ROYAL BANK BUILDING BOUGHT AT THREE QUARTERS OF A MILLION

Bank Moving Out at End of Year—Buyers Were Dovercourt Land and Savings Company

Reports current yesterday that the Royal Bank was preparing to vacate its King street building at the end of December, revealed, upon investigation, the fact that the bank has not owned the property for the last 12 months. Paying $750,000, the Dovercourt Land, Building and Savings Co. purchased the white marble fronted banking palace late last year.

THE ROYAL BANK BUILDING
10 and 12 East King street, sold at three-quarters of a million.

W. S. Dinick, president of the Dovercourt Land Co., approached for details of the deal, said: "We have owned the property since last November. There has never been occasion to say anything about the deal, till I suppose it was bound to become known sooner or later. The bank, under their agreement with me, retained possession until the end of the year, and they are, I believe, going to move all their business and effects into the Yonge street building at Colborne street. I am not prepared to state just yet what will happen when they go out." The top floors are tenanted by small officeholders.

The building, that has changed hands, although not so large as the new one of the bank offices, is one of the magnificent financial structures of the city. Its interior treatment in costly marble has been pronounced by architects as unusually beautiful and effective.

Next door, at the west, is being erected the Royal Bank skyscraper, ground hood of which has been laid in advance for bank premises. Light on this building project also secured yesterday, it being also that the promoters were seriously considering making the structure 23 stories instead of 20 as first planned.

In its purchase of the former Toronto bank office of the Royal Bank, the Dovercourt Land, Building and Savings Co. secured a six-story building with 48 feet on King street and 110 feet deep. This company is the owner of several large downtown buildings, including the Yonge street Arcade.

TWO SCORE WERE KILLED IN WRECK

Thirty-Nine Bodies Recovered—More Still in the Ruins.

MELUN, France, Nov. 5.—(Can. Press)—When darkness caused a suspension of operations tonight, 28 bodies had been recovered from the wreck of the Marcellus-Paris express last night, and others are believed to be under the ruins.

Several persons in a dying condition are still pinned beneath the wreckage. After many hours of agony, one of them, Mme. Amic, gave directions for the disposal of her jewels.

One of the passengers, who was not hurt, gave the name of McAdams of Tennessee.

CITY INSPECTOR CHARGED WITH GRAFTING

Joseph Goodman Alleged to Have Extorted Money From Owners of Stores, Restaurants and Dairies by Threatening to Have Their Licenses Canceled if They Did Not Pay.

Accused by a dozen restaurateurs and milk dealers of having extorted from them small sums of money from time to time under threats of seeing to it that their licenses were cancelled, Joseph Goodman, a sanitary inspector in the employ of the Toronto medical health department, was arrested by Acting Detective Holmes yesterday afternoon.

Goodman is a Russian Jew, and it was because he could converse with the downtown Jews in their own language that he was employed by the health department. The specific charge on which he is held is of having obtained money from James Ferris, a restaurant keeper of 385 West Richmond street, under false pretences. On Monday last, it is alleged, Goodman called at Ferris' place of business to inspect it. He told Ferris his place was unsanitary, but he would pass it for $2. He obtained the money, but on Wednesday went back again and exacted $5 more. Just how many more business places have been victimized in this way is not yet known to the police, but it is believed that Goodman's operations cover a year at least. The theory also is that many places have had their licenses cancelled on Goodman's reports, although they were up to the sanitary standard of the medical health department.

Speaking to The World last night, Dr. Hastings, M.H.O., said Goodman had been employed on high recommendations from Rabbi Jacobson and Jacob Cohen, J.P. When the police told him of the man's arrest it was the first intimation he had that anything was wrong. No complaints of any kind had been received concerning the performance of his duties as sanitary inspector.

Goodman, he said, spoke two or three languages.

THE METHODISTS' HOLE IN THE GROUND

This Picture Shows the Present Condition of the Beverley House Site, Which Will Stay as it is for the Next Few Months at Least.

METHODIST BOOK ROOM EMBROGLIO IS BECOMING DAILY MORE COMPLEX ON ACCOUNT OF THE CONDEMNED SITE

Syndicate Stories Told to the Committee—Sample of Evidence on Which Interim Finding Was Made—Departments in Conflict.

"Wanted, a suitable site," is metaphorically speaking, the sign now hanging from the Methodist Book Room and Publishing House.

Since the opposition of the leading laymen of the denomination has blocked progress with a hole in the ground, several propositions have been put forward by prominent members of the denomination.

One of the latest proposals is one which appeals strongly to a number of the Book Room employees. It has the charm of novelty and points out a way to recoup the committee for the margin of loss which it is feared has been sustained by the hasty purchase of the West Queen street site.

The suggestion is that the committee secure a suburban acreage, for the printing plant. As the Canadian Methodist Publishing House is the largest denominational publishing house in point of output in the world, and is comparatively in its infancy, an extensive site is required. Of the various advantages advanced, the building or just outside of the present limits, one is that the large and increasing number of employees would be able to acquire homes of their own and reside within reasonable walking distance of their work.

WAR HEROES TO RALLY ROUND MILITANTS

Sylvia Pankhurst, Mistress of Strategy, Expects to Overawe Enemies by Volunteer Corps Headed by Sir Francis Vane—Wily Ruse Disconcerts London Police.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—(Can. Press)—By a clever stratagem which completely hoodwinked the large force of police sent to prevent her from speaking, Miss Sylvia Pankhurst was enabled to announce at the Bow Baths, in the east end of London tonight, the formation of a volunteer corps, organized under the command of Capt. Sir Francis Vane, a Boer war veteran, for the protection of militant suffragettes and labor unionists.

Miss Zelle Emerson of Jackson, Mich., presided over the meeting. Just as the meeting was called to order, the statement was made that the residence of George Lansbury, former Socialist member of parliament, and a warm supporter of the militant suffragettes, was surrounded by police. The crowd rushed from the Baths and found a large number of foot and mounted police around Lansbury's house, with a taxicab in front of the entrance.

Mr. Lansbury arrived on the scene and was apparently greeted as he entered his home. The report was spread that the preparations portended the arrest of Sylvia Pankhurst.

The Girl in the Taxi. The lights in the house were extinguished and suddenly a woman rushed from the doorway and sprang into the taxi, which, surrounded by mounted police, proceeded to Bethnal Green. Then Miss Daisy Lansbury, daughter of the ex-Socialist member, stepped out, much to the discomfiture of the police.

Meanwhile Miss Pankhurst entered the baths practically unobserved. The only disorder was caused by an attack by the women on a few reporters, whom they suspected of being detectives. Mr. Lansbury and Sir Francis Vane followed Miss Pankhurst to the platform. The Boer veteran explained that he proposed to establish a labor training corps. Waving aloft a huge knotted club, Sir Francis said he was prepared to use that weapon wherever he saw women injured and in labor disputes, or wherever the oppressed needed aid.

To Recruit War Veterans. The general staff of the organization will be drawn from officers who had seen war and both men and women are eligible for the ranks.

Miss Pankhurst said the plan was based on the Ulster model, and she expected the same immunity from government interference as Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster leader, enjoyed.

When Miss Pankhurst left the meeting she was surrounded by a body-guard of east enders and made her escape after a lively battle with the police, who were compelled to draw their clubs. The crowd retailed with sticks, and the result was that several intelligents were injured, among them Miss Emerson, who was knocked down and bruised about the head. She too, escaped arrest, being carried away by sympathizers.

BANK SWINDLER WORKING AGAIN

Got Fake Cheque Marked in Toronto, Drew Money at Brampton and Disappeared.

Altho reports appear in the newspapers nearly every day of swindlers getting money from banks by means of fake cheques, there seems to be no let-up in the game. The latest bank swindle was pulled off in Brampton Tuesday.

A man dressed as a lumberman and posing as the agent of a northern Toronto horseman to introduce him to the manager of the Sterling Bank at the corner of Adelaide and Simcoe streets, Toronto. There he said that he had an account in the Union Bank at Owen Sound and got a cheque for $2500 marked. He went to Brampton ostensibly to buy some horses. He called on Albert Kee, a Brampton horse dealer, and when he had completed his fake horse deal deposited the cheque for $2500 in a Brampton bank and drew $1950 in cash. Then he disappeared. The cheque marked in Toronto was sent to Owen Sound and was returned by the Union Bank branch there marked no funds.

The Toronto police have a good description of the man, but so far they have been unable to locate him.

Progressives Have Broken Hold Of Machine in New York State

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(Can. Press)—Theodore Douglas Robinson, state chairman of the National Progressive Party, gave out a statement tonight, saying it was "now positive that the next assembly will not be controlled by Mr. Barnes or Mr. Murphy." He added:

"The Progressive party has elected 24 affiliated Progressives to the assembly; six Progressive Republicans were elected by Progressive endorsement; ten Progressive Democrats were elected by Progressive endorsement, thereby insuring the balance of power to the anti-Barnes and Murphy men. On the face of the returns seventy state Republicans and 30 state Democrats have been elected, and in order to control the assembly Mr. Barnes will have to have the assistance of Mr. Murphy, of five years.

ONE DROWNED FIVE MISSING

Captain and Crew Abandoned Fishing Schooner Off Maine Coast—Victims Include Canadians.

PORTLAND, ME., Nov. 5.—(Can. Press)—The death of the cook and the probable loss of their captain, Vincent Nelson, and three of their mates, form part of a tale of the sea brought here tonight by the fourteen survivors of the crew of the Gloucester fisherman, Annie M. Parker, the fact that their abandonment of the stranded schooner near Nantucket and the loss of life was unnecessary was not known to the crew until word reached them tonight that the schooner was in port at New Bedford practically undamaged.

Nine survivors of the Parker's crew reached here aboard the lumber schooner Tifton from Jacksonville, which had picked them up from forty-three miles off Nantucket Sunday morning after they had been adrift twenty-four hours without food or drink.

A tenth survivor, Harry Nelson of Beverly, son of the captain, was left behind on the Boston steamer, John and Phoebe, exhausted from his experience, but hoping to find trace of his father.

Swept Overboard. Reuben Kenney, the cook, found a watery grave when he was swept overboard from a dory while his mates looked on powerless to help. His home was at Glenwood, N.S. He leaves seven children. The missing men, besides Captain Nelson, are: Lester Fletcher of Arryle Sound, N.S.; Ross Worthy of Puncno Head, N.S.; Thomas Landry of Avohat, C.B.

The Annie M. Parker, bound home from the fishing grounds and carried off her course by adverse winds, went aground on Rose and Crown's Shoal off the Nantucket coast early Saturday morning. The vessel was wrecked by the waves, and the crew agreed with Captain Nelson that hope for safety lay in getting clear of their craft. So they abandoned her.

UPHOLD PLANS OF EARL GREY

Petition Favoring Aldwych Site for Dominion Offices in London, Sent to Premier Borden.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—(C.A.P.)—A petition in favor of the acquisition of the Aldwych site for the new London offices of the Dominion has been cabled to Premier Borden tonight, stating that the signatories, who are all interested in Canadian affairs in London, view with alarm the proposal to acquire a site in Westminster. They respectfully point out "that there is no site in Westminster or elsewhere in the metropolis which can be compared to the Strand site. To all business men in this country engaged in furthering the commercial and financial prosperity of the Dominion, Aldwych is by far the most convenient."

Influential Signatories. At the same time they regard it as the best for effectively bringing before the British public the magnificent Canadian products and unrivaled opportunities the Dominion affords for investment of capital.

Among the signatories are the managers of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Royal Union and Dominion Loans, Norton Griffiths Company, Perpetual Limited, Sperling Company, stock brokers; General Electric Company, Milsen Publishing Company and agents general for British Columbia, Quebec and Nova Scotia and the Naval Military Emigration League.

The Aldwych site has been earnestly advocated by Earl Grey as a central location for offices of the dominions, but has hitherto met with considerable opposition. Earl Grey some time ago secured an option on the property.

Coats for Men at Dinsens. The touch of frost in the air makes the almost steady use of a warm coat imperative. The unexcelled showing at Dinsens, 140 Yonge street, will interest most all men, for there are tweed coats in great variety of English and American styles, fur-lined coats and down coats. During the great over-production sale now proceeding, prices are considerably reduced, and you will readily find a coat priced much below its usual value. An early visit is advisable in the present special circumstances.

GEORGIAN CANAL PROJECT URGED AT MONTREAL

Board of Trade Points to Diversion of Grain to U. S. Ports and Asserts That Canal Would Prevent This by Offering Short Cut Route.

MONTREAL, Nov. 5.—(Can. Press)—The Georgian Bay Canal has once more been brought into the limelight by the Montreal Board of Trade, this time in view of recent indications that the government is contemplating the appointment of a commission to enquire into the commercial feasibility of the project. In addition to reaffirming their old stand, the board of trade voiced a request at their council meeting today that the commercial organizations of Montreal be given a voice in the appointment of members of the commission.

They consider the question of the most vital importance to Canada, at the present moment, in view of the increasing shipments of grain from the Canadian west being made thru American waters. It is their opinion that a great portion of this traffic could be redirected to Canada thru the saving in distance the construction of a canal from Georgian Bay would mean, eliminating as it would the long trip south thru Lake Erie.

MURDER TRIAL IS PROCEEDING

New Evidence Given Against Mrs. Grace Beemer—"Who Could Have Done the Job?"

(Special to The Toronto World). WOODSTOCK, Nov. 5.—At 2.15 this afternoon, the grand jury returned a true bill in the murder case of Rex v. Beemer, and the trial proceeded.

When arraigned, Mrs. Grace Beemer firmly pleaded not guilty. Seven witnesses were examined, the only new evidence being given by Sylvester Beemer, brother of the dead man, who testified that he was at the Beemer house immediately after the death, when Mrs. Beemer's mother exclaimed: "Who could have done the job?" and Mrs. Beemer replied that she had not had anything in the house for several years, and enquired why she should have done it, having so many children to care for.

The case will be resumed at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. Seats for "Joseph and His Brothers." The advance sale of seats for the spectacular play, "Joseph and His Brothers," which will be here next week, opens this morning at the Princess Theatre, and every indication points to another big week at that structure.

NEW RECORD MADE FOR LIBRARIES

Dovercourt Branch Had One Thousand Registrations in a Week.

CHILDREN IN MAJORITY

Three Hundred Meet for Story Hour Every Saturday Morning.

One thousand registrations in one week is the record of the new Dovercourt branch of the Public Library, situated on the corner of Bloor street and Gladstone avenue. Fifty applications is considered a good average for a branch. By comparison the registration of one thousand is phenomenal. It is true that the week of this wonderful count was the first in the history of the institution, which is only ten days old, yet there is no doubt but that the record made may be taken as indicating an unusual interest in their library by the people of the neighborhood.

When the branch was opened the shelves were lined with multi-colored volumes. Yesterday when the World called they were for the most part without tenants, the majority of the books being "out".

It is quite generally accepted that fiction has almost a monopoly of call, but a day taken at random showed that other classes of literature are by no means forgotten. Saturday saw 191 books of fiction, 62 juvenile works and 100 non-fiction taken out. Of the non-fiction quite a large percentage were biography. About half the circulation is among the children.

For the Children.

The interests of the children are a strong feature of this particular branch. One day last week 850 children were among the callers. Saturday morning of every week is story hour and three hundred gathered in the hall. Miss Smith, chief librarian of the city, tell fairly and other interesting features. The Girls' Club in a special feature. Downstairs in the hall the girls gather about the hearth of the big fireplace to read and study. They direct their conversation to the books they are reading. At Christmas they are to present a play the story of which is part of the work of the term.

WIFE BLAMED IN SOME INSTANCES

Mrs. Van Wyck Has Observed Homes That Justify Desertion.

LACROSSE, Wis., Nov. 5.—(Can. Press.)—“Some of the homes I have seen almost justify the husbands running away from them,” declared Mrs. C. Van Wyck of Milwaukee, vice president of the State Conference of Charities and Corrections, in concluding today's annual report before the convention.

“The wife who does not know her job,” she said, “must take her share of the blame for the many cases of wife desertion.”

To teach women her work, she advocated compulsory domestic courses in the public schools.

Mrs. Van Wyck argued strongly for a federal fugitive law similar in operation to the Mann White Slave law. She would have the national government pursue the runaway husbands and send him to the federal penitentiary. As an accompanying remedy, she urged legislation wiping out, if possible, the practice of tramping and training, and she said that in practically every tramp was to be found a runaway husband.

USED HANDEKERCHIEF TO BANK HIS MONEY

St. Louis Deliveryman Had Seven Hundred Dollars in an Old Bandana.

(Special to The Toronto World.)

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 5.—For twenty years a St. Louis deliveryman has served Henry Clark of 2110 Clark avenue as a bank.

Clark has a one-horse delivery wagon with which he earns a living and a little more for the bank. A few days ago the horse ran away, and in front of 47½ Van Wyck street, spilled Clark out on the pavement.

Bruised and dazed, he was taken to the dispensary. The revolving clerk asked him if he had any valuables. He motioned toward his hip pocket. The clerk took therefrom what he thought was a dirty old rag and disgustfully threw it into a corner.

“Here, what are you doing with my money?” shouted Clark, recovering from the stupor.

“Money? I haven't seen any money,” the clerk answered.

“See, you have, it's in that handkerchief you threw away. That's my bank,” he said.

The clerk unfolded the rag and found a roll of currency. He counted $757 in $1, 25 and $10 bills.

THE NURSERY

CONDUCTED BY Mrs. C. MURPHY

To keep a child happy, keep him busy, is a well-known rule in this column, and it applies to all occasions. You have heard parents say time and time again, “The children never appear to get any advantage before strangers,” or “no matter how polite the children are with us, they become tongue-tied and awkward as soon as any one comes into the house.”

And these are the occasions when you wish you could “keep them busy.” To do so, you must have a supply of interesting and reasonable. Give even a little boy something definite to do, and he will be sure to appear before strangers. Let him feel that he has some work to do, even if it is merely to repeat a formula of greeting. He must be very thorough in a child conversation, and “watch” unknown.

On the other hand, nothing is more objectionable than for the child to dominate the conversation either in subject or performance. This, then, is where explicit directions and careful training prove their value. The child must understand the form of greeting. They know they must not sit down while an older person stands and they must not interrupt a conversation. They have learned a set phrase which is not to be used to answer questions or return thanks for services done.

This may seem too formal for many of our readers, but I assure you you cannot be too explicit in directions to the young. Let the children play “manners” in which each child becomes these little arts and graces and become accustomed to their use.

Let there be a certain amount of formalities in the ordinary table talk. You understand me? Never let your child be so courteous in the presence of strangers that the poor, bewildered youngsters will be entirely at a loss as to what you mean, or what you expect them to do.

THE GARAGE

CONDUCTED BY RACHEL R. TODD

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(Can. Press.)—“While” House messengers were distributing invitations to the wedding on Nov. 25 of Miss Jessie Wilson and Francis Bowsay, four hundred and twenty invitations were sent out, approximately two hundred and fifty of them being directed to residents of Washington. The local invitations were delivered by messengers, the others were mailed.

The invitation list is necessarily limited to the names of the east river, where the wedding will take place. The ambassadors and ministers in the diplomatic corps, members of the United States and prominent officials constitute the greater part of the list.

STAGING OF OPERA IN EARLIER TIMES

First Production Would Cost Little Over Five Hundred Dollars.

Today, when the manager of an opera house or music hall does not hesitate to spend $25,000 upon a production, a glance at the prices of two centuries ago is rather startling. Take for example the Academie Nationale de Musique, the favorite theatre of Louis XIV. The singers and dancers of the best, states a writer in an exchange, and the most expensive of the period. The director of the opera was the famous Lully.

For the first performance of an opera produced at this theatre the baritone was paid 100 cents and the second baritone 85 cents. The first and second sopranos were paid at the same rate, and the choruses a bit over 40 cents each. The premiere danseuse received but 50 cents, and the man of the orchestra, in a divided $11 among them. There were 100 people in the production, with a total of about $40 spent in salaries.

The author's rights were regulated by the king himself. The composer was paid $40 for each of the first ten performances, and $10 apiece for those which followed. The composer of the ballet received $24 for each of the first ten days, and $12 afterwards. The premier of the opera then, with ballet brought the composers $64 as against $40 paid to the entire company of singers.

The use of the theatre was a gift to Lully from the king, and the decorations, costumes, lights, etc., came to another $20.

It may be seen then that a first performance at the Academie Nationale de Musique cost in the neighborhood of $525, and after the first ten performances less than $500.

PAID TRIBUTE TO W.C.T.U. FOUNDER

Frances Willard “Mothered World,” Said New York Delegate.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Nov. 5.—(Can. Press.)—A glowing tribute to the memory of Frances E. Willard, founder of the W.C.T.U., and messages from all parts of the country by national lecturers working in the interests of nation-wide prohibition, marked the closing session today of the national convention of the union.

Mrs. Corn E. Seabury of New York, speaking of the work accomplished by Miss Willard, declared that “the most instructive lesson I can give you is that Frances E. Willard mothered the world.”

The women of the Illinois delegation were met by Mrs. Margaret Dye of New Jersey to use their influence with Representative Mann in the interest of a national prohibition bill in his capacity as minority leader in the house of representatives.

THE PROBLEM OF NORTH SIDE OF THE BOARD FENCE.

And is it not a bothersome problem, especially if one has but a limited space in which to indulge in flower growing? Every inch must be utilized—and there is that most impossible stretch of sunless, heavy, sour soil on which it is often quite impossible to coax the hardiest vine to grow.

Cheer up, gardeners, we have seen several things that may help out along this very line.

We need not say that it is wise to do away with the said fence if possible and replace it with a light partition of wire fencing or even an open lattice work. Many folk desire privacy at any cost, and the doing away with the high board fence is a loss while aiding very materially in the growth of healthy plants, would also do away with this much-coveted privacy.

For Dickey-Bird

So many bird and pet lovers have sent me postcard requests for directions for feeding and caring for pet canaries that I shall give the recipe for “saffron cake” here, and to those who sent a stamped envelope I will send personal replies.

Saffron cake—This is for birds that have lost their beautiful yellow plumage as well as their song. It will restore the yellow color to the plumage and is an excellent tonic. One cup of flour, three tablespoons of sugar, two ounces of butter, yolks of two fresh laid eggs and an ounce of saffron leaves. Mix the saffron with a cup of boiling water and let it steep overnight. Strain the liquor from the saffron and mix it with the above ingredients. Spread in a thin layer and bake until hard in a slow oven. This will keep for years and a bit should be kept in the cage continuously.

German Paste Song Restorer—is made from rape seed, and this recipe is from my little book on Care of Canaries. I had it from a bird importer and have found it invaluable. Buy a few ounces of genuine rape seed and add an equal weight of stale white bread crumbs and work these two ingredients into a paste with a pair of hands. Dry this in the oven and when hard crumble it up and keep in a tight container. When the canary seems to need a change of diet, mix a teaspoon of this with a fourth of a hard boiled egg, a sprinkle of paprika and a pinch of sugar. Add just enough water to moisten it. This is excellent food for nestings and is fine for young birds. To those correspondents who claim that their birds throw up this mixture, I should suggest that some other brand of rape seed be purchased. Turnip seed is often used in the place of rape by unscrupulous packers and again seeds are too hard for the young birds to break. I have often seen birds with bills split and cracked from hard break.

Feather-pulling can be cured by a change of location or by the introduction of a bit of lime or anything that will attract the bird's attention. Lice will not trouble birds that are kept in clean cages, but if this parasite has attacked your pet hang a little bag of sulphur in the cage and place a piece of cotton at the end of each perch. The insects will crawl into the cotton and may be burned. At night a white cloth should be spread over the cage and in the morning removed and examined. If there are lice on it scald with boiling water. It requires about two weeks of this treatment to remove the pests and the cage must be frequently scalded and the bird be allowed to bathe every day.

If you are as good to your birds as you ought to be, they will exhibit their confidence in your sympathy and make their wants known in a very charming manner. I have a little lady bird who wants to make a nest now, against our better judgment, but I will see that she has what she wants.

I will see that the recipes for the cat food and dog biscuit are published in this column shortly as well as the directions on the care of ferns.

TREASURE TROVE HIDDEN AND LOST

Twenty Thousand Dollars Found by Boys Disappears Again After Being Cashed.

(Special to The Toronto World.)

CALUMET, Mich., Nov. 5.—Two 12-year-old Lake Linden boys, Leckler and Joseph Tremblait, who found a fortune of $20,000 and have been spending portions of it unknown to their parents, have lost their treasure trove.

A year ago the boys playing on the site of the old Benallack market uncovered an iron box containing over $20,000 in gold and silver coins. They hid the box and since that time have been dipping into it whenever they wanted spending money.

A few days ago, suspecting that someone else had found the hiding place of the box, they buried it beneath the Houghton-Douglas Falls. Today, when called to account for having expensive playthings in his possession one of the boys told his parents of the find. When they went to get the box it was gone.

THE GHOST BREAKER

“You little cat, I'll trim those claws,” he said, starting toward those two unthinking eyes.

“No, Senor,” he heard as from some distance.

“I'll trim those claws,” he repeated, but he was in no hurry; he would gaze after those eyes until they were old, and now they were receding and growing monstrously. He could see thru the pupils of those eyes and behold amazing things beyond the landscape, a mountain in the distance, and a castle against a moon. The bang of a door startled him. He found himself staring thru the French windows. He was alone.

“The devil's own daughter,” gasped the don. The wide-open door admitted two men just as Robledo started toward it. One was a shabby little man of five feet, called by his first name, Gaspar. The other Maximo had the seamed and browned face of a man who has seen a lot of outdoor life, a puffed upper eyelid of tropical sun and the erect bearing bespeaking the military man. He was indeed, an old soldier who had seen service in both Cuba and the Philippines, and now after many years, had found his way back to Segura.

Robledo's confused and furious countenance amused the soldier, and he laughed openly. Gaspar seized his hand and whispered warning, and Maximo stopped. Robledo strode toward them, eyebrows up, eyes wide open, with a sinister, sneering face, every line of him full of insolence and irritating trouble.

Gaspar hastened to respond that he was merely at a loss in the wine-room. “But,” said the swash buckler, “lucky for you, and he glared savagely from one to the other. “Is Pedro here?”

“Yes, Senor.”

“Then get out of my way.” With which remark, Robledo forced the two men apart, elbowed his way between them, entered the wine-room door and slammed it behind him.

“Why is that gentle soul,” asked Maximo, whose ire urged him to pull the don's nose. “But the soldier had fought with red and white flag for danger unless the reward equal to the risk.”

“That's Robledo, Don Robledo—you know him,” answered the little tradesman.

“Robledo? I thought they hanged him for that affair at Madrid,” grumbled the soldier.

“Not that man. He has too much excited influence and a leader, a ruffian and a cut-throat and all that, but you can't help admiring such a ‘bold’ fighter.”

“Those bold fighters don't last very long. Some day another bold fighter will come along and stop you. He will come along and stop you.”

“Why is that gentle soul,” asked Maximo, whose ire urged him to pull the don's nose. “But the soldier had fought with red and white flag for danger unless the reward equal to the risk.”

SCHOONER FOUND CREW MISSING

Fishing Boat, Seaworthy and
With Valuable Cargo,
Strangely Abandoned

A NAUTICAL MYSTERY

Vessel Sailed from Sydney,
N.S., Just Eleven Days Ago.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Nov. 5.—The faded yellow pages of the log-books of the New Bedford whaling fleet fail to record a mystery of the sea more intriguing than that presented today, when the revenue cutter Greatham towed into port the Gloucester fishing schooner Annie M. Parker, which was picked up Monday night with all sails set, her hold filled with fish and without a soul on board, 40 miles east of the Nantuxet Lightship. There is no trace of any of the 18 men composing the schooner's crew.

In its details the mystery of the Annie M. Parker reads like the case of the Boston brig Marie Celeste, which was found abandoned at sea some 40 years ago. The fate of the crew was never known.

Abandoned in Haste.

The British steamer Astrakhan, bound from New York for France, sighted the Parker on Monday night, drifting about with all sails set. Boarding the schooner, the officers of the steamer learned that she had evidently been abandoned in haste. Four or eight dories usually carried on the fisherman were "nested" and lashed to the deck. The other dories were missing. The clothing and valises of the captain and crew were found in their bunks. A few burned pieces of bread were all the food that was found in the galley, indicating that before leaving the crew had hastily gathered together a supply of provisions.

The schooner was not leaking and appeared to be in perfect condition, except for the loss of one job that was carried away, possibly after the vessel was abandoned.

Cargo Worth $6000.

Salt fish, valued at about $8000, filled the hold.

The crew from the Astrakhan was put in charge of the Parker and they later turned her over to the Greatham.

From the owners of the Annie M. Parker, the Gordon-Few Fisheries Co., Gloucester, it was learned the schooner sailed from Sydney, N.S., for her home port on a fishing voyage on her trip to Newfoundland Grand Banks. She was in command of Capt. Vincent Nelson, a veteran Gloucester skipper, and was manned by a crew of 18 men.

The owners could offer no explanation of the abandonment of the vessel. The men that make up the fishing fleet are traditionally famous for standing by their craft as long as it will stay afloat, and the unexplained condition of the schooner gives no indication that she was at any time in danger of sinking.

There is a possibility that the crew of the Parker was picked up by some galling vessel. Had they been taken on board a steamer it is probable that the rescue would have been reported by wireless.

Tyrrell, private secretary to the British secretary for foreign affairs, Sir Edward Grey, who will be the guest of Sir Cecil for another month.

LORD GREY'S GREAT IMPERIAL SCHEME.

(1) Trafalgar Square. (2) Charing Cross Station. (3) Savoy Hotel. (4) Waterloo Bridge. (5) London Opera House. (6) Kingway. (7) Australia Commonwealth Site. (8) Marconi House. (9) Admiralty House. (10) St. Paul's Cathedral. (11) Law Courts. (12) Temple. (13) Euston (L. & N. W. Rly.). (14) King's Cross (G. N. Rly.). (15) British Museum. (16) St. Paul's Cathedral. (17) Waterloo Station (L. & S. W. Rly.).

The above illustration, taken from Westminster Bridge, shows the magnificent and unique site, the option for which Lord Grey has secured for the Dominion Overseas, should the ideal appear to be erected there a great Imperial scheme which will be an inspiration to the Empire. As will be seen in the illustration, the site is in the very centre of the Metropolitan—halfway between St. Paul's Cathedral and Trafalgar Square, flanked by the Courts of Justice, Somerset House, and the other great institutions of the city. With the exception perhaps of the Mansion House, probably more people pass this point during the day than any other in London, while north of this great island site is a splendid new Kingsway, which will in very short time be the life of a nation, will be one of the finest streets in Great Britain. This amount to paid for this site is, according to a leading Montreal paper, a surprisingly low one, a price at which land could not be got on St. James' or St. Catherine's Street.

The money expended would be by no means all outgoings, for after securing what would be undoubtedly the most impressive headquarters for the Dominion Overseas, it would be possible to acquire a large amount of remaining space which would be rapidly filled by institutions and business concerns connected with Canada, many of which have expressed a keen desire to become tenants the moment the scheme matures.

London is not only the centre of the Empire, but is becoming more and more the magnet of the world. Ten of thousands, not of newly aliens, but the leading citizens of both hemispheres visit the city every year, and pass the spot in the heart of her busiest thoroughfares.

As a business house, no matter how adorned with her wealth, and so no one can accuse Canada of not having set the pace. Here we have an opportunity of taking a leading part, in not temporary expansion, but in a great permanent scheme, which will secure a permanent exhibition of her vast resources and which would force Imperial trade in a manner otherwise unobtainable. To quote the Australasian: "Such a colossal building as the one contemplated, with its commercial, administrative, aims and possibilities would come to be regarded as the embodiment of the Empire in such a way that even the most unimagination, unthinking and unreflecting person would be forced to realize what the British Empire is, and what it means."

It is a great plea for the people of Canada to say "Yes" or "No."

Theatres and Concerts

This morning at nine o'clock at the Prince Theatre will open the advance sale for the splendid season play of Joseph and His Brethren, when next afternoon its engagements will begin. Mrs. Dana, who was accompanied by her teacher, Miss Ethel Shepherd, of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, was enthusiastically received by the large and cultured audience present, and made the recipient of many tributes and magnificent floral bouquets during the performance. The Newark Evening News commenting on the recital, said: "Mrs. Dana's soprano is fresh, bright and so well suited to her singing commended itself to the more discriminating tastes of the audience."

The Orange Daily Chronicle said: "Mrs. Dana's beautiful voice and charming personality secured for her the most favorable reception of the evening of the season. It was freely given."

Crawford were found not guilty and honorably discharged by Judge in the criminal court at the city hall yesterday morning of the charge of distributing tickets for the meeting of the Laurier meeting held in the Arena on May 5, which was organized by F. G. Inwood, Liberal organizer for the province. Leahman and Crawford were issued, but many of those who had received tickets could not gain admission from the fact that a boy delivered a bundle of them to Leahman's house. He thinking they were intended for his brother, who is a member of the Reform Association, invited a number of his friends to help themselves.

ONE HORSE BURNED ANOTHER WAS STOLEN

Incendiary Fire at Bloor Street Stables Linked Up With Theft.

One horse belonging to Charles Desmarques of 430 West Bloor street, was burned to death and another stolen in an incendiary fire which destroyed his two-story frame stable at the rear of the above address yesterday morning. The stolen horse and rig were afterwards recovered on the premises of Peter Edmonds, 298 Sherbourne street, where the thief evidently had abandoned them. The loss is close to $1000, partly covered by insurance.

The investigation is believed to have been the work of a gang of lads about the age of 16 who lately have infested the neighborhood. According to the constable on duty, he passed the lads and no greater mother ever lived than his physical act of motherhood for its creation; it is in every true woman scene of the fire shortly before it was discovered, and saw no person there at that time. The police are investigating.

FOUNDED 1860. A morning newspaper published every day in the year by The World Newspaper Company of Toronto Limited. H. J. Maclean, Managing Director.

GLOBE, TELEGRAM & CO.

The proposal to purchase the street railway is a very simple affair, when not confused with issues raised by real estate interests and others represented by The Telegram and The Globe. It is always the special interests affected that squeal loudest when a general public interest is brought forward.

The development of the Humber valley is a brilliant idea upon which we have complimented Mr. Home Smith and his enterprise, in the very articles The Telegram, as usual, falsely represents as an attack on him. To succeed in the exploitation of the Humber necessitates a prosperous city in the background.

Why does The Globe take a crooked position of this kind? Why does it try to deceive its readers? Why does it not place the facts fairly before the people, and let them judge for themselves? Why has it allied itself with The Telegram in its effort to block an important step in the public ownership of the public utilities of the city?

Under ordinary conditions, the street railway would have expanded with the expanding city limits. The 20 per cent. gross revenue clause in the city agreement makes the railway carelessly about adding to its further expansion. The company must give to the franchise in eight years or fight to retain it.

The Telegram policy would block all this and block the development of such properties as that managed by Mr. Home Smith. Had anyone but Mayor Hocken proposed the purchase of the street railway?

THE TELEGRAM GETS ITS BREATH.

Afraid to face the truth in the charges of inconsistency we made against it for opposing every scheme of improvement or progress around the city except the Humber valley surveys? The Telegram has observed a close silence for ten days till last night when it tried to make it appear that The World is attacking Mr. Home Smith and that we have deserted that brilliant young Apollo in the hour of his success.

GETTING READY FOR THE MELON

Financial papers are predicting that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company will soon "segregate its extraneous assets." That is, the company will convey its enormous land holdings and perhaps other assets to a syndicate or corporation to be formed among its stockholders. The company now has 6,287,350 acres of farming lands and 1,697,994 acres of timber and mineral lands worth in all about $250,000,000. Were this land to be alienated the company would still be abundantly able to operate all its utilities and pay a dividend of 10 per cent. Again, it is suggested that the subsidiary corporation may take over not only the lands but many of the securities in which the company's surplus is invested, its telegraph, hotel and express business. No doubt the same executive would manage both companies, and the railway company could be made to contribute handsomely to the coffers of the company operating the other utilities.

The purpose of such a move is twofold. It would, in the first place, immediately provide a gigantic pension for the stockholders, and in the second place, it would materially reduce the enormous accumulations and surplus of the parent company. The stockholders having their property divided between two concerns might easily get a 10 per cent. dividend from each. They might, it is true, without much trouble pay themselves a 20 per cent. dividend from the investments and earnings of the C. P. as now constituted, but they fear to exceed the 10 per cent. dividend which was the maximum dividend contemplated by the contract with the government, and they realize that some reduction in rates is more likely to be ordered if their enormous accumulations and earnings are not apparently decreased.

The World has always contended that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company received in trust the seven hundred miles of railway given to it by the government, together with the vast sums of money and areas of land made over to it under the agreement. These gigantic grants were consecrated to the enterprise, and we utterly deny that the stockholders are entitled to divide them up as so much personal property. No one will pretend that the stockholders, by any agreement among themselves or with the corporation, could legally divide among themselves and make off with the rails, ties and rolling stock of the railway company, and then build houses and barns for themselves on the right of way. How, then, can they divide among themselves and appropriate the vessels, the wharves, the stations, the hotels, the telegraph wires and instruments used in the telegraph business, and the horses, wagons and real estate used in the express business? And it should be no less beyond the power of the corporation to transfer and convey those assets en bloc to the stockholders banded together in another corporation.

It may be claimed that the farm and mineral lands, together with the investments in securities, represent a surplus not actually used in the conduct of any public utility, and therefore divisible among the stockholders by way of dividend. This we also deny, believing that these assets no less than the others above enumerated are consecrated to the enterprise. If there is an enormous surplus on hand it should go to improving and extending the service and reducing the rates.

There seems no limit to the audacity of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and the arrogance of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, but we venture to think that this appropriation of trust property to private greed will not be attempted without the sanction of parliament. That sanction should be refused, and indeed parliament should intervene at once and assert the rights of the public. Meanwhile the minister of railways, who has the reputation of being a plain-speaking man, should call down the melon cutters, and call them hard. The government and the parliament of Canada should make the Canadian Pacific Railway Company understand that it holds its property in trust for the public, and that it is the servant and not the master of this Dominion.

According to local sporting authorities, The Globe's editorial page is not "running to form." Its "inconsistent performances," it is rumored, are likely to get it into trouble with "the presiding judge." It is currently reported that it would have been "ruled off" for its "outrage to pay ransom effort," but for the explanation that it was a "trial"

Editor World: There are thirty-eight children in the Queen Mary Hospital. Under the sanitarian treatment a very large percentage of these children will become free from tuberculosis. In order that they may be able to attend school practically in the open air it is essential that they be dressed in special "Arctic" suits. As all the patients live most of the time out of doors even in winter, and as many of them cannot provide their own clothing, donations of suitable clothing will be gratefully received at the office of the National Sanitarium Association, 347 West King Street, Toronto.

AN AUTHORIZED TRUSTEE INVESTMENT. The debentures issued by this Corporation are a security in which Executors and Trustees are authorized to invest Trust Funds. They are issued in sums of one or more years. Interest is computed from the date on which the money is received and is payable half-yearly.

By the office boy, which got sent upstairs by mistake. It was pointed out to the "presiding judge" but on the face of it the article could not be accepted as written by an intelligent adult, since it represented the street railway as running for the next eight years without making a cent of profit. The "presiding judge" accepted the explanation given on behalf of the "owners," but gave a "warning" against a repetition of the offence.

The Globe is afraid of jokers in an agreement drawn by the city lawyers in the city interest. Why, then, does it not assist in getting the best legal advice to help the city in preparing the agreement to purchase?

CHILDREN NEED CLOTHING.

WHY THE STREET RAILWAY WANTS TO SELL.

The Telegram: No wonder the Maclean interests want to sell the street railway assets and franchises for $22,000,000. Their franchise has less than eight years to run. To preserve the financial power of that franchise and maintain the efficiency of their physical assets, the Maclean interests must arrange to purchase equipment and other improvements inside the present city limits.

How can the Maclean interests finance $7,100,000 worth of inevitable street railway improvements? The Mackenzie interests cannot issue bonds remaining in the life of their franchise. The sinking fund required for eight-year bonds would be $1,000,000 for the improvements created by a method of street railway finance. The Mackenzie interests cannot issue bonds to finance the improvements, and must preserve the sinking fund of $7,100,000 on street railway improvements. The money must be spent first to preserve the sinking fund, and then to make off with the rails, ties and rolling stock of the railway company, and then build houses and barns for themselves on the right of way.

HENNESSY STILL TRAILING GRAFT

Charges Against Various Officials at Albany Will Be Investigated.

ALBANY, N.Y., Nov. 5.—(Can. Press)—Freed from the New York mayoralty fight, John A. Hennessy, state investigator, jumped back into Albany today and made arrangements with Governor Glynn for a renewal of investigations into Hennessy's charges of graft in various state departments.

Governor Glynn was called to New York today, and could not confer with Hennessy at length. It was agreed, however, that they would meet again next Monday. Hennessy then will present all the evidence he has in relation to graft and suggest new ways of getting it into trouble with "the presiding judge." It is currently reported that it would have been "ruled off" for its "outrage to pay ransom effort," but for the explanation that it was a "trial"

Re Knox and City of Belleville—E. H. Porter, C.K. for Knox, moved for order quashing bylaw No. 185 passed on 2nd June, 1913, S. Masson, K.C. for the city. Judgment: The point on which Re Jones and Ottawa turned was felt by the divisional court to be a very narrow and technical one. No costs were awarded and only the objectionable sections of the bylaw were quashed. The present bylaw is intended to be and will be of great benefit to the citizens from a sanitary point of view, and it ought to be upheld by the divisional court. The general law of the land, The Ottawa bylaw assumed to prohibit householders from disposing of their refuse in the street, is not intended to be a restriction on the garbage collector as to his duties. The alleged delegation of authority to the sanitary inspector, and the board of health is not matter which are purely ministerial. Motion dismissed with costs.

HAMILTON DIES UP THE DOPE TO PROVE THE TIGERS' PROWESS

Argonauts Keep Up Work With Lawson in Uniform—Varsity Taking No Chances on Queens Game.

Politicians tell you that figures can't lie and the tipsters declare that their choices never lose; so The Hamilton Speculator is justified in saying up the season's record to show that Argos have no chance with the Tigers on Saturday.

Table with 2 columns: Team, Points. Lists scores for Argos vs Ottawa, Argos vs Montreal, and Ottawa vs various teams.

In the five games Ottawa have scored 14 more points than they have scored on. Argos have come within just 10 points more than their opponents.

Varsity firsts held a great workout last night when they lined up against St. Michael's, who captured the western section of the Intermediate Intercollegiate Union.

Trinity play Koo today in the final game of the Mulock Cup series, in Group C. Knox have to win to tie the group.

McGill will make several changes on Saturday. At yesterday's practice, Fuchs and Donnelly were again in uniform, while Lee, Lermy and Montgomery were absent.

Lalng will be tried out at centre-half. The McGill captain is a great punter, but he has some difficulty in placing them.

McGill need the R.M.C. game to be able to win the championship around the training quarters it is believed that the boys will brace up again after Saturday's poor showing.

Four of Them Under the Ban—Council Decides to Hold a Smoker.

A meeting of the T. & D. council was held last night, and several important measures were passed upon. It was decided to give a donation to the St. John's Ambulance Corps. The following players were censured for rough play: Templeton, Sons of Scotland; Leonard, Devonians; Jackson, Estons; Donald, Old Country.

On Saturday the Argonauts will play the Combines at Hamilton on the 15th, or waiting to play at Rosedale on the 22nd, in the Saturday winning from the Tigers on Saturday next.

McGill's probable line-up for Saturday will be: Flying wing, Jimmy Lee; halves, Draper, Lalng and Paisley; scrum, McLean and Abbott; inside wings, Hughes and Donnelly; outside wings, Jeffrey, Gordon or N. Williamson.

At Varsity they are strongly against the appointment of a professional coach, and as McGill and Queens have so declared themselves it is likely that Shaughnessy's plan will be abandoned.

With only one more game to play, the M.A.A. senior rugby warriors do not show much interest in their practice. Only a few seniors turn out to practice.

Varsity Champs Are Available

Nearly All of Last Year's Hockey Team Back to School—Gossip.

The Varsity has the following to say regarding the hockey situation at University College:

Hockey prospects for the coming season are bright indeed. Arrangements are almost completed for the use of the Arena again this winter.

Of last year's senior champs, Laird, Hanley, German, Sinclair, Bird, Wilson, Knight and Jupp are back on the job.

The Junior team, which was the Junior intercollegiate, were runners up in the O.H.A. are looking forward to another successful season.

That the Wanderers' Hockey Club will have practically the same team in the N.H.A. series this season as a year ago, is shown by the fact that seven of last season's players have already signed their contracts and returned them to President Lichtenheim.

A meeting will be held at the Toronto Rowing Club this evening at 8.30 for the purpose of organizing the hockey section of the club for the coming season.

A Montreal despatch says: Newey Lalng, Ontario and Hamilton hockey teams are considering entering the intermediate O.H.A. together with St. Pat's.

The students at Osgoode Hall have decided to enter a team in the senior series of the Ontario Hockey Association.

The Centennial Club of Hamilton will have a senior O.H.A. team, and they claim to have corralled all of the senior men in the city.

London Free Press: Reuter, one of the best junior O.H.A. goalkeepers, is in the city employed at the Bank of Commerce.

Jack Laviolette, the whirlwind of the Canadian hockey team, won the first block of his 1912-13 contract yet. Jack says that none of the Canadians of last season's team seem at all anxious to sign at present.

THE WELKIN MAKES WORLD'S RECORD

Packs Up Top Weight and Defeats Good Field in Handicap Steeplechase.

PIMILICO, Nov. 5.—The Welkin was again a good horse today, winning the handicap steeplechase from a large and classy field. The favorite, Geo. Eno, finished second, and Clell's Sister third. The time, 3:52-5, is a world's record for a steeplechase of two miles. The Welkin had 180 pounds on her back. She is ten years old and is owned by Col. Hal Farr of Baltimore. The black mare took the lead early in the race, and flying over her jumps like a bird, soon had the field strung out. The only serious contention came from George Eno, who, always well up, came with a rush at the end, but made a bad landing at the last jump.

CALGARY WILL HAVE BIGGEST CURLING RINK IN THE WORLD

Mammoth Combination Building for Curlers and Hockey Players With Artificial Ice Plant to Be in Operation Next Fall.

CALGARY, Nov. 5.—The executive committee of the Thistle, Victoria and Civic Curling Clubs held a well attended meeting in the town planning rooms of the city hall, and after a good deal of discussion, J. A. Smith moved and James Barr seconded the following resolution, which was carried nem. con.:

"That a joint meeting of the three clubs be held on Friday, November 7, at eight o'clock, at a place to be decided later, to discuss the question of co-operating with the Crystal Ice Company in the matter of erecting a curling rink in connection with the skating rink and ice manufacturing plant, and that the secretaries of the three clubs notify all the members of the meeting."

The chair was taken by Alf Living, secretary of the Thistle Curling Club, who stated that this meeting originated as far back as a general meeting of the Thistle club, when William Davidson, manager of the Crystal Ice Company, asked permission to inform the members of that club what the company he represented had in mind in regard to building a curling rink in connection with the skating rink. The members came to the conclusion on that occasion that four sheets of ice would not be sufficient for all curlers of Calgary. It was decided to call an executive meeting so that the rink could be taken up with the company with the purpose of interesting the curlers of this city and giving them a rink that would have nine or ten sheets of ice, and by that means accommodate all the curlers for five months in the year.

William Davidson then explained to the meeting that the plans and specifications for the new building were being prepared by Morrison and Company, Montreal, the eminent construction engineers, and the company was under contract with the city to operate next fall. There will be an artificial ice rink measuring 225 feet by 130, with a seating capacity for 5000 persons, and a sheet of ice measuring 3 by 185 feet.

"We ask the curlers of Calgary," said Mr. Davidson, "to come in with us and get a curling rink which will be unequalled on the face of the globe. We have not to be in operation by December 1, 1913, and you will have a curling sheet of fast ice and the best ice you have ever seen. We ask your co-operation in this matter."

Mr. Davidson then dealt with the financial phase of the question, and explained that if the members purchased some of the stock at par they would be entitled to the dividend in the entire enterprise of the company. The company was willing to make curling sheets with adequate club rooms and other conveniences. This would entail an additional expense in the neighborhood of $50,000. The members were not, however, compelled to become stockholders in order to enjoy the privileges of this curling rink, but it would be looked on more as an investment for them, in that they would enjoy all the privileges of the other stockholders.

Mr. Esbert announced that the company, of which he is the president, would co-operate with the curlers and would give them a first class curling rink. The other members who spoke all seemed in favor of the proposition and heartily supported the resolution proposed by Mr. Smith. At a full meeting of all the curlers of the city, to be held next Friday, the matter will be thoroughly thrived out and a definite decision arrived at.

BIG MONEY FOR THE GOLF PROS

Ray and Vardon Clean Up in States—Their Graft is Golf Balls.

It is a much-mooted question just what the big professional golfers get for playing their favorite game. That they are richly rewarded—some of them richly—is certain. While recognized as a gentleman's sport, it has many sides that are turned to profit, and remarkable incomes are being made from golf.

Edward Ray, who was one of the great pros in the triple play-off, remarked just after the financial turn, he had made $300 in the tournament at Brookline.

As it was generally known that he had made three $200 bets that he would make or break $5 (which he lost), this means that $1500 was in evidence, including the $100 prize offered as third money.

All golfers like to have a little something on the side when playing a match, and the fact that Vardon and Ray must have left a little tip at home for their friends to follow was borne out when a night after the qualifying round, announcing that there was $5000 in London ready to go up at 1 to 2 odds that one of the two notable Englishmen would win the United States title.

This was showing great confidence in the two world's champions, as there were 17 players, comprising the best talent that ever competed in this country on hand. The odds would seem to be about 2 to 1 at the start of the fight, so that 2 to 1 at golf was conservative odds for the Britons to ask.

When Ray says he finished $500 to the good, it has a note of significance attached. It might mean that his side had aggregated nearly twice what the first prize for winning the championship was, if Francis Outimet were a professional, he could collect but $300 cash, instead of receiving plate.

It has been known that certain ball manufacturers would pay large sums of money to have a champion use their balls, and, as this avenue of revenue is open and above board, it is little wonder that professionals will play the ball that has the biggest bonus attached to it, rather than the one they like best.

McDermott was approached by several firms when he was in the line for the title of this country, but he refused to give up the ball used by the Massachusetts amateur champion in his state, national and open golf this year. It was the same ball that Tom McNamara won the Metropolitan open and Massachusetts open with in two consecutive years, and the latter player is a golf salesman of a firm manufacturing many kinds of balls, there could be only the "best ball" reason for playing it in the instances mentioned.

Professionals would be foolish not to take advantage of opportunities to pick up money this way, as well as getting a figure on their play in professional matches. The demand for Ray and Vardon exhibitions may not be as numerous as would have been the case had they won for first and second money at the head of the best American field ever assembled would have made them wonderful draw cards.

FROM $5000 TO $25,000. Estimates of over $5000 to $25,000 are spoken of in everyday conversation of what the Englishmen may pick up in their play in this country. Golf is here to stay. Vardon won every match but that he played in this country, including the open championship in 1906, and why should not wealthy committees pay well to see world's champions in action?

It was reported that the national course, whose nucleus for membership is made up of fifty millionaires, refused to put up a purse of $400 for an exhibition, but the Englishmen didn't come down in their price, saying they had about all the exhibition dates scheduled ahead that they could fill.

NEEDED POLICE TO PROTECT WITNESS

Investigation of Worcester Asylum Develops More Sensational Charges.

WORCESTER, Mass., Nov. 5.—(Can. Press)—The police were called to Worcester State Hospital for the second time since the investigation of the place was begun by the state board of insanity. An officer went sent at the request of John Addison Halsen of Boston, who is prosecuting the investigation in behalf of the petitioning nurses, to protect Mr. Halsen and his star witness of the day, Max E. Frankel, an attendant who left the hospital Tuesday, have been threatened by male attendants and feared physical violence if they left the place alone. The officer escorted them to the Union Station.

Frankel alleged that Matt. L. Kennen was once tied to the bed for two weeks and that his body became covered with sores. From the hospital records Dr. Briggs read extracts showing this to be true. The date given in the records was Aug. 17, 1912, while Frankel fixed it five days earlier. No reason for the alleged thing was given.

That Charles Vogel, a patient now in New York, went two and one-half days without food was another allegation of the witness. Frankel said also that attendants have stolen fruit and other delicacies from the patients. He said that there is much that can be said in favor of Dr. Scribner, in that he has tried to give a good administration.

BRAVE OFFICER GETS CAPTAINCY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(Can. Press)—Maurice Spangenberg, first officer of the steamer Grosse Kurfurt, was promoted today to captaincy in recognition of the rescue by himself and his men of 105 passengers of the steamer Volturo which burned at sea. Spangenberg was in command of the Grosse Kurfurt when she aided the burning vessel.

CABINET CHANGES AT OTTAWA MOOTED

Several Ministers Slated for Retirement, Says Montreal Daily.

MONTREAL, Nov. 5.—(Can. Press).—The Daily Mail (Ind.-Con.) today announces a number of cabinet changes in the immediate future, but will be an fait accompli before many months are over.

The changes include the resignation of Hon. C. J. Doherty, minister of justice, to the chief justiceship of Canada, because Sir Charles Fitzpatrick "is not entirely satisfied with the tenacious of a judicial position." Sir Charles will become, according to The Mail, either Canadian High Commissioner in London or a member of the judicial committee on the privy council.

Mr. Doherty's successor as minister of justice, it is expected, will be the Hon. Arthur Meighen, new solicitor-general. Hon. Frank Cochrane, minister of railways and canals, is declared to be weary of the political game, and would like to have been appointed before now as lieutenant-governor of Ontario.

Hon. Dr. Roche, minister of the interior, the somewhat improved in health by his trip abroad, is far from being a well man, and would be glad to relinquish the cares of office. Among those prominently mentioned as probable successors to Messrs. Cochrane and Roche are W. B. Northrup and Colonel John Currie.

Hon. Bruno Nantel, says The Mail, will go to the railway commission, and Hon. Louis Codrere to the bench. Their successors would be Hon. T. C. Casgrain, K.C., and L. T. Marshehal, K.C. Sir Rodolphe Forget is said to be slated for a ministry without portfolio.

GLORIOUS VICTORY DECLARES McADOO

Sees in the New York Election Vindication of Policy of Administration.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(Can. Press)—Secretary McAdoo today telegraphed his congratulations to Mayor-elect John Purroy Mitchell of New York.

"Glorious victory all along the line," he said. "Great vindication of the policies of the administration. Hearty congratulations and best wishes for your successful administration of the great and inspiring tasks that confront you."
