CHAPTER VIII. A SISTER'S MESSAGE.

"What a strange and selfish love! Would Stephen Belmont want a bride like that I wonder?"

"But I must not think of Stephen Belmont any more now. I thought of him for days and nights, till my brain reeled and I fell ill—ill unto death. They tell me that I did not let you know the worst. I wished that I had died then, and not come back to life and sorrow."
"Oh, Edgar, I am the most miserable girl on earth! Graham Prentiss is good and kind, but he is a fool to want to marry a girl that can give him only pity, respect, and feeble friendship in return for his life's devotion."
"I wish he had wanted Vida. She would have been glad to get him."
"Aunt Jill says she is having my wedding clothes made in Lewisburg, and Uncle Jack says I shall be married in November, so that they can hurry me off on my grand wedding-tour before the trial, and before the election."
"The Belmonts have never sent me a line, or noticed me at all since that awful day. I loved them so it hurts me, but, of course, they do not care for my engagement. I wonder if they believe that I was only flirting with Stephen. He is still in prison, poor fellow; but they say his lawyers are trying to get him out on bail, so that he can attend to his political duties. He swears he is innocent, and will go on with his canvass the minute he gets out."
"Uncle Jack and Graham Prentiss say that he cannot be elected; that he is a disgrace to his party, his family and State. They say he has not a friend left; but Sally Ann Sims says it isn't true; that he has many faithful adherents who will stand by him to the death. They say it's all a trick of the opposing party to defeat him, and that his innocence will be proven at the trial."
"I hope so for it breaks my heart to believe that he is guilty."
"Oh, Edgar, write me and tell me what you think about it all. Do you believe that he is guilty? Do you think I ought to marry Graham Prentiss?"
"Oh, if you could only come and see me, for I am the most unhappy girl that ever lived, and I have not a friend on earth but you."
"Myrtle Dare has not been near me. I don't know why; but she is so intimate with those Belmonts, you know, and perhaps she, too, is angry, believing that I flirted with Stephen."
"They say his mother and sisters are bearing up proudly, not believing anything against him, and scorning all who credit his guilt."
"Edgar, write me at once, for my poor heart is breaking with grief. Do you believe—though he never can be anything to me now, since I have given my promise to another—that he is guilty?"
"LYNETTE."
When Lynette's letter was posted to her brother, she gave herself up to suspense and impatience.
She was wildly eager to know what Edgar would think of what she had

Dr. Bovel's Iron Tonic Pills Last Resource They Succeed Where Others Fail.

20 St. Andrew St., Ottawa.

Dear Sirs:—
"I had completely lost my appetite and was growing very thin. I tried various medicines but everything failed to do me the slightest good. I was tired trying various medicines when I heard of your Dr. Bovel's Iron Tonic Pills, and thought I would give them a trial, as a last resource.
I procured a supply and commenced with the treatment. After a very short time Dr. Bovel's Iron Tonic Pills effected what several others had failed to do, a complete cure. My appetite has returned to me and I have gained seven pounds."
Yours truly,
DORA MOUSSEAU.

writes him. All her heart was fixed on him now as her last friend. Surely he could help her out of her misery. He loved her so dearly he would not see her sacrificed as her uncle and aunt were planning.
No wonder the poor girl was so utterly miserable, for with every day and hour she shrank with keener loathing from the projected marriage.
Yet she felt that she could not escape it, for day after day she could hear, in the room next to her own, the busy click of the sewing-machine, on which a clever seamstress was fashioning the piles of snowy lingerie for her wedding.
"I cannot bear it any longer! It will drive me mad! Go, Vida, and tell Uncle Jack that the sewing-machine must be moved away to the fattest corner of the house, or I shall go crazy with my nerves!" she cried irritably one afternoon.
Vida smiled slyly, and flew to do her bidding.
The machine was removed, and then Aunt Jill sent up a cup of tea to quiet her poor nerves. Lynette poured it out of the window.
"Just like a spit chile," jested Sally Ann Sims, looking fondly at her favorite. Then she added thoughtfully: "That Nonconvertee seamster do be makin' you right pretty grownds an' peccattus, I innit; but kaint' help a thinkin' of the pore dead gal that was a huntin' a job at my cabin. Ef on'y she'd-a-kept her first, as I told her to, she might a-been alive now, an' he'd all this fine sewing to do for you right here under this roof!"
Lynette gave a gasp of horror.
"Don't talk to me about that girl, Sally Ann—don't! I cannot even bear the thought of her!" she cried out angrily.
"Well, then, I won't, dearie; though," she added to herself, "I did intend to tell her about that locket, but I won't now. She's cross, and that's a sign she's gittin' well."
The locket was put away carefully among the spider's simple treasures, and on Sundays she wore it to church with pride and pleasure, but the slight chain was so hidden under the lace ruffles of her Sunday gown that it attracted no attention. She had made up her mind that on Lynette's wedding day she would present it to her as a bridal gift. And that wedding-day was fast approaching, was indeed barely four weeks off now.

At Blooming Meadows they were planning to have a real old-fashioned country wedding—what Sally Ann Sims called an "infair." Aunt Jill was all gracklesonness now, she was so anxious to have Lynette married and out of Vida's way. Mr. Lewis sold two horses and a cow, to furnish a fitting trousseau for the beautiful young bride.
The bridal-gown was going to be soft, white silk, and the veil with a voluminous tulle, with orange-blossom wreath. Graham Prentiss was to give her a set of pearls to wear. But, alas, the poor little bride!

She took no interest in the grand preparations. She said she was too weak to have the waists of her new gowns fitted yet. Miss LaMode must please wait till the week before the wedding. She said she did not care what color they chose for her traveling-gown—gray, or brown, or blue. Vida had very good taste—let her select everything. Only she hoped it would be something very plain, not looking the least bride-like. When they told her that Graham Prentiss was going to return his house and buy a new carriage for his bride, she turned away impatiently, crying:

"Please don't tell me all about it! It—'t will be soon enough to know when I have to go—and live there!" Then she burst into tears, and Sally Ann Sims told them not to worry her, as the excitement was making her nervous.
And she looked with tender sympathy at the girl who sat day by day at her window turning wistful eyes on the autumn-tinted woods, so gorgeous now in their red and brown and gold, listening to the low murmur of the river, and thinking, thinking always, but of what no mortal could tell.
But in spite of her moping, her high vitality began to assert itself in the returning roundness of her cheek and its delicate wild-rose bloom. The summer tan was gone from her complexion, and its creamy fairness added another charm to her beauty. The great brown eyes had a wistful sadness in them now that told of unshed tears.
"You are almost as well as ever, Lynette, and you ought to come down to the parlor to-morrow and see Graham when he calls to ask about you. The poor fellow says he's hungry for a sight of your face," Uncle Jack said, the fifth day of October.
"I—I—can't see him yet, Uncle Jack! I'm really too weak to go downstairs!" she cried weakly.
"Let me carry you down in my arms, honey!"
"Oh, dear, no! I couldn't let you. I'm so nervous yet, and going down too soon might cause a return of my illness. Let him wait! He'll see enough of me maybe after—we—a great gulp—"are married!"
Uncle Jack chuckled.
"And too much maybe at times, I you turn out such a shrew as my old woman," he said.
They knew she was shamming, every one of them; that she was quite strong enough now to go downstairs. But she was determined not to grant her betrothed an interview as long as she could avoid it.
Each day they said to her kindly, "The doctor says you really must go out for a little drive each day."
Lynette always replied:
"Wait 'til to-morrow."
Then she put them off, saying fully, when they reproached her for each day's delay:
"To-morrow never comes. It is always in the future."
"That is childish," said Vida.
"Well, I am not long past child hood," was the answer.
Lynette was longing for the pleasant drives along the country roads so charming in their perspective of hills and vales clad in autumn's gorgeous tints, but she had found out that Graham Prentiss had planned to take her in his elegant new carriage so she remained a prisoner in her room.
She was waiting, hoping, longing for an answer to the long, appealing letter she had written to her brother; it was six days since it had been posted. For three days she had been hoping for a reply. Her whole heart was hanging on Edgar's decision. He was so good and true and tender, he would surely understand that pity one cry of her tortured heart. "If I had been better, I would have written to them that it was not right for her to marry the dark, passionate master of Bonnie Bras who's fierce love frightened her as if it had been hate.
"Such love—so fierce, so selfish—could kill, if driven to frenzy!" she shuddered to herself, in deadly fear. She admitted not to see Graham Prentiss until after she received Edgar's letter.
Perhaps then she could tell him that Edgar did not approve of the marriage. — thought she was too young, ought to go to school a year longer—oh! anything to break this doom they had made her forge when she was weak and terrified, with this

On the seventh of October she could wait no longer.
"Sally my letter went astray!" she cried, and wrote a line asking if he had received her letter.
On the tenth his answer came, and now she was so wrought up that she burst into tears. It seemed as if life and death were hanging on the contents of that letter.

Sluggish Liver Action

Causes indigestion, constipation and bilious headache—Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills the cure.
"Sluggish liver has been my trouble," writes Mrs. I. P. Smith, Paris, Ont., "and I have been greatly benefited by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I have taken medicines from several good doctors, but none ever did me the same amount of good as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I could not keep up and do my work if I did not use these pills when the bilious spells come on, and I have recommended them to many."
"Dr. Chase's medicines were about the only kind that came into my father's house 40 or 50 years ago, and they were always satisfactory."
Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are prompt, definite and direct in their action on the liver, kidneys and bowels, and are therefore the most effective treatment obtainable for biliousness, indigestion and constipation. 25 cents a box, 5 for $1.00, at all dealers. (In Edinburgh, Bales & Co., Zouzo).

Neuralgia and Sciatica

Caused great suffering for 25 years. Nothing effective until Dr. Chase's Medicines were used.
"It affords me pleasure to speak favorably of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills," writes Mr. W. T. Collins, Morphett, Ont. "I had been a sufferer for 25 years from sciatica, lumbago and neuralgia and tried nearly all the remedies advertised without one particle of benefit until I began the use of Dr. Chase's medicines. From that time I have seen much confidence in these medicines that I have recommended them to dozens of my friends. I have finished two boxes of the Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills I noticed considerable benefit for my condition. I have seen much confidence in these medicines that I have recommended them to dozens of my friends."
In severe cases of this nature the combined use of these medicines brings results which are both surprising and satisfactory. The Kidney-Liver Pills regulate the action of kidneys, liver and bowels, while the Nerve Food enriches the blood and builds up the nervous system.

The Evening Chit-Chat
By MISS GARDNER

There is a girl in our town who stands to-day with one foot in the grave because of over-work.

She had a widowed mother, a younger sister to support, and has worked very hard as a stenographer for eight years. And to-day, as she faces death, she says, "At least I am not to blame for the condition I am in. I had to do it. And I've done all I could. No one could have possibly done any more."

Much as I honor the girl, deeply as I grieve for her, I differ from her about that.

She could have done more. Others have done more.

Now, please, before you get impatient at my hard-headedness, listen to what I have to tell you about another girl.

This second girl has been helping to support a large family of younger brothers and sisters ever since her father lost his position several years ago. She, also, is a stenographer, and according to pretty reliable accounts, worked as hard as the first girl. If not harder.

And she is not broken down, nor anywhere near it.

Why?

Well, the first girl thought she gave everything to her people.

The second girl really gave everything.

The first girl gave all her strength. The second girl gave a ve all her strength, and in addition gave the

Fresh Air as a "Speed Boss."

Doctors have preached fresh air as a health remedy for years, now it is urged as an industrial necessity. The magazine called "Factory" publishes a sensible article by Professor Winslow, of the Department of Biology in the College of the City of New York, in which he declares that the best "speed boss" is named Fresh Air. His argument is that a business factory operative wastes time, only half accomplishes his work, and also often wastes the material in his charge.

As Professor Winslow puts it, if the air in a factory is bad, the operative will work in the cool months just as he would work in a heavy, hot August atmosphere. Practically this is just what happens in many cases. Looking at it from the economic point of view, the employer has the strongest interest in the world to see that the temperature and humidity of his factory are just right; that the air is changed frequently; and by intelligent methods. In other words, the condition of the air should be such that the human machine may work under the most favorable conditions.

Not a few employers have aroused themselves to this necessity—statistics gathered by the New York Department of Labor show overwhelmingly that it is really a necessity. On the other hand, changes from poorly ventilated to well-ventilated quarters in several instances resulted in almost startling improvement in the work done and in the health of the employees. Thus with the Germania Insurance Company, in New York, such changes reduced the current sick list from ten per cent. of the force to almost zero. Changes in the New York Pension Bureau reduced the days of absence due to illness from 18,736 to 10,114.

It need hardly be pointed out that there is a human side as well as an industrial side to the question discussed by Professor Winslow. An operative, he declares, who passes from an overcrowded and over-heated work room into the clean night air with lower vitality easily falls a prey to illness, and "back of it all lurks tuberculosis, the great social and industrial disease."—The Outlook.

The Tenderfoot Farmer

It was one of those experimental farmers who put green spectacles on his nose and led her shavings. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate as long as she was fed. The question of digestion and assimilation had not entered into his calculations.

It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds his self regardless of digestion and nutrition. He might almost as well eat shavings for all the good he gets out of his food. The result is that the stomach grows "weak" the action of the digestive organs is impaired and the man suffers the miseries of dyspepsia and the agonies of over-eating.

To strengthen the stomach, restore the activity of the organs of digestion and nutrition and brace up the system, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an all-faithful remedy, and has the confidence of physicians as well as the praise of thousands healed by its use.

In the strictest sense "Golden Medical Discovery" is a temperance medicine. It contains neither narcotics nor stimulants, and is as free from alcohol as from opium, cocaine and other dangerous drugs. All ingredients printed on its outside wrapper.

Don't let a dealer delude you for his own gain. There is no medicine for stomach, liver and blood "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."

Woman's Red Coals Saved Wales.

The red cloak which the Welsh women wear at the ceremony in Carnarvon is not only ornamental but it is also "decus et tutamen in armis," and contributed to the repelling of the last invasion of the island. When a French force of 1,400 men under General Tate landed at Fishguard in 1795, Lord Cardigan bravely gathered together the local militia, while several hundred women had followed their husbands from the hills dressed in the national costume—red mantles and men's beaver hats. The French, knowing that scarlet was the British uniform, concluded that large reinforcements had reached Fishguard and hastened to make an unconditional surrender.

Fads and Fashions.

Shoe heels are just a bit higher than ever.

The all-white hat is pressing forward to victory.

Scotch mixtures are strongly favored for tailored suits.

Very wide taffeta ribbons are in great demand for millinery.

This is not the season of ostrich plumes, but of all other feathers.

Flowers, and especially roses, are richly favored in late summer millinery.

Indications are that the coming season will be largely one of plain fabrics.

New french "frock" show many heads, used in almost barbaric decoration.

Figured tulle over white silk is used for little separate coats for young girls.

The Empire collar is now strongly favored, carrying out the period mode.

There is a strong tendency to favor white and white and black veils of all kinds.

Fewer colored pumps are seen. Either white or black to be in time with the times.

New colored embroideries are very attractive, many embodying East Indian effects.

The fashion of wearing a long, transparent coat of chiffon cloth is gaining in favor.

Fashion makers everywhere express a strong preference for the continuation of the side jacket.

Hats of velvet and velour are expected to be two of the strongest features of fall millinery.

Macrame, the heaviest of the lace is meeting with great demand, and will be much used in fall costumes.

Among the newest designs in trimmings, as well as laces and embroideries, are the long pointed effects.

It is now definitely settled that skirts will be apparently wider and sleeves at least three-quarter length.

A large number of draped crowns are used in the new fall millinery, particularly on the turban-bonnet shapes.

The high collars of lace and net on the newest French gowns and waists strongly preface the return of the stock.

Wide bands of embroidery are a strong feature with French women and all-over in crepe is much used for tunics.

The latest "ery" of fashion demands either a large, broad-brimmed hat with a steely crown, or a small, high-crowned affair.

The hat "fan" or "shower" crown is with an again, being shown in various old shapes, under the names of "sundae" or artistic caps.

Many late summer frocks have waists designed for them. These are draped around the shoulders in the form of little mantles.

Father and Mother Were Killed.

Middletown, N. T., Aug. 19.—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wait, wealthy and prominent residents of this place, were instantly killed last night when a passenger train on the Walkin Valley Railway struck their auto, at a crossing near Montgomery. Their two children, 2 and 10 years old, were injured, but not fatally.

Baseball Killed Him.

Davison, Mich., Aug. 17.—Attempting to score from a third on an infield hit, Lawrence Burton, a Davison ball player, was struck near the base of the skull by a ball thrown by third baseman Branch, of the Oristville ball team in a game yesterday. He was dead when the players reached him. Branch was only a few feet from the base runner when he scooped up a ground ball and hurriedly threw home. Burton was a well-to-do farmer, 24 years of age.

Forest Fires.

We join in the prayer of the Daily News for rain. Not only are wells drying up, farm produce being parched, but serious damage threatens our woodlands and the settlements and properties in their vicinity. Not only in the neighbourhood of St. John's, but at Catalina, Benton, Bishop's Falls and other places, fires are making serious inroads into forests and causing considerable damage. We hear that this morning a forest fire is raging on the south side of the Exploits opposite the Albert Head pulp mills, and that as a strong S. W. wind is blowing there the mills are in considerable danger. The north side of the river is lined with men to put out fires from embers which blow across the river, and the company is forcing water all over the building to prevent any part of it catching fire.

Forest Fires Destroy Property.

Saturday at Catalina the forest fires did much damage. The big bridge between Elliston and Catalina, worth several hundred dollars, was destroyed and traffic is suspended on this road. The fences and all the growing crops, including hay, oats, &c., owned by Mr. B. Shelgrove were burnt and rendered useless, and the loss goes well over $1,000. At Little Catalina the residence of Mr. Peter Brennan and some of its contents went down before the fire fender, entailing great loss on the owner, who is a poor man.

Robbery of $8.00.

Friday night some thief entered Mr. E. Chaytor's butcher stall on New Gower Street and prizing open the till with a butcher's axe cleaned out the contents—$8 in all. Three weeks ago the place was also burglarized, and Mr. Chaytor thinks the robbers have a false key by which they enter the place. Another house on Adelaide Street was also broken into not long ago and several articles stolen.

COLLECTING PEBBLES.—There are now 180 men collecting pebbles for the Atlantic Pebble Co. at Manuels Beach. There is a track now laid along the beach and 14 machines placed there to sort the stones into six different sizes. They are being placed in sacks of 128 lbs. each, and a steamer will take a cargo to New York next week.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES DISTEMPER.

Horse Goes Over Wall.

Hon. J. D. Ryan's horse and cart in passing through the lane at the rear of Mr. W. V. Drayton's music store, this morning, backed over a wall 12 feet high, and did considerable damage to the place. The animal, a fine one, kicked and struggled hard, and a force of men, at great risk in such a narrow place, had much difficulty in getting it up. They adopted the ingenious method of cutting the cart clear of the horse and placing the shafts against the parapets of the wall, covered it with plank, and walked the horse up to the lane from which it had fallen.

Police Court News.

Today two drunks were each fined $1 or 3 days. A disorderly in Victoria Park and who violently resisted arrest, was fined $10 or 30 days, and those with him will be summoned. A man was summoned by his wife for failure to support her. As he promised to go to work, sentence was deferred. Several summoned by Sergt. O'phair for keeping unlicensed dogs, paid up.

A Fireman Ill.

Mr. Bart Hagerty, the well known fireman of the Western Station, who has been in the Department since the inception of the new fire service, was taken to the Hospital yesterday very ill of acute rheumatism. Bart's many friends will be sorry to hear of this.

Personal.

Miss Clara Stranger, daughter of William and the late Jessie C. Stranger, left by Thursday's express for New Glasgow, N.S., where she will be united in matrimony to Mr. Wm. Flacey, engineer, of this city, but now working at the above town. Miss May Fitzgerald, daughter of Mr. J. Fitzgerald, of Barter's Hill, left by the S. S. Florizel to visit friends in New York.

Mrs. Prendergast, a native of St. John's and who has been out of this country for 45 years, the latter 12 of which she has resided in Winnipeg, arrived by the Bonavista to see her brothers, Mr. Michael Stapleton, plasterer, and Mr. Thomas Stapleton, mason. She will remain for some time. She notes many changes and great improvements in St. John's.

LARCENY ON FLORIZEL.—While the round trippers on board were holding a dance on the bridge deck of the s.s. Florizel Friday night, some thief entered the state room of one of the ladies and stole a valuable dress, umbrella and other material. The police are working on the case but up to date have made no arrest.

Motor Car Goes Up in Smoke.

At 8 o'clock last evening as the fine Vulcan motor car owned by Mr. Geo. M. Barr was going up Witless Bay Hill towards Bay Bulls, at the top of the hill it was stopped to put more gasoline in the tank. Chauffeur Harwood started to do this, and Mr. Barr held a lighted lamp sufficiently near for the man to see what he was doing and as he thought out of all danger. Suddenly a vapor arose from the fluid, this communicated itself with the lamp, which exploded in Mr. Barr's hand. The tank in an instant was ablaze and in a few seconds the whole car was a mass of flames, which shot about 20 feet in the air. When the car reached the top of the hill there were in it besides Mr. Barr and the chauffeur, Messrs. W. R. Warren, J. S. Foote and A. C. Bruce, but fortunately just before the accident occurred they had alighted and walked ahead. Had they been in the car when the gasoline exploded, all three must have been burned to death. For three hours the car burned with a fine flame from which not a spark came, and Mr. Eric Bowring coming shortly after the car caught fire took several snapshots of it. Mr. Barr wired to town and Mr. W. D. Reid kindly sent his auto to the scene and took the party to the city. Nothing was left of the car but the front of the engine, the wheels and the steel frame. We learn that the car is insured with the Motor Union Insurance Co. of London, of which Mr. H. C. Donnelly is the local agent.

Whole Hill Ablaze.

TOWN COVERED WITH SMOKE. Saturday evening the fires which have been raging on the South Side Hills, since Wednesday last, began to spread so that by yesterday afternoon the whole hill was ablaze from Blackhead Road almost to the Battery. During the forenoon and part of the afternoon the wind veered south and the whole city was covered with a thick veil of smoke, the thickest and most smothering of burning forest wood and turf could be had in every house in St. John's. On this side the ridge the fire made its way down almost to the house erected for the Rifle Club and up on the other side of the hill began to cut its way down towards Freshwater Bay where there are four or five families living, and it blazed very freely in the woods about Gun Cove. Saturday afternoon when the wind centered on the N. E. large flaming embers were wafted over to the Top-sail Road and Mr. Pelley, the caretaker of the General Protestant Cemetery had an anxious time of it for two hours beating the embers off the roof of his house. Should a breeze of N.E. wind come up with no rain the fire will no doubt sweep up towards St. John's house where there is a fine woods which must certainly be destroyed, while St. John's and several other homesteads would be in great danger. The police have worked night and day to quench the fires but it will be impossible to do so unless copious rains occur.

Has Greatly Improved.

We are glad to notice despite the report of his serious illness, which was unfounded, that Mr. Harry Tapper is on the high road to recovery despite the terrible ordeal he has lately gone through. Mr. Tapper had a walk up and down Water Street yesterday where a Telegram reporter had an interesting conversation with him, and he is sanguine now of his complete recovery eventually. He is very popular in the city and his numerous friends will be glad to hear of this.

A Big Fire at Benton.

A big forest fire raged here to-day, and had it not been for the assistance of the R. N. Co.'s agent and two other men from Glenwood, who happened to be around at the time, the treatise which crosses Suley's Brook here would have been burnt completely with the exception of the iron span.

Amid the flames and smoke we kept the sleepers moistened with water from underneath the bridge, being compelled sometimes to put our heads in the bucket to breathe; however, we kept it from burning the bridge and crossing the opposite side of the brook. There are two men going on watch to-night in order to keep the fire from extending to the little settlement on the opposite side of the brook where there is a large mill. Owing to the dry weather prevailing at present it causes the fire to spread the more.

Indigestion & Dyspepsia

In all its Forms Can be Cured.

It is quite a daily occurrence to hear persons say: Oh, what a feeling of distress I have after meals, fullness of the stomach, heaviness and headache, I feel too tired to do anything, I have no heart to exert myself, and at times I care for nothing. I often have a pain in the pit of the stomach, no appetite, my heart beats rapidly on the slightest exertion. I feel just as tired when rising in the morning as when retiring to bed. My sleep is often disturbed, and I often awake with a sense of suffocation and a difficulty of again going to sleep. I have to be careful of what I eat, and my life seems a veritable burden.

Now, it seems a shame and a pity for persons to be suffering like that when it is in their power to get cured by taking a bottle of Dr. Stafford's Prescription A. A sure cure for persons afflicted with stomach troubles. It can be obtained at

Saturday night as a woman named Whelan was making a purchase in a central shoe store she was seized with hemorrhage of the lungs, and the clerks about became badly scared when they saw her clothing become discolored with the life current which streamed from her mouth. She, however, had them before, assured the young men, she would soon be better, and after a short while the trouble was over. Strange to say another woman who entered the store soon after was seized with a violent bleeding from the nose.

Killed Lion With Knife.

Brownsville, Texas, Aug. 21.—News has reached here that Juan Morales, a Spanish farmer living seven miles out of town, with a jack knife as his only weapon, killed a mountain lion which had killed one of his children in their home, bound up his arm which the lion had lacerated and crushed in the fight, and walked to town where surgeons say that he must sacrifice his arm.

The Man Upright.

Here is a very vivid and powerful vision of Irish village life, by Thomas MacDonagh, in the Irish Review:—I once spent an evening in a village where the people are all taken up with tillage.

Or do some business in a small way Among themselves, and all the day Go crooked, doubled to half their size, Both working and loafing with their eyes

Stuck in the ground or in a board,— For some of them tailor, and some of them hoard

Pence in a till in their little shops. And some make shoe-soles—they get the tops

Ready made from England, and they die cobblers— All bent up double,—a village of hobblers

And slouchers and squatters, whether they straggle

Up or down, or bent to haggles

Over a counter, or bend as a plough, Or dig with a spade, or to milk a cow,

Or to shove the goose-iron stiffly along

The stuff on the sleeve-board, or lace on the fong

In the boot on the last, or to draw the wax-end

Tight cross-ways—and so to make or mend

What will soon be worn out by the crooked people.

The only thing straight in the place was the steeple.

I thought at first, I was wrong in that;

For there past the window at which I sat

Watching the crooked little men Go slouching, and with the gait of a hen,

An odd little woman go pattering past. And the cobbler crouching over his last

In the window opposite, and next door The tailor squatting inside on the floor—

While I watched them, as I have said before,

And thought that only the steeple was straight.

There came a man of a different gait— A man who neither slouched nor pattered.

But planned his steps as if each step mattered;

Yet walked down the middle of the street

Not like a policeman on his beat, But like a man with nothing to do Except walk straight upright like me and you.

An English Chemist Has Discovered How to Grow Hair.

In England the ladies have entirely abandoned wearing hats which is due entirely to this new discovery. It has been proven that Henna leaves contain the ingredients that will positively grow hair. That they contain this long-sought-for article is proven every day.

The Americans are now placing on the market a preparation containing the extract from Henna leaves, which is being sold with a guarantee to cure Dandruff and to grow hair in abundance. Being daintily perfumed SALVIA, makes a most pleasant hair dressing. McMurdo & Co., your druggist, is the first to import this preparation into St. John's and a large, generous bottle can be purchased for 50c.

Boy's Body Found.

FLOATING IN THE HARBOUR.

At 8:20 a.m. yesterday the body of a boy was found floating in the waters of the harbour about 10 yards off the steamboat piers of Harvey & Co. The body was floating face downwards, and was noticed simultaneously by James Cox, captain of the schooner, Helena, of Fortune Bay, and Stephen Legrow, of the schooner, Messenger, of Bear Cove, C. B., both lying near the wharves. The men going up to Water Street apprized Head Const. Sparrow, who was on early duty, and he with Const. Frampton and Sergeant O'Hanlon repaired to the scene. They secured some canvas from Captain Legrow and putting off in a boat from the Messenger, and putting this under the body got it into the boat and put ashore, and going to the police station a stretcher was procured and the remains were brought up to the morgue. It appeared to be the body of a boy of about 9 or 10 years old, and was dressed in blue colored overalls, striped cotton shirt, dark pants and new shoes. The face and hands were very much decomposed, the flesh being pretty nearly gone off them. The police remembering that a boy named John Mencheuten was reported missing since the 1st inst., communicated with his father, Mr. J. Mencheuten, of Pope Street, and he quickly repaired to the morgue. The body could not be identified by the features, but immediately Mr. Mencheuten saw it he was grief-stricken at the sight of his drowned child. He said the boy was between 9 and 10 years old. About 10 a.m. yesterday Dr. Rendell visited the morgue and viewed the remains and later Undertaker J. T. Martin prepared a coffin in which he placed the little body last evening. The incident is a sad one. The boy often worked on Harvey & Co.'s premises at the steamers, and it is thought that being alone on the wharf at dinner or tea hour and jiggling tomcods, a favorite amusement for boys of his age, he slipped overboard and made no outcry and quickly drowned. The Bonavista left here about 1 a.m. yesterday and it is likely the suction caused by the propeller lifted the little body from the bottom where it had lain for nearly a month. Judge Conroy gave a permit for burial yesterday. The sympathy of the whole public will go out to Mr. Mencheuten in his bereavement and in it the Telegram joins. Several people yesterday thought it might be the body of little Vincent Murphy, drowned out under the lighthouse last spring, but such was not the case. Mr. Mencheuten positively identified the clothing which his son wore when he left his home on August 1st.

Americans Will Buy

ALL THE GREEN FISH FROM BURN TO BONNE BAY.

We have it from Capt. Thomas Fitzpatrick, of the Portia, that American fish firms will buy up all the green fish from Burn to Bonne Bay, and that even the prospective voyages of bankers yet out have been purchased as well as all the fish now on the flakes and in process of cure. The Gordon Fish Co., of Gloucester, have Mr. P. J. Power travelling the coast for them, and he has carte blanche to buy up every cod's tail of green fish that he can come across. The Robinson Export Co. have a man named Miller, of St. Pierre, working on the coast in their interests, and other American firms are taking all the green fish they can get and will buy up into the late fall or until the season's operations are over. There was never such competition for fish on this large stretch of coast before, and little if any will be left to come to St. John's. The prices given are good and average from 2 1/2 to 3 cents per pound, which calculating 224 lbs. to the dry qts. will run from $6 to $7 for it. Owners of the dry fish will ship it to Halifax and Europe from their own premises.

Squid Aquantant Outside

Saturday morning and evening squid were abundant in Cuckhold's Cove, just around the north head, and the dories from all the bankers in port were out there with their crews, catching them. The Bluff secured 22,000, Norman O., 40,000, Helena C., 40,000, and others in proportion. If the sport continues to-day all these vessels will secure a baiting and at least the three named will go to Comfort Bight, Labrador, where they will fish up their seasons work. Fish is reported plentiful in this locality.

Rescue at Topsail.

An act of heroism was performed at Topsail yesterday that deserves more than a passing notice, and in which a prominent medical student proved himself a hero. It appears that a young gentleman named after the famous discoverer of the circulation of the blood, was boarding a boat in which was seated a dentist who was puzzling his brain as to why the auto horns called out "tooth(ah) tooth(ah)!" In some unaccountable way a box of capsules and the solitary occupant was precipitated into the water. Being unable to swim, he floundered about, was becoming exhausted with his fruitless exertions, and would in all likelihood have met a watery grave. There did not appear to be a ray of hope that he would escape death when the emical student plunged into the water and gallantly rescued his friend—pipe included. A large number of people who had gathered around and witnessed the heroic act, were loud in their praise, but the medical student hurried away from the crowd he evidently wished to avoid. It is said interested parties are taking steps to obtain the Iron Cross for the gallant rescuer.

GET POWER

The Supply Comes from Food.

If we get power from food why not strive to get all the power we can. That is only possible by use of skillfully selected food that exactly fits the requirements of the body.

Food fits makes a poor fire and a poor fire is not a good steam producer.

"From not knowing how to select the right food to fit my needs, I suffered grievously for a long time from stomach troubles," writes a lady from a little town in Missouri.

"It seemed as if I would never be able to find out the sort of food that was best for me. Hardly anything that I could eat would stay on my stomach. Every attempt gave me heartburn and filled my stomach with gas. I got thinner and thinner until I literally became a living skeleton and in time was compelled to keep to my bed."

"A few months ago I was persuaded to try Grape-Nuts food, and it had such good effect from the very beginning that I have kept up its use ever since. I was surprised at the ease with which I digested it. It proved to be just what I needed."

"All my unpleasant symptoms, the heartburn, the inflated feeling which gave me so much pain disappeared. My weight gradually increased from 38 to 115 pounds, my figure rounded out, my strength came back, and I am now able to do my household and enjoy it. Grape-Nuts food did it." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ontario.

A ten days' trial will show anyone some facts about Grape-Nuts food.

Sudden Death.

Messrs. John Power, of the Singer Sewing Machine Co., and J. Prowse, had a harrowing experience in Fox Harbour, on Thursday last. While there they put up at the residence of Mr. John McCue, recent, kindly, well-posed man, whom they both well knew. After family prayers had been said and as their host was about to retire he became suddenly ill and in three minutes was dead as the result of an attack of heart failure. His wife who was present was terrified, nor will Messrs. Power and Prowse soon forget the experience of witnessing a friend being called hence so suddenly. Besides a wife he leaves three sons, two of whom were at the fishery, when their parents so suddenly expired.

The S. S. "Tante" arrived here at 8 p.m. Saturday after a run of 4 days, coal laden to Bowring Head. She will be laden with fish here for Europe.

Portia's Fishery News.

By the Portia we learn that there is practically no fish on the shore from Cape Ray to Pigeon's, though at St. Bride's, Saturday, there was another good sport and the dories (2 hauls each) loaded twice on the raw jigger. There is absolutely no fish in St. Mary's or Trepassy Bays. There is considerable fish on the Southern Shore and boats get 1 and 2 qts. daily, and strange to say though it is so late in the season traps which are yet out get from 5 to 10 qts. each day.

Photos for the Pope.

We learn that the handsome series of photographs taken by Mr. James Ver white the Panel Legate was here and which include the arches erected, views of the Illuminations, landing of His Excellency and pictures of the demonstrations in his honour, will be forwarded to His Holiness Pope Pius X. They will be bound together in the shape of a handsome album and will certainly be a handsome souvenir of the hearty reception given the representative of His Holiness in Newfoundland.

May Get Medal.

The Firemen's Union not long since gave Mr. Jas. Brewen, who saved the life of Leonard Miller by jumping from the Florida's deck on the night of June 16th, while a thunder storm raged, a handsome gold medal. Now friends in the city are moving to have the modest but heroic young man receive the Royal Humane Society's medal and also to share in the Carnegie Hero Fund. He well deserves both.

Jackman and Mitchell.

A quiet wedding was performed on Wednesday afternoon last at the Church of England Cathedral, when Miss Agnes Jackman, daughter of Wm. Jackman, Esq., of Bale Verte, was united in holy wedlock to Kenneth Spence Mitchell, Esq., son of Wm. Mitchell, Esq., station agent at Burn Cove. The marriage was attended by Miss Agnes Seymour and Emily Mitchell and Mr. E. B. Lewis acted as father giver. The groom was supported by Mr. Alex. Mitchell.

This is to certify that I have used MINARD'S LINIMENT in my family for years, and consider it the best liniment on the market. I have found it excellent for horse flesh.

Portia's Banking News

Capt. Jno. Smith's banker, Gladys, arrived at St. John's a couple of days ago with the splendid fare of 1000 qts., and she has now the fine aggregate of 2,200 qts. for 5 dories. All the bankers of Grand Bank, St. Jacques and Belloram are either on the banks or in quest of bait. Five American vessels are at Burgeo looking for bait but squid are very scarce all up the coast.

Forest Fires North.

Unless copious showers of rain soon occur great destruction to property is probable to the northward. When the Fogota was passing Catalina the whole forest near that town was ablaze and threatening its destruction. In other parts of Trinity Bay, and also in Bonavista Bay, fires are raging. The two fires near Bishop's Falls are being looked after by men from the A. B. Read and A. N. D. Co.

An Outrage on English Jews.

Newport, England, Aug. 24.—Rioting occurred last night at Bargood on the Olamorgan border. A dozen English and Jewish shops were wrecked and looted. Troops were called to the assistance of the police and dispersed the wreckers.

No further "business" has occurred in the Monmouthshire valley towns, but the threatening attitude of the mobs at Tregar and Rhymney necessitates the presence there of the soldiers.

In an interview to-day rabbi Lebowitz of Ebbwvale said:—"I cannot explain the attacks upon the Jews. I know no reason why these attacks should be made. Some of the Jewish shopkeepers have lived here for 15 or 20 years and are much respected. It is some consolation to feel that the attacks are not shared by the community in general, but merely by the boogian section."

It is reported that Jewish families in other parts of South Wales are taking flight in fear of the extension of the outrages.

We Point the Way!

THERE are many points in connection with advertising that must of necessity—if success is desired—be studied carefully by the merchant who desires to reach new customers and to please those he has already gained.

The goods he wishes to advertise must be of the right kind — THE KIND THE PEOPLE WANT — and the price must be of the honest kind—good value for good money. Every merchant of course, knows this; but every merchant doesn't think of it when making copy for his advertising space. Here are

Four Cardinal Points

FOR THE MERCHANT TO CONSIDER : 1. The Right Goods ; 2. The Right Medium ; 3. The Right Copy ; 4. The Right Time. With this combination any merchant or manufacturer may enter the field of publicity with confidence.

Many merchants who have goods to sell are fearful of investing a dollar in making known to the public the lines of goods they are dealing in, with the result that much of the goods remain on their shelves for an indefinite period to the deterioration of the materials and consequent loss to the owner. This state of things in a merchant's store ought never to be heard of; but the fact remains—and facts are very stubborn things. There is a way out, however, and we point the way.

Take a space in the EVENING TELEGRAM.

No trouble will be experienced in unloading the goods from off your shelves that otherwise must remain there for an indefinite period.

Try an ad. in The Evening Telegram, THE PEOPLE'S PAPER, and watch your business grow.

LATE CABLE NEWS.

Special to Evening Telegram.
ALTONA, Prussia, Aug. 27.
Emperor William made a noteworthy speech at a banquet here last night. Referring to the Empress as a daughter of the Province, he declared that she is an example for German mothers, because she brought up six sons, serious, energetic men, who are not inclined to take advantage of the comforts and enjoyments of their rank and position, like many of the youths of the present day but have devoted their strength to the Fatherland, in strict fulfillment of their duty; and should any serious occasion arise, they are ready to cheerfully sacrifice their lives on the altar of their country. Many newspapers are drawing the conclusion that the Emperor, when referring to the patriotism of his sons, had in mind the dispute between Germany and France over Morocco.

The Political Situation in Quebec.

The Liberals and Their Opponents.

The political fight now raging throughout Canada is, in the Province of Quebec, practically reduced to a question of the personality of the Liberal Leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Reciprocity is, of course, the cry of the Liberals but the Opposition—a coalition of Conservatives, Anti-Reciprocity Leaguers and Nationalists—have no cry in general. The Conservatives and Anti-Reciprocity Leaguers wished to make Reciprocity the issue and fight it on the plea that the results would be annexation, the fusion of the French race and the passing of the French tongue in Canada. The Nationalists immediately opposed them and said that Reciprocity was merely a business question on which every man must decide for himself. The only point on which they are united, then, is dislike of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his party.

The Nationalists are not running many candidates themselves. They are, however, instructed how to vote and are the sole hope of the Conservatives in the Province. The Hon. Mr. Borden when he enters Quebec will find himself in the rather humiliating position of knowing that he is at the head of the Opposition party solely because someone must fill that position.

The Nationalists except for this campaign have not amalgamated with any party but sides for and will vote for that party which meets with their views on Military and Naval Defence, Immigration and Canadian Autonomy. Consequently that party which they send to power may have to pay for it later as they may at any time withdraw their support.

They are sometimes partially successful in inducing the people to regard Laurier in accordance with their views but a visit of the "Grand Old Man" of Canada always brings forth the greatest possible enthusiasm. This was especially shown at the demonstration given him on his return from the Coronation and also at the meeting held at Three Rivers on Thursday where 12,000 people gathered to hear him. The Liberals may lose three or four seats which they hold at present but they will gain others.

The number of adherents to the Nationalist cannot be estimated as it fluctuates very greatly. Their sole aim is to secure the balance of power in Quebec. How far they will be successful remains to be seen. The Liberals are definite and concise in their appeal, demanding "Do you want Reciprocity or not?" Their opponents can only unite in saying it is time for a change or in asking the question, "Will you send Laurier back after seeing the way in which he has acted and our explanations of his acts?"

OBITUARY.

MR. ALBERT LUSH.

It is with feelings of sincere regret we record to-day the death of Mr. Albert Lush, manager of the Bennett Brewing Co. The sad event occurred at his residence, Theatre Hill, last night. For several months past Mr. Lush has been confined to his home suffering from a dangerous malady, but recently there was an improvement in his condition and his physicians were hopeful that he might be spared. Last week, however, his illness again took a serious turn and he grew weaker each day till the end came. Kindly and genial and with a cheerful word for all, Mr. Lush was a citizen who was deservedly popular. A widow and one son and several sisters are left to mourn him. To them the Telegram extends its sympathy.

Uncle Walt

THE POET PHILOSOPHER.

In childhood, when my works were aching, my granny doctored me; she held my nose and kept me taking boneset and ginger tea. Then soon departed all the colic, the anguish and the pain, and I went forth to sport and frolic, till I got sick again. And thenceforward all the kids were treated by grannies in their day; they swallowed yarb tea superheated, and sickness skipped away. But now the world is so enlightened, we fear at granny's dope; at old time remedies we're frightened—the surgeon is our hope. The surgeon comes with saw and cleaver, he comes in sombre garb; he gives no tea to cure our fever; he scorns the ancient yarb. He tells us that some cog or ratchet has slipped in our insides; he cuts us open with a hatchet, and all our works divide. He hews us with his gory axes, till, with expiring sigh, we sadly ask him what his tax is, and then curl up and die.

Fire Alarm Yesterday.

At 5.30 p.m. yesterday an alarm of fire was sounded, bringing the Western and Central firemen to the residence of Mr. D. Carroll, Patrick St. A spark from the chimney lodged on the roof and burnt a small hole through the shingles, but Mr. Carroll with others got up a ladder, ripped up the shingles and a few buckets of water extinguished the blaze, which was just below one of the attic windows on the front of the house. Little damage was done and the services of the firemen were not required.

Fell From House.

While at work repairing the roof of Mr. Thomas Carmel's house, on Carnell's Street, at 2 p.m. Saturday, Mr. Wm. Johnson fell from the roof to the street, and people who were near thought that he had been killed or at least dangerously injured. He was unconscious for quite a while and Dr. Tait was called after he had revived. The doctor found no bones broken nor anything seriously wrong except that the man was badly shaken up. The ambulance was called but the man preferred not to go to hospital, and was taken to his home on Lime Street.

Auto Accidents

Reported Yesterday.

Yesterday there was a persistent rumor about the city that a man had been killed by an auto near Bay Bulls, but the police knew nothing of it nor was there a word of truth in it. The same applies to the story given by some of our contemporaries Saturday that a little boy had been killed at the Goulais. The child, who ran suddenly from behind a load of hay and crossed the road, was hit by the auto, which had slowed down. Dr. Anderson attended him, and so slightly was he hurt that he is now able to run around as well as ever.
