

POLITICAL HISTORY MADE THIS SESSION

House of Commons Has Been the Scene the Past Week of a Momentous Political Event.

UNIONISTS UNITED ON PARTY POLICY

New Party Neither Radical or Reactionary, But Will Be Devoted to Public Interests.

Special to The Standard, Ottawa, May 24.—Barely noticed by the country, almost escaping the consciousness of Parliament itself, the House of Commons has been the scene during the past few days of a momentous political event. It has been the coalition of Liberals and Conservatives, entered into in 1917 for war effort, emerge from the obscurity and uncertainties of the past two years as a single new party with a distinctive political creed.

Where Were They At?

Ever since the signing of the armistice, the future of Unionism was blurred. With the object of coalition achieved, the leaders of its two wings could not make up their minds upon the question as to whether they should carry the unity applied to war problems of peace, or agree to disagree and go their respective ways. Such a course, naturally, was not easy and the result was a prolonged delay that had many elements of danger. For, while the leaders debated and compromised and postponed, all kinds of enemies were busy at the gate. The Unionist party—if it could be called a party—had no one to look after organization, had no bureau of propaganda, no local associations, no patronage, no common policy or platform which it could rely on for support, and the consequence was inevitable. While the party held together in parliament, chiefly because it could not find a better one to go to in the House of Commons, things in the country were different. In the west the farmers welded themselves into a mighty organization to challenge the supremacy of all parties. In Ontario the United Farmers gathered sufficient strength to haul the House Government down, and to go throughout the rest of the country a dispirited unrest manifested itself in the growth of various political organizations, newspapers, and in strong anti-government majorities in a series of by-elections.

Situation Improved.

When Parliament met, the situation for Unionism was bad. Its enemies in the country seemed to be multiplying. Its bravest friends began to waver in allegiance. Members, oppressed by the restlessness of their constituents, were harboring doubts as to what they should do, and the ministerial ship, without the aid of Sir Robert Borden's hand on the helm, seemed to be heading for the shoals.

With the opening of the session, however, the position improved. The agrarians, who were expected to drive a wedge through the government's Western supporters, showed little or no parliamentary capacity. Mr. King's leadership of the Opposition was commonplace and often mediocre and the Ministry more than held its own in defending its policies and measures.

The result was that possibilities of a Unionist break-up grew progressively more remote. The Liberals, both Liberal and Conservative, began to realize that there could be no choice as between the crude acts and class-consciousness of the Agrarians, the sectionalism and organized insincerity of the opposition, and the record and achievements of the government, and that, therefore, the perpetuation of the coalition in distinctive party form was the goal toward which they should strive.

New Party Boom.

Thus the project of a new party, so eagerly embraced in early coalition days, but afterwards so often in danger of death, began to take permanent form. There were difficulties and obstacles in the way, bickerings and small doubts and surface dangers. But they were not strong enough to break the links that had been forged in battle, in common patriotism and in association, and this past week, Sir Henry Drayton unveiled the Ministry's fiscal policy, displaying adherence to moderate protection, and, as one Liberal Unionist after another stood up in its support, there were few observers who did not realize that Unionism, as a permanent party, with the old N. P. as its fiscal flag, was at last an accomplished fact.

Much, of course, remains to be done. There is ground to be consolidated, organization and platform details to be worked out and a number of other things to be settled that are inseparable from practical politics. But these, after all, are minor matters. The main object of the history-making fact that a new political party has appeared upon the political stage, is the thing that counts.

Whether the advent of the new party means the passing of Conservatism, the obliteration of the party of Woodcock and Cartier, remains to be seen. It may be that the name "Conservative" will disappear, but that the constructive spirit and genius which have characterized its history will be largely retained. When the Chamberlain radicals went over to the Conservatives in the eighties, not

IRISH OFFICIALS BADLY HANDICAPPED

Engine Driver Refuses to Move Train on Which Police Were Transporting Prisoners.

Baltimore, County Leitrim, May 24.—After three men had been caught raiding a house near here for arms, Saturday, and remanded to the Sligo jail, the engine driver of the train, on which the police intended to transport the men, declined to move the train. The police were forced to keep the prisoners here until Sunday, when military lorry was sent for. Every road into Baltimore was then barricaded with trees or stone obstructions and the lorry and the greatest difficulty getting into and out of the town.

CASE AGAINST G. T. DISMISSED

Judge Finds R. R. Co. Not in Neglect in Causing Death of Employee.

Montreal, May 24.—Because there were no proofs of negligence or fault on the part of the Grand Trunk Railway as the direct or indirect cause of the accident, Mr. Justice Allard in the Superior Court dismissed the claim of Georges DuFaut, the plaintiff, for an award of $10,000 for the death of his son Eugene DuFaut. The latter was employed as a signaller in the Grand Trunk yards at Point St. Charles on November 6, 1918 when he was crushed by a railway wagon and received injuries from which he died.

"NICKY" ARNSTEIN RETICENT FELLOW

New York, May 24.—Julius W. "Nicky" Arnstein today refused at bankruptcy proceedings Sunday to reveal his whereabouts during the time he was being sought in connection with the alleged $5,000,000 theft plot. The refusal was made despite a peremptory order to answer by United States Commissioner Gilchrist, who presided.

Effort to find out what property he had owned and where it is now also failed. Arnstein's counsel objected to the continuation of the examination contending that it had closed last week with the order that contempt proceedings be brought against Arnstein, who had declined to answer questions on the grounds that they might indict him. The commissioner ruled that it should go on. Commissioner Gilchrist sustained Arnstein when he would give no answer to the question: "Were you not in possession of a satchel containing a large amount of securities at the time you were on a train between New York and Washington in October, 1919?" The hearing was adjourned until June 10.

WILSON WOULD ACCEPT MANDATE

Washington, May 24.—President Wilson today asked authority from Congress for the United States to accept a mandate over Armenia. The President told Congress that he thought the wish of the American people was that the United States should become the mandatory for Armenia.

Party for Public Service.

Not that the new party is to be a Tory party. It will be anything but that. On the contrary it is likely to be neither reactionary nor radical. It will not cling to the doctrine that to preserve it is necessary to stand still, but neither will it try to uproot old and established institutions under the guise and in the name of reform. It will simply be a party devoted to public service, studying and grappling with problems as they appear and refusing to divorce itself from realities for the sake of formulas and creeds.

Meanwhile a number of important questions are awaiting decisions. There is cabinet reorganization—long delayed, three Senate vacancies, a by-election writ to be issued, an appointment of a Minister to Washington, and one or two other things hardly less important. Finally there is the question of leadership. Since Sir Robert Borden's return from the South there has been some remarking in gossip about this problem. Whether it means that the Premier has decided to remain at his post, there is no telling. The news, indeed, would appear to be that Sir Robert is keeping his own counsel, and has not confided his mind to any of his colleagues. As the Minister of some kind, however, would not ignore the beginning of the new party, and the sooner the better.

TO CLOTHE THE "GREEN BOYS" IN ENGLISH CLOTH

Germany Forced to Go to England to Secure Fabrics for Military Police Uniforms.

STARTS RUMPUS IN GERMAN PRESS

Home-Office Issues a Pathetic Defense and Endeavors to Justify Its Act.

Berlin, May 24.—Germany's "green boys," as the members of the military police force are popularly called in reference to the color of their uniform, are in the future going to wear English cloth, the government having placed an order for 700,000 metres to the value of about a million and a half marks, with a British textile firm. This fact was disclosed by the Vossische Zeitung, which accompanied the announcement with a violent denunciation of what it called "this absolutely incomprehensible circumstance." Later the Home Office issued a defence in which it stated patently.

The Defence.

"For nearly a year our officials have been trying to get clothing for the military police. They begged, implored, threatened and applied everywhere at the State and War Departments textile factories, all in vain. Many police are going about in rags, hundreds of others are doing duty in civilian clothing. After all these fruitless attempts, we had to act before the whole organization for security was endangered by a railway wagon which had been wounded and had killed the Bolshevik with rifle butts. The Bolsheviks were sided in the fighting by eviators, two of whom were brought down by the Polish fliers. A pliant detail is that the cloth coming from England is khaki, and will have to be dyed in Germany to the particular shade required. The government considers good best with the Prussian legislation.

Balfour, Lord President of the Council had with the Pope recently was devoted chiefly to a statement of the case of Ireland from the British Government, according to a Rome despatch to the Daily Mail, dated Sunday. JAP TROOPS TO STAY IN SIBERIA

Situation in Far East Too Unsettled to Permit Withdrawal of Troops.

Tokyo, May 24.—(By the Associated Press)—The situation in the Far East is still too unsettled to permit the withdrawal of Japanese forces from Siberia, said the imperial address, read at the annual meeting of the Japanese Red Cross last week. Continuing the address said the general condition of the world was such as to make it impossible to foretell its future development. "It is, therefore, highly desirable," the address added, "that the society redouble its efforts in fortifying plans best suited to the demands of the times." Owing to the Emperor's illness, the Empress read the address.

ZIONIST PLANS FOR HOLY LAND RE-PEOPLING

Hope to Have 4,000,000 Jews, Mostly from "Pogrom" Countries, in Ten Years.

BEEN PREPARING FOR SOME YEARS

Max Harden Gives Authoritative Statement on Methods to be Adopted.

Cross-Atlantic News Service, Copyright by Dr. Max Nordau. (Dr. Max Nordau, eminent Jewish writer and Zionist leader, has given the following authoritative statement on the plan and problems for re-peopleing the Holy Land with 4,000,000 Jews—principally from "Pogrom" countries—and thus restoring to the Hebrew race a national home and autonomous nationality. This has been made possible by the recent acceptance by England of a mandate for Palestine under the League of Nations.) London, May 24.—There are 4,000,000 Jews in the "Pogrom" countries to whom re-establishment in their ancestral homeland is a matter of life and death. The immediate need is to transport there at least 500,000 robust and energetic workers who will begin building and planting.

"We have been preparing for the last two and a half years for this moment. There were people who doubt if England would stand by her promise. I was never one of them. I was sure that it was quite impossible for responsible statesmen to disavow the solemn promise contained in a letter signed on Nov. 2, 1917 by Mr. Balfour, then Foreign Minister, and addressed to Lord Rothschild.

"Then there came a time when people, some with concern, others with irony, said: 'Feisal has been proclaimed King of Syria, which includes Palestine. Either England and France recognize Feisal as King of Palestine or England and France do not and will have to declare war on him. The people of these nations will not be led into a new war.'

"I never thought that would be a difficulty. There is, of course, a seeming difficulty with the Arabs. Nevertheless, it is a great difficulty. It is an artificial agitation which has been fomented and brought about by Zionist Christian Nationalists, who worked partly in the interest of other elements.

"We have about 500,000 Arabs of 'Pelleh' in Palestine. They are not different or friendly to us. We have proof of it by an address spontaneously sent to the British Administration after the program of April 1918. It was signed by a very short list of 203 Arabic Moslem notables representing 83 purely Arabic villages in various parts of Palestine.

"What is immediately to be done? Three things. First, we must obtain from the English administration recognition of the Jewish right to self-determination. Second, the frontiers must be thrown wide open for Jewish mass immigration. We must quickly have there at least as many Jews as there are Arabs now, and, if possible, a majority even if only a small one.

"I hope that in ten years we shall have between four and five million Jews settled there. The third requirement is to get economic means for starting. Once the Jews are in Palestine, the Jewish community will soon become self-supporting, but to dump down 500,000 people you need money and this the Jews from the richest have not got. The richest may carry about with them 1,000,000 rubles but these are not worth $300 now. The vast majority have no money at all. So we must help them to get to Palestine and to live there till houses are built and they can be put into regular occupations and become self-supporting. This will require large sums. Later on, when there will be a Jewish commonwealth in Palestine, it will form the basis of a national credit. The finances of this new nation will be placed on the same basis as the finances of all other constitutional states, but until we reach this economic maturity we must help with funds which will have to be raised by Jews.

"There are three things which will have to be taken in hand at once—the first is a matter of life and death as it is to the others—and it is a matter of life and death to 4,000,000 Jews. We should like to have the $4 million transported at once, but have not the money to do it. In the European War, in six weeks, Europe mobilized $2,000,000,000. UNIVERSAL TRAINING WILL BE DEMANDED

Veterans Gathered at Toronto to Hear Words of Advice from Maj. Mowatt.

Toronto, Ont., May 24.—Addressing veterans of the Fenian Raid, North-West Rebellion, South African War and the Great War, at the annual convention of military organizations in Queen's Park, this morning, Major H. M. Mowatt, M. P., predicted that the time would soon come when the people would demand that the young men of Canada should undergo some form of military training in order that they might be ready for another war, if necessary. Major Mowatt advocated universal training, and said he felt that the time would soon come when the people of the Dominion would look upon military training as a part of their duty, and would accept it as naturally as the paying of taxes. The veterans were reviewed in Queen's Park by the Duke of Devonshire, Governor-General.

FREIGHT TROUBLES UNDER DISCUSSION

New England Railroad Men Gather in Boston to Plan for Relief Work.

Boston, May 24.—Relief from New England's transportation troubles was the object of a conference here today by representatives of the principal railroads operating in this section of the American Railroad Association. The Boston and Albany and the Boston and Maine roads, it is said, have been able to relieve conditions at their freight gateways somewhat in the past few days. The New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad has increased its percentage of operating efficiency, but is still handicapped by conditions at its Harlem River and Maybrook yards.

Shamrock IV's Lines Like Ironing Board

New York, May 24.—James Robbins writes in the World: "In deck shape, the Shamrock IV is like a family ironing board. Shamrock IV is shaved down a bit and rounded out at one end. That is her bow. The other end is chopped off straight." Charles E. Nicholson, who designed her, was discussing her rather homely appearance in this respect yesterday. He had just landed on the steamship Mauretania from England. "She is not such a bad looking when she is dressed," he remarked. Under sail, with her polished green body and mahogany fittings, she undoubtedly will be a far better looking yacht than she now appears to be as she lies on the beach at City Island, unstaffed and unrigged. Mr. Nicholson is here to remain until after the international races are over, late in July, and will devote his time to getting the challenger ready for the contest and keeping her in condition. Regarding the changes made in Shamrock at City Island, Mr. Nicholson said: "The cup yachts are all six years old. There have been many changes since they were built. We have learned much in the meantime, particularly from aviation, and much of this comes to be applied to yacht sailing." He did not say how a heavier than air craft could be compared to a canvas flyer set in the sea. Then, speaking again of the changes and the flat stern of Shamrock, he added: "What was the use of extra weight and carrying her ends out. The Varrite is one of the most beautiful yachts I have ever seen." "I want to see the bottom of the keel of Shamrock before she is launched. The changes in her were made under my cabinet instructions, and, of course, I am interested in seeing how they have been carried out and how the challenger looks under water. I am going to five on the houseboat Killarney at City Island with Col. Neill, Capt. Turner and the challenger's crew." "We have a fine crew, and it will not take them long to get their hand back in the racing game once the challenge is under sail again. Mr. Burston, who will sail Shamrock, is the best amateur in European waters. It will be no fault of his if Shamrock loses. I understand, however, that Mr. Adams, on Resolute, will take a lot of beating. It will be a great match. "It is too bad that the 33-metre Shamrock, which will be used as a trial horse for the challenger, has had so much trouble getting under way for this country. I am not even sure she has made another start. She is the only yacht we can get a line on the challenger from. They raced together on the other side and by being taken here for a time we can tell whether the challenger has been made faster. She will arrive here so late anyway that we will not attempt to race on the Sound any, but will take the challenger down to Sandy Hook as soon as the 33-metre arrives and can be changed from jury to racing rig."

Mr. Nicholson said that the former American schooner Westward had been bought from her German owner by an Englishman and would race in English waters. He also said that Scandinavians made wealthy during the war had bought about all the motor class boats in England.

Public Benefitted by This Congestion

New York, May 24.—Parishable conditions underwent a fall in prices here today, when more than 300 carloads of cotton, which have been accumulating on river wharves because of traffic congestion, were sold at auction to prevent their rotting. Prices were 65 to 60 per cent under last week's quotations.

The Duke of Devonshire was here in Paris in 1899.

EXCISE TAX ON NEWS PRINT MAY FOLLOW

U. S. Senate Committee to Recommend Such in Hope it Will Curtail Consumption.

Washington, May 24.—An exclusive tax on print paper to curtail consumption will be one of the recommendations of the Senate Finance Committee subcommittee investigating the print paper shortage. A bill for that purpose is being drawn by the committee. The amount of the tax and other details remain to be worked out. Amendment of postal regulations to permit small quantities of print paper to be shipped to any part of the country at a flat rate of one cent a pound, also will be recommended. The present maximum weight of 70 pounds would be retained.

MUNITION TRAIN STILL STRANDED

Irish Railwaymen Refuse to Move War Material En Route to Ireland.

Kingsford, Ireland, May 24.—A train load of military stores landed here from a steamer which Irish railwaymen yesterday refused to move, is still stranded today. The stores are intended for distribution in southern Ireland. Secretary Birmingham of the Irish section of the National Union of Railwaymen declared today that the men would persist in their refusal to handle munitions trains under any circumstances.

UNUSUAL INCIDENTS AT CELEBRATION

Nationalists' Societies at Montreal Conducted Victoria Day Demonstration.

Montreal, May 24.—Several unusual incidents marked the celebration of Victoria Day by the majority of the nationalist societies of Montreal at Victoria Square today. St. Patrick's Society and St. Jean Baptiste Societies were not represented. In moving a vote of thanks, Mr. Wm. Drysdale, representing the St. Andrew's Society, remarked upon the absence of the Irish representatives. This at once moved Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Quebec, to protest that both Irish and Franco-Canadian were represented at the celebration since he was a Irishman and a French-Canadian, as also, was Hon. Charles Marcell, the ex-Speaker of the House of Commons.

The Crime Wave

Week by week the news echoes with the accounts of gruesome tragedies. Crime generally is taking violent forms—the thief to obtain his ends does not hesitate to kill; jealousy expresses itself in murder. On all hands there is reckless regard of human life. It is the aftermath of war that we are reaping? For five long years over half the world was a scene of blood and carnage. Human life, which under normal conditions was precious and protected, became the cheapest thing on earth and the least respected. But the period of war's madness ended long ago. It is time to recover our senses, time to re-establish the moral standards of civilized existence, time to restore human life at its proper value. Violence of any kind must be sternly put down and crimes with violence must receive punishment fitting the offense. The cat or the scold—no and no pandering to sentimentality!

Sackville Post: J. M. Barnes, of the C. P. R., St. John, has been spending a few days in Sackville this week taking in the College closing exercises. Mr. Barnes attended College here something like forty years ago, and, strange to say, has never been back until this year. Naturally he sees many changes not only in and around the college, but in the town as well. According to Mr. Barnes there was not much of a town here in his college days.

ZIONIST PLANS FOR HOLY LAND RE-PEOPLING

Hope to Have 4,000,000 Jews, Mostly from "Pogrom" Countries, in Ten Years.

Thousands of Jews outside of Pagan countries are anxious to go to Palestine. Enquiries have come in every day for the last fifteen months from all parts of the world. Some 4,000 people of means have asked us to advise them as to the possibilities. Lately the Oriental American Association was formed in New York with a capital of $150,000.00 to establish economic relations between the United States and Palestine, and the money is to be invested in Palestine. This is not charity, it is business.

The first thing we have to do after establishment in Palestine is to build houses. When accommodation has been provided more will be invited to come and handle the plough.

We shall do our best to start the actual settlement of the people in a few weeks. What is needed is the opening of the frontiers which are now closed. The first settlers must be young, robust people. Committees in the countries concerned will select the first settlers.

Must Create Industries

We shall try to create numerous industries, for which preliminary studies have already been made; to construct at first small, but soon perhaps a large fishing fleet to exploit the richness of the Mediterranean; and we shall most strenuously begin with the afforestation of the country, which is one of our most important and its consequences most fruitful, works in Palestine.

MAY STANDARIZ ROADS.

Melbourne, Australia, May 24.—(By Canadian Press.)—The question of clearing trunk lines throughout Australia to standard gauge has again been raised. To convert the whole of the railways in the Commonwealth would today probably cost about £35,000,000 (pounds sterling) and to convert the main trunk lines only about £30,000,000 (pounds sterling). It is pointed out by those who advocate the change that by means of a third rail the work could be carried out early and expeditiously within eighteen months at a considerable saving of expense.

A report just issued shows that for the last six months of 1919 the Commonwealth railways yielded £15,000,000 (pounds sterling) more than during the corresponding period of the previous year, due largely to additional revenue obtained from freight.

Announcement will be made in the very near future as to the plan by which Canada will be represented at Washington, but the name of the Canadian to occupy the post has not been decided upon and the decision and announcement will not be made for some time after the plan of representation has been announced, according to the Ottawa correspondent of the Toronto Globe.

He says further, "Members of the government state that they realize that such a position demands the best man it is possible to get, and that very few men have been developed in Canada."

An Hour Spent In Cleaning Up

Clean-up Days, Tomorrow and Thursday—Opportunity Afforded Citizens to Get Clear of Rubbish—A Few 'Don'ts' to Remember.

An hour spent in cleaning up the backyard today—even if it is after work this evening, when the extra hour of daylight will come very handy—will make Clean-Up Days, tomorrow and Thursday the big success everybody expects they will be.

A great deal along this line of personal pride and household cleanliness was carried into effect yesterday, when the holiday afforded the opportunity, but the hundreds of barrels of rubbish accumulated then will be small in comparison to the last-minute rush of this afternoon and tonight, especially this evening, when Dad gets on the job and gets all the boys into it, too.

The fact that sweepings, ashes, rubbish and throw-away stuff from private premises are to be carried away free of charge is a great incentive to thrifty folks these days of high cost; and when the material must be cleaned up sooner or later the timely effort just now carries with it a special reward.

All the civic authorities ask of the people is to place their rubbish on the streets. It is not fair to expect Supt. Price's men to go into backyards for the stuff they are going to carry away gratis. They will be too busy for that. The public must at least do this service. Teams will start collecting at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning, and again at the same hour Thursday. They knock off at 5 p. m.

If householders have any hard, dusty ashes in their piles they are asked to separate these from the general run of stuff, so they can be used in building up new recreation grounds in various parts of the city. In this particular the public can help along a splendid movement—a movement for more healthful outdoor sport for children and adults.

People are asked to remember just a few things in co-operating with the authorities in Clean-Up Days. Among them, these:

Don't mix paper and other such rubbish with ashes, for they go to different dumps and to the incinerator.

Don't ask the teamsters to carry away your old delapidated house furniture, etc. Burn that up yourself.

Don't put your good iron ash barrels on the sidewalk. The same goes for the risk of loss. Use old wooden barrels, etc.

Don't be backward in getting your cleanings onto the street tonight or tomorrow. Everybody's going to do it, and we are going to have a regular healthy cleanup like they do in the States and out in the lively western cities.

His Chinese Wife.

(London Express.)

A degree nisi, with costs, was granted in the Divorce Court yesterday to Mrs. Angel Caulfield-Stoker, because of the desertion and misconduct of her husband Mr. Beauchamp Caulfield-Stoker. There was no defence.

Sir E. Marshall Hall, K. C., said that Sir E. Marshall-Stoker, the daughter of a wealthy Chinaman, was married at Samarang, Java, in 1909, where her husband represented a Manchester firm. He was also in the Consular Service. Her father made handsome settlements on the couple, who came to London, where the husband was appointed director of a large commercial agency in Mincing Lane, E. C., dealing in sugar, of which the father was practically sole owner. In 1912 a son was born.

Mrs. Caulfield-Stoker complains that her husband had not introduced her to his people, who lived at Burnham, Somerset, and that he was not recognizing her as his wife. When she obtained a commission in the E. A. S. C. and went to Devonport, she wanted to join him there, but he made excuses. He showed no signs of affection when he visited her at Wimbledon Park and at the Ritz Hotel.

Maritime Province Marathon Trials

A meeting will be held next Friday evening to complete arrangements for the holding of the Maritime Province Olympic Marathon trials and the joint track meet, which will be held in St. John on the 26th of June. Following the meeting entries will be received by the sports committee of the Playground Association.

How St. John will show up in the race remains to be seen, so far as known, no aspirant has begun to work out yet, although there is no doubt considerable promising material about. The only old timers are W. E. Stirling and William Chambers. Chambers was the Canadian winner of the last road race held by the old Every Day Club a few years before the war, and Chambers has featured in the Herald and Mail races at Halifax, New Glasgow and Sydney have always been promising centers for long distance runners, and as races were held in both places yesterday, it is quite probable that the winners thereof will enter in the races to be held here. It is understood that Rogers, of Dartmouth, will be one of the string of runners sent over by Halifax.

The Olympic Marathon will be held in Antwerp toward the middle of August.

JEWISH WOMEN PIONEERS.

Thirty years ago it was indeed a task to get a woman to join a club, for polite society considered this too radical a movement for her to take. Then she had to content with sewing circles and coffee klatches and not with any thought of plans to make her the "head of men."

This is one of the contrasts pictured by Mrs. Hannah G. Solomon, of Chicago, the founder of the Council of Jewish Women and pioneer of women's club work in recalling "the time of her life" in getting a scanty dozen women to organize.

"I was considered quite radical," Mrs. Solomon said, "and the good ladies of Chicago were skeptical indeed about whether I was a fit person for their company. There are thirty thousand of us now, all working together for the welfare of the nation and of our people. The Council of Jewish Women had its inception at the Congress of Religions at the World's Fair in Chicago in 1893."

Faint And Dizzy Spells

Weakness and Shortness of Breath.

You can generally tell when the heart is affected by the faint and dizzy spells, the shortness of breath, palpitation, throbbing, irregular beating, smothering sensations, weak, sinking, all-gone feeling, choking sensation etc.

Many men and women become run-down and worn out when otherwise they could be strong and healthy if they would only pay some attention to the first sign of heart weakness.

No remedy will do so much to make the heart regain strength and vigor, regulate its beat and restore it to a healthy and normal condition as Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mrs. C. A. S. Drake, Paris, Ont., writes:—I have used on towards the second box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and find they have done me good. I had those fainting, dizzy spells, once in a while, and also weakness and shortness of breath, and would become so choked up at times I could hardly sleep without sitting up in bed. When walking too fast would have to stop and try to catch my breath. I feel a lot better since I have used your pills and know that they have helped me wonderfully as I have improved very much.

STRAIGHTFORWARD SPEECH.

The Montreal Gazette, of Saturday, E. Elkin, M. P., of St. John, who had the intelligence to understand that conditions in the world had changed, and what was good enough for yesterday does not suit today. Editorially The Gazette says:

"Free traders, real and counterfeit—and the latter far outnumber the former in the House of Commons—can have derived little comfort from the speech contributed to the budget debate by Mr. Stanley Elkin, of St. John. The making of a protectionist speech by a manufacturer is not surprising, but the fact that Mr. Elkin is a manufacturer is no answer to the strong argument which he put forward as to the timely and pertinent statistics with which that argument was fortified. Newspapers and individuals addicted to the theory of free trade are wont to condemn the protective tariff as a device employed for the benefit of 'big interests.' There is more truth in the contention that the nation wants it with periodic frequency are able fully to appreciate. A protective tariff does benefit the big interests, the biggest interests of all, namely, those of all the people and of all industries. 'Canada,' said Mr. Elkin, 'does not have a protective tariff because a few manufacturers want it. Canada has a protective tariff because the nation wants it. The nation has so expressed itself at the polls time after time, under both Conservative and Liberal Governments, during the last forty years. The attempt which is made to deny protection as a policy for manufacturers only, is a disingenuous one, used chiefly by those who know better, for the purpose of misleading those who do not. Mr. Elkin reminds all those that Canadian factories provide employment for six hundred thousand people and support for their families, and that other beneficiaries are the wholesalers, retailers and their employees engaged in the distribution of manufactured products; the farmers who find a market in Canada for eighty per cent. of their produce; the transportation companies and their employees, engaged in the carriage of Canadian goods; bankers, brokers and their employees, engaged in financing Canadian industries; the large army of non-manufacturing people having investments in Canadian industries; and men and women of the various professions who are dependent upon the presence of an industrial population. The list might be extended to cover all classes and all occupations because all are dependent upon the national prosperity which in this country is founded upon the protective system. Mr. Elkin was able to quote some striking figures as establishing the fact that the protective tariff has brought hundreds of United States industries into Canada, enlarging the field of employment and increasing the wealth of the country. Space does not permit a detail of all the points which are set in this interesting address, but one other must be mentioned. Canada has invested hundreds of millions in state-owned railways. 'Her only chance to prevent that investment becoming a dead loss is to keep a steady flow of traffic moving east to west, and from west to east. If ever it becomes diverted to a north and south direction, her transportation plant might as well be scrapped.' It should not be necessary, in view of recent disclosures in regard to the railway muddle, to enlarge upon the importance of this consideration."

THE SPORT OF KINGS.

It is announced that His Excellency the Governor-General will go to the opening of the Woodbine races in State, thus following the fashion set by His Majesty the King at Royal Ascot, and the Governor-General of India and Australia when they attended the running of the Calcutta Derby and the Melbourne Cup. Sport lovers here will welcome the introduction of this good old custom in Canada. It calls attention to the fact that horse-racing is properly called "the sport of kings," and that the English reigning family has always taken a particularly keen interest in it. King Edward, as all the world knows, won two Derbies with horses of his own breeding and another with a colt he leased. He had one of the greatest stables in England, and for many years as Prince of Wales he was a keen follower of the sport. King George has had entries in the Derby, and we hope that some day he may have the honor of carrying off the Epsom classic. The Prince of Wales is also getting together a stable, and some of his thoroughbred will be established on his Alberta ranch. The sport has greatly benefited by the innumerable millions in it by royalty. It has its own laws, but they are as inexorable as the law of the land, as sternly enforced, as generally respected and administered by men who are above reproach. The King's Plate is the oldest turf fixture continuously run on the continent. It is by no means the richest race. It does not attract the best horses; but as a sporting event it occupies a unique position in Canadian plan for improvements. It is possible, too, that the effort to prevent disagreeable disputes and the pride of ownership which will come with the new movement will create a better spirit among apartment house dwellers. Each family will have a new reason for doing its part in keeping up the good appearance and the good name of the whole place.

HUNDREDS OF BONUS MILLIONS WHEN THE GOVERNMENT IS SHORT BILLIONS.

The Secretary of the U. S. Treasury tells the bonus politicians in Congress the flat truth about the nation's financial straits. Even to the reckless spendthrift it must seem a warning to be heeded against all squander and against increased spending for whatever purpose. To intelligence and integrity it must seem a mandate for imperative saving and honest debt paying. By the official testimony of the Secretary of the Treasury the Government has not enough revenue by billions of dollars to pay its bills. The Government has to go to the banks so repeatedly and has to borrow from them so heavily to get ready cash for current expenditures that the credit situation is overstrained, the needs of industry and business suffer, production of the necessities of life is hampered and the inflated cost of living is continued. The Government has so many billions of dollars of funded debts to pay in the next three years that all the available national resources that can be relied upon will be required to come even anywhere near paying those debts. If more taxes can be safely imposed and if more money can be raised by such taxes it will all be needed, desperately needed, to meet the Government's present obligations, get the Treasury on its feet and enable the country to do its work. Yet in spite of this official warning from the chief financial officer of that nation the bonus politicians declare they are going to jam the bonus raid measure through Congress, no matter what it does to the Government's credit, no matter what it does to the Liberty bonds of the American people, no matter what it does to their taxes, no matter what it does to their cost of living no matter what it does to their jobs and to their bread and butter. But if Congress does this deed to its own dishonor and to the wrong of the country it will be for the President of the United States to veto it to his own honor and to the welfare of the American people.

SOUTH AMERICA DONS OVERALLS.

Between the continents of America another bond of union has been created out of the common feeling that the present orgy of international waste and extravagance should be brought to an end. Recent cable despatches from a number of the southern republics tell us that the overall movement has made its appearance in those parts. It is naturally in the cosmopolitan centres that the movement has made progress. Buenos Aires led off. Honors for second place were closely contested for by Lima, Santiago and Montevideo. A Cabinet Minister of Peru set an example by wearing the garb in the historic streets of Lima. The President of Uruguay has given his encouragement to the idea. He offers to buy at his own expense a large quantity of cloth to be made into overalls. University faculties, the heads of other institutions of learning and employees of the national and municipal governments have hailed the new fad with enthusiasm. The movement is parallel to that which has been under way in our own country. Overalls have been made the symbol of protest against reckless expenditures. There is good reason, however, for our neighbors to give it a more literal significance. Clothing in South America is normally expensive. Practically all of it is imported. There are few textile factories except for the coarser materials. The man who wants European or North American apparel must expect to pay a fancy price for it. If we add from 50 per cent. to 100 per cent. or even 200 per cent. to what we pay for our clothes, the resulting amount will be a fairly approximate figure for what the average well-dressed South American must pay. Millions of persons in South America will not be affected by the overall movement. In some of the republics simple two-piece garments of cheap and light material suffice to clothe the residents, whether in the tropical lowlands or on the bleak Andean plateaux. But there is a rapidly increasing number of the population who already have learned to like and wear the overalls. The present movement, if it should continue, will necessarily result to their detriment, just as it affected those in the United States who wear overalls because of their work. But it is not to be expected that the overall protest will survive in South America longer than it did in the States. The spirit of thrift and economy it symbolizes is encouraging. South America has been prosperous since the war began. Top prices for raw products have made money plentiful and have created indifference to the prices paid, especially for imported goods. There are many evidences that these abnormal conditions will soon be a thing of the past. The quick spread of the overalls as a symbol of sanity is merely another indication of the truth of this assertion.

TENANT-LANDLORDS.

"Own your own apartment house" seems to be the most up-to-date version of the "own your own home" slogan, and also the most up-to-date cry in fighting profiteering landlords. It is reported that tenants in New York City have purchased over $75,000,000 worth of apartments and business structures during the past year. The purchase and subsequent management of the buildings is a co-operative affair. It is obvious that these tenant-landlords will not exert themselves on painfully short notice nor raise their own rents unnecessarily. It is expected that genuine economies will result and, in time, that the co-operatively owned apartment houses or office buildings will become paying propositions to the tenant-owners, as they were to the landlord-owners before. There will no doubt be new problems as a result of such group ownership. If neighbors quarrel or offend each other in any way there will be no recourse landlord to whom to carry the complaint. Perhaps co-operating householders will learn to co-operate a little further and establish some sort of tribunal to settle disputes and to

Benny's Note Book

BY LEE PAPE
Last Saturday afternoon I was beating rugs out in the yard on account of it being the 8th Saturday I was supposed to beat them and was saying if I didn't see would sell you, and I was out there beating them, and wondering if any of the fellows was out and what they were doing, thinking, G, this is a heck of a thing for a guy to be doing on Saturday, I wish I was having a race with anybody on my roller skates.
And I went and looked in the kitchen where ma was beating eggs to make them puff saying, Hay, ma, why can't I beat those old rugs tomorrow instead of today?
Wat, on Sunday, are you crazy? sed ma.
No ma, I sed.
And I went back and kept on beating the rugs slow, thinking, Gosh, I'd rather be taking a bath than doing this.
And then I went over to the corner of the yard where I planted the onion to see if anything was coming up yet, which nothing was, and I went back and started to beat the rugs again thinking, I'd almost rather be in school than doing this pretty near.
And I kept on beating them slow and wishing I was having fun sunbathing, thinking, if anybody asked me which was the worst thing I wouldn't druther do, I'd tell them this.
Which just then I heard pop call down stairs, saying, Say, mo, how are you fixed for waiting for the laundry man to collect this wash, why can't Benny carry the hole bunch of it to the laundry, he only about 7 or 8 blocks from here.
He can't go, he's beating rugs, sed ma. Me thinking, Gosh, G, hurray. And I started to beat the rugs faster, but not much. Proving there is always something worse.

A SERIOUS PROBLEM.
Bishop Fallon and The Christian Guardian are not widely apart upon the question of making divorce easier of access in Ontario. His Lordship was not careful in his choice of words in the first instance, and The Christian Guardian used the retort discourteous. It is a matter with which the public probably feels no concern. The issue raised is, however, of deep moment. Anything that will tend to loosen the bonds of society as founded upon the marriage sacrament cannot fail to have the most serious influence upon the morality of the nation. It does not follow necessarily that because divorce is placed within the reach of the ordinary citizen that the divorce court will be abused. But inevitably that would be the danger. There is, however, no logical answer to the complaint that if we are to recognize the right to divorce at all, it must be without undue hardship to those entitled to it.
The war set up circumstances which have apparently resulted in an unusual demand for divorce. Unhappily, not every married couple was able to withstand the tremendous strain of separation which the war imposed. Yet only a comparative few forgot their vows. The misery and the loneliness which the war created was borne with stout fortitude by so many thousands of Canadian men and women that it is doubly a pity there should have been even the few departures therefrom.

HOME-MADE BREAD
Home bread-making reduces the high cost of living by lessening the amount of expensive meats required to supply the necessary nourishment to the body. The increased nutritious value of bread made in the home with ROYAL YEAST CAKES should be sufficient incentive to the thoughtful housewife to give this important food item the attention to which it is justly entitled. Bread made with Royal Yeast will keep fresh and moist longer than that made with any other.

FOR WOMEN AMUSEMENTS

Women of All Ages and Times

Ask your mother, aunt, grandmother, they will tell you of folks they have known who were cured of the many distressing, painful diseases which occur in most women's lives, by taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which is sold by druggists, in both fluid and tablet form. What women say:

Tillsonburg, Ont.—"I found Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription an excellent medicine for the ailments of women. I had become very weak and nervous. I was just miserable when I began taking the 'Favorite Prescription' and it proved most beneficial. It so completely restored me to health that I have never had any return of this ailment."—MRS. GEO. WALKER, P. O. Box 490.

London, Ont.—"In my early married life I was very frail and delicate. I was feeling exceedingly weak and miserable when a friend advised me to take a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. From the very start I felt new strength and vitality. I feel certain that had I not taken this wonderful woman's tonic and builder just when I did I would never have been the happy mother that I am."—MRS. JOHN DANBY, 139 Ann Street.

Brampton, Ont.—"About five years ago I began suffering with woman's trouble. I became all run-down, weak and nervous. I was so completely down and out that I could not do anything, could scarcely dress myself. I had the doctor and took other medicine but without getting better until I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and his Golden Medical Discovery. It was only necessary for me to take about three bottles when I was completely restored to health and strength."—MRS. HARRY KNIGHT, Jessie St.

A SPLENDID THEATRICAL LONDON WEEK

Shakespeare Festival Was Remarkable, Presenting the Quintessence of All Other Productions.

FORBES ROBERTSON AND ELLEN TERRY

Both Appeared from Their Retirement and Gave Recitals—Miss Terry Was Very Nervous.

By Louis Zangwill.

London, May 22.—This has been a splendid theatrical week. Not only has it included the anniversary of Shakespeare's celebration, but it has given us a new Barrie play, "Mary Rose," besides comedies by John Galsworthy and H. M. Harwood of such fine quality as we have hardly been accustomed to see these ten years.

The Shakespeare Festival was arranged at the New Theatre by the Shakespeare Association of which Mr. J. W. Davis, United States Ambassador, is the President, having succeeded the late Walter Hines Page, who was first President of the Association.

The programme as arranged by Mr. Matheson Long and Mr. Bronson Albery was remarkable. The happy principle was adopted of presenting the quintessence of every Shakespearean production playing in London.

They are not lost who find
The sunset gate, the goal
Of all the weary years,
Nor lost are they who reach
The summit of their climb,
The peak above the clouds
And storms: They are not lost
Who find the light of sun
And stars of God.

They are not dead who live
In hearts they leave behind,
In those whom they have blessed
As time declares their good,
And shall live through the years
External life, and grow
Each day more beautiful,
As time declares their good,
Forget the rest, and prove
Their immortality.
—Hugh Robertson, in the British Weekly.

Young-Adams Company Coming

St. John will be glad to hear that the H. Wilkott Young and Marjie Adams Company are returning to the Queen Square Theatre for a short engagement of 8 nights commencing Friday, May 28. Their opening play will be an Irish American Comedy Drama "Kearney from Killarney" which has never yet failed to please wherever it has been produced. The plot of the play is about a young Irishman who comes to America to search for fame and fortune. He gets them both, and incidentally changes his wife as well, but the story itself is cleverly told and brimful of comedy and dramatic climaxes. Don't miss this opening play on Friday, May 28th at the Queen Square Theatre.

ORGAN RECITAL SUNDAY EVENING

At the close of the Sunday evening service in Exmouth street Methodist church, the congregation enjoyed an organ recital by Professor Chadwick, of the staff of the Conservatory of Music at Mount Allison College, Sackville.

Professor Chadwick's recital was a most successful one, and the organ selections were to the delight of those present. During the evening Richard Dawson sang two solos, "Ninety and Nine," and a selection from Ellah. Mr. Dawson has been taking a vocal training course at Sackville during the last term.

WANTS HIS BRIDE

Harrisburg, Pa., May 23.—A pathetic appeal was made to the police here today by a bride who is missing. The bride is described by the deceased husband as being about twenty-two years of age, who wore a "black acorn hat" when she disappeared, and who has the Lord's prayer tattooed on her back. She is wearing a black dress, and is wearing a black hat. Her name is Mrs. W. M. Kramer, Lykens, Pa., or Mrs. Harry Buchanan, Harrisburg.

Mothering a Democracy

Lacy Gaston Page, the woman candidate for the presidency of the United States, has seven planks in her platform. She announces them as follows: "Enforcement of law, protective tariff, restriction of immigration, woman's influence in politics, education of youth, and other necessities, clean morals." Mrs. (Miss) Gaston believes in mothering a democracy, says the London Free Press.

Just as Descartes is said to have brought philosophy from heaven to the level of men on earth, so Galsworthy may be said to have brought down "high-dramatic" into touch with the average play-goer. But, in the "Sixth Game," he is not content to do this; he has become fascinated by stage-technique as an art in itself, and is beginning to see something in the methods of Scribner and Galsworthy. Certainly he has utilized these methods in the unfolding of the plot drama of choice. So he hunts with the high-brow and runs with the Seribes!

In H. M. Harwood's brilliant play, "A Grain of Mustard Seed," the author has made a clever and a self-made man with ideas, in conflict with the party political machine. The party machine has taken him up in order to utilize him for its purposes, relying on its power of assimilating to its own fabric and completion every individual personality. But here the man is too strong and has too great a conviction to be broken in. This political conflict is worked out not heavily, but in terms of pure comedy. It is an entertainment of the first water, enhanced, too, by the acting of Fred Kerr, who, as the Right Hon. Lord Hunsford, Markham, M. P., Chief of the Party, symbolizes the party machine and all its Machiavellian wiles.

Our man-made M. P. (Mr. Norman McKinnel), is seen adventuring into these high social regions, and finding berths for younger sons at larger salaries than they are worth. Naturally he falls in love with a cynical patrician girl, who accepts him for his physical intrigue with one of his young male beneficiaries. Association with him and his convictions causes the awakening of her better self. She becomes an enthusiast, works with and for him, and eventually loves him. It is a terrible moment when she makes a clean breast, and just as she receives the blow, the announcement comes of his triumphant return from the States in the "Sixth Game," the man's dream, though in this case it is before us with restraint, yet becomes too poignant for its subordinate position.

Teaching Boys And Girls How To Live

Would Greatly Assist in Welfare Work—Opinion of Head of Children's Aid Society of London, Ont.

Both young girls and young boys should be taught in the schools, to a greater extent than they are taught at the present time, what is right and what is wrong, and also cleanliness, in the opinion of W. J. Kelly, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society, commenting on the address of Bishop David Williams, in which he said: "Our schools do not teach the boys of little delicate children, and thousands die yearly through ignorance."

It is pointed out that teaching the children in schools would be another weapon for welfare work. It would be getting at the home through the inside in addition to the work of societies operating from the outside.

Medal Home.

Mrs. Harrison, actively engaged in social work, is of the opinion that housework, etc., should be taught in the public schools in the seventh and eighth grades and then continued into the Collegiate, says The London Free Press.

"The girls should be trained," she declared, "so that when they leave school they will have an idea of what good conditions and home life are like. They should not only be educated in mind and body, but in other departments which are of the most benefit to them in later years."

"Many children die young just through lack of proper instruction as to the dangers of their own," Mrs. Harrison continued. "If there were a model home in connection with the schools here as there is in Toronto, much good could be done. After being taught a lesson, the girls are sent to the model home and do the actual work so that it is not possible for them to forget."

This problem, which is getting larger every day, should be tackled at once, it was said, so that a woman arising daily in homes could be dealt with. Teaching the children in the schools would have a remarkable effect upon conditions in their own homes and they would grow up to be the highest type of citizen the city could have.

Discharged.
"It's too bad," said a condoling friend, "I thought you were right in line for promotion."

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray and faded hair beautifully dark and lustrant. Just a few applications will prove a revealing result. It is a natural hair restorer and gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way to get the same result is to use Wyrath's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyrath's Sage and Sulphur Compound, you will find that it does so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and lustrant.

Miss Mary Anderson made one of her rare appearances on the stage recently in London. As usual, this was for charity—for the London Fever Hospital. Mr. Mark Hambourg organized a concert in aid of the funds, and Miss Irene Vanbrugh and Mr. George Richey appeared. Lord Mair Mackenzie, Mr. Hambourg's father-in-law, takes a great interest in the hospital.

NEW LYRIC COMPANY A DANDY

Clever Soprano, Excellent Comedians, Singers and Dancers

The Lyric had a most successful opening with the new Musical Comedy Company, and both afternoon and evening, the theatre was filled to capacity. As usual the comedy presented possessed but little substance or plot, but presented a clothing for the various comedy situations, song numbers, and dancing. The prima donna of the new organization is a prima donna of no mean worth, possessing a voice of much strength and purity, which she not only used with intelligence but added to usefulness as a singer, the ability to talk her lines convincingly, and to carry herself on the stage with the grace and assurance of a real actress. Amberg, All otherwise "Bumsey" is an excellent comedian, while all the members of the company acquitted themselves creditably, and used dainty and tasteful clothes.

Certainly Mr. Curwood is an expert in matters besides every best shows new 20c, representing to that region and gives a graphic picture of that country and its inhabitants in his intensely dramatic stories. The Courage of Marge O'Doone which was shown at the Unique yesterday is a faithful pictorialization of Mr. Curwood's book. BERNARD SHAW HAS A CURE FOR THE EVILS OF CITY LIFE

Would Make All Study Music and Art—Each Community Should Have a Municipal Orchestra and Opera House

(Liverpool Post.)

BERNARD SHAW HAS A CURE FOR THE EVILS OF CITY LIFE

Would Make All Study Music and Art—Each Community Should Have a Municipal Orchestra and Opera House

(Liverpool Post.) How might we better the evils of city life as well as heighten the moral tone of a town was the theme of Mr. George Bernard Shaw's address at a recent sitting of the National Congress in London of the British Music Society.

Speaking in favor of the municipalization of music, Mr. Shaw said it was extraordinarily important that there should be in every centre of population in this country a competent symphony orchestra and an opera house, and that no child should be brought up without abundant and free means of access to the best music.

In their propaganda work they would be met, said Mr. Shaw, not so much with aesthetic objections, but by the one tremendous objection which governs municipal life. The real resistance would come from people with neither musical nor anti-musical views, but from the general terror of the ratepayer that the rates would be put up. They would require to point out, therefore, that artistic and musical culture was a thing that paid in the long run.

The municipalities had charge of the morals of the community, and very often they had a great deal of trouble in that connection. He had taken part in administering the measures which the municipalities used for maintaining the morality of their districts, and he was forced to admit that these measures were practically an encouragement to immorality; they were not entirely futile.

The impulses of the young. To raise the morals of a district, said Mr. Shaw, one thing should be kept in mind—viz, that the community consisted largely of young persons. At a certain period in their lives they began to take a larger and more general interest in their human relations, and this before the time when they could afford to get married. It was no longer a policy of strict repression of their human impulses. The real remedy was provided by Nature and by God. All they had to do was to find an outlet for all those impulses in an art. If the young men had music and pictures to interest them, to satisfy their many impulses and to give them a sense of purpose, they would not go to the low pleasures of the streets. They would have an alternative, and they would be too fastidious to do so.

Towns at present were in a state of barbarism and philistinism, concluded Mr. Shaw, and the remedy was going to the people who exploited the vices of the streets. That was a fact too seldom mentioned in this country. We had to dressness and degradation of character, and contributed very largely to the keeping up of the rates. If they were explained in detail, he thought even the most parsimonious payer of rates would be persuaded that to make the towns healthier and better, and keep the rates lower, they should have an abundant and generous provision for art.

Attack on Cinema. An interesting discussion followed Mr. Shaw's speech. Mr. Dan Godfrey told the congress about municipal music in various parts of England, where in too many cases the experiment had been undertaken and abandoned after trial. What was being done in Germany was spoken of by Dr. Arthur Somerville, Government Inspector of music in secondary schools, who reported that in Mannheim there was one building containing three concert halls with seats for over 10,000 people. It was, he said, an uncommon thing for all three halls to be crammed full. Dr. Somerville attacked the cinema as one of the most degrading influences of the present day, and questioned if the result of the cinema were not even more injurious than those of the public house, inasmuch as the latter institution affected only grown-up people while the cinema got at the children as well.

What he characterized as the vulgar and baseness of the majority of the existing performances in pantomime, music halls and elsewhere was dealt with by Mr. Vladimir Rosing, the vocalist, who expressed the view that it was no good teaching the children to appreciate good music and great art if they were given no opportunities of hearing and enjoying these things in practice. He dissented entirely from the municipalization idea, however, holding that better results were likely to be obtained if the things were done on the wider basis of State aid.

At the conclusion of the debate the congress pledged itself to do everything it could to advance the cause of municipal music. Baking the Russian Bear. (New Republic, New York.) Moscow celebrated its victory over Denikin by renewing its offer of peace to the Poles. There can be no doubt that the offer was sincere. The rulers of Communist Russia understand very well that their real problem is economic. They are organizing the next war on the "labor front." They want all their energies to restore production, and if they are forced to use up half their transport and a million able-bodied men in a war with Poland, their plans will be seriously hampered, if not frustrated. The peculiar danger of a Polish war is that it would prevent the consolidation of their power in the Ukraine, whose resources in grain, coal and metals are essential to their economic recovery. They have not enough locomotives either for war or peace: if they must use them for both, they may end with a total breakdown of transport. They made no attempt to disguise their eagerness for peace. They offered the Poles an armistice on the lines which Poland now occupies, and were ready to carry on negotiations in neutral territory, in Warsaw or even in an Allied capital. The Poles responded by assuming the air of a victor.

Says He Feels Fit As A Fiddle Now

McDonald's Friends Comment on How Well He Looks Since Taking Tanlac.

"My friends are all telling me how well I am looking these days, but I am not surprised at that, for since I started taking Tanlac a month ago I have not only got rid of my stomach troubles and put on considerable weight, but am feeling fine all the time," recently declared John A. McDonald, of 1,018 George Street, Sydney, N. S.

"Chronic indigestion was my big trouble. For the past two years I haven't been able to eat a thing but what it would lie in my stomach like a lump of lead, and then it would come and form gas that bloated me up so that I could hardly breathe. I was always having to take pills to relieve my constipation and was troubled a lot with headaches that made me feel simply miserable. I lost all desire for food and often went for days at a time without eating a square meal. Finally I got to where I could hardly sleep at night and would lie awake for hours without closing my eyes, and what sleep I did get was very broken, for I awoke every now and then with a start. Then in the morning I was all dazed and worn out, and just had to drag myself off to work hardly knowing how I would get through the day. It's about a month since I started taking Tanlac, and the way it has found me up is something wonderful. It very quickly settled my stomach troubles, and I now have a ravenous appetite all the time and can eat anything my wife puts before me without having the least trouble from indigestion or gas afterwards. I am no longer troubled with constipation, and my headaches are all gone, too. I sleep like a log every night, and when I get up in the morning I feel as fit as a fiddle and full of energy, ready for my big day's work. Tanlac is certainly a great medicine, and I have every confidence in recommending it to others."

Tanlac is sold in St. John by Ross Drug Company and the leading drug stores in every town, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative.—Advt.

Important Meeting Wednesday Night. St. John School Board and Vocational School Board Will Hold Joint Meeting to Consider Plans to be Adopted.

What promise to be an interesting and important meeting will be held Wednesday night in the office of the School Board, when a joint session of the St. John Board and the Vocational School Board will sit to consider what plans are to be adopted in securing a building for the vocational training courses in this city. The School Board is empowered by the act in regard to vocational schools to issue bonds covering the cost of building such a school, and such a section is desired by some of the members of the Vocational Board, while several on the School Board are opposed to such a plan. The meeting has been called with the intention of coming to an understanding by the two boards, and to consider whether to secure a building which might be adopted for present needs, or to go ahead and construct a modern building which would be suitably equipped for the work in hand. The popularity of the courses which were introduced this winter, and the fact that many could not be accommodated through lack of suitable quarters, and equipment, should leave no question as to the mind of the citizens. As up to date vocational school will undoubtedly mean much to the younger generation, and to the future welfare of the city.

Cocoon Oil Fine For Washing Hair. If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulford's coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair. Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage. You can get Mulford's coconut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

Penniless. He fairly tottered into the room like a man reeling under the effect of some terrible mental blow. His wife looked on aghast. "What is it?" she asked in trembling accents. "It was not my fault," he murmured incoherently. "How can I tell you? We are penniless. "Penniless!" she repeated in a half-dazed way. "Oh, but my dear brave boy, I can keep the wolf from the door. But, tell me this, have you been gambling or speculating on that dreadful Stock Exchange?" Tell me you have done nothing to tarnish your honor. "Nothing—nothing!" he replied. "Oh, thank goodness for that!" she cried. "Now I can leave anything. Where has your money gone?" The wretched, grief-stricken man placed his arm around her, and drawing her close to him, gasped out, "I have paid the gas bill!"

"I notice on the bill of fare 'potatoes a la boycott,'" said the guest. "Yes," replied the waiter. "That means we ain't serving spuds any more."

THE STANDARD'S FINANCIAL SECTION

MONEY CONDITIONS LITTLE EASIER

General Market Outlook Indicates Moderate Improvement in Stock Trading.

(F. B. McCREDY & CO.)
New York, May 24.—The weekly Federal Reserve banking statements shows some reflection of the progress which has been made in the deflation of the commodity loans credit and security prices, the New York banks reporting a substantial reserve betterment, largely from a decrease in discounts against government bond obligations. Money conditions may, therefore, be reasonably expected to continue in comparative ease this week. In other respects the situation is also improving moderately; as Western points, such as Chicago, reporting freight congestion is easing up. The report is that the Inter-State Commerce Commission opens its hearings on the freight rate increases in Washington today. The market was subject to professional attacks last week based on the inclusion in the bonus bill of the 10 per cent. tax on stock dividends, but, as the probability that the bill will fall to pass Congress increases, the bearish pressure from this source will be eliminated. Taking all in, therefore, the outlook for moderate stock market improvement is not bad.

REVIEW OF THE FLOUR MARKET

The Northwestern Miller of May 19, in its weekly review of the flour market, says:
There has been relatively little change in the market situation of late, although flour prices have continued to advance. Most of the actual business done was in reorders at prices materially lower than those quoted by the mills, and a considerable number of such sales were reported. The mills themselves were busy by no means anxious to get business, many of them declining to make quotations or accept orders. Most mills appear to have at present on their books quite as many orders as the car shortage will make it possible for them to fill in the next 60 days.
Reports from some localities indicated a slight improvement in the freight car situation, and on the whole the output seems to have kept well up to its recent not very high weekly average. The past two or three weeks have seen a marked increase in the concentration of public attention on the transportation problem, with the resulting possibility that Congress may yet take some action to help the railroads before the new crop has to be moved.
The announcement that the Grain Corporation would sell to bakers in New York, and presumably also in other eastern consuming centers, flour from its accumulated export stocks if they would not get flour in any other way, has served to allay fears of local flour famines, but it has likewise created an added reason for buyers to hold off until it is clearer what is going to happen after June 1.
The flour output last week presumably ran close to 1,800,000 bbls., being limited solely by the inability of many of the mills to secure cars. The situation seems to be growing better rather than worse, and the leading centers report slight gains in the weekly output. The Kansas-Oklahoma group of hard winter wheat mills, for instance, reports a four output amounting to 62 per cent of capacity, as against 54 and 44, respectively, in the preceding three weeks. The spring wheat mills reported a 43 per cent output, as against 42, 38 and 35; the Ohio valley group of soft winter wheat mills reported an output representing 43 1/2 per cent of capacity, which compares with 34, 28 and 22 per cent in the three preceding weeks.
The future course of the trade depends, above all else, on two things: the measures resulting from the various conferences called by Mr. Burgess, and the steps taken by the government to improve transportation facilities for grain. No one can feel any degree of confidence in the course of prices after June 1 until something more definite is known regarding the plans of the grain exchanges for restoring unrestricted trading. The revival of a hedging market appears to be universally regarded as an absolute necessity in the public interest, but it must be carefully safeguarded to prevent wild speculation, and until some definite programme regarding this is formulated

LITTLE CHANGE IN STOCK MARKET

Stringency of Time-Funds Still Continues and Low Rate of Call Money Didn't Affect Market.

New York, May 24.—The session of the stock exchange today was devoid of special features, aside from the superficial character of the trading. Financial, industrial and commercial developments over the week-end seemed to offer little immediate relief from recent unsettled conditions.
Efforts to place a favorable construction on the low rate for call loans which renewed at six per cent, the lowest Monday quotation in several weeks, met with scant success in the face of further stringency of time-funds. Deflation of credits made additional progress under the supervision of the Federal Reserve Board, as indicated by the higher rate of discount posted in the Atlantic district and great scarcity of available funds in the Middle West.
Signs of a break in the freight blockade were apparent, but merchants at important eastern and western centers reported further diminution of activity and slower collections, attributed partly to the price-cutting crusade.
Mexican affairs assumed more serious aspects, the shares of leading oil companies operating in that country being under constant pressure with low grade domestic issues of the same description.
Shorts experienced little difficulty in effecting further price impairment of steels, equipments, motors, the food group and rails, the latter forfeiting much of the advance made on recent announcement of the establishment of the government's revolving fund. The one conspicuously strong stock was Atlantic Gulf, which closed at a gain of almost 9 points. Sales, amounted to 709,000 shares.
Dealing in bonds were relatively light, the Liberty and Victory issues yielding part of last week's advance with several of the foreign issues.

MARKET OPENED FAIRLY STRONG

Market Then as Usual and Trades Sold Stocks Quite Freely.

New York, May 24.—The market opened fairly strong, apparently because of the feeling that developments over the week-end had been constructive, but there was hardly any accumulation of buying orders and prices soon sagged off. Traders found the market thin as usual, and sold stocks quite freely when the trend was apparent. The oil issues, equipments, some of the steels and motors suffered quite pronounced declines. Money renewed at six per cent, the lowest in a considerable time, and this brought about a fair rally towards mid-day. Trading thereafter quieted down and prices hardly moved at all during the noon hour. The speculative community apparently needs some constructive developments to install any real amount of confidence in the market. Atlantic Gulf was a strong spot gaining seven points, but sagged off a point or so before the close. The market closed at about the lowest level of the day, some stocks making new low prices on this move.

METAL MARKETS

Hardware and Metal, May 23rd, says:
In addition to important price changes which have been made this week, an important ruling has become effective in the way of a business Turnover Tax. This will have a vital bearing on all commodity prices and effects all phases of the hardware trade. The new legislation is so far-reaching that it is difficult as yet to comprehend the full effect of the new taxation and opinions expressed by the trade authorities are very divergent. The imposing of a luxury tax will also affect many hardware lines and whether it will have influence on reducing sales remains to be seen.
Soldier and lead have declined in prices several points this week. Spelter and tin are also lower. Quotations on other lines, however, are very firm and many higher prices have been made, some of which are as follows: Lawn rakes, cotter pins, steel and brass bells, screen doors and windows, wrenches, barred bolts, brass wire, plow and clothes lines, jack screws, saws, iron handles, range hobs, wash weights, pump leathers, paste, lamp-black, axle pulleys, oil and amoniac wire, carry combs, chain pumps, post-hole augers, chicken food, children's wagons and sleighs, bath hardware, gasoline, egg beaters, cap and cast screws, nuts, wire rope thimbles, steel belt lacing, nail pullers, sash weights, clothes pins, axes and fuel oil.
The freight embargo on the United States railroads continues to hamper industries and is the cause of many shortages. Jobbers state that in spite of these prevailing shortages the volume of business is very satisfactory and on some lines buyers are getting in their full stock.
Money continues to circulate freely and collections are very satisfactory.

Troublesome Small Pulleys

Have you trouble getting belts flexible enough for small pulleys, yet strong enough to last?
Goodyear has produced Extra Power Belting—belting flexible enough that it need not be too tight! Gripping enough to prevent slipping at any speed!
For this is 5-point belting.

is not stitched, but is welded together with high-grade rubber, forced through and through the fabric and surrounding every thread. It hugs even small pulleys.
3. It has a friction surface which grips, dry or damp, and needs no dressing.
4. It has a seam sealed tight with high quality rubber.
5. The same rubber which gives Goodyear Extra Power its flexibility, prevents ply separation, even when the edge is worn or torn by shifters or accident.

The list of satisfied users of Goodyear Extra Power Belting on small pulleys is very great—too long to print here. But a few are:

Stockholm, May 24.—Russia has abundant food resources to feed all of Europe for years. If England and France would supply the Bolshevik Government with railway materials to make these resources available, it would not be necessary for Americans to send "a single bushel of wheat nor a pound of meat, hard or bacon in Europe."
This is the assertion here of "Comrade" Krasine, official representative of the Soviet Government and member of the mission which has been negotiating here for the re-establishment of commercial relations between the Allied countries and Russia. Krasine drew a Utopian sketch of existing conditions under Lenin's regime.
"Workers and peasants are delighted to work unlimited hours for the common welfare. They have learned to understand that it is necessary to obey all orders issued by the Central Government."
"I am a firm believer in the principle of Bolshevism which have been put to the test and found true. We desire nothing more ardently than to live in peace with all the world, but for us there can be no peace with countries where capitalism rules. We are the sworn enemies of all forms of capitalism, European or American."
Krasine is a personality of distinguished appearance. He speaks with a dozen languages. He has been accompanied here by his wife, who appears in costly furs and jewels, his children, and a small army of secretaries.

GROCERY PRICES IN OTHER MARKETS

(Canadian Grocer.)
The markets generally are firm to higher with advances registered on many lines of commodities. Sugar is in good supply and prices are expected nothing can be learned with definiteness.
Meats—The feature of the market this week is the reduction in the price of butter and eggs, amounting to one cent a pound on the butter and one cent per dozen on eggs. Fresh fish is in good supply and lake fish are appearing for the first time this season. Cheese remains strong after the advance of last week. Lard is one cent per pound higher.
Molasses is higher and corn syrup follows in the advance. Starches have all taken another step in the advance of prices. Rice is scarce and strong, but Siam rice is offered cheaper. Beans are dearer this week and canned meats of some brands are higher. Vegetables fruit remains firm. Hay is two dollars a ton higher.
Toronto—Supplies of sugar continue scarce and just when shipments will be learned with definiteness. Raw sugar has firmed up and quotations are around 21 cents held down at the port of New York. Corn syrups have again advanced; quotations are now 50 to 60 cents per case higher. This is the largest single advance for some time. Bulk corn syrup has also advanced one cent per pound. Breakfast food has advanced 11 cents per bag. All specialties have advanced one cent per pound. The coffee market is firm with the tendency to reach higher prices. Spot stocks are low, due to the difficulty of transportation.
Canned peas are scarce and advances have been registered on canned soup, peaches, strawberries and raspberries. Cranio prices have been reduced 70 cents per case. Shelled nuts and filberts continue in a weak market. Shelled almonds, however, are firm. Kikohs lines have advanced. Some shipments of Siam, Japan and Texas rice have arrived, but supplies generally are small, with the primary markets firm to higher. Spot stocks of spices are not large and new shipments to arrive will be quoted at higher figures. Ginger, nutmegs and cream of tartar are scarce. Evaporated apple market has weakened considerably during the past week. Potato supplies are very scarce and quotations are higher. Dealers are looking for a famine in potatoes before the new crop arrives. Southern vegetables are in good supply. New Florida potatoes are on the market and quotations range from $12.50 to $17.00 per barrel, according to the grade. Cuban pineapples are arriving freely. Quotations, however, remain high. Strawberries are arriving daily and prices are lower. Bananas are quoted 1-2 cent per pound higher. Advances have been registered on chocolate, cocoa, salad dressing, cotton linc, chewing gum, condensed milk, blue, jolly powder, puddings and matches.
The produce and provision markets show little change. Butter and eggs are easier and quotations are lower. Meats are firm, likewise prices. Poultry is in fair supply and prices are well maintained.

SOME PORKER.
Montreal, N. Y., May 23.—A pig with three eyes, two snouts, two mouths and two tongues, all functioning 100 per cent, was born on a farm near here, according to a voracious farmer. Neighbors who have seen this porcine wonder insist that they have not had a drink for a long, long time.

BULLISH INFLUENCE ON CORN MARKET

Upward Swings in the Corn Market, With Shorts Covering Freely, Continued Through Day.

Chicago, May 24.—Reports of planting delays throughout important sections had a decided bullish influence today on the corn market.

Upward swings in the corn market, with shorts covering freely, began almost immediately after the opening and, with no liquidation in evidence, continued until just before the close.

Buying attained its greatest impetus simultaneously with general notice of gossip that to an unusual extent sell conditions had been a hindrance to getting the new crop into the ground and that the success of planting would, in a large measure, depend upon the amount of dry weather in the next ten days.

MUCH OF COUNTRY CAME INTO TOWN

Many Hundreds of Men, Women and Children Who Spent Holiday in Country Came Home Laden With Dainty Flowers.

A large amount of the country came into town last evening when the rains arrived in the city. Nearly all the passengers were carrying bunches of blue or white violets and flowering branches of the May cherry or blueberry were very much in evidence. A number of people had gathered houstonia, the pale blue flower commonly known as bluebells or more poetically "innocent" or "quaker ladies," and these groups of dainty little flowers will adorn some homes for several days as they last for some time if kept in a shallow dish filled with water.

The flowing honeysuckle is out, the reddish-white blossoms of the blueberry were seen and the woods are carpeted with the starry blossoms of the gold thread or star flower. The red cherry, usually a little later to appear than the brown leaved May cherry, shows a multitude of white buds and on the red maple and other trees which blossom the flowers are out in profusion. The ferns have graduated from the faded head stage and are standing almost straight in many localities.

The gold of the dandelions, "the little children's flower" is scattered all around and the thrifty housewife has already had several delicious additions to the bill of fare in the shape of dandelion greens.

"Among the lawn the tulip lamps are set," and this is true of many gardens, while the deep blue of the scilla appears in the flower beds; crocus and narcissi are also springtime visitants, which were noticed yesterday and the grass, the restful background for so many country joys is growing splendidly though, "We do need rain," the farmer said.

WEST INDIAN DELEGATES ARRIVED HERE YESTERDAY

Canada and West Indian Trade Has Outgrown Present Steamship Service—Royal Steam Packet Company Prepared to Put on Better Class of Boats—Statements Made by Canadian Manager at Mayor's Luncheon.

That the Canada and West Indian trade has outgrown the present steamship service, and that the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company is prepared to put on a better class of boats if given a satisfactory contract over a reasonable term of years, were statements made by Mr. Alsopp, Canadian Manager of the Royal Mail, at the luncheon given by Mayor Schofield to the West Indian delegates, who arrived here yesterday. Mr. Alsopp said that when the Royal Mail commenced its Canada West Indian service its boats were more than adequate for the requirements of the trade, but both freight and passenger traffic had shown a gratifying development, and it was important that a better service should be provided. The Royal Mail stood ready to provide a large class of boats if a satisfactory contract was offered, offering reasonable protection of the additional expenditures. There were difficulties about putting on a larger type of boat because of lack of accommodation at some of the smaller islands but these could probably be overcome.

The West Indian delegates to the Ottawa Conference, who arrived on the Chaudiere, were Capt. J. M. Read, of Demerara; H. Ferguson, of Guyana; W. L. Phillips, of Barbados, and Donald McDonald, of Antigua. When their boat docked at 10 o'clock yesterday, they were met by Mayor Schofield, President R. B. Emerson of the Board of Trade, Secretary R. E. Armstrong, G. E. Harbour, D. W. Ledington and others. Mr. Alsopp, the Royal Mail manager from Halifax, and E. A. Saunders, secretary of the Halifax Board of Trade, were also on hand to welcome the visitors.

The party were taken up to the Union Club, where they met a number of local business men, and discussed trade matters.

Later, His Worship entertained them at luncheon in the Royal Hotel. In addition to the delegates, there were present Mr. Alsopp and Mr. Saunders, of Halifax; Mr. Ledington, Commissioner Frink and Jones, F. L. Potts, M. P. P., and R. E. Armstrong. After lunch, adjournment was made to the guest room, where Mayor Schofield formally welcomed the visitors to St. John, and expressed gratification that they should enter Canada by his chief port of entry. His Worship also dealt on the importance of closer relations of trade and fellowship between the West Indies.

Scorching On Westfield Road

Automobile Drivers Exceeded Speed Limit in This Section Yesterday—N. B. A. A. Suggestion for Motor Patrol Should be Heeded.

Most of the motors owned in the city of St. John were out yesterday for the first holiday of the summer and probably ninety per cent of the drivers chose the Marsh or Westfield roads. Thanks to the activity of Masterpiece Adams and Constable Robert Crawford very little speeding was done on the Marsh Road, but the case was far different toward Westfield. A motor car seemed to be far exceeding the speed limit and almost every driver could be truthfully accused of scorching.

At the last meeting of the New Brunswick Automobile Association the matter of speeding was discussed at some length and a resolution was passed suggesting to the provincial Minister of Public Works, that a patrol corps, mounted on motor cycles be organized with headquarters at the more thickly populated centers for the purpose of patrolling the highways. Constable Crawford has been doing excellent work on the Marsh and Rothery roads, but if a cycle corps was organized other sections could be equally well looked after.

The East End Play Grounds Opened

Officially Opened Yesterday Morning by Mayor Schofield—Large Attendance—Program of Races—Raising of Flag and Addresses.

The East End Play Grounds were officially opened for the season by His Worship Mayor Schofield at eleven o'clock yesterday morning. A large number attended the ceremony which was followed by races for the kiddies in which over a hundred and fifty boys ranging in age from four to twelve years took part. The winners of the different events being awarded prizes of dolls, boats, firecrackers, croquet bats and games.

The programme of the formal opening consisted of an address by the mayor, followed by the raising of the flag, during which the children sang "O Canada" and the National Anthem. They were directed in their singing by the secretary of the Play Grounds Association, Mrs. W. C. Good. Short addresses were given by Rev. R. P. McKim, Commissioner Jones, F. L. Potts, M. P. A., and the chairman of the East End Improvement League, D. A. Ramsey. Other members of the P. G. A. present were A. W. Covey, Roy Hendren and S. J. Fougnet.

An excellent play ground equipped with swings, bars, and similar apparatus has been built for the youngsters in the rear of the grand stand, while other improvements are planned for the grounds. It is the intention of the executive to move the fence back and build a running track around the

William O'Keefe Badly Burned

Painted Early Yesterday Morning and Fell Over Lighted Oil Lamp—Clothing, Body and Neck Badly Burned.

William O'Keefe received severe burns early yesterday morning and as a result is now being treated in the General Public Hospital. Mr. O'Keefe was in his boarding house on Union street at the time of the accident. For some time he has been subject to fainting spells, and while going towards a table on which was a lighted oil lamp he fainted and fell over the lamp which was lit. The oil caught fire and before other occupants of the house could get to the unfortunate man he was badly injured. A dressing gown which he wore at the time was burned off and his body and neck was severely burned. Dr. Baxter was summoned and after rendering first aid had Mr. O'Keefe removed in the ambulance to the hospital for further treatment. He was reported last evening as resting well and no serious results are expected.

It is fortunate that he was discovered immediately after the accident, otherwise the man would have perhaps lost his life.

It is only a few months ago that Mr. O'Keefe's wife met with an accident in the same house and was burned to death.

A report from the Hospital at two o'clock this morning was to the effect that Mr. O'Keefe was seriously burned and he was in a critical condition.

It is stated that while the accident happened early in the morning it was nine o'clock before the ambulance was called to remove him to the hospital.

Good Steering And Coolheadedness

This Alone on the Part of the Chemical Engine Driver Prevented a Bad Smash-up Saturday When Street Car Got in the Way.

Only the good steering and cool-headedness of the chauffeur of the big chemical fire engine saved a bad smash-up and possibly a lot of injury if not death in a quick race. However, a street car slowly ground around Brees's Corner from King Square, despite the siren blasts, and jammed the motor apparatus against the curb at the intersection of North Market street. The passage here is very narrow, especially when cars are passing on a straight line, let alone swinging on the curve. The chauffeur applied the brakes, throttled his engine down and averted a collision by strenuous and very fast work. It was a half minute before he got his big car rolling right again, causing delay to say the least. Bystanders were indignant at the motorist's lack of care, but the happy outcome of the mixup, it was remarked at the time that such cases of ignoring fire signals and not making the path clear are of an ordinary nature of vehicle laws. The fire department and ambulances always have the right of way when on duty, and St. John drivers of all kinds should learn this fact right away and observe it diligently.

Arrived From The West Indies

His Grace the Archbishop of the West Indies Was Passenger on R. M. S. P. Chaudiere Yesterday En Route to England.

His Grace, the Archbishop of the West Indies, was a passenger on the R. M. S. P. Chaudiere which arrived in St. John yesterday morning. He was met at the boat by Rowland Frink and entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frink, Mount Pleasant, who have lately been in the West Indies, previous to his departure on the afternoon express for Montreal. From Montreal on Friday the Archbishop expects to sail on the Tuntun for England, where he will attend the Lambeth Conference. His Grace Schofield also invited Archbishop Crowfoot and Mrs. Crowfoot to meet the Archbishop at afternoon tea yesterday.

The Archbishop of the West Indies is very hospitable to visitors in the town and is particularly interested in Canadians, having stated that he wished that the visit of the Trade Delegation from the West Indies to Canada will have far-reaching consequences.

Fishing Season Opened Yesterday

Hundreds of Anglers of All Ages Assembled at Rockwood Park Yesterday—Some Good Catches Made.

The Rockwood Park fishing season opened yesterday with hundreds of anglers of all ages, sizes and races trying their best to lure the funny creatures from their element. Indeed, daylight—in the good old Daylight time—saw the first of the dead game fisherman on the job, some of them trudging knee-deep in the chilly water, taking pneumonia and all sorts of rheumatism in their zeal for trophies of the fly. Some good catches were made, but then the sun came out, also several thousand picnickers and strollers, to say nothing of the gaudy holiday attire of the ladies, and the timid fish "laid off" the game. So did most of the fishermen, now somewhat disgraced.

Tonight's Event

The Imperial Theatre no doubt will be crowded this evening, when the St. John Society of Music gives its final concert for the season. Probably no such great a violinist has ever been heard here as Sascha Jacobson, celebrated solo artist with all the large symphony orchestras of America. In addition the Choral Society of the local organization will be heard in songs, the ensemble, under Mr. J. S. Ford. Members may exchange their certificates for reserved seats, and tickets are offered to the general public at reasonable prices so long as they last.

THIS AFTERNOON
Rev. Thos. Joplin, Field Secretary of The Slaves' Association of Canada, will address the W. C. T. U. this afternoon in the Orange Hall, German street.
