Call To Enter Fight on Evils of City Heard When Interdenominational Union Is Organized at Meeting Thronged By Hundreds.

PROBLEMS OF THE GIRL WORKERS DISCUSSED BY ONE SPEAKER

Pastor Says London Problems Are Like Detroit's.

LEADERS IN NEW SOCIAL MOYEMENT

REV. W. R. McINTOSH

What is regarded by ministers and laymen as the most important business the religious bodies of the city have undertaken, transpired Monday night when 1,600 members of Young People's Societies banded themselves together, irrespective of denomination, with the object of getting into the thick of the fray in the fight upon Sin as it is found on the streets, in the places where men live without family environment, among the foreigners, and in the community in general. These young people have pledged themselves 'o be active sentinels of the city's welfare. Numerically they form a regiment that would do honor to the militia department. What can they not accomplish by waging the good fight if they are earnest in their desire to get at the root of things? The union's promoters have high hopes that this regiment in the army of the King of Kings will carry its banners bravely and will be more than a

At a mass meeting of all the young people's societies of the city, which was held in Talbot Street Baptist Church Monday night, the Interdenominational Union of Young People's Societies of the city of London was formed, and if the future of the organization can be judged from the enthusiasm shown by the 1,600 young people in attendance it will be of great benefit to the city.

Units the Young Workers.

Rev. G. F. B. Doherty, of St. Paul's Cathedral, conducted the devotional services at the opening of the meeting, and afterwards explained the object of the new union. The organization o such a society has been under consideration for some time, and the first steps in the movement were taken at the annual Epworth League rally in Askin Street Church last spring, and the committee appointed prepared a constitution. The object of the new society was to promote fraternal, inspiring and co-operative efforts on the Who is Active in New Union of Young part of the young people for the betterment of the city in general.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—Col. Roosevelt's yound is not a mere flesh wound, but s a serious wound in the chest, said a bulletin issued this afternoon by physi-dans at Mercy Hospital.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 15. - The X-ray examination of the wound in Col. Roosevelt's breast located the bullet deep in the tissues, but at a safe distance from the lung, apparently. A telegram was at once sent to Mrs. Roosevelt in New York by the colonel's orders. It read:

Present examination shows no further danger beside that of which you were informed from Milwaukee. Respiration good, pulse normal. Bullet in safe place. No blood expectorated." Col. Roosevelt walked into the Xray room of the hospital without assistance. He showed much interest in the preparations for the radiograph.

Schrank To Be Examined. Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 15. - Schrank was taken to the district court at 10:30 clock this morning for preliminary examination. The action was taken on ecommendation of District Attorney Zabel, who issued a warrant charging Schrank with shooting Col. Roosevelt

SMALLMAN & INGRAM, Limited

Store Closes at 6 p.m. Today

Fashion Convention at the Smallman & Ingram Store Tomorrow, Wednesday, and Following Days---Fourth Floor

In the Richmond Street wing on fourth floor, the fashion event, or rather reception or convention of the season, will take place. During the past month we have invited you to a series of fashion displays, uncovering new styles which have been adopted for the present season in Coats, Wraps, Suits and Millinery, the most successful in the history of these departments, which success has encouraged us to still greater things.

Tomorrow we invite you to attend a great Fashion Convention of Evening and Afternoon Fashions which will be exhibited on the fourth floor in Richmond Street Section, which will be artistically draped and illuminated by artificial lights.

The Gowns, not all Paris Models, as many are adaptations from Paris Styles, will be shown on figures, giving a true representation under the electric light of the effect of the different color combinations used this season.

ORIENTALISM

Many French Designers have enthusiastically expressed their fondness for the Oriental wave which is so strongly influencing the siyles, particularly in Evening Wear, because the Orientals understand color, richness and beauty.

Orientalism means sunnia Labrics of indescribable .:. Lages clinging draportes, gold and strange-hued embroidery, and decorations of marvelous colors, all elements beautiful in themselves.

Every Requisite for Afternoon and Evening Wear Is Represented in This Display

Apart from the Gowns and Wraps every interesting detail will be carried out in this display-Hats for Afternoon, Scarfs for Evening, Gloves, Hosiery, Corsets, Opera Glasses, etc., also a magnificent display from Silk Department, showing the New Brocades, Messalines and Shots and a fine assortment of Braded and Embroidered Tunics, and a handsome showing of New and fashionable Furs from the Fur Department on the second floor.

YOU ARE CORDIALLY INVITED

To see this wonderful display on the fourth floor Wednesday, Tharsday and Friday, this week, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. This section will be darkened with draperies and illuminated by electric lights during these hours. Every detail has been carefully planned and arranged in view of making this the most elaborate fashion event of the season.

Come and see. Tomorrow (Wednesday), Thursday and Friday. Fourth Floor.

THE FIGHTING TURKS. Those who remember the war 1877 or the Turco-Grecian war of fourteen years ago will expect the Turk still to show himself like Fuzzywuzzy, "a first-class fightin' man." Bulgaria is twice the size of Greece, with an army much better organized than the Greek forces then were. But the Turkish troops are well prepared, they will outnumber probably any forces that can be massed against them, and since the war in Tripoli began have been spoiling for a fight.

Imagine how tantalizing the African conflict must have been to the myrmidons of Ottoman Asia. Scowling faces have been turned to hear someone read, in secluded villages, at irregular intervals of days and weeks, from a dirty, tattered rag of an outof-date newspaper all too meager, though no doubt flattering accounts of. the slow struggle against overwhelming numbers of Italians. Rifles and pistols have been often polished, but no call came to the front. Very few Turkish soldiers filtered into the African desert through Egypt. The Italian warships held the sea. Their airships circled in the sky. Blood boiled in Asia Minor, but what was the use? Oh, for someone to take it out of! Not even a massacre seemed feasible, except for a little throat-cutting in Macedonia. But now the dogs of war are to be let loese in a quarter to which the chafing hosts may all have access. All can have free rides on the mysterious steam trains, and arrived at the theatre of war take part in a soul-satisfying performance. Arise, ye Turks, and glut your ire, to adapt Byron, the poet of Rejoice, our government stands firm and confident against the demands of all the Christian powers in a lump. The tide is turning Great is Allah! Perhaps it is reported that war in Christian states has become a spectacle like football to the mass of the people, a thriller as depicted by the press, no longer a part of actual life for all or most to engage in. "Terrible Turks" wrestling to make a London holiday have smiled in scorn upon the applauding galleries. Is it not time for the Moslem gladiator to test the giaour again? Equal Franchise Soon To Be a Burning Question in Canada, Writes "Non-Militant."

A reader of The Advertiser of longstanding writes as follows: "I have received copies from time to time of The Common Cause,' the non-militant organ of the National Union of Women's Suffrage Societies. These societies have worked earnestly, calmly, a little money, and perchance a watch of and deliberately for many years, but more utilitarian than artistic qualities. amongst their earliest workers were those more impatient souls, who, emed to stand by them, by the studied aution to the winds, and deliberately auntingly asked, but which they had is tucked into the pocket. no legal channel for reply: 'Do women want the vote?' Without venturing to criticize their methods, it still is very desirable that the quieter and more constitutional work of the National Union of Women's Suffrage Societies juncture in Canada."

The sensational press telegraphs news of the militants perpetually everywhere, whilst the work of the union, far more detailed and extensive, is very rarely mentioned at all. Even the Times, however, which is bitterly anti-suffrage, and as a rule does all in its power to injure it, was forced to admit that in the great procession of last year the National Union body was overwhelmingly the largest represented on that memorable ecasion. But even this ocular demonstration remained almost unrecognized by he English press in general, even the picture papers made no room for so con-rincing an illustration of a non-militant nd law-abiding expression of the desire of women to have the privilege of the vote. Just now, when the English papers vote. Just now, when the English papers are pretty sure to be well plied with facts, streaked perhaps with fiction, regarding the sayings and doings of Miss Barbara Wylle, the self-invited visitor to Canada, it would surely be well that the thoughtful women of the mother land should learn through the columns of our Canadian papers the attitude of the women of the Dominion towards this burning question of the hour. urning question of the hour. GIANTS HALT RED SOX IN RUSH FOR WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP

'BUCK'' O'BRIEN'S BALK LED TO HIS DOWNFALL AND GAVE GIANTS GAME

McGraw's Men Score Five Runs in the Opening Inning With Two Out and Were Never Headed After That.

MARQUARD HOLDS RED SOX SAFE IN EVERY INNING AFTER SECOND

Boston's Two Runs Came in the Second Session When Engle, Batting For O'Brien, Drove in Gardner and Stahl With a Two-Bagger to Left Field.

New York Oct. 14.—Between the retiring of the second Glant in the first inning of today's battle, and the demise of the third, five men crossed the plate, and a ball game slipped from Boston's grasp, for the Red Sox got only two tallies.

Absolutely all the action 'that counted was crowded in a very few minutes of New York's premier turn at bat. Six hits, three of which were of the infield variety, and the others vigorous slams on the central section of the horsehide, three stolen bases, including one theft of the homeplate and a silly balk by "Buck" O'Brien, were the ingredients used to produce the Glants' five tallies.

There was some luck involved in the making of these runs, it is true particularly in that, a couple of slow rollers could not be fielded on account of the damp condition of the grounds, but at the same time there was enough work by New York and plenty of the contrary sort by the Red Sox to entitle McGraw's establishment to what is garnered.

Things being as they are, it will be necessary for the clubs, the suffering newspapermen and such fans as are insane over the series to hie themselves back to Mostary where the seventh game. back to Roston, where the seventh game of the series, counting that tie, will be

The rival managers today tossed a coin to determine the place for playing the eighth contest should a New York victory make one necessary. Stahl called the turn, and this means that the series will be decided one way or another in Boston on Wednesday, providing rain does not interfere with the program. With defeat staring them in the face and the loser's end of the split, which is some $1,400 a man leaner than the win some $1,400 a man leaner than the win-ming portion, the Giants came to life and played like a real ball club. They had the Red Sox completely up in the air in that first inning, hit the ball well, took chances on the bases, crowded their luck

It may be argued that after the opening session New York did nothing. This is true, but there was no great necessity for compiling any more runs. With so one of defence. The Giants were perfectly content with five tallies providing they with a pitcher who is a wonder when in a "soft spot." there really was nothing with a pitcher who is a wonder when in a "soft spot." there really was nothing a "soft spot." there really was nothing to worry over.

Appeared Over-Anxious.

Stahls men appeared to be just a little over-anxious when once they got in a field. They hit at a lot of bad balls and absolutely declined to wait Marquard out, though he manifested symptoms at times of a desire to be wild. Being robbed of a number of hits by fielding plays above the ordinary seemed to take the spirit out of the Red Sox too, and toward the end of the game they played as though willing to admit that it wasn't therf day, but better things were expected to morrow.

Much of the time the Sox were hitting the ball fairly hard, but not with that honest ring that delights the fans. Many outfield flies and a fair number of popups, foul and fair, aided the "Rube" to keep out of trouble. Seventeen Boston men perished on fly balls, which is altogether too many for a club that expects to have any chance of winning. And only three of these air-line kfillings were made on anything but easy chances. Lewis, in the first Wagner in the fourth, and Hooper in the fifth really connected properly, only to have some gardener pluck the spect was a proper out of the part of this linning, a brisk one on a whith pitch arm by making a perfect throw to Yerkes at second, and getting the ball allower the head of the game close with a base hit, but instead of producing one pushed a lear pop-up into the air and was retired by Meyers.

Boston had another chance in the fourth and three flies set the next trio down before Steve could get past third base. Murray got the first hit off Collins in the first Wagner in the fourth, and Hooper in the fifth really connected properly, only to have some gardener pluck the supplies of the pass of the pass of the pass of the producing one with a base in the latter part of this inning, a brisk one to right, on which Hooper taught him to who can smile who c in the first Wagner in the fourth, and Hooper in the fifth really connected prop-erly, only to have some gardener pluck Hooper in the fifth really connected properly, only to have some gardener pluck the sphere out of the heavens.

Marquard did not appear to have nearry so much "stuff" as when he won the first game of the New York pair of victories. His fast ball lacked the quick jump that had made so much trouble the last time he performed, and his curve was not extraordinary. But with the Red Sox hampered by too great anxiety to swat the ball, he always was adequate.

Of course, Boston, one placed in the position of an almost hopeless trailer, had no real chance to play the game scientifically. Either sacrifice hitting or and had to hustle back to keep from being doubled up, but he scrambled back before the ball got to Merkle. Cady dropped a hump-backed single into right, sending Stahl to third, but Collins hit the ball hard straight to Fletcher, who inaugurated a fast double play.

Meyers tripled to deep left centre with one out in the Giants' fourth. Fletcher lined to Speaker, who drove the Chief back to third with a fine throw home. base-stealing would have been bad judgment, and there was nothing remaining the slam and slam some more. And the slamming as indicated, was not parmilarly good on this merry afternoon. Beyond one catch by Snodgrass, which

Beyond one catch by Snodgrass, which was as brilliant as it was timely, and another by Jack Murray, which lacked both the spectacular and psychological-moment features of the centre fielder's feat, the game was a dull one defensively, by far the most barren of the series in things that send the fans into cestacies. The men did their work accurately, but most of it was easy, and there was not that closeness of the score which lends ad-Devore opened the fifth with a single and tried to run clear out of the park on Snodgrass' liner to Hooper. The double play was so easy that Josh made no effort to retrace his steps. In the fifth, sixth and seventh the Red Sox did not get on, Marquard's pitching being excellent at this stage of the contest. Yerkes received a life on a slow roller to Doyle with one out in the eighth, but both Speaker and Lewis lifted easy flies to Murray. High Spots of History

I missed the slam Napoleon drew upon the field of Waterloo;
Also the spitter Brutus threw with Caesar at the bat;
I never lamped the light brigade hell-charging through the smoky shade.
Nor piped the peg which David made when old Gol hit the mat;
Some sev'ral high spots here and there of history, amid the glare,
Have slipped my over-eager stare athwart the buiging frame;
But in the swirling touch and go I lamped my portion of the show.
For I was there on rooters' row when Marquard won a game.

I never piped the midnight slide which P. Revere pulled on the ride,
Nor orbed the swat where Samson tried to mop up with the mace;
I never saw Achilles swing upon Kid Hector's bush-league wing,
And Jam that hobo with a zing from first to seventh place;
I've overlooked, as you might say, some one or two bets out the way,
Since Cain beaned Abel in the fray with speed and deadly aim;
But in the drifting ebb and flow I've piped my full share of the show,
For I was there on rooters' row when Marquard won a game.

Next the Giants really pulled something off. Meyers started for second to draw a throw, and Herzog tore home when he saw that the ball was going through. The return peg to the plate was low, and when it got by Cady, Herzog was safe with the fourth run of the inning, and Meyers made third. Again McGraw outguessed Stahl, Fletcher bunting safely toward third, scoring Meyers. Gardner fell in trying to field this ball, but it is a question whether he would have got his man at first in any event, as the unexpected bunt had everybody badly crossed up. Boston Fans Enthusiastic and Look For Final Victory Today-If Giants Win Today Final Game Will Be Played in Boston on Wednesday.

Boston, Oct. 15.-The Boston Red Sox, needing but a single victory to secure the world's baseball championship, and the New York Giants fighting still with their backs to the wall overcome a handicap which required that they win two games, meet again at Fenway Park today in the seventh game of the series of 1912. A win for New York today would tle the standing and make another game necessary. This game, if played, will occur at Fenway Park. Wood Is Sure Selection. Joe Wood's selection by Manager Stahl as Boston's pitcher in the important game of this afternoon was regarded by the fans as a foregone conclusion. Wood has pitched the Red Sox into two victories over the Giants, both at the Polo grounds, and it was the source of much satisfaction to supporters of the Boston team

Edward Coburn, the jockey, known as "Monk" Coburn, died today from tuberculosis. It is estimated that his earnings exceeded $2,000,000.

It being felt that Gueiph cannot afford to lose it to some other town. An offer was made of $1,400 from prominent citizens of Gueiph for an interest in the company, Mr. Mahoney to use this to pay the arrears, and to put in the other $1,600 hlmself, thus retaining slightly over a half interest in the club, giving him full control. It is felt that It would be better to have the club in complete control of President Mahoney than to have it in the hands of a company with many diverse opinions.

Greatest Pitcher in America." Being a restient of Kansas, it is natural the funniest baseball tale I ever heard should have its setting in that state.

If my memory serves me correctly Independence and Parsons were playing. Two games were played on the Fourth of July, in the latter city. The umpire in the morning game was Gorman, Around him centered the trouble of the morning. That Gorman didn't like the way the fans treated him was proved when he didn't show up for the afternoon game. I am told he never held an indicator in another game, his lone experience causing him to lose any love he might have had for the job.

At the end of the ninth the score was a tie and the crowd was wrought up over the extra inning. Neither club secred in the tenth. In the first of the eleventh Independence got a man as far as third with two down, and the next batter hit a ball to deep short. The umpire's first impression, as well as decision, was that the batter was safe and that Independence had put over the run that looked enough to win the game. The captain and manager of the home team, seeing that the umpire had waved the batter safe, made a rush for the official. All the Parsons players followed. About the this time Umpire Gorman was thinking how much pleasanter it would be back with the old folks. Seeing the home athletes on the rush, he proclaimed

COL. ROOSEVELT SHOT BY MADMAN AT MILWAUKEE

Leader of Progressive Party Wounded in the Chest When Leaving Hotel, But Insists Upon Carrying Out His Program By Speaking at Auditorium.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 14.-Theodore Roosevelt was shot and slightly wounded here tonight as he was leaving his hotel for the auditorium where he was to deliver his speech of the evening. His assailant, who later gave evidence of dementia, gave his name as John Schrank, and his address as 370 East Tenth street, New York.

Before Schrank could fire a second time Albert Martin, stenographer with the Roosevelt party, and Henry F. Cochems, former football player at Wisconsin, grabbed Schrank.

Colonel Roosevelt stood beside the automobile which he had been about to enter when shot. He insisted on proceeding to the hall and going through with at least a part of his speech.

WOUND NOT SERIOUS. An examination of the wound by Dr. Eatton, of Milwaukee, and three other surgeons, showed that the bullet had entered the fleshy part of the right chest. The wound bled freely for some time, but Colonel Roosevelt said re was suffering no pain, and so far as could be learned there was no internal

The colonel was at first supposed to have escaped uninjured, for a moment after Schrank had wedged through the crowd and fired at him Mr. Roosevelt smiled as if to reassure the people in turmoil that surged about him. He suddenly, however, put his hand under his coat, and was seen to wince for an instant. Then he moved toward the automobile and stepped into it, said a word to his associates, and the next moment the throng was making way for his machine, and the automobile was whirling toward the auditorium. The crowd that struggled about the assailant in front of Colonel Ruosevelt's hotel after he had left for the hall took his sudden departure to mean that he had been uninjured, and the crowd cheered. But when he had reached the auditorium and made his way amid great cheering to the front of the platform those close to him could see a streak of red on his white waistcoat.

"I AM CARRYING THE BULLET." "An attempt has just been made to kill me," said the colonel to an audence that had stifled its first cheers and now listened in absolute silence, I am carrying the bullet in my body now, and so I will have to cut my speech

Before ascending the platform an attempt was made to induce Colonel Reosevelt to go to the hospital, but in spite of the entreaties of physicians Col. Roosevelt insisted on delivering his address. "I will make this speec .. or die, one or the other," he said.

CROWD GOT ASSAILANT.

Through the great throng that had been crowding about the colonel's atomobile in front of the hotel and cheering him as he was walking forward, the police after Colonel Roosevelt had departed dragged Schrank into While Martin, the stenographer, and Cocheme had been struggling with him, and later while the police were pulling him away from the crowd, and into the lobby, Schrank raved incoherently.

Your Brain Is a Battery Its thoughts are the sparks that set Success in motion

The simplest form of battery requires three factors to make the electric spark—(zinc, copper and an acid). The human brain also requires three vital elements to put forth THOUGHT-water, albumen and Phos-

In the Brain as in the Battery, let a single element become weakened from yesterday's use and lessened activity follows. Therefore, in order to keep a good working brain or add to its power, one absolutely must use food which contains albumen and Phosphate of Potash.

Why not do a bit of thinking now?

Water and albumen exist plentifully in every-day food, but Phosphate of Potash is often lacking. That missing element exists freely in the outer coating of wheat and barley, but the miller of white bread flour throws it out because it makes his flour brown instead of white.

Grape-Nuts FOOD

Made of choice wheat and malted barley, retains the rich brain-building Phosphate of Potash required by Nature for supporting bright brains and active minds.

Pure! Wholesome! Appetizing! This food is partly pre-digested and quickly absorbed. A morning dish with cream provides force for accomplishment that many a man has come to know and appreciate.

Common Sense goes a long way toward making Success.

To eat right often means to be right.

Citizen Cuts Eight-Foot Snake Into Sausage Sizes With Axe

Thrilling Encounter With "Monstrous Serpent" Stirs gales of laughter. Piquant is this play, the South End-Both Ends of Reptile, Though Separated, Show Alarming Activity.

South end citizens are describing today a hair-raising battle between a man and a snake.

A resident of the south end, who was on his way home Monday afternoon, was startled when near the corner of Maitland and Hill streets, to observe a monster snake crawling slowly across a lawn and apparently trying to make its way under a nearby v DOUBLES HIS PERIL BY SLASH.

Hurriedly rushing into the house he asked the lady who came to the door to get him an axe and get it quick. She did so, and the south ender made a desperate attack on the reptile. With one mighty smash he cut it in two, but he was nearly frightened out of a week's growth when he found that instead of having one reptile to face he apparently had two, as both parts of the snake continued to lash about

CHOPPED INTO LITTLE PIECES.

He devoted himself to the piece that bore the head, and before he got through he had cut it into six pieces. The incident attracted quite a crowd, and there was much speculation as to where the big snake came from. It measured, according to eye witnesses, fully eight feet in length, and was a couple of inches in thickness, and quite an ugly-looking specimen. Some people thought it might be one of the famous snakes which a few weeks ago escaped from a box in the customs house and terrifled the neighborhood. Another theory is that it belonged to a south end snake fancier-Mr. Charles Spot Cox.

A Delight to the Eye and Ear Is Musical Comedy at the Grand.

GORGEOUS PRODUCTION

Head of Splendid Company of Artists.

Of the many lighter musical comedies that have been served London theatregoers, there has been none more entertaining to eye or ear than the "Pink Lady," which last night played to a full house at the Grand. With a second act such as this piece possesses, a play otherwise weak would be carried to instant success. But the "Pink Lady" is good all the way through, music, costuming, setting and story. There is a plot, a real ne, that in that delightful second act causes the audience to be swept with which is to be expected, as it is an adaptation from the French and one that doesn't offend.

The company is the same which played for many months at London and New York, and is headed by Mr. Frank Lalor and Miss Hazel Dawn. Mr. Lalor for many seasons has been popular with London audiences, and his playing of Dondidler last night will long be re alled with smiles.

This is Miss Dawn's first appearance n London, and she is a pleasure to hear and a delight to look upon. She was entrancing as Claudine, and her playing on the violin of "The Beautiful Lady" in the last act evidenced no small degree of takes the part of the flance who is had his preliminary examination in crossed by the Pink Lady, was in fine Mercy Hospital: roice, and as Madame Dondidier Miss Hegeman is assigned a grotesque role by which she shares the laughter-producing onors with Mr. Lalor. The entire production is presented in the same complete and gorgeous manner as staged at he New Amsterdam Theatre, New York. The performance will be repeated this follows: As the play begins a young Parisian is about to forsake bachelordom or the joys of matrimony. Before taking the plunge, however, he plans one Coucou, in the forest of Compeigne, He tells his fiancee, as he has done on prerious occasions, that he is going to lunfigures for the six months, and await Dondidier. His flancee, it so happens, selects the same restaurant for a little luncheon party of her own. The young people meet, and to save the situation the young man's companion declares that she is the wife of the imaginary Dondidier, who, she avers, was unexpectedly detained in Paris. To the youth's dismay, it develops that there is a real Dondealer in antiques in Paris, and his said he thought an operation fiancee, Jealous and suspicious of his explanation insists that he motor to Paris and have this Dondidier verify his story. The following scenes show the frantic young man going to the real Dondidier and bribing him with a promise of the gift of a certain snuff box to help him carry out the deception. To accomplish this the antiquarian is obliged to make love to the young man's inamorata, and his own wife catches him and, righteous y indignant, makes a scene. Happily, during the scene of the ball of the Nymphs and Satyrs at the Cafe le Satyre —a strikingly beautiful scene—the com-

Walter A. [Canadian Press.] Hobart, Tasmania, Oct. 15 .- Hundreds of rescuers are battling against flames and smoke to save seventy-four entombed miners at the North Mount Lyell mine. The fire started through the blowing out of a motor fuse last Saturday. In a few minutes clouds of smoke began to pour from the mouth of the main shaft, where be handed over also with the railway, as 150 men were known to be working. Seventy-six men reached the surface. One died after being taken out.

STRICTLY FRESH EGGS

The attendance, both of buyers and sellers, was small on the market today, and as a result there were not many changes in the prices. The largest offerings in the vege-table section were cabbages, celery and cauliflowers, but no changes were announced. The fruit market consisted mainly of grapes and apples, and the prices were the same as on Saturday.

The butter prices were the same as on Saturday, but the prices of eggs were somewhat easier. In the dairy hall today the prices moted for strict. ly fresh eggs were from 32 to 34 cent per dozen. When sold by the basket on the market the price was 30 cents per dozen. The wholesale prices were also lower, as the dealers would not guarantee their offerings to be strictly fresh. The prices were 27 and 28 cents per dozen. Dressed hogs were also easier today than for some time past, the quotation being $11.50 per cwt. Live hogs were sold for $7.90 and $8.00 per cwt. at the shipment yesterday.

Thursday.

The stock market opened easy and irregular, but quickly rallied. Paris and Berlin buying helped a recovery in their favorites. Local traders covered in speculative issues, and investors picked up cheap investment stocks. The strength held during the day, and the market closed generally up. Consols advanced an eighth but lost the gain. Foreign bonds were inclined to irregularity.

American securities opened easy, and from 1/8 to 1/8 below parity. Continental and local buying followed and prices advanced under the lead of Canadian and local buying followed and advanced under the lead of Canadian Pacific. BOARD OF CONTROL AND HYDRO WORK

Opposition Likely to Arise Against Water Commission Being Under Board.

SEPARATE COMMISSION

Legislature May Take Up Matter of Control at the Next Session.

Objections may arise in the Legislature to Ald. Richter's scheme to place the water commission under the direction of the board of control, provided, of course, the ratepayers in January decide to adopt that form of government.

It is the intention of the hydro-electric commission to keep the eelctrical department free from aldermanic influence, leaving it, where possible, an independent commission.

That is the idea being worked out in London at the present time, and the fair water commissioners have kept aloof from the council as much as possible. City Solicitor Meredith, at the meeting on Monday night, made it clear that the city council had a perfect right to go through the books of the water commission, nevertheless little facility has been shown the aldermen in obtaining access to them. At the present time the aldermen have little knowledge of the inner workings of the de partment.

Following London's lead, Toronto has taken the electrical department out of the control of the council and board of control, and has selected an independent commission to handle the affairs of the department. Hamilton is following this lead, and it is expected that at the next election a separate body of men will look after the business. Some of the smaller cities in the power zone are doing the same thing, and where practicable the idea will be followed.

Separate Commissions. It is announced semi-officially that the Legislature at the next sesison will introduce legislation making it imperative that a separate commission handle the hydro-electric affairs. This will preclude the possibility of the board crk, the former Londonre who is of control here obtaining power over the water commission.

"I would not be at ol surpised that such a course of action be followed," said a citizen closely connected with the hydro scheme. "In any event, the Legislature will have to give its con- by representatives of churches. sent to the council establishing a charm of manner and dramatic abil- board of control. This might be due either to overwork or illness, and might easily be avalained. Rymill was ill-advised.

Ald. Coles and Ald. Spittal paid com pliments to Mr. Wright's ability, and stated that he was a good man, hardworking, honest and competent.

DEATH OF MRS. HARROUN

Well Known as an Artist of Ability, Spent Early Years Here.

After a brief illness, Mrs. I. W. Harroun (formerly Hettie M. Jarvis) passed away at her home in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., last Wednesday morning. Funeral services were held at the Baptist Church in Sault Ste. Marie, conducted by Rev. Ira D. Smith, formerly of London. The body was then brought to London and buried in the family plot at the Brick Street Cemetery, Rev. Mr. Gunne officiating.

Mrs. Harroun was a daughter of the late George E. Jarvis, of Byron, spent her early life in this vicinity. Surviving her are her husband, Ira W. Harroun; her mother, Mary H. Jarvis, now of Buffalo; two brothers, Charlie and Fred, of London, and two sisters, Mrs. M. M. Duvall, of Thamesville, Ont., and Mrs. M. L. Hoy, of Buf-

CITY BOUND TO PAY $30,000 IF HYDRO COMMISSION INSISTS

City Solicitor Thinks Hearing Should Be Reopened at Toronto.

ALD. ASHPLANT SAYS IT'S "HIGH AND MIGHTY"

Ald. Richter Again Refers to "Outrageous Conclusions"-Want Independent Expert.

The city will have to pay the hydroelectric commission $30,000 for street lighting in the opinion of City Solicitor Meredith given Monday evening at the meeting of the special committee appointed to discuss the matter. However, Mr. Meredith will approach the hydro-electric commission in an attempt to re-open the case, and then Ald. Richter, with an expert's advice, will present the city's side to the argument.

Armed with statute books, Mr Meredith read extract after tract, explaining the connection commission have approved of the rates o be charged for street lighting," he explained. "The city is bound by that act to pay the price asked by the rater commissioners for street lightng. All you can do is to go to the nydro-electric commission, say that he rates have been approved by the ommission without first hearing the sent your side of it. Whether or not they will do so, is a matter for them to consider. It is possible that you might issue a mandamus to compel them to re-open the case, but I have doubt if the commission are aproached that they will hear your

A One-Sided Arrangement. "The hydro-electric commission in this matter is in a somewhat analogous position with the Dominion railway commission. When there is a dispute of any kind regarding the railways, the commission sends their own expert, who reports. Amid the conflicting opinion, the commission always accept the opinion their expert. I think this is all they can do. The hydro-electric commission sent their expert here, who in quired into the matter and made his That establishes the rate. As report. said before, whether or not they will hear your side of the case, is another question, which I am not in a position

That does not make the proposition The rates without hearing one side of the ques-tion at all. We have never been asked to present our case. The hydro's expert arrived at conclusions without hearing a word we had to say. I am convinced that some of his conclusions are outrageous, and I feel certain that I can show him where he s very wrong. However, I would prefer that some independent expert should report, and see whether not we are getting value for our

City Has a Right to It. "The council has a right to this in formation. The citizens have a right to know what they are spending their money for, and the commission should grant the city that information. As said before, I am convinced that there are gross errors in the state- day. ment of Mr. Gabey, which I have discovered. It is likely that the expert would discover more."

Mr. Meredith again pointed out that the council could approach the hydroelectric commission, and ask to have the question re-opened. In his opinion that should be the first step to be taken. "It is as I thought all the time," said Ald. Wright. "In council and com-mittee I have stated that when the matter was finally settled we would have to pay the price. It looks that way to me now, after Mr. Meredith's report. "The commission may close our legal rights,' said Ald. Richter. "That does not settle the question as to whether not we are getting full value for the money we are expending."

Why So High and Mighty?

Ald. Ashplant took a fling at water commissioners, asking why were so high and mighty that they could not discuss the question with the city council.

"Perhaps they have a 'stand in' some place," commented Ald. Ben-"Wait until January and see," de clared Ald. Ashplant. He then moved that City Solicitor Meredith be instructed to arrange to hydro-electric commission, Mr. Mereith agreed to discuss the matter with the chairman of the hydro-electric commission, and see if a conference could not be arranged. If this permission is obtained, Ald. Richter will present an expert who will go over the whole situation with commission. He will see some experts this week, and make a selection. Those present at the meeting were Ald. Wright, chairman; Ald. Bennett, Ald, Ashplant, Ald, Richter, City So-

DEFER CHOICE OF THIRD CANDIDATE

The Local Option Workers Will Give Matter a Further Consideration.

A RALLYING CAMPAIGN

All Clergymen Will Be Asked To Exchange Pulpits To Arouse Interest.

The question of placing a third candidate in the East Middlesex campaign as an out-and-out temperance worker was discussed Monday afternoon at a meeting of the local optionists of London Township at the Y. M. C. A. parlors. It was decided, however, not to make any specific recommendation until the topic is more thoroughly discussed at a general meeting to be held in the Auditorium next week. Several of those in attendance Monday's meeting averred that the best attention of the temperance forces should be given to the local option campaign in London Township, opinion being expressed that if the interest of the campaigners is divided neither object may be attained.

Mr. Ezra Hunt, of Westminster Township, a well-known temperance man, was spoken of in connection with city's side, and ask them to re-open the matter. Certain of the members contended that the association should keep aloof from things political for a Apathy of Some Clergymen. The alleged apathy, if not opposition, of certain clergymen in London Township was discussed rather warmly. It was hinted that a couple of the ministers, while themselves temperate, did not act as they should on the temperance question. In these times, one minister declared, every clergyman in London Township should put his shoulder to the wheel and render every assistance to the cause within his power. As ministers of the Gospel they should show their colors as at all times opposed strenuously to the liquor traffic was contended, but the discussion losed without any action being taken. The delegates appeared more satisfied when it was pointed out that the gentlemen in question were not men of very wide influence" at any rate. Arrangements will be made to hold ally campaigns at Hyde Park, Ilder-"I am fully aware that the commission have the power to order us to gathering the ratepayers of London the price," said Ald. Richter. Junction and of Ealing together to discuss local option was also brought up, ut in view of the fact that both communities will probably be annexed to London the proprietors of the hotels in both places will probably apply for icenses in the city immediately, and in that manner any campaign conducted would be rendered ineffective. The temperance workers will therefore have to strike in London to cut off the icenses at present held close to the ity limits An Exchange of Pulpits.

All ministers of London Township, who have interested themselves in the ocal option campaign, will be asked to exchange pulpits if possible on Sunday, If arrangements cannot be made in some sections for the exchange on that date, the program will be carried out on the following Sun-

Large quantities of temperance literature are to be sent up from the neadquarters of the Dominion Alliance n Toronto, and will be distributed in London Township as soon as the campaign is gotten under way.

CHILDREN GREW SOME SPLENDID VEGETABLES

Competition in the Wardsville School Proved Pleasant Surprise.

Wardsville, Oct. 15 .- The schools show, held in the town hall under the auspices of the Farmers' Club, was decided success. Last May the club furnished dozen seeds of melon, squash and pumpkin to each pupil in No. 11, Aldoro; No. 3, Mosa; Cashmere and Wardsville public schools, promising them a show in the autumn. Each school section provided its own cash prizes, $1, 75 cents and 50 cents for the have the case re-opened before the three classes of exhibits, while local merchants offered several special prizes, which were open to all. The management and the large crowd were alike pleasantly surprised by the quantity and quality of the articles entered which totalled one hundred and twenty-four entries. The entries were completed at 2 p.m when judging began, during which time the anxious pupils and the asembling crowd were entertained by the Wardsville Reed and Brass Band, whose music was a pleasing feature of
