FIVE THOUSAND PAIRS OF SOCKS

St. John Will Probably Raise This Number Before Saturday Night; The Reason

A whirlwind campaign to secure 5,000 pairs of warm woolen socks for our wounded boys in English and French hospitals was instituted yesterday by the pulpits making announcement of the appeal. Today the theatres and the newspapers are on the job. It is assumed, therefore, that hundreds of pairs of socks are already on the needles and that many more have been purchased outright. This is a sock campaign that anybody with nimble sixpences can take part in readily.

The local branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society has been advised of the need of the number of socks mentioned as their patriotic duty. No appeal therefore can possibly carry more weight or be met with in a more generous spirit. It is really the cry of our lads who have been stricken down and that they will receive their warm footwear seems assured, provided there is a general response.

This morning the Red Cross people were advised that many of the patriotic societies and circles were making bulk donations of socks. There were numerous packages promised of socks bought in the stores, some of them from men. One invalid old citizen sent his grand-daughter up town to buy a half dozen pairs. This is the spirit that will fill that 5,000 order before Saturday night.

The socks are to be sent to Imperial Theatre, the lobbies of which will be devoted to this campaign all week. The accumulation of donations will be displayed in the windows, giving the public an idea how the "big drive" is progressing.

GERMAN REPLY TO POPE LESS PEACEFUL THAN WAS EXPECTED

Report That Recent Events Have Caused a Change in Berlin

Amsterdam, Sept. 17.—The German answer to the peace note of Pope Benedict, according to the German correspondent of the Amsterdam Tjds, is less favorable than the peace advocates desired and the pan-Germans feared. This is because of recent events like the fall of Rigas, the capture of Rumania and the reply of President Wilson to the Pope.

From a practical point of definite concessions," the correspondent adds, "it has been reduced largely to the well theoretical peace assurances." The note, it is said, will be ready for transmission to the Pontiff some time this week.

The Answer Delivered?—London, Sept. 17.—Dr. Richard von Kuehnel, German foreign secretary, who is now visiting King Ludwig at Munich, called on the papal nuncio and handed him Germany's reply to Pope Benedict's peace proposal on Saturday evening, according to the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger, as quoted in an Amsterdam despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company.

CORN SLUMPS IN THE CHICAGO MARKET

Chicago, Sept. 17.—Decided breaks took place today in the price of corn as a result of general selling based chiefly on clear wars weather in all directions. The conditions prevailing were regarded as ideal for ripening the corn. Peace gossip tended also to increase bullish sentiment.

Opening prices, which ranged from 4-8 cents to 1-6 cent lower were followed by material further setback. Further embargo restrictions were taken by some authorities to indicate that neutralism would get no more American wheat for some time. It was asserted that no foreign shipments would be made except on the strictest rationing basis.

REMOVING TO THE ARMOY

The patients in the Parks Convalescent Home were removed this afternoon to the new quarters in the Armoiy. The patients from the St. James street hospital will be taken to the Armoiy either tomorrow or on Wednesday. As yet none of the out-patients have reported, but it is expected that they will start to do so about the latter part of the week.

APPLE SHIPMENTS

In order to increase the effectiveness of the railway facilities, the minimum carload for apples has been increased from 24,000 to 30,000. The dominion department of agriculture has issued an appeal to shippers and consignees to aid the government by adherence to this limit and by ordering and shipping in carload lots only. It is pointed out that to increase the average carload of apples by one ton would be equal to providing 976 additional cars. The department also suggests that cars should be loaded and unloaded promptly, that refrigerator cars should not be used if box cars will do, and that shipments should be moved as early as possible.

Death of Alex. MacGregor, Well Known Here

Came Across With Steamers For D. A. R.; Exceptional Man in His Business; Had Done Good War Work

Alexander MacGregor, R.N.R., Halifax, representative of the London Salvage Association, died suddenly on Sept. 13 in Halifax. He was at Pier 2 and was about to go on board a steamer which arrived with cargo on fire when he was stricken with apoplexy and fell, narrowly escaping going into the dock. Captain Frank Gow, M.D., was called from the military hospital commission quarters and Dr. W. D. Forrest was also called. Mr. MacGregor was unconscious. Dr. Forrest sent for an ambulance and had him conveyed to the Victoria General Hospital, where he passed away without having regained consciousness.

Mr. MacGregor was a native of Scotland. He came from Glasgow as chief engineer on the Prince Rupert, which was delivered to the Dominion Atlantic Railway Company in 1894. Returning to Scotland he designed the engines for the Prince George and Prince Arthur. Some trouble arose with the machinery of the Prince Rupert and Mr. MacGregor was sent to Nova Scotia to make some changes. He was retained by the company as their marine superintendent when they inaugurated their Boston and Yarmouth steamship service in 1879. He continued in that position until the Boston and Yarmouth Steamship Company was formed to operate the service when he came to St. John in the service of the C.P.R. During his residence at Yarmouth his services were given for a time to a line of southern steamships, which necessitated his making frequent trips to New Orleans.

At the time of the outbreak of the war he was in Great Britain. For some years he had been in the royal navy reserve and on the recommendation of the admiralty was appointed the Halifax representative of the London Salvage Association. He had been very successful in saving much money for the London Salvage Company, but what is more important he had been able to save much tonnage, including the steamships Matias, Lord Antrim, Clematis, Ardaig and others. Frequently during the war had been complimented by the admiralty on the work he had been doing. His knowledge of steamships and their construction was considered second to that of no man on this side of the Atlantic.

Mr. MacGregor held the certificate of the Royal Naval Architects of London. His ability as a marine architect often necessitated his services as arbitrator in disputes arising over the construction of large steamers. He was generous to a fault and charitable. All his relatives are on the other side of the Atlantic.

HOW THE GRAMPIAN RANGE WAS SUNK

The news of the sinking of the British steamship Grampian Range by a German sea raider a few weeks ago in the Atlantic, as before reported in The Times, was brought to port by the captain of a vessel which talked with one of the survivors. The Grampian Range was trailed by the raider for thirty-six hours before the German commander thought the time opportune to send her to the bottom.

During the time the raider followed the freighter, those on board were congratulating themselves on having company through the "barred zone," thinking the vessel was an allied merchantman. At the end of the thirty-six hours those on the freighter were dumfounded when their escort ran up a signal to the masthead which read: "Stop, or I will open fire."

At the same moment several false ports and deck superstructures were swung back, showing a formidable array of heavy guns. The life boats of the Grampian Range were soon in the water and while the members of the crew were being taken prisoners aboard the raider, some of the Germans placed bombs aboard the freighter.

After they had been on the raider for several days the men from the Grampian Range learned the reason the raider did not sink her upon sight was because they were also after another vessel in the vicinity and did not want to arouse the suspicion of her captain by gunfire. The Grampian Range was one of the newer vessels of the Furness-Withy Line.

Marcel At Anti-Meeting in Montreal

Says Time For Re-olution Was Before Act Was Passed

Denies Cowardice

First One Arrested Under Act

Attends But Does Not Speak—Borden Criticized and Blame for Situation Laid at Doors of Nationalist Deputies

Montreal, Sept. 17.—Pancrede Marcell, an anti-conscriptionist who says he was beaten early on last Wednesday morning in Fletcher's Field by two soldiers and a little civilian who said, "that's Marcell, kill him," and whose silence since the incident he had appropriated funds of the "Sons of Liberty," and promised to give a sworn statement as to these facts on Thursday night.

Montreal, Sept. 17.—After expressing the fear that "envoys of Borden" might be present to charge him with sedition if he criticized the conscription bill too freely, and after failing to obtain a rise in response to a call for hands at Saturday's meeting, Marcell held at St. Genevieve, E. Massicotte proceeded to condemn Sir Robert Borden and all his cabinet as infidels.

Mr. Boyer laid the blame for the present situation at the doors of the British and French authorities. He said that the British and French authorities had broken faith with the electors and were now following the hosts of Sir Robert Borden and supporting his distasteful projects.

Mr. Boyer concluded his speech by a violent attack upon the war and conscription act. There were several other speakers.

Theatre Bar in Seven Reel Triumph of Movie Art; Exceptional Vaudeville Offerings

Gem patrons on Saturday night enjoyed an extraordinary good programme in picture and vaudeville. The programme was light, amusing and most entertaining in all departments, extra long at that, and highly interesting.

The great feature picture was "Her Greatest Love," a commanding Fox production, staged and photographed in detail and in correct alignment with time and place of the story. In it "Thea Bara," the incomparable, was the star.

In "Her Greatest Love," which is a new special super de luxe photodrama, founded on Ouida's novel, "Thea Bara" reaches the height of her artistic career in her impersonations of a young, beautiful English society girl, and later the character of a woman whose very soul has been torn by agonizing emotions. Miss Bara shows a versatility that has seldom been equalled in photodrama art. Her characterization of Vere Herbert is evidence that Miss Bara possesses a depth of feeling and emotion entirely foreign to one who has made vampire roles famous the world over.

The story of "Her Greatest Love" is one of deep human appeal. It tells of the manoeuvring and the machinations and the subtle intrigue of a typical society "butterfly" anxious to make an advantageous marriage for her daughter. In doing so she eventually schemes away her child's happiness by marrying her to a Russian prince, whose peccadilloes and flagrant breaches of morality were known throughout Europe.

Walter Law plays the prince in masterly manner. But there is also a hero, an opera singer whose character is portrayed by handsome Harry Hilliard. He does very effective work and makes a most satisfactory leading man.

Some of the Russian scenes are very fine, and on the whole the production is big and absorbing. This programme also is excellent. Ross and Ross present a very dainty comedy act, dialogue, singing and dancing. Their eccentric dancing, particularly that of the male member of the team, is excellent and was much enjoyed.

Archelles and Venus are man and woman artists who do rapid painting work with good effect. CANADA HAS GIVEN BOTH GOOD MEN AND GOOD LEADERS TO WAR

Only Eight Imperial Staff Officers Now With Canadian Army Corps, Where Formerly There Were Few Canadians

Written for Canadian Press by Walter Curran. London—From all sides, both in England and France, one hears the resourcefulness, moral determination and general fighting qualities of the Canadian spoken in the highest terms. Two years ago Canadians earned the reputation of being the keenest and best all round troops fighting in Europe.

At that time our force was directed almost entirely by imperial officers, and much of the credit for the splendid work was due to the staff. As recently as a year ago, nearly all the superior staff were imperial officers. There were thirty-two such officers on the staff of the Canadian Corps, which was commanded by an eminent British officer, who today commands an army.

The Canadian generals thoroughly appreciated the work of the British staff officers, and could not have succeeded as they did without them. There was a feeling among our leaders, however, that the Canadian staff officers were not being trained, and there is no more received and there is no more remarkable. The case of Colonel C. H. Mitchell, C.M.G., D.S.O., Legion of Honor and Order of Leopold, a Toronto University graduate, now staff officer of the highest grade with an army, is particularly interesting. Colonel Mitchell's specialty is "intelligence gathering," operations, condition, etc., of the enemy. The success of our operations depends largely upon the efficiency of our intelligence work.

Intelligence is gained by every possible and many apparently impossible means from the air by aeroplanes, captive balloons in innumerable ways; on the earth by countless methods, among the most useful of which are trench raiding, prisoners, civilian population, and a close study of all the enemy's characteristics; from underground by saps and tunnels.

The scope of the intelligence officer's realm is boundless. After he has gathered together his information, he must piece it together and deduce correctly. That many battles are won and lost by the perfection or imperfection of the army's intelligence department, is readily understood.

Other Canadians who have been marked for distinction in the intelligence branch are Lieut-Colonel J. L. R. Parsons, D.S.O., a graduate of Toronto University; Lieut-Colonel W. W. Burland, D.S.O., of Montreal; Major D. MacIntyre, D.S.O., M.C., of Regina.

Another staff officer who has a career full of interest is Lieut-Colonel Harold F. McDonald, C.M.G., D.S.O., a graduate of McGill, who is now the chief general staff officer in England. Lieut-Colonel McDonald enjoys the distinction of being the only Canadian to have been wounded, and on both times in the front line. On the first occasion the officer was a combatant, and was dangerously wounded, and the second time he was wounded by a shell fragment while on duty as a general staff officer.

It is freely admitted by the imperial staff officers that the Canadian staff officers make the best kind of administrative officers. One comment made by a prominent officer was to the effect that Canada should insist that her regular soldiers specialise on the operation of armies and leave the administrative work to men of business qualifications.

After this war, for the few unsettled years which will precede the advent of a world peace, Canada will have a fighting force which, size considered, will be second to none. With men like General Turner and General Currie and the splendid staffs which they are building up, Canada will have at her call a force worthy of the soldiers whose underlying glory is making "Canadian" a symbol for valor and chivalry throughout the entire world.

NEW ROUTE TO WESTERN CANADA PROVING POPULAR Runs Through Famous Clay Belt of New Ontario and the Cobalt Mining District.

On your next trip to Western Canada why not travel over a new route, see the wonderful land opened up in Northern Ontario by the Transcontinental Railway and gain a glimpse of Pen-sacola and the Cobalt silver raising region?

You may use two famous trails on your journey without an added expense for railway fare as compared with any other route. The International Limited will carry you to Toronto, where "The National" starts on its westbound flight. The National uses the rails of the Grand Trunk to North Bay, the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario (Provincial Government line) to Cochrane, and the Canadian Government Railway to Whinipic where it links up with the Grand Trunk Pacific for all important points in Western Canada.

A pleasant daylight run to Toronto, an evening in the Queen City and The National is ready to carry you westward. The departure of The National from Toronto is at 10:45 p.m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. North Bay is reached early next morning and there opens up for your admiration all the lakeland beauties of the territory served by the T. & N. O. line. These are followed by a wonderfully interesting trip through the sparsely populated territory of New Ontario, giving the traveler an opportunity of inspecting this fertile region, including the famed clay belt where tens of thousands of settlers will make their homes in the future.

RECENT DEATHS William Edward Boone.

Many friends will hear with regret of the death of Mr. William Edward Boone, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Boone, which took place at his parents' residence, 148 Wright street, on Saturday, September 15, 1917. He was twenty years of age and had been ill for almost a year. Besides his parents he is survived by one brother, Robert, and eight sisters—Christina, Jessie, Edith, Catherine, Lillian, Loretta, Georgina and Viola, all of this city. The funeral is to take place tomorrow afternoon from his parents' residence at 2:30 o'clock. Lance Corporal George Boone, a brother of the deceased, was recently officially reported killed in action. The family will have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Capson, of 100 Chesley street, will have the sympathy of many in the death of their youngest child, Dorothea G., after an illness of about three months.

Mr. and Mrs. John Butler, 242 Watson street, are mourning the death of their infant child, Rose Patricia, which took place on Sunday, September 16, 1917. The funeral took place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The death of Grace Cleveland, wife of Percy Cleveland of Roxbury, Boston, occurred in Yarmouth Hospital last night. She was twenty-seven years old and was the youngest daughter of the late John Phillips of Yarmouth.

Many will mourn with regret of the death of Charles Sears of West St. John, which occurred very suddenly on Saturday afternoon at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. George Campbell, 42 St. John street, West End. Death was due to heart failure. He was eighty-nine years old. He leaves one son, James, of the North End, and one daughter, Mrs. Campbell.

SOME CHANGE IN HARDWARE PRICES "Hardware and Metal," September 15, said:—In the majority of instances where price changes were recorded during the week they were in an upward direction. In two instances there were declines, notably in lead pipe, lead waste pipe and in soldering coppers. Advances were made effective on whip stocks, push lashes, ferris' knives, chandelier hooks, steel squares, sledge hammers, leather, push pins, pushpins hangers, expansion bits. Low price quotations on galvanized sheets may again be moved up to the point where they were when decline took place some two weeks ago. A recent ruling with respect to payment of duty may make higher prices necessary.

There was a much firmer tone in the market for ingot copper and tin during the week. Pig lead remains unchanged in a somewhat easier market. There is an acute situation on Canada plates, there being practically no stocks available either in the Toronto or Montreal markets. Prices are purely nominal. Stocks are on order from the manufacturers, but there is no assurance when they can be shipped. Business in hardware lines continues reasonably good.

DIED IN EASTPORT The death of Ethel S. Martin, one of the oldest business men and best known citizens of Eastport, occurred at his home Thursday. He was eighty-eight years old in July. He was a native of Hopewell, N. B., lived for a time in Whiting, but had been in the store and hardware business for forty-two years, retiring from business but a short time ago. He married in 1825 Miss Jemima Dinsmore, who survives being also a son and daughter, Travers I. Dinsmore and Mrs. Joseph Rupp. He was a Knight Templar and interested in many local organizations, and will be much missed.

Series of Earthquakes Washington, Sept. 12.—Official dispatches today from Bogota, Colombia, say that earth shocks which began there on August 29, continued intermittently until September 12. All buildings were damaged and persons were killed.

WORK ON NEW BRIDGE
Men began preliminary work on the new bridge over the falls last Friday for scraping and painting the structure and it is said another crew of nine was to go on the job today. This work will take some time to complete and a great deal depends on the weather. BLOW-OUT KEPT SOME SUBURBANITES LATE

Suburbanites on the Canadian Pacific Railway line waited in vain this morning for the early suburban. Crowds of people, bound to their business places in the city and others planning to move to the city this morning, waited impatiently for more than an hour and three-quarters, but even the Fredericton train failed to put in an appearance. Finally, about 8.45 a long train came into view with two engines pulling tandem and six cars. It was the suburban and Fredericton trains combined and the delay proved to be the result of an accident about a mile and a half east of Wolford where the early train blew out a cylinder head in engine 481, with Driver Stimpson and Fireman J. W. James in the cab. No one was hurt and the train, in charge of Conductor A. Heenan, was backed on one cylinder to Wolford. There it was later coupled with the Fredericton train, engine 2081, and the combined train made the trip to St. John. Engine 481 uncoupled again at Falmouth and the train entered the Union depot under the guidance of Driver Robert Barton.

CHILDREN DO WELL IN LOCAL WAR WORK

Four boys and four girls today handed to Mrs. J. H. Tiltonson for her North Sea Mine Sweepers' Fund the welcome sum of $9.80 realized by a sale of ice cream and candy which they held on last Saturday afternoon outdoors at a Duke street home. Those who carried on this praiseworthy bit of war work are Misses Jean Bishop, Margaret Golding, Beatrice Redmond, Grace Marshall and Masters Robert Payne, Charles Payne, Geoffrey Jones and Harold Williams.

Little Miss Lillian Lawrence realized the sum of $14.50 for the soldiers at the front from a banner, sale and drawing held at the residence of her mother, 174 Wentworth street, on last Saturday afternoon. She was assisted in the work by the following little girls: Doreen Turner, Doris Mayes and Jean Colwell.

The children were favored with a beautiful afternoon and the bazaar was managed in a very up-to-date and business-like manner which would have done credit to much older persons.

IN HOSPITAL IN ENGLAND

Gunner E. Flewelling, Who Carried Wounded Major Magee Off Field

Gunner Ernest Flewelling, son of Captain Flewelling of the river steamer Oconee, and the man who carried Major Magee off the field when the latter was wounded quite a long time ago, is in hospital in England, suffering from some internal trouble. Ten surgeons had examined him before he wrote to his father on September 2, and were still in doubt whether they should perform an operation.

Gunner Flewelling went over with the 96th Battalion, but was transferred to a heavy battery. He has been in France for some eighteen months, and before that served in Belgium. He is now in the 1st Battalion, 1st Canadian Trench Mortar Battalion, Cambridge Road, London, England. The young man has seen long and severe service, and his friends will hope for his speedy recovery.

ALONG THE RIVER

A Rare September Day—Many Enjoyed it at River Resorts—The Last Dance

The valley of the St. John river was glorious yesterday with summer warmth and beauty and splendor, but with here and there a touch of gold in the fields and crimson in the woods. Everywhere the clear air and the sunshine, and a warmth that made wraps a burden. All day the Public Landing the broad surface of the river was a mirror, in which every object was as clearly reflected as in the Glimmer Glass of Cooper's novel. The wavelets in the wake of passing motor boats flashed like burnished silver. Scarcely a cloud flecked the blue of the sky. So calm was the air that only the leaves of the poplar stirred. Sounds carried far, and walked the echoes from the hills. It was as if the passing summer, reluctant to say farewell, had gathered into this golden September day all the beauty and charm of all the days that have gone, that the memory of them might not fade with the leaves when they are withered by the autumn frosts. Motor boats and motor cars were out in plenty, but those who merely strolled about or basked in the sunshine on a cottage veranda envied them not at all. It was a day to remember when winter storms shake the windows and the ice-bound river lies white between the hills. Friday and Saturday were such delightful days that the lure of the river was irresistible, and the steamer Oconee on Saturday afternoon has a real summer crowd of passengers for all points. Many also went on earlier steamers.

The last dance of the season was held at the Public Landing pavilion on Saturday evening. Two cars from Woodville Point took the usual happy party of young people, and as the pavilion had been reserved for the occasion, the dancers thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

A party from the Landing went out after moose on Saturday, but up to date the promised moose steak has not been received.

The frost has hit the cucumbers, but other crops in that vicinity have not been damaged.

The trip down river by motor boat last evening was very pleasant, and the club house at Marble Cove, with its brilliant lights and moving groups of people as boat after boat arrived, presented a very animated scene.

Coming down Grand Bay in the twilight the voyagers were struck with the beauty of the picture to the westward, a great bonfire blazed on the shore against a dark background of shore, above which the sky along the horizon was of a rich golden hue shading into a green in which a few streamers of cloud stood out darkly; while above them the evening star shone with wonderful brilliancy. By contrast, away to the eastward, what seemed a veil of mist hid the Riverside shore and the hills behind. Then the lights of the motor boats began to gleam in the gathering darkness, and the golden day was over and past.

BOYS' EXPERIENCE ON THE KENNEBECASIS

Alarm For Time Over Nigel Tennant and Byron Cushing

The household of W. B. Tennant at Rothesay was greatly alarmed last night when Nigel Tennant and Byron Cushing failed to return after a motor-boat jaunt on the Kennebecasis River. The two boys had motored to the far end of Long Island and were thinking of returning when the engine broke down. This was about six o'clock and for the next two hours they worked with the engine trying to get it to go again, but in vain. Finally they decided that they would have to spend the night on the river and curled up in the bottom of the boat and went to sleep.

Sometime in the middle of the night they woke up and noticed what appeared to be another boat near them. They took out the seat of the boat and, using it as a paddle, made their way to the other. It appeared that this was a party who were tenting on shore and when they heard of the boys' plight they loaned them their tender in which to row home. They finally made their way to Riverside and, leaving the boat there, walked the remaining three miles to Rothesay.

On arriving there, they found that Mr. Tennant had gone out in another boat to try to locate them so they went down to shore and tested horns and flashed lights until the searching party returned. The noises alarmed the people of the neighborhood and a rumor soon spread to the effect that the two boys were drowned. Happily this was not the case.
