To the Editor of the Standard.

DRAM MR. EDITOR, ham told you are a friend to the ladies, I cason to doubt this, but must test it by the way you must correct before it and as I never wrote a line for a news-efore. Now Mr. Editor I wish to that the young gents are about these Do they not intend getting up Balls assemblies this season? Surely they are not depending on private parties for dancing these long evenings when we have so few of them; besides, at the last one I did not see half enough of gentlemen. Lexpected to have half enough of gentlemen. I expected to have seen a great many, for you must learn, that we ladies are fond of seeing lots of beaux. For my own part I like Assemblies, as we cloudy weather, hard frost, might have many that we do not meet at our A.M.
