COUNCIL MEETING ON TUESDAY EVENING

City Fathers Feel That Rent of Council Chambers is Too High. Reduction to be Asked

The Town Council met on Tuesday evening His Worship Mayor Andrew presiding. Councilors present were Messrs. Quinn, Patterson, Miller, Goss, McLean and Alexander.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Two communications were read from the secretary of the Union of New Brunswick Municipalities, notifying the council that the annual convention would be held in Fredericton on August 25th and 26th, asking the names of delegates who would attend the convention, and asking payment of the annual fees. On motion it was resolved that the annual fee be paid. As regards sending delegates, Councilor MacLean thought it would be well to have the council represented, as the matter of Municipalities contributing to the Patriotic Fund would be dealt with, and it was resolved to send the Town Clerk, Mr. John T. Reid as delegate.

Communication read from Mr. D. A. Stewart with regard to assessment on property on O'Leary Street, which was referred to Assessment and Appeals Committee.

Petition received from J. A. Allard for license for a shoe repairing establishment on Rosalee Street. Referred to Police and License Committee.

The following reports recommending payment of accounts were received and adopted.

Public Property and Streets $9.25
Finance 304.80
Water and Sewerage 277.11
Electric Light 3321.85

In reply to a question regarding brush fire at Sanson's, Councilor Goss stated that he had conferred with the chief and had visited the scene of the fire. He had also interviewed Mr. Sanson, who stated that he had no idea the fire would assume such proportions. Councilor Goss pointed out to Mr. Sanson that it was against the law to set such fires and he admitted his error, which was done unwittingly and regretted the occurrence, offering to pay for his mistake. Seeing that this had been done in ignorance of the by-law, Councilor Goss was willing to let the matter drop.

Councilor Patterson from the Public Property and Streets Committee, presented a report dealing with the recent petition received from residents in Ward I, in which he stated that most of the work asked for had been done before the petition was received. The sidewalk on the east side of Ramsay Street would receive early attention and the west sidewalk widened shortly. The town property would be graded up if there was time this year. In Ward II a sidewalk would be built on west side of Ritchie Street from Water to Pleasant Streets, and other work done on Prince William Street. The report was received and filed.

Councilor Patterson then stated to the Council that at the last meeting his attention had been drawn to the removal of graves from Arden Street, and on investigation he found this had been done four years ago. He also brought to the notice of the Council the request of Mr. Vermette to rent one of the stores in the town building as a pool room. He felt the rent $25 per month was a little high and asked the opinion of the Council regarding this. After discussion it was moved and seconded that the rent be $15 per month and on the question being called, Councilor Alexander asked what the town was going to do about their own rent. If they were glad to take any rent that was going some reduction should be sought from the proprietors of the Murray Building. The motion was then passed.

Councilor Goss then said that Councilor Alexander's point was well taken and the rent $120 per month now being paid for the town buildings was altogether too much. He moved that the Public Property and Streets Committee be empowered to make the best arrangements possible regarding renting of buildings for town purposes. Motion carried.

In answer to Councilor Goss, His Worship stated that the amount of $300 had been voted for Field Kitchens but nothing beyond that had been done.

A short discussion ensued regarding a medical account which had not yet been put before council and the committee were instructed to look into the matter and report at next meeting. Council then adjourned.

AT ST. JOHN

Sir H. B. Ames, Secretary of the Patriotic Fund will be in St. John on Friday and Saturday and has requested to meet as many representatives of the various local Patriotic branches as possible. A delegate from this branch will probably be sent.

GREAT RECRUITING RALLY HELD HERE ON MONDAY EVENING LAST

Large Gathering of Citizens Turn Out to the School Grounds Where Patriotic Demonstration Was Held. Large Number of Recruits Enlist.

Last Monday evening a large number of citizens gathered at the school grounds to take part in a great recruiting rally for the 55th Battalion. The weather was all that could be desired and long before the hour of meeting the spacious school grounds were filled with interested citizens. A platform was erected at the school entrance and tastefully decorated with the Union Jack and the flags of the allies, temporary lamps being hung over the platform, making quite a blaze of light.

Shortly after eight o'clock strains of music were heard and the Campbellton Band, smart and trim in their new uniforms swung up Andrew Street, with a detachment of the Boy Scouts following. The band took their places on the platform and His Worship, who was chairman promptly called the meeting to order. Supporting Mayor Andrew on the platform were the various speakers who took part in the meeting. His Honor Judge McLatchy, Rev. G. L. McCain of Boston, Capt. Rev. H. E. Thomas, Lieut. Brooks of the 55th, and Capt. A. T. LeBlanc of the 73rd North Regt.

After the introductory remarks from the Mayor, Captain A. T. LeBlanc addressed the meeting in French, followed by Judge McLatchy, who gave a great point in showing the folly of the statement that Great Britain was slow in recruiting. He quoted figures to show that in Great Britain the ratio of recruiting was one in fourteen, while in Canada it was one in fifty, and added that in the first Canadian contingent fully 75 per cent of the recruits were old country men who had volunteered.

Rev. G. L. McCain of Boston, a Canadian Presbyterian minister at present preaching in Boston, created a splendid impression when he extended the sympathy and the help of the many Canadians in America, whose heart was with Canada as a nation in this great fight. He showed the difference in feeling to Canada which had taken place among Americans in recent years, so that now Canada was no longer looked upon as a new country open for exploitation, but rather a young nation which now had started to grow and within whose bounds were great possibilities.

After selections by the band, Capt. Rev. H. E. Thomas was called on. The rev. gentleman is well known in Campbellton and claimed the right as Judge McLatchy had of calling the gathering "Fellow citizens." He had lived here, worked here and paid taxes here. Throughout Capt. Thomas speech, there breathed a large spirit of optimism, yet this great war could never be settled until every one realized that they each one had some sacrifices to make. He urged the young men to think the matter over seriously and called on the young ladies to assist their sweethearts in making a decision. The speaker was very happy in his apt local allusions. Speaking of the German Navy he said, "where is the German Navy?" (A voice, we don't know). "What good is it doing?" For all the good it is doing it might as well be behind the Sugarloaf. That powerlessness was made possible by the power of the British Navy. He raised quite a laugh when he spoke of the return of the patriots with bands playing and the streets all decorated, and pictured the dismay of those who had refused to enlist beating it to the Mission, or when the wonderful tales of valor and heroism were being told in the lumber camps in the years to come, how the shirkers would have to hang their heads in shame.

KOVNO FORTRESS CAPTURED BY GERMANS--ZEPPELIN RAID ON LONDON

Berlin, via wireless to Sayville, August 18.—The great Russian fortress of Kovno was captured by the Germans last night. An official announcement from the War Office today declared:

"The fortress of Kovno, together with all the forts and war material not yet counted, has been in German hands since last night. More than 400 cannons were taken. The fortress was stormed in spite of the most tenacious resistance by the Russians."

The six great forts defending the city from the west and southwest were simply blown to pieces by the incessant pounding of Germany's great 42 centimetre guns and a host of minor pieces.

The forts of Kovno have been under direct attack for scarcely a week, demonstrating again the superiority of modern artillery over fort structures. The German siege howitzers were moved in closer each day, and on Monday battered a gap in the Russian fortifications southwest of the city through which General von Eichorn threw several regiments.

The big guns were rushed up to this new position and opened a violent fire upon the principal forts defending Kovno from the west, including the three located at the confluence of the Niemen and the Viliya rivers. Infantry assaults continued throughout the day, and although reports reached Berlin yesterday that all the forts had been taken, it was not until last night that the Germans finally surrendered the city.

The Russian garrison is retreating over the railway to Vilna. London, August 18.—The outskirts of London were raided last night by Zeppelins. Ten persons were killed, and thirty-six were injured. The air raid was over the eastern counties of England. One German ship is reported to have been hit while it was participating in the attack. This is the third air raid by Zeppelins on the east coast within eight days, and the seventeenth air invasion of England since the war began. A total of 86 persons have been killed and 287 persons have been injured. "The official casualty list—Killed—men, 7; women, 2; children, 1. Injured—men, 18; women, 18; children, 3. All were civilians."

MACHINE GUN CONTRIBUTIONS COMING

Total Sum Subscribed is Now $1380.—Big Endeavor to be Made This Week

The contributions for Machine Guns are still coming in, although there are many who have not yet signified the amount they will give, although they have promised to contribute. The response to the appeal so far has been splendid, but we want to give two guns from Campbellton by public subscription. As Capt. Rev. H. E. Thomas said on Monday evening, "giving what you will not miss is not giving." We must make sacrifices. We claim the glorious privilege of being British, let us make sacrifices to show that we appreciate all that the British flag means to us.

TROOPSHIP TORPEDOED IN AEGEAN SEA

"The British transport Royal Edward was sunk by an enemy submarine in the Aegean Sea, last Saturday morning. According to the information at present available, the transport had on board 32 military officers and 1,350 troops in addition to the ships crew of 220 officers and men."

"Full information has not yet been received, but it is known that about 600 have been saved."

No advice can be had from Ottawa as to whether Canadian troops were aboard or not, but reassuring messages were received from Lieut.-Col. J. L. McAvity, officer commanding, and Captain George Keefe, that the members of the 26th Battalion were not on the ill-fated Royal Edward. The messages were dated Folkestone, the post centre for Sandling Camp, so it is assumed that the battalion is still under canvas there.

SHOULD CHANGE NAME OF NEW BRUNSWICK

View of a Former Resident of the Province Given in the Moncton Transcript

Mr. Henry A. O'Leary, formerly of the Transcript's editorial staff and now in Brooklyn, N. Y., writes a chatty letter to a Monctonian, which in part may possess some public interest:

"The Transcript is intensely interesting just now and I have been really surprised at the genuine merit of many of the letters from the local volunteers on the battle lines."

"I deeply regretted that we could have nothing further from young Walter Gallagher. No doubt they have given up all hope of ever hearing from him again. By a strange coincidence a young man named Harry Phillips, who lived last year on the top floor of this building and whose parents live here yet, enlisted in the same battalion as young Gallagher, the 13th, and I believe was a member of the same company. Both disappeared on the same day, the fatal April 24th, but Phillips was heard from about six weeks afterwards, at a prison camp in Saxony. I wrote to Mr. P. Gallagher, telling him of this, and also that I would try to find out what I could about his son, but I judged from Mr. Gallagher's reply that he had very little hope. My letter to young Phillips has not yet been answered. The Phillips family, who are recent arrivals from England, treasure a copy of the Transcript I gave them containing their son's name on the official list of missing, but they had known for a week before this list was given out at Ottawa, that the boy was a prisoner in Germany."

"Our pro-German propaganda here is a terrible nuisance particularly the small, but noisy Irish end of it, led by a man named O'Leary. There was once a prisoner as a result of a particularly low down piece of robbery in New York, who gave his name in a strong Italian accent as 'Patrick O'Leary', but even if 'Patrick' had been a genuine O'Leary he would not have been so unworthy of the name as this participant in the German 'promotion fund', who really hails from the same section of County Cork wherein was 'raised' Sergeant O'Leary, V. C. The most striking thing about this pro-German business is its damnable hypocrisy, for everybody connected with it declares he doesn't represent Germany or any other country but the U. S. A. Just as if the paid attorney for a murderer tried to convince the jury that he had no interest whatever in the prisoner at the bar, but acted only for the 'innocent bystander'."

"I met, the other day, a hyphenated American of Teutonic extraction, who seemed a little surprised that there was no movement in New Brunswick to change the name of the province as Russia got rid of 'St. Petersburg', and argued therefore that we New Brunswickers must have a sort of sneaking regard for Germany. I told him the name was derived from the House of Brunswick and not the German province or duchy of that name, but he said the prefix 'New' made it a derivative of the duchy, and that when the German battleships got their new big guns and the contest of the sea was wrested from Britain and a German army landed in Canada, our province would be a good starting point from which to Germanize the country. 'Neubrunschweig', he said, could remain as it is now on the German maps, equivalent for Betsucouche or Kouchibouguac, or Richibucto."

"But is there not a little food for thought in this German's babbling? Would this not be an opportune time to get rid of a name which never has been anything but a drawback to the province? For example, it would be of no avail to attach the name to any superior provincial products in the American markets, if an attempt were made to push such products, for 'New Brunswick' means nothing here except the small city of that name in New Jersey. And you have, ready at hand, such a fine historic name to take its place, Acadia. I would really like to see how such a suggestion would be taken in New Brunswick. The change, I might add, would really be a big advertisement for the province, and what our people thought of Germany and all it stands for."

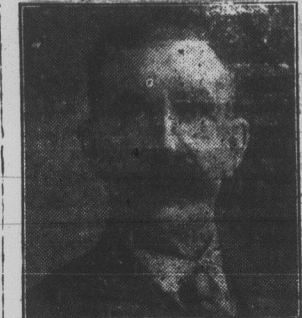

"I find that the German Duchy of Brunswick, which indirectly furnished the name for our fine province, has about the same areas as the County of Westmorland, plus one parish of Kent."

Formal announcement had been made at the University of Michigan of a campaign to be started in October among the 25,000 alumni of the institution to raise $1,000,000 to erect a new building for the Michigan Union, an organization composed of the resident student body of the university. Committees are being formed in 183 cities in the United States to carry on the work of collecting the funds.

GOLD CARGO BROUGHT

BY ADMIRAL BEATTY

British Battleship Safely Carried
Fifty Millions in Gold to United States

New York, Aug. 10.—The great cargo of $50,000,000 in gold, which will arrive in this city to-morrow, consigned to J. P. Morgan & Co. from England, was brought across the Atlantic to Halifax in a British battleship commanded by Vice-Admiral Sir David Beatty. It is moving southward through New England to-night in seven steel cars, which carry a garrison of 40 men fully armed to resist attacks.

The battleship with her golden cargo was conveyed through the submarine zone surrounding the British Isles by a cruiser and a flotilla of destroyers. 'Admiral Beatty was the winner of the naval battle on Aug. 28, 1914, off Heligoland, in which two German cruisers and two German torpedo boats were sunk and a third cruiser set afire and left sinking.

The detaching from North Sea duty of the admiral, who has made the most brilliant reputation of all British naval commanders in the present war, and of a strong section of British sea strength attended the transportation of the greatest cargo of treasure which has ever been trusted to one bottom and which was doubly important to England because the purpose of the shipment was partly to strengthen British financial prestige in New York markets.

From the beginning the greatest secrecy surrounded the shipment, but nevertheless the greatest precautions were taken against the possibility that the activity of the German secret service in this country and in England might cause the discovery of the plan and result in a submarine attack or in an attempt to cause trouble on the railway journey.

When the armed train left Halifax it was preceded by a pilot engine for the purpose of testing bridges and trestles, and of being wrecked in place of the treasure train, should an attempt be made to wreck it by dynamite. This precaution was suggested by the exploit of Werner Horn, the German reservist, who attempted to blow up the St. Croix river international bridge on Feb. 2 of this year to stop shipments of munitions to the allies from this country to Canada over the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The news of the arrival of Sir David Beatty's fleet with the greatest cargo of treasure ever carried by a single ship did not get out of Halifax because of the rigor of the Halifax censorship.

It was learned to-day, however, that after it had been landed, one day's delay was caused for the reason that the American Express Company did not have the privilege of doing business in Halifax, and that Admiral Beatty had orders to deliver the shipment directly to the American Express Company, which had no office of its own in Halifax and was represented only by the Dominion Express Company. Admiral Beatty called back for instructions and was ordered to make the delivery to the Dominion Express Company.

WOMEN SPIES ARE HELPING GERMANY

Romantic Story of Russian
Woman

(Toronto Mail)

Not long ago Mme. Bertha Trost, a fashionable London beauty specialist, was expelled from England because it had been discovered that she was likely to give valuable information to Germany, and because her husband was known to be a German officer. Before the war nobody knew that Mme. Trost was married, and her actions would have supplied no clue. She was a faded beauty, who had yet power to attract young men, and whose skill in the matter of artificial allurements had placed several titled women in her debt. Since the war broke out it has been discovered that she had an insatiable curiosity regarding military affairs, and it is now believed by Scotland Yard that all the years she lived in England she was a paid German agent, who sent home every scrap of information she could gather that might be of interest to a power that contemplated war upon Great Britain.

What part women spies have played in this war may never be known. It is known, however, that St. Petersburg's master spy, used hundreds of women in his system, that hundreds of them were scattered through France as waitresses, innkeepers, governesses, and teachers of language and music before the Franco-Prussian war, and that in their several capacities they rendered signal service to their employer. France and Russia too, have used women intelligently officers with great profit, and if we are to believe fiction current before the war began, half the titled and beautiful population of Russia was engaged in the occupation of fathoming Britain's military and political mysteries. Now that the war is raging, one might be inclined to believe that the stories of Russian spies were made in Germany, and were calculated to cause distrust of Russia.

Since the war began hundreds of spies have been exposed, among them scores of women, some of them young and beautiful, and several mere girls. As the war has progressed, the spy seems to have improved his status. He or she is no more regarded as the sneak of warfare. It has been realized that the spy takes as many chances as the man in charge of a machine gun, and when he is convicted he is usually given the honor of death before a firing squad instead of being hanged. The weak, weakly passes without recording the fact that some spy has been sentenced to imprisonment instead of being hanged on the spot as would have been the custom a generation ago.

One of the most romantic stories of the war concerns a woman spy. It is to the effect that when the war began there was in Posen a young German officer who had fallen deeply in love with a young woman who passed by the name of Muffelthal. He was not only deeply in love, but he was deeply in debt. His condition having been communicated to a Russian secret agent, he was offered a bribe of $25,000 for a plan of the fortress of Posen. He was willing to sell out, but could not scheme a way in which the information would be conveyed to Russia. Then his sweetheart made a suggestion, which was to the effect that she should take the plan upon her back, and that she should make her way to a Russian headquarters. This plan was adopted, and thus the secret was smuggled out of Germany. When the girl returned the extraordinary tale of her adventures, and the plot was revealed. Incidentally she might remark that a plan of Posen is not now of more value to Russia than a plan of the Toronto harbor improvements.

It is said that a dangerous woman spy was discovered in France not long ago because when she was asked for her passport she inadvertently offered to the guard the very note that she was carrying to smuggle to the German authorities. She was shot. Another woman, dropped at the gates of Nancy an imperative message to the German army which revealed a temporary French weakness. The day of the Alzace woman was long night discovered signalling to the Germans with an electric torch. Another, an Italian, in the pay of Germany, was found with forged passports from Lorraine and French. The allied countries have by no means rid themselves of German spies, and there are probably hundreds, if not thousands of them to-day, waiting for an opportunity of serving the Fatherland.

Failing to find a telephone pole handy, a Beethoven note on the ramp, asked a Holbrook hydrant the other day. Result: Two town superintendents on a hurry, she saved the surrounding territory from a flood.

Judge and Mrs. W. H. Ward, of Houston, Tex., a few weeks ago were both admitted to practice in the Supreme Court of the United States. This is the first time in the history of the court that a husband and wife were admitted together.

WAR LOSSES

As neither Germany nor Russia make comprehensive statements of their losses, it is not easy to figure with any degree of accuracy the toll of war during its first year. Great Britain, through Premier Asquith, has admitted losses of 330,000 to the end of July, but Germany claims the losses have been 116,000 killed, 229,000 wounded and 83,000 prisoners, a total of 428,000. This discrepancy in figures naturally creates doubt as to the reliability of estimates of losses of countries which refrain from publishing casualty lists. German estimates of war's toll, which claim a British loss practically 100,000 greater than Premier Asquith has admitted, place the German loss much lower than do British, French and other writers. The total to the end of June is admitted as 482,000 killed, 852,000 wounded and 233,000 prisoners, a total of 1,567,000. The Austrian losses at the same time are given as 341,000 killed, 771,000 wounded and 183,000 prisoners, a total of 1,295,000. For France the German claim is 400,000 killed, 700,000 wounded and 800,000 missing, a total of 1,900,000, and for Russia 723,000 killed, 1,932,000 wounded and 770,000 missing, a total of 3,425,000. Belgium's losses are placed at 247,000, Serbia 226,000, and Turkey 181,000. A totally different conclusion as to German and Austrian losses is reached by a London Daily Mail correspondent, Mr. Beach Thomas, who says his lists have been compiled from the best available figures and checked and counterchecked in every way from both public and private information. His verdict is that the Teutons and their ally Turkey have lost in killed, wounded and prisoners close to nine million men, as follows:

Germans: prisoners, 490,000; killed, 1,636,000; wounded, 1,880,000; total, 4,006,000.

Austrians: prisoners, 810,000; killed, 1,710,000; wounded, 1,855,000; total, 4,375,000.

Turks: prisoners, 95,000; killed, 110,000; wounded, 346,000.

Although these figures may exaggerate the German and Austrian losses they are probably more nearly correct than statements put out by the German government. As the attacking force in campaign after campaign, the Germans and Austrians have undoubtedly suffered more severely than the French and British, while the driving of men in mass formation against strongly fortified positions has resulted in some battles in tremendously heavy losses. Of course, a reasonable number of the wounded return to the battle lines again, but Germany and Austria must suffer a tremendous diminution of power if the war is long sustained. A quick victory was their first object, and it must remain their plan. The longer the war is protracted the more certain it is that the Allies will gain the ascendancy.—Globe.

DECORATIONS

Germany is prodigal of war decorations. Published reports show that up to March 21st, 338,261 iron crosses of the second class had been awarded, and 6,488 of the first class. According to these figures as a basis, it is fair to assume that by now fully 500,000 soldiers of the fatherland have been decorated. Some of the rewards, many of them no doubt, have been given for brave and heroic actions in the war. Not a few, however, express the appreciation of the Kaiser and of the German rulers for baby-killing acts by Zeppelin raiders, and at least one was a reward for a hymn of hate which the Germans now wish they had never let the world read.

"PORTABLE SHIELD" FOR SOLDIERS

The European conflict and particularly the dead lock on the western frontier, has set inventors to devising means for overcoming the great defensive strength of trench warfare. One device which presents many good points and seems practicable is a British invention termed a "moving fort". In fact, it is a shell or shield shaped like a bullet, except that the horizontal diameter is slightly greater than the vertical diameter. It is made of chilled steel and weighs just about 200 pounds. It is just large enough to receive a man on all fours. It has a small wheel or roller near its forward end on its lower face for supporting most of its weight. It is propelled by the user by simply pushing against the ground with one foot, his hands resting on a suitable rod or support inside the shell. A sight slot and rifle opening through the centre of the top front wall makes it possible for the user to see where he is going and enables him to shoot at the enemy. The very gradual taper of the shield and the hard metal safely deflect all rifle and machine gun bullets and fragments of shells, so that it is really a small movable fort proof against all but high power explosives shell and even they do little damage unless they strike squarely.

By this means, a large number of men may crawl very close to the enemy lines and then spring from their "forts" and make one short sharp dash into the trench, and all is over. It seems a device well worth trying.

MARRIED AT JACQUET RIVER

(From the Gloucester Northern Light)
A happy event took place at the Roman Catholic Church, Jacquet River, Monday evening, when Mary E. daughter of Mr. Frederick Firlotte, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Douglas D. Hill formerly of Chatham, by Rev. Father Daigle. The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, looked charming in Ninon over Duchesse satin with white picture hat, and carried a bouquet of American beauties, and snow flakes. She was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Maybelle Hill, who was prettily attired in white shadow lace over pink silk and black picture hat, while the groom was attended by the bride's brother, Mr. Harry Firlotte. After the wedding ceremony the happy couple motored to the home of the bride, where a dainty supper was served to relatives and friends.

MILITARY EXPERT ON CAUSES OF PESSIMISM

By Colonel F. N. Maude, C. B.

It seems to me that the principal reason for the growth of the depression which has been noticeable during the last few weeks lies in the fact that, with considerably over a million fighting men abroad at the several fronts, in the Fleet, and in the Colonies, about three millions in training, more or less arduous, and some two millions making munitions, running the railroads, docks, steamships, etc., the country is really emasculated, and the manufacture of public opinion is left in the hands of those who, through defects of physique, old age, intellectual inadequacy, and so forth, have nothing better to do than to fuss and bustle and try to interfere in every business man's affairs, instead of confining their attentions strictly to their own. In other words, they forget that the secret should be on the word "this" in Nelson's immortal message to the Fleet before joining battle at Trafalgar—"do this duty"—not trying to interfere with those who are already doing theirs to the limit of their capacity. An illustration of my case is afforded by the House of Commons, though the proportion of its members serving under arms is well below the average for the whole male population, and very markedly below that for the House of Commons.

Nevertheless, all the more competent men are putting forth their energies in endeavoring to organize the many and varied—often unexpected—activities called into existence by the war. Hence, for the time being, the House of Commons is practically at the mercy of the meddlers—those who are friends of every man's country but their own. I need not dwell upon the improper and offensive innuendoes of such persons as Mr. Ginnell.

These people condemn themselves in the estimation of every decent person every time they open their mouths, but there are others who with good intentions do much nevertheless to spread alarm and despondency by questions with regard to tactical and strategic matters, which ought to be left for the expert advisers of the Crown to deal with, since they alone are in a position to estimate the problems involved at their full value.

Sir A. Markham, for instance, recently addressed a question to the Under-Secretary for War as to the number of guns allotted to divisions in the new armies, and worded it in such a way as to suggest a serious weakness in the organization of these. Actually it is a question of whether four guns or six guns contribute the best fire-unit for field artillery. For years we in England have stuck to the six-gun battery, and so have the Germans.

The Russians and Austrians preferred field batteries of eight guns, though they also adhered to six for horse artillery. The French, who originated the battery unit about 1795, started with six guns, and it was their experience that was copied by all the rest of Western Europe. But in 1856, when the true quick-firers appeared on the scene, the French realized more completely than any other Power what was the full meaning implied by the change, and they adopted the four-gun battery as the type.

This was done for the simple and sufficient reason that a battery is useless without ammunition; hence, in order to get the best possible result out of the number of horses which could be admitted for a battery command, it was better to strike out two guns, together with all the ammunition wagons these required, and to concentrate the horse-power saved in this way upon more ammunition wagons for the remaining four guns. The size of the personnel to be controlled remained the same, and the power of the guns to remain in action longer was greatly increased.

We and the Germans, however, who never grasped the full inwardness of the change to quick-firing guns, adhered to the six-gun unit, and the fact that we are now making the change to the four-gun unit type—after serving for months beside the French and seeing the advantage of their system—is proof enough that the case in favor of the smaller but more effective unit is incontestable.

As another example of a thoroughly dangerous and improper question, let me cite the inquiry—made by someone whose name escapes me at the moment—suggesting that there had been gross incapacity and inhumanity in the treatment of the wounded after the landing in the Dardanelles. I see in the Times, of the 9th inst., that Sir Frederick Roberts has completely refuted the suggestion, and no higher authority on this particular matter could be found.

Of course, the lot of the wounded at any desperate battle is never very enviable, for no nation has ever yet provided, or ever can provide, a sufficient number of cots, doctors, stretch-

BRITISH PRIZE COURT

IS PLACE OF DIGNITY

American Solicitors Find Big Difference in Cases of Procedure

London.—A day in the admiralty prize court these days is interesting, the prize docket being crowded with cases involving the seizure of American ships, with American attorneys and witnesses crowding the corridors and the court room, the attorney-general, Sir Edward Carson, citing long lists of American cases and text books in support of his contentions. Even the lord chief justice of the prize court, the Right Hon. Sir Samuel Evans is asking questions about American clients, American customs, and sharing the distinct American atmosphere that pervades the court room nowadays.

Here in detail is being rehearsed the hundreds of seizures of ships and cargoes which, besides their legal aspect, have developed the most serious political crisis existing between Great Britain and the United States. There have been upwards of 600 seizures and detentions of American ships, and the number of cargoes involved is far larger, for each ship carries separate cargoes to different consignees. Many of the cases have been settled, but the large number still at issue have gone through the tedious process of prize court pleadings, and this month began to take their turn in being threshed out to a final decision before the court itself.

The prize court is one of the labyrinth of buildings making that historic landmark known as the Law Courts, a massive pile of weather-beaten gray stone, housing all the high courts of England, with the lord chief justice and the long train of lesser dignitaries and the various tribunals.

The scene within the court as the American cases are heard is one of impressive dignity. The chamber itself is a vast, box-like structure, with stone floor and walls, great cathedrals windows filtering the light dimly, and stained-glass ceiling, seventy feet high. The only touch of brightness is the large, gilded anchor and chains hanging back of the chief justice, an emblem of British naval power. Sir Samuel Evans, the presiding judge, is on a dais ten feet above the level of the solicitors and advocates, all of them, bench and bar, in wigs and gowns. At the left of the judge sit two officers of the royal merchant marine, in full uniform, known as nautical experts. He consults them frequently on any technical question of navigation or naval construction arising in the cases.

Back of the lawyers are the American attorneys, but unable to say a word as British practice requires all the argument to be presented by officers of the court and British subjects. This has caused some little embarrassment at times when the reserved British barrister did not urge a point with that vehemence that seemed to be warranted by the American legal viewpoint. Sir Edward Carson, the attorney-general, is the central figure in these cases. He is the famous fiery Irishman from Ulster, who leaped into world fame when he organized and armed the Ulster volunteers and dared the government to enforce Home Rule on Ulster. Now he is a member of the government, one of the newly formed coalition ministry. But there has been nothing fiery in his conduct of the prize cases. He speaks without any oratorical effort. He appears to have little humor, for he looks blankly at Sir Samuel on the bench when the lord justice laughs and has a joke.

In the case of the ship Kim and Fridland, carrying American cargoes of rubber, Sir Edward cited many cases, always receiving the greatest courtesy, but always with the mass of tradition and conservatism against quick action. And yet the officials sent any suggestion that there had been any delay in these prize cases, although the American litigants are smarting under what they say is delay. One of the chief officials, Mr. Lovell, registrar of admiralty, said: "There is absolutely no delay so far as the prize court is concerned. Sir Samuel Evans is sitting early and late. He is going to give up the usual summer recess of the court, which begins in August, in order to dispose of these cases with the greatest promptness."

One of the British officials who has had most to do with these prize cases said it was manifestly impossible for the political branch of the government, the crown, to hurry the legal branch, where the existing law had to be administered according to the existing customs. It would be expected, for example, he said, that the executive branch at Washington would try to hurry the United States Supreme Court on political grounds, or in any way outside the usual application for advancement, which after all, was at the discretion of the court.

Answering this, an American official who has had much to do with the prize cases, said there was an important distinction between the American and British courts, as the former in reality had to administer the existing law according to existing rules whereas in the prize court the political branch, the crown, had such power that it could even change existing law to meet new cases. This is done by the process of an order-in-council. He cited the following instance in one of these prize cases:

At a decisive stage of the Wilhelm case the solicitors of the crown made the point that a neutral ship could be requisitioned by one of the belligerents. This was laughed at by the attorneys for the American owners who had article 39 of the prize law before them, and were ready to go to court next morning and laugh the crown solicitors out of court with their own law.

"The solicitors for the crown appear to have overlooked," they said in the prize court next day, "that Article 39 of the prize law is specific against their contention."

"That was quite true up to 9 o'clock last night," came the quick reply from the crown solicitors. "But the claimant appears to be unaware that at 9 o'clock last night an order-in-council was signed entirely changing that law."

On enquiry, this proved to be the case, a special order-in-council had been made—not the wholesale order-in-council dealing with contraband growing out of the war zone—which had never appeared in the official gazette and which is difficult even now to learn much about. But it fitted this particular case exactly.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear and that is by constitutional remedies. Here is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

America precedents. One of them was from 3 Wallace, 555, the case of the Bechania, a long paragraph to uphold the contention, and then paused with some apparent triumph that this American case was on all-fours on his side.

"But the next paragraph, which you have not read," said Sir Samuel from the bench, "turns the case against you."

The difference between the British and American practice was shown when efforts were made to get a copy of the printed brief and affidavit, which Sir Edward Carson had been reading in open court. In American courts these printed briefs are open to anyone. But when application was made to the clerks of the prize court, they were refused. Briefs, they explained, were rigidly secret, never going beyond the solicitors, who guarded them as a matter of professional ethics.

The registry of the prize court is another vast structure, adjoining it, with endless bureaus, through which the American attorneys wander in quest of various branches of their

IN YIELD OF CROPS

Government Bulletin is Issued
Giving Statistics of Crops
For 1915

Ottawa, August 18, 1915.—The Census and Statistics Office issued today a bulletin giving a preliminary estimate of the yield of fall wheat, of hay and clover and of alfalfa, based upon appearances at the end of July as estimated by correspondents, and a report on the condition of other field crops at the same date.

FALL WHEAT, HAY AND CLOVER AND ALFALFA

The preliminary estimate of the average yield per acre of fall wheat in Canada for 1915 is 28.10 bushels, as compared with 21.41 bushels last year and with 21.78 bushels, the average of the five years 1910 and 1914. The harvested area of fall wheat in the five provinces of Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia amounts in 1915 to 1,208,700 acres, as compared with 973,800 acres in 1914, and the total estimated yield to 33,957,800 bushels, as compared with 20,837,000 bushels in 1914, an increase in total yield of 63 p. c. In area harvested, in average yield per acre and in total yield the fall wheat harvest of 1915 is therefore expected to be the largest on record. In Ontario the total estimated yield is 27,080,000 bushels from 972,000 acres, an average of 27.86 bushels per acre and in Alberta the other large fall wheat province, the total yield is 6,225,000 bushels from 215,700 acres, an average of 28.86 bushels per acre. The estimated yield of hay and clover in 1915 is 10,589,800 tons from 7,375,000 acres, as compared with 9,206,000 tons from 7,997,000 acres in 1914, the average yield per acre being 1.34 ton, as compared with 1.15 ton in 1914. Alfalfa shows a total yield of 158,755 tons from 92,665 acres, as compared with 129,780 tons from 90,885 acres in 1914; the average yield per acre is 1.71 ton as compared with 1.44 ton.

CONDITION OF SPRING-SOWN CROPS

Spring-sown grain crops continue to show an excellent average condition, all being for Canada above 90 p. c. of the standard representing a full crop. Beans, buckwheat and flax are 83 p. c. of the standard, potatoes and turnips are above 90 and the remaining crops are as follows: Corn 82, mangolds 89, hay and clover 81, alfalfa 87, sugar beets 89 and pasture 89. Converted into a standard wherein 100 represents the average yield per acre of the seven years 1908 to 1914, the condition of the principal grain crops at July 31, 1915, is as follows: Fall wheat 120, spring wheat 112, all wheat 113, rye and barley 111, oats 108, flax 107. That is to say, the yields per acre of these crops, according to their appearance on July 31, are expected to be above the average yields of the previous seven years to the extent of 20 p. c. for fall wheat, 12 p. c. for spring wheat, 13 p. c. for all wheat, 11 p. c. for rye and barley, 8 p. c. for oats and 7 p. c. for flax.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT

NEAR DALHOUSIE

Mr. J. B. Storer and Party in
Auto Smash.—Occupants
Buried Beneath Car

(Received too late for last week's issue).

Dalhousie, Aug. 11th.—A serious accident, which luckily resulted in no loss of life occurred on Friday evening last, near Dalhousie, when an automobile containing Mr. J. B. Storer of Bathurst, Mrs. Robert Ferguson of Moncton, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. C. Sprague and daughter Patricia, of Dalhousie, skidded and overturned, rolling down a steep embankment.

The party were returning from Campbellton and were running along fairly slow; when striking a patch of ground on the narrow roadway the front wheels twisted, and in trying to right them, caused the rear wheels to skid over the edge of the bank.

How the occupants escaped death is a mystery as Mrs. Ferguson, Mrs. Sprague and daughter were buried beneath the car, Mr. Storer was thrown clear and was uninjured and Mr. Sprague, although only receiving a few cuts and bruises had his clothes torn to shreds, he being thrown for some distance into a clump of trees.

Mrs. Ferguson had her left arm broken and was badly bruised about the body. She is suffering considerably from the shock. Mrs. Sprague and little daughter, although they were pinned under the car, escaped with only a few bruises, and how they escaped is a miracle.

The car was badly smashed, one wheel being broken off, besides the steering wheel and windshield being smashed to atoms.

Fortunately help was near at hand and as soon as these under the machine were extricated from their perilous position they were driven to their home where Dr. Ferguson attended to the injuries.

The land officials have refused because of her age. To that Mrs. Velasquez replies that the authorities need have no fear as "her boys," the eldest aged ninety and the youngest seventy years, "will work the place" for her.

This year the Studebaker announcement is more significant than ever before. It demonstrates more conclusively than ever Studebaker's leadership in the industry. For once again, Studebaker is announcing new cars at prices that completely recast all standards of value in the automobile industry. And never before has a dollar bought so much as it buys in these new Studebakers. They are the best car in every detail that Studebaker ever built.

But while the prices are remarkably low, Studebaker has made no effort to manufacture a small, low-price car, to compete purely on a price basis.

A whole Book of Specifications couldn't begin to convey the impression that your first glimpse of the cars will give—you must see the cars to appreciate them.

WOMAN IN TERRIBLE STATE

Finds Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cape Wolfe, Canada.—"Last March I was a complete wreck. I had given up all hope of getting better or living any length of time, as I was such a sufferer from female troubles. But I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am in good health and have a pair of twin boys two months old and growing finely. I surprised doctors and neighbors for they all know what a wreck I was.

"Now I am healthy, happy and hearty, and owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies. You may publish this letter if you like. I think if more women used your remedies they would have better health."

Mrs. T. T. Cook, Lot No. 7, Cape Wolfe, P.E.I., Canada.

Because your case is a difficult one, and doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has remedied many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, and it may be exactly what you need.

The Pinkham record is a proud and peerless one. It is a record of constant victory over the obstinate ills of women—ills that deal out despair. It is an established fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored health to thousands of such suffering women. Why don't you try it if you need such a medicine?

BLACK CAPE

It is with deepest regret that we are called upon to record the death of George Brake, which occurred at his home on Monday, August 2nd, after a long and painful illness, which he bore with the best of patience. Deceased was 59 years of age and came from Toledo, Ohio, nine years ago. He is survived by a widow and five children. The funeral took place on August 4th, from his late residence. The service was conducted by Rev. Walter Rayner and interment was made in the Black Cape cemetery. Much sympathy is felt for Mrs. Brake and the family in their hour of sorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Thomas have returned to their home in Waltham, after spending a most enjoyable vacation in Black Cape.

Miss Ada Johnston of Toronto is spending a short vacation at her home here.

THE TREACHEROUS KISS.
To use a kiss in the ministry of betrayal is like using a sacramental cup to poison a friend. The very worst form of devilry is that which garbs itself in the robes of an angel of light. Evil which wears the garb of goodness is sufficiently repulsive, but it is not nearly so repulsive as when it counterfeits goodness, and decks itself in adornments stolen from the wardrobe of virtue. If betrayal comes with a curse and a frown we know how to interpret its approach; but when it comes with smiles and kisses it can deceive the very elect. This kiss of Judas wounded the Lord far more deeply than did the nails which fastened Him to the cross.

And we, too, can do our evil behind the appearance of virtue. We can plan mischief on our knees. We can appear unto men to pray while all the time we may be busy hatching schemes to wrong our brother. We can even join the Lord's holy church for a badge of respectability. Our membership appears to throw the light of sanctity over our life, and the soft and mellow beams become a kind of screen behind which we can engage in questionable deeds. "Oh, she is a member of the church and it must be all right." And this does mischief as at a screen instead of being a lucid transparency through which we can see into the deepest depths of the consecrated soul. Yes, we can betray the Lord with a kiss.

Nothing is harder than to forgive a malicious wrong, a harm done us in a matter where we know we were right. Sir Wilfrid was an English baron, widely known as a leader of social life, and a man of great personal dignity and force of character. Having been a distinguished chief justice of the Court of Common Pleas, he was often consulted by friends as to perplexing social questions.

On one occasion, a statesman came to him in great excitement over an injury just inflicted on him. He told the story with warmth, and used strong epithets in describing the malice which had inflicted the wrong.

"Is not my indignation righteous?" he asked impetuously. "Will it not be mainly to resent such an injury?" "Yes," was the calm reply. "It will be mainly to resent it, but it will be unlike to forgive it."

The answer was so unexpected and so convincing that the statesman had not another word to say. He afterwards confessed to a friend that these words caused his anger to suddenly depart, leaving him a different and a better man.

TRUE SUCCESS.
He kept his soul unspotted. As he went upon his way, And he tried to do some service For God's people day by day.

He had time to cheer the doubter, What complained that hope was dead; He had time to help the cripple When the way was rough ahead;

He had time to guard the orphan, and one day, well satisfied, With the talents God had given him, He closed his eyes and died.

He had time to see the beauty That the Lord spread all around; He had time to hear the music In the shells the children found;

He had time to keep repeating As he bravely worked away; It is splendid to be living In the splendid world today!

But the angels—the angels that hurry After golden harp and band— That he never had succeeded When the clock lay over his head.

He had dreamed "He was a failure," they compassionately sighed, For the man had little money in his pockets when he died.

He had dreamed "He was a failure," they compassionately sighed, For the man had little money in his pockets when he died.

DANIEL ELHATTON DROWNED WHILE BATHING

Well Known Young Man Loses His Life Under Most Distressing Circumstances

(From the Gloucester Northern Light)

Daniel Elhatton, formerly of Black Rock, was drowned on Sunday in the channel off what is known as Flannery's Point about noon on Sunday.

The unfortunate young man left the home of his uncle, Mr. John O'Neill, shortly before twelve o'clock last Sunday, accompanied by his cousin, Daniel O'Neill, to go for a row. The tide was very low at the time and there was very little water on the flats, so the two poled their boat up the basin to the channel near Flannery's Point.

Here they drifted about for a time, and the day being warm, young Elhatton decided to take advantage of the occasion to have a bathe. He left his clothes in the boat, and got into the water that barely covered the flats, and made his way out toward the channel. When he reached the deep water he struck out but either was unable to swim or took a cramp, for he sank almost immediately, and although his young companion tried to reach him with the pole, he made no effort to catch it. Young O'Neill could not swim, and as there was no one in sight, he hurried as fast as he could to his home about half a mile away where he gave the alarm. In a short time several boats were at the scene of the accident with grappling irons, but were unable to bring the body to the surface. Mr. Arthur Gannon dived to the bottom of the channel where the body could be dimly seen, and succeeded in bringing it to the surface. About an hour's time had then elapsed since the young man sank and all hope of saving his life was of course given up. His body was brought ashore where Coroner Duncan viewed it and decided that an inquest was not necessary. Messrs. Elhatton took charge of it and after preparing it for burial removed it to Mr. O'Neill's home. The remains were taken to Grand Anse yesterday followed by a large number of citizens, where burial took place immediately after the arrival of the train.

The tragic death of the young man affected the people of the town very deeply, for he was well known and was a general favorite. He was only 19 years old, and has been employed for the past year as truckman by the W. J. Kent Co. Both his parents are dead, his father having been killed several years ago by falling from a bridge on the Tetegouche River. Four brothers and five sisters survive. The brothers are Patrick of Campbellton, Raymond of Lobster Beach, and John and Frank of this town. The sisters are Miss Dollie, nurse, of Arlington Heights, Mass., and four little girls, who make their home with Mr. and Mrs. John O'Neill here. The relatives have the sincerest sympathy of all in their sudden loss.

LARGE AMOUNT RAISED FOR RED CROSS

Entertainment Held at Inch Arran Last Friday Evening Very Successful

One of the most enjoyable teas and concerts of the season was given by Mrs. J. E. Dean and Mrs. J. H. Jenner, assisted by the guests of the "Inch Arran" on Friday the 13th inst., in aid of the Red Cross Society, the proceeds to be donated to providing good things for the soldiers.

In the afternoon tea was served on the wide and spacious veranda overlooking the beautiful "Bay Chaleur" with its lovely scenery, dotted with islands.

The veranda and its surroundings, were tastefully decorated with evergreen, flags and colored bunting, under the direction and supervision of Mr. F. L. M. Macphail of Moncton and Dr. H. N. Broadbridge of Boston, Mass., who proved themselves artists in that line of work.

A number of small tables were placed at intersections beneath these draperies at which those who came partook of tea, cakes and confections.

The tea table was presided over by Lady Foster, having as assistants Mrs. Desbarats of Ottawa, Mrs. Gerald White of Pembroke, Ont., and Mrs. W. W. Pickett of Montreal.

A most artistic and tastefully decorated table of beautiful flowers, the work of Mrs. W. E. L. Dye of Montreal was greatly admired. These flowers were sold by several pretty young ladies, who proved to be adept in making sales, until all were disposed of at prices which added greatly to the receipts of the day.

The candy table was in charge of Mrs. T. Gorman of Ottawa, was also a great success, not alone financially, but for their purity and flavour, they bore the brand "Made in Canada".

Altogether the tea was a great success and was patronized by many from Campbellton and Dalhousie, who by their presence showed that their sympathy was with a most worthy cause.

Mrs. J. A. Polkinghorn of Ottawa, and Miss B. A. McLeod of St. John received the admittance fee seated at a small table beautifully decorated with flowers at the entrance of the room.

In the evening one of the most enjoyable concerts ever given beneath the roof of the "Inch Arran" took place.

The large parlors which had been especially decorated for the occasion with cut flowers and flags, "the Union Jack predominating", was filled with an enthusiastic and appreciative audience.

The entertainment opened with the singing of "God save the King", after which Dr. Broadbridge, chairman of the evening spoke effectively, saying he accepted the position as a compliment to an American citizen. He desired to assure them of his hearty support, and paid a glowing tribute to the Canadian boys at the front, who had fought so nobly and well, and said their names would be indelibly engraved on the roll of honor as long as time exists, as heroes, and his earnest wish was that when these conquering Canadian boys returned that he might be permitted to join in the great welcome that they were entitled to receive. He spoke as a great sympathizer of the Allies, and felt that his sympathies and utterances were echoed by thousands of his countrymen in the U. S.

At the conclusion of the Dr.'s remarks he was loudly cheered.

The following programme was then carried out:

An instrumental duet by Madame Bonin and her daughter Miss Eveline of Montreal.

Solo by Miss Janet Robb of Valleyfield.

Reading: Miss Nita McDonald, Campbellton.

Solo by Miss Sybil Bonin, Montreal.

Readings: Miss Curry, Campbellton.

Piano Solo: Miss Desbarats of Ottawa.

Solo: Miss L. McMartin, Montreal.

Reading by Master James Buchanan, St. John.

Solo by Miss Gilker of Campbellton.

The selections were all particularly well rendered and after singing Canada's National Anthem, the chairs were removed and the younger set enjoyed a pleasant dance.

Ica cream and cake were dispensed on the piazza, where tea had been served in the afternoon, Mrs. Broadbridge presiding.

The total receipts of the day amounted to upward of $80.00.

SPLENDID TANNERY

Operations Carried on in This Business Could be Much Extended

How many of our readers knew that Carleton, Que., besides being a very popular summer resort, and the centre of a prosperous fishing and farming community, is the site of a long established tannery where, besides the tanning of leather, boots and larrigans were manufactured.

Upon a recent visit to this prosperous community a representative of the Graphic met Mr. R. Cullen, well and favorably known to Campbellton and Dalhousie readers, who in conversation mentioned the fact that his father, John Cullen, was the proprietor of a nearby tannery. When he saw the visitors were interested, an invitation was extended to look over the premises.

The next morning, after a visit to our friend Emile, the tannery artist, the writer called and viewed the interesting process of turning raw hides into first class leather. Not the oak tanned variety turned out by the Ontario tanners as revealed by the war contracts investigation, but good honest hemlock tanned sides, from which are made the high grade lumbermen's boots and larrigans which are being largely sold to local operators, although mail orders are frequently received from distant parts for a pair, some satisfied customer finding it impossible to purchase them from the dealers. These boots and moccasins are all hand made, and only a few of the employees work in the factory. The management find that they get better results by allowing the shoemakers to perform the labor in their own homes, paying a fixed price per pair for the making. The leather is carefully selected and the cutting done in the factory, and distributed to the homes of the workmen, and the finished work gathered in.

One of the products of this factory is a moccasin of moosehide, tanned by the native squaws. This leather will not freeze in the winter and is very popular among the woodsman.

At the tannery a large number of moose hides are also tanned and made into robes or rugs, and are sold at a very reasonable price.

Besides making up goods, a large quantity of the finer grades of leather is exported to Quebec, where it is made into fine boots and shoes.

The proprietor, Mr. John Cullen, established the business some fifty years ago and has worked along in a quiet way, selling his output in the local markets. A stranger viewing the business sees great possibilities for the future by the introduction of more modern selling methods, but the proprietor is quite content to go along, turning out an honest article at a fair price and doing it in a conservative way.

"There's Something in the English After All."

(Boston Transcript).

I've been meditating lately that, when everything is told, There's something in the English after all; They may be bent on conquest, and too eager after gold, But there's something in the English after all. Though their sins and faults are many, and I won't exhaust my breath By endeavoring to tell you of them all, Yet they have a sense of duty and they'll face it to the death, So there's something in the English after all.

If you're wounded by a savage foe and bugles sound "Retire," There's something in the English after all; You may bet your life they'll carry you beyond the zone of fire; For there's something in the English after all.

Yes, although their guns are empty, and their blood be ebbing fast, And to stay by wounded comrades be to fall, Yet they'll set their teeth like bulldogs and protect you to the last, Or they'll die like English soldiers, after all.

When a British ship is lost at sea, oh, then I know you'll find That there's something in the English after all. There's no panic rush for safety, where the weak are left behind, For there's something in the English after all.

But the women and the children are the first to leave the wreck, With the men in line as steady as a well, And the captain is the last to stand upon the reeling deck, So there's something in the English after all.

Though half of Europe hates them and would joy in their decline, Yet, there's something in the English after all. They may scorn the scanty numbers of the thin red British line, Yet they fear its lean battalions.

For they know that from the colonel to the drummer in the band There is not a single soldier in them all. But would go to blind destruction were their country to command, And call it only duty—after all.

DEATH OF WELL-KNOWN CAMPBELLTON MAN

The death of Mr. John T. Vatur occurred at the Hotel Dieu Hospital here at ten o'clock on Friday night. For several years past Mr. Vatur had not enjoyed the best of health, although he managed to remain at his work up to about three weeks ago, when he was compelled to enter the hospital with the view of undergoing an operation.

The late Mr. Vatur who was in his 64th year was an unmarried man. He removed to Campbellton from St. Louis, a small village a few miles from Richibucto, N. B., some twenty-five years ago, where his family resides. He conducted a meat market here for some years and later entered the employ of Mr. Thos. Ellsworth, where he held the position of book-keeper. He represented Ward II in the Town Council for several years and during his term of office was Chairman of the Fire Committee. He was a member of the Board of School Trustees, resigning from that position very recently. The remains were forwarded to St. Louis where the funeral was held on Monday.
