Auditor-General Says Government Paid Illegal Bill After Being Warned—Anti-Vaccination League To Oppose Enforcements of Regulations—Insane Prisoner Assaults Turnkey At County Jail—18 Tenders for Storm Sewer Work

ANTI-VACCINATION LEAGUE WILL FIGHT PROPOSAL TO ENFORCE THE REGULATIONS

Organization That Secured 2,100 Names Several Years Ago Will Be Reorganized to Oppose Compulsory Vaccination.

The Anti-Vaccination League, which secured 2,100 names against compulsory vaccination in this city several years ago will immediately reorganize if any attempt is made by the medical health officer to enforce the regulations. G. C. Raymond, of Raymond Brothers, 172 King street, stated this morning that he was confident that the league would be in the field at once if there was any attempt made to enforce compulsory vaccination. Mr. Raymond was one of those who worked against the proposal four or five years ago, and he is confident that public sentiment is still with those who object to the use of the vaccine.

COMPULSORY VACCINATION NOT YET CONSIDERED

Medical Officer of Health Fails To Take Stock in Reorganization of Anti's League.

The statement that the anti-vaccination league would be reorganized if any attempt was made to enforce compulsory vaccination as a result of the recent smallpox outbreak here, is apparently one that is causing Medical Officer of Health Dr. T. V. Hutchinson little concern. "Bosh!" was the doctor's comment this morning, when informed of the announcement of the league. "We haven't decided on compulsory vaccination yet. The question would have to come before the board of health at its next meeting."

DUKE GETS BEACHVILLE CHILDREN HALF-HOLIDAY

Hears an Address of Welcome Read by a Girl at Oxford Village.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Woodstock, May 8.—The Duke of Connaught was given a hearty welcome to the village of Beachville this morning. The school children marched to the depot carrying flags. The village was suitably decorated for the occasion.

An address of welcome to the duke was read by Miss Ada McDonald, to which he made a brief and pleasing reply, and a bouquet of flowers was presented to Princess Patricia by Miss Mary Bremner. The board of trade acted as a reception committee to welcome his royal highness.

Invention of French Scientist Shown in London, England, Is Expected to Revolutionize High Speed Traction.

[Canadian Press.] New York, May 8.—A cable to the Tribune from London says: A new and wonderful system which, it is claimed, will revolutionize high-speed traction throughout the world, was demonstrated in London yesterday before the mechanical experts of several of the most important British railways. This new system, which is the invention and discovery of a French scientist, Emile Bachelet, has already received an offer of a great railway chief to lay down a special five-mile circuit track in order that the enormous speed claimed for it (300 miles an hour) may be tested.

caying matter in any part of the city may be responsible. We have been informed that one of the present cases was caused through a boy playing with a magazine that had been thrown out of the isolation hospital. "You may search the Encyclopedia Britannica in vain for justification for vaccination," he continued. "The consensus of opinion among those writers who were given this subject is that vaccination has no benefit. The claim has been made by one advanced writer that cancer was practically unknown until vaccination commenced."

"Very Poor Excuse" "Very Poor Bylaw"

Commissioner H. A. Stevenson and Magistrate Decline on Traffic By-law.

Utility Commissioner H. A. Stevenson, was in the police court this morning for breaking the Motor Vehicles Bylaw. He left his car on the road for more than an hour. The magistrate thought it was a perfectly good and true bylaw, but the commissioner did not, and he said so. The debate went about like this:

INSANE PRISONER STRIKES TURNKEY

Hits Him Over Head With Heavy Keys Cutting it Open, When Attempt Is Made to Place Him in Cell.

When in a mad frenzy Richard Portsmouth, an insane prisoner at the county jail, resisted an attempt to place him in a cell, Turnkey Thomas L. Sproule Wednesday night received injuries that might have had more serious consequences. From the moment that Portsmouth was brought from Delaware Village as being dangerously insane, he raised trouble around the jail. Turnkey Sproule was attempting to put him in his cell when he resisted. The turnkey

FALLS FROM BRIDGE BUT IS RESCUED

Workman Has Close Call From Death at New Wharfedale Road Structure.

Tom Warren, an employee of Bain & Ross, contractors for the new Wharfedale road bridge, had a narrow escape from drowning yesterday, when he fell from the middle pier into the river. He was carried down stream by the swirling current, which was unusually high because of the floods at Ingersoll and other places along the south branch of the Thames, and only the quick action of Alf. Kille, a fellow employee, saved his life.

RILEY LEAVES FOR 15-YEAR SENTENCE

Flyer Whisks Him Away Last Night to Penitentiary

BIDS FRIENDS GOOD-BYE

Says Farewell to Railway Pals
—Thanks Citizens for Kind
Treatment in Cells.

Maintaining the air of indifference and composure which he showed all through his trial for the killing of George Blackburn in the Hotel Cecil bar on October 3 last, Tom Riley, handcuffed to Deputy Sheriff Ben Watterworth, left London last night aboard a Grand Trunk limited for Kingston to commence his fifteen-year sentence imposed upon him by Justice Kelly. Although the time of his departure was kept secret by the jail officials, a number of railway men were on hand to say good-bye.

Accompanied only by the deputy sheriff, the prisoner was quickly driven to the station in a hack just before train time. Few of the many bystanders that crowded the railway station platform realized that the lone hack standing at the back of the station contained Riley. There was no demonstration of any kind save a few railwaymen bidding their fellow railwayman good-bye.

Riley and his guard entered the snuffer of one of the coaches, and nodded a farewell to the railwaymen and watchers on the platform, and as the train slowly pulled out of the station he gazed wistfully through the car window for a last look at the people whom he said had treated him so kindly.

BAPTISTS ELECT OFFICERS

The Extension Board Selects a New Executive.

Officers were elected as follows at the annual meeting of the London Baptist Extension Board in Adelaide Street Baptist Church last evening: Peter Glenn, president; J. B. Campbell and Thomas Shaw, vice-presidents; D. H. Gillies, treasurer; A. J. Morgan, secretary. The report of the treasurer showed the financial condition of the board to be in a very satisfactory condition.

Rev. J. H. Boyd, Rev. W. C. Riddell, D. H. Gillies, Andrew Dale and J. K. McDermott were appointed to a committee for work among the foreigners in the city.

PICTURE WARNINGS FOR "SAFETY FIRST"

Grand Trunk Solicitor Outlines
District Campaign
Plans.

"I intend to start a 'Safety First' campaign in London, and this district, as well as in Toronto," said E. F. McColl, Grand Trunk solicitor, in this city attending the inquest into the death of W. J. Garside, last night. "I am hopeful that Londoners will take up the idea, and produce noticeable results," he said.

Pictures of Crossings.
"Pictures of railroad crossings showing people standing inside the lowered gates, will help people to remember that when they are in that position, they are taking terrible chances and gaining little time."

"Standing inside the lowered gates, has become a bad habit with Londoners, and a campaign for safety would make them break the habit," declared Mr. McColl.

Disregard Warnings.
Railroad men, who attended the inquest, stated last night, that people seemingly have become so used to the danger that they consider it impudent when a railroad employee warns them to be careful. "We often have people say 'Mind your own business' or 'Shut up,' when we caution them to keep off the right of way when trains are passing," said one engineer.

BLOCKS CAR LINE

Upsetting of Load of Hay Throws Three Men to Ground and Ties Up Traffic.

While crossing the street car tracks at the corner of Wharncliffe road and Stanley street a load of hay, driven by Crawford MacAuley, of Delaware, overturned at 3:15 this morning, throwing MacAuley and two Indians, who were riding with him, to the ground with great force. MacAuley, who had his face severely bruised, prevented the horses from getting away. The Indians were uninjured.

MacAuley was proceeding to the King street bridge along the Wharncliffe road, and when crossing the track allowed one of the wheels to drop into the groove of the track. The severe tension on the tongue upsetting the load on the tracks, when an endeavor was made to turn out, an attempt to pull the load over proved unsuccessful.

After being stalled for 30 minutes, the Normal cars operated over the Ridout street line until the track was cleared.

STEAMER RELEASED.

[Canadian Press.]
Duluth, Minn., May 8.—After being grounded on a reef near Two Harbors since Tuesday, the passenger steamer America, of the Booth Line, was released last night and returned to the Duluth harbor today.

Death of Harriet Bavin.

The death of Harriet Bavin, aged 71, widow of the late Elijah Bavin, occurred yesterday, in this city. The funeral will be held from Smith, Son & Clark's undertaking parlors tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Interment will take place in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

Died in Victoria Hospital.

The death of Mrs. Emma Lewis, aged 75, wife of J. Lewis, the printer, occurred in Victoria Hospital this morning at 11:30. The funeral will be held from the residence of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. E. Dean, at 3 o'clock. The services, which will be conducted by Rev. E. Hawkins, will take place at 2:30. Interment will take place in Woodland Cemetery.

Death of Mrs. Dale.

Another pioneer of Middlesex county passed away today in the person of Mrs. Mary Dale, 113 Tecumseh avenue, the widow of the late Jacob Dale, of Glendale, in her 72nd year. Born in Westminster township, in the vicinity of Glendale, she had lived here all her life. Five sons and one daughter survive. George, Frank, Oscar, and Arthur, at home, and J. W. Dale, San Francisco, Cal., and Mrs. Charles Caldwell, 168 Wharncliffe road, South London. Three sisters, Mrs. Hannah Nichols, West Delaware, Mrs. C. N. Harris, 50 Elmwood avenue, Mrs. Robert Scott, San Jose, Cal., and one brother, George L. Walcott, of Lambeth, also survive. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock to Woodland Cemetery. Rev. Mr. Barnard, of the Westminster circuit, will conduct the funeral service at her late residence at 2 o'clock.

SHRINERS TO PARADE

Uniformed Patrol Will display its Charms Before Leaving for Atlanta.

There will be a dress parade of the uniformed patrol of Mocha Temple tomorrow evening, prior to the departure of the local Shriner for the annual pilgrimage, which this year is to be held in Atlanta, Ga. The patrol, in its Hussar uniforms, will parade the downtown streets to the representation that London and Mocha Temple will have at the monster conclave of the nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

WEIRD ORIENTAL BAND

Shriners Have One For Discouraging (?) Sweet (?) Music For Uniform Patrol.

When the Shriners of Mocha Temple leave for their annual pilgrimage on Sunday, they will be accompanied by the latest word in musical aggregations. It is a band of the weirdest sound, neither in this city and is scheduled for premier honors at Atlanta.

Noble Charles officer, Hydro electric fame, is a bandmaster. Remembering his boyhood days on the heather of old Scotia, Charles has gathered together eight pipers of guaranteed triple pipe, and has supplied them with those oriental pipes known as "hautboys." Several others of his band have been equipped with the real genuine toms toms. The combined effect of the two is said to surpass the wailing of the bagpipes a thousand fold.

In the words of Harry Bennett, secretary of the patrol—"It is some band!"

ASKS ABOLITION OF LEVEL CROSSINGS

Coroner's Jury Petitions Railway Commission to Do Away
With "Death Traps."

PLACES BLAME ON VICTIM

Jurors Find He Was Careless in Walking Onto Tracks —
Footboard Unguarded.

In view of the fact that so many deaths occur on railway tracks in London, Coroner Dr. R. MacLaren, and his jury inquiring into the death of William Garside, who was instantly killed as the result of being struck by Grand Trunk yard engine 1430, at the Wellington street crossing on May 2, last night, drew up a recommendation urging the Dominion railway commission to take prompt action to do away with the level crossings in London.

Victim Was Careless.

The jury found that the late Mr. Garside met his death as the result of his being guilty of gross carelessness in placing himself in the position he did, but agreed that if a man had been on the rear foot-board, the accident would in all probability never have happened.

Charles G. Hunter, the principal witness of the accident, in the witness box told how he and his wife, with a baby in a carriage, arrived at the south side of the tracks in time to see the gates go down, and that they went around and onto the tracks, but were blocked from crossing by the way-freight going east. Hunter stated that he had seen the engine strike Garside about the knees. Hunter yelled and signalled, but it was too late. Garside, who had been knocked down across the tracks, and crushed by the engine. Hunter said the engine at the time of the accident was going slowly, but he heard no warning signal from it.

Bell Was Ringing.

"The bell at the time of the accident was ringing, but I had not blown the whistle, and did not know I had hit a man until I heard a woman shout and received a stop signal," stated Engineer Stanley Sullivan, freeman, admitted that there was no man on the footboard of the engine at the time of the accident, and when questioned by George S. Gibbons, who appeared in the interests of the Garside family, stated that he did not know whether the railway act applied to a yard engine in this case or not.

Deaths

George Brown Dies.
The death of George Ernest Brown, aged 47, who resided with Richard Squires, lot 16, con. 12, Lobo Township, occurred in Victoria Hospital yesterday after an operation for appendicitis. The funeral will be held from Smith, Son & Clark's undertaking parlors, on Friday at 1 p.m. Interment will take place in St. George's Cemetery, con. 13, London Township.

REV. FATHER DOYLE CLOSING EUCCHARISTIC CONGRESS

Preaches Concluding Sermon at St. Peter's—School Children
Addressed.

The Third Diocesan Eucharistic Congress at St. Peter's cathedral, was brought to a close last evening by special devotions. Rev. Father Doyle, of the Redemptorist Order, preached the concluding sermon. He commented upon the greatness of the Sacrament of the Holy Eucharist, stating that it was God's greatest gift to mankind. He said that in it were contained God's greatest gifts and graces.

Father Doyle referred to David's great love for God saying that it surpassed human understanding in its immensity. He contrasted it with man's present-day weakness of faith for Christ.

"Poor human nature! We have the firm belief of saints and martyrs, in the Real Presence. They trusted and believed for twenty centuries.

If the clergy of the Catholic Church were to make the statement that we had power to raise the dead and had absolute proof of that power this church would not contain the thousands who would flock to witness. Yes, in the Holy Eucharist, Christ is made alive in the dead soul which has been in mortal sin. He strengthens the weak and heals the sick.

"If we were to tell you that we had power to give you grace, would you believe us? We have the power to shed in the struggle to learn the great secret. But Christ offers the wealth—love. Look at the sun, the moon and stars, the flowers, the sim and the black of grass, they are but a ray of God's goodness of the wealth of his love for humanity. We cannot measure the immensity of God's love for man.

"He has given his only Son in the holy sacrifice of the mass. He has given you all you have. How little we give to him in return for his gifts."

Father Doyle commented on the mystery of the Sacrament of the Holy Eucharist. To those outside the church it was a deep mystery. It required faith in the understanding of it. He quoted the words of Christ to St. Thomas: "Because thou hast seen and thou hast believed, blessed are they who have not seen and have believed."

NO BALL PARK SWITCH

Street Railway Will Not Put in Special Work to Accommodate Special Cars.

There will be no ball park switch put in by the street railway on Dundas street, West London, this year. Manager C. B. King made the definite statement to this effect this morning. Some time ago there was some talk of the company building a special switch to accommodate the special cars that are sent over to West London to accommodate the ball park crowds. It was claimed that a switch was necessary to handle the regular West London service properly.

"There was a big crowd there yesterday, and we had a number of cars waiting," said Mr. King this morning. "They handled the service all right. I thought, and the West London service proper did not suffer any, so I don't see any reason why we should put in a switch."

PRIESTS RETURNING

CONSERVATORY RECITAL

Capacity Audience Greeted Pupils of The Misses Steele and Brown.

The Auditorium was last evening filled to capacity, the occasion being a joint recital by piano pupils of Miss Steele and vocal pupils of Miss Belle Brown, of the London Conservatory staff. The opening number was a piano quartette by Misses E. Parsons, M. Threlkington, I. Brown and D. Wickerson, and was an enjoyable number. Piano solos by Misses Mildred Grand, Vonda Warman, Alberta Somerville, Annie Brock, Rhea Harris, Geraldine McInerney and Winifred Pearson were appreciated. Miss Helen Patterson and Miss Geraldine Bindner accompanied on the piano in which they were accompanied on the piano by Miss Steele, both showing great talent.

A chorus of 24 young ladies was a feature of the vocal work, the rendition of the "Barcarolle," from "Tales of Hoffman," by Wilson, provoking a special interest. Vocal solos by Misses Berna Sanders, Muriel Lancaster, Elva Hollingshead, Lillian Shortt, Zeila Gill, Hazel Gibson, Estelle McConnell, Iva Lewis, Edna Parsons, Margery Talbot, Gladys Shaw and Ruby Jenkins, were particularly well rendered.

The work throughout was artistic and showed the result of careful tuition. Miss Edna Davidson played violin obligatos, and Howard Fetherston the cello obligatos for several of the vocal numbers. Misses Steele and Brown acted as accompanists. Mr. Wilgous made a few introductory remarks regarding the work accomplished at the conservatory.

ANNUAL SESSION OF GIRLS' FRIENDLY SOCIETY

The diocesan annual meeting of the Girls' Friendly Society will convene on Saturday afternoon 11 o'clock, at the St. Peter's cathedral, when delegates will be present from all the parishes in the diocese. The meeting will open at 2 o'clock, and in the evening a social gathering will be held in St. Paul's rectory.

The Girls' Friendly Society was first founded in England in 1875, and has since that time extended throughout the world. Its motto is "Bear Ye One Another's Burden"; its first object, "To bind together in a society church women as members, and mutual help, for sympathy and prayer."

The branch in connection with St. Paul's is a very energetic one, and the members take great interest in parochial work.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

CURED A BAD ATTACK OF ECZEMA.

All skin diseases such as Eczema, Salt Rheum, Tetter, Rash, Boils, Pimples, and Itching Skin Eruptions, are always caused from the blood being in a bad condition, and it is impossible to eradicate them from the system unless you cure the blood.

It drives out all the humor from the blood, and makes it pure and rich, and not only are the unsightly diseases removed, and a bright clean complexion produced, but the entire system is renovated and invigorated at the same time.

Mrs. C. A. Day, Somerville, N.B., writes:—"Last spring I had a bad attack of Eczema. I tried several patent medicines as well as the medicine of a physician, but they seemed to make the disease worse. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and I did so.

The result that in two weeks time with the result that in two weeks time the sores began to disappear. I continued to take it until I had taken three bottles and they worked a complete cure."

which gave a faithful portrayal of life on Barnabas Quay, and was well deserving of the applause it was greeted with by a large audience.

Francis Cullis, as Nance, friend of the haughty belle, was the star of the cast. She was ably assisted by Mrs. Thornicroft, as the Belle. Miss Cullis' acting showed refinement and humor, while her singing expressed rare richness of tone. Mrs. Thornicroft captivated her audience by reason of her cleverness to depict scenes of widely-different character. Harry Clark, in his role, was excellent. A great ovation was given Joe Beer for his excessively amusing dancing.

The other members of the cast were well picked and showed marked ability. The ladies' chorus sang to advantage. The ladies' chorus sang to advantage. The their melody being harmonious. The mixed chorus of 60 voices showed considerable power.

The orchestra gave general satisfaction throughout the evening. C. E. Perry accompanied and directed the orchestra, and solos and choruses, in his usual efficient manner. The staging was effective.

London Advertiser

LONDON, FRIDAY, MAY 8.

A GREAT START.

It may sit next to a man he does not like at a ball game and become fairly good friends with him before the game is over. He would fight if anyone wiped felt on him at any other time, but at a ball game he'll stand for having his coat decorated with dust from human hoofs. It's the drama in baseball that "gets" everyone. Baseball is a gladiatorial struggle without bloodshed (unless it be the umpire's blood). At times that primordial lust for victory makes us blind, and we are apt to be ready to turn thumbs down as the Romans did, no matter what the cost.

The first league game of 1914, in which the London team appeared, was a contest worthy of the vast concourse that spread itself over the green acres of the ball fields that has been the theatre for the display of more human emotion and human striving than any other spot in London. Training camp advance notices and the city's famous loyalty to its players, together with the happy proclamation by the mayor of a half holiday, brought the city to the park. Hundreds were the guests of the directors, but thousands from office, shop, factory, kitchen and parlor, too, gave the players their united support.

Last and best, we humbled Toronto! Now bring on Ottawa, and the rest of 'em!

PRINCE ALEXANDER.

CANADA is again given a gracious compliment by the motherland. Prince Alexander of Teck, brother of Her Majesty the Queen, is to succeed the Duke of Connaught. A young soldier, who has had no experience with governments, he is set the task of winning his administrative spurs in a country which will welcome every friendly word he utters, every kindly nod to watching crowds. The Connaughts have won the hearts of Canadians; they are said to take leave of the nation with sincere regret. In the illness of the Duchess, the magnificent man who is her husband, found Canadian hearts full of sympathy. His charming daughter, the Princess Patricia, has been tantalized, feted, and photographed to no end. Her beauty of face and manner have been undimmed through it all.

Prince Alexander will be a dashing, romantic type. He will also, no doubt, have much of his royal sister's common sense and democracy, a combination that will appeal to Canadians.

THE CANADIAN NORTHERN.

IT TAKES a good deal of courage to stand the first loss, is a remark frequently made, with the addition, "and I wish I had taken it." The application of the Canadian Northern is the most important matter with which Parliament has dealt for years. One of the most important provisions is that made for foreclosure.

Provision is made for one director to represent the Government until default. The Canadian Northern Railway system is composed of thirty companies as given in the first schedule, and the number of companies in which stocks are to be transferred, as given in the first part of the second schedule is eighteen, and the mortgage securities and stocks to be transferred, subject to certain charges, as given in the second part of the second schedule number eleven, or in all forty-nine different subject matters of supervision, all large. This is an enormous contract for one man.

While everything is satisfactory, perhaps there is no need for even one man; but suppose default happens, and the provisions made for foreclosure have to be resorted to, what will Parliament have to face? In the first place, provision is made by which the governor-in-council can appoint directors in the place of those elected by the shareholders, and obviously the position of the Government would be that of mortgagees in possession, liable to account for every cent to the railway and its creditors. The right to foreclose is given to Parliament, and if Parliament authorizes it, the governor-in-council may declare the equity of redemption of the Canadian Northern foreclosed. The effect of this would be, that not only the stock, $10,000,000, held by the Government, but $60,000,000 still held by the Canadian Northern, would also be wiped out. The Government would own the Canadian Northern system, subject to all the rights of the provinces and others, including creditors. These claims would represent many millions of dollars, affecting ten thousand miles of railway, and affecting the forty-nine various railway interests referred to. Here is room for the most serious thought. If an individual finds it best often to have the courage to stand the first loss, should not the Government pause with long and anxious care, and seek to study out what the result might be? Should the Government not try to see the end from the beginning? The guarantee of forty-five millions is a large transaction, compared with what the country would be involved in, if everything does not go smoothly, and default happens, and foreclosure is resorted to.

It is plain that foreclosure is much more to be dreaded than the guarantee of the $15,000,000. It means taking over thirty railways, and involves forty-nine large railway transactions, set forth in the schedules. Is the country prepared to add to its Government-owned railways ten thousand miles? Is the Government prepared to assume all the remaining liabilities of the Canadian Northern, involving the forty-five millions multiplied several times? It would be in a large measure adopting the principle of Government-owned railways.

The remaining question is: Is there not a middle course? Let us hope if the guarantee is given there will be no default, but why not provide some remedy less extensive, less far-reaching and hard to estimate? Could there not be a first charge given on a definite part of the railway, equal in value to the forty-five millions? Could not to this be added bonds of undoubted value, so that the railways set forth in the first schedule could, in case of default, each stand on its own bottom, and the creditors of each look to it for payment?

It should not be overlooked, that while Parliament is given the power to foreclose, it is only the power to foreclose, subject to all the obligations and debts then existing. It is not a first mortgage the Government is getting, but a blanket mortgage of the various equities of redemption now held by the railway, and which cannot be financed by the methods heretofore sufficient for the requirements of the Canadian Northern. It would, therefore, be wise not to assume, if it can be avoided, the necessity to take control of the whole railway, but to secure, if even less adequately, the $45,000,000 guarantee in some other way not equivalent to making Canada a country of Government-owned railways.

THE GOSPEL AND THE BAR.

A SPEAKER at the Trade's and Labor Council meeting, Wednesday night, said that ministers should "preach the gospel and not so much material for the morning papers." It would be interesting to have this critic state exactly what he means.

Is there a difference between reading and annotating the gospels and preaching them? Certainly there is. To preach the gospel means more than to tell merely what it is; it means to illustrate it for the present day, to suggest its application to the business of this age as well as to all other ages. Of futile things there is probably nothing more futile than to keep repeating formulas without exemplifying them. Another feeble futility is to preach without practising. As an old poet said of the good parson: "Christ's love and the apostles twelve be taught, but first he followed it himself." Our friend criticizes ministers for watching hotel bars; but what about driving money-changers out of the temple, taking up the policeman's duty?

So preaching for the morning papers is a crime! The papers make a business of giving news, things worth while hearing about. A minister must not preach anything new, he must make no timely application of old truths, never place them in a new light as reflected in the things that want doing today! This is a curious doctrine.

The fact is we do want preaching of the gospel in the genuine sense of the word, backed up with plenty of practice.

We want ministers with the courage of conviction, who will attack the bar and other social wrongs. Ontario is going to have a chance this year of deciding between national temperance and national intemperance. The ministers should help in the coming campaign, and put themselves actively on the right side, politics or no politics. No good man has the right to hold back from the work to be done on any plea of rendering to Caesar the things that are Caesar's. That does not mean rendering to the liquor ogre the lives of women and children, the reason and honor of manhood. Preach and apply the gospel.

Let's hope yesterday is to be a precedent in 1914 baseball weather.

Next to the problem of the high cost of living that of naming the baby is the most complex.

Mrs. Fan was present in large numbers, scoring the game and disproving the slander that she does not understand.

Do the license commissioners of South and Centre Huron run the provincial secretary? Mr. Hanna has said almost as much.

Mrs. Pankhurst says that the only thing in creation that woman should fear is man. Wonder if she has heard of cows, mice, June bugs and noises in the dark?

The Duke of Connaught intended no affront in passing through Glencoe. His Royal Highness is the prisoner of an itinerary, whenever he goes, through doubtless he often wishes he could "do" the country informally.

Col. Roosevelt, while in Brazil, narrowly escaped death through disease and accident, and lost three of his party, one by drowning, one by violence, and one by madness. The Colonel himself is in bad physical condition as a result of his experiences. This time he was up against the real thing, but as always he was game, and Canadians are glad to know that he is safely back again, if a little shaken.

FREE WHEAT AND THE RAILWAYS

[Ottawa Free Press.] Free wheat would be ruinous to Canadian railways, said Mr. Frapp, and it is to be presumed that his hearers believed him. Perhaps the hon. member does not know that last season nearly fifty per cent. of the crop that was exported went through American territory by American railways, and from American ports. Of course, the wheat was under bond. This means that the Canadian farmer gained nothing, while

SUSPICIOUS OF UNCLE SAM.

[Toronto Star.] There is disquiet in Panama. One source of perhaps serious trouble may be that all Latin-Americans will be disposed to suspect that Uncle Sam, having built the Panama canal, is now moving down and proposes to occupy all the intervening territory. They will say that the canal was but an arm he threw out to hug the lower part of the continent to him.

THE ADVERTISER'S BIG DOUBLE SPORT PAGE

BIERBAUER'S SINGLE IN NINTH GIVES LONDON THE DECISION BEFORE RECORD CROWD OF FANS

Canadian League Opening Marked by a Notable Win From Toronto Club—Heck Strikes Out Ten Batters—Game Was Interesting and Exciting.

By "Jinx."

Louis Bierbauer's left-handed hitting and Mr. Murphy's loose-handed fielding, all in the ninth inning, were two of the things that enabled "Doc" Reising's pennant-rustlers to beat "Knotty" Lee's gang of Beavers from Toronto, in the regulation distance of the curtain-raising pastime at Tecumseh Park yesterday afternoon.

All that stood between the London team and an extra inning joust was the trusty stick of "Lefty" Louis and Mr. Murphy, the famous skating champion. The said Mr. Murphy was perched on second base, having a splendid view of the 4,500 raving souls in the audience in that eventful ninth, having arrived at that point through the generosity of Mr. Murphy, Mr. Lee's "sho' stop," who obligingly allowed E. Lamy's hit to percolate through him and stray out into the outer garden.

Provided with this opportunity, the famous skating champion improved it by stealing second in his own champion-like way; so you see quite a bit depended upon Mr. Bierbauer. With two gone, the situation was decidedly tense. Mr. Lamy was up there with the run needed to settle the argument. Mr. Bierbauer was up there with the bat to make the hit that would score the run that would win the game, and there you are.

Visions of late suppers and shades of night falling fast. Out in the box a slim gent named Kirley rubbed some more slippery elm on the ball, took another hitch in his pants and prepared to deliver. What the London first sacker did to that pill is now Canadian League history. He pushed it down the third base line just a foot or so inside the foul line, and it fell out in left field, while Mr. Lamy reported at the plate and the crowd dispersed.

It was a pleasing finish to the opening game of the 1914 Canadian League season in this city, and it placed the stamp—4,500 stamps, to be exact—of approval on the collection of balltossers the Caldwell dentist has chosen for London's 1914 team. The final score was 4 to 3.

Heck Struck Out Ten Men.

To Bobbie Heck, the leading twirler in the Canadian League last season, went the pitching honors of the day, and while the visitors secured 7 hits off his assortment, most of them were scattered, and the best they could do with him in some of the pinches was to strike out. Ten Toronto batters were retired by the Syracuse southpaw in this manner, and in the fourth, having fanned the side in order. He was a trifle wild, issuing five passes in all, but he was always strong when men were on bases, and with skillful support the Lee gang would have been lucky to score a run.

The London team showed a fondness for Kirley's assortment that produced two runs right off the reel in the first inning. They hit him at frequent intervals all through the game, but until the seventh were not able to score any more runs. In this inning they got to him for a brace of bingles and tied the score after the visitors had scored two in their half, and taken the lead.

The game was played under good opening day conditions. The sky, which had threatened rain all morning, cleared up shortly after noon, and Old Sol came out and beamed down on the festivities. The fans began gathering at the park early. A big crowd remained downtown to witness the start of the automobile parade, but by the time the procession arrived at the park the stands were pretty well filled, and the crowd was overflowing the field. By the time the game started the diamond was about the only place that was not overflowing.

BIG STRUGGLE IN LOCAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE SATURDAY

Asylum and Bolt Works, the Undeclared Teams, Meet on Carling Heights—Other Promising Battles.

The City League soccer fixtures tomorrow will have an important bearing on the league race, and considerable interest is attached to the games as a result. The struggle between the Asylum and Bolt Works teams is probably exciting the keenest interest, as neither team has been defeated so far this season.

Hard to Dope a Winner.

These teams will play on Carling Heights, and there is so little to choose between them that it is almost impossible at this distance to dope out the winner. The Asylum club has won three games and run up big scores on its opponents. The Bolt Works has won two games, and both were decisive victories. Referee F. Bryant will call the game at 4 o'clock, and it is likely the biggest crowd of rooters that has attended a City League game this season will be on hand. The teams will line-up as follows:

Bolt Works—Hall, goal; J. Green and S. Greening, backs; P. Stewart, left half back; G. Spilsburg, centre half back; G. Frost, right half back; W. Richardson, outside left; G. Moffatt, outside right; R. Ferris, centre; C. Green, inside left; R. Moulton, inside right.

Referee—F. Bryant.

St. Davids and Leonards Meet.

St. Davids and Leonards will meet on the Trafalgar street grounds at four o'clock. Both teams will have strengthened lineups and each is confident of winning. They have only participated in one game each this season and they should be an interesting one. Leonards will line-up as follows:

Goal, Coggin; backs, Reid and Sheard; halves, Williams, Haverley, Millman; forwards, Turner, Oakley, Leavy, Plumb and Wakefield. Skidmore, Jones and Francis will be reserves. J. Marshall will referee.

Liberal vs. Socials.

The Liberal Club and the British Social Union will meet in the other game. They will play on the Asylum grounds at 3 o'clock. The Socials have been putting up a good game so far this season, but the Liberals are confident of beating them, and they will present the strongest lineup they have shown this season. Charley Tagg will officiate.

McClary's Drop Out.

The McClary team has notified the league officials that it intends to drop out. It has a bye in the schedule this week but it is likely it will participate in any more games. Most of its players have found considerable difficulty in getting off in time on Saturday afternoon to play the games and the management thought it advisable for the sake of the league to withdraw from the league.

Christ Church May Enter.

An effort will be made to secure the Christ Church team to take the vacancy left by McClary's. The Anglicans have a strong team and have already played some exhibition games with City League clubs. The matter will likely be brought up at the next meeting of the league in Hyman Hall Thursday night of next week.

Diamond Clints From Yesterday's Struggle

Let's do it again today.

We felt certain that we would win that old game and we did it, by Heck.

Wasn't it the cute little finish though? Louis steps up with the scenery all set for a dime novel climax. Two out, two strikes, the bleachers shouting themselves hoarse at a—al—beats the cover off for a clean drive through the property around third.

Heck made himself strong with the fans when in the fifth, with the bases full, he struck out Ort. It was no mean stunt at that.

When it comes to being polite and giving the first game to your adversaries and all that, don't you know, we put our table manners and diamond manners on the shelf.

The knockers were conspicuous by their absence, yesterday.

And while we are on the subject, London fans show that they appreciate real ball, even when the thrillers are pulled by their rivals. When Trout made that long run into the foul territory to the right of the home plate and pulled down a difficult fly, the fans voiced their approval in a manner not to be misunderstood.

The "little of the old-time pep," was there with the fifty-odd varieties, alright.

It's not hard to see how Bierbauer stands in. The chorus "come on Louis, get a hit," as rendered by the innumerable small boys, makes his popularity a sure go.

Reising made a good impression with the fans. His quiet, gentlemanly, yet authoritative manner won instant recognition.

No Claude, the players will not wear tango trimmings on their uniforms.

The weather man smiled kindly on London fans. About noon the deluge broke tried to work his pumps overtime, but a cool wind damped his ardor and made him think better of it.

Bobbie had them bending after 'em all through the game. One or two times when he appeared to be up against it, he got out from under in a way that was highly satisfactory to his friends.

That score reminded one of the little couplet entitled, "you take one and then I will take one also."

Danford is some little receiver. He uses his head as well as his hands, and he doesn't let any green sward grow under his feet, either. He had a nice peg to second that comes to earth where the sliding rumor is found. Base runners will do well to take few chances with him at the receiving end.

Kirley is a good one and lost through hard luck more than anything else. He will be a formidable heavier for the Queen City aggregation during the season.

That boy Lamy in the centre garden has all the earmarks of a real fielder. The ear marks are in an advanced stage of development too, as shown by his performance in the field. With Cy Reidy and Long the "outsiders are covered to the Queen's taste."

Eddie Linnenburn is one little speedy second sacker. His whole trouble seems to be that he wants to get the pill on its way before he has scraped an acquaintanceship with it.

That "physiological moment" stuff was worked overtime, but its dope that makes the real ball game.

NORTHERN ONTARIO BASEBALL LEAGUE HAS BEEN FORMED

Nineteen Teams Have Been Entered and Four Groups Are Arranged.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WALKERTON, May 7.—The Northern Ontario Baseball League has been formed and a great deal of interest is taken at the present time in the organization, particularly in the towns represented by the league. The league is composed of four series, the nineteen different teams entered being grouped off to the best advantage possible. The different groups are as follows:

No. 1 Group—Walkerton, Hanover, Durham, Chesley.
No. 2 Group—Owen Sound, Meaford, Warton, Collingwood, Timbuctoo.
No. 3 Group—Kincardine, Wingham, Brussels, Lucknow and Teeswater.
No. 4 Group—Clifford, Harriston, Palmerston, Mount Forest, Arthur and Belwood.

A meeting will be called this week to arrange the schedule and elect officers.

RICKY, OF BROWNS, RELEASES A SHORSTOP

CLEVELAND, May 7.—Manager Ricky of the St. Louis American League club tonight announced that he had released Shortstop Walsh to the Rochester club of the International League.

JOHNNY KILBANE WILL MEET JOHNNY GRIFFITH

CLEVELAND, May 7.—The intention of Featherweight Champion Johnny Kilbane to campaign in the lightweight division was evidenced today when he signed articles to fight Johnny Griffith, of Akron, Ohio, at Canton, Ohio on July 4. Griffith, lightweight champion of Ohio, has fought most of the leading lightweights of the country. He and Kilbane will weigh in at 135 pounds ringside.

Heck knows how to hold back the pill if he wants to. Turning suddenly in the sixth he was about to throw to second when he saw that no one was at home on that "crisis." He kicked his fingers just in time on the horse-hide to save a tad slip that would have let in a run.

Some game! Some crowd! Some team!

Bierbauer's hit in the ninth was the nicest little baseline drive a fan could wish for. Maybe it didn't cheer the hearts of 5,000 fans. Now we guess it didn't.

That leaf aggregation is there.

Toronto was there with the "pap!" Make no mistake Trout is no fish.

His whip is better than ever and his was some catch. It brought the stands to their feet (stands have no feet but the crowds have).

This boy Lamy is some speed king. "He's no lamb—he's a bear," said one of the fans.

He is as fast on the paths as our own little Lenny and there is some question as to whether he isn't faster. A nice 100 yards dash between the two would be a good one.

"Cy" Reidy is still with us as chief comedian.

Danford's two sack pole was a mighty swat. It was a pity he was caught cold off second after smashing it.

Kirley pitched himself out of some bad holes. He used his head even if he had an error or two chalked up against him.

Ragged fielding in pinches robbed Heck of what should have been a no run game.

Six strike-outs in the second, third, and fourth innings was a pretty fair record for Bobby.

Knotty Lee is the same as ever. The league may change but not Knotty. His uniform has changed it is true but not his tongue.

Doc Reising tried the Hughie Jennings "pose" for a while, but it was too much for his knee. He squatted for the rest of the game.

Mullen, showed a reversal of the form he has shown in his game against the Wobly League champions.

Warning up before the game was called, "Doc" showed the fans some real speed.

That catch of Lamy's was some stunt. He picked the pill right off the top of the grass.

The fans missed Matty from behind the plate but this chap Danford looks good.

Both Trout and Danford had wild throws to their credit. They caught nice games notwithstanding.

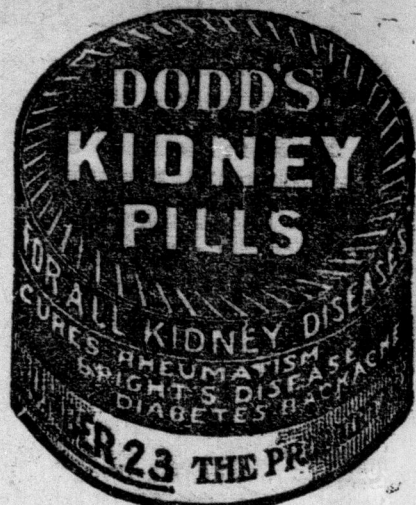

ST. THOMAS MAY DROP OUT OF W. F. A. GROUP

Convenor Charley Hollins of the local W.F.A. group announced this morning that the schedule for the group would be out in a few days. The delay is caused by the St. Thomas club not being sure of having a team. Strathroy has a good team and it will be a member of the group. If St. Thomas drops out, the group will be reduced to four teams which will be just as good as the five team district.

DEADEN BASEBALLS

Plan to Make Home Run Getting More Difficult.

Chicago, May 8.—Umpires and managers of the Federal league were asked yesterday, to give their opinion of the change made to deaden the official ball of the league. It was thought by President Gilmore that too many balls were hit for home runs. A layer of cotton has been wound around the balls used in the past few days. The cotton layer under the cover, it was thought, would reduce their resilience fifteen per cent.

Suffered Intense Agony With His Back.

Kidneys Were The Cause.

Weak back is caused by weak kidneys, and on the first approach or evidence of kidney trouble Doan's Kidney Pills should be used, and serious trouble avoided.

Doan's Kidney Pills go right to the seat of the trouble, cure the weak aching back, and prevent any further complications arising.

Mr. John Briggs, Whitewood, Sask., writes:—"I am sending you this testimonial out of pure gratitude, as I am not a believer in patent medicines, but I got so run down, that I became quite willing to give anything a trial. I paid a visit to our local druggist, and told him I was suffering intense agony with my back. He told me I had kidney trouble, and handed me a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, saying it was the best thing he could possibly give me. I tried them, and the effect was certainly marvelous. They are worth $10.00 a box of anybody's money, and I would not be without a box by me. I certainly owe my present condition to Doan's Kidney Pills."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Madam, have you ever been to a Sale where the very low-priced "specials" were such as you wouldn't have?

—And have you bought some of the higher-priced articles—the price of which was "all right," but no lower than you would pay anywhere, anytime?

Did you realize you had been caught just like a fish by a skillful fisher? The store-keepers KNEW you wouldn't buy the shoddy thing they advertised. It was simply the BAIT thrown out to tempt you into taking the HOOK of the regular-priced article.

While the world endures, no doubt there will be people willing so to be caught, but if you prefer your sales without "bait," we invite you to INVESTIGATE this Raphael Sale of Suits.

Don't compare these prices with "bait" prices elsewhere. Take the price YOU are actually willing to pay and compare the style and quality obtainable here AT THAT PRICE with what the SAME PRICE will buy anywhere else. Isn't that fair?

HAM—that is, real, good ham—is not so easy to get. For there are about as many kinds of ham as there are teas. The unvarying sweetness, juiciness and tender flavor of Rose Ham is due to our recently perfected process of curing that follows closely the Old English method. By this means all the natural flavor and goodness of the ham is preserved and the result is that Rose Ham is always the same—mild, delicate, delicious.

Chas. Nafel, on Shore, Directs But Nothing Is Found.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
GODERICH, May 7.—An effort was made today by Capt. Malcolm McDonald to locate the vessel that is supposed to have gone down in Lake Huron off Nafel's Point between here and Bayfield, in the disastrous storm of Nov. 9.
After the great storm and while the lake was still raging, Charles Nafel saw, far out from shore, what he took to be the hull of a large vessel in the trough of the sea. It is supposed that this object was either the Wexford or the McGean. Bodies of members of the Wexford crew drifted into shore below Bayfield, which is seven miles south of Nafel's Point, while several bodies of the crew of the McGean floated ashore between Nafels and Bayfield. It was at Nafel's that the bodies of the first engineer and second engineer of the McGean were recovered, and it was near there also that three bodies belonging to the McGean crew were picked up, lashed to a raft.
Went Out Two and a Half Miles.
Today Capt. Malcolm McDonald and his nephew, Roy McDonald, with another, rowed out for two and a half miles, taking soundings as they proceeded, while Mr. Nafel signalled the course to them from the shore with a flag.
The water was beautifully calm, but not sufficiently clear to render anything visible for five feet below the surface. Nothing developed from the trip except the establishment of a range for future operation which must apparently be pursued at at rather distance out from shore. The water

THE M'ADOO-WILSON WEDDING WAS SIMPLE

Less Than a Hundred Persons Present to See President's Daughter Married.

[Canadian Press.]
WASHINGTON, May 7.—Miss Eleanor Roosevelt Wilson, youngest daughter of the President and Mrs. Wilson, became the bride tonight of William Gibbs M'Adoo, secretary of treasury, in the historic blue room of the White House. Less than a hundred persons—and but a few officials—heard the low toned voice of Rev. Sylvester W. Beach, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Princeton, N. J., where the Wilson family has worshipped for years, as he united in marriage a member of the Cabinet and the daughter of the President of the U. S.

It was a simple ceremony, brief but solemn—the radiant faces of the bride and groom reflecting the happiness of the hour. For the President and Mrs. Wilson it was a touching moment as they gave away a daughter for the second time within a year. Around them stood their relatives and friends—a small group—for it was a family affair, much the same kind of a home wedding one would see in any American household, though the historic interior of the White House, with its masses of lilacs and ferns, the uniformed aides, and the presence of members of the Cabinet and the vice-president, presided for the function an official aspect.

It was in contrast, nevertheless, to the wedding of last November. There were no uniformed diplomats, no members of the Senate House, or the supreme court. This was the wish of the bride and groom, carried out to the letter, and except for an afternoon of gaiety among the young folks with the busy anticipation that always precedes a wedding, the day and evening moved by quietly and quickly. The ceremony started at 6 o'clock sharp, and lasted but fifteen minutes.

The Presbyterian single ring service was used with the characteristic words "Love, honor and obey."

THE C. P. R. PUTS ON TWO NEW FLYERS

MONTREAL, May 7.—Chicago, Toronto and Montreal will be brought together by the new traffic arrangements between the Canadian Pacific and the Michigan Central Railways.

The arrangement with the Michigan Central will give a double service between the cities, with greatly reduced running time, whilst the new schedule will improve the day service between Ontario points.

The new trains will go on from May 31 next and will be known as "The American" from Montreal to Chicago, Montreal, Toronto and Western Ontario, and "The Canadian" from Chicago to Montreal, the eastbound train leaving Chicago at 9:30 a.m. daily, arriving at Toronto at 11:20 p.m. and reach Montreal at 9 a.m.

The westbound train will leave Montreal daily at 8:45 a.m., arrive Toronto at 5:40 p.m., leave at 6:10 p.m., reach Detroit at 11:35 p.m., and Chicago the next morning at 7:40.

EXETER.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
EXETER, May 7.—The James Street League held a debate, entitled "Resolved that Home Rule would be a benefit to Ireland and the British people." On the affirmative were J. Chittick and Chester Hartley; and the negative Leon Urthie and Joseph Davis. The negative side won, although the other side put up a good debate. It was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

RONUK on Linoleum

Many people do not appreciate the necessity of a dressing for linoleum. Linoleum is really quite porous. Water and dust penetrate the pores and rot the fibre and fabric, making it brittle and easily worn through, and causing it to crack.

RONUK FLOOR POLISH

—prevents this and doubles the life of linoleum. A light application of Ronuk seals up all these pores, preserves the fibre, retains its pliability, and brightens its appearance. Ronuk produces a smooth surface from which all dust may be wiped with a dry cloth, it is never necessary to scrub it. Ronuk is sanitary. Try Ronuk on your linoleum as well as on your hardwood floors, and you will be surprised.

MAKING CERTAIN THE PROVISION OF LOTS OF OIL FUEL

British Steamship Companies' Heads, With Earl Grey, Buy Properties.

[Canadian Press.] San Francisco, May 8.—Earl Grey, the former Governor-General of Canada, before leaving last night for Los Angeles, announced the personnel of a syndicate which will spend millions of money for the purchase of two of the largest oil companies in California. His associates are: Lord Pirrie, head of the White Star Steamship Line; Sir Thomas Royden, deputy chairman of the directorate of the Cunard Steamship Company; William Anderson, leading shipbuilder of Denmark; Sir William Garston, who is famous for his work in Egyptian irrigation projects; Sir Edward Ward, former secretary of the British War Office, and head of one of England's largest steamship companies; Andrew Weir, president of the Weir Steamship Company. Earl Grey will be the chairman of the directorate. "The British Government is neither directly nor indirectly back of the deal," said the earl.

CROWD WAITED 50 MINUTES FOR DUKE

People of Strathroy and Vicinity Were Rewarded at Last.

[Special to The Advertiser.] STRATHROY, May 7.—One of the largest crowds that ever assembled at the Grand Trunk station witnessed the royal train come into Strathroy at 8 o'clock this evening. Crowds came in from the surrounding country anxious to have a glimpse at his royal highness. The citizens of the town turned out in great numbers, and the crowd lined up along the tracks for over two blocks. The train passed the stations, and came to a standstill near Canadoc street. Everything was very quiet within the train, while dinner was served, and the people thronged about looking and watching for a chance to see the duke. As the time drew near for the train to depart the Strathroy band appeared on the scene and played a few selections.

Began To Get Uneasy. At about 8:50 the people began to get uneasy as they failed to see any of the royal party. A few minutes later the engine blew the signal that the train was about to depart, and the crowd felt disappointed. Slowly the door of the observation car opened, and Princess Patricia, with the duke following, appeared on the rear platform of the car. Men, women and children broke the silence with an uproar of cheers, and the duke and duchess waved their hands and shouted, "Long Live the Duke."

As the train departed the crowd followed for some little distance waving their handkerchiefs as a token of farewell. The royal party will go as far as Beachville tonight and remain there till some time in the morning. While his royal highness remained here several telegrams were received congratulating him on his birthday.

Prudential Bill Passes Committee. OTTAWA, May 7.—The bill incorporating the Prudential Life of Canada passed the banking and commerce committee today after a warm discussion. The clause providing that before commencing business the company must have at least $100,000 capital was passed after the voting down of an amendment by N. W. Nesbitt that it should be $100,000 of "unimpaired capital." The Minister of Finance said that before a license was granted their would be a complete and careful investigation of the company's affairs.

MARSHALL Ventilated Mattress

You cannot rest and refresh yourself thoroughly if your bed is lumpy, matted or saggy. The resilience of the MARSHALL is just as great after one year, or ten years' use as after the first night. This can be said of no mattress stuffed with hair or cotton felt.

The MARSHALL is composed of a thousand little steel springs, each working independently of the other, with a light covering of fine sterilized hair. The air circulates through every part of the interior, being admitted through ventilators at the ends of the mattress.

It is more comfortable, more sanitary, and the most durable mattress made.

Is Well Pleased With Ford Service

FORD, Ont., May 8.—"While in London, Ontario, recently," said G. M. McGregor, general manager of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, "I met personally a number of Ford owners, and was delighted to find that our efforts to give good service through our branches and dealers were highly commended. One owner, in expressing his satisfaction, emphasized the very feature that we have been endeavoring to make the cardinal principle of our service, the idea that each owner is a unit of the whole. He expressed himself something after this fashion: "I am impressed with Ford service because after experiencing it for four years I feel as though I were a part—a real part—of the Ford family. It is not as though I were dealing with an individual dealer, more or less a stranger to me and to his own factory. The attention the branch here gives to my needs, as well as that received from outside dealers when touring, has always been executed with such a willing spirit that I feel as though we were all brothers in one big family. That is the style of service we are aiming to give all along the line and we are doing our utmost to see that our intentions are carried out. Promises and intentions are one thing, however, and fulfillment quite another. The owner is the only one in a position to pass judgment accurately and his opinion is worth considerably more than all the service talk a factory executive or a dealer can hand out. He is the fellow who can tell you how quickly his order for a repair part was filled and whether or not the man who overhauled his car did a good job. "And that is the reason why I considered the remarks of my friend in London so gratifying and so important. He is in a position to know and he proves that sometimes service ideals are actually realized."

An English Paper Suggests the Duke As Indian Viceroy

Believes He Would Be Enthusiastically Welcomed by the People.

London, May 8.—(Montreal Daily Mail cable).—The Daily Graphic, speaking of the appointment of H. S. H. Prince Alexander of Teck as governor-general of Canada, says: The question arises whether it is impossible for the Empire to still take advantage of the sterling qualities of the Duke of Connaught, and his splendid vice-regal abilities. The term of the present viceroy of India expires next year, and if considerations of health do not stand in the way, the appointment of the Duke of Connaught to this, the highest post under the crown, would be enthusiastically welcomed in India, and would carry on the splendid work which the King and Queen commenced at the great Imperial Durbar."

Nervous Trouble Followed By Locomotor Ataxia

Treatment From Doctors Proved of No Avail — Was Fully Restored by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

It has been said that "nervous people are the salt of the earth." You only have to look around you to prove this. You find the nervous, high-tensioned, active-brained men and women in the highest positions in the land.

The enormous expenditure of nervous energy made by such natures too frequently leads to nervous breakdown. Worry, excessive mental work and shock such as referred to in this letter are often the immediate cause of nervous collapse. Recovery is often slow and tedious, and doctors, as well as the sufferers, lose patience.

There can no longer by any doubt that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the most effective of nerve restoratives. There are many thousands of cures on record similar to the one described in this letter:

Mrs. T. F. Tweedie, Brighton, Ont., writes:—"For years I was troubled with the stomach, and have always been of a nervous temperament. The death of my husband was a great shock to me, and a few months later I was prostrated by nervous trouble. Locomotor ataxia developed later, and I was in a bad condition."

"I took treatment from different doctors, but did not gain until I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. When I had used five boxes I was so fully restored that I was like a different person. I am sure that the Nerve Food is a good medicine, and have told many people about the remarkable way in which it has restored my health."

DUKE CONGRATULATES VETERANS AT SARNIA

[Special to The Advertiser.]

SARNIA, May 7.—James Cushing, aged eighty, a veteran of the Crimean war was the happiest man in Sarnia tonight. He was standing watching the close of the celebration late this afternoon when the Duke of Connaught noticed the four medals he was wearing.

His Royal Highness stopped at once and turned towards the old man who at once drew up and gave the Duke a military salute. For nearly five minutes the duke talked to Mr. Cushing about the war and how he won the medals, and in leaving congratulated him heartily.

Earlier in the afternoon the Duke spoke for a few minutes also to Sergeant Gilbert, who wears medals for services in the Boxer rebellion in China and the Boer war.

His Royal Highness was so pleased with the reception given him by the school children that just before he was leaving he asked Mayor Dagan as a special favor to proclaim Friday as a holiday for the school children. The request was at once granted.

WINTER WHEAT CROP

Official Estimate Puts Yield Much Higher Than Last Year.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, May 7.—The first official estimate of the size of the crop of winter wheat was made today in the May crop report of the United States department of agriculture, issued at 2:15 p.m., as follows:

The average condition of winter wheat on May 1 was 55.9 per cent of normal; compared with 55.6 per cent on April 1; 51.9 per cent on May 1, 1913, and 55.5 per cent, the average for the past ten years on May 1.

The area of winter wheat remaining on May 1 to be harvested was about 35,387,000 acres, or 1,119,000 acres less than the area planted last autumn, but 2,688,000 acres more than the area harvested last year (23,699,000 acres).

The condition on May 1 is indicative of a yield per acre of approximately 17.8 bushels, assuming average variations to prevail thereafter. On the estimated area to be harvested, this would produce a final crop of 620,000,000 bushels, compared with 523,561,000 bushels harvested in 1913, and 399,914,000 bushels in 1912.

Tuberculosis were told today by Dr. George Mannheimer, of New York, that the Friedmann vaccine had exhibited "neither curative nor preventative powers," and that it could not be recommended.

That some tubercular patients received marked advantages if they were given more vigorous exercise than the usual one of walking, was outlined in a paper by Dr. Charles W. Mills and Herbert Mason King, of Liberty, N. Y. Their investigations indicated, however, that most consumptives do not go to a sanatorium too late.

CHAPTER IX.
Endearing Young Charms.

Molly ordered one of the cars for ten o'clock, and promptly on the hour Algernon rolled to the door, feeling that all was well again, for the girl's voice over the telephone had been friendly, and the good-natured tones of Molly O'Toole, and not the austere ones of Mrs. Todd she was wont to assume when she sought to keep him in his place. Molly appeared on the terrace, drawing on her gloves. She paused a moment in the full glory of the summer sunshine that flooded the front of the house, the lawn, the woods and the sparkling sea. The morning, as it advanced, had become clear, warm, drowsy, the air heavy with the odor of freshly-cut grass and moist, newly-turned earth, while the breeze that wandered seaward brought with it the scent of osunum and sun-warmed pine needles. The birds raised a joyous, discordant clamor among the trees, and the gardeners, in the distance, came the steady hum of a threshing machine.

Pushing in the open doorway, Molly drank in the sweetness of the morning, head uplifted, a graceful, slender figure with the background of ivy and brown stone walls. Her gown, as usual, was white, exquisite in its well-made, perfectly fitting simplicity, her large, charming eyes, the color of the sea, and between the embroidered hem of her gown and the rim of her dainty white shoes, one caught a glimpse of slim ankles encased in the softest of white silk stockings. She carried herself with a girlish dignity that was peculiarly emphasized by the saucy little nose and the dimples at the corner of her crimson mouth. Algernon gazed at her with the calm satisfaction of an artist in his subject, and the gardener, weeding the pansy bed at the foot of the terrace steps, stopped his labor to stare at her.

She wished the gardener a good morning, nodded to Algernon and climbed down with it the most graceful of glances, amused understanding that flitted him with a warm glow of delight.

"What do you think," she asked, as they turned out of the gates, "do I act the great lady well?"

"You are one," declared Algernon, his voice a thrill with the glance she had given him.

"Do I act like a rich one?" she persisted. "One the money horn?"

"I couldn't do it better," declared Algernon.

"You?" she laughed. "I always feel," said he airily, "that I and perfection are one." "That must be comforting," said she. "It is," agreed Algernon. "Why didn't you come in swimming this morning?"

"I started, but I found the beach occupied. He didn't get away, though, and I crept back. Is he the stranger we raced with?"

"Yes," said Algernon. "He won't come again, though. He is only waiting for a part of his car to come from Boston, and then he is going on to Canada with his mother."

"I hope he won't come again," said she. "I like to swim before breakfast, and I should hate to give it up."

"He won't come," said Algernon reassuringly.

They said no more as they rode to the village. Molly was busy with thoughts for the coming lawn party, and Algernon with thoughts of her. He would win her from her mother, he would keep her for himself. His mother always said that he would be married simply because of the money he owned. He would show her that that was not so, that, unaided, unknown, a humble chauffeur, he could win the one girl worth winning away from money itself. He would beat Hancock in the race for a woman's hand, Hancock with the advantage of his wealth and position, he himself in the humble guise of a servant, without money or reputation.

They stepped in front of the village store, and while Molly went in, Algernon sat in the car and dreamed in the drowsy warmth of the sun. He caught a glimpse of Mr. Holmes lounging on the porch of the hotel, but passed him simply with a wave of the hand. Mr. Holmes made no attempt to claim his friendship. Presently Molly returned, her arms full of bundles, and accompanied to the door by the admiring Higgins.

The storekeeper helped her into the car and arranged her bundles with great care. "Don't forget tomorrow and my party," said she gaily.

Higgins beamed and swore he would be there.

"Can't I send my car for you and your wife?"

Higgins protested, and after a good-natured argument, Molly bade him good-by and turned to Algernon.

"Home," said she, in the expressionless tones of one addressing an automaton, not daring to catch his eye. With a face as expressionless as the tones of her voice, Algernon started the car and turned it toward Castle Grace.

Molly leaned back in the deep soft seat and gazed up the long dusty road through half-shut sleepy eyes. The car glided along smoothly, with a soothingly monotonous purr of the engines. On one side of the road lay fields of ripening grain, and on the other side were the woods and the ocean of which one could catch glimpses now and then through the trees. It was very warm and quiet, with only the insects to buzz and drone. The bees and a seemingly endless number of small yellow butterflies darted among the flowering brambles on each side of the road. The goldenrod flamed by the wayside in the midst of asters, and great heavy-headed milkweed, lightening the dull brown bushes of late summer. Peace covered all and seemed to tuck one in as a downy bed quilt on a cold night in winter.

Suddenly Molly opened her eyes wide and glanced aside at her companion. The little lumps hidden behind the long lashes danced and the dimples appeared at each corner of her bewitching mouth. "Joe," said she, "it's worth it."

Algernon turned and smiled down at her.

the piquant face beneath the brim of the big white hat.

"What is worth what?" he asked, amused.

"The last two months. No matter what happens, they can't be taken away from me. I have really felt what it means to be rich, and no one can change that, whether I remain so or not. It's grand to have nothing to do, to lie in bed and have your breakfast brought to you, to order this and that and the other, and have someone run and fetch them for you, to have clothes, clothes, clothes, until you don't want any more. Money! It means a lot. No wonder men lose their souls for it." There was a hard ring in her sweet voice and an expression of greed crossed her face like the swift shadow of a cloud across a tiny brook.

"Nonsense!" said Algernon. "If you were old and fat and ugly and had indigestion and rheumatism, you wouldn't think money is everything."

"It would be compensation for the rest of everything that I didn't have. Don't talk to me about love and peace and happiness going hand in hand with poverty. I know. I have tried both now, wealth and poverty." She laughed. "Poverty," she said, "and she flung out her hands with a gesture of mingled abhorrence and wisdom. "Poverty grinds a man's soul to pieces!"

"Oh, rot!"

"Do you like being poor?" She challenged him with her bright eyes on his face.

Algernon thought of the last two months of pleasant novelty he had spent peddling with James Mortimer Worth. He had not had a worry on his mind, and he was always subconsciously aware that he had but to telegraph or write his lawyers, name the amount he wanted, and it was his. He nevertheless labored under the illusion that he knew what it meant to be poor.

"There are a lot worse things than poverty," he sneered.

"You are a man, and men miss half the trouble of this world. Women get it all in their eyes."

"See here," said Algernon, "I can't argue. I never could. Tell me what you want to say and I will say it."

"No one can argue on this subject," said she calmly. "All have to agree with me."

"All don't," returned Algernon. "The majority may, I don't deny it. But that's because the majority don't look at it in the right way. They look on it as nothing but a burden, and forget that it is really an incentive."

UPSET STOMACH, COSTIVE, BILIOUS, CASCARETS TONIGHT---DIME A BOX

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means your stomach is sour—your liver is torpid—your bowels constipated. It isn't your stomach's fault—it isn't indigestion—its biliousness and constipation. Try Cascarets; they sweeten the stomach, remove the sour, fermenting food and foul gases; take bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter from the bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret tonight straightens you out by morning.

Our Own Preparations---Goods That We Guarantee

When customers call for trade-marked advertised goods, we supply them at lowest cut prices. We don't follow the usual practice of trying to sell "something just as good." But when a customer asks us to recommend a medicine we prefer to name our own, because we can back them up with the strongest kind of a guarantee. Each preparation is made from a thoroughly tested formula and from the best materials.

COLONEL HUGHES

Col. Hughes declared, but what kept him from sleeping nights was the fact that the press had been so full of platitudes on peace he feared that anyone who sought to keep up the militia was looked upon as a bloodthirsty person. While the talk had been all of peace the world had in the past fourteen years seen some of its most ruthless wars, and of these he called the roll from South Africa to Mexico.

"Don't forget Ulster," remarked Mr. Lemieux.
"If you would know how Ulster would fight, look at what Stonewall Jackson's corps did in Shenandoah Valley," said Col. Hughes.
Strikes Are Civil Wars.
"When the Mexican troubles broke, the peace organization of the United States forgot its principles, and wired President Wilson that the league was not for peace at any price. So long as men were what they are today there was constant danger of war. A hundred and thirteen thousand criminal convictions last year and the importation of thirty-three million dollars' worth of whiskey and tobacco gave a fair indication of our moral standard. Strikes were incipient civil wars, and Canada had seen many recently. In Canada, as elsewhere, the essential of peace was readiness for war. A picture of Canada, invaded was drawn by Col. Hughes. "It is the country that has invaded and overrun that suffers," he declared.

Benefits of War.
War was not without beneficial results, for after each war there had been a period of splendid intellectual development. In war time, self-indulgence, which in peace masqueraded as religion gave way to self-sacrifice. Col. Hughes eulogized Col. Roosevelt and his declaration that the finest South American republics were those which kept their military forces up to a high standard. If Canada were invaded, he said, the whippers would lose more in a month than it cost to run the whole militia department. Stock gambling and commercial enterprises were the cause of wars, and though the soldier was never in favor of war, he was the first to face the music. He had heard with approval, Sir Wilfrid Laurier say, when Canadian fishermen were protesting the Palma trophy victory, that every man should have a horse, saddle and rifle.

Not He!
"Everyone stands off and dare not touch Quebec with a pair of tongs. Not me. I carry my work right into Quebec. Here am I, a fire-eating Orangeman, proud to inspect 4,000 Catholic cadets under the charge of 1,600 priests at Montreal," remarked the colonel.
He said that last year the department was giving military training to 12,000 school teachers, and since he took office 17,000 officers and teachers had taken out certificates as military instructors. All over the country, he said, drill halls were being erected for drill halls to encourage the training of boys. If he could get the money, he would erect them right away. Only $4,000,000 had been spent on drill halls since confederation, and of these 50, costing $2,360,000, had been erected since the Borden Government took office. "Military drill keeps the boys and girls from getting around these nickle shows," he affirmed. "My aim is first the development of fine young manhood and womanhood and second defence."

What Could Have Been.
Charges of reckless extravagance in the erection of drill halls were baseless. Each mile of the National Transcontinental Railway would have constructed ten drill halls and the total cost of the railway would have built a drill hall 170 yards broad clear across the continent, and the amount spent on the Newmarket canal would have erected a drill hall, and the useless dredging, wharves and breakwaters during the past twenty years would have constructed 1,500, and if only want 50 this year. "The seaward wharf cost $200,000, and the expenses of the late lamented technical education commission would have built ten. How many would the last year's European representation asked Mr. Lemieux. "Two" was the reply, "and the automobiles one."
"The value of St. Helens Island and L'Anse-au-Loup in Montreal would build and maintain all of the drill halls, and rise ranges which Canada would need for the next hundred years. "How many would the Bonnie Belair deal build?" asked Mr. Kite. Col. Hughes assured the House that Canada had real need for only about 1,500 men. At present there were but 7,427 men in the militia, however, there were 44,680 cadets being trained, 23,880 members of civilian rifle clubs, 500,000 on the militia reserve and 18,000 men organized into corps and sections to be equipped. He estimated the total at 724,197, which with the instructors trained since 1911, made a grand total of 736,157.

In the fiscal year just closed the cost of the militia had been but five and two-thirds per cent of the revenue of Canada; that the year before he had spent but 1.5 per cent on militia. He said that while in the last Liberal year more than eight millions had been spent. Compared with the militia expenditures of Germany, Britain, the United States and Australia the Canadian defense bill was a modest thing.
The First Row.
The first row came after dinner. Mr. Macleod, of Sherbrooke, said that the quarters of the militia of that town which was also the meeting place of St. George's Society, was not run upon lines calculated to encourage straight shooting.

"The member has blackguarded St. George's Society behind his back," shouted Col. Hughes.
There was a roar of protest from the Liberal side, and the speaker demanded the withdrawal of the unparliamentary language.

"To say that an honorable member blackguards someone is pretty strong language," Chairman Eldon said. "Withdraw, withdraw," shouted Liberal members. Col. Hughes shook his head.

Chairman Eldon said the minister admitted he had not used the word blackguard regarding any member.
"The minister cannot get up and say he did not say what every member present just heard him say," declared Mr. Knowles. "The expression must be withdrawn, and it is your duty, Mr. Chairman, to compel him to withdraw."

Even a Manly Man.
Mr. Campbell said that if the minister were even a manly man, let alone an honorable soldier, he would withdraw an offensive and insulting expression. Col. Hughes attempted to proceed with his remarks. Dr. Michael Clark rose and pressed for the chairman's ruling, stating that the minister had used the expression, had been very near being disorderly.

"I didn't apply it to the member for Sherbrooke," declared Col. Hughes.
"Everyone here heard you and knows you did," replied Mr. Knowles. He asked Premier Borden what he thought of the propriety of his minister's language.

"The minister has stated that he didn't apply it to the member," replied Mr. Borden.

"And did you believe him when he said

FOR DELICATE CHILDREN

A Mother's Letter to Mothers.

Mrs. E. W. Cooper of Bloomfield, N. J., says: "My child, seven years old, was cold and was weak and quite run down in health. She had been in this condition for about six weeks when I began giving her Vinol. It was a wonderful help to the child, breaking up her cold quickly and building up her strength beside. I have also found Vinol a most excellent tonic for keeping up the children's strength during a siege of whooping cough. Vinol is a wonderful combination of two world-famed tonics—the medicinal body building elements of cod liver oil and iron for the blood, therefore it is a perfectly safe medicine for children, because it is not a patent medicine, everything in it is printed upon every package, so mothers may know what they are giving their little ones.
Therefore we ask every mother of a weak, sickly or ailing child in this vicinity to try Vinol on our guarantee. Anderson & Nelles, Drugists, 268 Dundas street, London, Ont.

GRADUATES IN LONDON
[Special to The Advertiser.]
BLYTH, May 7.—Miss Annie Spafford has passed her final examination at the St. Joseph's Hospital, London, and is now a qualified trained nurse. She will receive her degree at the hospital on Friday.

The farmers are being kept back with their seedling operations on account of the recent heavy rains, but the present prospects are for a heavy yield of hay fruit, etc.
Miss Lily Carr, who has been taking a course of study at the college for deaconess at Toronto for the past couple of years, returned home today and was very successful in her examinations, having taken an average of 82 per cent. on the past years subjects.

New Home Treatment For Removing Hair
(Modes of Today.)
The following formula is now almost universally used by beauty specialists for banishing hairy or fuzzy growths from the chin, lip or cheek: Get from a druggist a small original package of delatone and mix enough with water to cover the hairs not wanted. Apply and in about two or three minutes remove and it comes every bit of hair. The skin should be washed following this treatment to remove the remaining delatone. Be careful to get the real delatone, otherwise you might be disappointed.
