CARLING HEIGHTS

Demonstration and a Sham Fight.

Carling's Heights was the scene of much animation this morning, when about 1,500 men, including officers and soldiers, were assembled for muster drill. Of course there were hundreds, including bands, the Twenty-sixth Regiment, which left early in the morning for the rifle ranges, cavalrymen, etc., not called out. The men, although a great many of them are raw recruits, presented a fine appearance as they marched and counter-marched across the grass-covered grounds of the Heights.

At an early hour this morning the Twenty-sixth Regiment assembled, and were taken to the ranges on special cars provided by the Street Railway Company. As the cars passed the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets, a loud campaigner asked where they were going. He was informed that the cars were being sent to the camping grounds, where the soldiers would be taken aboard for a trip to the ranges. "Gee, that soldiering is getting to be an easy job these days," he was heard to remark. "When I was young and went to camp the boys had to hike to and place they were going. I suppose in a few years they will be supplying them with limousines. And just think, I was out there last night and they had strawberries for supper. Things ain't what they used to be," and scratching his head in wonderment he wandered on down the street.

At a late hour Monday night the camp of the troops arrived at the Heights, and all were comfortably in their tents. The intense heat of the day moderated considerably during the evening, and at 10 o'clock a fresh breeze, with just a touch of dampness in it, blew across the camp grounds and was given a hearty welcome by the "sojer" boys, after a strenuous day of preparation.

Pranks Galore.

The usual pranks of throwing men blankets, tipping tents and other games known only to those who annually go to camp, were indulged in and the safety of the marauders, who would creep silently up to a tent, grab an unsuspecting "green one," flip him, and then retreat as quickly as possible, was enhanced by the darkness which enveloped the lines on account of the absence of hydro lights.

Cavalry Demonstration.

Major Gordon has about completed arrangements for a cavalry demonstration north of the city for two days next week, and the infantry camp will also engage in a sham fight at the same time, only in another section of the country. The final arrangements have not been completed.

Arrangements are also being made for the entertainment of General Sir Ian Hamilton, inspector of the overseas forces, who will arrive in the city early Saturday morning. He will proceed at once to the camp grounds where he will inspect the different regiments, and will lunch at the officers' mess at the barracks. It is expected that he will leave the city Saturday afternoon about 3 o'clock.

Everything has been running smoothly since the camp started, not an accident, not a case of sickness being reported up to noon today. The grounds are also in a sanitary condition, and all fears of any kind of an outbreak of fever or any disease have been set at rest by the reports of the sanitary officer.

The Synod of Huron was formally opened this morning by divine service and holy communion in St. Paul's Cathedral. A large number of the clergy were present at the service, and there was a fair attendance of laymen. His Lordship the Bishop of Huron was present and conducted the communion service. The surpliced choir was in attendance, and the solemn service of the Church of England was beautifully rendered.

An Eloquent Sermon.

Venerable Archdeacon Davidson occupied the pulpit, and preached an eloquent sermon. He brought out the need of a return on the part of ministers to preaching the teachings of the ten commandments instead of bowing to the present-day demand for something novel or sensational. There was too much preaching today of duty to one's neighbor, and not enough of duty to God.

The preacher motived his sermon upon the symbolic suggestions of the ark of the covenant, which was so prominent a feature of the religious life of the Israelites. The ark, he said, was a wonderful prototype of the Christian church.

Today's celebration, which was again favored by splendid weather, opened with a parade organized by the trades unions. It was reviewed by Emperor William from the castle. Only 10,000 participated, but the parade was imposing and interesting owing to the hundreds of floats emblematic of the various trades.

The streets appeared to be even more crowded today than yesterday, the spectators having much more to see in the workmen's parade, the state processions of the German ruler to the capital, and the tonight torchlight processions of the students of the Berlin University.

Through the newspapers and by means of printed slips, the London Humane Society means to appeal to drivers of horses and the public generally to have some consideration for the horse during the summer months.

Drivers will be asked to water their horses frequently, to give them their heads as much as possible by letting down checks and by driving them easily.

Householders will be asked to order their goods early so that the horses will not be required to work far into the night on delivery wagons.

The public will be asked to have water available for dogs during the warm weather.

TWO KILLED, MANY INJURED

Big Blow—Street Car Service Disabled.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, June 17.—Two lives lost, several people injured, among them Col. Septimus Denison, the officer commanding the military camp at Three Rivers, the razing of the tents, the camp buildings destroyed and the destruction of the electrical services, were the results of the terrific electrical, hail and rain storm which swept over this district yesterday evening, the damage done being estimated at $250,000.

The dead are Harold Lindsay, crushed to death when the Black Diamond line shed collapsed on the waterfront, six other men working in the building having narrow escapes, and an unknown man blown off the Allan Line pier by gusts. Low hail and rain and drowned. Almost simultaneously with the collapse of the Black Diamond shed the Frontenac shed on the south side of the ship at Victoria Pier also went down.

Col. Denison Hurt.

Col. Denison was struck on the head by a part of the pole of his tent, which collapsed, as did all the other tents, when the storm struck the camp. The colonel was not badly injured.

In the city the cars were stalled while the storm was in progress, owing to lightning disorganizing the supply wires from Shawinigan Falls. The electric light plant was also put out of commission temporarily.

At Lachine the electric power was also interrupted at a time when the brigade were fighting a fire in a house which had been struck by lightning. The house was totally destroyed by the flames.

Known in London.

Col. Denison, who was hurt in the big blow, is widely known among militiamen all through the district. He spent several years at Wolseley Barracks.

Col. Hodgins, D. O. C., stated that he knew Col. Denison very well, and Major Macdonnell, of the local D. O. C.'s staff, worked with him for many years.

DAMAGE IS HEAVY.

[Canadian Press.]

Quebec, June 17.—Reports from the various country districts go to show that the storm that swept over the city and province yesterday was responsible for much greater damage than at first stated. Along the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, from Quebec towards Montreal, numerous barns were blown down, while the fields were strewn with telegraph and telephone poles. The Great Northwest Telegraph service being hampered.

In the counties of Beauce, Montmagny and Lotbiniere the storm was very severe.

place in the ark. These ten commandments should also be enshrined in the church, and preachers would do well to pay more heed to teaching them than to follow the tendency of the age and preach upon questions of ethics. Many ministers were afraid of being accused of preaching dogma, but there was a necessity for a return to the preaching of definite doctrine based upon the ten commandments. The pot of manna which the ark contained, symbolized God's power to keep and sustain his people, and Aaron's rod that budded was there to remind them that there were those who once had questioned the authority of the priesthood, and God had vindicated his ministers. A very wonderful manner. Church people today should not overlook the authority given by God to his ministers.

The business session of the synod opens this afternoon at 3 o'clock, when Bishop Williams will deliver his charge. His address is always a most important feature of the annual gathering, and deals with all the important questions touching the life of the church. A number of the ministers enjoyed a ministerial breakfast at the Smallman & Ingram parlors this morning.

"DEBORAH" MERE
DREARY DRIVEL,
SAYS SECRETARYDominion Alliance Officer Says
Play Leaves a Dirty Taste in the Mouth.Montreal Production Was Much Tamer Than That Put On in Toronto.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, June 17.—"It leaves a dirty taste in the mouth," said John H. Roberts, secretary of the Dominion Alliance, after witnessing the presentation of "Deborah," advertised here as "the play which made Toronto famous," at His Majesty's Theatre last night.

"I fail to see," he continued, "any moral lesson it could teach. I would welcome any problem play which discussed the sexual question in a healthy manner; but the only excuse for the presentation of 'Deborah' to my mind is its ability to draw money at the box office. At that, I think the crowd should get their money back. In my opinion they had been led to expect more than they received. 'Deborah' I regard as dreary drivel."

Takes No Action.

Mr. Roberts visited the opening performance of "Deborah," attended by a stenographer, to see if action should be taken to prevent the production here of the play which caused so much discussion in Toronto. Despite his condemnation of the play, he does not think for the present that he will take any action. "However, I will consult legal opinion," he added.

Mr. Roberts further claimed that the version of "Deborah" which is being shown in Montreal is a triumph for the moral reformers of this city, and the committee of forty of Toronto. "For, in spite of all their boasts, the committee has not produced the play here with all the phrases objected to in that city."

Changes in Play.

Mr. Roberts was asked to specify, and replied that in Toronto "Deborah" had turned off the light and awaited the return of her cousin's fiancé on the stair, while here the curtain dropped before this happened, and also that in Toronto the phrase "It is the natural destiny of all women, married or single, to have children," was used.

BREAKS IN THE HYDRO SYSTEM
TIE UP MANY PLANTS AND PLUNGES CITY IN DARKNESSTraction Company Again Put Out of Business for Second Time in Two Days Through Failure of Hydro Power—Scores of Private Residences and Stores Driven to Candles and Lamps for Many Hours.

Breaks or punctures in the suspension insulation of the high-tension hydro transmission lines about 2 o'clock Monday afternoon near Dundas left the Western Ontario towns and cities entirely without hydro power until twenty minutes past ten o'clock Monday night. Towns and cities depending on hydro for lighting were left in total darkness, except for the lights of stores, offices and residences using gas, oil, gasoline or electric power from private companies.

Some of the local merchants using hydro have emergency switches for London Electric or Helena Costume Company power, but generally the shops, restaurants, offices and other places of business using hydro were conspicuous by their darkness, except as relieved by oil or gasoline chandeliers hanging from the ceiling and throwing dark, eerie shadows in circles over all.

Camp in Darkness.

The military camp grounds were left in total darkness. The McClary Manufacturing Company closed down a large part of its plant early in the afternoon when it was learned that the power was off indefinitely. Other firms using hydro to a greater or less extent were accordingly inconvenienced, among them the Toasted Corn Flakes Company, the London Printing and Lithographing Company, T. F. Dexter & Son, George White & Sons Company, the Canning Brewing and Malt Company, Hord & Co., John Labatt, Limited, and others.

Tied Up Traction.

The London and Lake Erie Company suffered a complete tie-up of traffic between London and Port Stanley from 2 o'clock to midnight. The street lights came on shortly after 10, but it was after 11 o'clock before hydro reached the Traction lines. Then it was too late for the last cars on the schedule, and long before this the clockmakers and others who had left the city on the Traction cars had returned by the Pere Marquette.

Fortunately the power went off when only one car was away from other railway communication. This was at Talbotville, and the passengers had to arrange with kind-hearted villagers or farmers to drive them back to St. Thomas or else walk the four miles intervening. The other three regular cars on the road were stalled at London, St. Thomas and Port Stanley, and the passengers on these cars, which were fairly crowded, had no greater hardship than that of missing appointments and waiting over for the Pere Marquette trains.

It will mean considerable loss to the London and Lake Erie Company in view of the severe heat of Monday. There were no excursions or specials running, but the regular traffic was unusually heavy.

Fine for Sentimental.

The parks, walks and boulevards were ideal rendezvous for mooning couples and the sudden reappearance of the lights in Victoria Park at 10:20 rudely disturbed many a tender tête-à-tête and stayed many a foolish word on foolish lips. Many a romance was nipped in the bud when hydro called back the principals to terra firma.

Moving picture theatres using hydro had to make hurried connections with other power.

Householders and others depending on hydro for domestic lighting made emergency rushes to the corner grocery for tallow candles or made hurried searches for the wax tapers left over from last season's Christmas trees.

Mayhap there were even a few who blessed John D. Rockefeller that there was oil to burn and, figuratively speaking, to pour on the troubled hydro of the Niagara power autocracy.

Electric signs that blink and effect chameleon changes in brilliant colors, remained in darkness.

"There was nothing wrong with the local lines," said General-Manager Glasbitt this morning. "All the trouble was with the insulators on the transmission lines near Dundas."

Leaders of Suffragettes Charged With Malicious Damage to Property.Miss Annie Kenney Tells of Terrible Conditions in Factory Life.

[Canadian Press.]

London, June 17.—Six of the most prominent leaders of the militant suffragette organization, and one of their male supporters, were today found guilty at the central criminal court of conspiracy to commit malicious damage to property. The trial had lasted several days.

The women were officials of the Women's Social and Political Union. They were Miss Harriet Kerr, Miss Agnes Lake, Miss Rachel Barrett, Miss Beatrice Saunders, Miss Annie Kenney and Miss Laura Lennox, while the man was Edwy Clayton, an analytical chemist.

The jury returned its verdict of guilty to mercy in the cases of Miss Lake, Lennox and Barrett.

IMPASSIONED APPEAL.

[Canadian Press.]

London, June 17.—An impassioned speech in defence of the outraged women formed the chief feature of the trial today in the central criminal court by Miss Annie Kenney, during the trial for conspiracy of the suffragette leader. Her address served to divert the proceedings and her concluding words created a great impression. She uttered the defiant asseveration:

"If I have got to die to get the vote I will die, whatever the verdict of the jury may be today."

Interest in Trial.

Greater interest was taken in today's proceedings than in any previous stage of the trial. The entrance of the accused—Miss Harriet Kerr, Miss Agnes Lake, Miss Rachel Barrett, Miss Beatrice Saunders, Miss Annie Kenney, Miss Laura Lennox, and Edwy Clayton, the analytical chemist, alleged to have acted as adviser to the suffragettes in their campaign—found the court crowded.

Women formed the majority of the audience and among them were Mrs. Winston Spencer Churchill, wife of the first lord of the admiralty, and Miss Violet Asquith, daughter of the prime minister.

Defence Actions.

Miss Annie Kenney devoted much of her speech for the defence to attempts to prove that the action of the Ulster Unionists and the speeches of cabinet ministers—who she averred had asserted that the un-enfranchised were justified in rebelling in order to get their grievances remedied, furnished ample warrant for the course pursued by the militant suffragettes. If further justification were necessary, she said, "the trickery and treachery of cabinet ministers who had hunted and hounded the women from pillar to post" supplied it. The present Government, she contended, had a blacker record in the question of women suffrage than any other.

WOMAN SHOOTS DOCTOR AND

Called On Physician, and After Firing Six Times at Him Fell Lifeless Across His Body—No Cause Known for the Tragedy.

[Canadian Press.]

Savannah, Ga., June 17.—Dr. Guy O. Brinkley, a physician of this city, was shot to death in his office here last night by Mrs. Eugene H. Whisnant, a widow, who after firing six shots at the physician, sent a seventh bullet through her temple, falling lifeless across the body of her victim.

The police are searching for an unknown woman, who is said to have accompanied Mrs. Whisnant to the doctor's office.

Dr. Brinkley, who was about 45 years old, and unmarried, came here about seven years ago from Suffolk, Va. He was popular socially and professionally. Mrs. Whisnant, aged 28, was the daughter of a Savannah boarding-house keeper. No cause has been assigned for the shooting.

It is said that when Mrs. Whisnant and her companion reached the doctor's office, the former went with Doctor Brinkley into his private office, the other woman remaining in the outer office. A few minutes later the firing began and Dr. Brinkley rushed out, followed by Mrs. Whisnant, who was steadily firing.

Dr. Brinkley called to a maid to summon the police. Mrs. Whisnant is said to have pursued the doctor to the porch and back into the office, continuing to fire at him. Her sixth shot entered his heart, killing him instantly. The woman then shot herself through the head.

Auto Crashed Into Loaded Street Car

Three Were Hurt, One Badly in Accident at Windsor.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Windsor, June 17.—Three persons were injured, one seriously, when a well-loaded Walkerville Belt Line car struck an automobile broadside at Goyeau and Wyandotte streets at 8 o'clock last evening.

The three occupants of the automobile, A. A. Thompson, Windsor, liquor dealer, and A. M. Vischer and Lawrence Mackenzie, 118 Windermere road, Walkerville, were thrown to the sidewalk about 20 feet away. Thompson and Vischer were picked up and were soon able to go to their homes, but Mackenzie, who was badly bruised on the head and body, was taken to the Hotel Dieu in the police ambulance. Dr. Dewar, who attended at the scene of the accident, declares his injuries serious.

According to the story told the hospital authorities by Mackenzie, Thompson, who was driving the car, slowed down at the intersection, but saw no street car. The occupants of the automobile said that the motorist did not ring his bell. S. Knox was motorist, and H. Buckle was driver. The automobile was wrecked.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Guelph, June 16.—Ethel Clayton, an Englishwoman about 20 years of age, committed suicide today by jumping into the Speed River at the rear of the waterworks plant here. The woman, who had only been out from the old country for eleven months, was despondent. She posted a letter last night to the hotel proprietor stating that she intended to do away with herself.

She worked all day on the river with grapples from the body being located this evening. An inquest will be held.

Had Weak AND Dizzy Spells.

Those feelings of weakness, those dizzy spells and "all gone" sinking sensations, which come over some people from time to time, are warnings that must not go unheeded.

They indicate an extremely weakened condition of the heart and a disordered state of the nerves.

One dizzy spell may pass off, but the next may be more serious.

Those who are wise will start taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, before their case becomes hopeless. They have no equal for reviving and strengthening the heart, and invigorating the nerves.

Mrs. A. E. Mettall, Rockdale, N.S., writes: "I was troubled for a long time with my heart, had weak and dizzy spells, could not sleep, and would have to get up the greater part of the night. At last I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and they did me so much good I got another, and after taking it could sleep as well as before I was taken sick. They are the best medicine I ever heard of for heart or nerve trouble."

Will Hold Inquest In Shooting Case

Collingwood, People Want Death of Mrs. Calback Probed.

Collingwood, June 16.—There will be an inquest on the death of Mrs. James Calback, who is supposed to have been killed accidentally here on Saturday night by a shot from a rifle in the hands of her son, aged 4, to whom she had given the weapon as a plaything.

This is the result of action taken by Police Magistrate Hogg, who notified Crown Attorney Cotter, of Barrie, that an inquest had been considered necessary by Coroner McPaul, and secured from the crown official instructions to order one. Popular opinion is emphatic in demanding an investigation of the affair.

The inquest was opened late this afternoon by Dr. McPaul, and adjourned to Wednesday at 1 o'clock. The jury asked that a post-mortem examination be made in the meantime.

The seeming impossibility of a child hardly 4 years old being able to lift a rifle, let alone load, set people talking. The truth or falsity of rumors of a quarrel between the husband and his now dead wife shortly before the tragedy will also be thoroughly investigated.

LEAPED OVER FALLS

Buffalo Man Ended His Life While Visiting at Niagara.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Niagara Falls, June 16.—Fred H. Hermann, of Buffalo, ended his life by leaping into the Luna Rapids from the bridge connecting it with Goat Island this afternoon. The man was first seen standing on the railing of the bridge by a man and a woman, tourists. For a moment their view was hidden by the trees and when their vision was again unobstructed they were in time to see the upstretched arms disappear below the floor of the bridge.

A straw hat and gray coat were found on the bridge, and in the pockets were papers which led to identification. A message from Buffalo stated that Hermann had left home saying that he was going to Niagara Falls.

Doubts Figures of Canon Hague

Dr. Lyle Does Not Think White Slave Statistics Are Accurate.

Hamilton, June 17.—The remarks of Canon Dyson Hague, formerly of London, at a recent meeting of the Anglican Synod at Toronto, to the effect that the girls disappeared from that place each year, and that they had been lured across the Niagara River as white slaves, has caused considerable comment about Hamilton. Rev. Dr. Lyle, when interviewed by the press, said that such a statement was greatly exaggerated. He did not believe that any such number fell into the clutches of white slave agents, and doubted if it could be shown that half that number fell victims to the traffic every year. It was extremely difficult for anyone to give an estimate on such a question, as the families of the victims usually kept the information under cover.

Speaking about Hamilton, Dr. Lyle said that although there had been such cases reported here, he did not believe that the number would reach 25 in a year.

LONDON, TUESDAY, JUNE 17.
OUR CITIZEN SOLDIERS.

Holding the camp of instruction for the volunteers of southwestern Ontario in London this year, may be taken as conclusive evidence that experience has demonstrated to the militia department the special fitness of this locality for the purpose. Other places have been tried, but London's central position, its facilities for transportation, and its civic advantages in the shape of good water, electric light and power, etc., have apparently fully satisfied the military authorities. It is for the corporation to add to the good impression our city has made by a reasonably generous treatment. It pays financially. The presence of two or three thousand men in our suburbs for a week means a large expenditure of money, of which our citizens will get the benefit. Apart from that is an advertisement worth having. It not only makes London better known, but it strengthens the feeling we must desire to foster all through these western counties that this is the centre of the district, and worthy of its position.

Not only has the corporation a duty to perform, but the citizens as well. If the camp is a benefit, as none will question, then it is the duty of every loyal citizen to do what he can to insure its annual recurrence by showing that he appreciates it. There may not be much anyone can do, but he may do what he can, by showing interest in the camp, by courteous attention to the officers and men. We know there are very many opposed to cultivating the spirit of militarism, but we doubt very much if giving a thousand or more young men an outing in camp each year is going to have the effect of making them at all anxious to get into a fight. It will give them a physical drill, and a lesson in discipline which is needed by the present generation. It will give them a little training in military service which might possibly come useful to a few of them some day. But it will not transform them into regular soldiers. And even if it did, there is no reason to suppose that would make them any more anxious for war. The professional soldier in these days is not the man who stirs up war. It is the ward politician and the yellow journalist who shouts for the glory of the flag, but stays home if it is in danger. And it is the man who profits by the manufacture of army and navy equipments who organizes "war games," and profits by them. There is no danger from the citizen who gets a few weeks' military training, but whose interests are all involved in the preservation of peace.

And so, while we consider it the duty of our people to encourage the holding of the annual camp in London, we would go further, and say it is their duty to encourage more than they do, our local volunteer organizations. They are of decided benefit to our young people. They help to keep the boys off the streets, and provide them with some interest in life outside of their ordinary occupations and amusements. Take for example our local battalion, the Seventh Regiment. It not only provides physical drill and military training, it constitutes a club with comfortable quarters, with rational and innocent recreation. It gives opportunity for officers and privates to meet together, with a common interest. There is no need for a soldier of the Seventh to wander around the streets at night, or seek doubtful methods of enjoyment. He can get moral as well as physical culture in the Armories. We believe, if its advantages were thoroughly understood, there would be more of our young men enlisting. As it is, a large proportion of the regiment are not Canadian born. Our boys should join, and our young men who can afford it should apply for commissions. They would do good to themselves and to others as well. Let us all encourage the local volunteers. We may never need their services to defend us in time of war, but that is no reason why we should not help on a movement which if properly managed can result in nothing but good.

LICENSE REDUCTION—BAR EXTENSION.
Arrests in the city of Toronto for the offence of drunkenness and disorderly conduct during the year 1912, numbered 15,605. Ten years ago the arrests for the same offence were 4,605.—A news item.

This is a little late in coming-out. Perhaps Toronto didn't want it known particularly. It is easy to understand why Toronto wants a Sunday day to the world, and a 200 per cent. increase in inebriety is scarcely justified by the proud increases of population. Toronto has a secret pride in the fact that its bars are longer than its lunch-counters; that its millionaire drinking arenas have a larger seating capacity than its soda-water emporiums, and its tea-rooms. Drunkenness and its stable companion, disorderly conduct, don't look like refined, gentlemanly drinking, and Toronto does love appearances. Sordid statistics! Great mahogany troughs that make fifty men stupidly or violently drunk every day! Where's your vaunted scientific license law, Mr. Hanna? You can cut down the number of the bars, but you only drive its devotees closer together! Mad drinking becomes madder! Tom out for the evening with Dick, discovers Harry out for the evening with Bill! Four buy more drinks than two! Four make more noise! Four not only treat around; they enter competitive drinking bouts. Four of a kind beat two pair!

Toronto ought to tell its policemen to load its drunks on street cars or close its bars.

THE WOMEN WINNING.
Every day or so the cause of woman's suffrage makes a gain somewhere along the line. If mania folly is blocking the advance in England for a time, it does not seem at any rate to turn it back. Elsewhere positive gain is constantly registered.

The latest victory is in Illinois. A bill to enfranchise women in the third largest state of the Union, containing the second city, the unspeakable Chicago, has just gone up to the governor for his signature. Women in Illinois are to have the vote in presidential, congressional and municipal elections. If one may judge from recent events in California, the municipal franchise may be the most fruitful of results. The women who got together last winter and pulled the price of eggs down in Chicago will be able to do more than that with votes.

The assertion is often made that women do not vote where they have the right. That kind of talk is unfounded. Here in Ontario, fenced around with mean restrictions, women do not make the use they might of the municipal franchise. Canada is a peculiarly conservative country for various reasons, and Canadian men take politics none too seriously. But in countries where women have national as well as local rights, they do not fail to avail themselves of them. Figures show that in states where more or less equal suffrage has been enjoyed for a considerable time, the women vote in nearly the same number as the men. Of course, if it were true that they do not, it might very well be argued that the evils prophesied by some persons could not then arise from woman suffrage.

One thing is noteworthy, that there is never recession from woman suffrage, once it has been tried. Nor is there ever an underhand suppression of it, such as negro suffrage has experienced in the Southern States. What the women get they hold.

The forces of folly are crumbling away before their attack. Some of the militants may be fighting unreason with unreason, but even in that there is a sort of wild reason. Answer a fool according to his folly; you can't argue him into sense. But apart from such incidental features of the warfare, victory is near when great, intelligent and powerful communities like Illinois do justice at last to mothers, wives and daughters.

Mr. Rogers is in favor of reforming the Senate. (Special dispatch.)

Mr. Roosevelt is going on a visit to Argentina. There will be some new drinks to try in that warm south.

From Ghent comes the sad news that one "Bombardier" Wells was knocked out by a Frenchman named Charpentier, in the fourth round. What the woman coming to?

While freeing an English "spy" from prison, the Kaiser further distinguishes himself by conferring the Cross of the Order of Merit on the French painter, Leon Bonnat. Is this part of the emergency?

It was always June in the garden of Eden. But if things grew wild, Adam must have had to rise early to get through dressing the lawn and shrubs without any modern cutlery and machinery.

When the dust of controversy clears away from the "land debateable" in the Balkans, school teachers and pupils will have to learn some geography over again. Southeastern Europe won't know itself.

BULGARIA HAS ACCEPTED OFFER TO DEMOBILIZE

Stipulates, However, That Joint Garrisons Be Placed in Disputed Territory.

Cholera Epidemic Is Killing Great Number of Soldiers in Macedonia.

[Canadian Press.]
Vienna, Austria, June 17.—The Bulgarian Government has accepted the demobilization proposals made by Serbia and Greece, according to the Neue Freie Presse. The condition is made, however, that joint garrisons composed of equal numbers of the soldiers of the states concerned be placed in the disputed territory in Macedonia and elsewhere before demobilization begins. Bulgaria also demands that all the parties submit to the arbitration of the Russian Emperor on the basis of the treaty existing before the Balkan war broke out.

CHOLERA KILLS MANY.
[Canadian Press.]
Saloniki, June 17.—Cholera is making alarming progress among the Bulgarian troops stationed at various points in Macedonia. Hundreds of cases are reported at military hospitals, and many of them result fatally. The civil population of the districts is also much affected.

The Moslem inhabitants of the villages occupied by Serbian troops in Macedonia are volunteering in great numbers for service with the Serbian army. Dispatches reaching here from Peshitch state that the Bulgarian regular troops arriving there from Thessaly and Bulair have pillaged all the Moslem houses in the town and massacred all the inmates.

2,444 WOMEN IN THE DIOCESE ASK FOR VOTE IN VESTRIES

Striking Letters From Prominent Advocates of Privilege Long Granted in England and Other Canadian Dioceses.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:
To the church women of the Diocese of Huron interest centers in the synod this year, by reason that 2,444 of them, scattered over 92 parishes, have sent in a petition asking to be made members of the vestries in their several parishes. They realize that not until women are recognized officially by the church, and are given a position with voice and vote in the parish councils, will the divine plan of men and women co-operating together, be carried out, and until then the church is short of half of its power. In the ideal founding of a home, the man and the woman enter into partnership; they have all things in common in the home; they consult and plan together; the one is as interested and responsible as the other. In this ideal home, such as God means it to be, we do not find the partners saying "This is mine, and that is yours"; the spirit of true comradeship leads them to say "This is ours." Neither do you find in the ideal home the man assuming a superior position over the woman, or the woman assuming an inferior one, but recognizing the co-partnership, they accord mutual respect and support to one another in carrying out plans for the betterment of the family.

God intends it to be thus in His larger home, the church, composed of men and women. Our parish councils in this diocese have too long been deprived of the woman's influence and point of view. She sees things men do not, just as we believe men see things women do not, and so the combined view of men and women cooperating together is needed for the advance and betterment of the parish. Men need have no fear of women as members of the vestry; their aim is co-operation, not dictation, and as to the fear expressed by some that "the coming of women into the vestry will drive men away," I quote the testimony of a prominent rector in Vancouver, who said "the larger attendance of men since women had been admitted as members of the vestry."

In England women have been in the vestries from time immemorial; fault has not been found with this, nor has the law been repealed. When the English Church was planted in Canada, the law on vestries was the same. It was not until some years ago, when the law for the church in Canada, by inserting the word "male," thus excluding women. It has been said by a prominent rector in this diocese, "the measure before the synod is a matter of sentiment and will carry." Now Mr. Editor, we maintain that that is not sentiment, it is a matter of justice. We feel sure there are enough broad-minded and fair-minded men among the clergy and laity of this diocese who will see that the women are restored to the position given them when the English Church was planted in Canada. The reform which is being asked for is no new thing. Out of twenty-three dioceses in Canada, nine have granted church franchise to their women, some as long as twenty years ago, and we see on all sides signs of many of the other dioceses moving for like recognition of the faithful women who for the sake of their loved master, Jesus Christ, have patiently waited. The women have worked and striven, and been loyal to the church, hoping and praying for the day to come when the church would recognize the truth that "there is neither male nor female, for ye are all one in Christ Jesus." Our women's appeal for a hearing is not without its precedent in Bible times, as seen in the 27th chapter of Numbers, where it says: "The five young daughters of Zelophehad stood before Moses and Eleazar, the priest, and before the princes and all the congregation and made a plea for their lawful inheritance, saying, Give us therefore a possession among the brethren of our father, and Moses brought their cause before the Lord, and the Lord spake unto Moses, saying: A hearing is not without its precedent in Bible times, as seen in the 27th chapter of Numbers, where it says: "The five young daughters of Zelophehad stood before Moses and Eleazar, the priest, and before the princes and all the congregation and made a plea for their lawful inheritance, saying, Give us therefore a We've Found Her! the Real, Truly True Mother Goose!

LISTEN! THIS WOMAN IS THE ONLY HUMAN GOSLING INCUBATOR—SHE PERSONALLY HATCHED OUT FIVE LITTLE GOOSSES.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Gary, Ind., June 17. — Mrs. Mary Radinski is the mother of five healthy goslings.

The mother is doing well. And as for the goslings they chirp (or peep or squeal or grunt or whatever it is that goslings do), just as naturally as if they'd been mothered by a regular goose. (Mrs. Radinski is a goose for doing it, the neighbors say, but let that pass. Let us not talk slander.)

Now, of course, you won't believe this story. The amateur naturalist who is writing it didn't believe it till he went to Gary and verified it. And if you're going to make a fuss about it, why, you can just go to Gary yourself and trail around the foreign quarter she had no goose or hen or duck to Radinski in her shack out at the end of Eleventh avenue, and ask her how it feels to be the mother of five goslings, and such like impertinent questions. And you can talk to the goslings, if you've a mind to, and get their side of it. THEY won't lie to you.

Here is what happened: Mrs. Radinski wanted to raise some geese. She had half a dozen eggs that a neighbor woman had given her, but she had no goose or hen or duck to set them under. And she had no incubator. And she couldn't afford to buy any goose or duck or hen or incubator. So what does Mrs. Radinski do?

Answer: Mrs. Radinski hatches 'em out herself.

No, no—not the way you think. Really, it wouldn't work. For Mrs. Radinski is large and heavy. She actually runs to embonpoint, though you don't dare tell her so.

Well, she just made a soft, warm, flannel belt, with a pocket for each egg and put the belt around her waist and wore it day and night until the eggs hatched.

It was a great day for Mrs. Radinski when the little goslings began to peep or whatever they do, and peck at the shells and break through. And Mrs. Radinski, happy in the joy of motherhood, helped them just the way a real goose mother would do when the shells cracked, after she (the goose) had been sitting on them for five long weeks.

"I don't believe any goose could do better than that," says Mrs. Radinski. "And I'm sure no woman in the neighborhood could beat it. Most of them are so bony, anyhow, they'd break the eggs the first thing. And they're so nervous and flighty they'd roll over on them at night instead of lying still and quiet."

The city of Gary, which formerly took pride only in its steel mills and public schools, is all puffed up over Mrs. Radinski's achievement.

REMOVING GREASE.

For coal oil apply at once buckwheat or wheat flour. Allow to stand two days. Renew every two days until all of the oil has been evaporated. Damp fulfurs' earth laid on a grease spot allowed to stand several hours, then rub gently into the spot. Sweep up carefully. Color will not be injured.

Oil spots must be treated with paste of fulfurs' earth and magnesia equal parts. Pour over this boiling water to make a thick paste. Spread on oil spots while hot. Allow to dry thoroughly. If oil is not all eradicated apply second time or third time; no fear of injuring the material.

and grays should be becoming, also black and white effects.

4. Yes.

5. To my mind they look better on the "figures" in the shop windows, than on the natural figures. Some of them, however, are not ungraceful.

6. It is rather "school-girlish," but quite neat.

Holding a Bazaar.

Dear Miss Grey: Will you kindly answer a few questions for me?

1. We are going to have a bazaar at our garden party, and what would be suitable to make for it? Something that will not cost much to make, but will sell very good.

2. What are the leading colors for shoes this summer?

3. Can you give me a recipe for oatmeal cookies?

4. What do you think of my writing?

BROWN EYES.

A—1. I think anyone who has ever assisted at a bazaar will agree with me when I advocate the advisability of making useful, rather than fancy articles to sell. Small aprons of white muslin, common kitchen aprons of print, hand-embroidered linen belts or jabots, dust caps with sleeves to match, plain hemstitched towels, dish-towels, knitted wash-cloths, shoe or rubber bags—all of these articles sell well at an affair of this kind.

2. White canvas and kid are very popular, both in boots and oxfords, and hold their own, and the black pumps in "gunmetal" leather are also much in vogue.

3. Two cups oatmeal, 1 cup sour milk, 1 teaspoon soda, generous pinch salt, 1 egg. Beat all together thoroughly and roll out into a large flat cake, using enough wheat flour to handle easily. When about half inch thick cut with a round flat cutter and bake quickly.

4. It would stand considerable improvement.

Diplomacy of Ice Cream Sodas.

Dear Miss Grey: As this is my first letter to you, I hope that you will answer the following questions as soon as possible, and I will indeed be very thankful. To come to the point I am very much in love with a young lady who is employed in the same office as I am, but from remarks of my fellow-workers I infer that she has a friend whom she goes steady. Now how could I, without hurting her feelings, let her know how I feel toward her? What do you think of my writing?

ANXIOUS.

A—1. I should advise you to make haste slowly, my friend. Do not bring matters to a climax at once by disclosing the state of your feelings to the young lady, but try a more diplomatic method. Little trips to the lake-side, to the ball game, to hand concerts, etc., liberally interspersed with ice cream sodas, would doubtless go far toward giving you a place in the young woman's affections. If this way fails then write me and I'll try to give you some other suggestions.

2. I like it very much.

Nothing is as good for the skin in warm weather as the smooth thread gloves or the real lisle with silk finish. They keep the hands cool and are washed often. And you should not put on a pair of gloves or stockings a second time without washing.

Tea-Table Talk

June weddings are receiving so much attention just now that it would seem amiss not to devote some little space to brides, and rings, and things pertaining to these events in general.

And speaking of brides, did you ever hear of the South African tribe who have a regular system of "fattening" bride-elects? It appears that the warriors of the Ekei tribe in the southern part of the "dark continent" do not approve of thin women, and before marriage betrothed girls are obliged to go into retirement for a few months in order to "fatten" up. They are fed on flesh-building foods, and are not permitted to take any exercise during this period.

Odd? Yes, so it seems to us, but we must remember that the attenuated figure so desired and cultivated by Canadian women at the present time would look equally so in the eyes of one of these plump bride-elects.

Are you "racking your brains" to think of some new kind of shower to give in honor of your friend, the June bride-to-be? There may be something helpful in the following list:

Some Shower Suggestions.

Towel showers are useful. Apron showers may be both useful and ornamental.

Linen showers may provide the bride with table linen or personal apparel.

Jelly and preserve showers never come amiss.

Glove showers are appreciated. Kitchen showers are immensely practical.

"Tea" showers provide the bride with dairy china for afternoon tea.

Book showers will be highly valued, especially if the tastes of bride and groom are known and considered.

Some Ring Traditions.

The third right-hand finger was considered the proper one for the wedding ring, according to the rule of the ancient Greek Church, but at the time of the reformation the left hand third finger was being used more commonly.

The reason for this, it is stated, was because the right hand was in such active use that the ring wore out too quickly.

Wedding rings originated, it is said, long before the time of Christ.

A pretty tradition is that the ring is the emblem of eternity, because the loop of gold has no beginning nor ending.

In olden times rings were exchanged in other transactions than marriage, where evidences of faith and loyalty were sworn to and sealed with the sacred token.

The Normal Belts Are Smart

As a smart accessory of the toilet the waist belt should have an importance greater than it has had for several summers. We have not, it is true, definitely decided in favor of waists, and in frocks there are still traces of the Empire influence; but all the same, corselet skirts will be by no means so generally worn as they were last year, and skirts with blouses will be popular in smart materials, as well for the morning. Leather, tissue, and metal are employed for the new belts, and their designs are most attractive. Very pretty, gaudy little belts are of wood with flower designs in embossed, and these are made with one sash end brought over and falling down one side, or at the center of the back, the front having a fancy clasp. The same design is seen in metal with an end hanging as if for a chateleine. Motifs of metal are joined by narrow chains and something of the same sort is seen on evening gowns with beads but with flower designs in embossed, and jeweled metal. Sometimes, too, a wide ribbon encircles the waist and is caught at intervals by ornamental metal motifs.

Chapter V.

Friday night the Dustman came a little late. Hialmar had almost given up and consulted the hen, a wise creature, and the swallow, who had travelled much.

"You see," began the dusty Dustman, "I was late because I had to help with the arrangements for the wedding."

"What, another wedding?" cried Hialmar, in surprise.

"Yes," said the Dustman. "This time it was a wedding in a chicken coop. There is no more sister's big doll, Herman, is to marry pretty, foxen-haired Bertha. It is to be a wonderful affair. That is you, where there are cabbages and the reason they invited me in to help plan it. Would you like to be one of the guests?"

Hialmar assented readily. He knew the guests.

There was no beauty in rows and rows of cabbages, which are just alike. But it was no use.

Just as he was making his point, the poor hen commenced to cry. That settled the matter for the bride and groom, who decided to stay at home. They did the hen dry her eyes and go back to the gravel pit and the cabbage patch.

Herman and Bertha settled down in their little corner of the nursery in Hialmar's home, where his sister could find them in the morning.

The hen and the swallow returned to their usual places. The Dustman shut up his umbrella and flew through the window. Hialmar turned over in bed, rubbed his eyes and went to sleep.

"Now, where shall we go on our honeymoon?" asked the groom.

Children at the Table

By Caroline Coe.

The proper position at table is to sit erect with the waist or chest just a few inches from the table. During the moments when not engaged in the act of eating allow the hands to lie quietly in the lap.

They should never lounge or slip down in the chair. The hips should touch the back of the chair near the seat and the body should bend from the hips.

Never support the elbows on the table. It may be comfortable, but it is very ungraceful.

Never play with knives, forks or spoons. Perfect repose as far as possible.

Teach the young sons to remain standing until the mother and sisters are seated. This custom should be strictly regarded.

The proper place for the knife and fork when not being used is to place them on the plate, together with the lips in the centre and handles on the edge.

The proper way to dip soup from the plate is away from them instead of towards them and it should be taken from the side of the spoon, not from the end. Never tip the soup plate or cup to get the last drop. Never crumb crackers into the soup.

Eat slowly always. 'Tis best for your digestion. Eat slowly for appearance sake.

Never allow children to spread a slice of bread and bite and cut it. Bread should be eaten by breaking off small pieces. Eat from them, just before placing them in the mouth.

Teach them to peel and quarter apples or peaches and cut into mouthfuls.

Asparagus should not be eaten with the fingers.

When finished do not push a plate away nor toy with the crumbs. Allow children to enter into the conversation, but also teach them to be attentive listeners.

Insist on co-operation of the children in keeping the table neat and orderly. Teach them to appear at meal time on time—with neat appearance and a smile. The dining-room should be sunny and bright, and children should be the same.

Move chairs carefully and noiselessly and let each one assume his share of responsibility of properly passing the food nearest him. Never allow them to sit down, eat the food hurriedly and leave the table before the others are finished. If once they leave the table do not allow them to return at that meal.

"Good morning" should welcome each as they come into the dining-room, and should it be necessary, for one to leave the table, "Excuse me."

Napkins should be unfolded and laid across the lap.

Teach your children to try all kinds of foods. One may learn to like more, any of them, and the saddest thing, to my notion, is a child whose table manners have been neglected, as these are the test of culture.

The Wearing of Gloves

In any work or play where the hands come in contact with the hands of other people, or where they are obliged to touch any unclean substance gloves should protect them.

No other way of keeping hands from being tanned and freckled has been discovered than by wearing gloves—not kid gloves, which ruin so quickly by perspiration, but cool, serviceable, fine thread gloves with long wrists, which keep the hands from dust and sunburn.

One can find gloves at 10 or 15 cents a pair that will protect the hands, when sweeping, dusting, cleaning silverware or tending sick people. Smooth, well-groomed hands are worth the few dollars a year spent on gloves to protect them.

The Poets' Corner

SONG FROM THE PRINCESS.

Tears, idle tears, I know not what they mean,
Tears from the depth of some divine despair
Rise in the heart, and gather to the eyes,
In looking on the happy autumn fields,
And thinking of the days that are no more.

Fresh as the first beam glittering on a sail,
That brings our friends up from the underworld,
Sad as that last which reddens over one,
That sinks with all we love below the verge;
So sad, so fresh, the days that are no more.

Ah, sad and strange, as in dark summer dawns
The earliest pipe of half-awakened birds
To dying ears, when unto dying eyes
The casement slowly grows a glimmering square;
So sad, so strange, the days that are no more.

Dear as remember'd kisses after death,
And sweet as those for hopeless fancy feign'd,
On lips that are for others; deep as love,
Deep as first love, and wild with all the rage
Of battle, and the days that are no more.

O Death in Life, the days that are no more.

The Beautiful and the Fashionable

There is one aspect of fashion for fellows in gowns or hats two or three which we are seasons old. Why can she not wear not always grateful—its comic aspect.

No season but Fashion adds to the march of the world by some vagary, some freak, upon which the wags of the day sharpen their wit for the general merriment. And this is it should be. We should take nothing seriously—not even ourselves! And as for fashion—the less seriously we take it the better so long as there is the divorce we have so long known between fashion and beauty. Think what a gulf is fixed between what is merely fashionable and what is beautiful! One can hardly say that a fashion is ever beautiful, for the beautiful thing is a joy forever; whereas the fashionable thing, even though it be considered beautiful at the moment, becomes a by-word when two seasons have passed over it. A beautiful thing must always be beautiful, and no comparison with things fashionable will dim its beauty or make it less than it was. The fashionable thing is not only considered impossible in two seasons, it even excites ridicule. So true is this that it takes courage of a very high order in a woman to go out amongst her fellows in gowns or hats two or three which we are seasons old. Why can she not wear not always grateful—its comic aspect.

$29,000,000 FOR STREET RAILWAY AND T. E. SYSTEM

Sir William Mackenzie Will Make Offer in Writing to Council.

Toronto Officials to Consider
Offer at Special Meeting on Wednesday.

Toronto, June 17.—In a characteristic frank statement, Mayor Hocken gave to the city council late last night complete details of the offer received by the city of Toronto in connection with the proposed purchase of the assets and franchises of the Toronto Street Railway and the Toronto Electric Light Company.

Tomorrow Sir William Mackenzie is to send in a definite statement in writing of what he will do, subject to the approval of his shareholders, the mayor began. "We told him we would give $21,500,000 for the Toronto Railway and all the street railway lines owned by his companies in the city of Toronto," he proceeded, "including the franchise and all other assets."

Valuable Franchises.
These embrace several perpetual franchises—namely, on the Metropolitan Railway from Woodlawn avenue to York Mills, on the Davenport road line as far as Weston road, on the Lambton line within the city limits, on the Toronto Suburban Railway in West Toronto, on the Kingston road and at the Beach, and on the Atlantic line in the city limits. The price for all these is $21,500,000. The mayor then referred to the Toronto Electric Light Company. "For the assets and franchise of that company," said he, "we are asked to pay $125 per share for 40,000 shares of stock of a value of $100, which means $4,000,000. In addition, we are asked to pay $1,000,000 for bonds and another $1,000,000 which the company has spent recently on improvements and extensions making $7,500,000 altogether for the franchise and all the assets of the Toronto Electric Light Company. This would include the Interurban Electric Light Company, which serves the old town of West Toronto."

Wants $29,000,000.
According to the figures mentioned by his worship, the city can acquire the Toronto Street Railway and the Toronto Electric Light Company for $29,000,000.

"The thing I am anxious about," continued the mayor, "is that by acquiring these lines we should open the door to all the radial railways, present and future."

"We are asking out for these terms," he went on, "that the power contracts the companies have made shall cease with the franchises we are buying if we so desire, that is, the Toronto Power Company's contract with the Toronto Railway Company will cease in eight years when the franchise of the Toronto Railway Company expires. We shall have the option of continuing the contracts if we find it desirable to do so."

Experts' Reports.
Referring to the question of experts, Mayor Hocken said, Messrs. Bion J. Arnold, of Chicago, and R. A. Ross, of Montreal, had told him they could have their reports ready within a month after we tell them to get to work."

"We would not have to raise all the money at once that is necessary to buy out the utilities in question," his worship remarked, in reply to a query. "All we would have to do is merely to assume the companies' obligations, including their bond issues on which they are paying only four and a half per cent interest, an exceedingly low price."

After hearing the mayor's statement, council adjourned until Wednesday (tomorrow) at four o'clock, when Mayor Hocken promised to present Sir William's offer in writing to them.

MYSTERY IN GALT DEATH DEEPENED AFTER INQUEST

Jury Says James Bruce Was Either Dead or Unconscious Before He Was Submerged in the River.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Galt, June 16.—The mystery surrounding the death of James Bruce, instead of being cleared up by the inquest, today brought in the following verdict: "From what we are able to judge, this man was either dead or unconscious before he was submerged in the water." This inquest in the report of the autopsy performed by Drs. Dakin and Vardon forms the pivotal points on which the investigation being conducted by Coroner Radford turns.

At the adjourned inquest the doctors stated that this opinion was based on the fact that there was no water in the man's lungs or stomach, and that a depression on the top of the skull indicated a blow which had been sufficient force to cause concussion of the brain.

There was also a wound on the right temple, which could have been inflicted in a similar way to that on top of the head, Dr. Dakin, in his evidence, stated that it was possible, though improbable, that the wounds were inflicted after the fall, and Dr. Vardon pointed out that the blood in the hair led to the supposition that the deceased met with his injuries some time before reaching the water, as otherwise the blood would have been washed off.

The coroner stated that evidence would be brought to show that Bruce was intoxicated on the night he is supposed to have met his death, but Dr. Vardon said he found no alcoholism in the system. This, however, might be accounted for by the advanced stage of decomposition.

Provincial Detective Greer reached Galt today, and with Chief of Police Goheen, is trying to unravel the mystery surrounding the case. Men who were in the company of Bruce on the night of his disappearance, and it is likely that on their story will depend the implication of any person in the tragedy.

Bridgie Webber Says
"Kid" Did Stabbing

New York Gambler Is Able to Leave
Hospital.

[Canadian Press.]
New York, June 17.—"Bridgie" Webber, a witness against former Police Lieutenant Charles S. Becker, convicted instigator of the murder of Hermann Rosenthal, was able today to leave the hospital where he has been since early Saturday morning, when he was stabbed in the back, under mysterious circumstances.

Fears that the knife used might have been poisoned were groundless, and it is believed that Saturday morning, when he was stabbed, he was holding a party at Sam Paul's East Side restaurant, at which a number of his former associates in the underworld were present.

Many of his friends, however, hold the belief that Webber's life was attempted because he testified in the Becker trial.

HYDRO SYSTEM WAS PARALYZED LAST EVENING

Power Users All Through Western Ontario Were Helpless for Five Hours.

Accident Was Regarded as an Impossibility on a Duplicate System.

London and all Western Ontario towns was in darkness for over five hours last night as a result of the worst break that has yet been experienced in the hydro system.

All who depended on the power from Niagara for light or power were without either, and the local office was kept busy answering irate citizens.

TROUBLE IN TORONTO.
[Special to The Advertiser.]
Toronto, June 17.—As a result of the worst break in the hydro system that has yet occurred, many industrial plants had to shut down and hundreds of homes were in darkness.

Large numbers of manufacturing companies using the hydro-electric power were closed down during the afternoon, and many of them sent their employees home early in the afternoon. During the evening many stores were darkened.

Water Was Short.
Toronto especially suffered greatly from the lack of power. At the water works the electric power was hampered in supplying water to the city, and the residents of West Toronto were left without any water owing to the lack of power at the pumping station. At one time during the afternoon water was being pumped at the rate of only 20,000,000 gallons, while later in the day it was increased to about 45,000,000.

This supply, however, was totally inadequate to meet the requirements of the city, as 60,000,000 gallons is the usual supply.

Locating the Break.
Although the power was off for over five hours the officials of the hydro-electric system could not give a satisfactory explanation. After vainly attempting to locate the break from the city in an automobile, they left the city in an automobile. At 9:55 o'clock in the evening the power was again restored, but at an early hour in the morning the chief engineer had to return to the city.

It was believed that the trouble centred around the Toronto powerhouse, but reports received from outlying districts showed that it was not local. In York County there was no light or power, and many complaints were received in rapid succession from the western section of the province. The Niagara Power House was also tested, and it was found that the trouble was on the line.

After a lengthy inspection one break was recorded at Dundas, and repaired, while the other break on the main transmission line was not found until some time later. When this was repaired power was again distributed in Toronto.

All Suffered.
All through Western Ontario large towns depending upon the hydro-electric power for their electrical energy were without power, and many manufacturing and transportation companies were closed down. In the early hours of the evening the streets were in darkness, and private residences and stores were illuminated with candles and lamps.

Among the chief sufferers were the newspaper offices. They were unable to bring out their afternoon editions until late at night, when the amusement houses were also forced to use lamps to give the first act of the performance. In Berlin many theatres were closed down early in the afternoon, and their employees stood around idle until the closing time.

Reports from Waterloo, Preston, Bridgeport and Galt also announced that the breakdown affected those places, and show that all the cities and railways depending upon hydro-electric power for their energy were completely tied up. In some cases the power was restored during the morning, and failed completely when a severe electrical storm raged over the city about 2:30 o'clock.

The street railway was completely tied up, and all manufacturing plants suspended. The residents of citizens were forced to walk through the rain. The power was off for almost five hours before it was resumed again.

BEER IS HIGHER
Big Jump in Prices on Chicago Markets—Famine Feared.

Chicago, June 16.—Beef took a sudden rise today. Cattle sold at $9.20 per 100 pounds at the stock yards. That is the last two weeks the price has risen sixty cents per 100 pounds, and packers predict still higher prices.

Evidence of a beef famine was shown in the live stock receipts. Only 17,000 cattle were received at the stock yards.

"CASCARETS" FOR A SICK, SOUR STOMACH
Sluggish Bowels Cause Gases,
Sourness and Food
Fermentation.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a clean box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

Cigarette Case Before the Court

The adjourned session of the county court was held this morning in the council chamber, the courthouse being dismantled on account of repairs.

The first case was that of the International Tobacco Company against Thomas Maher, of this city, for money due for a consignment of cigarettes. The defence claims that the goods were bought on sale or return and that when they were not sold they were returned to the vendor. The tobacco people claim that Maher bought the goods outright. No decision had been given at noon today when court adjourned.

NON-CONFORMISTS ENEMY OF CHURCH IN OLD COUNTRY

Seeking to Destroy Establishment, Says Speaker at Alumni Banquet.

Many Clergymen Formerly Identified With College Spend Enjoyable Evening.

The Huron College Alumni Association held its annual banquet Monday evening in the dining-room at Huron College. A large number of clergymen who were formerly associated with the college were present at the gathering, which proved a most enjoyable one. Rev. W. H. Snelgrove presided.

A toast, "The College as a Power for the Church in the Diocese," was responded to by Rev. Merton Shore and Rev. Canon Craig.

Each reviewed the past history of the college, and instances many of the brilliant men who had graduated from its walls during the past half century. These had done an immense work in the church, and the high standard of work which they had set would doubtless be fully maintained in the years to come.

"Unity and Loyalty" among the Alumni was a toast that brought an interesting response from Rev. A. L. G. Clarke and Rev. A. L. Beverly. There was need of unity and cooperation among the graduates of a college if the highest good was to be obtained. They should be loyal and helpful to each other in every way, and in this respect it was thought that there was still room for improvement among the graduates of Western University. A project to establish a college in German East Africa for the training of missionaries for that field was outlined to the members present. Rev. T. B. R. Westgate, who is a missionary in that region, asked through his brother that support be given the project, and that the plan, and funds will likely be raised through the country organizations.

Fare Week Meeting. Some discussion took place as to the advisability of holding a meeting during fair week. The majority of the members were in favor, and arrangements will be made by the incoming executive. The officers elected for the coming year were as follows: President, Rev. T. B. Howard; 1st vice-president, Rev. A. A. Hoot; 2nd vice-president, Rev. T. B. Howard; secretary, Rev. H. P. Westgate; treasurer, Rev. A. Shore; executive committee, Rev. A. L. G. Clarke, E. Appleyard, A. B. Farney, W. H. Roberts, H. C. Light and A. McKeech; representative to the senate of Western University, Rev. T. B. Howard.

The members later adjourned to the lecture-room, where a most able paper dealing with the "Contrast Between the Church in England and the Church in Canada," was read by Rev. F. H. Brown, of Woodstock.

The Englishman, and perhaps more particularly the Englishwoman, coming to Canada noticed many differences in the usages of the church of this country. They have been taught to believe that the organizations of the church are imperial in their scope, and yet when they come to Canada they do not find many of the organizations to which they have been accustomed. The Brotherhood of St. Andrew took the place of the Church of England Society, the Boy Scouts replace the Church Lads' Brigade. Young men find that instead of the Girls' Friendly Society there is the Daughters of the King, and in many districts the mothers' and daughters' club, a serious loss, as in the old land the Mothers' Club was the only thing that bound thousands of women to the church. It was their one aid to a better life.

The Englishman, he said, is shy and conservative, and when he finds that he is not as well looked after here as in the old country he is at a disadvantage.

Roman Church an Ally. The ecclesiastical atmosphere of Canada is also different. In England the Nonconformists were the enemy of the church in seeking to destroy its establishment, and while the difference between Catholic and Roman Catholic was very clearly taught, the Roman Church was always loved upon as an ally. Here the Roman Church was regarded as the enemy, and the newcomer learns, by hearsay, that there are just two bodies in Canada, Catholic and Protestant, and the latter divided into many sections, each as good as the other.

The aids to a spiritual life were not nearly so numerous in this country as in the old. Retreats, Breviaries, the seldom heard of here, and this was a loss which the old country clergymen coming out here feel keenly. The annual synod meetings, helpful as they were, became somewhat of a nuisance, and on which "we are washed in floods of eloquence, and dried in a long engender of practical business."

He touched on the problem of religious instruction in the public schools, and stated that while there were difficulties in introducing it into the schools of Canada, the problems which would later crop up from the want of it would be infinitely greater.

Several clergymen present supplemented the speaker's remarks in a short discussion which followed.

FINANCE REPORT OF HURON DIOCESE READY FOR SYNOD

Receipts for Regular Purposes Total Nearly Fourteen Thousand Dollars.

Executive Disposes of a Large Amount of Important Business.

The Synod executive committee met Monday afternoon in the committee room at St. Paul's Cathedral, the Lordship of the Bishop of Huron presiding. Its meeting on the eve of the opening of Synod is always a most important one, as the committee is vested with considerable power and occupies a large place in the affairs of the diocese. The session Monday afternoon was no exception to the rule, and a vast amount of important business was disposed of. The financial report, which was adopted and which will be presented to the Synod today, showed receipts for regular diocesan purposes and objects of $13,628.28, this being but $57.41 less than last year, which was a record. A total of $43,612.49 was received for all purposes.

The contributions for Huron College, not taking into account the jubilee subscriptions, amounted to $1,374.08, an increase of $140.94, the largest on record for any single year. This was particularly gratifying to the committee in view of the prominence which Huron College affairs are likely to have in this present synod.

The receipts for other than diocesan purposes were $19,478.70, as compared with $20,290.38 last year, but in this latter amount were included a $500 legacy and more than $2,000, which had been contributed for the China famine fund. It is customary each year to make an apportionment of funds for the coming year, a sort of budget. Last year the synod was asked for $18,183.13. Of this amount they have received $13,628.28, or about 75 per cent, a proportion similar to that of last year.

Missions have always been kept well in the front in the Diocese of Huron, as the following statement of collections for other than diocesan purposes shows:

China famine fund	$ 924.66
Foreign missions	1,613.34
M. S. C. S. fund	13,218.69
St. John's fund	2,390.77
Good Friday (Jews' fund)	$ 652.56
Sabrevois mission fund	617.00
St. John's fund	60.68
W. A. Huron Diocese branch	$ 6,620.50
	$26,095.20

This was an increase of $234.80 over the collections of the previous year. From the jubilee fund the sum of $5,336.72, including $409.13, transferred to the Indian mission stipend account, has been paid in grants to those entitled to them under the terms of the jubilee. The jubilee fund has been paid in each case, and a balance of $116.34 still remains to the credit of the account. The sum of $400 was also paid as outfit grants under the jubilee.

The sum of $7,614.25 has been paid during the past year in pensions to the widows and orphans of deceased clergy.

A sum of $820.00 was transferred from the general purposes fund, being the full amount authorized by the canon, and $1,077.23 from the diocesan purposes fund to balance the account. One widow has been removed by death, and two have been placed upon the fund. Thirty-three widows and nine children are now (April 30) sharing in the benefits of this fund.

In accordance with the resolution of last synod, the sum of $2,308.29 has been added to capital from the general purposes fund, and $62.80 from private gifts, and now amounts to $7,138.47. The sum of $2,308.29 has been added to capital from the general purposes fund, and $62.80 from private gifts, and now amounts to $7,138.47. The sum of $2,308.29 has been added to capital from the general purposes fund, and $62.80 from private gifts, and now amounts to $7,138.47.

The income from investments has been sufficient to pay 6 per cent. on the capital to all beneficiaries, and there remains a balance of $1,387.35 to be distributed with the 10 per cent. reserved to those entitled thereto on Aug. 1 next, and it is hoped that the same rate of 6 per cent. can be paid for the year ending April 30, 1914.

This is the financial report which was laid before the executive committee yesterday afternoon and considered in detail. Judge Robb moved that Archdeacon Young, the secretary-treasurer, be granted an increase of salary and that an assistant be appointed. An amendment to this was moved by Mr. Matthew Wilson, and seconded by Canon Hicks, of Simcoe, that this matter be referred to the synod with a recommendation that the services of Archdeacon Young be suitably recognized.

There were quite a number of parishes having business to come before the committee, and the following disposition was made of the various cases:

St. Luke's Church, Brantford—This was constituted a travelling mission, and $500 was placed in the bishop's hands for its services.

The Moravian Indians, having contributed $100 for repairing their church, $100 was appropriated for the work of the year.

The sum of $100 was set aside for the expenses of clergy moving into the diocese.

The report of Dr. Alfred Conor, bacteriologist of the Belvedere Military Hospital, Tunis, where with the collaboration of Dr. Nicoll, he had prepared a solution containing living whooping cough bacteria, which they injected into 122 children suffering with the disease, repeating it every two days.

Thirty-seven per cent. of the children recovered in less than three weeks, whereas, under ordinary treatment, the mildest attacks lasted two and sometimes five or six months. Of the rest 40 per cent. improved greatly, while the remaining 23 per cent. were not affected either for good or bad.

Dr. Roux, while declaring the experiments thus far were on too small a scale to make a definite pronouncement, said he believed an effective cure is in sight.

Toronto, June 17.—Damage to the extent of $350,000 was done to the factory and stock of Wicket & Craig, Limited, tanners and leather manufacturers, by a fire which started from the electric wiring shortly before midnight.

The loss is figured at $75,000 on the machinery, $75,000 on the building and $200,000 on the contents, fairly well covered by insurance. About 150 men were employed, and a large number of these will be retained in cleaning up and making ready for a new start, though the loss from the interruption of business will not be light.

Annual Rally of Baptist Societies

The various Baptist young peoples' societies in the city held their annual rally in the Egerton Street Baptist Church on Monday evening. There was a good attendance and some inspiring addresses were delivered by Rev. O. C. Elliott, of St. Thomas, who spoke on "The Prices of Success," and Rev. G. H. Saunders, who spoke on "The Power of Prayer." Both addresses were listened to with a great deal of interest by the young people.

Mr. J. L. W. Baldwin, who has been president of the city union for three years, was re-elected. The united societies will hold a union picnic at Springfield on July 1.

CRIPPLED HYDRO PREVENTS COUNCIL HOLDING MEETING

Somebody Suggested Calling on Candles But Aldermen Objected.

Effort to Invoke Return of Hiderow's Departed Spirit Proved Futile.

With the hydro-electric system out of business for the time being the city council on Monday night sat but a few minutes.

Twilight, dim and mystic, stealing faintly through the winding corridors of the old city hall, and the city fathers sitting in the gloaming, imperturbable, quiet, and neglecting to protest against the clause in the usual voluminous report of No. 2 committee. Had the council decided on a policy of doing everything in the dark? Or were they holding a civic séance? Alas, too true. "Hiderow 1:17" was dead. His patient and long-suffering spirit had winged its flight early in the afternoon. Seated in a circle around the council chamber the city fathers invoked his spirit to return, to bring them a message from the world of shades, to counsel and advise them on the harassing civic questions of today.

No. 3 Report Passed.
But there were several sacrilegious and irreverent members present who insisted upon going on with the more profane business of the city. Ald. Rose, chairman of No. 3 committee, for instance, read through the report of the committee. It was passed, too, without any objection. It authorized the fire chief to sell some old zinc and copper and the old horse wagon, and to purchase 14 pairs of boots, 14 rubber coats, 7 helmets and 5 play-pipes. Nobody even asked whether the play-pipes were for blowing bubbles.

The application of a gentleman named Smith, who wanted to be janitor of the comfort station, was filed.

Ald. Bennett, chairman of No. 2 committee, read half of No. 2 report. He got as far as Engineer Ashplant's report on asphalt pavements. Ald. Saunders rose to discuss this clause. Ald. Saunders is an authority on asphalt pavements, and he doesn't care who knows it. Ald. Richter, however, proposed that the clause on asphalt pavements be laid over until the remainder of the report was read, "Hiderow's spirit refused to be invoked. The mayor suggested an adjournment. Then an unexpected thing happened. Ald. Spittal, famous as an advocate of publicity departments and commissioners, and generally renowned for his up-to-the-minute progressiveness, suggested that a few old-fashioned, despised, mediæval, common, garden variety, tallow candles be brought in.

Refused To Use Candles.
Be it said to the credit of the other aldermen that they rose in unanimous protest against such an insult and disregard of the city's prestige. The king was dead. But long live the king. Though the civic fathers sat at a seance over the departed spirit of "Hiderow 1:17," yet "Hiderow 1:18" would not be crowned in his stead. Tallow candles were all right for old King Alfred, who even used them for clocks, but never let it be hinted that Charles Milton Richardson Grainger should be moved to the civic proceedings of the great and growing metropolitan city of London, Ontario, in the second year of his most august and excellent administration by the light of a pork-fat dip. William, how could you?

A Petition.
Ald. Saunders moved an adjournment, but before it was voted on, ex-Ald. Robert Carrothers addressed the council. He presented a petition from Horton and Waterloo street residents against the construction of permanent thoroughfares leading to Victoria Hospital on a two-thirds vote of the council. This would be a most unjust, he claimed. The city engineer, it is true, had recommended it, but the city engineer had not been here long, and naturally didn't know much about it, said Mr. Carrothers. Mayor Graham promised that the petition would receive full consideration before the matter was proceeded with. Then the vote for adjournment was taken. Of course in the deepening darkness nobody knew how anybody else voted. Harry Merritt didn't even pretend to count the votes. Being a practical man, he got a tallow candle and lighted the retiring aldermen down the winding stairs.

Candles, not gaslight, nor London Electric, nor any other foreign and profane light, according to the hydro-graphic scriptures, sacredly treasured by Her. Horatio Julius Grainger, victory of the gods, may not be used within the sacred precincts of the council chamber, but their use is happily not forbidden to light aldermanic footsteps down dark and winding stairs.

The council will meet again, if the gods are willing, on Wednesday night.

TREK FROM THE OLD WORLD MAKES PROBLEM FOR CHURCH

Junior Clergy Association of Huron Diocese Discuss Question of Church Life For Newcomers to Canada—Addressed By Immigration Agent.

The Junior Clergy Association of the Diocese of Huron held its eighth annual meeting in Cronyn Hall Monday afternoon. Rev. E. Appleby occupied the chair in the unavoidable absence of the president, Rev. Mr. Cornish.

"The Immigration Problem in Relation to the Church" was presented by Mr. G. A. Aylesworth, Government inspector of immigration, in a most interesting address. He pointed out the odds employed by the Government in caring for the great tide of immigration from the older countries. It should be considered that they are in entirely new surroundings, the customs and manners of Canada were in many cases entirely different from those of their own country, and for a long time they find it difficult to adjust themselves to the conditions of life in Canada. A good many of the older people are unable to ever adjust themselves to the new conditions, but their children, who would be the future citizens of Canada, deserved the fullest consideration of the church, as they were splendid material for future Canadians.

The speaker deplored the fact that many immigrants fall in with mean numbers, who overwork and underpay them. It gives the immigrant a poor idea of Canadian citizenship, and is the worst possible advertisement for Canada.

Immigrant and the Church.

Rev. T. B. Clarke spoke from a large experience on work among English people in this country. He had found them for the most part eager to associate themselves with the work of the church, and they were in every way splendid citizens. There were some, however, who were hard to reach, and these constituted a problem, the solution of which he was anxious to find.

Rev. Mr. Hodgins, of Stratford, and Rev. Mr. Purton, of Paris, also spoke of their experience in this regard in their own parishes, where a large number of their parishioners were people recently come from England. Both had great faith in them, and thought that they would make excellent churchmen and citizens.

The election of officers followed, the following being chosen:

President—Rev. A. Shore.

What One User Says About the Burroughs Duplex

One user of a Duplex Bookkeeping Machine says:

"The fact that you are able to do double column work, carrying the totals of each different column in the machine until the work is finished and then have the grand total of all figures added, in our minds is the greatest feature of this machine."

It is wonderful—and what this Duplex accomplishes, what it cuts off the cost of handling figures because of its two-in-one operations, is making it the most popular machine in the big Burroughs Line.

You ought to at least try a Duplex on your own work—no cost or obligation. Just drop us a card.
