Only one boy has been

Col. Lays Explains His Position in His Momination Speech-Addresses of Socialist Candidate and Others.

The nomination of Col. F. B. Leys and Mr. F. J. Darch this morning, to contest London at the provincial byeelection of July 9, was the most quiet affair of the kind that ever took place in the historic old chamber of the city hall. The extreme heat and the ab-sence of a Conservative candidate ence reguled with applause. sence of a Conservative candidate combined to bring about this effect. The nomination was as informal as an official occurrence could well be. The seats in the chamber were but thinly sprinkled with spectators, the majority of whom appeared to there from force of habit rather than from any interest in the proceedings.
When Joseph Nicholls, the sheriff's clerk, read his majesty's writ, there were not more than 50 electors in the chamber. They listened apathetically and the speakers received little applause. The sheriff opened the nomination promptly at 11 o'clock, and the only persons on the platform at the time besides himself, his clerk, and Deputy Sheriff Watterworth, were Mr. F. Hazelgrove and Mr. David Ross, representing the Socialistic Labor Party. As soon as the writ and proclamation had been read, Mr. Hazelgrove, seconded by Mr. Ross, nominated Fred J. Darch. A few minutes later Mr. George C, Gibbons, seconded by James Herrick, nominated Col. Francis Baxter Leys. The nomination of Col. Leys was received with applause.

In making the nomination Mr. Gibbens took occasion to say that the peculiar circumstances under which the election was being held removed from the contest anything savoring of a political campaign. The Liberty party was not seeking to make political capital out of the election and Conservatives who supported Col. Leys might do so with the full knowledge that their action would not be misconstrued; for, after all, the Conservative elector had no quarrel with Col. Leys for his recent action. That action was prompted by what he believed to be the best interests, not of Conser vatives or Liberals, but of the entire city the matter. He found there was a dam at Cashmere, and that those living in the vicinity of it had a monopoly of practically all the fish in the stream, and that they were shipping them while those to whom the fish rightfully belonged, were denied even the privilege of angling for them. When the colonel actively interested himself in the matter, he was given pledges by certain officers of the government, and these pledges were not kept. Being very much in earnest he used the only weapon in his hands to compel the officers of the government to comply with his reasonable demands. He succeeded, and as a result every individual in the district is now entitled to a share of the fish that were formerly monopolized by a few favored ones at Cashmere. "I believe," said Mr. Gibbons, "that 999 Conservatives in every 1,000 are on the colonel's side. by voting for him on July 9.

MR. HASELGROVE. Mr. Haselgrove, who nominated the Socialist candidate, followed Mr. Gibafternoon they are enjoying the sea | bons. He found nothing in Col. "The Socialist Party hold their member," said Mr. Haselgrove dramatically; "he must conform with the opinion of his party, rather than with his own individual opinion. Mr. Gibbons says this is a fish issue; I should say it is a ridiculous issue. Imagine the price those few bass will have cost the city by the time this election is over." Referring to the Socialist candidate, the speaker said Mr. Darch had been a standard-bearer of the Socialist Labor party from the first. He objected to The Advertiser's comment that Mr. Darch was possessed of a monomania for elections, and intimated that that gentleman's sole thought in allowing himself to be nominated was the best interests of the people. He predicted that Mr. Darch would be elected on

Col. Leys was greeted with applause. His speech was very brief, but pointed. He reminded his hearers of the promise he made when first elected, that he had no axes to grind, and that he would ever fight for what he believed to be the best interests of his constituency.

The colonel reviewed briefly his action in connection with the now-famous Cashmere dam nuisance. "I wanted the government to understand," he said in explanation of his resignation, "that the interests of the people who elected me could not be trifled with. And I am glad to say that I now have in my possession a promise in writing that there is to be no more net fishing allowed, except for carp; and also a promise in writing that Cashmere dam will be removed."

Mr. F. J. Darch was received with some applause when he mounted the platform. Mr. Darch thought there was quite as much of a political issue in this contest as in any other. If the Conservatives did not choose to put a candidate in the field the Socialistic Labor Party did. He spent some time in an effort to show that the recent bill regarding the qualification of candidates within 24 hours after nomination was directed against the liberty of the Socialistic Labor Party. He thought the bill a reactionary measure and a disgrace to the country. Referring to The Advertiser's comment regarding his fondness for elections, Mr. Darch said the Socialist candidate never sought office.

Dedicating Canada's Building and Celebrating Dominion Day.

Visit of the Highlanders and the Minister of Militia Creates a Stir-Expression of Fraternal Feelings the Order of the Day.

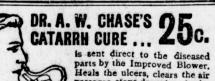

Buffalo, N. Y., July 1.-Today was Dominion Day in Canada and in Bufcan Exposition, the occasion of the biggest demonstration she has perhaps ever made in this city. It was still more than that. It was a time of generous greeting between the land to the north and the land to the

It was productive the cr of many of the little incidents which Music. tend to weld the people of different countries together, to solidify their interests, and to implant in their hearts love for each other. The support the exposition has received from Canada has been a source of much enjoyment to the exposition officials. She has sent many distinguished men here to see the fair has erected a handsome building and has spent a great deal of money arranging for a suitable display of the Dominion's resources and products.

THE EXERCISES.

The exercises which were arranged to take place in the Temple of Music at 10:30 o'clock, were planned both to dedicate the Canadian building, and commemorate Canadian day. The 48th Highlanders of Toronto went to the Iroquois Hotel shortly before 10 o'clock to escort Hon. F. W. Borden, minister of militia of Canada, and his staff to the grounds. A large crowd gathered about the hotel and along Main street. Led by the company of U. S. marines, which is quartered at the exposition grounds, and by their own regiment band and company of pipers, the Highlanders started away from the hotel about 10:40 o'clock ahead of Dr. Borden and a number of other distinguished Canadians, as well as prominent Buffalcrians.

marched in the streets of Buffalo, and it is safe to say that a more picturesque body will never again be seen. Crowds lined the curbs all the way up Main street, and for a long distance out Delaware avenue, and everyone was enthusiastic. Cheers greeted the Britishers continually.

GRAND SPECTACLE. It was 12 o'clock when Dr. Borden, accompanied by the members of his staff, marched along the forecourt in front of the picturesque Highlanders, who stood with arms to shoulder, and the pretty U. S. marines, who presented arms. A large crowd had congregated on the triumphal bridge, along the approach and on the esplanade, and the people cheered rousingly when the distinguished Canadians and prominent Buffalonians came along. It was a grand spectacle-the Dominion Day in Canada and in Buf-falo. It was the occasion of Canada's dress. Behind them came the pioneer first public display at the Pan-Ameri- guard of the Highlanders themselves passage of the line through the beautiful Lincoln parkway gate, and the march down the magnificent approach which has often been referred to as the Appian way. First came the U. -the 48th Highlanders of Toronto, Canada's pet regiment. With their tall hats, their red kilts, plaid stockings and bare knees, they looked picturesque indeed, and one quickly understood why the Province of Ontario is proud of them. The minister of militia and staff, with the local escort, south of the great waters. MINISTER BORDEN.

A multitude of people, mostly Canadians, flocked in a moment later, and rapidly filled up the seats. Already there were perhaps 300 persons in the building, they having understood that the exercises would begin at 10:30 o'clock. The minister of militia was greeted with applause. When the Highlanders band and the pipers passed down the aisles they were re-ceived with rousing cheers. Dr. Borden and staff went to the stage, followed by many Buffalo men, who were especial guests. The band was staback

The temple was very prettily decorated. A mammoth American flag hung in the arch of the stage, and just beneath it was a much smaller Union Jack, bearing the coat of arms of Canada. The flags of the United States and Britain were intertwined about the speakers' table, while suspended from the rail of the front balconies, both to the right and left, were two Union Jacks and an American The Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack were draped side by side over the entrance.

ON THE PLATFORM.

When Chairman Britton arose the spacious temple was comfortably filled, and it was noticeable that a majority of the crowd were women. The following named persons were on the stage: Dr. Borden, B. M. We come not merely to spend the day, but to see the exposition, to see what can be accomplished by a great nation like the United States. Mayor Diehl was called upon to extend a welcome to the visitors. He said it would be the desire of every one in Buffalo to make the visit of the Canadians a happy one.

PRESIDENT MILBURN. John G. Milburn, president of the exposition, was introduced by Chairman Britton. "I am very glad," said Mr. Milburn, "for this opportunity to express our deep obligations to the people of Canada for their generous suport of, and participation in, this exposition. It is a great pleasure to able to say we have realized behas made this grand exposition a reality. Today Canada has added to the debt we owe her. She comes here bringing soldiers, distinguished in the service of the King. I hope that as the years pass the ties between you and us will strengthen, and in that hope I include the countries of South and Central America. I hope the fu-ture has in store for all the Americas the blessings of peace and advancing civilization. There is a close tie between great elements in this country and great elements in the north. We have the same lineage, the same language, are governed by practically the same laws: we read and enjoy the same art and literature. Between peoples bound by such ties what should there be but the best of feeling and understanding for the benefit of mankind?"

The next speaker was Dr. Borden. We are here to commemorate the grand progress of the United States during the past century. Our soldiery has come with us, but on an errand of peace. May God grant that such visits shall be more frequent, and that they may never be upon any other purpose This exposition does honor to this great country, and honor to the people of Buffalo. Every part of the ground is a study; every detail is artistic. The idea was a grand conception, and the materialization has been wonderful. I have been at many

I have sometimes feit that there was not a general desire over here to bring about reciprocity. You know there are various kinds. There is one where you can make an equal division and another where one gets nearly all. I will relate in illustration a little story: Two men—one an Engishman and one an Irishman wanted to divide a house which they owned jointly. The Irishman said: 'You take the outside and I'll take to go hand-in-hand with you if you will let us. We are prepared to meet you half-way, but will not go farther you half-way, than half way.

You have great commercial centers and centers of art. Only one thing can happen. In the years to come the centers of Europe will be transplanted over here. It may be in the north or in the south. A Pain Remedy.

For over fifty years this wonderful remedy has proved itself the best, safest and surest an-tidote for pain in the world.

The True Relief,

For Internal and External Use.

In using medicines to stop pain we should avoid such as inflict injury on the system. Opium, Morphine, Chloroform, Ether, Cocaine and Chloral stop pain by destroying the sense of perception, the patient losing the power of feeling. This is a most destructive practice; it masks the symptoms, shuts up, and, instead of removing trouble, breaks down the stomach, liver and bowels, and, if continued for any length of time, kills the nerves and produces local or general paralysis.

There is no necessity for using these uncertain-agents when a positive remedy like RADWAYS READY RELIEF will stop the most excruciating pain quicker, without entailing the least danger in either infant or adult. In using medicines to stop pain we should London, Tuesday, July 2.

New York and Old London in Summer.

The extreme heat calls attention to the fact that during one week last summer, in the tenement house district of New York, 540 babies under 1 year of age died. No doubt many of these little lives would have been saved, if their surroundings had been favorable. No one knows what the world has lost when even one infant When Prof. Simpson, of Edinburgh, the discoverer of chloroform, was born, the neighbor-women said, "That's one bairn too many in the world, anyway." How mistaken they were, and what a blessing he proved to be to mankind!

The congested districts of large cities are hard problems. The question of the poor is an ever-present difficult question. The other day, in Brooklyn, a policeman came across a woman and three children, who had lived ten days in a vacant lot. Their clothes had been more than once drenched, and the mother was engaged, when discovered by the policeman, in covering the children with the wet clothing; and it was then raining heavily. The police man took charge of them and provided for their immediate wants.

Much is being done to relieve the distress caused by overcrowding in large cities, but it increases almost as fast as it is relieved. Electricity and rapid transit are factors that do good service. The tearing down of buildings and making open spaces or little parks is also good work.

One feels as if all the ills we suffer, in a place like London, are insignificant when compared with what the poor suffer in large cities. Comparatively speaking, we have no poor here; yet we have questions of a similar nature, which our civic rulers should attend to in time, and which if attended to will make life better than it is. The questions we refer to are, parks, playgrounds, swimming baths, etc. Take the soldiers attending camp during the recent hot week. If they could have had a good dousing in the river, they we venture to say, have gratefully thanked those who provided the means to obtain it.

The Picturesque Thames.

Our city, in spite of its inland character, is not without its natural endowments. Its clean and shady streets have become justly famous, and the painstaking efforts on the part of the citizens have honestly won for it the title of "The Forest City." The picturesqueness is not all within the confines of the city, nor can Springbank, beautiful and attractive as it is, be said to hold a monopoly of scenic en-

We direct attention to the Thames. Considering the river as a fishing resource, it can hardly be said that its possibilities have been ignored. Much might be said, however, concerning its pleasurable side. The erection of the Springbank dam has again rendered boating and canoeing possible. During the hot weather that may be expected in July and August, what better ending could each day have than two or three hours on the river! Man is a sort of aquatic animal, a kind of amphibian, at least inasmuch as he possesses a great fondness for lake or stream. The peacefully gliding canoe will tend to soothe the tired mind or the weary frame, while the eyes are feasting on the splendor of the setting sun, with its variegated gold and crimson tinging fleecy clouds, that disappear as the shades of night deepen. The rising moon appears in the heavens thick set with stars, and as pellucid in their charms as if they had been washed by angels. Thus may we commune with nature, "knowing that nature never did betray the heart that

Too Many "Flats" in Modern Songs.

The Brockville Times is becoming weary of "rag-time" music, and makes this vigorous protest against the craze for silly songs of the "Goo-goo-eyes"

"Many months ago there came to Brockville, one fatal evening, a negro minstrel troupe, which gave a performance in the opera house. During the performance one of the principal performers sang about a girl, with a refrain 'Just because she made them goo-goo eyes,' and since that time there has been nothing else but that infernal melody, day and night ring-ing in the public ear. Every boy driv-ing a delivery wagon or carrying parcels or playing, is whistling this maddening refrain, to say nothing of older persons who ought to know better.
None of them whistle the whole air;
they merely repeat with 'damnable iteration' the few bars with the 'googoo eyes' in it."

It is a fact that nine in ten of the songs published nowadays, even by the old and reputable houses, possess tween the private in the ranks and the neither music ner sense. The most colonel at the head of the column. This ally, the gaudy lithographed cover, containing a portrait of the author in not suited to our purposes because it a self-complacent pose. If one would wholly ignores this truth.

be convinced of this, he has but to go into a music store and scan the first song his eye rests upon. The chances are nine to one that it will be of the kind against which the Brockville Times protests. The rag-time craze will, however, wear itself out; and, in the meantime, we are fortunate in getting an occasional grain of musical wheat from bushels of musical chaff that are dumped upon us.

The Holiday Season.

This annual event has arrived once more. For the next two months there will be seen a continual exodus from to or perhaps the seclusion of the country home, with its immunity from the noise and tension of city life. In fact, the all-absorbing question to many people is, 'Where shall I spend my vacation? To those who have a customary two months, the problem is not so difficult: to the business man or to him with only two weeks at his disposal, the question is, "How can I cbtain the greatest satisfaction in the given time?" There is seemingly no end to the places where an enjoyable time might be spent. The majority of people are, however, spared the bewilderment of making a selection on account of the limited means or time at their disposal. They are induced to feel with Epictetus that happiness or enjoyment can be obtained as well, perhaps better, from eliminating one's desires as from seeking to satisfy them. Among the chief things that one's holidays should bring are rest, relaxation and freedom from care, so far as these are possible. Too much rest, however, is likely to produce a feeling of ennui. a feeling that is avoided by many by engaging in some active employment. They seek satisfaction in the novelty of change. The comforts of home life are replaced by the primitive and improvised surroundings of the camp. It is necessary that there should be an entire absence of care, except the care that too great indulgence and pleasure may not be attended by reaction. One should carefully calculate how much he has to spend and act accordingly. Like John Gilpin's wife, though bent on pleasure, one should always have a frugal mind. Much is to be gained by living an even life and avoiding the extremes of a Goldsmith, whose life swayed between plenty and penury, hovering for the most part on the side of the latter. Let us, then, avoiding excesses, go forth and enjoy all that nature has in store for us, whether it be on the bosom of the placid lake, where the oar or the paddle beats a welcome music, or where in silence, with rod and line, one may pose as a true disciple of the cheerful Walton, or whether it be in the woods or green fields, with the vaulted sky above erous sporting events, chiefly lacrosse. them, there to participate in that The weather has been extremely hot, "beauty truly blent," which "Nature's the the shade. own sweet and cunning hand laid on."

Not long ago there was some talk of introducing a change in the Canadian schools in accent and pronunciation, but it has not come to anything. We do not think the Canadian accent can be much improved. We doubt if there is a part of the King's vast empire where the English language is, on the average, spoken as correctly by everyone as in the greater part of all Can ada, certainly in no part of Great Britain itself, with its numerous dialects.-London Advertiser.

The educated Dublin man is said to speak more correctly than his compeer in any other section of the old land. Australians boast about the purity of their tongue which pronounces day, "die" and gate "gite." In our judgment the purest English is spoken right here in Canada. Ontario's accent is correct to harshness. Nova Scotia gives a softer pronunciation and has, therefore, a more musical English than ours .- Guelph

Horse Sense.

[Philadelphia Record.] There's a small grain of wisdom Which runneth this way:

Men who have horse-sense

Know how to say "neigh."

No Little Imitation Needed.

[Toronto Star.] major-General O'Grady - Haly could scarcely so discharge the duties of his position as to suit the militia and the press of this country, because the system having a general officer commanding sent out from England has proved to be a failure, and many in this country who take an interest in the subject are convinced that nobody can make it a success.

There is no reason why we should try to maintain here a little imitation of the British army. If our militia system is ever to develop into anything it must conform to the spirit of the country and adapt itself to the conditions that surround it. Every nation has its own way of fighting, and if Canadians are ever to go to war they must, in order to do the best that is in them, be free to apply their own characteristics to the problems that confront them in a cam-paign. So long as they can shoot straight, march well, ride harl, take care of any equal number of any enemy in any kind of a set-to, the Canadian soldiers need not be made to worry much about drill or traditions. So far as much of the drilling is concerned, many volunteers think they might as well be taught to dance the lancers or an eight-hand reel, for all the use it is to them now or would be to them in war time. Possibly it may not matter in England what private soldiers think, but here it does matter, for there is no essential difference be-

THE HOLIDAY AT HOME AND ABROAD

Interesting Proceedings at Other Points-Canadian Soldiers Praised at the Banquet in Old London.

Woodstock, Ont., July 2.-The town of Woodstock was advanced to the status of a city yesterday, amid all the pomp and enthusiasm that such an occasion demands. Combined with the inaugural ceremonies was an Old Boys' reunion; which attracted large crowds of old Woodstock people from far and near. An estimate of the number of visitors is impossible, for large numbers came in by every train from Toronto, Hamilton, London, Detroit and other places. The place never looked better, for it seemed to have dressed for the occasion. The demonstration opened with a trades procession, which was worthy of note. It contained floats erected by the various business concerns of the city, and it was most creditable. At the conclusion of the parade addresses were delivered in Victoria Park by Mayor Mearns and other prominent speakers. The city inauguration was spoken of and the Old Boys were heartily welcomed.

In the afternoon a programme of sports was put on at the W. A. A. A Park, and were witnessed by several thousand people. A balloon ascension was to have been made, but owing to an accident while the balloon was beinflated, it caught fire and

AT TORONTO.

The Dominion Day procession was not very successful on account of the absence of the city regiments, who some time ago decided not to partici-pate. The chief features were the firemen's section and the postoffice automobile turnout. The parade took place in the morning to Queen's Park, and was watched by many thousands of citizens. At the park brief speeches were made by Mr. Speaker Brodeur, of the House of Commons, Hon. G. E. Foster and Mayor Howland.

The speaker's address, which was listened to closely by the 2,000 people who were within earshot, was an eloquent greeting from Quebec to the brother Canadians of Ontario. His reference to the Normans in England and America was very apt. "Gentlemen, why should we not unite?" "Why should we not join together in order to form a nation? Are we not the descendants of the same Is it not true that in the eleventh century the Normans of Normandy crossed over the channel and took possession of the British Islands. and made that powerful nation upon which the sun never sets the great British nation? (Cheers.) Is it not true that some centuries later same Normans came over to this side of the Atlantic, and then discovered and settled Canada, and gave rise to that race to which I am proud to be-long—the French-Canadian race? (Cheers.) While we have, then, this same common origin, why cannot we join together?"

IN OLD LONDON. London, July 2.—Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal presided last night at the Dominion dinner given at the Hotel Cecil, London, and attended by 300 persons, the company, including Mr. Chamberlain, Lord Aberdeen, and other former Canadian governors-general, Sir Louis Davies, Hon. David Mills, Hon. Sydney Fisher and other Canadian ministers now in London Gen. Ian Hamilton, Rear Admiral Douglas, Gilbert Parker and other well known men.

Mr. Parker paid a high tribute to the French-Canadians in the South African war. Admiral Douglas and Gen. Hamilton responded for the navy and army, the latter characterizing the fighting of the Canadians as "the triumph of individual intelligence.' The work of Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal was highly eulogized.

Mr. Choate, in the course of a letter expressing his regret at being unable be present, uttered sentiments of hearty good-will, adding: "We are neighbors, and we must always be good friends."

Mr. Chamberlain, speaking of Canada's material progress, said: "Thirty years ago your thoughts might have been turned to the question of absorption with your powerful friendly neighbor to the south." This was received with cries of "No," from Mr. Dobell and the other Canadian ministers. Mr. Chamberlain-"Yes, you say no, no, but you would not have said it 30 years ago. The market was of the usual size for a Tuesday. Business was dull. As a rule most people seemed tired after the holiday. Grocers on that account were afraid to buy in many berries. Some dealers were complaining of paying too high a price on Saturday for their supply of berries. A number of them had to sell at a loss.

Grain—Only one load of wheat on the market, selling at $1.14 per cwt; prices will go lower. Six loads of oats sold at 95c to 96c per cwt.

Butter and eggs—Neither of these articles is unchanged in prices. The demand for eggs is slow.

Dressed hogs—About a dozen sold at $25 per cwt. $9 25 per cwt. Live hogs are selling at $7 per cwt.

Poor Girl, Pity Her Growing! Yes, into weakness, but not strength. Studies—plenty of them. Tired of course she is, and weak too. Does not eat enough, and digests far less than enough. This condition is so frequent, but how seldom noticed even by fond parents. Give her Ferrozone, then watch her appetite improve, her cheeks and ilps grow ruddy; her step elastic, her spirits bueyant. All this simply the result of eating and digesting enough, making blood, and thereby strengthening the nerve and brain power. Ferrozone gives a woman's strength to weak girls. Your daughter or wife needs Ferrozone. Get it today at Strong's.

TO BE TRIED ON JULY 18!

House of Lords Will Take Up the Bigamy Charge.

Hospital Ship Maine Has Been Presented to the British Navy.

HOSPITAL SHIP MAINE. London, July 2.-Lord Selborne's

statement of the circumstances in which the American hospital ship Maine was presented to the British Government has given great satisfac-Lord Spencer well expressed the general feeling of the House of Lords when he remarked that the gift was a sign of the cordial relations existing between Great Britain and the United States.

The Maine, which was fitted out by a committee of American ladies for the use of the wounded and sick in South Africa and later was sent to Taku, where she took on board wounded and sick men of various nation-

EARL RUSSELL'S TRIAL JULY 18. Among the function of the Lords the most unusual one was the report from the select committee on the trial of Earl Russell. The order followed in the trial of Lord Cardigan was closely imitated, the lord chancellor moving that Lord Shand be added to the committee, precisely as a similar recommendation made by Lord Shaftesbury 60 years ago was adopted. The antiquated mechanism of the trial of a peer by his peers does not get rusty with the lapse of time, and its wheels are easily set in motion. The prosecuting authorities are not expecting any serious delay in disposing of the bigamy case. They have need of haste, for they cannot keep their most important witness long in England. Judge Curler is a voluntary witness, who cannot remain in-definitely. It is not probable that there will be any negligence on the part of the prosecution in establishing the identity of the accused earl, as there was in the Cardigan case. The royal gallery in which Earl Russel will be tried on July 18 is one of the finest rooms in the precincts of the House of Lords. It was occupied by a large number of privileged spectators on the occasion of the state opening of parliament.

A NEW EDUCATION BILL. For the remainder of the session the British House of Commons will be entirely devoted to government business.
It is understood that Sir John Gorst will introduce a new education bill.
The leader of Opposition may delay passage of the bill until the school boards through the country have had time to consider its proposals and com-municate their opinions to the House of Commons. BALDWIN'S POLAR TRIP. The Daily Mail says the America, Mr. Edwin Baldwin's Polar expedition ship, left Dundee at midnight with highest esteem. at Tromsoe, where the America is ex-pected in five or six days. Mr. Baldwin expressed himself as sanguine of the success of the enterprise.

AN ANCIENT CEREMONY. The "trial of the Pyx," or the testing of the money of the United Kingdom, will take place in London at Goldsmith Hall on Wednesday. The ceremony is a very ancient one. The first known trial took place in 1281. Edward III. formally established the ceremony, which, down to 1870, took place at uncertain intervals. An act passed in 1870 stipulated that the trial of the Pyx, which is a box or chest in which are deposited specimen coins, shall be held at least once in every year in which coins have been issued

A BIG BILL. The French chamber of deputies voted supplementary credits amounting to 80,000,000 francs to defray the expenses of France's Chinese expedition. The vote was 474 to 71.

CIVIL GOVERNMENT FOR 'PINOS Thursday, July 4, will be inauguration day for the civil governments in Manila and moving day for the military headquarters, which will be transferred to the former Spanish headquarters, outside the walled city. The palace will be occupied exclusive-

PLEASANT WORDS ON EVE OF PARTING

Farewell Supper and Presentation to Mr J. W. Westervelt, Jr.

Friday evening the deacons of the Talbot Street Baptist Church, and the teachers of the Sunday school gave a supper in honor of Mr. J. W. Westervelt, jun., of the Forest City Business College, upon the eve of his departure to reside in Toronto. He has been the superintendent of the school for some time, and has performed his duties in a most pleasing manner, and the church feels that they are meeting with a temporary serious loss.

The church parlor was occupied by tables, which were beautifully decorated, and all sat down to enjoy a social time. At the conclusion of this part of the programme, the Rev. Dr. Sowerby called upon Mr. George Stuart, who read the following address to Mr. Wes-

"Dear Sir and Brother,-It is with a feeling of deep and sincere regreat that we are called upon to bid you farewell. In the very course of events, this world being one of constant change and shifting of the scenes, we must naturally expect removals. Indeed, this is the age of migrations, owing to the pethe age of migrations, owing to the peculiar commercial and social conditions which so prominently characterize it.

And we are well aware that in such culiar commercial and social conditions changes many communities and institutions will meet with serious losses.
"On this occasion the Talbot Street Church and Sunday School feel that they are suffering an irreparable loss. We desire to say plainly that you are held in the highest esteem by us all; that your services have ever been most heartily appreciated; that your spirit of devotion to all the best interests of the church and school has been evident to us; and that your manly and Christian bearing has been a constant source of delight. The children have respected you, the teachers have loved you, and the church has always held you in the

"We are sorry for this break, which great secrecy. Few people witnessed her departure. Mr. Baldwin was present, and had a final consultation with his staff. He will join the party boys, and have risen from the rank and boys, and the school to the position of file of the school to the position of chief officer; and we grieve that you have deemed it necessary to make your home elsewhere, and to carry on the conflict upon other fields. We shall be deprived of your presence, fellowship and co-operation, and we too well understand that we are now losing much moral, intellectual and executive ability from our ranks by your departure. "Whilst we mourn our loss, give to you a most hearty God-speed, and with best wishes bid you good-bye. May the blessing of our great Heavenly Father rest upon you and Mrs. Westervelt always, and may we hear good things of your prosperity in new territory. We shall be pleased at any time to see or from you, and should it be the will of Divine Providence to have you retrace your steps at any time, we shall all ra-joice and give you the right hand of fellowship.

"We would not be forgotten by you, and, therefore, humbly ask you to accept this token of true friendship as a simple expression of our Christian love and esteem. May it protect you from the April shower, the August sun, and should it at any time be your lot to experience a bleak November, may the shelter which this simple gift affords, reassure you of the abiding goodwill of you Talbot Street brethren.

"Signed on behalf of teachers and friends, "E. L. BROWN, Assistant Superin-

"GEO. R. MATTHEWS, Secretary." At the conclusion of the address, Mr. George Matthews presented Mr. Westervelt with a handsome umbrella, beautifully inscribed. Mr. Westervelt replied in a suitable manner, expressing his appreciation of the confidence reposed in him by so many, but was unable to finish his speech, owing to

Dr. Buchan, of the asylum; John Beardsall, G. Griffiths, F. Holman, J. Holman (of the Farmer's Advocate), N. Mills (of the Dominion Savings and Investment Society), Mr. J. W. Westererby.

"God Be With You Till We Meet Again" was sung by the whole company, and the chairman closed the meeting with prayer.

A FEW REMARKS BY BRO. ASH-PLANT. To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I quite agree with your recent contention that an election campaign is not necessary at this time in connection with Col. Leys' resignation, and you can doubtless be depended by to prove your sincerity by opposing the nomination of any person to fight the only candidate now in the field, viz., Fred J. Darch, Socialist. The situation appears as follows: Col. Leys, without the consent of his party, has resigned his seat in disgust at the perfldy of the Ross Administration, and a writ is issued for a new member. The Conservative party do not wish to force the expense of a campaign on this city for the sake of a single session, and there has been no Grit nomination; the Trades and Labor Council is out of it, and so far an intelligent Socialist is without opposition as a workers' candidate in the field.

Now, it cannot be likely that Col. Leys will have the nerve to ask this constituency (which he never consulted), to go to the bother and expense of a campaign to re-elect him for a singlegle session to support a government that he has declared perfidious. It will certainly make the electors weary if were held under the auspices of the Sons of Scotland, of Belmont and the surrounding district. The Belmont court turned out in full force, while a representation from Court Flower o' Dumblane, London, was also present. The sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. D. L. McCrae, grand chaplain of the order. Dr. McCrae chose for his discourse the following texts: Psalm exxxvii, 5; "If I forget thee, O Jerusalem, let my right hand forget its cunning;" and Exodus xxxii, 32, "Yet now if thou wilt, forgive their sin; and if not, blot me, I pray thee, out of thy book, which thou hast written." Dr McCrae referred forcibly and eloquentto the true religious patriotism which is seen in the leading characters of the Bible, and pointed out that nowhere can more touching and; stirring examples of love of country be found than in the word of God. He instanced St. Paul, Moses, Christ himself, and urged upon his hearers the following of the glorious examples set by these noble figures. During the service special music was rendered by the choir, under the leadership of Mr. John C. Nichol. An especially enjoyable number was the anthem, "I am far fra' hame."

"She did not dream that I possessed a dollar in the world; she believed that I had been wronged out of everything," madame positively replied. "Has she not blood the test most nobly, think you?" she continued, with a note of exultation in her voice. "Ah, faithful Shirley—that was what her husband used to call her all the time he was sick; she is pure gold, through and through. And so, two years ago, when I was sick with pneumonia, I destroyed the document in favor of the eye and ear infirmary, and had the deed giving everything to Shirley, recorded, and she is now a rich woman—a very rich woman."

"It is the craziest notion I ever heard of," cried Mr. Norwood, springing to his feet and beginning to pace the floor in great agitation.

Freat agitation.

Madame wagged her head and chuckled

Madame wagged her head and chuckled audibly.

"Yes, yes, I know that would be just what you would say if I made a will in her favor and leave it to be settled after I was dead." she said. "You'd have contested it, said I wasn't in my right mind, or pleaded that undue influence had been brought to bear upon me, and the end of it would have been the girl would have got preclous little of what I wanted her to have. But I was determined not to have any fighting after I was in my grave, and my money wasted in lawsuits. I have taken good care of that; and just before we started for Europe she came into formal possession of everything, and I defy anybody to prove me insane, or any number of lawsuits to undo what I have done. I may be a 'queer old bird,' and I am free to confess that I have been hoodwinked in the past, but for once I have proved myself sharp enough to outwit a trio of fortune-hunters."

it all; your diamonds, too, I suppose, and all those beautiful things in your home at St. Sauveur."

"Everything," laconically replied madame, who was not in the least moved by Mrs. Norwood's tears.

"William, I am going home," exclaimed Mrs. Norwood, suddenly starting to her feet, and filled with despair at the thought of Shirley's wonderful fortune; deeply humiliated, as well, as she realized how the selish greed of herself and her family had been betrayed and was now justly punished, and, folding her rich furs about her form, she marched from the room, followed by her husband, without a word of farewell to their aged relative.

Good-morning," said madame, with "Good-morning," said madame, with ill-concealed satisfaction; "and," she added, raising her voice to give point to her words, "tell Blanche, from me, to be a little more cautious what she puts in her letters in the future."

CHAPTER XLVIII. As we know, Lord Wallace had written Shirley that he was only awaiting her re-turn to welcome her home before taking his departure for lyyhurst, there to be-gin the life-work which he had laid out for himself.

But, strange to say, day after day passed, and he seemed in no hurry to go back to his lovely Canadian home; nothing, even, was said about his flitting, while he suddenly appeared to have become very fond of society, for he was seen everywhere that Shirley went, and often acted as her escort to various places of amusement and to points of interest about the city.

The homage of others scarcely moved her; but the look of love and tenderness which always met her whenever she caught Neil's eye was like rare old wine to her; his smile alone had power to set her pulse beating out of tune; his voice only could make her heart-strings vibrate like those of a harp swept by a masterhand COCKNEYS WERE TOO SLOW. The intense heat of yesterday had earlier than the others, and so she descended to the drawing room to await them and the coming of Neil.

The Jamestown, N. Y,. team proved to be much too strong for the Cockneys, and won both morning and afternoon games with ease. Two of the visiting players were compelled by the heat to leave the dia-mond in the morning. Bert Sheere pitched the second game, and had he received decent support the score might here is the record of disaster:

Her fair face was itself like a flower, surmounted by an aureole of gold; her form, in her long trailing robe, the embodiment of grace, as she appeared in the arched entrance to the white-and-gold room, where she paused an instant between the costly lace and silken draperies to detach the fastening of one of the her gloves, which had caught in the lace that oranamented her corsage.

When she looked up, and was about to move on, a low exclamation of surprise parted her red lips; for, standing directly opposite her, his elbow resting upon the handsomely carved mantel, and gazing at her with a look that plainly told her he had never seen a loveller picture, was the man of whom she had at that very moment been thinking—Neil Wallace.

His face grew softly luminous as he came forward to meet her—the more so because of the blush which followed her glad cry, and made his heart bound with new hope.

He took the hand which she extended to him, and led her directly under the magnificent chandelier, where the light fell upon her, while the gleam of a sudden resolve shone in his fine eyes.

"Shirley, will you answer me one question?" he began in grave, earnest tones —"and oh! I beg that you will not send me away empty—desolate! My darling, I belong to you, heart and soul; do you belong to me in the same way? Tell me truly, love!"

For a moment the rich blood dyed her face, neck, and even her beautiful arms that shone through the delicate lace that covered them; her eyes dropped, her lips quivered, for the very air about her seemed to vibrate with the passion that had thrilled his voice.

She stood thus a minute, while the color gradually receded, and a sweet seriousness fell upon her every feature, which INVADER THE BEST. Hamilton, July 2.-The annual yacht race for the Canada cup was sailed over a 25-mile course on Lake Ontario. off Hamilton Beach yesterday, and excited unusual interest, among the competitors being Commodore Geo. Gooderham's Invader, from Toronto, and the Canadian, owned and sailed by Capt. W. Fearnside, of Hamilton the two competitors against the American yachts in a few weeks hence. The lake was dotted with white wings for a mile or more from shore, and there was a large concourse of people from Hamilton and Toronto present to witness the contest. The course was a triangular one of 12½ miles, twice around, the first buoy being laid out a little over four miles to the east of the piers and the second to the southwest, while the starting point was just off the south pier. The starters were: The Invader, sailed by Capt. Aemilius Jarvis, of Toronto; the Canadian, sailed by Capt. Fearnside; the Beaver, of Toronto, last year's challenger for the Canadian cup, sailed by Garratt; the Hazard, of Hamilton, owned and sailed by Mr. Dexter, and the Myrtle, of Hamilton. The wind was light throughout the race, which was a procession from start to finish. with Invader well in the lead all the way. The starting gun was fired at 10 a.m., and rounding the first buoy Invader was nearly two miles ahead of Canadian. Shape-retaining,

When you step down, your foot sinks into the Resilia Centresole, away from the toe cap.

This makes the shoe a size larger inside, when your foot is widest, so the upper leather is never stretched out of shape over ball.

When you lift your foot, the insole expands from the outsole, thus taking up slack in the leather, preventing wrinkling and over running on sides.

The shoe thus retains shape and wears longer, because it is never over-stretched.

The Beaver finished at 3:32:30, but in crossing the line she fouled the buoy and forfeited second place. The Hazard was right on her heels, and finished at 3:33:05. Judging from this contest the Invader is the likely challenger for the cup, although Canadian's owner will make some alterations before the trial races at Toronto next week. Invader made a good impression on the minds yachting critics, and was certainly much faster than Beaver, last year's challenger. If sailed by Capt. Jarvis she will undoubtedly give a good account of herself in the Canadian cup race. In the contest for the Frank Walker cup race, for skiffs, over a 12-mile course, in the bay, the White Top, of Toronto, was the winner.

Death of Archie Bremner.

The announcement of the death of Archie Bremner will be read with sincere sorrow by many throughout Canada. He is remembered first about 40 years ago as a boy at the old Union School, in Mr. Taaffe's class, and as one always called upon read when strangers visited the class.

He had a good judgment and a kindly heart. Archie Bremner had no enemies as a boy, and he made none as a man. He commenced his life as a journalist with The Advertiser, and for many years did his best work with this paper. His relationships with the staff were always cordial. He was for many years city editor, and also did considerable editorial writing, but his paragraphs were his best work. His equipment for newspaper work was well rounded. He had knowledge acquired from reading, and from personal contact with the world. Naturally, he was a broad humorist, and all his life was attracted by a good minstrel performance. He was well informed on theatrical matters, and had a fund of anecdote, His information he used in well-put sentences, applying humor wherever he could. These made Archie Bremner's paragraphs very popular, and made Archie Bremner to very many an entertaining and companionable man. He had a philosophic mind, one absolutely free from prejudice. He had a distinct personality, and often put his knowledge and ability to the best account. One instance will be remembered. When ex-Mayor Hodgens acted, as many thought, unfairly to Dr. Belton, then superintendent of the hospital, his daily comments did much to show the people the injustice of the accusations. They were clever paragraphs, and were read by everyone. He could defend with ardor, but he was not aggressive, and never intentionally wounded the feelings of another. In his own line, and within his limitations, he was one of the most characteristic journalists London has

An 18-year-old boy had a narrow escape from drowning at Port Stanley. While swimming near one of the piers, he took a cramp and went down once. KEEPING CANADA'S BIRTHDAY.

How Hot, But Happy Holiday, Was Spent.

Springbank Park Visited by Unprecedented Crowd-Port Stanley Had Its Share of Pleasure-Seekers.

Yesterday's celebration of Canada's pirthday was a quiet one so far as the citizens of London were concerned. The intense heat of the day made a passive rather than an active form of enjoyment the more preferable. The majority of the holiday-makers decided that the less exertion they made the more enjoyable would their outing be. DOWN AT SPRINGBANK

It is probable that over 40 per cent of the city's population visited Springbank Park at some period of the day. The street railway company gave an admirable service of 26 cars all day long, and there were few down trips when every seat was not filled. Hundreds of vehicles and bicycles traversed the Pipe Line road on the way to and from the park. The river was also a popular route by which many made the journey to Springbank, and it was rendered the more pleasant by the steady breeze which ruffled its sur-

At the river park the grounds were dotted with happy family parties and private picnics. The major portion of the crowds sought the grateful shade of the trees, and there passed the time in whatever manner best pleased them. The two performances given by the company of artists engaged for the week were well patronized and gave complete satisfaction. The crowd at the park was especially large at night, and despite the frequency of the service provided, it was nearly midnight before the last of the crowd were landed in the city. The street railway company report their day's business to have been the largest in the history of the company.

AT PORT STANLEY.

Fully three thousand people went down to Port Stanley from this city, while a thousand more from St. Thomas augmented the crowd which spent the day at the popular lakeside resort. Four trains of thirteen coaches went down before 2:30, and every coach was filled. The later afternoon and evening trains were also crowded. The excursionists found at the lake the cool breezes they sought for, and the day passed off quickly and pleasantly for them. The last train from Port reached London at 11:30.

Terrific Heat Makes Limp the Celebrations of Confederation Day.

Perspiring humanity sweltered through another record-breaker yesterday. Old Sol started his work early in the morning and kept it up gamely well up into the evening. After sundown, when the breeze failed and the humidity was most oppressive, the laws of conventionality were as nothing and dripping, coatless manhood tried all schemes of dress and posi-tion in a maddened endeavor to get cool. The sun's rays beat down most hotly from 1 to 4 o'clock, and under their persuasive influence, the mercury bounded above the hundred mark. Over at the observatory, where the thermometer is never allowed to tell fibs, it said that the hottest heat was 98 degrees. That was in the shade. Other responsible heat measurers told of 99, 99.5 and even 101 degrees in the shade. Nobody needs to be told what it was in the open. The Dominion's 34th birthday brought little comfort to the sweat-soaked citizens of London.
