Another Punitive Expedition Is to Be Dispatched to the North From Pekin.

Must Erect Monuments.

Berlin, Nov. 13 .- A semi-official dispatch from Pekin, dated November 12th, rives the text of the conjoint note of powers to China. It confirms the ondon Times dispatch from Pekin on November 11th. Among the additional tipulations, the note requires China to erect expiatory monuments in every reign or international burial ground where graves have been profaned.

Another Proposal, Washington, Nov. 13 .- In addition to the points said to be agreed upon at Pekin as a basis for settlement with China, announced in cable dispatches, it is unlerstood that several points are likely o receive attention when the matter is aken up with the Chinese envoys. One of these is as to making the city of Pekin an "open port," for while it is not on the sea coast, the purpose is to exend to it that freedom of commerce and ntercourse with foreigners which now applies only to those open ports designated by treaties with China.

Baroness is Improving.

Chicago, Nov. 13 .- A special to the Tribune from Detroit says: "Baroness von Ketteler is improving slowly at the residence of her father, Henry B. Ledrd, president of the Michigan Central RR. Co. When she arrived, about five weeks ago, her condition was such that her relatives for a time were greatly alarmed. Kaiser and Baroness von Ketteler. New York, Nov. 13 .- According to a dispatch from Berlin the Kaiser has ust given further evidence of his regard or Baron von Ketteler, who was asassinated in China, by inviting the ambassador's widow to Germany in order that ne may express to her his keen sense not only of her husband's services, but also of the courage and gallantry which she herself displayed throughout the terrible siege of the legations. It is expected that the Kaiser, besides investing the widowed Baroness with the Order of Louis, of which the Empress is grand mistress, will offer her a pension and create her a countess in er own right. It is probable that the Baroness will also be offered the title of lady-in-waiting to the Empress. She is certain to be overwhelmed by the court government, society and the people with tokens of kindly sympathy and regard.

London, Nov. 12.-Wiring from Pekin on Sunday, Dr. Morrison, the Times correspondent, says:

Pressed by the common desire for a speedy termination of the present conditions, the foreign envoys have finally agreed to the following terms, to be presented in conjoint note, which, subject to the approval of the governments, will be pressed upon China as the basis of a preliminary treaty:

"China shall erect a monument to Baron von Ketteler on the site where he was murdered, and send an imperial prince to Germany to convoy an apology; she will inflict the death penalty upon eleven princes and officials already named, and suspend provincial examinations for five years where the outrages occurred; in future all officials failing to prevent anti-foreign outrages within their jurisdiction shall be dismissed and punished; indemnity shall be paid to the states, corporations and individuals; the Tsung Li Yamen shall be abolished and its functions vested in a foreign minister; rational intercourse shall be permitted with the Emperor, as in civilized countries. The forts at Taku and other forts on the coast of Chih-li shall be razed, the importation of arms and war materials prohibited; permanent legation

"The indemnity is to include compensation for Chinese who suffered through being employed by foreigners, but not compensation for native Christians. The words 'missionary' and 'Christians' do not occur in the note."

There Is Sallow Complexion, Fulness About the Stomach and Pains in the Shoulders and Back--Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills Act Promptly and Directly on the Liver.

A sense of fulness and oppression about the stomach, a pale, sallow complexion and pain in the shoulders and back are among the first indications of a disordered liver. Then there comes indigestion, wind on the stomach, headache, coated tongue, a bitter taste in the mouth, depression of spirits and despondency.

The bowels become iregular and constipation and looseness alternate. The bile left in the blood by an inactive liver poisons the blood and causes liver spots, blotches and pimples.

The prescription from which Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are prepared was perfected by the doctor in his immense practice, and has proven the greatest liver regulator ever discovered. It acts directly and promptly on the liver, making it active and vigorous as a filtering organ. At the same time it regu lates and tones up the kidneys and bowels and sets the whole filtering and excretory system in healthy working order.

In these days of experimenting with all sorts of new, untried remedies, appliances and treatments it is a comfort and pleasure to know that you can turn to this prescription of Dr. A. W. Chase and find in it a safe and certain cure for the many dangerous and complicated disorders of the liver, kidneys and bowels. Grau Opera Company Opened a Week's Engagement Here Last Evening.

Excellent Performance and Lots of Fun-Many New Faces -- Crowded House.

The Jules Grau Opera Company opend a week's engagement at the Victoria theatre last evening, and were greeted by a crowded house. This was to be expected, as the company in former years has won for itself an extent of popularity that was, if anything, inreased by the performance of "The Isle f Champagne' last night.

Few of the singers who delighted the udiences on former occasions were in evidence last evening, but their successors were fully capable of sustaining the Indians Robbed Bodies of Dead eputation won for the company by the clever singers who comprised its person-

"The Isle of Champagne" is a very suggestive title, and the progress of the play demonstrates the striking congruity etween the name and the production. Throughout the entire proceedings there appeared to be an accompaniment of popping corks, which, although purely intaginary, surrounded the performances with a glamor that naught but the name of this magic draught could give.

over that line. D. R. Ker moved, seconded by Chas. Todd, that the action of the president be endorsed.

A. G. McCandless held a contrary opinion, He maintained that it was wrong for the president to send that dispatch without consulting the council. If Capt. Irving was so anxious to obtain information why did he not forward the telegram over his own signature. The president should certainly have called a meeting of the board and the matter would have received consideration. He understood in a general way that the Great Northern Company was behind the scheme in the same manner as it was behind the New Westminster Southern road. If the president had called a meeting of the council before sending the telegram he doubted if it would have been sent.

C. H. Lugrin pointed out his objection to the action of the president was based on the fact that the telegram was incorrect. Mr. Bodwell did not state to the city council that the Great Northern in itself was behind the scheme. He did not mention the name of J. J. Hill, but J. N. Hill, the third vice-president of the road. The dispatch conveyed the impression that somebody had represented to the board of trade that the Great Northern was behind the scheme. Such was not the case. The president's action was too hasty, and the speaker did not think it advisable to endorse it. Mr. Ward said that Mr. Wheeler had told him distinctly that J. J. Hill was behind the scheme, and that Mr. Bodwell had gone to Seattle to consult him on the subject, Mr. Wheeler further told him that Mr. Hill had received his telegram before he (the speaker) was in receipt of a reply.

It was recommended that a concert be given to raise funds, no tick ets to be sold and the entertainment in no way to interfere with school work. Mr. Belyea was opposed to the prin-

THE CITY OF BOATS.

The only city in the world which it is correct to term Canton is in Ohio, U.S. Canton in China, on the Chou Kiang or Pearl river, is not really Canton at Its true name is Kwang Chow Foo. "Canton" is a corruption of and "Kwangtung," the name of the province

The unaccustomed tongues of the early English and Portuguese residents stumbled over the queer Chinese names, hence the confusion. Canton is most favorably situated for that as early as A.D. 10 it was one of the principal centres.

The credit of first opening up the Far East to European trade belongs to the ly followed by the English in the shape of agents of the East India Company, Tea and silks were the principal articles imported into England from the hitherto dark and mysterious Celestial Empire.

Canton has often been called the "City of Boats"; and, indeed, a very large proportion of the population live and die on the river. Here there are regular floating villages, composed of hundreds and hundreds of boats, each containing its family, who lead this amphibious life very happily and contentedly. At times the typhoon comes along, and "he is tyrannous and strong." But a few score of drowned makes not much difference to the teeming multitudes of the floating villages. Laden heavily with salmon the steamer Tees arrived from northern ports last evening with several passengers from northern British Columbia points, including J. L. Alexander, collector of customs at Port Simpson, and son, W. Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Drainey, H. and T. Drainey, from Namu; R. Chambers, M. Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. Mc-Dermid, Paul Cato, H. Mooney, T. Sehl and Mayor Garden. The salmon cargo of the Tees, which is for transhipment to London on the barks Naiad and Machrihanish, consists of 1.141 cases from the Claxton cannery, 539 cases from the Brunswick, 1,371 cases from the lord," was the reply. Good Hope, 2,929 cases from Windsor and 1,309 cases from Inverness. Regarding the reports of poaching being done in northern waters by American vessels, Capt. Gosse says he had heard no complaints. The D. G. S. Quadra. which went North for the purpose of making a survey of the halibut fishing grounds, was on the scene, and if poaching was being indulged in would make interesting for the law-breaking craft. She was at anchor off the Skeena. The Tees reports a big potlatch in progress at Bella Coola. The steamer will sail again for Skidegate, Naas and way ports on Saturday.

A telegram to the Hudson's Bay Company, received via the new wire running north from Ashcroft, announces the safe arrival at Hazelton of twenty tons of goods shipped up the Skeena on the steamer Monte Christo. The message was sent from Hazelton and has allayed much uneasiness felt regarding the vessel reaching her destination, as report had it that she was wrecked somewhere in the upper part of the river, and it was not known whether this was on her up or down voyage. The telegram mentions that the steamer started on her return trip light, and that the captain had intended travelling slow in event of meeting ice. He was to stop en route for a load of wood. Whether these circumstances fully explain her long delay up the river, her owner, R. Cunningham, who is now in the city, is unable to state. The fact that Hazelton is now in touch with the outside world, and that a message from there can be transmitted to the Omineca country in comparatively little time, is, how- of harriers," says the writer, "that is so ever, a matter for supreme gratification.

IRISH HUMOR.

To the Nineteenth Century Mr. Michael MacDonagh contributes the last of his interesting and amusing papers, entitled 'In the Bye-Ways of Rural Ireland." Here are some of his stories of the Irish peasants:

The Irish peasant, he writes, is still what Sir Walter Scott called him, after the visit of the great novelist to Ireland in the early thirties-he is still "the gayest fellow in the world under difficulties and afflictions." He has a cheerful way of regarding circumstances which to others would be most unpleasant and disheartening. A peasant met with an accident which resulted in a broken leg. The neighbors, of course, commiserated him. "Arrah," he remarked with a gleam of satisfaction in his eye as he regarded the bandaged limb, "what a blessing it is that it wasn't me neck." Yes, the irrepressible Irishman has a joke for every occasion. Two countrymen who had not seen each other for a long time met at a fair. They had a lot of things to tell each other. "Shure it's married I am," said O'Brien. "You don't tell me so!" said Blake. "Faith, yes," said O'Brien, "an' I've got a fine healthy bhoy which the neighbors say is the very picter of me." Blake looked for a moment at O'Brien. who was not, to say the least. remarkable for his good looks, and then said; "Och well, what's the harrum so long as the child's healthy." And yet a peasant to whom a witticism thus spontaueously springs may be very simpleminded.

A London tourist in Ireland was telling a bright and intelligent peasant of the wonders of the great metropolis. "Cheapside," he said, "is crammed with people. Piccadilly is the same. You can hardly walk in the Haymarket for the lonkey, with a load of turf which seemed to tax the strength of the unfortunate animal to the utmost. "Why," said the man, "you ought to be taken up for cruelty to animals for loading the ass so heavily as that!" "Begorra, sur," said the peasant, who was on his way to the market town to try to sell the turf, begorra, if I didn't do that I'd be taken up for cruelty to a wife and six children." A landlord in the south of Ireland recently received a letter from a tenant in the following terms: 'Yer honnor-Hopin' this finds you in nealth as it leaves me at present; your bull-dog Bill has assassinated me poor ould donkey."

MUSIC FOR THE CHILD.

Children naturally have to strum on the piano from curiosity; some easily learn to pick out a tune with one finger; beyond that only a few really love music w enough to bear its drudgery cheerfully Yet all boys, as well as girls, should b able to read notes, both for the voice and for the fingers; and so much, doubtless, they will learn in school. If possible, they should learn to play more or less, enough eventually to accompany a singer or read a hymn at sight. But it should be made as easy as possible; practice time should be short, never over half an hour a day when the child is under twelve, and this divided into two periods. The real foundations of a musical education on any instrument, the endless routine of scales and exercises, should not be insisted upon where there is a genuine hatred for them, for in the end it will be found that there is nothing gained by the trouble taken. By all means cultivate a talent, only be sure there is a talent to be cultivated .-Harper's Bazar.

RHEUMATISM WILL SUCCUMB to South American Rheumatic Cure because it goes right to the seat of the trouble and removes the cause. A curious tale of a hare's leap for liberty is told in the November number of Cassell's Little Folks. "It is not every pack courageously cheated of its prey as were the Yarmouth Harriers in a notable run. Poor pussy, pressed very sorely, made for the shore at Bacton, where the cliffs stand hard to describe the hare as a timid, quaking creature. Her bravery may have been her wits about her."
