WHERE MILLIONS GO.

Dean Hoffman's Will Begins With a Declaration of Faith.

Leaves on Record His Belief in His Church and His Hopes of Immortality—Gives $300,000 to Charities—Four Children to Share the $10,000,000 Estate.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The will of the Very Rev. Eugene Augustus Hoffman, dean of the General Theological Seminary, who died on June 17, was filed for probate yesterday.

The value of the estate is not given in the petition for probate, which says as to realty and personally separately that it exceeds $10,000,000.

Before disposing of his property Dean Hoffman makes a statement of his religious belief and of his wishes as regards his family in these words:

I profess that as I have lived, so I desire to die, in the communion of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States, which I firmly believe to be a pure branch of the One Holy, Catholic and Apostolic church of Christ.

I desire with sincere gratitude to Almighty God for all the blessings He has bestowed upon me to commend my immortal soul to Him, as into the hands of a faithful Creator and most merciful Saviour, most humbly beseeching that it may be precious in His sight, and that, being washed in the blood of that immaculate Lamb that was slain to take away the sins of the world, I may be preserved pure and without spot before Him.

I give to my dearly beloved wife, who has always been a faithful and loving helpmeet to me, and to my dear children my fervent and heartfelt blessing, and hereby express my earnest desire that as faithful members of the church they will endeavor to grow more and more into the noble and virtuous life which is the lot of those, and to observe all acts of love and duty to each other.

Dean Hoffman's wishes for the distribution of his property was approved by this phrase "And as to my worldly estate I dispose of the same as follows":

The General Theological Seminary is to receive $100,000, which trustees are to keep intact, using the income for the purposes of the seminary. The seminary will also get all the books in the library of the testator, except such as his widow may select for herself.

Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States of America, $50,000. To form a fund to be known as the Eugene Augustus Hoffman fund. Clergymen's Retiring Fund Society of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States, $10,000. To be used for the relief of widows and orphans of deceased clergymen and of aged, infirm and disabled clergymen of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States of America, $25,000. Protestant Episcopal public school, $25,000, and the New York Historical Society, $50,000.

It is, however, provided that if the testator made any gifts to those institutions in his lifetime the amount of such gifts is to be deducted from the amounts of these legacies. In the probate papers these legacies are rated at their face value.

The testator's bookkeeper, Edwin H. Rogers, is to have $5,000, and his secretary, Miss Elizabeth Dadds, $2,500. The widow is to have all household furniture, including stoves and paintings and plate, his manuscripts, sermons and other papers, and horses and carriages. The widow may call on the estate for a sum of money up to $75,000 for the purchase of a home.

The residuary estate is to be held in trust during the life of the widow, who is to have therefrom an income of $75,000 a year. If the income of the residuary estate above $75,000 a year is to be divided among testator's four children in equal shares. The death of a child meanwhile will not affect the tying up of the entire residuary estate for the life of the widow. If the deceased child should have issue, the issue will take the parent's share of income, and if there is no issue the remaining children of testator will take the income of the deceased child.

On the death of the widow the estate is to be divided into four parts. One of these shares will go absolutely to the son. The other three shares are to be held in trust for the benefit of the three daughters. The income of the fourth is to be paid to each for life with remainder over to her issue. Falling issue the fund will be divided among her brother and two sisters.

The Rev. John Henry Watson is husband of the daughter, Susan Mattila, the Rev. Thomas White Nickerson, Jr., of the daughter Mary Louise, and Charles Ludric Hackstaff of the daughter Margaret Euphemia.

The will provided that any indebtedness should be deducted from the legacies stated in the body of the will. Having paid for my several children at the dates named below the following sums, I hereby charge the same as advancements on their respective shares to be deducted as in my will provided.

15 April, 1902, Susan M. Hoffman, fifty-five thousand dollars.

The executors are to retain his investments as long as they seem to prosper. In investing money he suggests that it be in the first mortgage bonds or railroads having a terminus in the port of New York which have never defaulted in interest.

AN ENGLISH CLERIC. Loud in His Praise of New Brunswick.

Rev. W. Ingham Brooke, who has been "touring" in Canada, publishes his "Impressions" in the Halifax, England, Guardian. He concludes a contribution with the following appreciative remarks regarding this province:

I need not describe the beauties of Niagara and Quebec, as I am sure you will read about New Brunswick. I think the tourist who goes to Canada often neglects the marvellous beauties of this province. It is a lovely country, and I saw many beautiful country seats, and some of them were really beautiful, and covered with game, and though I am not a sportsman, I am sure that any one who visits the country, it is extremely good. I saw many fine lakes, and some of them were really beautiful, and I saw many fine lakes, and some of them were really beautiful.

Our views of her new reverence take. There is no more "a little thing." We bow she drives to us. Her courtesy to her King.

"PINKIE" Contagious Sore Eyes in Cattle—By F. W. Hodson, Dominion Live Stock Commissioner.

There exists in Canada and the United States a contagious inflammation of the eyes among cattle called "pinkie," from its red and inflamed appearance of the eye. The disease is quite widely distributed, and while it occurs at all seasons of the year, it is most frequently observed during the summer months.

The disease is usually spread from one animal to another by means of spreading dust and manure. It is also spread by contact with the eyes of affected animals. The disease is usually spread from one animal to another by means of spreading dust and manure.

SIR THOS. SHAUGHNESSY Upon Conditions in the North-West and British Columbia

The Proposed Second Trans-Continental Line an Incident of Development. (Montreal Witness, 26th.) 'British Columbia needs to give a little more attention to agriculture, and then the province might become a garden. There are arable lands; there are beautiful valleys; and there might be such a system of irrigation as would make the province self-sustaining, instead of being, as at present, largely dependent upon food stuffs from Washington.'

These remarks were made today by Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the C. P. R., who has just returned from a trip to the coast, looking brown and well. He found everything in the most promising condition. The farmers of the Northwest were contented and buoyant; the wheat acreage would be extended this year about four per cent, while mixed farming was increasing; there was particularly a development of flax growing, which had considerable promise. There had been rains; there were still rains; but the prospects were the brightest. Again, lands were being bought up rapidly, not altogether for speculative purposes, although this element perhaps was not wholly eliminated. But the same process was going on in Canada which had gone on in the Western States. People bought land in a certain district. The years went on, the family grew; land was bought and support in regard to development which might have been left to individual initiative, but he had spoken on the subject while out in the province, and he held that the subject of agriculture should be taken up seriously. There were some who saw the possibilities of this, in a province which had admirable arable lands, which had good valleys, and which could support a large agricultural population. There had been, perhaps, too severe a preoccupation in regard to mining, and the legislation which was necessary to make mining remunerative. And undoubtedly this field held a wonderful promise, but he thought it would be well for the people to consider the possibilities of agriculture, which would give them, when developed, a wonderful promise, but he thought it would be well for the people to consider the possibilities of agriculture, which would give them, when developed, a wonderful promise.

KNELLOF PRESENT SYSTEM

Report on British War Office Short-comings May Have Effect.

The New Education Bill—Strong Opposition May Cause Government to Make Some Drastic Changes in the Clause.

LONDON, June 14.—The report of the committee appointed to investigate the shortcomings of the war office in the matter of the education and training of army officers, has just been issued, and it discloses a state of affairs which is nothing short of a scandal. It will be no surprise to the public, but coming as it does from military experts and unprejudiced judges, it will now make the speedy reform of our whole army system imperative. It has been the unpleasant duty of the committee to report that the education and training given in the military schools is absolutely inefficient—that our young officers are often totally uneducated as scientific soldiers, and generally wanting in education. More attention is paid to athletics and sport than to the study of their profession—with the result that our officers are often unable to apply the theory of military tactics to every-day practice; they are in too many instances so illiterate as to be unable to spell or express themselves intelligently in writing. It is a little worse, therefore, that active service finds them blockheads and blunders. The fact that a man may get his commission after gaining 150 to 200 marks out of a possible 300 marks in an examination proves that the whole system of education and examination is a farce.

It is found that society influences and the influence of lady friends does more to promote the young officer than his own merit—that merit indeed is nowhere in competition with the corrupting influence of powerful connections. This, it is reported, destroys the inducement to work and encourages stupidity and idleness. The committee's finding is the most scathing and sarcastic condemnation of a government department which has ever been published. It is recommended that university men be encouraged to join the army, that in the creek regiments it shall be made possible for young men of brains to get on without a great private income, and that the influence of ladies of fashion be as rigorously excluded as it is from other professions, where men rise by merit and hard work. This mastery and thorough-going report sounds the knell of the present war office system, and it comes at the most opportune moment for the nation in no manner to stand any more nonsense.

It has been rumored that in certain quarters, presumably among the aristocratic dead-heads, there is the desire to have Lord Kitchener, left behind in a few years, should succeed Lord Roberts, and make it not for the incapable. They hope that his departure to take the command in India will rid them of his dangerous personality. But it is hoped and believed in the best informed military circles that Lord Roberts may hold on all the time. Lord Kitchener's term is completed, and that the army may have the benefit of his incomparable military genius and his experience as a soldier and disciplinarian. It is a fact that no ornamental figure-read will take the place where a Kitchener is so sorely needed.

THE EDUCATION BILL.

I have been to many great public meetings of both political parties in London, but I do not know that I ever witnessed more enthusiasm and earnest determination than on Tuesday night, when at the meeting in India Square of the upper and middle classes assembled in the Queen's Hall to protest against the government's educational bill. Lord Rosebery was in the chair, and his first appearance on a London platform since his return to the political arena, was the occasion of a tremendous ovation. It is hard to say how far the meeting was a personal triumph for Lord Rosebery, and how far it owed its success to the opposition to the education bill. Lord Rosebery was very much in earnest and very emphatic in his condemnation of the bill which he said "strikes deep down at the very foundations of our constitutional structure. I do not believe that there is a British house of commons, unless the commons of England have degraded immeasurably from the traditions of their forefathers, if it is possible that such a bill can pass." Lord Rosebery's great objection to the bill is that it introduces a new and dangerous proposition, for under the bill the burden of nearly two and a half millions per annum will be imposed on the ratepayers of the country outside London, while the proportion of popular representation will be insignificant. Lord Rosebery further complained that the bill was an injustice to Nonconformists, who see the compromise of 1870 upset, and "the laying down for all time of a cast-iron system of popular education, which if it prevails puts an end to the hopes of all lovers of efficient education."

Mr. Asquith, Canon Barker, Dr. Guinness Rogers, and the other speakers who followed Lord Rosebery, lamented that the government were missing a glorious opportunity of building up a worthy system of national education, which in Lord Rosebery's words, concerns the future, and the immediate present of the Empire. Mr. Asquith argued that the bill paralyzed the board schools, while it did nothing to repair the inefficiency of the church schools. It is safe to prophesy that after the protest led by Lord Rosebery, Mr. Asquith, Sir Henry Fowler, and the whole body of English Nonconformists the country will be thoroughly aroused on this question, and the likelihood is that Mr. Balfour will bow to the storm, and allow drastic changes to be made in the measure as it passes through committee.

MR. MORLEY'S SPEECH.

John Morley's speech in Edinburgh on Saturday night last, was like all his public utterances, courageous and sincere. It is good to have a leader of public opinion who always occupies a high moral plane, and refuses to echo popular sentiments that he might win cheap applause. He agrees with the whole nation in paying a tribute of admiration and gratitude to Lord Kitchener for his kindly speech to the Boer leaders, even had he done nothing else. It is in the spirit that Lord Kitchener has displayed that the hopes for the Mahaba settlement appear to be founded. All depends now on the way in which the terms of the great settlement are interpreted and carried out. Mr. Morley supports all that has been said in praise of the soldiers, but he warns England that if representative institutions now promised to the Boers are delayed, we shall have the mess of the Mahaba settlement repeated. Mr. Morley did well to remind us why England failed in 1881. We must not have again "the same mistaken self-confidence, the same ignorance of the realities of the case, the same unpardonable ignorance of the nature of the men, with whom we are dealing, which sent us unprepared into the wilderness of the Tugela."

Mr. Morley hit out boldly in condemning the corn tax, and "the abandonment of free trade." "We can repeal the havoc of war, but a vast amount of labor will be lost if we do not get it." His speech was pitched in a minor key, but it was full of sober warnings to which the country should take heed. His peroration at least was inspiring, and "liberal without being soft," he said, "that they, too, are soldiers who also hear the trumpet call of public duty and high citizenship. They, too, may imitate the patience and constancy and iron firmness of the soldiers to a historic and glorious flag." Such a speech will have a steady and wholesome effect on the nation.

LANDLORDS AND LABORERS.

Social reformers have flattered themselves that the best way to keep our rural population from flocking to the towns is to encourage the agricultural laborers to work on allotments. With say, an acre of ground near his cottage, he could grow garden produce, feed pigs, and thus supplement his miserable wages of 10s. or 12s. a week as a farm laborer, and at the same time make himself independent of his employer. But while the politician proposes the landlord disposes. This is how the Earl of Northampton has set down the rules and regulations for letting his land to laborers: "No occupier shall work on his own land after six in the morning or before six in the evening without the consent of his master, when in employment, nor when out of employment, if he has refused work or begun to work, and then left it." Thus the laborer is put under the rule of his master, and must in no case work his allotment so as to be independent. It is further laid down by this autocrat that "the occupier shall attend his place of worship with his family at least once every Sunday, and if he keep his children at home when they are capable of servitude he will be ineligible to hold an allotment."

THE DAY OF MIRACLES NOT PAST.

A Toronto Star reporter investigated the case of Mr. Geo. Warner, and found that after thirteen years of all most total deafness, he had been cured by inhaling Catarrhose. This proves that where Catarrhose treatment is employed, impaired hearing and deafness can be cured. ST. MARTINS.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. James Hodson in the late loss of their son Roy, who was interred yesterday in the Church of England cemetery. Roy was an especially bright, promising lad of 17 years, beloved in his own home for his many qualities and filial devotion. Among his school fellows he was a general favorite, and his loss will be sorely felt. His chief illness was consumption of the brain was from the first considered hopeless by his resident physician, Dr. Ruddleick, but to fully satisfy the family and love of his parents Dr. Addy from St. John was called, but to no purpose, and he gradually sank to all an early grave. Another son, William, who was in Brandon, has been summoned, and reached home just in time for the sad funeral. Rev. Alfred Bereham conducted the funeral services, which were very largely attended.

WINDSOR GIRL LEADS.

An arrangement was made a year ago, in accordance with which McGill University undertook to carry on throughout Canada the local concert and scholastic examinations hitherto conducted by the Associated Board of the Royal Academy of Music and the Royal College of Music, London, Eng. alone, and successful candidates will hereafter be entitled to receive certificates from the principals of the university as well as that of the associated board. These examinations cover every subject, theoretical and practical, and are most judiciously graded. The standard is exceptionally high, and those who receive certificates will show real merit.

THE WHEELS OF A NEW INDUSTRY TO RUM AT ST. GEORGE.

Magnificent Water Power of the Magaguadavie to Be Utilized in the Manufacture of Pulp.

Capitalists from New York Make a Big Investment at the Granite Town.

St. George is soon to have added to its industries one that is a development of recent conditions and new industry. Its forest wealth, instead of being converted into lumber, is to be made again pulp, and that will probably, a little later, be converted into paper, all within the confines of the thriving village.

The magnificent water power of the Magaguadavie river attracted the attention of United States capitalists, who have organized the St. George Pulp and Paper Co. for its development along new lines. The company is composed of the following gentlemen: James Goddard, President; E. G. Murphy of Sandy Hill, New York, vice-president and manager; E. W. Murphy of Albany, New York, secretary and treasurer.

ABOUT A YEAR AGO

These men directed their attention towards the maritime provinces as a promising field in which to manufacture pulp, and, after a careful study of many localities, decided that the Magaguadavie river offered the most enticing advantages for their enterprise.

Negotiations were entered into for the acquiring of the necessary properties and rights, and these have now been brought to a successful issue.

From J. Dewar & Sons the new company has purchased fifty square miles of woodlands, the steam saw mill and wharf privileges. They have acquired all the water powers at the first falls, including those of Milne, Cotts & Co., Epps, Dods & Co., O'Brien, Baldwin & Co., Miss Eustalla Gilling, Taylor, Meating & Co., the Gillin power, and the Lawrence, McCallum powers, with the accompanying lands. They two wharf properties from the Messrs. Gillmor and other wharf properties owned "The Basin" so that they have every facility required for the successful conduct of a large business.

Their first construction work has been commenced by the erection of a strong dam "The Gut" at the highest point of the mill site, which is one hundred and twenty feet long, its ends resting against natural stone walls.

Nature seems to have made wonderful provisions at St. George for just such an enterprise as this, her work saving this corporation the expenditure of many thousands of dollars.

A TEST RACE

Between British and American Built Yachts—The Britisher Won on Its Merits.

KIEL, June 27.—Emperor William's American schooner yacht Meteor, which the Emperor himself steered, won the most of the time, finished seven minutes and twenty-two seconds ahead of the Cleely in the large schooner race held here today in connection with a regatta. The Cleely, owned by Cecil Quentis of England and designed by Fle. Under her time allowed for the regatta was 35 minutes and one minute and eleven seconds.

The judges have reserved decision because of a protest entered by M. Guillemins, the owner of the Cleely, which was also in the race, who alleged that the Cleely was carried two seconds at her low instead of one.

The race will be given to the Cleely unless she is ruled out. The Emperor and Francis Dufour, one of her helmsmen, were on board the Meteor during the race.

The contest was a trial between American and English built boats. The Meteor, the Meteor, belonging to the Emperor, the Meteor, and the Meteor, built in England, while the Cleely and the Cleely are of English construction. Some of the Meteor's sailing talent was in command. The Cleely was sailed by Captain Wright, and the Meteor, whose crew is largely English, by Captain Parker. Henry Barber of New York, who has been associated with the Meteor, is designing the Meteor, saw the Meteor.

DEATH OF DEAN SAGE.

Prominent Albanian Expires at His Hunting Lodge in Canada.

MONTREAL, June 24.—News reached here today from Metapedia, a fishing resort in the eastern end of the province, of the death from apoplexy of Dean Sage of Albany. He was at the headquarters of the Camp Harmony Angling Club on the Restigouche River, where he had gone to spend a month's salmon fishing. The body, accompanied by W. H. Sage, Col. Oliver H. Payne, Mr. Ellis and Watson B. Dickerman, left Metapedia for Albany this morning.

LIGHTING FOR THE TOWN

The mill will be lighted by electricity and heated by steam. It is expected that it will be ready for operations about November 1st.

Edgar G. Murphy, the energetic manager of the corporation, has conducted the operations at St. George, and is at present superintending the construction of the dam. He has spent all his business life in the paper industry, being successively connected with the Glen Falls Paper Mill Co. of Glen Falls, N. Y.; the International Paper Co. of New York city, and the Union Bag and Paper Co. of New York city. The men associated with him are also familiar with the business.

A large amount of money has already been invested in the enterprise, and when the mill is ready for operations the expenditure will have amounted to many thousands of dollars.

The people of the granite town have reason for congratulation that their splendid water power is to be utilized for the establishment of this new industry.

Fishing Schooner Gets $7,000 of Mackerel—Caught 50,000 and Now Holds a Record.

BOSTON, June 27.—The Gloucester fishing schooner Edda, Captain Hopper, Capt. Millet, arrived at T wharf yesterday with the record trip of mackerel ever brought to the great fish market. By actual count she had 50,000 fresh mackerel, besides 500 barrels of salted mackerel. From the sale of the fish to the T wharf dealers her captain realized $5,000, and the salt mackerel, which was taken to Gloucester in the afternoon, will add about $2,000 to the vessel's stock.

CHARGED WITH THEFT.

Gordon C. Metcalfe Arrested.

Was Formerly a Resident of St. John.

HARTFORD, Conn., June 26.—Gordon C. Metcalfe, wanted for theft from the Canadian Pacific and Dominion Express companies while acting as agent, was arrested here in the Conn. last evening on a warrant issued by United States Commissioner Marvin Metcalfe, who was known in Bristol, where he worked for a firm of brokers as H. S. Donaldson, has been lodged in jail to await the process of extradition. It is alleged that he stole $150 from the railway and a package containing $500. Metcalfe, who was an expert telegrapher, was born in New Brunswick.

(Gordon C. Metcalfe was a train despatcher in the C. P. R. employ in this city from April, 1898, till November, 1898. While in this city he was married to Miss Anderson, whose mother was the landlady of the building, and when he went away he left his wife and child behind. Mrs. Metcalfe is still in the city and supports herself by nursing. At the time of his marriage Mr. Metcalfe made extensive purchases of furniture, etc., that were not paid for, and had to be taken back by those who had sold them. Metcalfe was a first class operator, but a strange, reticent man, and did not take his fellows into his confidence. He claimed to be of Scotch origin and had worked at his business on nearly every railroad from Texas to Montreal. When he left here he announced that he had secured a good position with the Grand Trunk. Many things about Metcalfe excited the suspicions of his fellow clerks, but they were never able to find out much about him. He frequently got away on short leave and always on returning seemed to have plenty of money.—Globe.

BAD COMPLEXION

Has Its Cause in Impure or Impoverished Blood.

To have a soft, smooth skin, free from eruptions and unsightly blemishes, the blood must be maintained in a healthy condition.

These powder, lotions and other toilet preparations may for a short time cover a multitude of wrongs in the blood, but they cannot remove those red disfiguring pimples that are the bane of so many young ladies' lives.

Why not use Ferrero's? It is an unfailing cure for the worst kind of skin disease, the most effective of all blood purifiers, and cures bad complexion by removing its cause.

Ferrero's invigorates and purifies unclean blood. Makes it strong, rich and healthy. Ferrero's puts power into the blood to nourish the body and all its organs. It is a regulator of acknowledged merit, and is quite unrivalled as a remedy for female disorders.

Mrs. Shanly of Pittsburg, Ont., says: "For five years my face was disfigured by raw, bleeding eruptions that resisted all treatment."

"Three Kingston doctors did their best for me and when they acknowledged themselves beaten, I tried Ferrero's. The first box helped me quite a little, and by the time I had used six boxes I was cured. Ferrero's is a fine remedy for womanly disorders of all kinds and I can highly recommend it." (Signed) Mary Shanly.

Growing girls, women, men, in fact everybody can derive untold benefit from Ferrero's. It is a tonic for the blood, brain and nerves, and worth its price ten times over to everyone who uses it.

Three weeks' treatment contained in a box of sixty-three chocolate coated tablets, cost 50c., or three boxes for $1.25. Sold by all druggists, or direct from C. F. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont. Sold and recommended by A. Chipman Smith & Co.

DUBLIN, June 25.—The Irish papers comment sympathetically on the King's illness. The Dublin News says it has caused a cessation of political turmoil, and all classes are united for once.

The Freeman's Journal pays a tribute to the King's bravery as a man, and says that perhaps for the first time in history Ireland breathes the prayer of God Save the King.

The Daily Independent is equally sympathetic. It expresses the hope that the King's present serious condition is only a passing obstacle to a successful reign.

THE TEACHERS AND SCHOOL SAVINGS BANKS.

The school savings bank project has not received the endorsement of the teachers who attended the provincial institute. Yet if the resolution voted down had been adopted it would not have committed the meeting to anything more than a trial option in the matter.

It appears that in places where the school savings banks have been established the unwillingness of the teachers had first to be overcome, and that in the later stages the teachers were among the more enthusiastic supporters of the system.

But could not the school boards be trusted to take a sufficiently conservative view? It is not to be expected that a city or town board would organize a system like that proposed without first making enquiry into operations elsewhere.

Boston as a Summer Resort—Harvard's Red Letter Day—Result of King Edward's Illness—R. R. Crop Reports—The Lumber and Fish Markets.

(From Our Boston Correspondent.) BOSTON, June 28.—This particular quarter of the continent appears to be an excellent summer resort this year, though just how long present conditions will continue it is impossible to tell.

Naturally summer travel is at its peak, and the most remarkable ever known here. The weather for weeks has been decidedly cool, the air in the early morning being at times as chilly as in the fall.

Harvard had a red letter day on Wednesday, when the commencement exercises were held. President Roosevelt, Secretary of State John Hay and other well known men were present and received degrees.

The unfortunate illness of King Edward resulted in the postponement of most of the celebrations arranged in the United States in honor of the coronation. The disappointment among Canadians and old countrymen was entirely secondary to the anxiety. The Britishers of Providence, however, carried out their programme, as the reassuring intelligence from Buckingham Palace was interpreted to mean that the King would recover.

It is heartily applauded by the St. John Monitor. Father O'Leary of Cork was nothing wrong in boycotting as recommended by the United Irish League, and he gives good grounds for his belief on the subject in an admirable speech.

The first photograph to be made in St. John by the Roentgen ray apparatus will be finished today.

Wise Ways of Women.

No "prizes" offered with common soaps will long tempt the wise woman to use common soaps. The wise woman soon sees she has to pay dearly for "prizes" in the low quality of soap, in the damage common soaps do her clothes and her hands.

BROTHERHOOD OF LOCOMOTIVE FIREMEN.

Official Visit of C. A. Wilson, 2nd Vice-President, B. of L. F.

Some Statistics and General Information About the Order in Canada and in All North America.

(Moncton Times, June 28.) We have been making a trip through Canada visiting the lodges, in the performance of my duties," said C. A. Wilson, second vice-president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, on a business visit to the Brunswick, yesterday morning.

"We have in Canada," said Mr. Wilson, "forty-six lodges with a membership of $2,224. Every one of these members carries $1,500 life insurance in the Brotherhood. That costs them $5 every three months, and in the majority of the lodges they pay sick benefits from $3 to $5 per week, commencing with the second week. The lodges on the line of the Intercolonial railway represent 96 per cent of the firemen employed. All the lodges in Canada, from August 10, 1875, to April 28, 1898, have paid into the grand lodge for deaths and disabilities $288,782.50; while there has come into Canada, since August 10, 1875, the sum of $2,197,775.75 in the membership of the Brotherhood, including Canada, United States and Mexico, is $3,628. We consider this a grand showing, and it is considered that, according to the statistics of the intercolonial commerce committee, there are only 50,000 locomotive firemen in North America.

At Wolford Station, Thursday, Mrs. Eliza Ferguson passed away at the age of 81 years.

Letters have been received from members of the coronation contingent. It was stated that the only St. John men who were not sick on the voyage across were Robertson and Anderson, and these two missed several meals by judiciously remaining on deck instead of going below.

KING EDWARD'S CAREER.

Edward VII. was in his sixtieth year when he came to the throne on the death of Queen Victoria, Jan. 22, 1891. The King was born on Nov. 9, 1841. His early life as Prince of Wales was remarkable for its dissipation and some conventionalities which the son of Victoria might have been expected particularly to regard, and he was regarded by his mother's subjects as rather an improper person until he was taken down with typhoid fever in 1871. The minute his life was in the balance the whole sentiment of his country toward him seemed to change. He had been hissed. He was cheered and prayed for.

From 1871 until now there has been no man more popular in Great Britain and Ireland than King Edward. He has had no ordinary man ever had it. They are hundreds of incidents to show his tact. But more than any single incident is to be considered his ability to keep scandal and rumor by his unfailing courtesy.

The one great achievement of his brief reign has been the settlement of the Boer war. His mother had done her utmost to end the war before her death. King Edward was determined that there should be no war when he was crowned. He was successful where gratification had been denied to Victoria.

Edward, by Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of all the British Dominions beyond the Seas, King, Defender of the Faith, and Emperor of India, was first son of Victoria and Albert, the Prince Consort. His birth was the signal for a tremendous celebration. The Queen was very popular from the beginning of her reign. The birth of her heir brought out expressions of congratulation from the poorest of her subjects as well as from the most aristocratic. He was created Prince of Wales before he was four weeks old.

Lady Crillon, the sister of Mrs. Gladstone, is held responsible for the late King's early training, as she was the governess of the royal household until Edward was six years old. Owing to the general interest in the education of the young Prince, a large number of pamphlets on the subject of what ought to be his early education were printed, long before he was able to read them. The Rev. Henry Mildred Burch was appointed, when the King was hardly out of swaddling clothes, to superintend his education.

The first official appearance of the King in London was on Oct. 30, 1849. On that day, the Queen had promised to be present at the opening of the Coal Exchange. On account of her illness, the Princess Royal and the Prince of Wales, then only 8 years old, were delegated to take her place. Two years later Frederick W. Gibbes took Mr. Burch's place as tutor and remained in it for several years. It was in that year that the Prince assisted in the opening of the great exhibition of 1851.

On his eighteenth birthday, the Queen informed her eldest son, in a letter which was styled by Charles Greenville, "one of the most admirable letters that was ever sent by a mother to her son," of her intention to give him freedom from parental control. The Prince, it is recorded, was so much touched by the letter that he took it to Gen. Wellesley with tears in his eyes. Soon after reaching his independence the Prince made a tour of Continental Europe, with Mr. Traver, who had been appointed his chaplain and director of studies. The Queen's subjects had become much exercised meanwhile, lest the Prince of Wales should be made a dull boy by over much study. Many letters were addressed to the newspapers on the subject.

At the end of the European tour, the Prince of Wales went to Edinburgh and was seriously immersed in study for several months. He went from Edinburgh to Oxford, where he attended Christ Church college. It is recorded that as an undergraduate the King took life easily and joined freely in the social life of the university. He neglected his studies at Trinity College, Cambridge.

While Prince of Wales he visited the United States with the Duke of Newcastle in 1859. He distinguished himself on this side of the ocean by the greatest good nature and tact and by his willingness to enjoy any diversion which was offered to him. On this trip the Prince of Wales visited Chicago, St. Louis, Philadelphia and New York.

The Prince's visit to Mount Vernon was notable for the reverence with which the future King manifested to the memory of George Washington. It was one of the marked incidents of the trip. A ball was given in New York in his honor, at which 3,000 guests were present. The floor of the Academy of Music, where the ball was held, caved in during the entertainment and there was some disorder. The Prince also attended a literary entertainment in Boston, at which Longfellow, Holmes, Emerson, Thoreau and other Americans of distinction were present to him.

Public prayers were offered for his delivery from the perils of the sea when his ship was delayed beyond a reasonable time in reaching England on the return trip.

In the autumn of 1861 the Prince of Wales met Alexandra, Princess of Schleswig-Holstein, daughter of Prince Christian, heir designate of the throne of Denmark. The courtship which followed appealed to the people of England. The Prince was so carried away with the tender emotions of the occasion that notwithstanding the observation of two nations he insisted on serenading the Princess repeatedly during their six months' engagement. They were married on March 10, 1863, ten months before Prince Christian reached the throne of Denmark.

Their early married life was taken up by a series of Continental tours. Immediately after a visit to Egypt and Greece in 1870 the Prince of Wales was attacked by typhoid fever. For a long time it was believed that he could not recover, but it was announced early in 1871 that he would surely be restored to the nation. A special thanksgiving service was held in St. Paul's at which 13,000 persons were present.

In 1876 the Prince visited India. There was a great deal of opposition to this trip, but before it was over it was demonstrated that a great deal had been accomplished in the direction of maintaining the peace of the empire, and that there were celebrations on his return that nearly surpassed those which were brought about by his recovery from the typhoid fever.

After the Indian visit the life of Edward had been marked by his lively interest in public charities and exhibitions of whatever character, so long as they were of a sort to interest any great number of people. Against the protests of the temperance societies of the nation he persisted in presiding at the Jubilee Festival of the Licensed Victuallers' Asylum, or home for aged and infirm public house keepers, and he was in no small part responsible for the success of the Colonial and Indian Exhibition of 1884.

In 1890 the Prince was called as a witness in the case of Sir William Gordon Cumming, who charged a number of persons with slander for having accused him of cheating at cards. The Prince said that he thought William had been dishonest in his card playing, and the jury found a verdict in accordance with his opinion.

The Prince of Wales the King was always careless who enjoyed his hospitality so long as his guests amused him. He shook hands with the eminent American prize-fighter, John L. Sullivan, and was greatly interested when Mr. Sullivan assumed to him a patronizing air. He was a constant attendant at the theatres and always made a certain show of enthusiasm at such visits. He was an enthusiastic patron of the races and his horses have twice won the Derby. Both he and Queen Alexandra were successful dog-fanciers and breeders of hackneys. At his Sandringham estate the Prince made every effort to vie with his country neighbors in encouraging agricultural products. Sandringham has been always represented at exhibits at the fairs of the neighborhood.

The King has been a famous yachtsman. He repeatedly won the Prince's cup at Cowes. In 1882 he was elected commodore of the Royal Yacht Squadron. His best known boat has been the Mary Queen of Scots. The King was always a close student of the day. When his affairs became so pressing that he could no longer read the newspapers carefully he delegated this duty to his secretaries.

King Edward has always been noted for the warmth of his cordiality to Americans. He has been attacked again and again by the opponents of his own reign, and that of his mother for this trait. This quotation is taken from one of the most biased newspapers in the United Kingdom:

"Marlborough House, since the year 1863 until now, has been above all things the paradise of the trans-Atlantic millionaire."

The King was known above all things for his painstaking courtesy in small matters. There are many instances of his having stopped his carriage in the streets to apologise to one who had been careless. One coachman's haste or carelessness once made him the target of an assassin's bullet. The best remembered incident of this sort occurred in Brussels in 1888, when a man was shot at by a half-witted youth.

CANADIAN SHORT HORNS.
Over Forty-Three Thousand Dollars Realized at Auction in Chicago.

TORONTO, June 21.—A significant victory for Canadian-bred short-horn heifers was scored at the auction sale of short-horns at Chicago on Friday and Saturday last, in which three well-known Canadian breeders participated. The Hon. John Dryden sold 17 Canadian bred animals for an average of $935, his highest being $1,000, and his lowest $300. The imported females sold by the Canadian breeders, of Rockland, Ont., which included many cows with calves by their side averaged $480, and those of the Hon. M. H. Cochrane, of Hillhurst, Que., $551. There were three Canadian heifers demanded for superior short-horn bulls. Mr. Cochrane selling two pretty good animals for $2,010 and $1,200 respectively. In all there were 33 animals desired by the three Canadian breeders, their total receipts being $43,285.

PELL SIXTY FEET.
PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 25.—John Holland, one of the best of the apple-jacks in the state, fell from the top of the 60-foot chimney at the dye house of James D. Minto today and was fatally injured.

Holland was sitting upon a swinging perch, which he had rigged very carefully for himself during the forenoon. He had been engaged to paint the stack over the boiler house, and when he fell he landed upon the roof of that building and the timbers were broken where he fell.

Both legs were broken and internal injuries were sustained from which he cannot recover, so the hospital doctors say.

Earl Roberts Issues an Appeal to the People of London.

LONDON, June 23.—Earl Roberts, commander-in-chief of the forces, has sent a letter to the press in which he again appeals to the public not to treat returning soldiers from South Africa to intoxicating drinks. He says there is a necessity for care in their welcome home, in order that "it may not be the means of sowing the fair seed of my gallant comrades of whose distinguished reputation I am as jealous as I am proud. I would entreat my fellow subjects to abstain from any action that might bring discredit to those who have so worthily upheld the credit of the country."

In conclusion the teacher, in touching words, thanked the scholars in appreciation of their kindness and wishes them every success in the future. At the close all joined in singing the national anthem.

THE TICKET FELD.
(Philadelphia Telegraph.)
Well-dressed and bumptious he rushed up to the box office of a theatre in this city where a popular play was being run. The average retail price per bushel of the samples which contained the largest per cent of weed seeds was $8.95 per bushel. The real value of these seeds cannot, however, be accurately given until the germinating tests have been completed, as seeds which are free from weed seeds have not always shown the highest per cent of vitality.

The results of the investigation thus far would indicate that there has been comparatively a small amount of Timothy, Alsike or Red Clover seed willfully adulterated this spring, although a number of samples which have been analyzed show a large per cent of inert matter such as sand, broken pieces of stems, etc. Four of the samples which were secured from local dealers in Ontario contained an average of seventeen and one-half per cent of total impurities, one of which was purchased in Renfrew at $2.00 per bushel and from an average of three tests showed 28.6 per cent of total impurities.

Sixty-four samples of Red Clover seeds were secured from local dealers in the province of Quebec, but the testing of these samples for purity has not as yet been completed. The results of the work thus far, however, indicate that the farmers of Quebec do not get all the screenings from the Ontario grown seeds. The per cent of total impurities from sixty-four samples ranged from one fifth to one per cent, which was obtained from a sample secured at St. Francis, and was being sold at the rate of $8.95 per bushel—eighteen per cent—which was obtained from a sample received from St. Hyacinthe, and which was being sold at $4.48 per bushel. ST. ANDREWS, June 27.—Fire broke out in Kennedy's hotel at one o'clock this afternoon in the ladies' reception room on the second floor, originating from a defective fireplace. After a half hour's work by the fire department the fire was extinguished, but not before a great deal of damage was caused by water and smoke. The examination of the cause of the fire, through spring cleaning, was completed, and the occurrence of the fire more regrettable. The loss is covered by insurance.

Mr. J. G. McLaughlin, William Prescott, recently committed for trial by Patrick McLaughlin, J. SALINA, June 27.—At the annual school meeting of the district of Titusville, Irvine Wilson was elected trustee in place of William Barnes, whose term expires this evening. The school purpose, the school is making wonderful progress under the management of Miss Ethel Moody.

The examination of the Titusville school took place on the 24th. Alex. S. Campbell was the only trustee present. A small number of visitors attended. The improvement displayed by the visitors and the greatest of credit is due the teacher. A pleasant feature was the excellent manner in which the recitations, dialogues, etc., were rendered.

The trustees of Titusville school, District No. 3, have secured the services of Miss Moody for the ensuing year.

THE FARM.

Government Examination of Seeds at Ottawa.
DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, Ottawa, June, 1902.—While intelligent farmers, with a fair knowledge of the seed trade, can obtain high class seeds, a large proportion of them get their supplies in small towns or villages from local dealers who have but a limited knowledge of seeds. The result has been that those farmers who are not within easy reach of a good commercial centre have experienced difficulty in securing reliable grass and clover seeds. This led agricultural societies, farmers' clubs, and individual farmers to direct the attention of the department of agriculture to various grievances connected with the seed trade, and investigation has proved that there has been just ground for complaint.

In order to secure more definite information with regard to the actual conditions of the trade in the common grass and clover seeds, arrangements were made early in the year to collect a few hundred one-half pound samples of timothy, alsike and red clover seeds that were offered for sale by local dealers. Over five hundred samples have been obtained at various points in the different provinces in Canada where such seeds are a market.

The information which was received with each sample included the place where the sample was obtained, its origin, the price at which it was offered for sale, and the year in which it was stated to have been grown.

These samples of seeds the department under various names which were intended to designate their grade or quality, but which rather served to mystify the less intelligent purchasers. Such names as linnet, otter, sheep, sheep, sheep, sheep, etc., were used, but which have been given to seeds by wholesale seeds firms and are not in any way expressive of their worth. They are terms which have been coined by wholesale seeds houses, and are evidently intended to take the place of such terms as grade No. 1, grade No. 2, grade No. 3, screening, etc., which if used by a seed firm bearing a good reputation would mean a good deal to any intending purchaser.

The samples which have been collected are being analyzed for both purity and vitality. The necessary equipment for a modern seed laboratory has been secured, and the rules adopted by the association of American agricultural colleges and experiment stations for testing seeds are being followed in detail throughout. In making a purity test ten grams of red clover and five grams of timothy and alsike seeds are carefully weighed out from each of the one-half pound samples on a precision balance sensitive to one milligram; the impurities are separated, and the percentage of pure seed is thus obtained. The impurities are then examined and the percentage by weight of weed seeds determined; the used seeds are identified, and the number of each kind of weed seeds in a pound of the seeds offered for sale is calculated.

To test the vitality of the seeds, four lots, containing one hundred seeds each, are indiscriminately taken from pure seed which has been thoroughly mixed for the purpose. These seeds are placed—one hundred in each group so as to check one against the other—between folds of blotting paper, and set in a Standard Seed Germinator. This germinating apparatus, specially designed for this work, is so arranged that the heat, moisture, air and light pure seed which has been thoroughly mixed for the purpose. The seeds are kept at a temperature of 68 degrees Fahrenheit, and after twenty-four hours, those which have sprouted are removed, counted and the number is recorded. This operation is repeated each day for ten days. By this method not only the vitality but the vital energy of the seed is shown.

Out of thirty-five samples of Red Clover seed which were collected in the province of Ontario, twelve samples contained over five per cent by weight of foreign seeds. These foreign seeds consist of various kinds of more or less nutritious weed seeds, the most prevalent being those of Pigeon Grass, Rib Grass, Catchfly, Canada Thistle, Rag Weed, Curled Leaf Dock, and Sorrel, in varying proportions. As a rule it would be expected that samples of this kind would be offered for sale at a price commensurate with their quality, but such is by no means the case. The average retail price per bushel of the samples which contained the largest per cent of weed seeds was $8.95 per bushel. The real value of these seeds cannot, however, be accurately given until the germinating tests have been completed, as seeds which are free from weed seeds have not always shown the highest per cent of vitality.

KINGS CO. BARBECUE

Held at Penobscia, Formerly Upper Sussex.

The Scene of Similar Demonstrations When King George IV and Queen Victoria Were Crowned—Speeches by Judge McLeod, Dr. Pugsley, Rev. Mr. Hubley and Dr. Weldon.

HAMPTON, Kings Co., June 27.—The coronation celebration, as intended for this county, was under the charge of Court No. 24 of the Independent Order of Foresters, and took the form of a barbecue, to be held at Penobscia, formerly Upper Sussex, the scene of similar demonstrations on the crowning of King George IV and Queen Victoria respectively. This beautiful valley was settled at the commencement of the nineteenth century by a noble band of loyalists, who have given to the province and the Dominion in the persons of their descendants men of ability and education who today are filling important positions in the church, the state, the courts, the schools, the banking house, and other professions and callings, whose influence on public affairs is being strongly felt, and who will leave the impress of their lives and characters on the generations following.

The serious nature of the King's health, and the consequent cancelling of the coronation services and rejoicings, naturally put a damper on the festivities arranged for at Penobscia. Yet the wish of the King that all possible opportunities should be given for carrying out the local arrangements made for honoring the occasion, and the fact that large expenditures had been made by the committee to whose hands the success of the enterprise had been given, not only made it proper, but almost a necessity to proceed, with such changes as the altered circumstances naturally suggested.

The site selected was on the property of Irvine E. Murray, on the eastern side of the main road, and a quarter of a mile from the station, over the now celebrated causeway, from the repair of which the government has been for the time inhibited by the owners of the inland across which it is built. Upon the lawn of Mr. Murray's house the committee erected an immense tabernacle, about one hundred and fifty feet long, seventy-five feet wide and eight high. The open scaffolding and strapping, of which the structure was composed, were spread branches of trees, forming a leafy canopy, beneath which were six long tables with settees on either side, and leaving passage sufficiently wide for two persons to pass comfortably. Between this and the road was the cooking booth, and the great stone and brick fireplace, where the ox was to be roasted whole, while from it on either side extended wings, that on the north devoted to the party committee, and the southern one to the service of the tea and coffee committee. Back of the banquet hall, at a short distance, a large band stand was erected, capable of seating about a hundred persons, which was also to serve the purpose of a tribune for the orators of the day. On the opposite side of the road to the new Penobscia hall, not yet quite completed, and in aid of which the funds were to be devoted, William Lilly was employed to superintend the roasting and carving of the ox. Two side walls of stone and brick were erected about eight feet long, ten feet apart, and six feet high. The back was an immense reflector, made of sheets of zinc, and in front was an immense fire of maple logs, resting on old fashioned andirons. The sacrifice was a three year old steer, weighing between three and four hundred pounds, whose carcass had been carefully prepared and spiced from head to tail on a four inch pole, and securely held together by skewers two inches in diameter, and by a harness of hoop iron and stout wire. Beneath the animal, on an iron stand four feet square and four feet high, stood the great dripping pan, from which the roast was constantly basted, as it revolved over and in front of the flaming logs, by means of cranks attached to the spit, outside the walls. The fire was lighted at eleven o'clock on Wednesday night, and the process of roasting was continued for twelve hours, until every part was thoroughly cooked throughout, and without the slightest sign of scorching in any part. Indeed, when ready for serving, the ox was as fine a specimen of the culinary art as the heart of any empire could desire, and reflected the highest credit upon Mr. Lilly, as a first class cook.

Throughout the morning the table committee, composed of Mrs. Irvine E. Murray, Mrs. Lewis Murray, Mrs. Donald Murray, Mrs. Marshall Stewart, Mrs. Jane Weldon, Mrs. Gideon McLeod, Mrs. Thomas Morton, Mrs. Clara Walling, Mrs. J. R. Moore, Mrs. Edward Wallis, Mrs. Samuel T. Morton and Mrs. Burpee Freece, were busy with their assistants spreading the snowy napery and laying off the plates and dishes so as to make an attractive appearance. Over in the kitchen a busy crowd of cooks in white dresses were washing, scraping, cooking, peeling and serving the barrels of potatoes, carrots, turnips and other vegetables to accompany the succulent roast, while an equally busy crowd of women and girls on the other side made the air redolent with the fumes of steaming coffee and the aroma of steeping tea. The cake and pastry departments were not a whit behind, only cooler and everything in such perfect order that the rows of tempting pies, tarts upon tins, around the sides of the booth, custard, apple, rhubarb, etc., made the onlooker regret that this part of the feast must be delayed until the heavier courses had been disposed of. There were also cakes and crullers, cookies and snags to feed an army. By eleven o'clock on Thursday the tickets sellers in their little sentry boxes near the several entrances began to feel the pressure of demand, and by half past the six hundred seats were pretty fully occupied, and by noon there was only a standing room. Over of Murray's driveway, where the "Ox" drew Calash and Hay Fever. Blower All Dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase

ED IN BOSTON. church, on Newbury street, was the scene of a wedding on Wednesday. Miss Marion Hatheway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Fitchey, of 30 Fitchey street, to William Langdon of Y. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Arthur Ketchum of the church of East East street, assisted by Miss Langdon, of Brooklyn, N. Y. The bridesmaids were Mrs. E. H. Ward-

Grandfather was one of the men who used to pole the Durham boat all the way down to St. John and back. Judge McLeod said, although he had never poked the boat to St. John, yet he remembered before the railway was opened, that he used to carry the produce of the farm to St. John and bring the proceeds back. It was here that he had the education he received almost all of his life. Shortly before the ox had been lifted from the fire to a carving table, where the harness and skewers were removed, and everything made ready for carving, when the operation proceeded with such rapidity that in a very few minutes the waiters were on the run with their loaded trays, and the clatter of knives and forks on the corks took the place of the hum of busy tongues which previously prevailed. Just at the moment when Mr. Lilly, who stood with fork inserted and knife raised, and begged the first cut, which she contently disposed of on the spot, exclaiming "I had the first bite of King Edward's ox," and chewing and talking and laughing as she ate, she suddenly rushed among the crowd to display her trophy, guns and garments, which she had never before addressed an audience in Penobscia, and retired in favor of those who were to follow.

Dr. Richard Waldon of Dalhousie College came next, and grew eloquent over the scenery of his native valley, backed by the ever-changing beauties of the purple Highlands. He eulogized the industry and industry of the people of the wilderness, and of their noble character and true gentility, to the graceful rolling back of a curtain by the hand of a lady to let light and warmth and brightness in upon the home. All honor to their names and to their memories. He recalled the companionship of his boyhood by name, now widely scattered, and spoke in loving regard and praise for them and their deeds. He also spoke in highest praise of those present who were developing the resources of the community and improving the place of his and their birth.

Turning to the Coronation Day events he touched upon the week of the "unworn King's" gathered in the capital of the empire to lay down a policy for more closely drawing the cords which bind the outlying colonies together and to the mother land. It is a critical year, but one in which the past progress and prosperity will but prove the earnest of a more glorious and far reaching progress and prosperity, if the spirit which animated the men of the past is not lost. King and duty to their fellow subjects shall direct and control the present deliberations. Certainly past and present conditions and relations ought not to be permitted to continue. It is a shame and disgrace that the overtaxed forty-two millions of our fellow subjects in the British Isles should be compelled to protect a defenceless coastline of the four hundred millions of the empire's subjects. No, every colony should help to support the fleet which guards the sea. Such a consensus would do much to give assurance for the peace of the world. As a Briton who loves his country, with its government and progressive civilization of a thousand years, he would not be the last to give assurance in the hands of a church or an army, the loyal hearts of every land may unite in their fealty to "one flag, one throne, one crown."

The situation of England a century ago, when she was losing her old colonies, and of the present day, when she is again regaining them, and the fact that her troops to her help, and that of their co-colonists.

Dancing had been indulged in all day in the new hall, and was continued at the close of the speeches. As the men and women of the town got their teams and started for their homes, while the crowds who went by rail sought the shelter of the station buildings until their trains came. The Hampton Gore band, in new caps, and oak tanned moustaches, made a fine showing on the march, on the band stand and in the hall throughout the day.

A very interesting feature of the banquet was that Miss Jane Green produced two China plates of antique design which were used at the coronation banquet for Queen Victoria, and insisted that your correspondent should have a look at them, which she kindly offered to do. The same courtesy was extended to others.

HER NEW HUSBAND A WOMAN. BALTIMORE, June 25.—Attired in a nobby suit of black, black drop-stitched socks, low cut patent-leather shoes and a stylish straw hat, Miss Lola A. Sawyer, alias Herman G. Wren, was arrested on a street near the western police station this morning on the technical charge of obtaining money under false pretences and committed for a hearing one week from today.

For six years Miss Sawyer has successfully masqueraded as a man. She has smoked cigarettes, sworn when the occasion required, and played the races. Her unusual case when she married Mrs. Ernestine L. Rauck, a widow of 35, with two children, with whom she had been boarding for several months. The marriage was celebrated a week ago. Last night the bride went to the Rev. Anthony Bilukowsky, who performed the ceremony, and informed him that her supposed husband was a woman. Police Captain McGee visited the home of the couple, 715 North Butaw street. The pseudo-husband at first indignantly denied the charge, but finally broke down and admitted her sex.

She said that she was from North Carolina and was 22 years old. Six years ago she had been drugged and betrayed. She donned man's attire and came to Baltimore, where she has worked in various capacities without arousing any suspicion as to her sex. The charge under which she is locked up is obtaining $100 from Mrs. Rauck.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 27.—Mrs. Ernestine L. Rauck was married last week to Evelyn Lota Sawyer, who had masqueraded as a man for several years, and the courts today to have the marriage annulled.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE Now in Annual Session at Fredericton. FREDERICTON, June 26.—The biennial meeting of the provincial teachers' institute convened here at the assembly hall at the Normal School, at 10 o'clock this morning. Chief Supt. Inch presiding. There is a very large attendance, even greater than anticipated, there being an enrollment of between 300 and 400 teachers and many other visitors. In this among the principal persons to address the institute are Mrs. Oberholzer of Philadelphia, Pa., Prof. Robertson of Ottawa and John Adams, an eminent educationalist of Glasgow, Scotland.

After devotional exercises, conducted by the chairman, Dr. Inch referred in feeling terms to the critical illness of the King. The whole assemblage rose and sang God Save the King. Dr. Inch then addressed the meeting referring to the departure to South Africa of the new Brunswick teachers and to the progress along educational lines in this province. The Sloyd system and the school in this city was spoken of and all the teachers advised to make a visit to the Sloyd school in connection with the institute meeting.

The report of the executive committee was read by Secretary Brittain, showing receipts $563.30, and expenditure $574.25. On motion of Mr. Oulton, seconded by Mr. Hosseman, the enrollment fee was fixed as follows: Gentlemen, 11.00; ladies, 50 cents.

Prof. J. Brittain was re-appointed secretary and Miss Harriet Gregg of St. John, was elected assistant secretary pro tem. Mrs. Oberholzer then addressed the meeting, speaking upon schools savings banks.

FREDERICTON, June 26.—At the afternoon session of the Teachers' Institute a paper on system of graded salaries in this province was read by Dr. Creed. The paper was written by Dr. Davidson and provoked considerable discussion. The next paper was by Mr. Lewis of McAdam Junction, upon the Induction Method of teaching Latin in the public schools. This paper was discussed at length.

The evening's public meeting, held in the Opera House, was not largely attended because of the prevailing storm. After an address of welcome by Mayor Crockett and Dr. Atherton, the address was delivered by Prof. Creed of Ottawa and Prof. Adams of Glasgow.

The principal feature of Mr. Robertson's address was the announcement that part of his mission to New Brunswick at the present time was to consult with the board of education about the central manual training school, which was to be established and maintained in the province for three years by the Sir William Macdonald fund. The school building will be erected in the central district. It will have a manual training department and a school garden. Agricultural and two assistants will be provided. The common schools in that district will be closed and all children will attend the central school. A system of inspection will be provided. All interested localities in the province are invited to correspond with Chief Superintendent, Inch regarding the location of the school in their section.

Tomorrow evening the visiting teachers will be entertained by the University by Chancellor Harrison.

RICH BLOOD STRONG NERVES Are Necessary to Good Health—Both Result From the Use of DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD. Evidence From Your Neighbors.

"About one-fifth of all the blood used in the human body is sent direct to the brain, and out of this is created the nerve force which controls and regulates the action of the various organs. When the blood gets thin and watery, as it usually does at the time of the year, the nerves are first to suffer. They are affected and exhibit headache, dizzy spells, indigestion, weak action of the heart, languid, pressing feelings, weakness and functional derangements of the bodily organs. These are the results.

"You can feel Dr. Chase's Nerve Food doing you good day by day, as it strikes at the root of trouble and creates new, rich blood. You can prove that it builds up new tissues and adds flesh if you weigh yourself each week while using it. Mr. J. McPaul, carpenter, 315 Manning avenue, Toronto, states: 'I have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for acute indigestion, nervousness and inability to sleep, and now, after a thorough test, I am pleased to say that my nervous system has been built up, and I rest and sleep well. I can speak very highly of this preparation, knowing it to possess curative properties which I have failed to find in other remedies.'

Mrs. M. Colwell, 538 Ossington avenue, Toronto, states: 'I think Dr. Chase's Nerve Food a splendid medicine. I was very much run down in health, had dizzy spells, was quite nervous, and was troubled a great deal from indigestion. The use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has greatly improved my health generally. My nerves are sturdier, my digestion is good and I have not been troubled with dizziness of late.'

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is for the blood as well as the nerves. Its cures are permanent because it restores and revitalizes the wasted and depleted blood. 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

DECLINE OF A FANATIC. Carrie Nation Has Laid Her Hat on the Floor. TORONTO, June 25.—R. R. Dickson of Wichita, a fellow citizen of the renowned Carrie Nation, is at the Walker house today, and reports that the redoubtable Carrie has descended to the rank of an ordinary peaceful citizen, except for the redolence of a memory. "A day or two before we left," said Mr. Dickson, "she was released from jail, and came down town to one of the taverns and was interviewed. But she left her hat on the floor. She is now living quietly by herself, as David, her husband, has secured a divorce."

CANADA LOSING BUSINESS. New Zealand Wants Electrical Traction and Similar Supplies. Buying Them in States—Correspondent Member of Manufacturers' Association Visits Toronto.

TORONTO, June 25.—Th. de Schryver of Auckland, New Zealand, a correspondent member of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, has returned to this city after a two weeks' trip to Montreal and Quebec, and can be seen at the secretary's office. He is with him a number of letters from some of the largest firms in the island, stating that commercial circles there are anxious to extend every preference to Canadian articles, and give their Canadian friends a chance.

"New Zealand," he says, "is doing well and advancing steadily. All through the people are well-to-do. You don't find so many millionaires and multi-millionaires there as in other countries. Everybody is satisfied, and enjoying a good living. As a matter of fact, I consider it the best of all colonies. It is no country for land speculators, monopolists, and those who want to get rich in a hurry. Able-bodied men need never hunger. The laboring classes are far better off than anywhere else I know of, and consequently the spending power of the country is so much the greater.

"We don't have strikes. Our conciliation boards and arbitration courts, from which there is no appeal, settle all such difficulties. The disputing parties have to submit, and we find the system works admirably. The seasons are regular, and the rainfall is regular, and there is a great range of climate. The country is peopled by skilled labor, especially perhaps in the building trade, which is very brisk at present, though there is no boom, and we don't want one. Our crops are the result of the best stock and hog breeding, farming and dairying. 'Not one Canadian firm tried to secure any of the electric lighting or traction contracts for our towns. The United States has got away ahead of Canada in that line, and also in the matter of supplying railroad rolling stock and supplies.'

Burial services were held in the Cathedral yesterday afternoon and interment was made in the new Catholic cemetery.

MR. HUGHES' ACCIDENT. Mrs. William Hughes of Amherst Point and her son were returning home from Amherst a couple of days ago, when the young horse which they were driving became unmanageable and ran away. The carriage upset, throwing both out, and cutting and bruising them terribly. They were picked up unconscious. A little daughter of Henry McLeave, who was playing on the sidewalk, was struck by the runaway team and is in a precarious condition.
