Successfully Celebrated by London's Workingmen.

A Big Procession, With 3,000 Men in Line.

A Striking Testimony of the Strength of Organized Labor.

The Attendance at Queen's Park Estimated at 10,000.

An Interesting Programme of Sports and the Results.

Profuse Decorations and Four Bands Speeches by Messrs. Essery and Marks - Special Features of the Procession -Notes.

For the first time in Canadian history Labor Day was celebrated throughout the Dominion vesterday as a statutory holiday. The day was observed in London for the third time, and the demonstration was in every way a complete success. Many visitors were present from surrounding towns, and as there were no excursions from London of any account the citizens turned out nobly, and the crowd at the park was as large, if not larger, than the attendance at any of the several picnics already held in that place this summer. Thousands witnessed the parade at noon, although the heat of the day was very oppressive. The procession was a big one, and was a fitting evidence of t a strength of organized labor in this city. A striking feature of the parade was an exhibit of the Industrial Brother-hood. It did not take up much room, and was not a brilliant display, yet it tended to show the good sense of Canadian workmen in a marked degree. In a decorated wagon rested an improvished ballot box, and above it was a marked ballot paper. On the ballot paper were printed, one above the other, the words "Masses" and "Classes." The X was placed after the word "Masses," and above the whole was the simple sentence meaning.

About 3,000 persons were in line, and each exhibitor, each society, and everybody connected with the long line vied with one another to present the neatest appearance and the most tasty decoration. It was a rolling stream of color. Flags and streamers, banners and evergreens, bright uniforms and pretty flowers made the moving mass pleasant for the eye to rest upon. The men in line presented a well-fed, comfortable appearance, and the intelligence stamped on the faces of the mass was worthy of the dignity of its calling.

The men rode splendid mounts and looked neat in their white hats and shirt sleeves with clean baskets on their arms. Decorated butcher wagons came next and the Cavalry band followed. Cottam's bird food pyramid preceeded Hamilton's brewery exhibit, and then citizens were treated to a freeglance at three wagon loads of coal and two of cordwood. The London Gravel Felt Rocfing Company's exhibit followed, and Bartlett & Parsons' amateur minstrel show kept a respectful distance ahead of Pawnee Willie's wild west aggregation, who looked fierce and dirty and scalpy. Keene Bros.' and Trafford's furniture exhibits gave the young people matrimonially inclined something to talk about in their evening rambles. Then came the Iron Molders' Union and the Seventh band. The two car shop fire companies came next, with the always smiling "Jerry" Laughlin in command. With their white shirts and black felt hats the men looked natty. The reels were beautifully decorated and little Freddie Alward occupied a flowery seat of honor upon one of them. "When duty calls we no danger fear," their banner read. The round house fire teams followed with the captains on decorated wheels. The hose reel in this case was draped in the form of a prettily colored chario, and little Nellie Smith made a correspondingly pretty charioteer. Captains Loveridge and Harrison commanded. The men wore blue shirts and yachting caps.

Conclave No. 2, K. S. F., under command of Capt. Jacobs, were the first uniformed company in the line of march. The Cigar Makers' Union and Industrial Brotherhood quickly followed. The latter had a patriotic badge consisting of a Maple Leaf with the name of the society in golden letters. In succession came the Federated Shoemakers, Machine Woodworkers, Tailore' Union, International Association of Machinists, Amalgamated Carpenters and Joiners, and Railroad Trainmen and Fire-

The St. Albans Church Lads' Brigade, although consisting only of small boys, were warmiy applauded on their soldierly appearance. They had shoulder straps and haversacks, small cavalry forage caps, and the non-commissioned officers were designated by the usual stripes and sashes. Capt. Thomas Hogg was in command. An ambulance corps with a stretcher brought up the rear. Robin Hood Drill Corps under Captain Brown followed.

To show the international character of the society the Stars Addresses of welcome were first delivered from the platform facing the stand. and second prize ($20.) The hose reel competition brought out only No. ;1 company from the Grand Trunk roundhouse and No. 2 from the company's employes, The teams from the car works were entered, but through a little dispute decided not to compete. No. 2 was under Capt. W. Loveridge and Lieut. H. Brown. They laid six lengths of hose, coupled on a hydrant at 100 yards, and at 200 yards disjointed the hose and attached a nezzle in 30 1-5 seconds. "CHINA VS. JAPAN." The crowd diminished but very little before the band played "God Save the Queen," although it was nearly 6:30 o'clock. They had all waited to see the concluding event, the burlesque entitled "China vs. Japan." The army of each country numbered only about twenty. They were attired in Oriental costume, and the representatives of Li Hung Chang's forces had pig tails of something resembling seaweed. Swords and pig tails flew in every direction. Fire crackers of every size were exploded, and the contestants could say that they smelled smoke, at any rate. An attack by both armies on the city of Seoul (erected on the platform) wound up the fracas, and honors were about evened up. Noses were counted, and it was found that no lives were lost.

Jakey Butte was awarded first prize as the funniest clown. Harry Hogg took second.

The track was very dusty until Josh Hartley appeared with his watering cart. No. 1 fire company from the G. T. R. ook the prize for the best decorated reel. Ald. Coo refused to command the Japs in the burlesque. He was sure that his countrymen would trim the Chinese with-

Norval Wanless had an easy victory in the 100 yards open race. He played with Ashman, of Chatham, who is considered by his friends as superior to any runner in the peninsula.

The contestants in the tub race went in pairs and had to carry a tub containing water. The prizes were allowed to those spilling the least fluid. Some of the runners went through the trying ordeal of getting their feet wet. In the pail race the vessel, which was filled with water, was carried on the head. Some of the participants got their necks wet, but didn't take a cold.

G. T. R. lorries in the parade were conspicuous by their absence. The reason was a lawsuit which arose over some Shedden lorries taking part in a Michigan street parade. An accident happened, and the friends of the injured are now sueing the company. This accounts for the nonappearance of G. T. R. lorries in yesterday's parade.

Secretary Plant, of the demonstration committee, had not a minute to himself during the whole afternoon. To him is due, in a great measure, the success of the day. Wm. Carroll, the chairman, and John W. Johnson, treasurer of the committee, share the honors. President James S. Reardon, Vice-President James Cummings and Secretary Joseph T. Marks, of the Trades of Labor Council, also worked unceasingly.

Fire Nearly Destroys a Village in Quebec.

A Heavy Loss With Little Insurance-Big Blase at Belleville-A Farmer's Loss.

QUEBEC, Que., Sept. 3.-A disastrons fire occurred in the pretty village of Point-a-Pic, near Murray Bay, yesterday afternoon, which consumed two large hotels and a large number of buildings. The fire broke out in the stores of the Central Hotel, and in a minute the hotel was in flames. The occupants had barely time to escape. Most of the guests lost their belongings. The Central House, Warren's Hotel, Mrs. Joseph Bouchard's cottage, Mrs. Duberger's three cottages, Fred Girard's two houses, David Desbiens' two houses, Francois Talon's two houses, Wm. Tremblay's house, Louis Tremblay's house, Theo Tremblay's house, Joseph Gagnon's house, John Gagnon's house, Flavius Samson's two houses, Mr. Hamel's house and the postoffice are all losers. The loss is placed at about $80,000, with very little insurance. BLAZE AT BELLEVILLE.

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 3. -A most disastrous fire broke out at 5 o'clock this morning in the store of Haines & Lockett, wholesale sboot and shoe dealers, Front street. The tock is almost a total loss, and the store is completely gutted. Loss, $42,000. The store was owned by Mr. Haines, senior member of the firm, and insured for $8,000, which will cover loss. Stock and fixtures were insured for $36,000. A FARMER'S LOSS.

St. JACOBS, Ont., Sept. 3 .- During the thunder storm yesterday morning the large bank barn of Jacob Troh, two miles west of here, was struck by lightning and totally destroyed with the whole season's crops, two horses, four pigs, two wagons and all the other implementa. Loss heavy; insured for $1,800.

Heaps of Charred Trunks Unceremoniously Buried.

Sad Spectacle That Met a Reporter's Eye -The Lives Lost Estimated at 400-Damage in the Millions -Rain Falling.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 3 .- Forest fires in this State are hourly increasing in fury, and nothing but heavy rain can prevent widespread ruin. Fires are raging along the entire line of the Michigan Central from Bay City to Mackinaw. Gagetown is surrounded by flames, and the people are battling to save the town. Gladyn is also threatened with destructoin.

ONE MILLION GONE UP IN SMOKE. PINE CITY, Minn., Sept. 3 .- The loss at Hinckey will reach $1,000,000, over half of which falls upon the Brennan Lumber Company-the largest institution in the place. The loss at Mission Creek is estimated at $120,000.

COUNTED 312 DEAD BODIES. DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 3 .- A special correspondent investigating the fire in the towns burned on the St. Paul and Duluth road counted 312 dead bodies. There are at Pine City and 56 between Sandstone and Miller, with the interior to hear from. Dulurn, Minn., Sept. 3 .- A relief train returned this morning from a run down the St. Paul and Duluth road, bringing about 250 destitute and blistered people from points along the line at Sandstone. Fifty bodies, most of which have been identified, were found. The work of searching for the dead still continues. Another train is being made up here to carry supplies, clothing and doctors.

RAIN FALLING. DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 3 .- All the stations between here and Rutledge report strong wind does not spring up.

HINCELEY'S AWFUL EXPERIENCE. HINCKLEY, Minn., Sept. 3.—The first good description of the great fire that swept away this thriving village was secured today. Saturday afternoon the fire approached, fanned by a strong wind. The smoke grew denser as the day advanced and it soon became as dark as night. About 4 o'clock the wind changed and the residents of the doomed town saw that the flames were bearing down upon them. The fire shot across the town and the people fled in all directions. Indies to the Pole. A long, long sigh that They ran wherever they thought they could would be. Talk about sighing, why if all find refuge. A large number ran to a pond some three or four acres in extent and three or four feet deep. The largest crowd of people rushed to Grindstone River, a shallow stream, which it was thought would afford protection from the flames. victims of disease. Others would suffer as But the water was too low and all miserably perished. There the relief parties found

TRAMPLED BY THE FLYING CATTLE. Just as the flames were raging fiercest a train arrived over the Eastern Minnesota and 500 people clambered aboard. It was a godsend to the people, who offered up prayers of thankfulness as the engineer sent the train at a rapid speed away from the burning town and back to safety in Superior. Another party had rushed for the limited on the St. Paul and Duluth, but as the fire cut off their way in that direction they ran to a shallow pond nearby. There they perished. One hundred and five bodies were removed from the pond by the relief committee. East of the village there was a stagnant pool of rainwater. Over 100 people sought refuge here, and of these only one man is known to have perished. The immense plant of the Brennan Lumber Company, with saw mills, planing mills, stables, and 28,000,000 feet of pine lumber, was wiped out in almost less time than it takes to write it. With the stables were consumed 90 head of horses. The financial loss to this company alone will reach $500,000, on which there is an insurance of about one-half.

AN AWFUL RIDE.

A United Press reporter boarded the train out of Pine City for Hinckley this evening. Alongside the tracks were scores of boxes filled with bloated and disfigured remains of victims of the fire. The reporter picked his way through the deserted avenues of the village to the cemetery. Rain was pouring down in sheets. At the cemetery, a mile and a half from town, a half dozen men were digging a trench. A heap of bodies lay on a knoll in the middle of the cemetery. There were 96 neked bodies of men, women and children, scorched, blackened, distorted, bowels and brains protuding, hands clutched in their final agonies, hair singed from the heads. old, young and middleaged, all in a promiscuous heap. In another corner of the cemetery were 45 more bodies covered with quilts. A large majority of these lest were Scandinavians. Reports continue to come in from the vicinity of Skunk Creek of additional discoveries of burned victims. The total in this vicinity will reach fully 400 dead when returns are all in.

BIG FIRES STILL RAGING. MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 4 .- Trainmen of the Northwestern Railroad from the reservoir having been nearly exhausted on north report a number of forest fires along the line from Commonwealth to Menominee. At Springville, Mich., a forest fire was raging, and at the time the train came through a portion of the town seemed to be in danger. On the northern section of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, between Ontonegon and Channing, in Michigan, communication is interrupted. No definite reports are received in consequence, but it is believed that many of the lumber camps have suffered greatly. For a distance of 40 miles along the railroad between the points named there are large lumber camps and mills, and it is believed some of them were destroyed. This Afternoon's Telegrams-Heartrend-

A carload of merchandise for distribution among the sufferers of Pokegama was sent out from here yesterday afternoon and is being distributed there. A force of men is repairing burned buildings and railroad tracks. Railroad officials are of the opinion that they will not get into Hinckley before Thursday, and relief for Pokegama must be taken there on hand cars.

A heavy rain visited this section of the burning district yesterday afternoon and the flames along the line are fast dying out. No further danger is apprehended at Bridgeman, Milacia or Mora. More relief is being gathered here and will be forwarded tomorrow. Medical aid is needed more than anything else to take care of the wounded and maimed, who are suffering unutterable torture.

NINE TOWNS DESTROYED.

DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 4 .- Another town has fallen a prey to the devouring flames, making nine in all that have been consumed. This time the village of Granite fantry has left on a special train for on the Omaha road, 2 miles scuth of Bar-Hinckley to furnish tents and blankets to ette, is the victim. The mail agent on the Omaha northbound The total loss of life will never be arrived here last evening and stated that pletely changed by the disaster that he would not know it was the same country.

HEROIC TELEGRAPH OPERATORS. C. F. Murray, the Eastern road's operator at Hinckley, has not been found and it is feared that he is dead. Murray was the man who wired here the first report of the disaster, saying that the fires were coming up like magic, that one minute he saw a 217 dead at Hinckley, 17 at Sandstone, 22 | few flames down the track and a moment later sent word that he must leave the instrument as the flames were on him. Mr. Bullis, agent of the Eastern Minnesota at Sandatone, arrived here last night. It was thought he had perished. Sandstone station is a mile out of the town of the same name, and Kettle River, crossed by a great bridge, flows between. Bullis was at his instrument when the eastern train, bringing 500 refugees, passed back into Sandstone. He flagged the train in the darkness, went back to his burning office, wired north to stop all south-bound business to give a free road and sent the train back as quickly as possible, knowing that the bridge might be rain falling, fires dying out, and that no further trouble need be feared, provided a at the 1.500 foot bridge, Flagman Jessemore saw it burning brightly in several places, but he at once decided that the chance of getting over was preferable to suffocation on the track and it went on. Five hundred lives blessed the promptness of these two men. After Jessemore left the bridge he hurried with all speed onward to Sandstone and found the people in the river. They were in the water four or five hours. Word came in later that 51 bodies were buried at Sandstone yesterday and 12 are still missing. A relief train left here for that place and brought back 50 survivors and 20 or more injured on stretchers.

THE WELCOME RAIN. WEST SUPERIOR, Wis., Sept. 4. - Nearly

Northern Minnesota have now been removed to places of safety in Superior and Duluth, and as a very heavy rain has fallen on the flames there will be no further casualties. THE TERRIBLE SLAUGHTER. At Sandstone there is not a sign of body in the town. Around or in the ruins of each house were found saveral human bodies. The living inhabitants of the town were brought into all those who survived the terrible fires in Superior this morning. Three hundred and twenty-eight bodies were lying in the streets. They are being buried as rapidly as possibly. At Pokegama, on the Great Northern, there are 28 corpses. They are still lying unburied. At Partridge only two are dead, though not a building is standing. It is impossible to tell where Partridge was, as the whole surrounding country is in ashes. Passenger traffic was resumed on the St. Paul and Duluth Railway today, but Great Northern through trains will not be running for some time. RAGING IN NEW YORK. BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 4. - Forest fires are raging in portions of western New York. In Chautauqua county the flames are sweeping through meadows, woods and farms, reducing to waste everything in their path. Pickets are posted to announce the advance of the fire, but its velocity is such that the families have barely time to escape before their property is enveloped in flames. Near Falconer the farmers have had to organize a bucket brigade to keep the flames from burning their houses and barns, but notwithstanding this several farms have been laid waste. In Erie county, in the vicinity of Windom, a forest fire is raging and unless rain comes soon great damage will he done. The fire started in the underbrush and spread with frightful rapidity. Farmers have turned out in a body to plow the surrounding land and endeavor to check the progress of the flames.

DUNKIRK, N. Y., Sept. 4 .- The fierce forest fires now raging south of here threaten disaster to everything in its path. Already thousands of dollars worth of property has gone up in smoke, and the work of destruction continues unchecked notwithstanding the vigorous efforts of hundreds of men, women and children who are fighting the flames day and night. This morning the flames reached point just south of Fredonia, and every available man in the village and surrounding country in fighting the fiery demon. The village is practically without fire protection, the water in the account of the long continued drought, and should the fire gain headway the entire town would be wiped out.

Farmers are in a terrible predicament. Those who escaped the ravages of the grasshopper plague are now having their season's crops destroyed by fire.

MOUNTAINS OF IRON.

They Have Been Discovered in Labrador's Interior.

QUEBEC, Sept. 3.—Sixty thousand square miles of an iron-bearing formation, a lake 100 miles long and 30 to 40 miles wide, and proof that the big falls of the Hamilton River are the largest in the world, are some of the discoveries made by the Dominion geological survey in the interior of Labrador. Whole mountains of iron were found corresponding with the ore of Marquette, Mich., and containing millions of tons.

POISONED BY HIS TIGHTS.

A Contortionist Lying in a Precarious Condition from the Wearing of the Green.

Anderson, Ind., Sept. 3. - Raymond Wood, a contortionist, is lying in a precarious condition, caused by wearing green tights. He did his act at the Home minstrel show in this city last Friday, and, in perspiring, the tights faded. This was especially the case on his right leg below the knee. He thought nothing of it, and was surprised to find the member highly inflamed the next morning. It had become discolored and swollen to twice the usual size, and it is now feared that amputation will be necessary, if more serious results are not caused by blood poisoning extending over the entire system.

Interesting Gossip About Royalties and Other Notables.

The Duke of York's Baby Thriving Without Its Relations.

The Elopement of Justin McCarthy's Son -The King of Siam a Chloral Fiend-Count of Paris & fileted With Cancer-Slave Girls in Cairo.

A Neglected Royal Baby.

London, Sept. 3 .- A loyal writer this week has been lamenting the undeserved slight cast upon the Duke of York's baby, who has been left for a full fortnight in sole charge of Mrs. Green, his nurse, in gross disregard of tradition and precedent. Even Queen Victoria, his great-grandmother, though within a couple of hours' journey, has not been to see him since the christening, and now she has gone off to Scotland. His mother, his four grand parents, his aunts and his numerous cousins were all out of reach, and this baby, who will one day be king and emperor, was entirely among strangers two whole weeks. His mother came back last night, but the baby will not see much, of her, for she starts almost immediately with her husband on another long trip. It is not suggested that Prince Edward himself has worried much about this seemingly heartless neglect. Being a royal baby, he has never been allowed to seek nourishment at the maternal fount, and like all infants, whether born to the purple or in a hovel, his tastes are simple and his wants small. I refuse positively to make known the brand of infants' food upon which Prince Edward is waxing fat, but am able to add, upon authority, that he enjoys robust health and will be vaccinated at the end of this month. Poor Count de Paris.

The malady which will soon end the career of the Count of Paris is cancer of the stomach. It has been known to his physicians for more than a year that their patient was doomed. A diagnosis was made in July, 1893, by an eminent French specialist, who, by means of a wonderful instrument, then almost unheard of, introduced an electric light into the stomach itself through the esophagus. The room was then darkened and the operator was able to detect through the skin an incipient cancer or ulcer on the left wall of that organ. The doctors then discussed the desperate expedient of the excision of the entire stomach and the substitution of the same organ from a lamb, an operation which has been successful in one case in French surgery. The risk was deemed too great. and the patient was not informed as to the real nature of the disease until recently.

Royal Salmon Catching. Queen Victoria has settled down in Balmoral Castle for the autumn. The Prince of Wales is at Homburg. The Duke of York has had a superb saloon carriage built for him by the Great Eastern Railroad Company, and the Duchess of Fife has caught two salmon, weighing respectively twelve and nine pounds, in one day in the Scotch River Dee. The foregoing constitutes the week's uneventful history of the British royal family.

The Water Cycle. The attempt to cross the English Channel on a water cycle has apparently been abandoned for the season by the Frenchman who tried it and failed early in August. It is not unlikely, however, that the feat will be attempted by Robert Brown, sculptor, of Newport, Wales, who on Wednesday crossed the Bristol Channel from Newport to Weston, a distance by steamer route of fourteen miles, but Brown, owing to the tide and other causes, actually traveled 21 miles. The time was three and one-quarter hours. He finished in good condition. Brown's cycle consists of two cigar shaped tubes, each seventeen feet long, lying parailel and three feet apart. They are filled with compressed air. In the center space is a platform and seat for a driver. Two paddle wheels, one on the outside of each tube, are propelled by the ordinary cycle pedals and chain gearing. The steering gear consists of two rudders, which seem the weakest part of the machine, and would probably come to grief in rough water. The Elopement Sensation.

London is talking today about the elopement of Cissie Loftus, the greatest of the Music Hall favorites, and Justin Mc-Carthy's son. Cissie is only 17 years old, and is one of the most wonderful mimics ever on the stage. McCarthy is just twice her age, has been a member of Parliament, and has some literary ability. The couple went to Edinburgh and were married by the sheriff. They are now willing to be forgiven. The girl's parents, who enjoyed her big earnings, are not disposed to be reconciled, and threaten McCarthy with the serious penalties of the law.

Slave-Dealing Scandal. The slave-dealing scandal in Cairo is a serious affair. Not only has the traffic in young girls been large, but the most prominent natives are involved. It is expected that the sixteen offenders who are to be tried this week will be acquitted, because it is found that the law punishes only dealers, and not purchasers. The case of Ali Pasha, president of the native Legislative Assembly, brings up a scandalous and absurd feature of Egyptian politics. He is charged with being an accomplice of the dealers because he lodged slaves in his house. He now defies the Egyptian courts, on the ground that he is a subject of Italy. He was naturalized as an Italian in 1867, but has been regarded always as a native subject, and has figured as such before the native tribunals. The Legislative Assembly was instituted by Lord Dufferin as an entirely native body to watch over the night and killed. He attempted to leap to interests of the natives, and teach them the platform from the train as it was self-government. But now its president moving.

appears as a foreign subject, invoking foreign protection when arrested on a charge of committing a grave offense against Egyptian law.

The King of Siam's Weakness. The recent rumors that the King of Siam was dead are explained in a long letter from Bangkok which is published in the Pall Mall Gazette to-day. It is asserted in high Siamese circles that the King is suffering from fever, as the result of his ex. cessive indulgence in chloral for a number of years. It is said His Majesty has become so slavishly addicted to the use of the drug that there is very little hope of his recovery. Notabilities crowd the royal palace, but no one, not even the Crown Prince, is allowed to see the King. No reason is given for this state of affairs, but it is surmised that His Majesty is in the hands of plotters, The women of the palace are turning their accumulated wealth into diamonds. The King has gradually elevated his relatives to important posts in the kingdom, which act he will doubtless rue, as it is regarded as improbable that their high-handed administration of affairs for their own profit will be much longer tolerated. It is predicted that the duration of the present dynasty will be shortly erminated.

Laurier's Great Reception All Along the Line.

Addresses 2,000 People at Rat Portage-Charmed by His Elequence-Political Pointers.

RAT PORTAGE, Sept. 3 .- On the way from Fort William to Rat Portage Mr. Laurier and party stopped off at Murillo long enough to see the Kakar ka Falls, on the Kaministiquia River, and to have an exceedingly pleasant meeting with the people of Oliver township. The hall was reached after a six-mile drive over good roads and through a fine farming country. On their return to the village the members of the party were entertained at luncheon, after which a brief impromptu meeting was held. Mr. K. Martin, the reeve of the township, presided. On behalf of his fellow citizens he presented the leader with an appreciative address.

Among the first to greet Mr. Laurier at Rat Portage this morning were Hon. Robert Watson and Hon. Clifford Sifton, of the Manitoba Government, and Mr. F. W. Wade, who had come from Winnipeg to meet him. The decorations of the town and of the rink, where the meeting was held in the evening, defy adequate description. They were the work of both the Liberals and Conservatives of the place. Both parties vied with each other in doing honor to their distinguished tellow-Canadian. The meeting, at which there were over 2,000 people, was presided over by Mr. Henry Langford, president of the Rat Portage Liberal Association. On the platform were many preminent citizens of the town and district, including Hon. Joseph Martin, M.P., who had come down from Winnipeg, and Mr. T. Burrows, M.P.P. Mr. Laurier, though somewhat fatigued after the exertions of the day, spoke powerfully in advocacy of the principles of freedom. The great audience was charmed by his elequence, and impressed by his logic. Applause of the most enthusiastic quality frequently drowned the voice of the speaker, and this despite the fact that many of those present were of a hostile political faith. The other speakers were Mr. Gibson, Mr. Mulock and Mr. Fraser.

HE CAPTURES WINNIPEG.

Mr. Laurier and his friends could not have desired a more enthusiastic reception than that which awaited the Liberal chieftain in the capital of Manitoba yesterday. On his arrival in Winnipeg, over 5,000 people welcomed him with such hearty cheers as have never before been given to any public man in the Prairie City. The evening meeting was held in the skating rink, which has a seating capacity for It was crowded and hundreds Among those on the platform Sir William Howland, of To-Short addresses were delivered by Hon. Joseph Martin, Mr. C. S. Hyman. M.P., of London, Hon. D. C. Fraser, M.P., William Mulock, M.P., and James Sutherland, M.P. London's favorite son had a welcome to the West second only in point of warmth to that given his honored leader, The audience cheered themselves hoarse as Mr. Laurier stepped on the platform, and the many good points his subsequent address were also vigorously cheered. Mr. Laurier aloquently upheld the cause of trade freedom, and discussed other questions of general interest, reference to which will be made in future issues of the ADVERTISER. It was made truly evident that the verdict of Winnipeg in the recent bye-election will | tolerate. large majority.

THE GENERAL ELECTION. When Mr. Sharp, a local lawyer, was nominated Conservative candidate in Bothwell, last week, Mr. Birmingham, the chief organizer of the party, was present and delivered a speech that, coming from | for the better. The farmer and every him, is of more than passing significance not only to the electors of Bothwell, but to every constituency in the country. He pointed out that Mr. Sharp could "by taking a month's holidays just now, elect himself on the voters' list, and if he doesn't start work at once, it will be the duty of the party to ask him why he is not getting around." Herein he who runs may read that the voters' list now being compiled is the one upon which the men at Ottawa mean to go to the country, he the appeal early or late. Moreover, this faithful agent of the Conservative leaders emphasizes, as it has never before been emphasized, the necessity for putting the candidates of trade freedom and economical government early in the field, and the absolute necessity of watching that only the names of men entitled to vote are placed on the lists, and that every bogus vote is struck off. A number of western constituencies were lost to the Liberals at last general election because the lists were neglected and hundreds of bogus votes were allowed to re-

If our friends in the West do not take Mr. Birmingham's advice seriously to heart, and that as speedily as possible, they will discount the victory that, by virtue of their numbers, they are entitled to. No amount of work in the neighborhood of election day will get over such a voters' list as that which met the Liberals of East Elgin and other constituencies at main on, while many good Liberals were MINNESOTA'S FIERY TRAGEDIES. Some of the Northwestern States of the American Union seem always to be under the harrow of affliction from cyclones, waterspouts, grasshopper or gopher plagues, prolonged droughts, and big fires. They are like those persons of whom it seems to be true that if there is anything contagious around they are sure to catch it. We in Western Ontario have an occasional woods fire, and this season have suffered somewhat from drought, but our troubles are but as the fine dust on the balances in comparison with such a trouble of fire and desolation as that which during ever be that to which each party to the hundreds of useful lives and immense values in property of various kinds. It is difficult to moralize with logical satisfaction on such occurrences. The most satisfactory features are those which come after in the practical sympathy which in such crises invariably hurries to the relief of the crippled and impoverished survivors. It is sufficiently heart-rending to even read of men, women and children fleeing before advancing flames, stifling gusts of smoke and air up to furnace heat, only to fall down in helpless despair, but how infinitely more terrible must be the reality !

> IFE IN CANADA AND IN THE OLD WORLD.

We regret to find a paper of the pretensions of the Hamilton Spectator deliberately misrepresenting the views of this journal. Among other statements which it makes our contemporary asserts that the ADVERTISER has represented the condition of the Canadian farmers as "helpless, hopeless and miserable." We do not need to deny the accusation; every reader of the ADVERTISER knows that it attributes to us a mines, while they were ready to praise the statement that we have not made. It is Dominion Government for imposing a tax fact, however, that we have fearlessly assaulted the method of taxation adopted by the men now in power at Ottawa, which has certainly taken from our farmers, as well as from workers generally, millions of dollars that were not needed for the ecopomical government of the country. It is a fact that our farmers are better off than the agriculturists of old world countries, and there is nothing inconsistent in the and the natives are waging guerilla warfare ADVERTISER pointing out that fact and yet upholding the armers of Canada in their revolt against the class laws that have been placed upon the statute books by the friends of the Spectator. Let us call the attention of the Spectator to a few reasons for this view.

The old world is crowded, while Canada has many millions of acres of vacant agricultural lands.

In the old world, largely through the effect of "protective" laws such as now exist in Canada, the land has got into the hands of the rich. British and continental farmers have to pay big rents for the right

In Canada, our farmers have the virgin soil, infinitely more productive than much of the land in Europe. In the old world, an enormous portion of the substance of the people is swallowed up in paying interest on war debts. We in Canada have really no war debt to speak of, and mean to keep it so. In the old world, every country has a vast standing army. So heavily does the burden of militarism press on the people, indeed, that it has been well remarked that every man who goes to work there does so with a soldier on his back. In Canada we have between 1,000 and 2,000 men in what may be called a "standing army." Many of us believe we could get along with one-half of the number. The temper of the people is such that militarism will never be permitted to get the upper hand in Canada. Military burdens such as they have in Europe our people will never be repeated at the general election. There | Surely with such advantages our country can be no mistaking the fact that the should be a paradise to live in. We have and mildly, without inflaming the parts; Winnipegers favor trade freedom by a faith in its future. We do not believe that painlessly. Do not be imposed upon by it is ruined by the "N. P.," as our imitations or substitutes.

Hamilton contemporary foolishly makes us say. But it has been injured to a grievous extent, and our farmers and workers generally have been bled that a few might fatten. Public opinion. however, is maturing for a change other member of the community will yet enjoy their full earnings. They will pay tribute to no one outside of the money needed for the honest and prudent administration of affairs. When that time comes, and come it will soon, the lot of the farmer will be vastly improved, and the settlers on the prairies will prove so good immigration agents that the hundreds of thousands of dollars now spent in coaxing new comers to Canada will be easily dispensed with.

The Count of Paris Bids a Dying Farewell

To the Relatives Around His Bedside-Twenty Pleasure Seekers Drowned in Lancashire-The Eastern War.

Twenty Pleasure Seekers Drowned. London, Sept. 3.-Information has been received from Morecambe, Lancashire, that a pleasure yacht capsized on Morecambe Bay and that the entire party on board, twenty persons, were drowned.

The Count's Dying Farewell. LONDON, Sept. 3 .- The Count of Faris is rapidly growing weaker, and the end is not far off. All of the dying man's family are at his bedside. Princess Waldemar of Denmark and the Prince de Joinville arrived at Stowe House last evening, making this gathering of the Orleans family the largest since the death of King Louis Phillippe. The Count of Paris is conscious and awaits the end with patience and fortitude. He has bidden farewell to all the servants of the household.

Will Denounce the Lords.

LONDON, Sept. 3.-At tomorrow's session of the Trades Union Congress at Norwich President Delves will deliver an address in which he will advocate the abolition of the House of Lords. He will also contend that the hours of women and children employed in factories must be curtailed, whatever may happen to the question of eight hours a day for men. Mr. Delves' speech will, end with an appeal for better organization of trades unions. John Burns, M.P., said the congress would show that old unionism Summer Complaints, no longer exists and that socialism is triumphant. The rapid extension of machinery and the urgency of the problem involving the unemployed workers induces the most hidebound individualist to adopt any method to deliver the workingman from the shackles that bind him. Both machinery instead of making slaves of the workingmen, must become their servants. The members of the congress of all shades of opinion now desire to co-operate to this end.

The Eastern War. LONDON, Sept. 3 .- The Standard's correspondent in Berlin telegraphs: "The war party, of which Prince Tching is the head, has, I learn, got the upper hand in China, which means that the struggle with Japan will be prosecuted with vigor. A large army is now gathering near Pekin. Half of this army will guard the capital, while the other half will march to Corea before winter.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—A dispatch from Tien Tsin of current date says an imperial decree has been issued rewarding General Heh and other Chinese officers for their victory over the Japanese troops at Ping

The Central News has received a dispatch from Shanghai stating that five war steamers will convoy troops which are to be dispatched to Formosa at once. This precaution is taken through fear that the transports will be attacked by Japanese war ships which are hovering about in the hope of destroying Chinese troop ships. The work of extending the Chinese fort works on the coast is being pushed with all possible haste.

Skirmishes between Chinese and Japan ese troops are occurring at several points in Corea. The importance of the collisions is being greatly magnified by both sides who dignify them with the title of battle. In every case victory is claimed by each

The Provinces of Seoul, Hwang Ho and the country adjacent to the treaty ports, are in the possession of the Japanese, while the rest of the country is occupied by armed bands of Coreans. It is asserted there is a strong and increasing feeling of antipathy toward the Chinese in Corea, Incriminating Letters.

The York Recorder contains some particulars of the suit of Chamberlain vs. Russell which, according to that paper, may turn out to be a cause celebre. The plaintiff is Mrs. Chamberlain, wife of Mr Uhas. Chamberlain, the well-known character who is now serving a term in a Manitoba prison for personation at the Winnipeg election. When this happened Mrs. Chamberlain was left without means of support, and, finding herself in financial difficulties, it is asserted that she intrusted to ex-Warden Andrew Russell a packet of letters which her husband valued very highly. The assertion is, says the Recorder, that this packet contained autograph letters from Hon. Clark Wallace, M. P. for West York and Controller of Customs, and Mr. John Small, collector of customs, Toronto, which, it is said, would connect both of these gentlemen with the Winnipeg election scandal which cost Mr. Chamberlain so dear. It is further asserted that the possesssion of these compromising letters was used as a neans of forcing contributions in aid of Mrs. Chamberlain, and Mr. Russell named as the recipant of about $1,200 for that purpose. Mrs. Chamberlain, it is said, however, has not received the money, nor have the letters been returned, and she is now bringing suit to secure either an order for the handing over of $1,200, the amount for which the compromising letters are supposed to have been surrendered, or else an award from the jury for damages for the non-return of the

THE ALERTS TROUNCED. The Alerts were trounced with a ven-geance by the Maple Leafs at Guelph yes-Guelph was in brillians form, Bradford Guelph was in brilliant form. Bradierd occupying the box. The entire team supported him finely. Their fielding and batting was the best yet put up against the Alerts. Snyder batted terrifically. Twice he knocked out home runs, but on one occasion was nipped at the plate, a misfortune he met with in London on Civic Heliday. Carney and Thorpe were the Holiday. Carney and Thorpe were the opening battery for the Alerts. Guelph took satisfaction out of Carney for the way he fooled them in the past by batting him out of the box in the fifth inning. The score was then thirteen to nothing in favor of Guelph. Sheere and Quinn finished out the game. The Alerts scored but six hits off Bradford, London failing to touch him with safety for any long and safe hits when needed. Sheere and Burton each had a three-bagger, but they yielded nothing. Burton had four errors. Hynd was the hero of the day. His fielding was thrice applauded by the audience. His catch of a line hit to center was the most difficult seen on the Guelph grounds this season.

The concluding game between the Pas-times and the Valkyries of the City League series was played in Tecumseh Park yesterday morning, a large crowd being in attendance. ### SHOULD YOU Require a Mantle, Wrap or Jacket this fall, we desire to say that our stock of mantles will be well worth looking at. As we were one of the fortunate houses that carried no winter mantles of any account over from last season, we will, therefore, be in a position to show you only the latest styles from the best German manufacturers and at prices that will be found right. Every day brings in new mantles and next week will see our assortment almost complete.

TO-DAY

We can only call attention to two or three very special prices, viz., $5, $7 50, $10, and simply say that right now we can and will show you at these prices, Jackets that make [competition stand aside. Come prepared to see bargains that are bargains, styles that are right.

OXFORD SHIRTINGS

We have opened up some surprising value in the above Shirtings. and if you need this class of goods you will require to look sharp after these two great lines that we mention to-day. 1st. A splendid range of nice genteel patterns in lovely colorings, not too light and not too dark, and a splendid quality of cloth. This range is worth from 20c to 22c, but our price will be only 15c, and a big snap they

2nd. Is a cloth very similar to the above shirtings only finer, and worth in regular way 25c., but our price will be only 20c. These are new fresh goods of this season's make, and are splendid patterns and grand wearing qualities. We bought them cheap and give customers the benefit.

SHAKER FLANNELS

These useful goods are largely used by every person, and to tell you where the best value is to be found is our object to-day.

At 5c, 64c, 72c, 8c.

We show you a choice range of patterns in good wide widths that for real merit and value are not beaten by any house and approached by few.

Sept. 3.—No Canada stock on the market today, but agents for Canadian shippers and such Canadian firms as Matheson & Co. expect that by next week the run of sheep and lambs will begin steadily. It is now possible to market the light cattle here. Not many hogs from Canada are shipped to this market. In fact, Canadians are more frequently buyers than sellers here. Prime Canada lambs would have sold today up to St 75, and at this figure there is a small margin of profit over Canadian quotations.

Labatt. Flower Service. The Grosvenor Street Baptist Church and Sunday school held their augual flower and thanksgiving services on Sunday last. The church had been tastefully decorated by the ladies with a choice collection of plants and flowers; the platform was quite a bower of floral beauty. The morning service was wholly in the hands of the Sunday school. The superintendent, Mr. W. G. Rickert, presided and addresses were given by Mr. Robertson, superintendent of the Talbot street school, and Mr. Procter. Mr. R. W. Sharpe and the pastor, Rev. T. W. Charlesworth, also took part in the service. The scholars sang a number of special hymns appropriate to the occasion, including one by the infant class. An attractive part of the programme was a Scripture exercise, in which the superintendent asked a number of questions, each of which was answered by a passage of Scripture read by one of the teachers and a verse of a hymn sung by the congregation. The exercises throughout were very hearty and much enjoyed by all. an appropriate sermon from Jeremiah,

"that tired feeling" and swelled heads in the Police Court today. They had started out to celebrate Labor Day, but got into the city on Monday and conducted a meet- the wrong places, and before being gathered in by the police were ready for fight. Frank Cavhill was one of the number. He came in contact with P. C. Woolway at the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets. Cavhill is a big fellow, and when the policeman wanted to escort him to the cells he objected. A row ensued, and Cavhill became so unruly that the services of an additional officer was required. His fun cost him $3. Phillipo Russo put in his fourth appearance before the magistrate. He wasn't drunk, though, Phillipo shoves a "bannan" wagon and sells at "10 a doz." Somehow or other he gets his wagon on the sidewalk where the road is bad and generally runs amuck of an officer. Russo wouldn't tell the police magistrate whether he was on the walk, but denied having seen a bluecoat. It cost him $1. Salvatore Specuzza, another Italian, was summoned for a similar offense, and sent a substitute to appear for him. This would not do and Salvatore will be served again. George Lighthawk, a respectable looking young man, was accused by Herbert Stewart with the theft of a razor and revolver from a hotel near Brantford. Lighthawk denied having intended to steal the articles and said he had been on a protracted spree and was not responsible for his actions. Discharged. Wm. Coyne and Wm. Howard, two north enders, were assessed $2 for drunkenness and vagrancy. Martin Doxtater, an Indian medicine man, indulged in too much firewater and got disorderly. He was allowed to go. Frank Hart and Daniel Cullen, two C. P. R. box car boarders, were given their liberty. Henry Haskins, a youth who was arrested in Queen's Park by Detective Nickle, was charged with being disorderly. His face was covered with blood, and his appearance gave evidence of a general pummeling. Two dollars or ten days. Peter Madden promised to sign the pledge for four years if he was allowed to go. He went.

CHAPTER III.

Early on the following morning the death bell ringing out from the church at Dallory proclaimed to those who heard it that Edmund North had passed to his rest. He had never recovered consciousness, and died some thirty six hours after the attack. Amongst those who did not hear it was Oliver Rane. The doctor had been called out at daybreak to a country patient in an opposite direction, returning between eight and nine o'clock. He sat at breakfast in the dining room, unconscious of the morning's calamity. The table stood in front of the large bay window. "She has done it too much-stupid thing!" exclaimed Dr. Rane, cutting a slice of ham in two and apostrophizing his unconscious servant. "Yesterday it was hardly warmed through. Just like them!-make a complaint and they rush to the other extreme. I wonder how things are going on there this morning?" He glanced up towards the distant quarter where the Hall was situated, for his query had reference to Edmund North; and this gave him the opportunity of seeing something else; a woman stepping out of Mrs. Cumberland's dining room. She was getting on for forty, tall as a May pole, with inquisitive green eyes, sallow cheeks, remarkably thin, as if she had lost her teeth, and a bunch of black ringlets on either side of her face. She wore the white apron and a cap of a servant, but looked one of a superior class. Emerging from the opposite window, she stepped across the wire fence and approached Dr. Rane. "What does Jelly want now?" he mentally

A curious name, no doubt, but it was hers. Fanny Jelly. When Mrs. Cumberland had engaged her as upper maid, she decided to call her by the latter name, Fanny being Jelly entered without ceremony-she was not given to observing much at the best of times. She had come to say that he need not provide anything for dinner; her mistress meant to send him in a fowlif he would accept it.

"With pleasure, tell her," Said Dr. Rane. "How is my mother this morning, Jelly?"
"She has had a good night, and is pretty tolerable," replied Jelly, giving a backward fling to her flying capstrings. "The foreign letters have come in; two for her, one for Miss Adair.'

Dr. Rane, not particularly interested in the said foreign letters, went on with his breakfast. Jelly, with characteristic composure, stood at ease just inside the window watching the process. "That ham is dried up to fiddle strings," she suddenly said. "Yes. Phillis has done it too much." "And I should like to have the doing of her!" spoke Jelly in wrathful tones. "It is a sin to spoil good food."

"So it is," said Dr. Rane. "So that poor young man's gone!" she re-young man?" "Edmund North. He died at half-past seven this morning."

"Who says so?" cried Dr. Rane, a startled look crossing his face.

"The milkman told me; he heard the passing-bell toll out. You needn't be surprised, sir; there has been no hope from the first." "But there has been hope," disputed the doctor. "There was hope yesterday at midday, there was hope last night. I don't believe he is dead."

'Well, sir, then you must disbelieve it," equably answered Jelly; but she gianced keenly at him from her green eyes. "Edmund North is as certainly dead as that I

He seemed strangely moved at the tid-ings; a quiver stirred his lips, the colour in his face faded to whiteness. Jelly, having looked as much as she chose, turned to depart.

"Then we may send in the fowl, sir?" "Yes, yes."

He watched her dreamily as she crossed the low fence and disappeared within her proper domains; he pushed the neglected ham from him, he turned sick at the lightly done egg of which the shell had just been boken. What, though he older preferred eggs lightly done in calm times, calm times were not these. The news indeed trouble him in no measured degree; it was so sad for a man in the prime of early life to be cut off thus. Edmund North was only a year or two than himself; two days ago he had been as full of health and life, deep in the plans and projects of this world, thinking little of the next. Sad? it was horrible. And Dr. Rane's breakfast was spoiled for that day.

He got up to walk the room restlesly; he looked at himself in the glass; possibly to see how the news might have affected his features; in all he did there was a hurried, confused sort of motion, betraying that the mind must be in a state of perturbation. By and by he snatched up his hat, and went forth, taking the direction of the Hall.

"I ought to call. It will look well for me to call. It is a civility I owe them," he kept repeating at intervals, as he strode along. Just as though he thought in his inmost heart he ought not to call, and were seeking arguments to excuse himself from doing so. How eager he was to be there and see and hear all that was transpiring, he alone knew. No power could have stopped him, whether to go were suitable or unsuitable; for he had a strong will. He did not take the lane this time, but went straight along the high road, turning in at the iron gates, and up the chestnut avenue. The tender green of the trees was beautiful; birds sang; the blue sky flickered through the waving leaves. Winding on, Dr. Rane met Thomas Hepburn, the undertaker and carpenter; a sickly looking but intelligent and respectable man.

"Is it you, Hepburn?"
"Yes, sir; I've been to take the orders. What an awful thing it is!" he continued in low tone, glancing round at the closed windows, as if fearful they might detect what he was saying. "The scoundrel who wrote that letter ought to be tried for murder when they discover him. And they are safe to do that sooner or later."

"The writer could have done no great harm but for Edmund North's allowin himself to go into that, fatal possion himself to go into that fatal passion. "An anonymous writer is a coward," re-joined Hepburn with scorn. "They say there'll not be an inquest," "An inquest!" repeated the doctor, whom the idea had never occurred. "There's "Well, doctor, I suppose the law would in strictness exact it. But Mr. North is against it, and it's thought his wishes will be respected. "Any of the medical men can furnish a certificate of the cause of death. I could do it myself." "Yes, of course. But I've no time to stay talking," added the undertaker. "Good day to you, sir." The next to come forth from the house was Alexander, the surgeon. Dr. Rane rubbed his eyes, almost thinking they deceived him. The brother practitioners shook hands; and Mr. Alexander—a little man with dark hair—explained what had seemed inexplicable. It seemed that the very same evening de-livery which brought Mr. North the anony-mous letter, had brought one to Mr. Alexander. His was from London, informing him that he had been appointed to a post connected with one of the hospitals and requesting him to go up at once for a few hours. Mr. Alexander made ready, sent for a fly, and started with his wife for the station, bidding the driver halt at Mr. North's iron gates. As he was in attendance at that time on Edmund North, he wished to give notice of his temporary absence. To be furiously attacked by Edmund North the moment he entered the doors, as it seemed to him, without rhyme or reason, put Mr. Alexander into somewhat of a passion also. There was no time for elucidation, neither was a single word he said listened to, and the surgeon hastened out to his fly. He had returned by the first train this morning-London was not much more than an hour's journey by rail—And found that Edmund North had died of that self same passion. Half paralyzed with grief and horror, Mr. Alexander hastened to the Hall; and was now coming from it, having fully exculpated himself in all ways in the sight of its master. Almost as fully he spoke now to Dr. Rane in his grief, in his straightforward candor, nothing selfish or sinister could hide it-

LONDON AND ENVIRONS

The time to get your Fall Printing is now, the place is the London ADVER-TISER Job Printing Department: Will our friends everywhere remember that we print positively everything, from a book down to the smallest card? Either call in or write for prices and samples. You will be gratified to find how well, how reasonably, and how speedily your order will be filled. We try to keep every promise to the hour. -Our old friend, the oyster, is welcomed with open mouth. -The new moon brought with it the heat, but where is the rain?

-It was called Labor Day to distinguish it from the days when people labor. -"The Fencing Master" will be one of the fair week attractions at the Grand Opera House. -London Knights Templar will be well represented at the meeting of the Great Priory in Toronto tomorrow.

-The band concert which was to have been given on Victoria Park by the Seventh Band has been postponed till Thursday -A large number from the city will attend the hop at Port Stanley on Friday next, to be given by the gentlemen of St. -Frank Hart and Daniel Cullen, two C. P. R. box car inhabitants, were up before the police magistrate yesterday morning. They were remanded. -Mr. Ben Wood, son of R. Shaw-Wood, and a lieutenant of the London Field Battery, left yesterday to join the permanent battery at Quebec. -A Leamington correspondent writes: Miss McDermid has returned from London and will take charge of the millinery department of E. J. Bachelor & Co.

-The Christian Workers' Band will in future be known as the Citizens' Band. The bandsmen have secured the services as leader of A. E. Mortimore, formerly bandmaster of the Twenty-Eighth Stratford

-Charles B. Rudd, a well-known resident of London, Ont., has been in this city several weeks taking special treatment for lung affection. He has suffered a relapse and has been confined to his bed for some days .- [Port Huron News.

-The wheel of a double Gladstone rig, driven by Mr. B. S. Murray, route agent of Bengough's work was excellent. Mr. Geo. the Canadian Express Company, collapsed on Westminster bridge Saturday. Mr. speeches were delivered by Mr. T. O. Murray, though thrown out, held to the Currie and J. T. Marks. Robin Hood drill reins, and his two lady companions escaped unhurt.

—The Red Hook, N. Y., Journal, referring to the appearance of the Howard Clifton

Tred Colter sang solos during the evening, Company in that town, says of a former Londoner: "Mr. James Percival, of Canada, known as London's male seprano, merited applause."

-Mr. T. J. L. Orme, who for a number of years has conducted a general store in Port Stanley, has made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors to C. B. Armstrong, London. A meeting of the creditors will be held in the office of Gibbons, McNab & Mulkern, London, Sept. 10.

-Miss Annie Hunter, 35 Church street, Brampton, Ont., would like to obtain the address of Murdoch Kerr or Angus Kerr. There were three families of the name who lived in the southern part of Westminster township eighteen or twenty years ago. Can anyone help our correspondent?

under the wheels of a railway car in London. The left hand was amputated at the time, as well as several fingers of the right hand. The left arm has since pained Mr. Steele, and yesterday it was re-amputated, two or three inches more being taken off. -One of the important novelties of the current theatrical season is the thrilling comedy "A Cracker Jack," one of the brightest and most exciting stage stories yet written by Herbert Hall Winslow, which comes to the Grand on Saturday evening. Messrs, Stair & Nicolai, proprietors of "A Cracker Jack," have mounted the play lavishly and cast it with one of the strongest companies procurable. The play embodies a rich fund of comedy, and the best specialty talent to be had has been secured.

-"A Trip to Chinatown" will open the season at the Grand Opera House on Friday night. Theater-goers will remember the large audience that witnessed this production towards the close of last season. Friday night promises to be an even better one. The cast is the original one, and contains among the members Harry Conor, who is a protege of the Holman Opera Company. His last appearance in this city was with the Frank Daniels Company, in "A Rag Baby." He has been with Hoyt's companies for several years. The plan opens Wednesday morning.

-A movement is on foot which may result in the application of electricity to the St. Thomas Street Railway, and in the ultimate extension of the line to Port Stanley. It is understood that the gentlemen now controlling the street lighting in London are interested in the St. Thomas enterprise, and they propose to put in a plant to furnish are and incandescent lighting power and to operate the street railway. St. Thomas citizens will watch with interest the progress of the enterprise, for the inauguration of an electric system of street railway with its possibility of extension to Port Stanley will mean much to the city .-[St. Thomas Journal.

-The "C" social in Wesley Hall last night was a novel affair and was deserving of the large patronage it received. The Epworth League of Christian Endeavor, under whose auspices the evening was conducted, presented a menu of many delicious viands. A delightful programme was carried out, the president, Mr. R. I. Watson, occupying the chair. Solos by Misses Land and Fowler, instrumentals by Misses Wilkinson and Maguire and a guitar solo by Miss 8. Powell were well received. The selections of Miss E. Birkett, elocutionist, were very warmly applauded.

-Mr. Aaron Musselman, a former resident of this city, died in St. Thomas at noon on Saturday, aged 67. He was born in Norfolk county and conducted an hotel in the town of Tilsonburg 32 years ago. He purchased and conducted the Hutchinson House twenty years. Some ten years later he suffered a severe shock of paralysis, from which he never fully recovered, thereby necessitating his disposal of the hosel. Of late years he was engaged with Mr. W. Bromell in the management of the Grand Central Hotel, also an hotel at Ridgetown and Sarnia. He also conducted a Miss Culver, of Norfolk county, who survives him, also one son, Frank, and one adopted daughter, Miss Lizzia. The cause of death was Bright's disease.

Crushed by an Engine. A round house employe named Richard Darby was crushed between a brick wall and the steps of a locomotive tender while at work yesterday. He and others were watching the operation of a portion of the machinery. In the pinch Darby had three ribs broken. He was painfully crushed but if inflammation does not set crushed, but if inflammation does not set in he will probably recover rapidly. Darby is a married man with a family. He was removed to his home. Two Pig Stories.

Bailiff Burns tells the story of a London township pig that has developed a taste for grasshoppers. The bailiff says it is a sight worth walking to the country to see when his pigship is chasing the hoppers along the burnt up roadside.

Gossip tells of a farmer not a hundred miles from Plattsville who allowed his pigs to become so fat on his neighbor's peas that he did not know them and drove them into pound, when, as he thought, they had trespassed on his own premises .- [St. Marys Journal.

Bengough at the Grand. A large house greeted J. W. Bengough and the other artists at the evening entertainment, under the auspices of the labor organizations, at the Grand. Mr. Bengough, is a star and a whole band wagon in himself. He both sings, sketches and recites in a charming manner. Many of his sketches had local reference. For instance, a picture of Sir John Carling tightly holding a seat behind him with both hands, needed no explanation. Again Wm. R. Meredith, Teronto's city solicitor, was pictured in circus costume riding two steeds at the same time. He had one foot on one horse, which was labeled "London," and the other on its running mate, labeled "Toronto." "If there is anything going William R. wants to have it," said Mr. Bengough, as he finished the picture. Mr. corps, under Capt. Brown, gave a mag-

A Lamp Explodes and Sets Fire to Two Houses.

On Central Avanue. They Were Owned by E. G. Granger and Occupied by Mr. O. A. Findlay and Alired Taylor. Damage, $1,000,

Mrs. Oscar A. Findlay left a light burning in the kitchen last night to welcome Mr. Findlay home from his labors. Mr. Findlay is an express messenger on the G. T. R., and his trip keeps him away until a late-or rather a very early hour. Mrs. Findlay's intentions were all right as far as the lamp was concerned, and having done her duty she went to sleep. Then the lamp commenced a little racket on its own account and started to make Mr. Findlay's homecoming an unusually warm one. It became so elated over the scheme that it exploded, and then the excitement commenced. The Findlay cottage is situated on Central avenue, just east of Waterloo street. Within a few minutes of 1 o'clock Switchman Mc-Curdy, at the Waterloo street C. P. R. crossing, noticed a glare and started Mali and Colborne streets, and he also started for the alarm box. The call sent in, the two proceeded to wake Mrs. Findlay, and by this time several neighbors were obligingly yelling "Fire!" at the tops of their voices. The flames spread with amazing rapidity and communicated with the two story house next door, which is occupied by Mr. Alfred Taylor, manager of Oak Hall. His kitchen was burned and his furniture completely flooded by water and damaged by smoke. The fire in the cottage burned stubbornly, and all the rear portion of the house and much of the roof was destroyed. Mrs. Findlay's furniture was hastily dragged out, and that lady herself sought shelter in a neighbor's place. In less than half an hour the fire was out again and the neighborhood comparatively quiet.

Both houses were owned by Mr. Ed. G Granger, 679 Colborne street, and are said to be insured. Mr. Taylor's loss to furniture is covered by a policy in the London, Liverpool and Globe. The damage to building will amount to $1,000.
