A Child of Sorrow.

CHAPTER XIII.

"You owe me nothing," he said. "All I want to say—and I want to say it as badly as I ever wanted to say anything in my life—is that I hope we shall be friends. We are neighbors—"

"Neighbors are not always friends," said Maida, her exquisite eyes resting on his gravely; "there is often a vast gulf."

"It will be one of your—of your father's digging if it separates us," he said, quickly. "But tell me; has your good fortune made you happy?"

"Why do you ask?" she enquired, with a smile. "Do I not look happy, Lord Heroncourt?"

He was silent for a moment, then he said:

"Not as happy as that evening when we were all applauding you."

The color stole into her face and into her eyes crept a little look of surprise and gratitude.

"You are quick to read one's face, Lord Heroncourt. My father has found riches, but I have lost—my art."

"Not," he said. "You have only changed the theatre. Will you be

THOUSANDS OF SICK WOMEN

Helped Every Year by Common Sense Suggestions Given Free by The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co.

For forty years women suffering from all kinds of female ills have been writing the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. of Lynn, Mass., for advice.

Thus they receive common sense suggestions drawn from a vast volume of experience, and thousands of sick women have been saved from untold suffering, as letters like the following clearly show:—

Newark, Ohio.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman. Your Sanative Wash is just the thing to overcome female weakness. I have told young mothers as well as older ones about your remedies, and what they have done for me. I think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved my life, as my health was very bad when I wrote you, but now I can do my own work and have not had a sick day since I began taking your remedies. I keep the Compound and Liver Pills on hand all the time."—Mrs. Geo. Thompson, 24 Sherwood Court, Newark, Ohio.

Why don't you write for free advice? Address Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

her ladyship's going to help you!" he muttered to himself, as, with another glance at the pair in the conservatory, he glided away.

CHAPTER XIII.

Heroncourt felt as if he were under a spell. Ever since he had recognized Maida, and realised that she was under his roof, he had been suffering from a kind of suppressed excitement; he who was usually the most calm and unimpressionable of men. As a rule he had plenty to say for himself, and when he chose, could talk fluently enough; but now, as he leaned over the back of the chair beside her, so that the faint perfume of her hair was perceptible to him, and made his heart throb, he found a difficulty in speaking, as if his mind were too full, too crowded, to permit of expression. And her very calmness, that reposeful serenity which was one of her chief characteristics, only served to more completely destroy his calm; it was as if one were in the presence of a young goddess, too pure, too spiritual, for contact with this work-a-day world with its sordid aims and aspirations.

He knew that he ought to return to his other guests, that the men would wonder where he had gone; but he could not tear himself away, could not let her go back to be absorbed by the rest. He heard Lady Glassbury playing at the piano and drew a sigh of relief. How could he interest this beautiful creature, break the serenity and calm which encircled like a barrier and a charm? In a kind of despair he said, trying to speak quite casually:

"I wonder whether you would like to see some of the things I have collected during my globe-trotting, Miss Carrington? They are in the hall. Will you come?"

"Thank you, I should like to very much," she said, very quietly.

He led her through the conservatory, by a kind of vestibule, into the hall. It was still dimly lighted, and he was about to turn up the electric lamps which were so arranged as to resemble wax candles; but Maida in a low voice, said:

"Ah, don't!"

He lowered the lights again and stood beside her silently. She was standing with her hands loosely clasped in front of her, her eyes wandering slowly round the hall. It was so different to the gorgeous one of the Towers; it was different to anything she had ever seen. The carved panelling, the great fire-place, with its gleaming dog-irons making a shining spot in the dimness, the antique cabinets with their treasures of china and ivory and bronze; the tattered flags suspended from the vaulted roof; the armour on the wall—armour not bought in Wardour Street, but pieces which had been actually worn by Heroncourt's remote ancestors; the rich coloring of purple curtains here and there; the subdued tones of ancient tapestry; the dead white of statuary punctuating the half-tones; it was like an exquisite dream to Maida who was so sensitive to all artistic impressions.

"It is beautiful," she said, in a low voice; and his heart warmed at her praise, for he too had discovered that he admired and loved the old hall.

"Let me show you some of the things," he said, in a voice almost as low as hers—for Maida had the peculiar faculty of impressing her mood upon most persons with whom she came in contact. "Are you fond of old china?"

He went to one of the cabinets and took out some of the pieces, and as he placed one in her hand he thought that, dainty as the china was, it seemed coarse and common against the exquisitely shaggy hand that held it.

"That is old Bohemian," he said. "I picked it up in one of the slums of Prague. That is a Moorish scent-bottle; it got it in Fez. You can smell the otto of roses yet."

"You may break, you may shatter the vase if you will," she murmured, rubbing his left whisker like a cat, his pale eyes fixed meaningly on her face.

Lady Glassbury stood for a moment, then, with that impassivity which distinguishes her class, moved on as if he were not there.

"But Mr. Spinner was affronted," Archibald, my boy, you're going to pull this little spec off all right, and

Rheumatism Entirely Gone

After Twenty-seven Years of Suffering—Swelling and Puffiness Has Disappeared—No Pain or an Ache Left.

Kincardine, Ont., June 25th.—A most astonishing cure of rheumatism and eczema has been reported here, and Mrs. Ray is enthusiastic in telling her many friends how cure was effected.

Rheumatism and eczema frequently go together, and in this case caused the most keen distress imaginable. All the swelling and puffiness resulting from many years of rheumatism have disappeared, and there is not a pain or an ache left.

Mr. G. H. Ray, R.R. No. 1, Kincardine, Ont., writes: "Mrs. Ray has been using your Kidney-Liver Pills. She was very bad with rheumatism and eczema, and had had that fearful itch for twenty-seven years. It was simply terrible when she suffered. I persuaded her to try $1.00 worth of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, she is now on the last box, and let me tell you she scarcely knows herself, she is so free from both these diseases. All the swelling and puffiness caused by the rheumatism has gone away, and she has gone down in weight 15½ pounds. She never has an ache nor pain, biliousness nor sick headache all these months. She often says herself 'How glad I am that I know what to do instead of paying doctors so much to make me worse.'"

There is only one way that the poisons in the blood can be cleaned away and the cause of pains and aches removed, and that is by the healthful action of the kidneys, liver and bowels. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills act directly and specifically on these organs and ensure their activity they remove the cause of rheumatism and other dreadfully painful and fatal diseases. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

slight—not so deep as many it had made. You see it is stained here and there."

She put the thing down quickly, and a slight shudder passed over her, as the wind rippled the surface of a mountain tarn.

"I beg your pardon! Forgive me!" he said, penitently. "Here is the pen with which Camens wrote some of his poetry."

"Ah, let me see!" she said.

"And here is the pipe, the last pipe which Lytton smoked. You see it was only a plain pipe of bamboo, with a bowl of Etruscan terra-cotta. These little things are Chinese gods, and that is a prayer-wheel, and those are some Joss papers; they burn them before the altars—but you know! Let me show you some of the pictures. My grandfather was a collector, and got together a very fair collection, especially of the early Dutch school."

She moved beside him slowly round the hall as he directed her attention to some of the best of the pictures and explained them; but he himself scarcely glanced at the pictures. Most of the time his eyes were fixed on the upturned face with its expression of rapt interest.

"Those are portraits. That's my grandfather, the collector. That's Lord Edward, who fought and died at Marston Moor; that's my brother Harold, who was killed only the other day, and so let me into the succession; he was a good sort—and I wish he were living now."

He checked a sigh, and her beautiful eyes turned upon him, comprehendingly.

"I am sure you do," she said. "And that is yourself?"

"Yes," he said, casually, and was passing on; but she stood before the picture and looked from it to him.

"Was it painted very long ago?" she asked.

"Oh, not so very long," he replied. "Why?"

"You have changed very much," she said.

"For the better or the worse?" he asked, smiling.

Everyday Etiquette.

"Where should a man walk when he is acting as an escort to two ladies to the theatre?" asked George.

"A man takes the outside of the walk. In escorting two ladies to the theatre he seats them together and sits nearest the end himself. Of course, this last must be modified according to circumstances, there may be some reason why he should sit between the ladies; but by taking the outside seat he prevents either of them from being inconvenienced by the occupant of an adjoining seat," advised his father.

Paste for pies should be rolled very thin. Always brush the under crust with water, and be sure to perforate the upper crust.

Telegram Fashion Plates.

The Home Dressmaker should keep a Catalogue Scrap Book of our Pattern Cuts. These will be found very useful to refer to from time to time.

A PRETTY "PARTY" OR "BEST" DRESS.

2080—One could make this of dimity or dotted Swiss, of lawn or batiste. It is also nice for crepe and albatross, challis and lawn. In wash silk, with a finish of smoking, it will be very pleasing. The lines are simple and very little trimming will be required. Lace edging and insertion, or bands of embroidery would make a pretty finish. Flouncing or bordered goods could be used for this model.

The Pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 1, 2, 3 and 4 years. It requires 2½ yards of 27-inch material for a 4-year size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

A PRACTICAL CONVENIENT MODEL.

1425—Ladies' House Dress, with Long or Short Sleeve.

For utility, comfort and convenience, this design has much to commend it. It closes in coat style, with the centre fronts overlapping. This assures easy and practical adjustment. An ample pocket is arranged over the side front. The waist is finished with a neat collar, and with cuffs for sleeve in short length. The long sleeve is dart fitted. The dart fulness may be cut away and the opening, thus made, be finished with a facing and underlap for buttons and buttonholes or other fasteners; then the sleeve may be turned back over the arm when desired. The Pattern is good for gingham, percale, lawn, seersucker, soisette, madras, dimity, drill or linen. It is cut in 7 sizes: 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. It requires 6¼ yards of 36-inch material for a 36-inch size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

Editor: Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—In conversation with two gentlemen last evening, who are two sons on active service, they suggested that some move ought to be made to induce His Excellency the Governor to use his influence to obtain a furlough for those volunteers who have here about three years ago with the First Contingent. The two gentlemen to whom I refer have both made great sacrifices to help in the war, but naturally feel a longing to see those brave heroic sons after a lapse of three long years.

His Excellency, I feel confident, will do his utmost in the matter and will succeed if it will mean a renewal of life, as it were, to these heroes, to meet their friends at home, to see more, while to the parents it will be a happiness which no one will wish them to be denied.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for inserting this appeal.

Permanent Army Camps Built in Ten Days.

In ten days of actual work, a bald knoll on the army reservation at Fort Sheridan, Ill., was converted into a well-planned cantonment with accommodations for 3,500 men attending the officers' training camp. The story of the achievement is told by Popular Mechanics Magazine, in its July number. The speed of the construction made this a feat unsurpassed in the Middle West, if not in the entire country.

Eighty-five separate one-story frame buildings were erected. They consist of 42 barracks, 21 mess halls and kitchens, 21 bathhouses, and a telephone exchange building in four long rows.

Organization and competent supervision accomplished this work. Materials were rushed to the grounds by special trains and motor trucks. Special trains also shuttled a large part of the force of 600 or 700 men between Chicago and the army post morning and night. Approximately 1,250,000 feet of lumber were used. All of this was delivered in about three days' time.

Plans and specifications for the cantonment were received from Washington late on Saturday, April 28. Their complete revision by Monday morning was necessary to fit them to local conditions. The general contract, awarded to a Chicago construction company, was signed on Sunday and dated for the following day. Rain fell on Monday, when work was supposed to be launched. Because of this, a time extension of one day was granted, and real building actively began on Tuesday, May 1. In this period all orders had been placed, the necessary deliveries made at the grounds, 25 miles north of Chicago, and several hundred workmen collected.

From the instant operations started until the final nail was driven, work was pushed at fever heat. The clatter of hammers and the hum of circular saws blended in a staccato rumble that was heard several miles on all sides. Yet, brief as was the time allotment, and great as was the work, system ruled and there was little confusion. Excitement prevailed, but it was the excitement of a hard game closely fought.

While the structures were springing up like pen-and-ink houses in a movie cartoon, water-supply mains, sewer conduits, telephone cables, and electric-light feed wires were extended to the cantonment, which is situated across ravines several hundred yards from the old buildings at the post. Steam and gasoline trench diggers crept between the rows of growing shelters, cutting ditches for the drainage pipes, while others ate their way across the reservation of the site, making an underground pathway for the water line. Overhead cables and wires were stretched as quickly as poles were tamped in places.

Thirteen days were allowed for the instalment of all plumbing. Thus three days after the buildings were finished, shower baths, lavatories, and other toilet fixtures were ready for 3,500 men in 21 concrete-floored bath-houses. In addition, there was the plumbing in an equal number of kitchens. Fire hydrants, and near them coils of hose for protective purposes, were also supplied.

LIVE STOCK ARRIVES.—A cargo of cattle and sheep reached here on Saturday evening from Prince Edward Island and were sold at auction this morning; also a couple of horses arrived from the same place.

DEVELOPING THE COMMERCIAL POSSIBILITIES OF GOATS.

(By Albert Marple, in the July Popular Mechanics Magazine.)

During the past few months a number of goat ranches or dairies have sprung up in Southern California, appearing in true mushroom style and tending to show that when the real value of the milk of the goat is known, it is bound to receive a warm welcome. These ranches sell the goats' milk fresh, as does the ordinary dairy, the average price received being 25 cents a quart. And in addition to selling the milk in this way a considerable quantity of goat cheese is manufactured in that section.

There is one company, however, which for the first time in the history of the goat-milk business, is evaporating that product under vacuum, after which it is canned and presented to the consumer in very much the same condition as evaporated cow's milk. The object is to make this product just as accessible to those living in the heart of the large city, where a goat is never seen, as to the farmer or suburbanite. To evaporate goat's milk, as is claimed to be the case with cow's milk, increases its keeping and digestive qualities, also its purity, as well as ease of transportation. This innovation in the goat-milk industry has just been introduced by a concern in Monterey County, California, about 100 miles south of San Francisco.

At present the goat milk is being processed solely for infants and invalids, although it is the object of these dairymen to widen the field as rapidly as possible. One of the most important points about the goat is that it is considered free from tuberculosis, while the United States officials condemned, because of tuberculosis, in the year 1914 alone, 29,738 cows out of those slaughtered for food purposes.

"The Sunday Gun."

28 Morris Street, Halifax, N.S., June 21st, 1917.
Editor Evening Telegram,
St. John's, Newfoundland.

Sir,—In your issue of the 11th inst. I read an item over which was the headline "Sunday Gun," and concluded with the quotation: "He knows we 'spose."

Upon my reading this aloud it sounded strangely familiar and a kind of personal contact was immediately formed with the "days of long ago."

I instituted a search among the archives of my scrap book from the years of which I exhumed the original of "Who Stopped the Gun." The verses appeared in the "Trade Review," at that time the Editor being the late and lamented Maurice Devine. I fancy he was the author of them. Unfortunately I did not preserve the entire paper, thus the clipping therefrom, I am unable to supply your readers with the date of that issue.

I was at that time Accountant of the Marine and Fishery Dept. Some of the officials who were supposed to have been responsible for the non-firing of the noon or mid-day gun on that particular Sunday, have passed to the Great Beyond, and are now "Far away, far away," Mr. E. C. Watson, Mr. Wheatly and the "man behind the gun"—poor Tom Rose. The other officials whose names appear in this poetic effusion are as far as I am aware still on this side of the "Big Divide," and if politics do not remove them from their jobs, it is not at all likely that whiskey will, now that your city has gone "bone dry." That state of affairs has come years too late for many of us. The writer of this article is healthy and hearty and feeling just as young as he was the day the "Trade Review" published the enclosed poem.

I would ask you, Mr. Editor, as a special favour to a contributor to the columns of the Evening Telegram for many years, to publish this letter in its entirety also the verses of "Who Stopped the Gun."

Sincerely yours,
H. C. MORRIS.

WHO STOPPED THE GUN!

"Now hasten forth, reporter man," the Editor did say,
"For some important news is out about the town to-day.
"Go down to skipper Eli Dawe and question him, my son!"
"He knows, I 'spose, who told Tom Rose
"To stop the Sunday gun."

Then straight hied that reporter man to skipper Eli Dawe,
And sought the information with considerable awe.
"I cannot tell," the skipper said, "But ask E. C. Watson:
"He knows, I 'spose, who told Tom Rose
"To stop the Sunday gun."

E. S. received the pencil-friend with bland and kindly smile,
And said, "I'll get the news you want in just a little while.
"I'll inquire of H. C. Morris—he is out now for a run—
"He knows, I 'spose, who told Tom Rose
"To stop the Sunday gun."

Ere long the stalwart form of Mr. Morris hove in sight,
He said, "My dear reporter man, go call on Richard White,
"For information of this sort good Richard takes the bun:
"He knows, I 'spose, who told Tom Rose
"To stop the Sunday gun."

Good Richard in his kindly way received the wandering scribe,
And said he always, always had a liking for the tribe.
"But for such information Captain English is the one:
"He knows, I 'spose, who told Tom Rose
"To stop the Sunday gun."

The Captain calmly listened to the scribbler's tale of woe,
And said he always told the papers anything he'd know.
"Try Mr. Wheatly, he's the man, who'll ask no better fun.
"He knows, I 'spose, who told Tom Rose
"To stop the Sunday gun."

To Mr. Wheatly's private den the wanderer led the way,
But the lights were out, and doors were locked: it was the close of day.
But round the vaulted corridor in echoing accents run,
"WHO KNOWS WHO 'TWOSE WHO ASKED TOM ROSE
"TO STOP THE SUNDAY GUN?"

The brave policeman on his beat was shocked at dawn of day
To find the body of a man, prone lifeless by the way.
The spirit of the puzzled scribe had flown beyond the sun,
And now knows, I 'spose, who told Tom Rose
To stop the Sunday gun!

The Return of Russia

We have confessed before to an incurable optimism in our view of the war and to-day's messages have induced another attack. There is nothing in them...

It is impossible to exaggerate the effect of Russia's re-entry into the fighting, begun already in desultory engagements on the Austrian front...

Another great German retirement before long. If it takes place it will be eloquent proof, not so much of British superiority as of the rapid dwindling of the German reserves...

Flower Day for French Red Cross

The recent decision of the Imperial Red Cross Committee, carrying out the suggestion of His Excellency the Governor at the last meeting of the Patriotic Association, to undertake some measure of assistance for the French Red Cross in recognition of the magnificent work of France in the present war, is now being given effect...

While it is scarcely necessary to present any arguments to our people to urge them to support as generously as their means will allow, this, the first effort undertaken in Newfoundland on behalf of our French Allies, it may not be amiss to say here that there is evidence to hand showing that the Red Cross is in great need of funds and that the suffering French soldiers and sailors in the war hospitals all over the fair land of France will have the miseries of their situation greatly intensified unless the efforts of well wishers in other Allied countries are very generously given for them...

Masons Celebrate Bi-Centenary.

Eloquent Sermon by W. Bro. Rev. Canon G. H. Bolt, M.A. In commemoration of the two hundredth anniversary of the founding of the Grand Lodge of England of Free and Accepted Masons, yesterday afternoon, the members of the Masonic Order attended Divine Service at the Church of England Cathedral.

At 2.30 the brethren assembled in the Temple, where a brief session of the District Grand Lodge was held. R. W. Bro. J. A. Clift, K.C., District Grand Master, presiding. R. W. Bro. Chas. R. Duder, District Grand Master under the Grand Lodge of Scotland, accompanied by members of his Grand Lodge, and representatives of the primary lodges under his jurisdiction, joined their English brethren in the auspicious event.

Under the direction of the D. G. Director of Ceremonies, the brethren paraded to the Cathedral where service commenced at 2.15 o'clock. The service, which was of a special order, was conducted by the Rev. J. Dinton. The Lessons were read by Rev. John Stead, Chaplain of Cliff Lodge, Bell Island, and Rev. H. Uphill, of St. Mary's, Chaplain of Avalon Lodge. Besides the usual prayers a special prayer was offered in "Thanksgiving for our Founders." W. Bro. Rev. Canon G. H. Bolt, M.A., District Grand Chaplain, preached an eloquent and impressive sermon, taking as his text the words, "Look unto the rock whence ye are hewn."—Isaiah LI—1. When the words of the text were written, Israel was passing through a great crisis, of which the outlook was dark; but the prophet bids them take courage and remember their eventful past and God's goodness to them.

Wedding Bells.

WHITE-UPSHALL. At the C. of E. Cathedral, St. John's, on June 20th, a very quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized by Rev. Mr. Britton, when Miss Bella White was given in marriage to Mr. William Uphall, of this city. The bride looked charming in a suit of white embroidery and hat to match. The bride was given away by Mr. Burton, and the groom supported by Mr. Bragg, and Mr. Uphall, brother of the groom. The groom's present to the bride was a gold lockset and chain, and the same to the bridesmaids, Miss Rose Eley and Miss Alberta Uphall, sister of the groom. The happy couple drove to their future home Gilmore Street. The bride received many useful presents. We wish them many years of wedded happiness.

Motor "Experts" Before Court. Two well known citizens were summoned to court to-day for loose and disorderly conduct. While discussing the stunts that a motor car could do, one of them wagged the other that he could manipulate the brakes so "expertly" that he could form a circle on Water Street and that he had done so twice before; so jumping aboard of a stranger's machine he began operations, after his companion had cranked the car. Our "local" "circumnavigator" on this trial failed to accomplish his feat, as immediately he applied the reverse gear by mistake the car backed forcibly through the window of an elaborately dressed store. Luckily for himself the professed expert driver jumped clear. Both defendants, who had arranged with those who had suffered damages, were let go on payment of $1 fines.

Yesterday's Joint Church parade.

In commemoration of St. John's Day, the S.O.E. (Dudley and Empire Lodges), S.U.F. L.O.A. (Royal Oak and Leeming Lodges), and the Adult and Juvenile branches of the Nfld. British Society held their second annual joint Church parade, attending Divine Service at Gower St. Methodist Church, where a specially arranged service was held. After the singing of the hymn "O God our help in Ages Past," the Rev. Chas. Lench offered prayer. The Rev. D. B. Humeon, B.A. was the preacher, who took as his text, "I John, who was in the Spirit on the Lord's day, and I saw the Holy City, New Jerusalem." In a most impressive manner he pointed out to the congregation their duty as citizens and the interest they should take in all that pertains to the advancement of the city in which they live. During the service several hymns and anthems were heartily sung. The offerings, which in aid of the city orphanages, was then taken up. After service return was made to the British Hall, where votes of thanks proposed by Mr. A. G. Williams and seconded by Mr. J. J. Coaker, were put by the chairman Mr. J. M. Carbery and accorded the clergyman, organist, choir, and church officials. Sympathetic references were made to the late Mr. W. H. Goodland, with whom had originated the idea of holding the parade.

Body Recovered and Buried.

Among the long list of missing after the drive of July 1st last year was the name of Private Lukins in aid of this city. He was officially announced killed in action in the November list. Mrs. Lukins has now received notification that Private Lukins was buried on April 29th last in a Ravine, No Man's Land, on the British front. It is thus evident that his body was recovered after the long interval and identified, and it is probable that the same is true of many others listed with him.

Alleged Fakirs.

Detective Byrnt brought to the city Saturday night a young man named James McKay, who he arrested at Grand Falls. McKay, who hails from the West End of the city, was a companion of James Moore, who was arrested the previous day. Both were arraigned before the Magistrate Saturday evening, charged with obtaining money under false pretences and were remanded for eight days. They are alleged to have duped many people. Their suspicious transactions were shadowed by a group of men secured for their arrest. Moore told a series of fake stories to the police as to his origin. Once he said he was born in Ireland and next he told he carried the light in Newfoundland; hence he is termed a Nfld.-Irishman. When the authorities have proved thoroughly the business that was carried on the suspects will come up for trial.

A Caplin Row.

The thriving fisherfolk of Torbay spent a busy time last week casting caplin which struck in there in abundance. Two of them (the caplin) had a falling out, resulting in a 17 year old fisherman getting the skin surrounding his right eye converted into the color of a rainbow. His aggressor, who was summoned by the former for assault to-day, claimed he was provoked. His reason was fairly satisfactory, but the caplin peace could not be condoned by the court and the defendant was fined $1 and costs.

War Messages Received Previous to ACTIVITY ON THE FRONT. Grand Headquarters Army in France, June 23 (by Associated Press). There are signs of a new French front that is either nervous or aggressive intentions or arrangements. A series of operations have been carried out by the Von Hindenburg army, principally around the breach in the front line, where the German position is temporarily ousted. The short trench system on Monkey Mountain is an important both as a base of operations and as a base of observation. The German attacks immediately following the ground losses were measured a few days. ACTIVITY ON FRENCH FRONT.

Grand Headquarters of the French Army in France, Saturday Night, June 23 (by Associated Press).—There are signs on many parts of the French front that the Germans are either nervous concerning French intentions or are preparing an offensive. A series of "feelers" have been carried out by Field Marshal Von Hindenburg at various points, principally around the Laon plateau. One of these was an effort to cut a breach in the French line at Vauxaillon, where the German shock units temporarily ousted the French from a short trench system on the slopes of Monkey Mountain on which it was important both armies should possess observations. The French counter attacks immediately regained all the ground lost, except a salient measuring a few yards, in which the German position is most precarious. On this occasion German shock troops advanced in their shirt-sleeves without packs, after terrific bombardment in which every yard of adjacent ground was searched by shells. The German shockers, as soon as they succeeded in their determined and courageous effort, turned over the trenches they had gained to the 78th German infantry division, who, however, failed to hold them when called upon for defensive effort. The correspondent visited the entire position in this sector to-day and found the Germans on the other side of the hill were deprived of observation. Their artillery was blind. Another lively affair occurred in the vicinity of Mont Cailliet, where the Germans and French attacked almost simultaneously, the former with the object of recovering prominent points they had lost some weeks ago, and the latter with the intention of getting freer elbow room. As it happened, a unit consisting of only 62 French Grenadiers and portable machine gunners, occupied the position covered by the Germans, and not only drove off the attacking forces, but pursued them and captured a considerable length of German trenches. In doing so they killed more than 200 Germans. On the Chemin-des-Dames also the Germans launched yesterday a number of attacks, some of which resulted in most desperate engagements. In the neighborhood of Larover Farm the ground was covered with German bodies, while the only

DISASTERS IN GERMAN MUNITION PLANTS.

PARIS, June 24. Several disasters have recently occurred in the munition plants of the Germans, according to the Zurich correspondent of the Matin. The correspondent telegraphs that he has learned from private German sources that a hand grenade arsenal at Spandau exploded on June 16 and that seven ammunition shops at Narvich-hall were destroyed by fire on the 18th. Some ammunition factories at Nuremberg have also been burnt down, according to this authority. Spandau is nine miles west of Berlin and large government munition works are there.

THE CONSCRIPTION BILL.

OTTAWA, June 24. The vote on the second reading of the Conscription Bill is expected towards the end of this week. That the two amendments will be defeated and the motion for the second reading be carried by a substantial majority, is certain. With half a score of so-called Liberal votes the Government is relying on a safe majority against the referendum amendment. The six months' hoist amendment of Mr. Barrett will be supported only by some seven or eight Nationalists and will be opposed by all Liberals. After the second reading carries there will probably be a fairly long debate in the committee stage. Several amendments to the administration details of the bill now contemplated by the Liberals may be accepted by the Government, as Premier Borden has invited suggestions to make the Bill more equitable and satisfactory. The third reading stage should be reached some time next week.

GERMAN PATROL DESTROYED.

LONDON, June 24. The official report from British headquarters in France states that Portuguese troops killed or captured a whole German patrol south of Armentieres. Heavy artillery fighting is in progress in a number of places.

GERMANS AMBUSHED.

PETROGRAD, June 24. On the western Russian front in the region of Gozog a Russian scouting party ambushed approaching Germans and showered hand grenades upon them. In the bayonet fighting that followed a number of Germans were killed. On the Caucasus front the Turks gave way, the Russian detachments forcing them to retire about two miles.

MUNITION EXPLOSION IN AUSTRIA.

AMSTERDAM, June 24. More than 1,000 persons were killed

SCOUTING OPERATIONS.

PETROGRAD, June 24. Lively scouting operations between the Russians and Austrians in Galicia are reported in to-day's war official which follows: In Galicia in the region of Grabkovec an enemy scouting party attempted to gain information of our position, but was dispersed by one of our companies. In the region of Presovec an Austrian company surrounded our scouting party. The commander of the party, Lt. Murracey assembled his men and by means of bayonet fighting and the use of hand grenades they succeeded in breaking through and returned to their trenches without losing a single man. Lt. Murracey received seven serious wounds. On the rest of the front and on the Roumanian front there were fusillades. On the Caucasian front fusillades and engagements between advanced detachments have occurred.

FOOD CONTROL BILL.

WASHINGTON, June 24. President Wilson's request upon Congress for the food control, in time to deal with this year's crops, promises to be realized. With the battle-ground turning to the Senate, following the overwhelming passage of the Control Bill, by the House, the Senate leaders, including those opposing as well as those leading the administration's fight, to-night predicted action here late this week or early next. The retention by the Senate of the drastic prohibition amendments adopted by the House, or at least of the prohibition of food-stuffs in manufacture of distilled spirits, is generally deemed probable. The principal fight on the prohibition question is expected to come over the permitting of the manufacture of malt liquors and wines. The Senate sentiment against the further manufacture of whiskey, brandy and other distilled spirits, is widespread, but many Senators oppose extending the prohibition to beer and wines.

TRANQUILITY RESTORED.

PETROGRAD, June 24. Rear-Admiral James Glennon, U.S.N., and his Staff returned to Petrograd to-day from a visit to the Black Sea Fleet at Sebastopol. The cordiality of their reception was modified by a mutiny among sailors of the fleet which started just before they arrived, and which is now at an end, tranquility having been restored.

GERMAN WORKMEN STOP WORK.

COPENHAGEN, June 24. Two-thirds of the workmen in Great Berlin stopped and Prussian State Railways shops and walked out at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon to enforce their demands for a nine-hour day, according to advices received here to-day. Men who had been compelled to work 11 hours a day during the war declared it was impossible for flesh and blood to continue such overtime labor on inadequate food. According to the Vorwarts, the other third of the employees is expected to join the movement. The German railroad unions are said to have voted to support the carshop employees in their demand for shorter hours, and also a wage increase in proportion to the high cost of living.

BRITISH OFFICIAL.

LONDON, June 24. Hostile raids were attempted this morning southeast of Gravelles and southeast of Armentieres, says an official report from the British head-

NEWS FROM RUSSIA.

PETROGRAD, June 24. In spite of disorder at Sebastopol and anarchists' threats here there are indications of marked improvement in the situation with growing support of the Government and growing animosity against the forces which make for disintegration in the army. The resolution passed on Thursday by the pan-Russian Congress of Council of Deputies is regarded as a signal defeat for extremists and pacifists a motion supporting the Provisional Government being passed by a majority of more than four to one. A further significant resolution admits that the transfer of all power to the democracy would weaken the revolution. This is democracy's own admission that it needs the knowledge and experience of educated classes by declaring for a speedy attainment of a general peace and at the same time for an increase in the fighting capacity of the army. The Congress tacitly repudiated the programme of a separate peace. Equally important was the unanimous vote of the peasants' congress representing 130,000,000 people approving the expulsion of the German pacifist agent, Robert Grimm, and inviting volunteers to enter the army and strengthen it by their example. Speeches of similar tenor in the Cossack Congress were still more emphatic, so much so that the extremist anarchist organs to-day speak of the resurrection of the Nagalka Cossack whp formerly used for suppressing disturbances. A representative of the Amur Cossacks declared that eight million Cossacks were ready to fight in support of the revolution. A representative of the Kuban Cossacks added, "We shall support the Provisional Government if necessary with rifles and swords." A delegate from the Ukraine, formerly the location of the famous Saporozh Cossacks, declared that his countrymen would fight side by side with the Cossacks until Germany was beaten into dust.

Sagona From Labrador.

The s.s. Sagona, Capt. Spracklin, reached port at 5.30 p.m. Saturday from the Labrador, having got as far down as Holton, where further progress north was stopped by a barrier of ice. The prospects for a good voyage on the southern part of the coast are encouraging, as the fish are known to be in abundance some distance from the shore and may strike in at any moment. While quite a number of schooners have reached the coast, they are not so plentiful as last year. A number of old seals were seen on the way north, all of which were working their way towards the Arctic. A few hours after her arrival the Sagona sailed again, but this time on a different service.

Returned Heroes Welcomed.

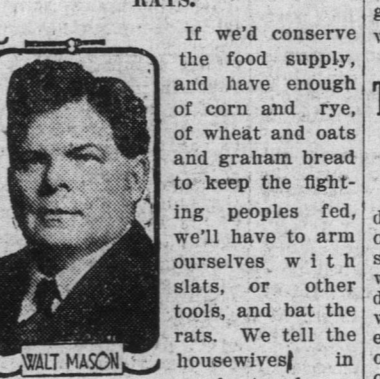

The following returned wounded and invalided heroes were given a hearty welcome at the railway station on their return from the front Saturday afternoon: Corporal P. F. Mansfield, Corporal O. Vaughan, L.-Corp. Lacey, L.-Corp. R. Voisey, Privates Penney, Heater, Guilfoyle, Napier, Thistle, Rogers, Bennett. The arrangements as usual were carried out by the Ladies' Reception Committee. After being greeted by their friends, the returned heroes were lined up in front of the station and addressed by the Premier, who congratulated them on their gallantry and thanked them for the valuable services rendered for the Empire. At the conclusion of the Premier's address the soldiers were given three hearty cheers. They were then driven to their homes.

The Premier's Declaration

After ten days' talking against time, during which period the Estimates of the Public Service were kept at a standstill, the House of Assembly will meet again this afternoon for the despatch of business. The Opposition want a general election and the Government are "silenced." The position of the former is that they continue to oppose vehemently matters before the House until they get an answer as to whether or not it is the intention of the Government to have the election or to prolong the life of Parliament. There is a loud whisper going the rounds to the effect that it is possible, though not probable, that the Premier will make a definite announcement during the next few days, declaring the attitude of the Government, as the outcome of a recent party meeting. The nature of that decision, it is freely rumored, is that an election is not desirable, which means that a Bill is to be introduced extending the life of Parliament; it also means that the Premier is not going to submit tamely to the Opposition, even though he failed, after a strenuous attempt, to bring about a reconciliation. No one can yet foresee exactly what will happen in the House the forthcoming week, the fourth week of the session, but there are likely to be some lively and historic developments.

RATS.

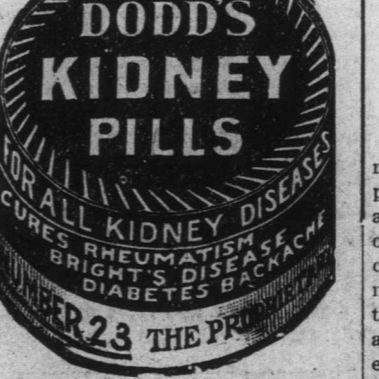

If we'd conserve the food supply, and have enough of corn and rye, of wheat and oats and graham bread to keep the fighting peoples fed, we'll have to arm ourselves with slats, or other tools, and bat the rats. We tell the housewives in our haste, how they must shun the sin of waste; we hand out language stern and wise, about our vital food supplies; and busy rats beneath the barn for espionage don't care a darn. They spoil more grain, each passing day than many ships could bear away. Let's buy a million Maltese cats, and sic them on the wasteful rats. We're talking of eating less—a fine decision, I confess; but all economics are fakes, and give a wise man inward aches, so long as rodents are allowed to swarm around, a nasty crowd, and chew the grain and gnaw the meat and spoil whatever they can't eat. Oh, let us start a big campaign against these swasters of the grain. While they survive the vermin punk, our talk of conversation's bunk. While cribs and bins are full of rats, we're merely talking through our hats.

Character and Circumstances.

By RUTH CAMERON.

"One ship drives east and another west.
With the selfsame winds that blow:
'Tis the set of the sails
And not the gales
Which decides the way we go."

RUTH CAMERON

Some weeks ago I wrote about the danger of being made selfish by invalidism. In response, several letter friends wrote me telling me of people who, instead of becoming selfish, had been transmuted into saints on earth by the fiery test of pain. I can well believe them. I also know a few such, though I still maintain that it is more common for the invalid to yield to mental suggestion and to relax into thinking chiefly of herself when she is surrounded by people whose chief concern she is.

Character is the Main Fact of Life. But the fact that invalidism and pain can have such totally different effects on different people is just another instance of that truth we are so apt to lose sight of—namely, that after all is said and done, character is the main fact of life. What circumstances shall make of you is determined by what you make of circumstances. Illness makes some people selfish and other people unselfish. It is the same with all the other events of life. Take falling in love, for instance. It makes some people so happy that they are eager to have other people happy, too. It is a wonderful world, they can't bear to have unhappiness in it, and so they become more thoughtful and tender of others. Love Makes Some People Selfish. On the other hand, love makes other people so happy that they can't think of anything but their own happiness. The rest of the world is shut out. It is of this kind of a love that someone writes, "All the world loves a lover but the lover loves no one but himself and his beloved." Poverty and hardship make some people hard and bitter "I am having a hard time, why shouldn't everyone else?" is their attitude. Yet adversity makes other people tender. They know what suffering is and they can't bear to have others feel it. Prosperity is the Hardest Test of All. As for prosperity, though this is perhaps the hardest test of all, there are still a few who can pass through this needless eye without losing their strength of character and breadth of sympathy. We are all very eager to know what is going to happen to us, what the future holds for us in events. That is human nature. But do not lose sight of the fact that what we are going to make of these events is even more important than the events themselves, what we are going to be more important than what we are going to do.

BALDNESS.
Baldness is a relentless and cold-blooded malady which strips the human head of its verdure and leaves it in a state of glistening decollete. It is one of the most determined ailments in all materia medica, and when once firmly seated is harder to shake off than the one-piece bathing suit. Science has long studied the cause and cure of baldness, but has not succeeded in locating either. We pay out a great deal of money in this country every year to keep science from dying a natural death; and what do we get for it? Some of the best and longest-winded scientists on the payroll carry with them to their daily tasks a translucent dome which is entirely devoid of everything except thought and glittering beads of perspiration. And yet all that science has to offer to the victim of this merciless epidemic is a vacant look and some new dandruff remover.

All that science has to offer is a vacant look and some new dandruff remover. Baldness seldom attacks any but men of bulging intellect. John Quincy Adams, President of the United States, was so bald that he could shave himself in a dark room by moon light, and his massive, bump-beaked dome would easily generate 200 candlepower on a bright, sunny day. All over this fair, strictly neutral land of ours, so rich in history and ammunition factories, are to be found smart, brainy men with shining cupolas from which all but reason hath fled. In its search for intellectual companionship, baldness seems to settle upon newspaper men with great violence, which probably accounts for the large number of doctors, ministers and lawyers who have more hair than an Angora goat. Although the half-headed man has much to sadden and depress him, he is never down-hearted except in fly time, when he circumvents the domestic house fly with a skull cap. Baldness is never the result of dissipation, but is caused by thinking upon deep subjects which other people haven't room for. Some forms of baldness have a nefarious accomplice in the person of the derby hat worn during business hours, which has the same degree of ventilation as a roller-skating ring. Baldness never attacks the female sex, except in some spot which can be immediately poulticed with a switch four shades removed from the color of the original hair. This is one of the two beauties of being a woman. The other is housework.

A Horse's Petition To His Driver.

Just outside of the great city of London there is a much-travelled road which winds up a steep hill; and at the foot of this hill some one, who appreciates what a good, faithful friend the horse is to man, has caused to be hung a sign bearing these lines of petition:

Up the hill whip me not,
Down the hill hurry me not;
In the stable forget me not;
Of hay and grain rob me not;
Of clean water stint me not;
With sponge and brush neglect me not.
Of soft, dry bed deprive me not;
When sick or cold chill me not;
With bit or rein jerk me not;
And when angry strike me not.

The really worth white house-keeper is the one who is always ready to adopt a new idea. Honey is a very wholesome sweet and can be used in far more ways than is generally supposed.

The Gas Range!

The Gas Range means comfort for the housewife; shorter kitchen hours for her, and a cleaner kitchen. It is a great mistake to think that cooking with gas is expensive. Whenever a woman becomes used to gas for cooking, thoughts of a coal or wood stove fill her with gloom. A Gas range is so much easier to operate, so efficient for all kinds of cooking, and so much cleaner, that the idea of going back to the old style methods is decidedly unpleasant. Yet in winter many housewives think they must use a coal or wood stove, because there is no other way of heating the kitchen. THERE IS ANOTHER WAY AND IT IS FAR BETTER THAN THE OLD. ## Thousand Extra Planes Will Put Hun Out Of Sky.

LONDON, June 18. — American schoolboys—the high school fellows and young college men—are needed by hundreds to play the most thrilling and fascinating game in the world—the air game.

There is work and room and need aplenty for them on the western front. And just as the British have found most of their best airman in the preparatory schools and the colleges, they believe the best American flyers will come straight from the campus and class room.

A British officer high in War Office councils, thus summed it up today:

"Suppose the United States within six months is able to fly 500 machines on the Western front manned by the sort of fellows who 'make' the football, basketball and baseball teams. They would give the Germans 500 more machines to combat."

"The Boche cannot increase his output of machines very much more, while America can send machines and pilots almost without number. Together we could swamp the Germans. We could make daily raids far into the hinterland, the land that is thick with ammunition dumps, stores and headquarters."

Germans Cannot Stand Pace.

"Now we cannot spare machines or pilots from the fighting front to make such raids on the biggest scale. But we are strong enough in the air to keep the Boche on the defensive."

"Imagine the difference to the German command if five hundred or a thousand or fifteen hundred aeroplanes and pilots—that last named isn't too big a figure—were to arrive fresh and eager for the new game. We'd fly all around him."

"American school boys are very much like the English and French boys. They're sports. They play football and delight in taking chances. That kind of a fellow makes the real airman."

"The German air forces have had a few stars, but generally we have 'lopped their morale.' They can't stand the pace—because they haven't the sporting instinct."

"Send on your schoolboys. They'll find the air game a great one—the greatest game of all."

BRITISH RECRUITS FROM BOSTON

BOSTON, To-Day. Canadian and British forces have obtained 1031 recruits from this city since June 7th through the activities of the New Brunswick Klitties and their band of bagpipes, Col. Percy Guthrie announced to-night. Of this number 108 left yesterday for Fredrickton, N.B. Col. Guthrie has just returned from New York to establish permanent British recruiting headquarters here.

MEETING OF BRITISH AND CANADIAN FREEMASONS.

LONDON, To-Day. The Duke of Connaught was the central figure of a huge gathering at the Royal Albert Hall yesterday and to-day, when 5,000 Freemasons assembled from all parts of the British Isles and Overseas to celebrate the bi-centenary of the Grand Lodge of England. Canadian Masonry was represented at both gatherings by Sir Ed. Letchworth, Grand Secretary, on behalf of Quebec Grand Lodge, and Col. Obediah Smith for Saskatchewan and Nova Scotia Grand Lodges. Many other of the Canadian craft also attended service to-day. The Bishop of Birmingham pictured the period of reconstruction after the war, in which he said the principles of the craft would have a splendid opportunity for developing the well-being of the nation on a higher plane than before the war.

INFERNAL PLOT AGAINST NORWEGIAN SHIPS EXPOSED.

LONDON, To-Day. The seizure of a quantity of explosives which had just reached Christiania, Norway, from Germany, and the arrest there of foreigners, is officially confirmed, according to a Copenhagen despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. The police are continuing investigation of the details as known. Another communication, it was said, will be announced. The Tidens Tegn says that 1,000 kilograms of explosives were seized, including a number of infernal machines. One man arrested was Aaron Rautenfels, a German citizen born in Finland. He declared the bombs were intended for use in Finland. According to the paper, however, the infernal machines, which were enclosed in cases resembling lumps of coal, were to have been put aboard Norwegian ships in the coal bunkers. It adds the discovery of the plot probably explains the loss of many Norwegian ships, which were supposed to have been mined or torpedoed.

CLAIM SUCCESS AGAINST FRENCH

BERLIN, To-Day. A French position S. E. of the Tlian front of eleven and a half kilometres and 500 metres deep was captured yesterday by German troops, army headquarters announced to-day. The prisoners number 300.

ITALIANS TAKE GUNS.

ROME, To-Day. Among the booty taken by the Italians when they captured Austrian positions, on Monte Ortigaza in their offensive on the Trentino front on June 19th were four guns. It was announced to-day in the official statement issued by the Italian War Department.

SINN FEINERS AGAIN ACTIVE.

CORK, To-Day. Sinn Feiners were active here early this morning and smashed the windows of a number of recruiting offices by means of a fire escape hoisted a Republican flag on the Court House flagstaff, smashed the scales held by the figure of justice over the Court House and committed many other acts of violence. The Sinn Feiners by a meeting of the National Convention as a diplomatic attempt to treat the Government and place Ireland in a false position and prevent the fulfillment of Ireland's claim to Sovereign Independence. The resolutions demanded the Executive Council to express the opinion of the people and elect representatives to the Peace Conference.

RUSSIAN SITUATION IMPROVING.

PARIS, To-Day. All thoughts that Russia may conclude a separate peace must be set aside, declared Albert Thomas, French Minister of Munitions, on his return to Paris last night from an extended trip to Russia. An offensive by the Russian Army is both a material and moral possibility, in his belief. He declined to speculate as to when the movement might be expected. The military organization problems are war (near?) solution and the situation as regards the Russian financial difficulties is improving every day. Thomas declared that the whole tone of the Cabinet members and talk is optimistic, although he did not minimize the difficulties Russia is still confronted with.

STATE CONTROL OF ALL FOOD IN GERMANY.

AMSTERDAM, To-Day. The German Federal Council, according to a Berlin despatch, to-day decreed that during the coming harvest year not only bread and grain but barley, oats, peas, beans and buckwheat will be requisitioned for their entirety for control and distribution by the Imperial grain bureau.

TO IMPROVE THE AIR SERVICE.

PETROGRAD, To-Day. The Executive Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' deputies has decided to convoke an all Russian assembly of aviators and manufacturers of air craft, with the object of improving the fighting capacity of the Russian aviators and the reorganization of the whole aviation service. A date has not been fixed, but the congress will be held at Petrograd.

T. P. O'CONNOR IN U. S.

NEW YORK, To-Day. T. P. O'Connor, M.P., one of the leaders of the Irish Nationalist party, accompanied by Richard Hazleton, M.P. for North Galway, arrived to-day on a British steamer. The object of his visit, according to Mr. O'Connor, is to lay before the men of his race and the friends of Ireland of all races in this country the realities and issues of the Irish situation. Their stay here is indefinite. They say that after a few days in New York they expect to go to Washington. "The situation in Ireland is still somewhat confused," O'Connor said on landing. "A series of unfortunate mistakes and tragic events have produced resentment and thrown many of the younger men of the country off their balance for the moment, but this, in my opinion, represents a mood and not a settled preference for the hopeless program of armed insurrection over a constitutional movement. As to the war, opinion in England was more united and hardened. My own views have been already expressed. I need say nothing at present further about America's welcome intervention, except that Lincoln's speech at Gettysburg and Wilson's address to Congress represent to me clear definitions of the issues and purposes for which all free men to-day are fighting. I have come here to lay before the men of my race and friends of Ireland of all races the realities and issues, for the opinion of greater Ireland and of this Democratic Republic beyond the sea remain the most potent factors of working out the liberation of Ireland or of all other nationalities in the world."

KERENSKY ON RUSSIAN WAR AIMS.

PETROGRAD, To-Day. Russia is following an independent foreign policy and the Government is determined to break the Russian troops to disembark at Athens, said Minister of War Kerensky during the debate in the all Russian Congress to-day on the subject of war aims. Regarding the army, the War Minister said: "My orders are the expression of the will of the majority of the Russian democracy. As long as I remain in office I will not permit the disintegration of an army which should be strong and should not allow Prince Leopold of Bavaria and this new socialism to threaten us with divisions and heavy artillery." Referring to Finland and the Ukraine, M. Kerensky urged to appeal to the demands of those regions not to break their union with Russia in the struggle for common happiness and liberty. "The dismemberment of Russia," said the Minister, "would involve their ruin."

BOTHA CONDEMNS REPUBLICAN AGITATION.

CAPE TOWN, To-Day. General Botha, Premier of the Union of South Africa, was loudly and repeatedly applauded in a speech delivered at Robertson, Cape Colony, dealing with a resolution passed in the Assembly last week condemning republican propaganda in South Africa. "South Africa's future," said General Botha, "depends upon the co-operation of the white races. There could not be two separate streams and a republic could not be created unless both races were agreed. The link between South Africa and Great Britain could not be broken without a bloody civil war, and then somebody else would walk off with the spoils." The Premier declared that the talk of a republic was like playing with fire and urged that it cease. It was to Africa's interest to maintain the constitution in connection with Great Britain. The country would now have been in great difficulty but for the British fleet, he said in conclusion.

SINN FEINER OPERATES DISTURBANCE.

NEW YORK, To-Day. A woman waving a Sinn Fein flag disturbed a memorial meeting here last evening in honor of the late Major William Redmond, brother of John Redmond, Irish Nationalist, killed recently at the front in France. She was seized by members of the United Irish League and ejected from the theatre after the audience, angered by the demonstration, had demanded her removal.

CHURCHILL WANTS AGGRESSIVE NAVAL POLICY.

LONDON, To-Day. Winston Spencer Churchill in an article in the Sunday Pictorial demands an aggressive policy for the vast surplus fleet under the Allies' command, especially since America's entrance into the war. The Allied navies, he declared, have to-day at least two Dreadnoughts for every one at the disposal of Germany and Austria and in addition more than four old battleships to one for the enemy, but the Obituary.

MR. J. B. LOCKYER.

The death occurred at Trinity yesterday of Mr. John B. Lockyer. He was born in Greenspond and was a son of the late John S. Lockyer, who did business there. His mother was a sister of the late Capt. S. Blandford and Capt. D. Blandford and an aunt of Hon. S. Blandford, Minister of Agriculture and Mines. Deceased lived in St. John's for many years, worked with the dry goods firm of Sellers and Cairns and later that of Bishop and Monroe and was known to be a most capable salesman. He removed to Trinity ten years ago and carried on a successful business in partnership with his brother William. While in St. John's he was a prominent member of the C.E.L. and Masonic bodies and was held in high regard by his associates. In Trinity also he was much esteemed commercially and socially. He is survived by a wife and three children; two brothers, James and William, of Trinity, and six sisters, Mrs. J. Piercy, Mrs. (Capt.) Arch. Blandford, and Mrs. J. J. Galway, in St. John's; Mrs. G. H. Pearce, at Westport, White Bay, and Mrs. E. Day and Miss Belle Lockyer in Toronto. To the bereaved ones the Telegram expresses its sympathy.

To-Day's Messages.

superiority in weight of metal, in modernity and in tonnage is far greater than these immense figures imply. Are we really to be content to see this vast mass of about 200 battleships wait idle on the off chance of the German fleet emerging to fight until peace, perhaps an unsatisfactory peace, is declared? When three old battleships were sunk in the Dardanelles it was represented as a great naval disaster, but what kind of a disaster would it be when, on the day peace is signed, hundreds of battleships are found to be practically unused and pass into obsolescence, to be supplanted in future wars by airplanes and submarines? We must have a vast blue water fleet capable of engaging the full strength of the enemy with good prospects of success, but after that has been provided for, an immense surplus of old, but valuable vessels remains and it is their adaptation for an employment in aggressive action that escape from the present deadlock can still be found. It is only when we are able to devise and execute some method of aggressive naval warfare against Germans that we shall find his weakness and our strength that we shall liberate our splendid navy fresh from the enchanted circle the submarine has drawn about it and compel our enemies to absorb themselves so much in process of their own defence as to leave them no leisure to compass our ruin.

SERBIAN MINISTRY RESIGNS.

CORFU, To-Day. The Serbian Ministry has resigned. A new Cabinet will be formed with Nikola P. Pachlach as Premier and Minister for Foreign Affairs.

BIG EXPLOSION.

AMSTERDAM, To-Day. The Berlin Vorwarts says that an explosion practically destroyed the Lichtenberg smelting works near Berlin on Saturday night.

SEELY INJURED.

LONDON, To-Day. The Daily Express learns that Brigadier General Seely, ex-Minister of War, has been accidentally wounded in France. The nature of his injuries is not given.

DECORATING A MURDERER.

LONDON, To-Day. An Amsterdam despatch to the Times says that Captain Brandenburg, who conducted the German air raid on London on June 13, in which a large number of persons were killed and wounded, has received the Order Pour Le Merite from the German Government.

Navel Heroes Due To-Night

By the incoming express which is due at 10 p.m. to-day, thirty-six Royal Naval Reservists are returning on furlough. Practically all the men have seen two years of service, during which time they have had many varied experiences. Owing to the absence of His Excellency the Governor there will be no reception at Government House, but citizens are invited to share with the Ladies' Reception Committee the honor of welcoming the boys in blue.

Sir Edgar Bowring Returns.

Appended are a number of people who arrived in the city to-day from the United States and Canada, notably the Hon. Sir Edgar Bowring, whose honor the premises of Bowring Bros. and others along the waterfront are gaily backed with bunting. Sir Edgar is just back from the Old Country where he has devoted so much of his time generally in connection with the war and his attention in particular to the Nid. Regiment. Sir Edgar has been unceasingly interested in the welfare of "our boys" and has given generously of his private means towards their comfort. Quite recently he visited them in France and speaks highly of their soldierly qualities. Sir Edgar is, we are glad to say, looking well. As will be seen in the list below, Capt. R. A. Bartlett, or better known as Capt. "Bob" of Arctic fame, is here to take command of the s.s. Neptune, which will leave shortly for the North Polar regions to bring relief to the MacMillan Exploration party. A number of young ladies, who were attending school in the Nova Scotia colleges, returned home to spend their mid-summer vacation as well as seven boys and four girls of the Halifax School for the Blind, who have got their summer holidays.
