FATHER DIES AS GIBBONS BATTLES

Messenger Boy Invades Ring With Message

Fights on for Three Rounds More, Then Loses on a Foul to Miske and Breaks Down When Dressing Room Reached.

(Canadian Press)

New York, Oct. 14—Any one of the crowd that filled Madison Square Garden last night and saw Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul lose on a foul to Billy Miske, his fellow townsman, in the tenth round of their bout...

Only a few of that howling crowd saw a uniformed messenger boy creep up to Gibbons' corner during the seventh round and, cautiously getting his signature of receipt first, slip a yellow envelope into the hand of Eddie Kane, Gibbons' manager...

When Tommy came to his corner at the end of the seventh round, he sank calmly on his stool and asked: "What does that say?"

"What does that say?" countered the manager, his face flashing. "Oh, all right," answered Gibbons, "but I know."

The remainder of the details do not matter much. Tommy kept on slugging away, fighting cleverly, craftily, feinting his opponent into leads, but only to punishment until a twist of fate in the tenth caused Miske's belt to fall just as Gibbons' belt and Tommie to fall upon the floor and the battle to end.

When Tommie Gibbons left the ring, Kane shoved the crumpled telegram into his gloved fist. "Read it, Tom," he said. Let's hurry and dress. I'm awfully sorry. "All right," said Gibbons, the two fisted, battered fighter, tears streaming down his face. "I know what you mean."

Those who crowded the arena did not know. They had seen fighters lose on fouls before, but they had never seen one cry to punishment until a twist of fate in the tenth caused Miske's belt to fall just as Gibbons' belt and Tommie to fall upon the floor and the battle to end.

Germany increased the issue nearly fourfold in the year.

Berlin, Oct. 14—On the heels of the German government's promulgation of a new decree designed to curb speculation in foreign currencies comes an announcement that the official printing presses produced 27,500,000,000 marks in new paper marks during the first week of October. The total German currency in circulation by October 14 has been thus increased to 344,171,831,000 marks.

This means that the circulation of paper marks has increased nearly four fold since October 7, 1921, when the total stood at 87,461,851,000. Following the announcement of the decree the dollar rate increased almost 800 marks.

FIELDING AND LAPORTE AT CONFERENCE

London, Oct. 14—(Canadian Press)—A conference to discuss the drafting of legislation necessary in both Great Britain and Canada to remove the embargo against Canadian store cattle was held in the colonial office yesterday. Those present included the colonial secretary, Winston Churchill, Sir Griffith-Boscawen, minister of agriculture; P. C. Larkin, Canadian high commissioner in London, and two members of the Canadian cabinet, Hon. W. S. Fielding and Hon. Ernest Laporte.

The Thomas was ordered today by Secretary Weeks to proceed to Los Angeles instead of San Francisco.

LLOYD GEORGE ADDRESSES NATION IN MANCHESTER SPEECH

Political Crisis Nears Climax as Premier Makes Announcement—Morning Post Regrets that Chamberlain, in Speech, Did Not Announce Resignation of Unionist Leadership.

(Associated Press)

London, Oct. 14—Great Britain's political crisis approached a climax today, with all attention centred on Manchester, awaiting Premier Lloyd George's announcement.

Superficially it is merely a speech before the Manchester Reform Club, with the guests limited to 300, but actually it will be addressed to the entire nation, for the premier's every utterance will be broadcast with all possible haste by more than forty newspaper and press association correspondents.

Lloyd George himself, in an impromptu talk from his train during a halt at Stoke-on-Trent, on the way to Manchester, told the enthusiastic crowd at the station: "I am going straight to the British public to appeal for fair play."

Austen Chamberlain's address yesterday and the editorial comments thereon fill many columns in this morning's papers. The points most discussed are the probable effect of the speech on the ranks of the Conservative party, the question of the alleged inevitableness of some form of coalition in the next parliament and the Chamberlain's reference to labor.

The leading editorial of the ministerial Daily Chronicle is mainly a panegyric of the present coalition.

The Daily Telegraph, also a staunch supporter of the government, warmly approves Mr. Chamberlain's utterances throughout, making the point that his description of the laborites as a party of resolution is "their own constant declaration of themselves" and declaring their principles predatory and destructive.

The Morning Post, Conservative organ, regrets extremely that Mr. Chamberlain did not announce in his speech his resignation of the leadership of the Unionists in the House of Commons. It contemplates the statement that the Conservatives, acting independently, would be withdrawn from an election and contends that the public, confronted by Chamberlain's "panic alternative" of the communists coming into power, would silently resolve that the present coalition is the very last and weakest bulwark against revolution any sane person would choose.

The Times says his speech will perhaps help the Conservative party to decide that a leader who is "so blind to the realities of so contemptuous thereof can hardly be a safe guide during the present crisis of its fortunes."

The newspaper condemns Chamberlain's "foolish and exaggerated denunciation" of labor. While holding that many of the aims of the labor party are unsound and that efforts to give them effect might be disastrous, the newspaper nevertheless believes that "There is enough sound sense among the English workers to check dangerous labor tendencies."

The Times concludes:—"The whole speech betrays an attitude of mind which in itself is a demonstration that the government affected therewith is no longer fitted to control the destinies of the nation."

The Daily Mail says:—"If the government have no better case than was submitted by Chamberlain, the judgment will go against them almost by default. Should the premier at Manchester, the question of a more convincing defence, the government will be called upon to make."

Lloyd George Fights in Speech But Does Not Announce Plans

Defends Near East Action and Declares Turks Had Put to Death 1,500,000 Armenians and 500,000 Greeks, Without Reason, Since 1914—Would be Gladly Free From Office But Willing to do What He Can for Nation.

(By Associated Press)—Prime Minister Lloyd George's speech to the Liberals of the Manchester Reform Club today, expected to be a historic utterance, was a disappointment because the premier gave no intimation regarding his plans or his programme. In that respect his oration was similar to that of Austen Chamberlain at Birmingham yesterday.

Of his address of one hour and twenty minutes, Mr. Lloyd George devoted nearly an hour to a defense of his Near Eastern policy and to a recital of his services to the nation, he said: "I cast myself on the people because I never have betrayed them."

(Canadian Press Cable.) Manchester, Oct. 14—Premier Lloyd George received an enthusiastic welcome when he reached the Reform Club here today for a luncheon before delivering his eagerly awaited speech. The huge crowd outside the building extended practically the whole length of the street on which the club is situated, and the premier's appearance was the signal for a great burst of cheering.

When cries of "speech" were heard, Lloyd George paused a moment, and then, in a low, steady voice, with unpraised hand, he said: "I thank this great gathering for giving me the opportunity to put the case of the government in the efforts which they have made to establish European peace and prevent bloodshed from spreading throughout Eastern Europe."

In beginning his speech at the luncheon and thus raising the curtain on a new act in the political drama which may mark a climax in the career of the striking central figure, Lloyd George referred to the Near Eastern crisis, declaring the people of this country must not believe that their government had endeavored to rush Great Britain into war. "We have not been war mongers, but peace makers," he said.

The premier arose amid a tense silence of expectancy on the part of his hearers, who were looking to him to begin the fight for his political life. Continuing his defense of the government's policy regarding the Near East, he declared, had been assailed with misrepresentations such as no government had ever been subjected to. The country was shaken by strong earthquake shocks yesterday. There was no loss of life.

At one point in his speech Lloyd George declared: "There has been speech after speech of intolerable abuse, and I am told to bear it like a Christian, but there are too many people about the world who think it is the business of Christians to be massacred by Turk or Pro Turk. I am not one of that sort of Christian."

A little further on he said: "If there is to be a change, there is no man who would welcome it more than I. I have had a long spell and a very hard one."

Ford Showing The Way to Rivals In Schooner Race

Spectacular Start in Elimination Contest Off Gloucester Today—First Day's Winner Apparently Duplicates—The Bluenose Arrives.

(Associated Press)

Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 14—The races for the schooner championship of the U. S. fleet and for the rights to challenge Bluenose, the Canadian champion, for the international cup, were resumed today after the big Nova Scotia schooner which had been missing for several days, was welcomed to port.

The Bluenose, sails fanned, had appeared outside the harbor as the first of the fleet going out to see the start of today's U. S. elimination race passed the breakwater. She was in tow of the Canadian cruiser Patriot, which had lost her in a fog off Sable Island two days ago and found her again off Cape Ann last night. The defending champion was given a rousing welcome.

In the second of the elimination races the four vessels that took part on Thursday again competed. Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 14—The start of the second fishermen's race today was thrilling, measuring up to yachting standards. The Yankee was first to cross the line with the Henry Ford under her lee, and the Elizabeth Howard to weather and the L. A. Dunton to starboard.

The boats were timed across the line as follows—Yankee, 10:00:23; Ford, 10:00:40; Howard, 10:00:50; Dunton, 10:01:28.

The Howard came for the line a trifle ahead of time and had to pass the Yankee which was in the lead. The race committee chose No. 2, the Howard, to start the race. The Ford was also breaking along lively and the start both seemed to be dropping the Howard.

Five minutes after the start the Howard had passed the Ford to weather and was overhauling the Yankee. The race committee chose No. 2, the Howard, to start the race. The Ford was also breaking along lively and the start both seemed to be dropping the Howard.

At 10:45 the Ford drew away from the Howard, while the Yankee, holding higher than the two leaders, began to gain.

At 10:55 the Ford hauled down her fisherman's staysail and five minutes later tacked to port up the bay, passing both Howard and Yankee, with Dunton following astern and to leeward.

At 10:47 the Howard followed the Ford and tacked to port. She could not get on and pass the Yankee and was obliged to ease off under her stern and take third place in the race.

The Howard took to her stay and still before going about, and the Yankee did the same before passing to port.

At 11 a. m. all four boats were holding to the westward on the port tack in Eastern Point Bay, the Ford leading the Howard and Yankee by nearly a mile and the Dunton by a mile and a half. The Howard hauled down her foretop sail at 10:55, and five minutes later took to her jibtop sail also. The change seemed to benefit her, for she reached the Yankee and at 11:00 took second place again. At 11:10 it looked as if the Ford would win by a good margin.

PARK SHOOTING IN VANCOUVER

Woman Refuses to Disclose Name of Assailant Unless She is About to Die.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 14—Local police are confronted with a mysterious shooting case here, and the victim, Mrs. Robert Law, refuses to disclose the name of her assailant until she is assured by doctors that there is no hope for her recovery. The woman was shot in Stanley Park with a revolver which had identified by her husband as belonging to Mrs. Law.

Just when Mrs. Law's injury appeared to the police as self-inflicted in the light of available evidence, the testimony of eye witnesses proved that Mrs. Law was not alone when she went to the civic park on last Monday night.

LABOR RALLY IS CALLED TO WIN IN THE ELECTIONS

Appeal to Workers for Funds to Help Gain Power in Old Country.

London, Oct. 14—A call to labor to rally its utmost efforts to win the coming electoral fight is a big type feature of the front page of the labor party's organ, the Herald today.

"A general election is imminent," says the article. "The flowing tide is with labor, and if it is taken by the men and women workers throughout the country it will lead to a great electoral triumph."

The newspaper says 400 seats in parliament will be contested by laborites. It appeals to every worker to contribute personal service and money to secure a victory. Emphasis of the urgent need of financial support is laid in the following paragraphs of the articles: "Our opponents know that this is labor's opportunity and measure their financial resources in millions of pounds. Their war chests are filled by the sale of honors by the industrial kings, the oil kings, the newspaper kings and the shipping kings. The workers' party depends upon the penny of the workers. A million shillings will give £20,000—the price of a single peerage."

Needs of Empire Before Wishes of The Party

Enlarged Report of Speech of Austen Chamberlain—Earnestly Urges Continuation of Co-operation of Unionists With Lloyd George Liberal.

(By The Associated Press) Birmingham, Eng., Oct. 13.—Austen Chamberlain, government leader in the house of commons, in a speech before the Midland Conservative Club, today, touched both on the domestic crisis and Near Eastern crisis and to his hearers revealed himself an unrepentant and convinced coalitionist.

Mr. Chamberlain conceded Premier Lloyd George's undoubted right to advise the king when parliament should be dissolved. He did not hint at any objection by the Unionists to an election taking place, even now. Neither did he indicate any readiness to hold a party meeting to consider the attitude of the unionists to the coalition and the premier.

A continuance of co-operation of the unionists with the Lloyd George Liberals was earnestly urged by Mr. Chamberlain. He pleaded for the subordination of narrow party aims and personal considerations to the service of the country and the empire. It was carefully pointed out by the speaker that in all that he had done as premier he had acted with the full assent of his unionist colleagues in the cabinet and had spoken their minds. This harmony among the Unionist ministers was described as part of a greater harmony embracing the whole of the coalition.

Referring to the possible advent of a labor government, Mr. Chamberlain said that at the present time a moment of national danger. "There are days," he declared, "when it is our duty to look to rally all the constitutional conservative elements, of whatever class or party to the defense of the constitution and the social and economic order which has made us all what we are and upon which our prosperous development depends."

Referring to the Near East, Mr. Chamberlain said there had been grave moments when danger of attack against the British forces appeared imminent when unity of thought and action among the Allies seemed weakened and the Kemalists were encouraged by indications of allied divergencies to try conclusion with them. He explained that as between Greeks and Turks, the former had been neutral and ready to recognize the results of Greek defeat, and also as ready as before to restore Constantinople to the Turks and Great Britain was determined to prevent the war from being brought into Europe in order to save Constantinople from the fate of Smyrna and to preserve the freedom of the straits.

"I believe our policy has been successful," Mr. Chamberlain declared amid cheering. "But not through any help we received from the leaders of the opposition," he added. "Throughout these transactions," the speaker said, "the British government sought at every step concurrence of our

TODAY'S POLITICS.

Events at Ottawa would appear to be moving steadily toward a definite working agreement between the Liberal and Progressive forces. This will not be a merger or an amalgamation, but an alliance which, if it matures, will consolidate ultimately under one leadership the forward-looking, open-minded, real Liberal forces of this Confederation.

also, there are in the Liberal party, nominally, many men who should be in Mr. Meighen's battalions and who are conspicuously a detriment rather than an asset from the Liberal standpoint.

It has been said from time to time that the old party lines have disappeared. Strictly speaking, they never will disappear. It is a hackneyed statement to say that the Liberal party is essentially the party of progress; but the statement is true.

The political crisis in Great Britain is approaching a climax. Mr. Lloyd George's speech in Manchester today is an appeal for fair play. No man can answer his critics with greater force than the Prime Minister.

Thus, fundamentally, there is in practice a great gulf fixed between the Liberal party and the old time Conservative party, inasmuch as the Conservative party (granting the greatness in leadership and in service of Sir John Macdonald and some other Conservative leaders) has been handicapped by an ever-recurring reactionary tendency.

In their endeavor to find an ideal road surface, engineers have experimented with some novel materials which include such widely different substances as iron, glass, and cork. Castiron used in conjunction with concrete, forming what may be described as an armored road, has been tried for some time past in France.

Out of the heart of the Empire there came this week a message of commendation and thanks to two men who had done much to save Great Britain from another war.

French road-makers have also produced a glass road surface, which has been found to possess distinct advantages and has been used in a number of places.

The Evening Times gives real Liberal governments an independent support. It never has disguised the by no means unimportant fact that there are many so-called Conservatives of Liberal thought who should be fighting today under the Liberal banner, and that

FIFTEEN MINUTES OF RADIO EACH DAY

By Edward N. Davis Formerly Technical Electrical Expert For U. S. Government

Lesson No. 129. PROTECTIVE REGULATIONS FOR TRANSMITTING STATIONS.

In addition to the tentative regulations governing receiving stations issued by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, the following specifications constitute the proposed revision of Rule 86 of the "National Electric Code" in its application to transmitting stations.

Antenna. Antennas outside of buildings shall not cross over or under electric light or power wires of any circuit of more than six hundred (600) volts or railways trolley or feeder air-gap distance be so located that a failure of either the antenna or the above mentioned electric light or power wires can result in a contact between the antenna and such electric light or power wires.

Antennas shall be constructed and installed in a strong and durable manner and shall be so located as to prevent accidental contact with light and power wires by sagging or swinging.

Splices and joints in the antenna span shall, unless made with approved clamps or splicing devices, be soldered.

Lead-in wires. Lead-in wires shall be of copper, approved copper-clad steel or other metal which will not corrode excessively, and in no case shall they be smaller than No. 14 B. & S. gauge.

Antenna and counterpoise conductors and wires leading therefrom to ground switch, where attached to buildings, must be firmly mounted five (5) inches clear of the surface of the building, on non-absorptive insulating supports not less than five (5) inch diameter and air gap distance from inflammable or conducting material. Where desired approved suspension type insulators may be used.

In passing the antenna or counterpoise lead-in into the building a tube or bushing of non-absorptive insulating material shall be used and shall be installed so as to have a creepage and air-gap distance of at least five (5) inches to any extraneous body. If porcelain or other fragile material is used it shall be installed so as to be protected from mechanical injury.

A drilled window pane may be used in place of bushing provided five (5) inches creepage and air-gap distance is maintained.

Protective Grounding Switch. A double-throw knife switch having a break distance of four (4) inches and a blade not less than one-eighth (1/8) inch by one-half (1/2) inch, shall be used to join the antenna and counterpoise lead-in to the ground conductor. The switch shall be of non-absorptive insulating material. Slate base switches are not recommended. This switch must be so mounted that its current-carrying parts will be at least five (5) inches clear of the wall or other conductors and located preferably in the most direct line between the lead-in conductors and the point where ground connection is made. The conductor from grounding switch to ground connection must be securely supported.

Protective Ground Wire. Antenna and counterpoise conductors must be effectively and permanently grounded at all times when station is not in actual operation (unattended) by a conductor at least as large as the lead-in and in no case shall it be smaller than No. 14 B. & S. gauge copper or approved copper-clad steel. This ground wire need not be insulated or mounted on insulating supports. The ground wire shall be run in a straight line as possible to a good permanent ground. Preference shall be given to water piping. Gas piping shall be used for the ground connection. Other permissible grounds are the grounded steel frames of buildings and other grounded metal work in buildings and artificial grounding devices such as driven pipes, plates, cones, etc. The ground wire shall be protected against mechanical injury. An approved ground clamp shall be used wherever the ground wire is connected to pipes or piping.

Operating Ground Wire. 1. The radio operating ground conductor shall be of copper strip not less than three-eighths (3/8) inch wide by one-sixty-fourth (1/64) inch thick of copper or approved copper-clad steel having a periphery of girth (around the outside) of at least three-quarters (3/4) inch (for example a No. 2 B. & S. gauge wire) and shall be firmly secured in place throughout its length. The radio operating ground conductor shall be protected and supported similar to the lead-in conductors.

Operating Ground. m. The operating ground conductor shall be connected to a good permanent ground. Preference shall be given to water piping. Gas piping shall not be used for ground connections. Other permissible grounds are the grounded steel frames of buildings and other grounded metal work in the building and artificial grounding devices such as driven pipes, plates, cones, etc.

Power from Street Mains. n. When current supply is obtained directly from street mains, the circuit shall be installed in approved metal conduit, armored cable or metal raceways.

Protection from Surges, ETC. o. In order to protect the supply system from high-potential surges and kick-backs there must be installed in the supply line as near as possible to each radio-transmitter, rotary spark gap, motor-generator sets and other auxiliary apparatus one of the following:

1. Two condensers (each of not less than one-half (1/2) microfarad capacity and capable of withstanding six hundred (600) volts test) in series across the line and mid-point between condensers grounded; across (in parallel with) each of these condensers shall be connected a shunting flash spark gap capable of not more than one-thirty-second (1/32) inch separation.

2. Two vacuum tube type protectors in series across the line with the mid-point grounded.

3. Non-inductively wound resistors connected across the line with mid-point grounded.

4. Electrolytic lightning arresters such as aluminum cell type. In no case shall the ground wire of surge and kick-back protective devices be run in parallel with the operating ground wire when within a distance of thirty (30) feet.

The ground wire of the surge and kick-back protective devices shall not be connected to the operating ground or ground wire.

Suitable Devices. p. Transformers, voltage reducers, keys, and other devices employed shall be of types suitable for radio operation.

THE STRANDING OF THE EMPRESS

To the Editor of The Evening Times-Star:

Sir—In your account of the inquiry into the Empress stranding, as given in tonight's paper, you refer to the chief engineer in your evidence stated that "the ship struck Black Point at 5:30," and that the stern was ordered at 5:50," which would be eight minutes after striking.

This is incorrect, as such evidence was not given, and in justice to Captain McDonald I wish to make a correction.

The ship struck Black Point at 5:22, as stated, but one engine was ordered full astern one minute before striking, and the other at the time of striking, and both kept running full astern until 5:30, as reference to my log will clearly show.

The third engineer was in charge of the engine room at the time, and was promptly summoned to the engine, assisted by the second engineer, who arrived just as the ship struck.

I am sure that the mistake was unintentional on your part and that you will be glad to make the correction. Thanking you, I remain, Yours truly,

C. R. KINNEY, Chief Engineer, S. S. Empress, St. John, Oct. 12, 1922.

FOR BORDER IRRIGATION.

Public Favor for This Method Growing, Says Reclamation Service.

The border method of irrigation, followed in many parts of the western states, is well adapted to a variety of soils and crops and is rapidly growing in public favor, says a statement issued by the United States Reclamation Service.

The method consists essentially in the division of the land to be irrigated into series of strips, balks, or beds, as they are variously called, by low flat levees extending usually in the direction of the steepest slope. Surface water is turned into the upper end of each strip and allowed to move down the slope in a thin sheet, moistening the soil to a given depth as it advances toward the lower end.

The statement points out that this method pays to prepare a field for the border method for only one year. The method is said to be well adapted to the irrigation of alfalfa, clover and other forage crops, as well as all grains, and the forage crops may be rotated with the grains without modifying the procedure. It is also possible to irrigate potatoes, sugar beets and other rowed and cultivated crops by making a slight change in the borders, so that the latitude as to rotation is rather wide.

The most favorable soil for borders is a free-working loam several feet deep underlain by a more or less impervious subsoil. As the sheet of water flows down each strip the previous top soil is readily moistened, and the heavier soil beneath prevents the waste of water by deep percolation. Borders are also generally used where the subsoil is well surfaced with a heavy layer of clay, because such formations are the most favorable, but because no other method will do as well.

FODDER FROM SAWDUST.

One of Many By-Products of Wood, Says Forestry College.

There is considerable justification for the prediction that the by-products of the sawmill outvalue finished lumber when the large number of uses and the increasing economies in utilization of wood are considered, says a statement recently issued by the New York State College of Forestry.

Only forty per cent of our cut timber is utilized. The unused sixty per cent is in such shape that generally it does not pay to use it. The problem of utilizing waste wood consists in turning it into waste products. Alcohol, tanning extracts, turpentine, pine oil, glue for ropes, carpets, bags and all sorts of fabrics; imitation leather, linoleum, insulating materials are a few of the products obtained from sawmill "waste," which was formerly actually waste, as it was thrown away.

It has been predicted that the by-products of wood, such as wood and "grain" alcohol, may sometimes equal alcohol, which is identical from wood and which is obtained from wood waste in a process that yields other products of value as well, says the State College. This sugar beet and other products are used in the operation of automotive machinery. Formaldehyde, derived from wood alcohol (methanol, as it is now called), is used in medicine.

Sawdust as a waste product is a thing of the past. It serves many purposes and is an ever-increasing commercial value. Mixed with clay, it makes good tiles and bricks, and, combined with concrete, a good flooring material is obtained. It also finds a place in industry in the production of certain dye-stuffs. A gas excellent both for lighting and heating can be made from sawdust. Chemically treated sawdust has been used successfully for cattle fodder.

Tanning extracts are made from the bark of oak and hemlock. Turpentine comes from woods possessing necessary resinous content. In fact, virtually every wood possesses important by-product possibilities that may be greatly increased by research work of the utilization experts.

AN OPPOSITION REPORT.

(Halifax Herald.)

The very interesting news is leaking out that the Murray government is seriously considering the expediency of going to the country in the near future. With the general report comes the startling rumor, for which it is said there is a reliable foundation, that the government has the intention of a substantial campaign fund if it will "take the bull by the horns" and go to the country on a wine-and-beer policy. The interests that are prepared to put up the cash are being philanthropized—or even by love of Liberalism. They are desirous of taking Liberalism—as it is personified in the Murray government—into camp, and using it for their own purposes. The purposes include the establishment of breweries and the amassing of wealth by the manufacture and sale of beer.

It will be of great interest to the people of Nova Scotia to watch and see if the government sells out to the beer interests. If so, we may expect to witness an event of first-class importance to the electors of the province. We will have provincial election financed for the government on a beer basis.

NONE TO BENEFIT UNDER HER WILL

Montreal Centenarian Outlives All Her Intended Legatees—Even Lawyers are Dead.

Montreal, Oct. 14.—Living to be more than 100 years of age, Mrs. James Johnston is now found to have outlived everybody mentioned in her will, a document published here.

The testatrix commends "my soul to Almighty God, in the hope of a blessed resurrection, and my body to the grave to be interred according to my means and station in life."

She willed that the present warehouse and grounds, at present occupied by the firm of James Johnston & Company, St. Helen street, should be mortgaged to secure her legacy to her son, James, for $20,000. In the meantime the firm has gone out of business. She willed to her daughter, Elizabeth, $20,000, and the same property in St. Helen street was to be mortgaged to secure it.

She willed the residue to her husband, long since dead, on condition that he shall procure and furnish my son and daughter with requisite and proper apparel, board and lodging and all other necessities of life, until their respective marriages.

The testatrix nominated as executors James Johnston; Alexander Mitchell, merchant; A. B. Stewart, official assignee; James Burnett, merchant, and Charles Wilkie. Charles Wilkie is also dead. As an alternative executor, she named Daniel Wilkie, bank manager, Toronto, since dead; also Gavin Burns of Montreal, bank officer, since dead. The notaries, Wright & Boegan, are also dead.

GUILTY OF ARSON; FAINTS IN COURT
Burned House She Bought From City for $106 and Insured for $7,500.

New York, Oct. 14.—Mrs. Katherine Allers, a widow, middle aged and gray haired, was found guilty of arson in the second degree by a jury in Justice Lewis's part of the Supreme Court in Brooklyn. She fainted when she heard the verdict and was carried from the court room. She will be sentenced on Monday.

Mrs. Allers was charged with burning an old building at East Fifty-third street and Avenue M, in the Flatlands section, which was known as the Van Dyke homestead. She bought it from the city for $106 on Feb. 22 and had thirty days in which to remove it, as a street was to be put through the lot on which it stood. A few days after she purchased Mrs. Allers insured it for $7,500, insured the furniture for $2,000 and on April 18 it burned down.

When Fire Marshal Brophy investigated the fire he found that it had started in two separate places, and that rugs saturated in kerosene and burning candles had been moved in the rooms. Mrs. Allers had placed some of the furniture to a tenement on East Fifty-fourth street, where she was living with her twelve-year-old son Franz. Mrs. Allers testified that if she should testify she would divide the insurance money with her. The jury

DEATHS FROM ALCOHOL IN N. Y. STATE DOUBLE

Albany, Oct. 14.—An increase in the death rate in New York State for the first seven months of 1922, as compared with the corresponding period a year ago, was announced by the State Health Department. The rate up to the end of July last was 13.9, while a year ago the same period showed a rate of 12.7 a difference equivalent to 7,083 deaths.
An increase was also reported in infant mortality, and a decrease in births amounting to 4,220.
In a statement from the Health Department it was said that the rise in the death rate seemed to be accounted for "by the striking increase in the number of deaths from organic diseases of the heart arteries and a failure to maintain the low death rate for tuberculosis which was established last year."
Deaths from alcoholism showed a marked increase this year as compared with the same period last year, numbering 172, as against 83, the report set forth.
The greatest increase in deaths from alcoholism was in New York City, the second in the rural sections of the State and the lowest increase was in up-State cities as a group.

C. W. L. PLANS FOR GYM CLASSES

Arrangements for the opening of the gymnasium classes in the Cliff street school were made at a special meeting of the executive of the Catholic Women's League last night in Rosary Hall, Coburg street. Mrs. Richard O'Brien, the president, was in the chair and, with Mrs. D. P. Chisholm, was warmly greeted on her return from the National Convention in Winnipeg. Rev. William Duke attended and addressed the meeting on the best means of organizing the gymnasium classes. It was decided to conduct classes for school girls and for seniors also and a committee was appointed to draw up a schedule of classes in readiness for the new season's activities. The matter of securing an instructor was considered and the League will endeavor to have a woman to take charge this year.
Invitations were received, one from the Red Cross society asking the League members to attend a meeting in the interests of the Red Cross membership campaign, and one from the W. V. A. asking the League to send representatives to a meeting at which arrangements for Poppy Day will be discussed. It was decided to accept both invitations.
Further plans were made in regard to the work which the League has undertaken in connection with the Cathedral High Tea.
Mrs. O'Brien gave an informal talk on the proceedings of the National convention. She spoke particularly of the immigration activities of the League, which had been especially emphasized at the convention. The St. John branch, being at an Atlantic port, was considered to have an important part to play in the immigration work of the League.

KILLS MAN FOR A DEER.

Harrisburg Hunter Shoots Philadelphia Doctor in Maine Woods.
Houlton, Me., Oct. 14.—Another fatality of the deer hunting season became known this week with the arrest of Charles A. Hoak of Harrisburg, Pa., on a charge of accidentally shooting Dr. Lee H. H. Maynard of Philadelphia in the woods near Squaw Pan Lake on Monday. Hoak waived examination on a charge of negligence and was held in bail.
Both men were members of a hunting party of Pennsylvania. Hoak, who had seen one deer, mistook Dr. Maynard for another and fired. The bullet struck the physician in the neck, causing instant death.

THRONGS HONOR DEAD ACTRESS

Some 50,000 People Line the Streets to See Funeral of Marie Lloyd.

London, Oct. 14.—The extraordinary hold Marie Lloyd had on London theatre-goers was proved by the crowds who attended her funeral. They began to gather outside her home, 6,000 crowded into the cemetery before the gates were closed, and it is estimated that 50,000 lined the route of the funeral procession. Six large automobile fleets filled with flowers preceded the hearse and most of the well known variety artists of London followed it. It was, however, the character of the unbidden crowd which was impressive. It consisted of hundreds of men and women of all classes, who had known the dead singer only on the stage. Many of them were old enough to remember the time she created as young girl thirty odd years ago. Others had accepted her, though past her prime, as the old-fashioned favorite, and not a few had personally experienced of her generous bounty.
Flower sellers, street salesmen and women from the trade side streets set wreaths or came to pay one last tribute of respect. They had often laughed with her from the "gods," and they wept openly as her coffin was carried past. At the graveside the officiating clergyman had to pause to permit the crowds to recover their self-control.

A PRETTY HAT IN ITALY COSTS MADAME 400 LIRE

Rome, Sept. 23.—(A. P. by mail.)—Italian women are complaining that while prices for food and clothing are steadily if slowly decreasing in other countries, in Italy they are still going up. A wonder, where the money comes from for all the charming frocks and hats one sees.
A good suit of clothes for a man could be bought in any of the large towns of Italy for from 25 to 75 lire; now anything from 120 to 400 lire; a coat, a hat and a shirt for from 6 to 10 lire; for the shoes would need from 400 to 750 lire for the suit, 100 to 200 lire for the shoes; 45 to 150 lire for the hat; and from 35 to 60 lire for each shirt. These prices are bringing forth much protest.
Articles of common food also have increased in price four, five, or even six times what they were before the war. Olive oil, which used to cost under one lire a quart, cannot now be obtained for less than 10 lire; wine which cost 40 centimes a quart, is now 4.20 lire; eggs, which cost from one to two soldi each, now cost from 60 to 70 centimes; milk has advanced from 40 centimes to 1.50 lire a quart, and butter, once 1.50 a pound, has risen to 10 lire.

The boy was quoted as saying he had been gathering goods for a camping tour.

GIRLS HAZED BY FRESHMEN

Inquiry Into Victoria College Student Occurrence in Toronto.

Toronto, October 14.—As a result of a bit of hazing done by two Victoria College freshmen, one of the girls in the junior class is under a doctor's care suffering from nervous shock and bruises about the arms and shoulders. The matter has caused an outburst of indignation and is being taken up by the Women's Undergraduate Association. Some of the men were forced to college threaten to take unofficial action which will result in severe physical punishment for the offenders.
The matter has been invited to witness a rehearsal which the freshmen were holding in preparation for the annual stunt night. When the former entered the room they were seized by some of the men and their wrists tied in front of them. After the captives had been made to undress they were forced to lie on their backs on a table covered with paper, they were compelled to walk the girls escaped, but the other was prodded by umbrellas to make them understand that they were to do what they were told. They were forced to answer foolish questions of a policeman, but the girls determined not to let the bystanders know it was a joke. Catherine returned to her room, but the other was taken to a street car to Sunnyside and left to get home the best way she could. When she returned she found her wrists were swollen to twice their normal size and she was considerably bruised from the man-handling she had received. She broke down completely and was put under a nurse's care.
It is understood that a student's court, composed of representatives of both men's and women's organizations will hold an enquiry and decide what is to be done in the matter.

SAYS W. C. T. U. IS MISUNDERSTOOD

Mrs. Denyer Asserts That Attitude in Smoking Refers to Children Only.

Oshawa, Oct. 14.—Addressing the picnic W. C. T. U. convention, in session here, Mrs. Denyer of Ottawa declared that the organization has been misunderstood with reference to its attitude toward smoking. She asserted that the W. C. T. U. had no intention to take the smoke away from the veterans of the war or other men who were accustomed to the use of the weed, but they aimed to prevent boys and girls becoming addicted to the habit.
A strong plea was made for the retention of soldiers by Mrs. Gordon of Ottawa, who urged that veterans be engaged for any jobs that are available, and that the public patronize the attractive wages turned out by men blinded during the war.
Mrs. Hu kett of Ottawa, in speaking on "law enforcement and legislation," expressed the fervent hope that the "ally head of the Liberty League" would not rise up in Ontario again.

COURT MUST PICK INDIAN'S MOTHER

One Claimant Dead, Another Demented and Oil Land Worth Millions is at Stake

Washington, Oct. 14.—One of Solomon's problems was presented to the Supreme court for solution, when it was asked to determine who was the mother of Thomas Atkins, a Creek Indian, to whom was patented lands in Oklahoma of great value because of the oil beneath them. The case was heard in the Supreme court, and the court will not have the affections of a mother to aid it, for the child died long ago and the woman who was his mother also is dead. The second woman in the case is alive, but demented, and in the custody of a guardian.
When the Dawes commission made allotments to the Creek Indians it had Thomas Atkins as a member of that tribe, and a patent for 160 acres of land was issued in his name. Years later, with the development of oil properties in Oklahoma, the land awarded to Thomas Atkins, located in the Cushing

Q.—Have many of the municipalities in the United States or Canada attempted to build up municipal forests with the object of a future fuel supply as well as developing an area for recreation?
A.—Several Canadian municipalities have already started communal forests much on the plan of the French and Swiss communal forests. One of the most notable is that of Carthage, N. Y. On a tract of two thousand acres 85,000 trees have been set out in order to protect the watershed areas on which the municipal water supply depends and to provide for future supply of timber. The trees set out fifteen to eighteen feet in height and six inches in diameter. This tract eventually will furnish a million board feet of lumber a year. In Europe, where planted forests are a well-established source of revenue, returns of from $7 to $12 an acre are secured from communal forests.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS IN FORESTRY

Q.—What are the commonly accepted causes for the series of forest fires that have ravaged Northern Ontario periodically?
A.—The Porcupine fire in 1911 and what is known as the Claybelt disaster of 1916 were both due to unrestricted land clearing fires started by settlers for the purpose of burning up the wooded debris on their farm lands. Everyone recognizes the necessity of using fire for this purpose, but the operation is rendered highly dangerous unless closely supervised by government officers. No such burning should be allowed except where wind and other conditions make it reasonably safe. The general public sentiment in Northern Ontario has always been in favor of a rapid burning off of the country for mining purposes. This of course cannot be accomplished except at the cost of human life and the destruction of millions of dollars of real property.

He had gone to Mr. Rand for optical treatment. He had received none because Mr. Rand had told him he could get lenses cheaper in the city. There had been optical instruments there. To Mr. Porter he said he had given evidence before the council at the request of Mr. Boyaner or Mr. Goldfeather. He told them that Mr. Rand had refused to do business with him. William G. Stears, optometrist, said he had been present at the hearing before the council. He had seen prescriptions given by Mr. Rand and filled. This was before August 2. To Mr. Porter he said he had laid charges against Mr. Rand, but did not think it was as far back as May. He had met Mr. Barnard early in August. The meeting had been incidental. He had not asked Mr. Barnard to go to Mr. Rand's office. The case was postponed until Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock.

CHARGE HOTEL LAW VIOLATED

George Galbraith Proceeded Against in Police Court—Dog Case Postponed.

George Galbraith was charged this morning in the police court, with being the keeper of a lodging house at King square and not keeping a proper register. J. A. Barry appeared for the defense.

Policeman Dykeman said he had discovered that the last entry in the register was made on September 7, 1922 and no hour of arrival or description of room to which the guest was assigned was shown, as required by law. He said he knew of people who had stayed there without registering. He had met Roy Doherty in Union street this morning and he had said he had the key of the Empress house.

To Mr. Barry he said a man named Canty had stayed there without registering. He had not inspected any other lodging house register. Canty was the only man he had seen produced.

Policeman Coughlan corroborated the previous evidence with reference to going to the hotel. He had been to the hotel previously on a liquor raid. Some time ago he had seen a man and woman going into the hotel about nine o'clock. There names were not on the register.

To Mr. Barry he said he could not swear that the man said woman did not come from the Empress house. Policeman Thomas said he had gone to the Empress and had been admitted by Galbraith pulling a cord which opened the door. He noticed one entry in the register, "Sullivan, City." He remarked it to the accused, who merely laughed.

Roy Doherty said he roomed at the Empress house. He was a steamship clerk. He had been staying there since May 10. John Ryan had been in there but had never stayed there. Canty had stayed there two nights recently. He had been residing at Frank O'Neill had stayed there over night more than once.

TWO FOR ST. JOHN ON MONTCALM

C. P. Steamship Brings 1012 to Quebec

Some Children for Catholic Home and House Servants for Winnipeg—Chief Justice Mathers Speaks of Conditions in Germany.

Quebec, Oct. 14.—The Canadian Pacific 16400-ton steamer Montcalm, Capt. W. Rennie, O. B. E., from Liverpool, with 1012 passengers, docked at Quebec yesterday morning. The majority of passengers in both classes were returned Canadians. Among the new settlers in the third class were sixteen children from the St. Joseph Catholic Home in Ottawa, and thirty house servants who came out under the auspices of the Salvation Army and are destined for Winnipeg.

Among the cabin passengers were Lady B. MacMaster, widow of Sir Donald MacMaster, Major Hruban, who brought to Canada the body of the late A. W. Hepburn, who died in England; Capt. M. W. Plummet of Toronto, promoter of the Dumbells Theatrical Company; Chief Justice Mathers of Winnipeg, accompanied by Mrs. and Miss Mathers, returning after a three months' holiday tour of Europe, and Miss Helen Downey and Miss R. MacCormack of St. John.

Chief Justice Mathers said he spent most of his time on a visit to his brother-in-law, R. D. Wall, former mayor of Winnipeg and now British commissioner in the Saar Valley. Speaking of Germany, he said that everybody was working in that country. There were business activities everywhere, but owing to the depression of the market generally, especially speaking, was badly handicapped.

For instance, the mark was continually depreciating, and while Germany had to sell her goods for export and be paid for them in marks, she had to pay for her raw material in gold or the value in dollars.

This phase of the situation had the effect of demoralizing industrial conditions in Germany, for the reason that the German manufacturers and commercial interests generally could never tell where they stood in account of their terrible handicap in rate of exchange.

M. Justice Mathers said his brother-in-law and his associates were doing excellent work in the Saar Valley. The commission was obliged in their administration to take account of as well as distribute food to the poor. The French owned the Saar Valley coal mines and paid the German laborers in these mines twenty francs a day. At the time the franc was four times the value of the mark, and they lived in opulence while the German laborer employed by the German industrial and business activities was being paid twenty marks a day.

The chief justice said that in Germany he noticed that the business of being carried on on a two rate of exchange. The people realized this, and that the stockholders were in a quandary not knowing where they stood in regard to their profits by the depreciation of the mark. Consequently they were days when the merchants closed their stores altogether.

Chief Justice Mathers, speaking of the feeling of the people in Germany towards the Allies, said the Germans hate the French, but show no feeling towards the English. Strange to say the French hated the English, and he was afraid that if these conditions continued it would mean the ending of the Entente Cordiale.

HORSE GOES OVER THE NORTH WHARF

Fire Department Called—Two Animals in Difficulties in That Vicinity.

By a coincidence, two iron gray horses, each owned by a man named Johnston, got into difficulties in the vicinity of Market square this morning, between 11 o'clock and noon.

The first commotion ensued when a big truck horse, owned by H. A. Johnston, drawing a sloven loaded with bags of sugar, skidded and fell over the cap of the North Market wharf, opposite the office of J. Hunter White. The animal was proceeding in the direction of Smythe street when, turning out to pass another vehicle, it slipped on the pavement and went over the wharf.

The front wheels of the sloven brought up against the timber piece which tops the wharf and the horse hung suspended between pavement and the mud flat below by only his harness.

A call was sent in for the fire department and ropes were placed about the horse's breast and neck and he was lowered to the bottom of the slip. Until the ropes were fastened, which was not until some minutes after the accident happened, the animal hung head downward, causing blood to issue from his nose. As the harness was cut away he turned a complete somersault and was suspended for a few minutes head upward until lowered to the bottom. He was led away apparently none the worse for his experience.

Commissioner Thornton, who was present, warned the driver not to place so large a load on his vehicle.

The second horse, owned by Joseph Johnston, and also an iron gray, developed blind staggers in Dock street a few minutes after the other animal had been taken away, but he recovered soon afterwards. There were some who were of the opinion that this was the same horse which went over the wharf, and at least one lively argument on the subject followed.

ACCUSED OF WOOLING NURSE WITH PISTOL

Bride Charges Her Husband With Forcing Her to Marry Him Under Threat of Death.

NYack, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Arthur C. Tanner, 20, a student of Grand View, was held in $5,000 bail by Judge M. B. Patterson on a charge of assault with intent to kill for forcing Mary C. Nelson, 24, nurse, to marry him under threat of death.

"Will you run away with me and marry me?" he is reported to have said as he pressed a revolver to her breast as they sat on the porch at her home.

"Of course, I will," was her quick response.

The same method, it is alleged, was used by Tanner to induce the nurse to go with him to the town clerk's office on Oct. 8 for a license.

They were married and were married by Rev. Gardner Howland.

Last night Mrs. Tanner notified Sheriff George L. Brown that he had again threatened her. The sheriff and three deputies arrested the youth. He was armed with a pistol for which he had no permit. Mrs. Tanner is a graduate nurse and she was employed by the Aetna Insurance Company. She gained considerable fame one year ago by swimming across the Hudson River, a distance of three and one-half miles. It is said she will ask that the marriage be annulled.

HOTEL IS BLOWN UP AND A MAN KILLED

Bristow, Okla., Oct. 14.—One man is dead, two others persons are injured and a dog was killed, it is reported, as the result of dynamiting of the Illinois Hotel here at midnight.

Why Not Use the Mail? A story that dates to the eighteenth century is as follows: Dr. Johnson once met the village postman trudging along the dusty road on a hot summer afternoon. The postman observed that he had still a mile to walk just to deliver one newspaper.

"My goodness!" exclaimed the sympathetic doctor, "I never go all that distance for such a trifle. Why don't you send it by post?"

GREEK TROOPS LEAVING THRACE

Arrival of Allied Forces Makes Task Easier.

Might Have Been Hard to Restrain Soldiers, Who Wanted to Fight Turks—Agreement Has Good Effect on Moslem Feeling.

(Canadian Press Cable.)

Adrianople, Oct. 14.—Evacuation of the Greek troops from Eastern Thrace, under the terms of the armistice, was due to begin today. The Greek officers are making an effort to maintain discipline among their troops, so as to carry out the evacuation without disturbing incidents.

The sentiment in favor of resistance has been largely modified by the announcement of the pending arrival of 6,000 allied troops, the Greeks obviously are unwilling to oppose the allies, although they might have made a determined stand against Turkish soldiers.

French and Italian detachments are expected to arrive at Sinikli tomorrow. Three British battalions will arrive at Rodosto.

The Greek and Turkish populations each blame the other for the numerous instances of rifling of freight trains and robberies of refugees.

Constantinople, Oct. 14.—The formal acceptance by the Greeks of the Mudania armistice agreement was transmitted to all the signatory powers this afternoon by George Simopoulos, the Greek high commissioner in Constantinople.

Adrianople, Oct. 14.—The Greek third army corps refused to obey orders to evacuate Thrace.

The Greek government has instructed its high commissioner at Constantinople to sign an armistice with the Turks, Greece being under the necessity of yielding to the force of circumstances.

London, Oct. 14.—It is understood that telegrams received in official quarters in London indicates that an excellent effect has been produced on Moslem feeling among the Mohammedans in India, Persia and Afghanistan as a result of the Near Eastern agreement.

Constantinople, Oct. 14.—The Turkish Nationalists have declined to grant permission to Dr. Fridtjof Nansen to visit Anatolia, whether Dr. Nansen had been planning to go for a conference with Mustafa Kemal Pasha on behalf of the League of Nations regarding the safety of the Christian minorities and the care of refugees.

More Refugees... Mitylene, Oct. 14.—A new flood of refugees is expected to arrive next week from the cities of Southern Anatolia. This district was controlled by the Turkish Nationalists, who were at war with the Greeks, and the Christian and Moslem populations lived in close proximity without serious friction.

Now, however, all the Greek children and old men have been given seven days to leave the country while the men of military age are to be taken into the interior by the Turks. Adalia and Makri are the most important coast towns affected.

This move is taken to indicate the Turks' intention of removing the minority populations from all parts of the country.

ACCUSED OF WOOLING NURSE WITH PISTOL

Bride Charges Her Husband With Forcing Her to Marry Him Under Threat of Death.

NYack, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Arthur C. Tanner, 20, a student of Grand View, was held in $5,000 bail by Judge M. B. Patterson on a charge of assault with intent to kill for forcing Mary C. Nelson, 24, nurse, to marry him under threat of death.

"Will you run away with me and marry me?" he is reported to have said as he pressed a revolver to her breast as they sat on the porch at her home.

"Of course, I will," was her quick response.

The same method, it is alleged, was used by Tanner to induce the nurse to go with him to the town clerk's office on Oct. 8 for a license.

They were married and were married by Rev. Gardner Howland.

Last night Mrs. Tanner notified Sheriff George L. Brown that he had again threatened her. The sheriff and three deputies arrested the youth. He was armed with a pistol for which he had no permit. Mrs. Tanner is a graduate nurse and she was employed by the Aetna Insurance Company. She gained considerable fame one year ago by swimming across the Hudson River, a distance of three and one-half miles. It is said she will ask that the marriage be annulled.

New York, Oct. 14.—Federal Judge Learned Hand has issued temporary injunctions restraining federal prohibition enforcement agents from molesting liquor on board the vessels of the British-owned White Star line and the American-owned United American Line. The temporary stays were granted until Tuesday.

Van Vechten Yeeder, of counsel for the White Star Line, declared that he would come back to court with "one or two more cases today. He said that the company was in a quandary as to what to do with the large stock of liquor on board the vessels of the White Star Line from Liverpool on Wednesday morning and that it wanted some guidance from the court in deciding how to dispose of this stock.

A Twenty-five Per Cent Increase in Montreal

Membership There is 2,292—Expansion in Various Phases of Activities and Outlook Bright, Executive Secretary Reports.

An increase of twenty-five per cent in membership is recorded in the annual report of the secretary of the Montreal Branch of the Boy Scouts' Association, Canada, presented to the branch at its annual meeting by E. Russell Paterson, assistant provincial scout commissioner and executive secretary of the local branch. The report announces very satisfactory progress along all lines, and is notable for the fact that the solution of many long standing scout organization problems is recorded.

Total strength 2,292. A census taken in June of the present year shows that the total strength of the Montreal scouts is 2,292, as compared to 1,821 in 1921 and to 1,634 in 1920. Census figures were as follows:

Scout troops	44	39	32
Wolf cub packs	24	9	6
Scouts	1,617	1,491	1,400
Scout officers	104	98	9
Cubs	638	220	129
Cub officers	33	12	6

Total strength 2,292 1,821 1,634. An appreciable increase is also reported in the number of proficiency badges gained by the boys, as well as in the number of first-class tests passed. Total badges gained numbered 1,581, as compared to 1,237 last year, and total first-class tests, 567, as against 384 last year. The most popular badges this year were: Laundryman, 168; missionary, 167; fireman, 128; athlete, 118; interpreter, 102; cyclist, sixty-nine; handyman, sixty-eight; swimmer, sixty-one; ambulance driver, fifty-eight; first-aid, fifty-eight. Scouts completing their first-class tests during the year numbered twenty-seven, while twenty-one first-class

Snowy white without boiling

THAT dull, grey, streaky look that you always had to boil out of your clothes is never there when you use Rinso. It soaks the dirt, softens it, loosens it so thoroughly that it all runs away in the rinsing, leaving the clothes sweet, snowy-white and fresh as new. It's because Rinso is the new, modern scientific washing preparation that works in an entirely new way. It washes by soaking. It is altogether different from ordinary soaps and washing powders. So, it should be used differently. Do not pour Rinso itself into the tub. Make your Rinso liquid first, as per directions.

IF YOU USE A WASHING MACHINE. Soak your clothes in the Rinso suds as usual—for one hour, two hours, overnight, or whatever time is convenient. Then add more Rinso solution and work the machine. Rinso and dry—you'll have a clean, sweet, snowy-white wash.

cubs the use of their camp, equipment and staff at Cushing; the Montreal press in affording space for scout news."

The report closes as follows: "The outlook for scouting in Montreal is distinctly bright at the present time. Large fields for expansion are open to us, and while we hope for a continual increase in the efficiency of our machinery, the organization of our association is working smoothly. Probably never before has there been such a sincere spirit of co-operation among our officers and committeemen. The greatest need at the moment is for more trained officers of the best type of manhood, and as these become available, scouting will take a larger and larger place in the community as a movement for the training in character and citizenship of all sorts and conditions of boys."

DETROIT POLICE RAID "DOPE" DEN

Allege Discovery of Connecting Link With Drug Supply Ring in Montreal.

Detroit, Oct. 14.—A comely young white woman stood beside a negro before Judge Heston in the Recorder's court, both charged with violating the narcotic drug laws. Police testified both had been arrested in a house in St. Antoine street, that had been fitted up in Oriental splendor as an opium den. Evidence also was introduced to prove an alleged direct connecting link between the Detroit house and a "dope" supply ring in Montreal. The prisoners were Thurlow Shook and Rose Campbell. They entered pleas of not guilty and were remanded for trial. Police testified that several rooms in the St. Antoine street house were fitted out with Oriental rugs, hangings and furnishings. Soft couches, piled with pillows, invited dreamy sleep. There were also opium pipes, together with thirty-five grains of drug found. A letter from "A Washington, 18 St. Cecile street, Montreal" was found in the possession of Shook, the police testified. This letter stated that the writer could supply all the "bricks, turkey and white stuff" that was wanted, and quoted prices for opium, morphine and cocaine. "They are after us up here about the opium den," the letter continued. "If you pay car fare, I will bring the stuff to you or will express it to Windsor at your risk."

Why Is Royal Yeast Better Than Any Other Yeast?

Possibly you have asked yourself this very question, and may, or may not, have answered it to your own satisfaction.

Bread made with ordinary yeast may approximate bread made with Royal Yeast in general appearance, but in reality the actual food content and the assimilating qualities of bread made with Royal Yeast are much greater, irrespective of whether the flour is made from hard or soft wheat.

Royal Yeast Cakes are manufactured in accordance with a fixed scientific principle, and in such a way as to preclude any possible variation, as is frequently the case in ordinary yeast. Each cake is wrapped separately by machinery in wax paper, and sealed, making them practically air-tight. This means they will keep fresh much longer, and prevents the possibility of dirt or dust coming in contact with them even after the package has been opened. Royal Yeast Cakes have been the standard Yeast of Canada for over 50 years, which fact in itself is a guarantee of their superior quality and reliability.

scouts became King's scouts. All-round cords were issued as follows: Green, for scouts holding six badges, fourteen; red, for those holding twelve badges and qualifying by other tests, fifteen; gold, for those holding eighteen badges, fifteen. Wolf cub badges issued numbered 138, the most popular being: First-aid, thirty; signaller, twenty-three; collector, twenty-two; house orderly, eighteen; and athlete, fourteen. First stars granted were: v.v.v.-one, and second stars, sixty.

Mr. Paterson opens his report by pointing out that "the report presents a year ago showed a steady but not outstanding expansion of our movement, and emphasized rather the progress that had been made in solving problems of internal economy, looking to the ensuing year for a more rapid growth. The wisdom of this strengthening the foundations before extension has been amply justified, for the anticipated large growth in numbers has taken place during the past year, and the organization of the association has been found quite competent to absorb the increase, so that the new shares the efficiency of the old.

Wolf Cubs' Activities. The greatest growth in numbers has been the wolf cubs, whose activities are assuming a position of increasing importance in the movement. The quality of their work, as shown by their star and proficiency badge record, has been very thorough. Their contribution to the programme of the outdoor display on August 19 was one of the most popular items produced. Sixty-five cubs attended a combined camp for ten days during the summer, held for the second time at Cushing. The excellence of the report of cub work is due to the efforts of the cub committee, with its efficient secretary, H. M. Jockel.

"One of the most significant directions of expansion has been in co-operation with the Protestant Board of School Commissioners. The introduction of scouting in the schools of Montreal has been a question that has received careful study on the part of the board, who finally gave it their official sanction. A meeting of school principals was held on February 8, attended also by Dr. Robertson and Mr. Stiles, our chief and assistant commissioners. At this meeting there was agreed that whatever trained scoutmasters could be provided, these should be recommended to and appointed by the board, and official school troops organized under the supervision of the school principals. H. A. Lovell, provincial secretary, gave his entire time for three months to organizing work in the schools, with the result that approximately 100 scouts and 100 wolf cubs were enrolled in school units before the summer, most of the scouts being trained in small groups by Mr. Lovell, personally for expansion into complete units this autumn. School troops and packs will come into being gradually, just as quickly as qualified officers are available to lead them.

"Two other significant fields for extension have been opened up through the appointment of Catholic and Jewish advisory committees. The former was organized with the approval of the authorities of the Roman Catholic Church, and has already secured the co-operation of the Knights of Columbus. This committee is steadily working towards the establishment of scout troops in the Catholic parishes, and awaits only trained officers to be organized. This committee also has plans for the organizing of new Jewish units as soon as leaders are available.

Old Scouts' Club Formed. "Another phase of the expansion of the movement's activities during the past year has been in the organization of Old Scouts' Clubs. Twelve months ago there were two such clubs, the 8th (Outrigger) club, and that formed among the students of McGill University. Five others have been organized during the year, namely, clubs formed of ex-scouts of the 11th, 12th, 14th, 18th and 21st troops respectively. The total membership is 268. Each club is experimenting to discover the activities best suited to such organizations, but all have a very friendly feeling towards the movement, and a desire to assist in any way possible, especially in connection with the particular troops whose name each club bears. The coming year should see important developments in the club movement, both in its relation to our association and in the service it will render to the community.

Trained Officers Needed. "We acknowledge with gratitude the assistance of our work given through the co-operation of the Protestant Board of School Commissioners, both in approving the scout programme for use among their scholars, and in allowing many troops the use of their school gymnasiums; the authorities of McGill University in allowing the use of the stadium for the display, and in affording accommodation for the officers' training course in the Engineering Building; the Presbyterian Settlement Board in again allowing the wolf

MURDERS OVER POLITICS HAVE STIRRED LISBON

Lisbon, Portugal, Sept. 20.—(A. P. by mail.)—Two recent political assassinations in the streets of Lisbon have aroused the people of this turbulent city. The authorities are accused of failing to afford protection to individuals, and the newspapers are calling upon the government to do something, else Lisbon will become more and more isolated from the provinces where already the city is led as a dangerous centre of disorder. The latest crimes took place within three days of each other, and in the heart of the city. Neither victim is expected to live. One was a civil revolutionist known under the nickname of "Avante." He is accused of having denounced some of his former comrades who advocated very extreme measures. He was crossing the street at night, near the docks, when an automobile suddenly stopped near him. Two men jumped out, one stabbed him with a dagger, and then both fled in the car. The other victim is Sergio Principe, a Lisbon merchant, who is accused of forsaking his old ideal in favor of the working classes, and who is said to be the secretary of the Patronal Association, an organization strongly opposed to the syndicates and the unions. Principe also was stabbed while walking on the street in front of his store, and his assailant escaped. Both men had received letters of warning, written in blood, and signed "The Red Legion."

MOVEMENT FOR BETTER ATHLETICS

Must be Clean and Conform to Standard, Says Report of Southern States School Association.

College athletics, the target for many attacks and the topic for much discussion in recent months, receives a preliminary report in the revised standards of the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States, just made public in School Life magazine, U. S. Bureau of Education. This popular branch of extra-curricular activities must be made clean and every hint of commercialism, of which there had been talk in the case of some eastern universities, must be banished, says the report.

"Proper administration of athletics, amusement, fraternities, and all other extra-curricular activities is one of the fundamental tests of a standard college," says the digest of the association's report. "The college members of the association will be expected to make regular reports on their supervision of athletics showing that the latter are on a clean and healthy basis, and they do not occupy an undue place in the life of the college, and that strict eligibility and scholarship requirements are enforced. Professionalism or commercialism in athletics shall disqualify a college membership in the approved list of the association."

"An accredited institution must be able to prepare, professional, or research institutions as candidates for advanced degrees. Statistics of the records of the graduates of the college in the approved list of the association shall be filed with the commission on institutions of higher education on demand, and evidence of such suitable preparation."

"The conferring of multiple degrees is discouraged. Small institutions should confine themselves to one or two. When more than one baccalaureate degree is offered, all should be equal in requirements for admission and for graduation. Institutions of limited resources and inadequate facilities for graduate work should confine themselves to the granting of baccalaureate degrees in arts and science. Soldier rehabilitation students should not be considered."

"At least 75 per cent of the students in a college should be considered for the grant of a baccalaureate degree."

"When the institution has, in addition to the college of arts and science, professional or technical departments, the college of arts and science shall not be accepted for the approved list of the association unless the professional or technical departments are of approved grade, national standards being used when available."

It is recommended in the report that the salary of full professors be not less than $2,500 at present and by 1923-4 not less than $3,000.

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES

The crew of the Yarmouth fisherman Lewis H. Smith, which put into Halifax yesterday from the banks with her mainsail torn as the result of a gale off Sable Island, reported that they had lived for two days on fried halibut and a little water. They also said that the last few weeks on the banks had been the worst in a long time.

King McFarlane, well known lumberman of Sussex Corner, was badly hurt in an accident which occurred when his hand and arm were drawn into a corn cutter on which he was working Wednesday morning. The machine had to be taken apart to free the arm and it is feared that an amputation may be necessary.

AT THE Y. M. C. A.

The swimming class beginners was started at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday and will be continued every Friday afternoon. About 150 boys attended a motion picture programme. Tonight members of the East End Boys' Club are to be entertained. Games will be played and swimming enjoyed.

S. Bureau of Education. This popular branch of extra-curricular activities must be made clean and every hint of commercialism, of which there had been talk in the case of some eastern universities, must be banished, says the report.

"Proper administration of athletics, amusement, fraternities, and all other extra-curricular activities is one of the fundamental tests of a standard college," says the digest of the association's report. "The college members of the association will be expected to make regular reports on their supervision of athletics showing that the latter are on a clean and healthy basis, and they do not occupy an undue place in the life of the college, and that strict eligibility and scholarship requirements are enforced. Professionalism or commercialism in athletics shall disqualify a college membership in the approved list of the association."

"An accredited institution must be able to prepare, professional, or research institutions as candidates for advanced degrees. Statistics of the records of the graduates of the college in the approved list of the association shall be filed with the commission on institutions of higher education on demand, and evidence of such suitable preparation."

"The conferring of multiple degrees is discouraged. Small institutions should confine themselves to one or two. When more than one baccalaureate degree is offered, all should be equal in requirements for admission and for graduation. Institutions of limited resources and inadequate facilities for graduate work should confine themselves to the granting of baccalaureate degrees in arts and science. Soldier rehabilitation students should not be considered."

"At least 75 per cent of the students in a college should be considered for the grant of a baccalaureate degree."

"When the institution has, in addition to the college of arts and science, professional or technical departments, the college of arts and science shall not be accepted for the approved list of the association unless the professional or technical departments are of approved grade, national standards being used when available."

It is recommended in the report that the salary of full professors be not less than $2,500 at present and by 1923-4 not less than $3,000.
