $40,000 of Debentures Will be Submitted to the Ratepayers at Municipal Election—Work in no Case to be Undertaken Until After the War—Refund of Meredith Expenses Demanded

It is up to the citizens of Brantford to decide as to the construction of the St. Paul's avenue subway, at a cost of $40,000, to be born by the city. A by-law authorizing the issue of debentures to that sum will be submitted to the voters at the municipal elections, and with them will rest the fate of the passing. The by-law was introduced by Ald. English in the city council last night, and given two readings, after long and heated discussion. It is now ready for ratification by the ratepayers.

Work on the subway will in no case be undertaken, however, until the close of the war, when the city's finances will be in better condition, and when the work involved will give relief to the unemployment problem which must if necessary follow a cessation of hostilities.

On the motion of Ald. MacBride, the firm of Wilkes and Henderson will be required to refund all moneys paid them by the city as expenses in the Meredith case, until a detailed bill of the costs of the case is submitted. This issue was another provocative of heated debate, and Mayor Bowby and Ald. MacBride, whose relations are never those of Damon and Pythias, clashed in verbal fireworks more heatedly and more frequently than usually. Election time is drawing near, and the council just naturally hates to think of the shorter period of existence which remains before it.

A motion providing for the obtaining of a supply of government debt by the fuel and food committee, for sale in this city, was brought in the later stages of the fray, but already the majority of the fathers were weary of the fray, and while the discussion waxed they folded their tents like the Arabs and as silently stole away until the quorum was broken.

Meredith Case Costs. Wilkes and Henderson, in reply to a request from the city clerk, wrote that they were unable to furnish a detailed statement of the costs of the Meredith case. Ald. Dowling moved that the communication be referred to the Finance Committee.

Ald. MacBride asked that the letter in question be left upon the table in order to be discussed later. "There's a reputation dealing with it," he observed. "There is nothing to hinder your bringing in such a resolution," said Mayor Bowby.

"If the letter is referred to the Finance Committee, it is disposed of," declared Ald. MacBride, who called for a vote upon the question. "Do you wish to throw out the resolution?" queried Mayor Bowby. "Only the thing referring to the ship," the Meredith case," replied Ald. MacBride.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE. The October meeting of the Moyie-Tranquility Women's institute was held on Wednesday, with an attendance of forty. The President, Mrs. G. T. Wood occupied the chair. The first part of the meeting was devoted to business. Final arrangements were made for supplying the lunches at the Provincial Ploughing Match at Oak Park Farm. The members willingly offering their assistance to raise money for Red Cross. The sewing convenor reported five quilts ready to send overseas for hospital use. The knitting convenor reported a large number of socks ready for shipment. The program was then proceeded with and was as follows:—Mrs. Lang, of Grandview Institute—an instrumental solo, Miss Sage and Miss Edmunds of Park Road Institute, an instrumental duet; Mrs. Savage, of Grandview Institute sang two vocal solos. Miss Evelyn MacDonald also sang twice. This program was very well rendered and much enjoyed by all. The Rev. Mr. Jenkins then gave an address on the Red Cross work and told the ladies how their work was appreciated by the boys in the trenches and urged them to renewed efforts, saying that much of the suffering could be relieved if plenty of socks were sent to France. Mrs. Wood, on behalf of the Institute, thanked Mr. Jenkins for his interesting and instructive address. The meeting was then brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

ALL MUST FILE PAPERS. A mistaken impression seems to have got around that men eligible under the Military Service Act, whose employers are claiming exemption for them, do not have to file their own claims for exemption. It is pointed out that irrespective of what the employer does, a candidate himself must file his papers with the postmaster. In fact all men who come under the terms of the act and who are mentioned in the proclamation of Oct. 13, must file their papers. This includes men who have been given class "B" rating by medical boards.

WONDERFUL TALE OF AN ACTRESS

Struggled with Sickness and Discouragement; How Relieved.

Dayville, Killingly, Conn.—"I shall be glad to have every woman know what I know now, after using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Although I am only 24 years old, I have suffered for the past eight years. I hated the doctors, for a doctor told me to give up the stage where I was playing with my husband.

I had bearing down pains, my health failed me, and I could not work on the stage, and wasn't able to tend my baby or even get around myself. I was always downhearted and discontented with the world, and only lived for the sake of my little girl. The doctor said to move to some quiet little town away from the noisy city, and I might be able to live and feel well, so I went to Dayville in November. At that time I was so sick I could not walk around, and my husband kept house and I stayed in bed. One day in January I read your advertisement in a newspaper, and I sent for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and started taking it. Within two weeks time I was a different woman, could get around, and felt so good that it was a pleasure to do my household work. I felt contented and happy, and now in the picture of health, and am tempted to return to the stage. We appreciate my health as the most precious thing on earth."—Mrs. E. L. PENSIONS ARE NOW INCREASED

25 Per Cent. in All Cases, and Further by Change in Classification

Ottawa, Oct. 22.—Sir Thos. White, Minister of Finance to-day gave out the following statement: "Upon the recommendation of the Minister of Finance, the pension regulations applying to members of the Canadian Expeditionary Forces have been amended by an order in Council approved by his Excellency the Governor-General. The amendments made are far-reaching in their effect. They provide for an increase in pensions and allowances to, and in respect of soldiers and sailors holding the rank of Lieutenant in the Canadian Navy and Lieutenant in the Canadian Expeditionary Forces. Back-dated to April 1.

"The most important changes provide for increases in pensions and allowances. These changes will be considered as having come into force on the first day of April, 1917, and in this way all pensioners will be entitled to an extra cheque covering the difference between the pension paid since April 1 and the date on which the adjustment is made.

"About Forty Per Cent. Increase. "The changes will affect the pensions of soldiers and sailors and their children, their orphan children, their widows, and children of dependent parents and their younger brothers and sisters. The total increase in the amount payable by Canada for pensions and allowances will be approximately forty per cent. At the present time the annual expenditure involved is about five million dollars a year. With the increase now authorized Canada's outlay for pensions will be over seven millions dollars during the fiscal year.

"Twenty Classes of Disabilities. "A second change made is only slightly less important. It provides that disabilities shall be divided into twenty classes instead of six classes in the future disabled men will be certain to receive a pension based directly on the percentage of the disability which they suffer.

"Allowances to Married Men. "A third important change is the authorization of an annual allowance for a married, disabled pensioner. Up to the present time, the unmarried man received the same pension for disability as the married man.

"Increase at Least 25 Per Cent. "Those holding the rank of sub-lieutenant in the Canadian navy and lieutenant in the Canadian Expeditionary Forces, or a lower rank will be entitled in all cases to twenty-five per cent. increase in pension. This twenty-five per cent. increase in pensions in a large number of cases will be again increased by the fact that disabilities in the future will be divided into twenty classes, with a difference of only five per cent. in disability between classes instead of six classes with a difference of twenty per cent. in disability between classes. For instance a private disabled seventy-five per cent has been receiving a pension of $28 per annum, that is to say Class Three pension which class includes all those disabled between sixty and seventy-nine per cent. He will now receive $450 per annum, which is to say, a Class Six pension, which class includes all those between seventy-five and seventy-nine per cent. Only in a few cases will soldiers and sailors be entitled to no additional increase beyond the flat increase of twenty-five per cent.

WARNING AGAINST UNDUE OPTIMISM

Excessive Sentimentality Would Diminish Fruits Of Allied Victory

Montreal, Oct. 22.—A warning against excessive sentimentality and optimism in regard to the progress of the war was issued by Hon. James M. Beck, formerly Assistant Attorney-General of the United States, in the course of an address he delivered before the Canadian Club here this afternoon. His subject was: "This is the most fateful hour of the greatest crisis in history," Mr. Beck said. "No one can be too sure of the events of any one day. Only the incurable optimist will regard the war as already won. Indeed, the great danger to the allies lies in excessive optimism on the one hand and on the other that characteristic of democracy—an excessive sentimentality which would diminish the fruits of victory when the great war was won. Against each tendency the allied nations must beware."

DO NOT NEED PASSPORTS. The belief has gained currency during the past few days that women desirous of crossing from Canada to the United States must take out passports in a manner similar to men under the military service act. T. J. Nelson, local G.T.R. representative, is desirous of stating that such is not the case. In some instances passports were issued to women residing close to the border, and working on the other side, in order to facilitate passing the customs officials. Passports are not necessary, however, for women who are merely crossing the border for a visit to the United States.

ENDORSE BY-LAW. At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Equal Franchise Club on Saturday afternoon, the following resolution was passed: "That we are in sympathy with the proposed by-law to buy and store fuel and other necessities for the use of the citizens and that this resolution be sent to the press."

BLIGHTY CORNER AN INTERESTING PLACE IN PARIS

Institution Entertains Colonial Soldiers on Leave From Front

Paris, Oct. 23.—(Correspondence) One place which many American soldiers visit in Paris is the British "Blighty Corner," officially known as the "Foyer du Soldat Anglais." It is conducted by a group of English and American women in a place where Canadian Australians and New Zealand soldiers who cannot go home for their own days leave may find a welcome. It has all the facilities of an up-to-date club, with perhaps a little more of the air of "home" than an ordinary club. Tea is served every afternoon to all comers by the wives of British officers, and there is every afternoon and evening a program of music and entertainment.

"My visit has given me much pleasure," wrote the Prince of Wales in the visitors' book. "Ditto" wrote the Duke of Connaught. On the occasion of the Duke of Connaught's visit the cheers of the Canadian soldiers were so lusty as to offend the guests care of some of the residents of a fashionable hotel in the Place Vendome nearby. They filed a complaint with the police, but the police replied: "They are authorized to make as much noise as they please. The British soldiers were told to make less noise when they blew up the mines at Messines."

Twice a week the men at "Blighty Corner" are taken to visit the old regimental church of St. Martin. An interesting incident occurred this week when a party visited the church of Jeanne d'Arc. The priest presented them with souvenir medals representing Joan of Arc. "But there are only three Catholics among them," he was told. "It does not matter," replied the broad minded priest, "they all serve the same Master and General."

TIME ON ALLIES SIDE Premier Lloyd George Says War Spirit of Potsdam Must Be Destroyed

London, Oct. 22.—Premier Lloyd George and the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Andrew Bonar Law, were the principal speakers at an evening demonstration in Albert Hall this afternoon to inaugurate the Autumn campaign for national economy. The hall was crowded, and the platform were many distinguished men, including the Archbishop of Canterbury, General Smuts, the members of the Cabinet and the allied diplomats. The Premier, who was accorded a tremendous reception, declared that the magnitude of the enthusiasm gathering in the fourth year of the war was the best proof of the determination of this country to prosecute the cost of the war until it was heavy to-day and would be heavy to-morrow. One hundred and twenty thousand workers on war savings committees—a fine army—were doing splendid work, and he thanked them for their labors in connection with the last war loan, which had been most successful, and also in connection with the food economy campaign, which had resulted in a saving in food supplies of from 5 to 10 per cent. "I ask those who are pressing—should there be any—for a premature peace, to reflect for a moment what might happen if we made an unsatisfactory settlement—all the best scientific brains in the lands, stimulated by national rivalry, national hatred, national hopes, devotion, their energies for ten, twenty, thirty years to magnify the destructive powers of these horrible agents, whose power is only just disclosed. We must settle this once for all."

To realize what the advent of America meant, the Premier went on, it was necessary to look back on the rapid growth of the little British army. America was now starting, and its resources in man power were twice those of Britain.

British shipbuilding, said the Premier, has increased fortyfold, and America has done likewise. Germany laughed at the war declarations of China and other nations, but these declarations meant that most of the world's food and raw materials were under the flags of Germany's enemies, which could reduce Germany to impotence and desolation.

Mr. Lloyd George said Germany would make peace now only on terms which would enable her to benefit by the war. He asserted that would be encouragement to every buccannering empire in the future to repeat the experiment.

More than twice as many German submarines were lost in the first ten months of this year as in all of last year, the Premier asserted. He said that the conference meant to determine the ultimate issue of the war. "Must Be Settled Once For All."

The war, said the Premier, was an excessive secretion, accompanied with chronic inflammation of the mucous membrane. He said that the cure meant to destroy the bacteria, to reduce the inflammation, to establish healthy action, and radically cure all cases of catarrh.

ZIMMERMAN PRIZE GOAT OF BASEBALL HISTORY

Heinie Will Never Live Down Bone He Pulled in Decisive Game When He Chased Eddie Collins Across The Plate and Handed White Sox the Series

It will take "Heinie" Zimmerman some years to live down that prize bone he pulled on Eddie Collins in the fourth inning of the sixth world's series game. "Igoe's" account of the play in the New York World shows Heinie up.

"OH, HEINIE—E-E-E-E-E-E!" Poor devil! After having suffered the agonizing hooping and brutal badinage of three monstrous Chicago world's series crowds without any perceptible signs of being rattled, it finally fell to "the Great Zimmerman's" lot, on his OWN lot, to be the promulgator of a $30,000.00 "bone," a witless shortcoming that cheated his teammates of the extra stipend that went to the winners and did much to allow that Chicago spook brigade to march off with all that is highest in baseball.

It was Eddie Collins who forced Zimmerman to perpetuate his name with the most horrible of all world's series "bones," by making the temperamental Dutchman think that this same temperamental Dutchman could outfoot him in a little run-down sprint between third and home. Collins was on third and Jackson on second when Felsch rolled the ball to Benton.

Collins darted for home with the crack of the bat, but when he saw the ball wheel straight into Benton's paws he brought up stark still on the baseline between third and home.

There he stood, the coolest man on the diamond while Benton began to edge closer, undetermined whether to toss to Zimmerman or Rariden as the surest means of killing off the human engine on the bases just where he stood. One would have thought that he was desirous of being served a buffet lunch of chops and julienne potatoes right there on the base line.

The man's nerve was uncanny, but his very unconcern was a guarantee that his brain was turning like a mill wheel. As the ball plopped into Zimmerman's glove, Collins moved toward third as if bent on capitulating in as gentlemanly a manner as possible. He even "registered sheepishness." Bill Rariden was taken into Eddie's confidence, too, for he removed his precious bulk from the vicinity of the plate and mopped up along the line to pin Collins a little tighter, just exactly as Eddie's warring brain had planned. More orders. Collins looked around at Jackson and Felsch again, and seemed to say:

"Joseph, you take up my old position at third here, and Happy, you go right on down to second, while I'll t-turn and make a sudden dash for home!"

That's just the way it happened. With the ball glued to his hand, clod-footed Jim started pell mell in pursuit of one of the fastest base runners alive as he bolted for the plate. He seemed to have Zimmerman notified with the notion that he could "spot" Collins a yard and beat him to the rubber.

On came Collins and likewise came Zimmerman only with much more clatter. Poor Rariden, peep-eyed and open mouthed, stood on the base line, a picture of great expectation, for surely Zimmerman would toss him the ball so that he could out-

Mister Collins. No such notion in Zim's mind. He was going to show up Collins by running him down for an out, unassisted. Poor Boettch Bill had to hop nimbly out of line or the racing pair would have run him down where he stood. On, on they came and Collins slid safely across the plate, winner of the race by a tad two yards. There ended the World's Series of 1917. It was THE "bone of bones," and the great name of Zimmerman was indelibly writ up there with

APLOGIES (By Joe Vila, New York Sun)

Heinie Zimmerman, who has been boiled in oil since Monday, when he vainly tried to outrun Eddie Collins in the final game of the world's series, came down from The Bronx yesterday to see the New York club officials on a matter of business. When I ran across Zim at the Fifth Avenue building he was hobnobbing with Ferdinand Schupp, the Giants' young southpaw, who whitewashed the Chicago White Sox in the fourth combat at the Polo Grounds last Thursday.

"I'll take all the blame," said Zim manfully. "When I started after Collins I thought I could outrun him. That was why I didn't throw the ball to Rariden, who stood on the base line. After I had passed Rariden I suddenly realized that Collins was too fast for me, but I kept on chasing him because the plate was uncovered."

"I made a big mistake when I didn't throw to Rariden in the first place, but I didn't believe that Collins could run so fast. It was bad judgment on my part and I intend to take my medicine without grumbling. No, I wasn't a bit annoyed by the treatment I received in Chicago. That was all in the game, and the fans had a perfect right to boo and hoot at me. I simply played ball to the best of my ability and nobody feels worse over our defeat."

"We really lost the championship in Chicago on Saturday when we fell down behind Salles, Robertson's failure to catch Gandil's fly, which scored two runs, was the turning point. But I am not trying to excuse myself for the wild throw in the 8th inning which cost a run. I didn't play my best game either in batting or fielding, and I cannot forgive myself."

I asked Schupp to explain why he lost his effectiveness in the second inning of the second game in Chicago which resulted in his withdrawal from the box.

"I started off with plenty of stuff," replied the Louisville kid, "and the Sox were easy for me in the first inning. But when I began pitching in the second inning I tried to put too much on the ball. In that way I lost my curve and also control. It was most unfortunate for I should have won that game as easily as the 4th, when the Sox were shut out."

"I still believe that the Giants were stronger than the Sox. We showed our real form in the two games in which the Sox were whitewashed at the Polo Grounds. But in the other games everything went against us and costly mistakes lost the title."

All of the Giants have accepted their defeat gracefully. They have not attempted to belittle their antagonists. Manager McGraw who still was in town yesterday, had nothing to say.

LARDNER O. T. LOAN.

Washington, Oct. 22.—In an effort to aid the second Liberty Loan campaign, Ring W. Lardner has written one of his characteristic "Jack" letters for publication through the Publicity Bureau of the Loan Division of the United States Treasury Department.

The letter, which was given out by the Treasury Department to-night, tells how "Jack," the Bush League baseball player made famous by Lardner, has received his money out of the World's Series and found a place to put it. He has written his old friend "Al, down at Bedford, Ind.," all about it, as follows:

Chl., Oct. 18.

Friend Al: Well, old pal, I guess you seen by this time what we done to the N.Y. City Giants in the big series, and McGraw got just what was coming to him, and I should think he ought to know better by this time than try and win a big series with left hand pitchers that are just about as reliable as a baseball reporter or something. I suppose you and the rest of the boys have been wondering why didn't Rowland stick me in there, and I will tell you why, Al. The last two games my arm was so sore I couldn't even raise it up to leather my face let alone shave and of course I couldn't pitch in that condition, and then he got down to N.Y. and I set Rowland would he pitch me and he says, No we got them 2 games to 0 now and I want to show them up and win 4 strate without using my best men.

But our club played like a high school those 2 games and Benton and Shup win the 2 games, the lucky left hand stuff, so then Rowland was afraid we was going to have to play all 7 games and the 7th game would decide the serious so he was saving his ace for the 7th game and of course we didn't have to play it so I got no chance to work. That's how it was Al and I guess Herzog and Zimmerman and Kauff and them was ticked to death. I wasn't in there though the rottenest pitcher in the world could make them look like a rummy because they strike at a ball if you throw it to 1st base.

Well, Al would be home this time only we haven't split up the money yet but we are going to put my share where they can't nobody take it way from me but I can get it back whenever I want it and draw 4 per cent. int. all the while. At 1st I was going to invest in some kind of business and stay right in New York. I spoke to Kid Gleason and he says, what do you know about business, you big busher and the 1st thing you know you want enough money left to buy a haircut for a billiard ball. So I ask him where would he invest it if he was I. so he says put it the same place I am going to put mine, in Liberty bonds. So that is what I am going to do with the $5,000 I got coming Al. And I will buy $1,000 bonds and 6 $100 bonds and that will give me something on the side for a rainy day besides $144 dollars per annum int. and no chance to loose out. And besides Al I kind of feel like as if I ought to lose my money to the government on account of not being able to go over there and fight myself on account of having 2 dependibles, Florrie and the kid.

They isn't nothing I would like better than get right into the training camp of the Sox. I know you can't plunge in there like I but you're a sucker if you don't take advantage of this chance and be helping your country at 1 and the same time especially when you might enlist in the army and be over there yourself because Bertha could support herself making dresses or something and you got no kids tying you down like I and Florrie.

Think this over Al and tell the boys I will be home Saturday night and if they want to give me a little feed all O.K. but no speeches.

Your pal Jack.

Directions for Employers Who Purpose Claiming Exemption for Class One Men in Their Employ

THE following course is recommended for employers who have in their employ any number of men—bachelors and widowers without children (not otherwise excepted) who were 20 years old on the 13th October, 1917, and whose 34th birthday did not occur before Jan. 1st, 1917, and who propose claiming exemption for any of these men, to continue in work which is deemed to be in the National interest:

First, it will simplify matters for you and for the exemption tribunals if you instruct Class One men in your employ to go up for medical examination at the nearest Medical Board Centre.

Only Class One men, who upon medical examination are placed in Category A are liable for immediate service under the Act. Class One men placed in Categories B, C or E, satisfy immediate requirements if they attach their medical report to their claim for exemption.

Employer's Statement and Schedule

Second, prepare a full statement of the total number of your employes grouping them according to their respective occupations and qualifications and stating the number in each group. Indicate the possibility or otherwise of replacing the labour of Class One men with the labour of those unavailable for military service, or outside the statutory class called up; the extent to which the withdrawal of men in the statutory class would affect the business, the reason for considering that the carrying on of the business is in the National interest, and such other facts and circumstances as may appear to be relevant.

Append to this general statement and classification, a schedule of the names, ages and occupations of all men in Class One, indicating as to those who have been medically examined, the medical Category in which they have been placed, noting against each name whether or not you propose to claim exemption on behalf of the man.

Where exemption is claimed employer should state his opinion whether such exemption should be conditional on the man's continuing to follow his present occupation and whether it would suffice if exemption were granted for one, two or more months, as the case may be.

A copy of both statement and schedule should be prepared for each man for whom the employer is applying for exemption.

Forms for Exemption

These forms may be obtained on request from any Post Master, who will transmit the forms when filled in, to the Registrar.

Claims for exemption must be made not later than November 10th.

MCGRAW PREPARES GIANT SHAKE-UP

"Jeff" Tesreau and "Red" Murray, Robertson and Lobert to Go

New York, Oct. 22.—The management of the Giants is trying to forget baseball after the recent world's series headache. But it is safe to say that some of the old faces will be missing from the squad that reports to McGraw in March next.

It is almost a certainty that the veterans, Hans Lobert and Jack Murray, will be given their unconditional releases. They can claim this distinction because both have served in the majors more than ten years. In fact, Murray has twice been given his unconditional release, once by the Giants and once by the Cubs.

Murray was secured from Toronto

this season. He got his unconditional release from the champions of the International League with the avowed intention of managing a minor league team. There was a slip-up and McGraw took him as spare outfielder. Murray did practically nothing to assist in winning the pennant.

It is unlikely that "Dave" Robertson will be with the Giants in 1918. He will be in the army, in all probability, despite the fact that he has claimed exemption, but whether or not he dons the army uniform those of the inside insist Davey is not likely to remain in New York. It is said the management has soured upon him for his indifferent work both in the world's series and throughout the championship race. McGraw is in need of good right-handers. If Al Mamaux can be secured for Davey, there is little doubt the transfer would be made.

Another Giant who may not be seen here next year is Jeff Tesreau, the burly spitball artist, who fell down last season, being unable to finish a majority of his games. An apparently authenticated rumor says that McGraw is willing to turn over Tesreau and Robertson to Pittsburg for Mamaux. To take the place of Robertson, McGraw has a nifty-looking outfielder in Young, from the Rochester team, who performed well in his initial try-out, and gives promise of developing. Smith, the Columbia twirler, is slated to succeed Tesreau.

A Bowl of Soup and a Slice of Bread
HOW many of us grumble at the burden of planning three meals a day, day after day? How much more simple it is in Belgium, where most of the inhabitants stand in line for a few hours to get a bowl of soup and a slice of bread—the entire day's ration.
Imagine any little child you know trying to grow on such a pittance. Naturally the poor little Belgian children are breaking down. Tuberculosis, rickets and kindred ills are the common lot. As far as funds will permit these children are taken to Holland to recuperate under proper feeding and care. But funds are so low they cannot be kept longer than 6 weeks, and more than 15,000 children are waiting for this much. Generous contributions (marked for the Belgian Children's Health Fund) will enable the Dutch authorities, who have replaced the American Committee, to carry on this vital work successfully.
Then the orphans! Think of the thousands whose fathers have fallen in battle, are still fighting, or have been taken away into German bondage. Living in the midst of plenty, will you deny these orphans must be fed and clothed and educated? Yet this work, too, must depend largely on charity. Mark your contributions for the Belgian Orphans' Fund.
As you plan your own meals, remember Belgium's "Bowl of Soup and a Slice of Bread" and HELP until you feel the pinch. It's a debt we owe to Belgium.
Your contribution will go entire through the Belgian Minister of the Interior (in Le Havre, France) to Dutch authorities, who administer the relief work under the approval of the British and Dutch Governments, and Mr. Hoover's Committee.

CANADIANS GIVE STERLING SERVICE
Efforts of Troops From the Dominion Not Confined to Lens Fighting

By Courier Leased Wire
Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 22.—The following article contributed by Rowland Hill from war correspondents headquarters in France, is issued by the Military department:
"Canada's part in the war is not confined by any means to the splendid troops under General Currie, now beleaguering Lens. There are scores of officers and men in various imperial services fitting effectively the British machine. In scores of places one would never suspect there are Canadian battalions—their numbers now are legion—which in the aggregate easily make up a large force. Smart to young Canadians are naval officers in every port that feeds the front, keeping to the traditions of the British navy. Then too, thousands of the flying men, in both services their range perhaps the greatest of all, some time eyes of the grand fleet itself, and on this western front a majority in many squadrons.
"To-day the colonel of Canadian railroads invited me to accompany him to an exhibition he was giving to French, Belgian and British engineers. He walked along a new main military line built with rails from Canada's government railways. The ties had been cut in a miniature Canadian saw mill not many miles south in woods when the Kaiser's shells rained early in the war. Out in the large yard there was a big steam shovel eating away the side of the hill, filling a truck a minute—the Belgian officer timed the great engine to go forward with the light railway crews, Canadians there too, were ballasting new lines. Fritz's airmen spotted it one day and ferreted afterwards his artillery searched them, wasting hundreds of rounds of ammunition. The Germans thought it was some new method of construction. It used to work on a Canadian Pacific grade in Northern Ontario.
"When the Huns broke back along the coast, they left various bits of tangled machinery. The Canadian colonel gathered these up and commanded a big railway truck and built a track layer in his own blacksmith's shop.
"At railroad there is a young Canadian railway transport officer who used to be train dispatcher at a little place on the prairie. In the next yard another officer (in Canada he was general manager of a great electric railway company) is quartermaster for railway stores.
"On the great port away back, was in the stevedoring business on the Pacific coast. Under his command were more transporters and cranes than Vancouver and Victoria combined will ever see for years. In the dock was a tramp straight from his home on the Pacific coast.
"A colonel from Nova Scotia with his labor battalion, men from all parts of the Dominion who knew the tangled web of the railroads, and the rails. At another dock, I found a colonel, an Ontario member of parliament, handling a brigade of Chinese coolies piling lumber and even the native interpreter claimed Canadian association—with saw mills on Fabre Creek."

LABOR MEMBER NOT YET ELECTED
When Mr. A. K. McLean Joins Cabinet Only One Portfolio Vacant

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—Hon. A. K. McLean is expected to become a member of the Borden Government to-day. He will not be assigned a particular department for some time, but will become chairman of one of the important Cabinet committees forecasted in the Prime Minister's manifesto. It is probable that Mr. McLean will head the committee which will consider the domestic problems arising out of the war.
With the inclusion of Mr. McLean, territorial and party representation in the Cabinet will have been completed, and there remains but the labor representation to provide. Senator Robertson represents the railway unions, and the Department of Labor will probably be given a representative from the other classes of labor. There is a possibility that there may not be a change in this department until after the election.
While the Government has decided to hold the election before Christmas, there has been no official announcement regarding the date of nomination. It is believed, however, that December 17th will be election day, with nomination 28 days previous. Sir Robert Borden has made no definite plan for the campaign, but will hold a series of meetings in Eastern Canada, and will probably visit the four Western provinces.
It is understood that a number of Senatorial appointments were made to-day. The vacancies are ten in number, nine in the West and one in Ontario. Among the probable appointments in the West are Dr. Schaffner and George Bradbury, members of the late parliament, and W. B. Willoughby and B. Michener, Opposition leaders in Saskatchewan and Alberta.

"I was actually on the verge of a nervous breakdown when I started on Tanlac, and it has not only restored my health but has added ten pounds to my weight," declared Mrs. John Pitman, wife of an employee of the Hobbs Manufacturing Co., Ltd. and living at 143 Bruce St., London, the other day.
"My health began to fall seven years ago," she continued, "and I suffered terribly from nervous indigestion. For over a year I could hardly retain anything I ate and most of the time lived on a diet of malted milk and eggs; anything else made me sick so I couldn't keep it down, and I was slowly starving to death. My nerves were in such a wretched state that whenever the door bell rang it frightened me so I had it removed, and many a night I was so nervous that I would walk the floor till my feet ached. I got worse in spite of everything and became too weak to do a thing about the house, and I got to the point where I didn't know which way to turn.
"By the time I had used up half my first bottle of Tanlac, I felt so much better that I threw away all the other medicines I had in the house. I have stuck to Tanlac ever since, and my appetite has improved, so I can eat most anything I want—meats and pastry and all sorts I had to shun, and I am taking on flesh right along. My nerves are quiet again, I sleep like a baby and get up in the morning fresh and strong and able to do all my household work. I am feeling better than I have in years and am so grateful for what Tanlac has done for me that I feel it my duty to tell everybody about it."
Tanlac is sold in Brantford by Milton H. Robertson and Co., Ltd., in Paris by Apps Limited, and in Mt. Vernon by A. Voemans and in Middleport by William Peddie.

CUBAN WOOD FOR SPAIN
Havana, Oct. 23.—(Associated Press)—The fuel shortage in Spain, brought about by the restrictions on coal exportation imposed by the United States and Allied governments which formerly supplied that country's demands, has opened up a new industry for Cuba the export of wood for fuel purposes to the Spanish peninsula.
Recently a small sailing vessel was purchased by Spanish interests and is being overhauled preparatory to being placed in this new export trade, while efforts are being made to obtain other vessels for the same purpose.

FIRE IN HASTINGS
By Courier Leased Wire
Hastings, Ont., Oct. 23.—The plant of the Hastings tanning company was completely destroyed by a fire which started about 3.30 this morning. On account of the oils, etc. there was no chance for the firemen to do anything but save the surrounding buildings. The head offices of the company is in Kitchener, Ont., and the company is controlled by the Breithaupt Tanning Company of Kitchener. The loss is estimated at about two hundred thousand dollars, mostly in finished leather. About 100 men are thrown out of employment.

IN-DOOR WORK BEST FOR CITY-T.B.'S
General Exodus of Tuberculous Soldiers to the Farms Opposed

Contrary to the general belief that salvation for the soldier who returns from the front tuberculous lies only in outdoor work, the medical officers of the Military Hospitals Committee western sanatoria in conference at Ottawa, declared themselves convinced that the man fared best in the majority of cases who returned to his old work when the disease had been arrested.
Life on a farm or ranch in the prairie provinces, they believe, is much too strenuous for a man released from a sanatorium. The work is too heavy, and sanitation on a farm is often far from good.
To return to his old occupation, they believe, is the best course, provided it is not a factory filled with dust, or a place obviously unfit for him to stay. In this way his previous knowledge is utilized and he stands a much better chance of making a good living than he would in some new work.
No Specified Exercises
The question of exercise in the sanatoria for T. B. patients was also discussed by the meeting, and the conclusion reached that the matter had better be left to the M. O.'s individually, each man to be treated as he saw fit.
Provision for the care of non-tuberculous pulmonary cases. It was suggested should be made in the established sanatoria until special country convalescent homes can be established for such cases. Out-door treatment facilities are necessary for these men.
The M. O.'s recommended that undergraduate medical students in the sanatoria be sought to help in the work.

Music and Drama

With a rollicking beauty chorus good comedians, lively dancing, the Boulevard Belles are presenting an attractive miniature musical comedy at the Rex Theatre for the first part of the week, under the caption, Senator Goldberg. The story is light and entertaining and develops many complications when the husband and wife taking the advice of their servants, endeavour to discover whether the husband is really bright or not. The picture is an excellent programme.
THE BRANT.
Wallace Reid, second perhaps to none upon the screen in popularity, is seen at the Rex Theatre for the first time in his latest Lasky production, "The Hostage," a powerful war drama of tense interest throughout. With the entry of the U. S. into the war, an influx of war pictures upon the screen may be expected, but unless of sterling calibre, few will surpass in point of interest or of dramatic opportunity, "The Hostage." "Oh, Doctor," is the latest fun making vehicle Fatty, alias Roscoe, Arbuckle, and the obese comedian has never exerted

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning
Wash away all the stomach, liver, and bowel poisons, before breakfast.

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath, or dull your head, no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do, says a well known physician.
To keep the poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will fire the alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.
Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant. Drink phosphated hot water very morning to rid your system of these vile poisons, and also to prevent their formation.
To feel like young folks feel; let your felt before your blood, nerves and muscles become saturated with an accumulation of body poisons before this treatment, and above all keep it up! As soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and purifying, so limestone phosphate and hot water before breakfast, act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

 It was enough for him to watch her covertly and to picture to himself the delights of the coming journey when he would have her to himself. The fever in Ralph's veins, all unknown to him, was making a dangerously rapid headway.
 Already the mere thought of this journey was enough to set his heart beating fast.
 As they were making a landing in the dusk, every one else being occupied at the moment, Ralph suddenly found her at his elbow, saying sweetly:
 "You sleep with the men in the bunk-house to-night. I make out I sleep here."
 "I won't leave you alone," Ralph began heatedly. "Last night—"
 She calmly interrupted him.
 "I not stay here truly," she said. "Soon as everybody goes I walk to my camp at Hat Lake. It is six miles. You come over there early. Soon as it get light. The tote road shows you the way."
 Some one turned in their direction and she was gone.
 Ralph was, as a matter of course, invited to sup with Mixer and Staley and to spend the night in their bunk house. After having turned in with Joe and the others he was awakened in the middle of the night by hearing the fat man come in and fling himself with muttered curses into a bunk across the room.
 When daylight whitened the window panes he awoke automatically, which is to say at three o'clock in June at that latitude. The others were sleeping like vocal logs. Just over the threshold of the stuffy sleeping-place morning was waiting for him, a miracle of refreshment.
 He inhaled its chill sweetness as if his lungs were for the first time washed with fresh air and looked about him with the curiosity of the traveller who has arrived in the dark.
 Where he stood men's axes had made a hideous little scar on the prospect, and he turned his back on the shacks and the stumps to gaze at the unalterable river. In the half light the brown flood and the hills opposite had a secret look, a finger on the lips that hushed him from making any noise. It seemed like the earliest morning of earth.
 Dressing, and taking his bag and blankets, he started to climb with a light heart. Was he not going to her?
 "This is where the fun really begins," he told himself. The tote road rose in plain view behind the shack. Half-way up the incline Ralph was startled to come upon an Indian youth squatting beside the trail as still as an image—so still that Ralph was upon him before he realized he was a part of the landscape.
 It was a surprising object to find in a world that you were feeling was all your own.
 The boy was gaily attired in an embroidered velvet waistcoat, a clean gingham shirt, a red sash, buckskin trousers and fancy moccasins.
 On his head was an expensive felt hat with flaring, stiff brim. He was a handsome, well-set-up youth of about nineteen, with a face as blank as a piece of paper. A good-sized pack lay on the ground beside him.
 "Hello, there!" cried Ralph in his surprise.
 The Indian rose and, without uttering a word, he took a step forward, extended a hand. "How?" he said. "You're up early," said Ralph. "What are you doing here?"
 He pulled his ear and shook his head to convey to Ralph that his speech was wasted on him. In unmistakable signs he then let it be known that he was waiting for Ralph, and that Ralph was to follow him.
 "Waiting for me?" said Ralph.

"Who the deuce are you?"
 The boy said something in his own tongue which Ralph understood one word, Nahnya. It explained the Indian, but it filled Ralph with a great disquiet.
 Without waiting for more, the Indian shouldered his pack and set off up the trail at a brisk pace. Ralph followed as best he could. The Indian had dashed his delight in the morning.
 There was no room for a third identity in his dreams of the journey that was to be. Ralph made but heavy going. The bulk of his bundles accommodated him more than the weight.
 He had the roll of blankets under one arm and the dunnage-bag under the other. The Indian never looked behind to see how he fared. Reaching the top of the hill, he immediately fell into the rolling rack to which white men's hips accommodate themselves only after practice.
 The boy's complete indifference to his struggles did not improve Ralph's temper.
 After a mile of it, panting, perspiring, and with breaking arms, he flung his bundles on the ground and commanded the Indian to stop. The boy came back with a slightly contemptuous air and, putting off his own pack, waited indifferently, looking everywhere but at Ralph.
 Ralph swore at him out of his heartfelt exasperation, and the boy brightened a little. Evidently this was something he knew. Ralph with forcible gestures made him understand that he was to show him how to pack the stuff in the proper way on his back.
 It was the longest six miles Ralph ever travelled, nor had he any eye for the beauties of the way. To be obliged to exert himself so strenuously before breakfast caused him to feel as if the walls of his stomach had collapsed, and put him in a grinding temper.
 At the end of two hours the suspicion of a welcome sang on the lips of a well-to-do man who had caused Ralph to throw up his head and sniff. "Bacon, by gad!" he cried aloud.
 They turned the spur of a knoll and saw lying before them an exquisite little stretch of water, gleaming like an opal under the pale sky.
 Along its margin reached a narrow meadow of rich green where a little fire burned, sending a column of this smoke straight aloft, and beside the fire was Nahnya. She turned a quick face at the sound of their footsteps.
 The sight of her compelled Ralph to forget his hungry ill-temper. Nahnya was transformed. The deplorable hat, the awkward trade clothes, and the ill-fitting shoes were discarded.
 She was wearing a blue flannel shirt open at the throat and with the sleeves turned up, revealing a pair of poetic forearms, a buckskin skirt, and moccasins of white doekin, silk embroidered. Thus garbed, she was suitable to her background of woods and water as one of the wild swans up the lake.
 Ralph, gazing at her with glad eyes, felt triumphantly justified. "I know she could look like this," he thought.
 But her beauty was still self-contained. She shook hands as a matter of ceremony without giving Ralph a glance.
 "What's the matter now?" he wondered with a sinking heart.
 The grass of them breakfasted in the three. The food was good, but Nahnya's spirits were flat. He had supposed that, relieved of the presence of Joe Mixer and the others, she would begin to unbend with him. Apparently she had no such intention.
 Then there was the boy. The horrid suspicion grew in Ralph's mind that the boy was going with them. The boy was going with them. The boy was going with them. The boy was going with them.

Good Night Stories
 DICKY'S FIRST VISIT FROM JACK FROST.
 One morning Dicky awakened bright and early and looked out the window.
 "Oh, dear!" he cried, for the ground was covered with snow. "Now we can't go out to gather nuts to-day and Uncle Ned will be watching me."
 A little snowflake sailed to the window. It looked just like a great big white ball with silvery sails flapping in the wind. Jack Frost, carrying palette and brushes, hopped out and began painting Dicky's window pane.
 Dicky held his breath for fear if Jack Frost saw him he'd fly away. Finally Jack Frost looked up and nodded at Dicky.
 "Hello, Dicky. I'm Jack Frost from the land of snow. How do you like the pattern I'm painting on your window?"
 "Well, I've often wondered how you paint all the windows, but I see now—with long icicles for brushes." Dicky laughed. "I've seen you painting the window pane of the last spray of a fern leaf and wipe his brushes off."
 Dicky asked him where he was going and if he could go, too. Jack Frost, always ready to have company, told Dicky to come along.
 Of its own accord, the window swung open and then—would you believe it?—Dicky found himself out on the window sill no larger than Jack himself!
 They climbed into the snowflake boat and old North Wind whisked them away.
 They hadn't travelled far when they heard a soft sobbing sound coming from the meadow, and they stopped to see what it was. There sat a little flower fairy shivering with the cold. Dicky began pulling off his coat to wrap around her, but Jack Frost stopped him, and called to old North Wind. Before very long a soft downy blanket was gently spread over the little flower fairy and happily she fell asleep.
 "Now we can go on," said Jack Frost, and once more old North Wind sailed them into the meadow.
 "Catch me, catch me, or I'll fall and be lost!" cried a voice from a branch of a tree.
 Dicky looked up, but all he could see was a thin drop of water hanging to the branch.
 Jack Frost steered his boat over and touched the water drop with his magic brushes and it froze to the limb.
 "Oh, thank you!" cried the water drop joyfully. "I'd have fallen if it hadn't been for you."
 "You certainly are kind," exclaimed Dicky. "I always picture Jack Frost as a terrible creature who was just waiting to nip off little boys' noses or freeze their toes."
 Jack Frost laughed. "I'm not like that at all. I'm just a friendly fellow. Well, I do bear the name of being cold, but I always try to help those in trouble all I can. We'd better hurry or we'll never reach the Land of Snow," laughed Jack Frost, but just as he spoke the old sun peeped from behind a cloud, and before Dicky knew what was happening the snowflake boat had melted under him. Jack Frost disappeared, and Dicky grabbed a cloud to keep from falling.
 When Dicky opened his eyes he was hugging his pillow.
 The beautiful pattern Jack Frost had painted on his window was melting in the warm rays of the sun.
 "I do wish the sun had stayed away a little longer. I might have seen what the Land of Snow looked like. But I'm glad the snow part was a dream, for it's a lovely day and Uncle Ned and I can gather nuts after all," laughed Dicky, and he quickly dressed and went down to breakfast, where Uncle Ned was waiting for him.

LADY'S SKIRT.
 By Anabel Worthington.
 Serge, shepherd check or gabardine will be the most satisfactory materials to choose from for this skirt. It is one of those skirts which is becoming to practically every type of figure, because it has simple, straight lines. The back of the skirt is gathered at the waist line, but the front shows a novel treatment in the group of plaits. There is an inverted plait at the centre front, with a plait on each side of it. Every skirt has its pockets this season, so this skirt is supplied with two, which are out in an odd shape.
 The skirt pattern, No. 8458, is cut in sizes 24 to 30 inches waist measure. Width at the lower edge is 2 1/2 yards. The 24-inch size requires 3 3/4 yards 80 inch material.
 To obtain this pattern send 15 cents to The Courier, Brantford. Any extra charges will be added.

 BY RUTH WATSON CAMERON
 THAT LITTLE SARCASTIC SMILE.
 "There's nothing in the world my husband ever says to me," a wife once told me, "that I mind so much as a little sarcastic smile that he sometimes smiles."
 Do you recognize that smile,—husbands and wives.
 I fancy a great many of you will find it is a smile much smiled between husbands and wives.
 It is a little fleeting contraction of the lips gone almost as soon as it comes. One of those smiles that doesn't touch the eyes at all. The person who smiles it is not always conscious that he is smiling at all. He just thinks a thought and that thought reflects itself on his lips.
 He May Be Smiling That Way All The Time.
 I once knew a husband who rebuked his wife for smiling that way when she was miffed at him, and behold she had long been secretly enraged at that very habit in him. I have often tried to analyze the thought for the husband or wife who reads this and says "Isn't that just like Mabel?" or "I've seen Henry smile that way hundreds of times."
 I have often tried to analyze the thought for the husband or wife who reads this and says "Isn't that just like Mabel?" or "I've seen Henry smile that way hundreds of times."
 In the first place it is such a superior smile. It seems to say, "There are lots of things I could say to you if you were capable of understanding, but you are not."
 And then it's such a baffling smile. If they only said something you could answer them, you can't answer a thought. You have a baffled, ghost-lighting feeling.
 And of course the worst thing about it is the faintest possibility behind it. It might mean so many things and you probably imagine far more disagreeable things than it really does mean.
 Sarcasm is always disagreeable but particularly so when it mixes itself up with smiles.
 Sarcasm Smiles Much Worse Than It Looks.
 Anything lovely in itself distorted from its natural use is more ugly than an ugly thing. A maniacs laugh is more hideous than his shriek. A depraved woman "I'm not sure that women are really any better than men but they somehow seem to stand for goodness in our minds" is the most desolate thing in the world. And a sarcastic smile is a great deal worse than a frown.
 You will probably never realize how hideous a thing your own sarcastic smile is because that isn't the kind of a face we make when we look into mirrors. But the next time you see someone else smile that way remember that you look just as hideous as they and guard your lips. Or better still your heart.

COUNTY OBJECTIVE FOR BRITISH RED CROSS IS $25,000
 Four Day's Campaign Will Be Conducted in City Nov. 7-10.
 Twenty-five thousand dollars has been set as the objective for Brantford and Brant county's contribution toward the British Red Cross Fund, in the campaign that will be held here from November 7th to 10th inclusive. This much was agreed upon at a preliminary organization meeting held in the Public Library yesterday afternoon, at which representative men and prominent members of the various women's patriotic organizations of the city were in attendance. The initial organization was suggested as an objective, but a compromise was decided upon and the aim will be $25,000. Of this amount the County Council has granted $7,000, and the Brantford Township Council $500, while the City Council have yet to pass a resolution.
 The problem, thought Chairman Frank Cockshutt, was to reach the mass of the people, many of whom were overlooked in previous campaigns, and the suggestion was offered by W. O. Raymond that the campaign be opened with a public mass meeting, followed by a household-by-household distribution of literature explanatory of the purposes and work of the British Red Cross. In these circulars would be later collected by responsible persons. The specific methods to be adopted will be decided upon at a future meeting.
 Assistance was promised by the G.W.V.A., the Rotary Club, women's organizations, and the A. R. Club. It yet remains undecided whether a tag day will be conducted on account of the inclement weather.
 Those present at yesterday's meeting were Messrs. Frank Cockshutt, H. W. Watt, Mayor Bowby, W. G. Raymond, School Inspector E. E. C. Kilmer and several principals of the Public Schools, Rev. G. A. Woodside, Rev. J. B. Fotheringham, E. L. Gould, W. B. Preston and Messdames W. C. Livingston, W. S. Brewster, M. A. Colquhoun and others.

 BY WALT MASON.
 GOING OUT.
 In this fair world in which we dwell no man's so greatly needed that when they toll his passing bell his going is much heeded. To-day we see a shining guy of whom the world is talking, and we remark, "If he should die 't would set the planet rocking." Oh, it would jolt this country hard, to lose this human pattern; the solar system would be jarred from Jupiter to Saturn. And then this man of mighty brains is taken with the colic, and fifty seven kinds of pains around his inwards trollic. The doctors round his couch have swarmed as thick as they were able, and in the end we are informed that he has slipped his cable. The great man's dead! And still the sun its daily bonfire raises, and still the stars when day is done, come forth and shine like blazes. The government wags on the same, dissatisfaction giving, and men pursue the same old game they played when he was living. The fame he worked so long to build has vanished, as enchanted, the great man's place is promptly filled, the great man's dead and planted.

POLES STARVING.
 By Courier Leased Wire
 New York, Oct. 22.—A cablegram reaching here to-day from the American legation at Copenhagen, through the State department, says hundreds of persons are literally starving to death in the streets of Warsaw and other cities of Poland and Lithuania. The provisional executive committee for General Zieniec affairs, which received the message, announced it would place the situation before President Wilson.

Fitzsimmons Defeated Five Men in one Night

Ruby Robert, Who Died in Chicago Yesterday, Was One of the Greatest Pugilists Who Ever Lived

Bob Fitzsimmons, the once heavyweight champion of the world, is dead in Chicago. Bob was born in Cornwall, England, on May 26, 1863. When he competed for the heavyweight championship his height was 5 feet 11 1/2 inches and his weight 165 pounds.

He went to Australia when a boy and built up a wonderful physique as a blacksmith. He made his first ring appearance at Timara N.Z., at Jim Mace's tournament in 1880, at which he defeated four men and won the amateur championship of New Zealand. In 1881 Bob entered the same place and beat five men in one night among them the great Maori, Herbert Slade.

Among his other performances in Australia which are not dated and which he won in one night were: Bill Slavin, seven rounds; Starlight nine rounds; Arthur Cooper three rounds; Jack Riddle four rounds; Dick Sandow four rounds; Conway two rounds; Prof. West, one round; Frank, two rounds; Jack Riddle four rounds, and Eager two rounds.

In 1889 he won from Dick Ellis in two rounds and in 1890 knocked out Arthur Upham in five rounds and won from Billy McCarthy in nine rounds. He lost to Jim Hall in four rounds. This was the year he came to America.

In 1891 he won the middleweight title from Jack Dempsey in thirteen rounds via the knockout route. In the same year he knocked out Abe Douglas in two rounds and won from Black Pearl in four rounds.

In 1892 he knocked out Jim Far-mer in two rounds, Joe Godfrey in one round, Jerry Slatery in two rounds and Millard Zender in one round. He won from Peter Maher in two rounds.

In 1893, on March 8, he met Jim Hall, who had beaten him in 1890, and this was the largest purse he ever fought for it being $40,000 but Bob only received part of the money. He took part in three other engagements that year and won them all by the knockout, disposing of Phil Mayer in one round, Jack Warner in one, and Jack Hickley in three rounds.

He took part in three fights in 1894, beating Joe Choyinski on June 27 at Boston in five rounds, knocking out Frank Kellar at Buffalo on June 28 in two rounds, and repeated Dan Creedon at New Orleans in two rounds. On August 15, 1893, he knocked out Al. Allish at New York.

In three rounds: This was his only fight that year.

In 1896 he had three engagements two of them being with Peter Maher. He knocked out Peter Maher in one round at Langtry, Texas on February 21, and eight days after met Maher in New York in a no-decision three-round bout. On December 2, at San Francisco he lost to Tom Sharkey on a foul in the eighth round.

Won Heavyweight Title

In 1897 he won the heavyweight championship of the world when he knocked out Jim Corbett in the fourteenth round on March 17 at Carson City. The year following he lost the title to Jim Jeffries at Coney Island by a knockout in the seventh round on June 9. In the same year he knocked out Jim Thorne at Chicago in the first round on October 23.

He took part in five engagements in 1890 and won them all by the knockout. On March 27 he disposed of Jim Daly at Philadelphia in one round and on April 30 at Brooklyn beat Ed. Dunthorpe in two rounds. On August 10 he knocked out Gust Ruhlin at New York in the sixth round and on August 24 knocked out Tom Sharkey at Coney Island in the second round. He did not fight in 1901.

On July 25, 1902, at San Francisco he was knocked out by Jim Jeffries in the eighth round.

In 1903 his first engagement was on September 30, when he knocked out Con Couchlin in the first round. On October 1 he boxed a no-decision six-round bout with Joe Grimm at Philadelphia while on November 25 he won the light-heavyweight title from George Gardner at San Francisco the bout going twenty rounds.

On July 23, 1904, he boxed a six-round no-decision contest with Philadelphia's Jack O'Brien at Philadelphia and on December 20, the year following was knocked out in the thirteenth round by Philadelphia's Jack O'Brien at San Francisco.

He did not take part in any contests in 1906, but in 1907 boxed a four-round exhibition with Tom Ross at Newcastle, Pa. On March 7, at Sydney was knocked out by Bill Loney in the twelfth round.

His last bout was on January 29, 1914 when he boxed K. O. Swann six rounds to no decision at Williamsport, Pa.

RELIGION A COMFORT TO RISH SOLDIERS

Men Draw a Marked Fortitude from Their Faith, Wrote Major Redmond

Dublin, Oct. 23.—(Correspondence)—The solace and comfort which the Irish soldier gathers from his religion, is one of the phases of front-line life, frequently touched upon by the late Major William Redmond in his letters home, some of which Mr. Redmond has collected in a memorial volume. In one of these given to the Associated Press, the popular Irish writer wrote, shortly before his death:

"The fortitude the men seem to draw from their faith is great and marked. The man who has been with his chaplain and who has prepared himself by the sacraments is ready for any fate, and shows it in his very demeanor. Often the writer has heard officers declare their pleasure at the devotion of the men to their religion, and frequently those officers themselves.

In another letter, Major Redmond writes of the work of the French "With all the evil that has followed in its train, it is good to find at least one of the beneficial results of the war. It has led to the revival of religion in a most remarkable way.

"As to this, practically everyone is agreed, and it is apparent in a hundred directions. Perhaps the revival is most marked of all in France, and there it is attributable in no little degree to the splendid record of the French priests in the army.

"To many people, it seemed a wrong thing that the ministers of the Prince of Peace should be called upon to take up arms and play a part in the terrible work of bloodshed and slaughter which has converted so large a portion of Europe into a veritable shambles. What seemed wrong, and what from some points of view was wrong no doubt, has in the result turned out a blessing.

The spectacle of thousands of priests marching and fighting for the country and the flag has touched deeply the heart of France, and many of the men who were perhaps ready to bed and in the morning your head is clear, tongue is clean, stomach sweet, breath tight and cold gone. Get a box from your druggist and enjoy the pleasant, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. Cascarets stop sick headache, biliousness, indigestion, bad breath and constipation.

Mothers should give a whole Cascaret to cross, bilious, sick, feverish children any time. They are harmless and never gripe or sicken.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN HOMESTEAD WEST LAND REGULATIONS

The sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, who was at the commencement of the present war, and has since continued to be a British subject or a subject of an allied or neutral country, may acquire a quarter-section of available Dominion Land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. Applicant must reside in person at Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for District, daily by proxy may be made on certain conditions. Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of land in each of three years.

In certain districts a homesteader may secure an adjoining quarter-section as pre-emption. Price $200 per acre. Duties—Six months in each of three years after earning homestead patent and cultivate 60 acres extra. May obtain pre-emption patent as soon as homestead patent is obtained.

A settler after obtaining homestead patent may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $300 per acre. Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 60 acres and erect a house worth $5000.

Holders of entries may count time of cultivation as farm residence under certain conditions.

When Dominion Lands are advertised or posted for entry, returned soldiers who have served in the war, and who have been honorably discharged, receive one day priority for entry at local Agency Office (but not Sub-Agency). Discharge papers must be presented to Agent.

N.B.—Under the provisions of the act, Deputy Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, Ontario.
