BOX FULL OF DIAMONDS

Proved too Much For Trainers Having Charge
Jewels Valued At From $50,000 To $100,000

Cincinnati, Sept. 6.—A shoe box full of glittering diamonds and other jewels said to be valued at from $50,000 to $100,000—traveling as ordinary freight on Chesapeake and Ohio trains, was the lure that last February worked its effect on the trainmen in whose keeping it had been placed to be carried from Hot Springs, Va., to Salt Lake City, Utah.

It was on the charge of rifling the package that Baggage-master Albert Decker of Chicago was yesterday arraigned and placed under $1,000 bond to face the federal grand jury here next month. The chief witness against him was Express Messenger Fred Gibbs, of Cincinnati, who was on the same train with Decker. He testified that Decker gave him a diamond cluster containing one big central gem and forty or fifty small ones to sell in this city. Gibbs and Decker were arrested several weeks ago.

Mystery hangs over the ownership of the rifled box of diamonds and the reason for their being sent as common freight. Information received by the police is to the effect that the gems were stolen from guests at fashionable Virginia hotels, and were being shipped westward in the hope of diverting attention and suspicion from the guilty parties. The jewels have remained unclaimed at the railroad since their arrival at Salt Lake City, though those alleged to have been taken by Decker.

ANTIS HOLD MILD MEETING

In the City of Montserrat
Quebec

Montreal, Sept. 6.—Three cheers for Mayor Tremblay of Montserrat and "boos" for Mayor Martin of Montreal, concluded an exceptionally mild anti-conscription meeting in the city of Montserrat last night when it was claimed that if Mayor Martin had not instructed the police to club the antis here there would not have been any street disturbances in Montreal. One feature of the meeting was the reading of a poem titled "Five verses in length, etc. lines to each verse. It was supposed to be patriotic, according to the idea of the anti-conscriptionists.

Copenhagen, Sept. 6.—Vital statistics for the city of Berlin, now published for the months of March, April and May, show a 56 per cent. increase in the number of deaths from tuberculosis according to the same months of 1916. The winter months also were highly unfavorable in their showing regarding the spread of tuberculosis and other lung diseases.

RUSSIANS ARE STILL RETREATING

Petrograd, Sept. 6.—The Russians are continuing their retreat toward the northwest in the Riga region, crossing the Melupe River, the war office announces.

In the Riga region north of the Livonian River, it reads the text of the official statement, "we continued our retirement, crossing the River Melupe. In the region of the Pakov road and the Livonian River our infantry retired to the region of Segevd and Legat, which is 25 versts southwest of Venden.

"Our troops operating in the region east of Riga are continuing to retire under the enemy pressure, reaching the approximate line of Klagsberg, Moritzberg, Kestran and Friedrichstadt.

"There were fusillades elsewhere on the front."

HEAVY LOSS IN FIRE ON FARM

Mr. James Pate's Barn and Contents Burned To Ground

Smouldering embers were all that remained this morning of the barn and outbuildings of Mr. James Pate, a farmer in the second concession of the township, which were burned to the ground in a disastrous fire which yesterday afternoon did damage estimated at $7,000, and for a time threatened to spread to the Pate home and other adjoining buildings.

Two large barns, together with pig pen, horse stable and tool house, were entirely destroyed, together with almost the entire year's crops, and a number of head of live stock, one bull, two calves and fourteen pigs.

No surmise can be offered as to the origin of the fire, which seems shrouded in mystery. It is known to have originated in the south-west corner of the large barn, being first seen by neighbors who gave a warning. So rapidly did the flames gain headway, however, that to save any portion of the buildings or their contents was practically impossible, and the two hundred willing helpers who flocked to the scene concentrated their efforts on guarding the house from the flames, which several times leaped to the roof of the dwelling, sweeping the vicinity for a wide radius. The barns burned rapidly, and were soon consumed by the flames, and fire still remained in several huge heaps of grain this morning. By evening the blaze was practically under control, and the house free from danger, although a watch was kept until much later. Mr. Pate, who is deservedly one of the township's most popular citizens, is also known as being among the foremost farmers of the community, his lands, 150 acres, being equipped in the most modern fashion. The total loss from the fire, including buildings, crops, live stock and other contents, is estimated at $7,000.00 which, even although half covered by insurance, is no light blow, but one which Mr. Pate bears with characteristic resignation, maintaining patient cheerfulness this morning, in the face of his heavy loss and of painful injuries which he sustained about the face and hands while fighting the flames. Mr. Pate expresses himself as thankful that with the assistance of neighbors he was able to save the house, and was busy to-day in the work of clearing the land of the wreck.

RETREAT OF THE DEMORALIZED RUSSIANS

Copenhagen, Sept. 5.—The Berlin Tageblatt's correspondent on the Riga front, describing the passage of the Dvina River, says that this was accomplished without the loss of a man, thanks to the effect of the German artillery and mine throwers. The Germans had assembled a greater number of mine throwers than ever before and brought them into action after the regular artillery had bombarded the first and second lines for several hours.

The effect of the mine bombardment was literally overwhelming. Houses were reduced to fine dust and the demoralized Russian survivors fled. Bridges were thrown across the Dvina, at this point four hundred yards wide, by which storming parties crossed and assaulted the first line heights. Other bridges in the meantime were being constructed, and the whole army was soon crossing, while the regimental bands played.

The whole operation was carried out at such little cost that three divisions which were in the thick of the fighting had casualties amounting to about 150 dead and wounded, only.

GERMAN FLEET APPEARS

Petrograd, Sept. 6.—It is semi-officially announced that a German fleet has appeared in the Gulf of Riga. During the past two days the Riga front has been broken on a width of sixty versts. Throughout Tuesday, the Germans energetically pursued their offensive, particularly north of Uxhill in order to cut the Riga-Venden Railway.

NEWSPAPERS TAKE GLOOMIER VIEW

Petrograd, Sept. 6.—The retreat of the Russians from Riga over a neck of land a mile and a half between Lake Kish and Lake Egel is being accomplished with greatest difficulty and with the enemy constantly shelling the rear guard. This route is along the Pskoff railway and is the only exit from the Cul de Sac, the German Column having moved from the Uxhill region cutting off the Russian retreat to the southeast.

The civilian head of the war ministry, Boris Savinkoff, has issued a statement saying that the success of the measure which will be taken to check the advance "depends wholly on the behavior of our troops."

Despite reports of the disgraceful flight of certain elements of Russian defenders of Riga positions, military commentators praise the heroism of certain regiments among which were some composed of Letts who fought bravely to stem the tide of retreat, in fact setting an example for their comrades. The chief of the general staff, General Romanofsky, expressed the opinion that the evacuation constitutes no imminent menace to Petrograd because the near approach of the rainy season will prevent the enemy from advancing far in the direction of the capital. The danger of a descent upon the coast nearer to Petrograd is also discounted in official circles for like reasons and the additional difficulty the enemy would find in maintaining communication with a detached force.

The newspapers take a gloomier view of the situation. Russky Invaide, the less pessimistic in its expressions, finds some hope in the situation "if our troops have not forgotten that they are Russians and if some brilliant officers are found among them who are ready to do their duty."

Special committees from the regiments of the Petrograd garrison have been appointed to work out a plan for the defense of the capital.

The fourth domestic war loan will be floated in November, and will probably be for $100,000,000 and at a rate which will net the subscribers nearly six per cent., although the definite amount and terms will not be known for some weeks. Sir Thomas White stated to-day that between now and November a nationwide organization would be instituted to make the loan a success.

DESPERATE STRUGGLE CONTINUES

Italian and Austrian Armies Still Fighting Near Gorizia

Rome, Sept. 6.—The desperate battle for possession of positions in the district northeast of Gorizia on the Austro-Italian front is continuing, according to to-day's war office statement. The Italians yesterday took more than 500 additional prisoners in this area, and some 200 prisoners in the Brestovizza valley fighting, where repeated Austrian attacks were broken up. The text of the statement reads:

"The struggle continues northeast of Gorizia. Yesterday we captured 28 officers and more than 500 men."

"On the Carso repeated attacks by the enemy south of the Brestovizza valley were broken up by our firm resistance and prompt counter-attack. We made about 200 prisoners."

"Enemy batteries and troops in the Basza valley at Tolmino, to the east of Chiapovano valley, in the Voicizza region and on the reverse of the Hermada were very effectively bombarded by our aviators."

"On the Trentina front parties of our Arditi destroyed one of the enemy's advanced posts near Baone-Chies and outposts in the Hur-Chies region, east of Lake Gardicchio."

Udine, Sept. 6.—The Austrian command has succeeded in concentrating again such numbers of fresh troops and artillery removed from the Russo-Romanian and Balkan fronts, that the battle is raging again more fiercely than ever, especially east of Gorizia and northwest of the Hermada, in the Carso area.

The Austrians still hold what is called the Sentinel of Gorizia, Monte San Gabriele, which dominates both the Isoneo valley and the southern part of the Bainsizza plateau, but all the surrounding supports of this stronghold are gradually falling into the hands of the Italians so that the network of fortifications which the enemy had spread along this section is little by little being destroyed. (Unofficial reports through London yesterday said that Monte San Gabriele had been captured by the Italians.)

In the Hermada sector the Austrians have gathered the flower of their force, considering it the advance guard of Trieste. Their counter-attack around the village of Zio was most desperate. The Italians offered a strenuous defense along the Brestovizza valley. Attack and counter-attack followed in close succession the troops being engaged in a stubborn battle throughout the day. Several fortified positions were quietly changed hands, but the Italians finally remained masters of the situation and wrested from the enemy a few additional positions, which they already have strongly fortified.

THOUSANDS ARE OUT IN CONVENTION WITH RAILWAY

Trouble in Buenos Aires

Buenos Aires, Sept. 6.—Employees of the Pacific Railroad last night formulated demands upon the company, while workmen of the Central and Godoba companies are awaiting a reply to their demands, and workers for the Great Western railway have presented demands, threatening to strike immediately. Thousands of workmen are now out in the general railroad strike. The strikers at the plant of the German electric company refused the company's offer, and the men remaining at work joined the strikers. Naval forces are guarding the naval stockers in the power house of the German electric company. Officials of the Santa Fe railroad have asked the provincial government for troops to guard the right of way, workmen of the company having threatened to re-occupy after the settlement last week which ended in an extensive strike.

The Indefatigable sank the German cruiser Gneisenau in the first named battle and picked up seventy of her crew.

WILL GET EVEN

With German Seamen For Dastardly Deeds

London, Sept. 6.—(via Reuter's Ottawa agency)—The Trades Union Congress at Blackpool has unanimously passed resolutions emphasizing protesting against the barbarous methods of enemy submarine commanders, which are calculated to destroy the high and noble traditions of the sea, also recording its high appreciation of the brave and gallant seamen of the British merchant service.

Havelock Watson said that British seamen had decided at the end of the war, whatever the government might do, to see that the Germans were punished for their foul deeds and every crime they committed in future would be included for punishment. Seamen, he said, had a peculiar way of doing things, but they got there.

TWO HUNDRED WERE DROWNED

When a Mexican Government Vessel Sank

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 6.—According to a telegram received here 200 Mexican soldiers were drowned last night in the Gulf of California as a result of the sinking of a Mexican Government vessel.

The soldiers were being transported by barge with a number of horses and a quantity of military equipment from the points Isabella to La Balsa, Sonora.

A sudden squall capsized the barge which was reported to be of the number originally constructed for river work and unstable in a running sea. Carranza officials at the border points disclaimed any definite information of the disaster but said it was probably correct.

NEWS OF NORFOLK

"A" Company Must Have Been in Hard Fighting Personals and a Grist Of Other Items of Interest

Write Simcoe Agency Box 311 or 'phone 356-3 all matters regarding delivery or subscriptions; News items or advertisements.

Simcoe, Sept. 6.—Though it is impossible to get a complete list of a days' casualties for the town alone, much less for outside centres and the rural list of the county as well, the following names picked up in the ordinary way this evening would indicate that a company of the Norfolk unit must have been in grim business under heavy shell fire. Letters from some of those who came through safely indicate this as clearly as the censor will permit.

Wounded Pte. Russel, the youngest (likely Percy R.). Pte. Wm. Layland. Pte. Geo. Bantam. Pte. Edward W. Holmyard. Pte. Roscoe Devitt. Pte. S. G. Buckley. Pte. L. N. Kenline.

Died of Wounds Pte. Harry Mastus. (All of the former 133rd.) Missing Since Aug. 13 Pte. Chas. Reed.

One, Sinden, not of the Norfolk unit, also wounded. Russel is the youngest of three sons listed with their father in the roll of the 133rd. A brother-in-law and three soldier boarders all lived in the same home when the unit was here—N. W. corner, Robinson and King Sts. They left two women and one child when the battalion moved out. Young Russel was then about 16 years old.

Masters came from St. Williams with one John Martin. He had no relatives or next of kin. He became much attached to Mr. Arthur A. Niedrauer, Chapel St., with whom he lived while in training here. Wm. Layland was married a couple of years ago. Mrs. Layland and a six months old baby live in town.

Chas. Reed was well known through his having been much about town on corporation work. Personal The many friends of Mrs. John Pratt, Maple street, will be pleased to know that she has returned from the general hospital, Toronto, after six weeks sojourn there following a severe operation.

Mrs. Henry Fort of Victoria is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. George Fort, Norfolk street. Mrs. John McKnight is visiting her sister in Oshweken. Mr. and Mrs. Guy Marston returned yesterday from a motor trip up Georgian Bay way. The engineer, no doubt saw some good roads on the trip.

Mrs. Chas. Niedrauer and son, Alvin, and Miss Olmstead of Buffalo returned home to-day after a fortnight's visit with Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Evans in moving to Tillsonburg. Odd Ends of News The utilities commission has purchased a new pump to take care of the flow in the trunk sewer above the break while repairs are in progress. Work has been delayed awaiting its arrival.

John West, more familiarly known as 'Jackie' West, went up to defend himself at his adjourned trial on a charge of having been over-bloated. The case was to go on Tuesday evening, but the prosecution put in no appearance, in fact had informed "his worship" that they had thrown up the sponge. West, who had moved off while he was doing business, got on the railway and into a midday cup with himself in the wagon. After it got loose and the wagon out to capture it, some one appears to have surmised that he was unsteady.

Late corn has caused a lull in activity at the canning factory. At present local and outside cabbage is being canned. One abatement of the Middleton bridge is completed. Engineer Marston has a D62 McLaughlin, but he keeps the Saxton still. The old owner of the old horse, who got five bucks when he sold the faithful old skeleton at age 27, has some the limit of ingratitude to the faithful animal. He even objected to our kindly obituary notice given the equine a few days ago, and was looking for the writer. John Cline, of the Broken Front, in Woodhouse, had a sale of chattels yesterday and goes to Michigan, having leased his farm.

ITALIAN RED CROSS FUND

Organization Meeting For Purpose of Conducting Campaign Here

REV. PATRICK RYAN One of the pioneers in the Roman Catholic Church work in Toronto, who died a few weeks ago.

In response to the appeal of the Italian Red Cross and Royal Italian Government Fund for Orphans of Fallen Italian Soldiers, made through the Royal Consul General, Chevalier L. Cantani, of Montreal, Brantford is to conduct a campaign for funds for Canada's ally, in the near future. A goal of $100,000 has been fixed for Southern and Western Ontario.

President Logan M. Waterous of the Board of Trade, has called a meeting of leading citizens to be held this afternoon in the Board of Trade Chambers at 4.30 o'clock to consider the best means by which Brantford can co-operate and fix the dates of the Italian Red Cross campaign here. Secretary and Treasurer Harvey T. Watt has received the following letter from the Royal Italian Consul General Cantani: "R. Consolato Generale d'Italia nel Canada. Montreal, 26th August, 1917. Harvey T. Watt, Esq., Secretary and Treasurer, Canadian Patriots Fund, Brantford, Ontario. Sir.—The committee for the Italian Red Cross in South and Western Ontario is at this time making an appeal to the generosity of the people of your city. Messrs. L. P. Shumway and L. P. Porter Moore, organizers of the campaign for said Committee, will present their appeal to you, and as a leader in the City of Brantford, anything you deem fitting as a matter of co-operation will be greatly appreciated by the workers of the campaign. The needs are actual and pressing and the Italian Red Cross Committee anticipates a liberal response for the Italian Red Cross Campaign of the Empire, the Daughters of the Empire, the Women's Patriotic League and other local bodies. "Again expressing my appreciation for any assistance you may give, I remain, Yours respectfully, (Signed) L. ZUNINI, R. Consul General for Italy."

Both of the campaign organizers, L. P. Shumway and L. Porter Moore will be present at the organization meeting this afternoon. Brantford has been selected as headquarters for the Italian Red Cross Campaign in Southern and Western Ontario. On Thursday of last week, members of the Women's Patriotic League and the Canadian Red Cross, and chapters of the Daughters of the Empire held a preliminary organization meeting and plans are under way for their active participation.

Among the Brantford citizens who have been asked to attend the meeting this afternoon are L. M. Waterous, C. G. Ellis, C. H. Waterous, Frank Gault, John H. Spence, A. K. Bunnell, E. C. Cookshut, Mayor Bowby, John S. Dowling, T. H. Preston, W. B. Preston, F. D. Reville, J. W. Bain, D. Spencer Large, D. T. Williamson, A. Brandon, George Harris, Joseph H. Ham, M.P.P., W. F. At this point the Russians will have the assistance of the shore fortifications and a number of submarines.

CONTROL BEANS AND POTATOES

Minister of Provisions Will Fix Prices in France After Sept. 15. By Courier Leased Wire. Paris, Sept. 6.—The minister of provisions has announced that beginning on September 15 he will assume control over the prices of all potatoes and beans grown in France and will determine for each region raising these products the prices which may be charged for them.

DESTROYED

By Courier Leased Wire Washington, Sept. 6.—When Riga was cleared of its civilian population three weeks ago, according to officials at the Russian embassy, preparations were made for its final evacuation. Supplies were taken to other points, and whatever would be of value to the Germans was destroyed or otherwise disposed of. It is reported that the Baltic fleet is preparing for a battle with the enemy near Kronstadt. At this point the Russians will have the assistance of the shore fortifications and a number of submarines.

CANNOT LAND

By Courier Leased Wire Wellington, N.Z., Sept. 6.—(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—The Government has decided that Adels Pankhurst will not be allowed to land in New Zealand.

SLIPPED THROUGH

By Courier Leased Wire Montreal, Sept. 6.—The search for Monette, alleged head of the dynamiters of Montreal, shifted to a new centre this morning. Acting on a report that the man who is so much wanted, had slipped through the police net at Ste. Anne de Bellevue, the officers left on a hot trail towards Ottawa.

DUKE INSPECTS AEROPLANE FORMATION

On the occasion of the Duke of Devonshire's visit to Camp Borden a squadron of aeroplanes was formed for his inspection. His Excellency, however, did not venture to make a flight.

THE SITUATION

The Italian offensive has again resumed with renewed vigor, and with continued good results. By the capture of Monte St. Gabriele, they now have possession of the entire chain of mountains dominating Gorizia, and are pushing along on the Bainsizza Plateau. Cadorna, as usual, is not saying much, but it is clear that his plans are reaching splendid fulfillment, and that the offensive to Trieste continues to grow. The main body of the Russian army continues to retreat, and the Germans are naturally jubilant over the ease with which their forces are advancing. In fact the papers of the Fatherland are freely expressing the opinion that a decision may now be forced on the eastern front. That of course, is a dream for the rest of the allies will go ahead to the end, Russia or no Russia. Meanwhile on the Roumanian front the Russo-Roumanians continue to give a good account of themselves, and two fortified heights taken by the foe were promptly regained.

Both by air craft and submarine, Hun activities during the last few days have yielded more results than for some time past. The Zeppelins have manifested being discarded in the former case, and swift flying airplanes, of the smaller type offer far less surface for attack. Only one seems to have been brought down in connection with the recent raids. With regard to the undersea craft, the official record for last week shows twenty British vessels of over 1,500 tons sunk, as compared with eighteen the previous week and three under that figure.

British naval aeroplanes penetrated far into Turkish territory, and dropped bombs on the city of Adrianople.

In German East Africa a junction has been effected between an Anglo-Belgian column and a Belgian column, and severe losses are announced to have been inflicted on Germans retreating towards Mahenge.

Messages found in the secret archives of the deposed Czar of Russia show that the Kaiser, as far back as 1904 was actively engaged with intrigues which could not fail to destroy the peace of Europe. One of the reputed disclosures is that he resolved to occupy neutral Denmark with his armies, to gain advantages which Denmark had refused by declining to join the secret Russo-German combination. The Kaiser telegraphed about the plot to Czar Nicholas, who consented to the violation of Denmark.

Stewart Lyon, Canadian Press correspondent at the front, reports that judging from the talk of prisoners, the famous Prussian Guard formations were war weary and despondent over their experiences on the Canadian front.

CHINESE FOR EUROPE?

This is the Assertion Of a Frisco Paper

Fifteen Thousand Picked Men Said To Be Chosen

By Courier Leased Wire.
 San Francisco, Sept. 6.—The twenty-fourth Chinese army corps, composed of 15,000 picked troops from the northern provinces, is being mobilized in a Chinese city for immediate departure to Europe, according to a cablegram received here by the Chinese Daily World, from its correspondent in Shanghai.
 The despatch, censored and deleted, indicated that the troops were sent through Siberia to the eastern front. The despatch hinted that gains in the armies of Russia also would be filled by Japan.
 The 24th corps was said to include several companies of engineers, commanded by Chinese graduates from American colleges. An aviation corps, trained by Americans and French, will accompany the corps, it was indicated.
 Editors of The Daily World said today that if these soldiers were sent, they would be the first Monolians to fight in Europe since the time of Genghis Khan.

FROM THE CENTRAL FACTORY

In Ottawa there is a Liberal bureau which grinds out views for newspapers of that persuasion.

One of the recent effusions is a violent attack on the description measure and the Toronto Star (Liberal) makes a timely protest. It points out that the diatribe "scotchs at the whole thing—at the Military Service act, those who are in charge of it, its provisions, and even its purposes." And the Star makes protest in this vigorous fashion: "It must be regarded as a very curious thing that the descriptionist Liberal members of parliament from Ontario should be responsible for the sending out to descriptionist papers in Ontario, letters for publication knocking, conscription and making game of the whole thing." Further, the Star says that those Liberal members who supported the Military Service act and the Ontario newspapers which declared for conscription "should not allow the party machine to 'put over on them' such material as this, which is written entirely in harmony with the Quebec anti-war policy."

In referring to the above the Hamilton Herald (Independent) points out that the Liberal literary bureau at Ottawa is directly under the control of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. This anti-conscription literature would not be sent out to Liberal papers without his knowledge and consent, if not his definite instructions. What ever the description Liberals may do or say, the Liberal "machine," as the Star calls it, will probably grind out anti-conscription stuff until close to polling day, under the direction of the chieftain himself, despite the protests of the Star and other Liberal journals which don't relish seeing their party identified with the Quebec policy.

THE KAISER'S BLASPHEMY

In connection with the capture of Riga, the Kaiser sent two telegrams. One was to the Empress as follows: "Field Marshal Prince Leopold of Bavaria reports the capture of Riga by our troops, which is a new milestone of German strength and unerring will to victory. May God help us further."

To the Prince he wired:—"On the occasion of the capture of Riga I express to you and the eighth army my and the fatherland's congratulations and thanks. Far-seeing leadership and steel-hard will to victory guaranteed this fine success. Onward with God!"

In these two messages we have a still further illustration of the blasphemy of the head of the House of Hohenzollern.

An American correspondent, who has been with the German armies and seen the Kaiser at close range, states in the New York Tribune that the Kaiser does actually believe that he is the divinely appointed instrument of the Almighty.

If so, the idea held in so many quarters, that he is mentally unbalanced, becomes much strengthened. The outrage of inoffensive Belgium, with the despoiling of its women, the murder of old people and children, the wanton devastation of property, the sending of civilians into bondage; all these things were emanations of the devil incarnate, and the whole record of German frightfulness belongs to the same category.

Ervin S. Cobb, the well-known American writer and war correspondent, was in Germany for some months after hostilities started, the guest of the German forces, and he also says: "In this war upon which we have just entered our chief enemy is a nation army committed to the belief that whatever it may do is most agreeable in the sight of God. It is firmly committed to the belief that the acts of the Kaiser, its Crown Prince, its generals and its armies are done in accordance with the will and the purposes of God. And, by the same token, it is committed, with equal firmness, to the conviction that the designs and the deeds of all the nations and all the peoples opposed to their nation must perforce be obnoxious to God. By the process of their own peculiar theology—a theology which blossomed and began to bear its fruit after the war started, but for which the seed had been sown long before—God is not our God but their God. He is not the common creator of mankind, but a special creator of Teutons. He is a German God. For you to say this would sound in American ears like sacrilege. For me to write it down here smacks of blasphemy and impiety. But to the German—in Germany—it is sound religion, founded upon the Gospels and the Creed, proven in the Scriptures, abundantly justified in the performances and the intentions of an anointed and a sanctified few millions."

Mr. Cobb, among other things, proceeds to quote Pastor Vorwerk, a prominent minister, as follows:—"How can it be that Germany is surrounded by nothing but Enemies to-day that if these soldiers were sent, they would be the first Monolians to fight in Europe since the time of Genghis Khan."

YES! MAGICALLY! CORNS LIFT OUT WITH FINGERS

You simply say to the drug store man, "Give me a quarter of an ounce of freezezone." This will cost very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn from one's feet.

A few drops of this new ether compound applied directly upon a tender aching corn should relieve the soreness instantly, and soon the entire corn, root and all, dries up and can be lifted out with the fingers.

"This new way to rid one's feet of corns was introduced by a Cincinnati man, who says that while freezezone is sticky, it dries in a moment, and simply shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin."

Don't let father's tale of infection or lockjaw from whitening at his corns, but clip this out and make saken of God, and had to tread in such loneliness His path to victory. My German people, even if they road enemies, with thorns and beset by enemies, press onward, filled with defiance and confidence. The heavenly ladder is still standing. Thou and thy God, ye are the majority!"

It will thus be seen that the ideas of the Kaiser have become transmuted to the German populace, and both must have the idea of a Divine mission ultimately knocked out of them.

LIBERAL PAPER SPEAKS OUT

By Courier Leased Wire
 Winnipeg, Sept. 6.—The Manitoba Free Press to-day says:—"In order to prevent any possible misunderstanding, the Free Press declares that it will not take the responsibility of assisting in the election of any Liberal candidate—however high his position in the party, however emphatic his protestations as to war policy—if he seeks the suffrage of the people solely as a party candidate without the endorsement of a union convention. The Free Press will take no chances of being trapped into unwillingly helping toward this huge game of political film which was played with such open appeal for public sentiment at the recent western Liberal convention and is still being played secretly and with greater skill."

"For the duration of the war the Free Press is out of party politics. It knows only Canada and her perils, and it recognizes only one duty—that of serving the country with whole-hearted devotion."

Not in stock.
 I long for peace, for balm peace; I'd like to see the wrapping cease. I asked the Kaiser if the boon of peace would reach us pretty soon. "We have no peace in stock," he said, and wiped some carriage from his head. "We used to keep such goods on hand, but we found there's no demand. Keep your winter goods we're making room and closing out our stock of doom; if you desire a sled man's bonnet, just call us up by telephone. But peace! It's strictly out of date; we can't afford to pay the freight; we couldn't sell it, therefore, rejoice that we've something just as good." With that, before I could escape, they shot me up with slugs and grape. You can buy a pound of peace in any part from Cork to Greece.

PETROGRAD IS SAFE

According To The View Of General Alexieff

By Courier Leased Wire.
 Petrograd, Sept. 5.—General Alexieff, former commander in chief, said to-day Petrograd was not threatened by the fall of Riga. The "greater danger," he added, was on the Roumanian front.

General Vassilovski, commander of the Petrograd military district, agrees with General Alexieff. He declares the fall of Riga is of moral, but not strategic importance and gives assurance that the Petrograd garrison is in good spirits, well disciplined and confident of the safety of the capital.

Drastic measures have been decided upon by the government to avert serious conditions at the capital as a result of the capture of Riga. Agents will be sent out to stop the flood of refugees on the way here. Railroads have been forbidden to sell tickets to Petrograd to them.

TWO GERMAN ATTACKS

Are Repelled On The Aisne Front

French Continue To Hold The Desperate Foe

By Courier Leased Wire
 Paris, Sept. 6.—Two German attacks on the Aisne front last night were repelled by the French, says today's official statement. Heavy artillery fighting occurred on the Champagne and Verdun fronts. The announcement says: "There was violent artillery fighting in the region of Cerny. On the north of the Aisne, two German attacks, one near Quincy Basse, south of the Coucy forest, the other east of the Laffaux Mill were repulsed. South of Bouvetts we carried out an action which enabled us to take prisoners."

"In the vicinity of Rheims, we made a surprise attack which permitted us to penetrate the enemy's first line. In the Champagne our batteries obtained the ascendancy over the artillery of the enemy, which developed a particularly violent fire in the sector between the Main de Massiges and the Butte du Mesnil. We replied vigorously against the German lines and prevented an attack by the enemy."

"On both banks of the Meuse (Verdun front) the artillery was active. A German reconnoitering party which attempted to approach our lines at Vaux les Palameux was dispersed by our fire. In Lorraine, near Lacey, we repulsed a surprise attack."

"Several bombs were thrown on Dunkirk, wounding some civilians."

GOOD furniture doesn't just happen. It is the result of a well-devised and well-executed plan. The reliable manufacturers from whom we buy our stocks plan their furniture from the time the original wood leaves the forest, and from then on the process is one of careful inspection, thorough seasoning, proper fashioning and fitting, and appropriate finishing.

It is a delight to be able to choose the needed pieces from a collection of furniture that is builded on a real plan and which has one's unquestioning confidence. It is doubly agreeable to have the feeling that no excess is being paid for the faith itself. People enjoy paying full value for superior things, and those who come here buy with the certain knowledge that they are getting furniture built to a definite ideal, and the best that can be bought for the money.

While the grain crops in the county of Brant have been well up to the average this year, their value is being lessened through being left in the fields, in some cases for weeks before being brought in for threshing. This condition prevails generally throughout the county, but especially in the township of Onondaga, where grain in the shocks has been exposed to the elements for three and four weeks. One farmer in that municipality is authorized by a statement that his wheat which has been standing for nearly four weeks through two or three heavy showers, has commenced to grow again. Where the grain has been threshed, good yields have been the rule.

ITALIANS TAKE 1,686 PRISONERS

Last Mountain Dominating Gorizia Wrested From Austrians

BATTLE IS RENEUED Most Desperate Fighting Of War in Progress on the Bainsizza Plateau

London, Sept. 6.—The Italian official communication, received here to-day, tells of the resumption of the battle along the Julian front and the capture of an Austrian position on the Bainsizza plateau south of Oreggio. In addition 86 officers and 1,600 men were made prisoner.

Unofficial despatches from various sources state that the "Austrian position" referred to in the official statement is Monte San Gabriele, and there seems little reason to question these despatches. The Italians are now in possession of the entire chain of hills dominating the Gorizia area. Monte San Gabriele, in fact, has been virtually at the mercy of the Italians since the fall of Monte Santo, its neighboring stronghold. Now that they have taken it, they seem clear for General Cadorna to complete his domination of the Bainsizza plateau and push on into the Chiavovano valley, driving a wedge in between the Austrian northern and southern armies on the Isonzo front and severing their lines of communication with each other.

Tentative Last Stand The last stand of the Austrians at Monte San Gabriele, according to late despatches received to-day, was on the north-east side of the mountain. The Cologne Gazette says, the Austrians abandoned their strongest fortifications and that the complete loss of the mountain means the retreat of the whole Austrian army on that front.

General Cadorna, the despatches said, celebrated his 79th birthday by presenting the attack and consolidating the positions already won. Italian military critics, commenting on the situation, say the progress of their army was somewhat hindered by the necessity of constructing new roads up the mountainside and providing motor-power. The positions taken are being heavily fortified.

When the Italians have fought their way through the mountains, as it seems probable they shortly will, they will have a level stretch of plain 35 miles between them and Liviana; if the drive reaches this town the way is open toward Vienna and the Italians are predicting that nothing can stop them from cutting Austria out of the war except a lack of supplies. It was pointed out to-day that the line from the Swiss frontier to Trieste was 400 miles long, a more extended front than that in Belgium and France. The Italians also had the 400 miles, from Venice to Brindisi to defend.

WORLD'S SERIES OPENS OCT. 6TH

Conditional Upon Chicago and New York Participation—First in Chicago

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Details for the world's series are to be worked out at a special meeting of the National Commission to be held in Cincinnati, September 20, President Johnson of the American League said yesterday. The spirited race between Chicago and Boston for the American League pennant will have been definitely enough settled by that time, President Johnson said, to assure going ahead with the plans. Although Charles A. Comiskey, President of the Chicago club, declines to make any statement claiming the American League championship, orders for world's series seats are beginning to pour in from middle west cities. One Chicago enthusiast placed an order reserving thirty-two box seats yesterday. These orders are being held up, however, until Chicago is certain of beating Boston.

There is a strong possibility that the series, if Chicago is the American League contender, will start in Chicago on Saturday, October 6, President Johnson said. Although the place for playing the first game is decided by the toss of a coin, President Johnson said the National league might waive the formality and agree to start the games in the west, so a Sunday game could be played.

No New York Reservations. New York, Sept. 6.—Seats for the world's series baseball games this year will not be reserved by mail, but every ticket possible will be placed on public sale at the grounds, the New York National League club announced last night. Numerous letters asking for reservations have been received by the club, it was stated. Absolutely no reservations will be made and nothing will be done in regard to the world series until the time has arrived when it will be possible to issue an announcement covering all details, the club's statement said.

That all Chinese are gamblers by instinct, and that the City Council or the police might as well try to stop the flow of the water in the Fraser as to prevent gambling in some way among the Chinese, was the somewhat sweeping statement made by Mr. J. BRAYER UNITS ALONE RESIST

Disorder and Panic in Rear Of The Retreating Russians

ENEMY TO LAND ARMY Object of Bombardment On Riga Coast South Of Pernau by Germans

Petrograd, Sept. 5.—The military organ of the Riga front is of the opinion that the Germans were able to cross the Dvina because they knew absolutely the positions of all the Russian battery emplacements, and thus were able to silence the guns. Military circles say that it is impossible to foresee what line the retreating Russians will eventually take up; that everything depends upon arresting the panic in the rear of the army, where there is great disorder.

"At the present time," says the paper, "the brayer units alone are sustaining the shock of the German attacks. The bombardment of the coast south of Pernau may be regarded as preparation for a German landing, with the railway junctions connecting Revel, Jacobstadt and Pskov as the objective." The Russians already have fallen back more than 30 miles to the north east, retreating behind the German River. As a result which the Germans are following them. The more westerly Russian forces, however, are still keeping in touch with the coast. In the evident effort not to lose this protection for their flank.

RUSSIA FORCED INTO WAR BY THE ENTENTE POWERS

Germany Again Seeks To Evade Responsibility for The Fight

MICHAELIS HAS ALIBI

Russ Testimony, He Declares, Implicates France and England

By Courier Leased Wire.

Amsterdam, Sept. 5.—In an interview with a representative of the press the German chancellor, Dr. Georg Michaelis, has made a statement in regard to the disclosures of the trial of Petrograd for high treason of General Soukhomlinoff, former minister of war. (Great prominence has been given in the German press recently to testimony said to have been taken at the Soukhomlinoff trial tending to show Russia's responsibility for the beginning of the war. Accounts of the trial reaching this country have not contained such testimony.)

The statements of the former Russian war minister and former chief of the General Staff (General Januchkevitch) says Chancellor Michaelis, are of the greatest importance. They are calculated completely to destroy the legend of Germany's guilt in starting the war and they will force European opinion, if the reports are allowed to be published abroad to revise its judgment on Germany.

"It certainly is now established irrefutably," Dr. Michaelis said further, "that it was not Germany which chose the time for the war, but the military party surrounding the Czar, who was under the influence of France and England.

"The importance of the new disclosures is that the Czar who had to decide as to war or peace, in fact, came to the conclusion from the German emperor's efforts that Germany did not desire war. The consequence of this conclusion was his personal order to cancel the Russian mobilization but a couple of criminals who belied the Czar, disregarded the order and thwarted its execution.

SPORTING COMMENT

As a decider of protests Ban Johnson is a most leisurely person, which leads to the belief that we will get a decision on last Sunday's argument at Navin field about the time that the athletes go into hibernation. He has just made known his ruling on a protest made by the White Sox early in the season. This was on a game in which Dave Danforth was pitching against Cleveland, with Empire Nallin behind the plate. The score a tie and a runner on third. After Danforth had started his wind up and was about to deliver the ball, Schak stepped out of his position and called time. Nallin, of course ruled that Danforth had balked, and let the run score. There was nothing else for the umpire to do, and there was no course for President Johnson to pursue other than the one he took, which was to say that if the umpire had ruled that a balk had been made, then a balk had been made, inasmuch as it was a question of judgment solely, and thus not subject to review. As has been said before, in connection with this incident, if catchers are going to be allowed to call time when they wish to, we might as well do away with plate umpires entirely. A runner would have a fine chance to steal second if the catcher could halt his pitcher any time that he saw that some athlete had a flying start on him. Protesting on questions of judgment is the bunk. The American league might do well to invest a few dollars in ten cent rule books, sending them to its managers and players, with requests that they read them. One section of the record books is going to be pretty well supplemented this fall. It is that that has to do with no-hit games. Including both majors and minors, organized baseball leagues of course only being considered, eight of these feats have been recorded this season. The latest hurler to come through is one Paddy Martin, a left-hander on the staff of the New London club of the Eastern association. He turned the trick last Sunday, when he blanked the Springfield team, winning his game by a 4 to 0 count. Martin's feat seems to have been legitimate. Only one error is charged against his mates, the third baseman ruled that Martin walked two batsmen. Nine struck out, and the infield took care of most of the other nine, only one ball, a fly to the right fielder, getting out of the diamond. This Martin led all the pitchers of the Eastern league last season when he did much to hurl his team to the championship, but seems to have been overlooked. He won 21 games and lost 6, giving him a percentage of .769, which was 52 points better than his team did. The draft is pretty sure to grab this lad, if some club has not already purchased his release.

RAILWAY EARNINGS SHOW A DECREASE

First Contraction in Monthly Returns For a Long Period

By Courier Leased Wire
Montreal, Sept. 6.—Gross earnings of the three principal Canadian railroads amounted to $21,449,040 in August, a decrease of $366,256, or 3.9 per cent, as compared with the corresponding month a year ago and the first contraction shown in the monthly returns of the systems over a long period.

A still larger decrease has been indicated in the returns of the first three weeks of the month, but the returns for the final ten issued yesterday showed substantial return, the decrease contracting from nearly nine per cent in the first week of the month and about four per cent in the second and third to a fifth of one per cent in the fourth period.

Grand Trunk came through the month with an increase, but decreases were reported by both Canadian Pacific and Canadian Northern, a direct reflection of the smaller tonnage of grain remaining to be moved in the west, as compared with August a year ago. The upturn of the earnings of both latter companies coincides with commencement of the new harvest.

WOMEN'S LABOR RAPIDLY WINS PLACE FOR ITSELF AT THE FRONT

British Army Now Has Regularly Organized Feminine Section in France; Women Perform Duties Onerous to Men, and Bear Hardships With Meritorious Fortitude

Headquarters of Women's Auxiliary Corps, Behind British Lines in France, Sept. 6.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Women's labor as a part of the British army in France has now passed through its trial stage and won the approval of the army authorities.

In response to a question, "How do the young women themselves like active service?" the censors at Women's Headquarters have permitted The Associated Press correspondence to take extracts from a number of homebound letters written by women now serving in France.

One girl writes to her brother: "We are billeted in empty villages and everything is done for our comfort. Army blankets and no sheets seemed a little peculiar at first, but all idea of sheets has now vanished from our minds and we are developing an affection for these army blankets as a covering. The restrictions are not formidable; in fact, we are allowed more liberty than I personally expected, which is a great deal. Army rations may be a little rougher than the food we have been used to, but the quality and quantity is good, and hunger is the best of sauces. The work is interesting."

Here is a girl's account of her daily routine: "We have breakfast at 7:30 and parade at 8:15. We march down to the offices and commence work at 9. We leave again at 1:45 and finish at 5 for the day. We are the nearest camp to the line, and the work at this base is therefore very important. We are free to go out from 5 until 9 o'clock roll-call. That gives us a delightfully long evening."

The free time is well employed, as one girl writes: "We went out on Sunday and tried our French, which by the Frenchwoman we are now studying hard at it, and are also getting up a shorthand speed class. The army is developing us already."

A girl working in a coast village writes: "We are in the midst of beautiful scenery and the most glorious stretch of sea. With such advantages we feel we are absolutely in clover, because we had expected a lot of hardship, and instead we have only inconvenience. Our life in billets being army, is of course very different and we have dispensed with such luxuries as tablecloths, but we have delicious white bread and white sugar. We get a lot of bully beef and haven't yet risked my teeth on the army biscuits. We are telegraph operators on night duty. We have a bathing parade at 8:30 every morning. It sounds like a summer holiday but it is not all pleasure, and my advice to girls who think of coming over here is 'Don't come out expecting a picnic, because you won't get it.' Whenever we feel inclined to scumble at certain things we think of the men in the trenches, and we feel that our grievances sink into insignificance by the side of the sacrifices they are making.

"Our draft through some mistake, had a sorry time on arrival, nothing having been prepared for us. We had to put up at a hotel that had not been opened for four years, and the first day was spent scouring the place from top to bottom. To hear the girls talk, one would think it was a huge joke, and the way in which they made the best of the situation was splendid."

A woman sent to a base camp where a complete staff of men workers was displaced writes: "We were afraid we would be unpopular with the men on account of turning them out of their jobs, but nothing of the kind. They are very glad to see us and gave us a cheerful welcome. They had indeed provided every luxury you can conceive. They had put flowers in our mess and recreation rooms and everything was spotlessly clean. We feel almost swindled, inasmuch as we were definitely promised hardships but so far have been able to discover none."

Headquarters of Women's Auxiliary Corps, Behind British Lines in France, Sept. 6.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—When it was decided to employ women with the British Army in France the main difficulty that arose lay in the question of housing. Accommodation in France had been prepared solely in accordance with the requirements of adapted troops, and modifications and adaptations for the use of women required careful consideration.

The camps and hostels for the women workers had to be fully equipped with the necessary conveniences, the places of employment, and on a somewhat higher standard of comfort than was required then for the men.

With the co-operation of the military authorities, preliminary arrangements were so rapidly carried out that within a month after the decision to send women to France everything was ready for the first group of workers. These crossed the Channel at the end of April, this year. At present the women's quarters are principally in huddled camps, and in hostels taken over by the troops at some of the bases. These camps accommodate from 25 to 500 women each. Their total accommodation has reached a figure over 4,000.

Each camp, however small, is under the charge of a woman administrator responsible for the comfort and well-being of its occupants and for their discipline outside office hours.

The question is often asked, Is the discipline of the women workers very strict? The question of discipline was a subject of careful consideration. The women of the Auxiliary Corps cannot be treated as children; they are carefully chosen in the first instance and are doing responsible work. For this reason a great deal of liberty is given them and the rules and regulations are not stringent.

Members of the Corps must wear their uniforms on all occasions; there are certain restrictions regarding admission to cafes and estaminets in France. There are occasional roll-calls at the hostels, but out of office hours the women are allowed a great deal of liberty. The Administrator of the public recreation rooms of the hostels.

The idea in enforcing discipline among the women workers is that they should be led not driven, and that much depends upon the Administrator who acts as leader, still more on the manner in which the individual members respond to the trust reposed in them to keep up the personal credit and the honor of the Corps. It speaks well for the success of the system that after an experience of three months in France only three girls have been returned to England and they for an act which showed more stupidity than deliberate indiscipline.

The Administrators are carefully chosen, being in many cases teachers in girls' schools or workers in schools or large institutions. Others are women trained in welfare work experience in similar work. To fit university women who have had their own special work in France, all women chosen for Administrators receive instructions before being sent out to take up their duties.

Recruits for the Women's Army are very carefully selected in England. Each candidate must furnish two references, which are carefully consulted. Then the candidate is sent before a selection board and a medical board, both of whom have set a fairly high standard. Approved candidates are "called up" to a receiving depot after a short time allowed them for making preparations. On arriving at the receiving hostels the candidates are solemnly enrolled and required to sign their formal agreements before a military officer. They stay at the receiving hostels about three weeks, during which time they are inoculated and vaccinated, fitted with uniforms and taught some elementary marching drill. They also attend lectures on the work before them. These three weeks are very valuable; the women make friends among their future associates, and begin to get a little of that valuable "esprit de corps" which is their work and understanding of its value and importance.

When the first batch of recruits came to take possession of the big receiving hostel in London, they were told that the beds had not yet arrived, and that they would have to sleep on straw filled mattresses stretched over planks. Not a protest was made, although vaccination and inoculation soon gave aches and pains to several of them; on the contrary they rejoiced in the temporary discomfort as "part of the game."

Pay Your Debt To Your Defenders

Turn Your Luxuries Into Comforts For Those Who Have Sacrificed Most.

"Self-sacrifice, self-denial and service lie at the basis of the highest personal and national development."

—Sir Thomas White, Minister of Finance.

Is it nothing to you that men from all round you have sacrificed home and salary, safety and life, to defend your home as well as their own?

Is it nothing to you that their wives and families tremblingly scan each casualty list, and pale at the step of the postman or telegraph messenger?

Can you see others giving their dearest, without feeling that you must do something yourself? Do you wonder what to do?

You can at least save—and lend your savings to the nation. Canada needs every dollar her loyal sons and daughters can spare, to meet the growing expenses of the struggle.

Every dollar you invest in Canadian War Savings Certificates helps the nation to deal generously with those who are defending you.

Certificates in denominations of $25, $50 and $100, repayable in three years, may be purchased at any Bank or Money Order Post Office at $21.50, $43 and $86 respectively. This means over 5% interest—making them a profitable as well as a patriotic investment.

PERSHING'S TROOPS HATE DIGGING IN

U.S. Soldiers Eager to Fight in Open, as Are Canadian Boys

DISLIKE MOLE-LIKE TACTICS OF GERMANS

Sammys Taught to Make Individual Cover—Huns Paw Ground Like Dogs

American Training Camp in France.—One of the greatest problems impressing upon their men the absolute importance of learning the best ways of keeping under cover. The American soldier is not a natural "digger-in." He is much like his Canadian brother-in-arms in that respect, for it is an old saying that the British front that Canadians will die in the last ditch, but never dig it.

It is the American spirit, as it was that of the Canadians, to up-stake and fight; but the world war has long since passed that stage, and now in the long wear and worry of a struggle of attrition the best commander is the one who best conserves his men by keeping them under cover. One of the great reasons why the Germans are still in France and Belgium is their wonderful facility for digging themselves in. They have a perfect passion for it, and an incentive as well, for the allied artillery never ceases to pound them day and night.

The German belief that they can dig faster than a modern army can advance is one of the principles of their defensive tactics. Notwithstanding the heroic efforts to arouse his enthusiasm over the pick and shovel, the American soldier has remained decidedly lukewarm. He came to France to fight the Germans, and not to dig a hole and hide in it. The French, Canadian and Australian soldiers resent the idea of digging in, and would not admit the necessity of doing so until bitter losses had been suffered through a lesson taught them in a "Time-Clock War."

It is purely a matter of temperament, and there seems to be little doubt that only actual battle experience will convince the American soldiers that the ability to take advantage of any bit of cover is one of the greatest assets the modern man at arms can have.

"It seems a shame to have to curb the first fine fighting spirit of our troops," said an American training officer, "but the men must be made to understand as far as possible that impetuosity must be subordinated to steadiness. This has become a time-clock war. The men must dig in given time and go no further. Every step of infantry advance must first be worked out with the artillery, and when the plan is arranged it must be strictly adhered to."

"We realize that it will be difficult to hold our men to this plan. If they see a battle going on their favorite impulse will be to push on as fast as they can, and some are bound to do so, just as the Canadians did in the earlier stages. We will undoubtedly have big losses in this way, but the men who come through our first battles will be worth their weight in gold thereafter. They will learn quickly the value of steadiness and absolute discipline under fire, and they will be the steady influence we can distribute through the newer units of our great army as they get their final preparation for trial by fire."

The natural fighting man seems to have a natural antipathy to digging in. Even in these late months of war British Tommies would much rather remain above ground and stand chances of getting killed by shells than to dig the deep dugout so adored by the Germans. In planning the battle of Messines Ridge, which was a model of a clean-cut victory, the British army commander took into account the fighting man's point of view. When the advance had reached a stage where it gave the British covered high ground, the fighting men were directed to take a rest, while specially organized labor battalions were rushed up from the rear to do the necessary digging and consolidating of new trenches so as to make them thoroughly proof against counter attack.

The result was that the fighting men were unhampered and unworried by the necessity of digging, went forward later in the day and took objectives that were rather hoped for than actually expected. Those are the tactics the American fighting men would like to see. They appeal to him, but just now he is being put through a pretty stiff course of digging.

Taught to Take Individual Cover

This does not apply to digging trenches alone. He is being taught how to dig himself in individually while lying flat on the ground in the face of enemy fire, thus getting the temporary shelter of protection of a sort of grave-like excavation. It is not so often nowadays, however, that a man has actually to die himself in solid ground, for there is seldom an infantry advance made over anything but ground all pitted and crisscrossed with shell craters.

Fighting from shell holes is a part in itself, and one that Americans must learn before taking their place in the allied line. German prisoners say that they would rather fight from shell holes on an active part of the front than from a regularly organized trench system. The latter affords the artillery too good a target while isolated shell holes are difficult for the enemy guns to deal with. The Germans even conceal some of their shell holes by putting brown water-pipes over them, and whenever an allied airplane is seen approaching, the nation of digging in is so strong with the Germans that they have been known desperately to claw holes in the ground with their hands till the ends of their fingers were practically worn off. Thus some were found dead, and others who were sent to the hospital with all their finger nails gone.

PARAMOUNT POINTERS

Frank Losee now playing in support of Maxine Clark, in the Paramount adaptation of "Bab" stories by Mary Roberts Rinehart is all ready for Mr. Hoover and his food conservation. To lower the cost of eating, Mr. Losee has planted a garden full of beans in the yard of his Caryl home near Yonkers. "I figure I have spent $8.75 for wire to keep the chickens out, and by the time the beans sprout each bean will be worth a small fortune," says Mr. Losee. "It's a great way to conserve."

Scenes of recruiting on Fifth Avenue have been preserved for posterity in "The Mysterious Miss Terry." Billie Burke's first Paramount picture, a foody portion of the fifth shows Miss Burke on top of a Fifth Avenue bus in mid-day. Halts were made at various points to get in celluloid the recruiting scenes and crowd along the Avenue.

There's a new man playing the part of a certain German soldier in "Arms and the Girl." Paramount's third Billie Burke production, they being fitted "Commy Movie" and foot something, leading part for "The Burke was called on to struggle the supposed German in one scene, and which got so much into the picture of the war that he laid up his German antagonist for a couple of weeks.

Alberta Man's Crop Was Twice Wiped Out; He Should Worry

By Courier Leased Wire.
Calgary, Sep. 5.—An Alberta farmer living south of Calgary insured his crop against hail early in the season. He was hailed out and collected ninety per cent of his policy. The crop started to come up afterwards and he again insured. He was hailed out the second time and collected another 90 per cent. This same crop had been threshed out and brought ten bushels to the acre, which sold for $2 a bushel on the Calgary market.

An Outsider

(By LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE)

AUTHOR OF "The Lone Wolf" "Joan Thursday" "The Brass Bowl" etc.

(From Wednesday's Daily.) The solitary symptom of a tenantry... evidence here was a perfectly good American citizen in shirt-sleeves and overalls, pipe in mouth, toleration in his eyes, calmly steering a wheelbarrow down the drive. Sally caught the glint of his cool eyes and experienced a flash of intuition into a soul steeped in contemplative indolence of the city crowd and its silly antics. And forthwith, for some reason she found no time to analyze, she felt more at home, less apprehensive. As the car pulled up beneath the porte-cochere a mild-eyed footman ran out to help the valet with the luggage; Savage slipped blithely down and gave a hand to his sister, offering like assistance to Sally in turn; and on the topmost of three broad, white, stone steps the chateleine of Gosnold House appeared to welcome her guests—a vastly different personality, of course, from any of Sally's somewhat incoherent anticipations.

Going upon the rather sketchy suggestions of Mrs. Standish, the girl had prefigured Aunt Abby as a skittish female upward of three score years and odd; a gabbling creature with a wealth of empty gesticulation and a parrot's vacant eye; semi-responsible, prone to bright colors and an over youthful style of dress. She found, to the contrary, a lady of quiet reserve, composed of manner, authoritative of speech, not lacking in humor, of impeccable taste in dress, and to all appearances not a day older than forty-five, despite hair like snow that framed a face of rich but indisputably native complexion.

In her regard, when it was accorded exclusively to Sally, the girl divined a mildly diverted question, quite reasonable, as to her choice of traveling costume. Otherwise her reception was cordial, with reservations; nothing warranted the assumption that Mrs. Gosnold (Aunt Abby by her legitimate title) was not disposed to make up her mind about Miss Manwaring at her complete leisure. Interim she was very glad to see her; a friend of Adele's was always welcome to Gosnold House; and would Miss Manwaring be pleased to feel very much at home?

At this point Mrs. Standish affectionately linked arms with her relation and, with the nonchalant rudeness that is in these days almost a badge of cardinal, dragged her off to a cool and dusky corner of the paneled reception hall to acquaint her with the adulterated facts responsible for the phenomenon of Miss Manwaring.

"Be easy," Mr. Savage comforted the girl airily: "trust Adele to get away with it. That young woman is sure of a crown and harp in the hereafter if only because she'll make St. Peter himself believe black is white. You've got nothing to worry about. Now I'm off for a bath and nap; just time before luncheon. See you then, So-long."

He blew a most debonaire kiss to his maternal aunt and trotted lightly up the broad staircase; and as Sally cast about for some place to wait inconspicuously on the pleasure of her letters, Mrs. Gosnold called her. "Oh, Miss Manwaring!"

The girl responded with an unfeigned diffidence apparently pleasing by the eyes of her prospective employer. "My niece has been telling me about you," she said with an engaging smile. "and I am already inclined to be grateful to her. It isn't often—truth to tell—she makes such prompt acknowledgment of my demands. And I'm a most disorderly person, so I miss very much the services of my former secretary. Do come nearer."

Sally drew within arm's length, and the elder woman put out a hand and caught the girl's in a firm, cool, friendly grasp. "Your first name?" she inquired with a look of keen yet not unpleasant scrutiny.

"Sarah," said Sarah bluntness. "Man'ring" stuck in her guilty throat.

"S-a-r-a," Mrs. Standish punctiliously spelled it out. "Thank you; I recognize it now!" A shrewd, sidelong glance flickered amusement at Mrs. Gosnold's niece. "You come from the middle West, I understand, and you've had rather a hard time of it in New York. What do you do best?"

"Why—I've tried to write," Sally confessed shyly. "Oh! Novels?"

"Not quite so ambitious; short stories to begin with and then special articles for the newspapers—anything that promised to bring in a little money, but nothing ever did!" "Then, I presume you're familiar with typewriters?"

"Oh, yes." "And can punctuate after a fashion?" "I think so."

"You don't look it; far too womanly, unless your appearance is deceptive, to know the true difference between a semi-colon and a hyphen. No matter; you have every qualification, it seems, including a good manner and a pleasant smile. You're engaged—on probation; I mean—to say, for this one week we'll consider yourself simply my guest, but willing to help me out with my correspondence. Then, if you like the place and I like you as much as I hope I shall, you'll become my personal secretary at a salary of twenty-five dollars a week and all expenses. No—don't thank me; thank your sensible eyes!"

Mrs. Gosnold laughed lightly, gave Sally's hand a final but barely perceptible pressure, and released it. "Now Thomas will show you your room," Mrs. Standish tells me she has promised to outfit you; her maid will bring you more suitable things by the time you've had your tub and soon rest. Plenty of time; we lunch at one thirty."

The girl stammered some sort of an acknowledgement; she was never able to recall precisely what she said, in truth, but it served, and then she was amazedly ascending the broad staircase and following the flunky's back down a long, wide, drafty corridor to a room at one extreme of the building—a small room, daintily furnished and bright with summery cretonne, its individual bath adjoining.

ALARMISTS. There are certain people who always make out every calamity, every impending trouble, every minor mishap as worse than it is. These are the people who tell you that Mrs. So-and-so is very sick, that she ate something poisonous and the doctor hardly thinks she will live when, as a matter of fact, Mrs. So-and-so had merely had a severe but not at all dangerous attack of indigestion. They Always Magnify Any Little Household Uproar.

These are the people who, when anything goes wrong in a household always magnify the thing to the ears of the other members about it. The roof leaked in the thunder shower and they think the guest room ceiling is rotten. The guest room ceiling turns out to have one or two minor disfigurements on it.

The butcher didn't come and there isn't a thing in the house for supper. Of course the house yields up a perfectly good supper when properly cooked. She (the alarmist) is a "she" in a paroxysm of anger after some self-Johnny's face is all over blotches

Each nation is to be restricted by the Tribunal as to the amount of ships and armament she can produce, and no nation allowed to buy or manufacture ships or armament without the consent of the Tribunal, with the only exception of its own coast, frontier or internal fortifications.

In the eventuality of a nation violating the peace treaty or attacking a nation or colony, the entire military force of the countries is to invade the offensive country, the nearest neighbors leading the advance, march to the capital, peacefully if no resistance is offered, overpowering, if necessary, seize the government and exile all connected with it.

No government, however greedy, or fame-crazed, would be so foolhardy as to attack with the certain knowledge of exile. If however, one should attempt it, the populace would be little or no resistance, being probably pleased at having a government removed who would slaughter their people and cripple their business.

As no nation would dare to challenge the world single handed, there would be no more war, (excepting those wars commercially allowed for rebuilding destroyed cities, and each country having no fighting to occupy its army and navy, could occupy them commercially allowing sufficient time for necessary training to keep efficient for any emergency that would probably never happen during the life of this plan, but would soon return to old conditions, if nations growing too sure of their security, were to disarm.

Good Night Stories

By Alice Stone

THE TALE OF TWO MEN. Once there lived two men. One was named Griggaby, the other one Grey. Folks said it was from starving his wife and children that Griggaby had been able to save so much. For he was very stingy and mean.

Farmer Grey, his neighbor, had a household of children and hardly enough to feed them, but he was always good and kind. One day a poor tramp stopped at Griggaby's door and begged for food.

"What would I have, if I fed every tramp who knocked at my door?" said Griggaby. "Get out of here!" "I'll work to pay for a bite to eat," begged the wanderer.

But Griggaby, who thought every stranger who entered the village had come to rob him, shook his head. "Then let your wife cook these two potatoes for me," the wanderer asked.

At this Griggaby became very angry, and he called his dogs and sent the wanderer on his weary way down the dusty road. When the wanderer reached Farmer Grey's house, Grey opened the door with a cheery smile.

"What can I do for you, sir?" asked Grey, and when the stranger made his wants known, Grey called his wife.

"Wife, here's a man who needs food. Give him what you have. You see, we haven't very much ourselves, but never a man goes hungry from our door," said Grey.

When Wife Grey brought out some sandwiches and a cup of steaming hot coffee, the wanderer handed her the two potatoes.

"Take these out every eye and plant them in your garden. I wish I had more to offer you to repay your kindness," he said.

Mrs. Grey took the potatoes and thanked him. "I suppose he felt better after he'd given me the potatoes, poor fellow," she said to her husband after the wanderer had turned out of sight.

"As little as we have we could never complain, for we can always find some one who is worse off than we," replied Farmer Grey, and he took the potatoes and planted them in his garden.

The Wanderer Gives Wife Grey Two Large Potatoes. The year the village was beset by a plague of potato bugs. They soon destroyed every potato plant in the village excepting Farmer Grey's. His crop of potatoes ran into hundreds of barrels, which he sold and soon became wealthy.

"How many potatoes did you plant?" asked Griggaby, who with the rest of Grey's neighbors had lost every plant. When Grey told about the two potatoes the wanderer had given Wife Grey, Griggaby was very angry.

"Why! that tramp came to our place first, and I refused to take them!" cried Griggaby. Grey laughed. "Well, we have plenty and can share them with you," said Grey, and he made Griggaby a present of a barrel of potatoes.

"It has always been my rule never to refuse food to any one who begs for it. What we have on this earth is just loaned to us and belongs to Him," said Farmer Grey, pointing to the clouds. "So when a man knocks at my door and seeks help I never send him away empty-handed."

Griggaby was very much ashamed and went home to tell his wife. Before the end of the year Griggaby, by lost everything he owned, and soon found himself a poor man, while Grey slowly became wealthy.

Both men had been given the same chance. One had failed through selfishness and greed. The other had shared his little, and in return had received more, for the poor wanderer was none other than Fairy Reeper in disguise.

LADIES' WAIST. By Anabel Worthington

This cleverly draped waist can be worn as a separate blouse, but it is much more effective if combined with a skirt of the same material and worn as a dress. It is cut surplus fashion and the fronts are crossed and dotted to the belt at the sides. The waist is gathered in the usual manner under this fitted belt. The opening at the front is in deep A shape, to show the crossed vest of georgette underneath. A narrow pointed collar of white satin adds distinction to the waist. The sleeves may be long ones, gathered into pointed cuffs to correspond with the collar, or short ones with turned back cuffs. The waist pattern, No. 8,390, is cut in sizes 36 to 42 inches bust measure. As on the figure, the 36 inch size requires 2 1/2 yards of 36 inch material with 1/2 yard of 36 inch contrasting goods. To obtain this pattern send ten cents to the office of this publication.
