WHEN LOVE Came Too Late.

CHAPTER XXXVI.

A Forgery.

But Lord Clydesfold shook his head. "I think I should like to walk," he said quietly, and, shaking hands with them, he set off, followed by the cheers of the people, who still lingered and watched him with eager but respectful interest.

An hour later Lord Clydesfold was seated in his little dining-room of The Dell. His man had rushed home and prepared a meal, and with affectionate anxiety had insisted upon his master eating some of it; and Clydesfold sat thinking of the woman he loved, the woman for whose sake he would have given his life, and yet whom he dared not go near, when the door opened and the servant announced:

"Mr. Vanley."

Paradeane sprang to his feet, and took the trembling hands which the squire held out to him; and for a space the two men looked into each other's eyes in silence.

Then the old man found his voice. "What can I say, my lord?" he faltered. "No words I could find would express a tenth part of all I feel—of my gratitude, my unexpressed gratitude to you! I have never read of a nobler act than yours. You would have given your life to shield my child's name from even the reflection of shame!"

"Yes," said the other, in a low, grave voice, as he led the old man to a chair, "and would do it again to-morrow. Tell me how she is, sir. All concealment between us is destroyed forever. You know how it is with me, how it has been ever since we first met. I have loved her, sir—"

He stopped.

"Dearer than your own life," said the squire, solemnly. "I do not know how she is. I expected to carry her home more dead than alive; but she has not broken down or given way. Bessie, who has been like a sister and as good as gold, says that my girl will not give way; that—that I can scarcely speak of him—and he shuddered—that the sense of freedom, absolute freedom from that man, will sustain Olivia even through so terrible an ordeal as that through which she has passed; the sense of freedom and—and—he pressed Clydesfold's hand—"the knowledge that you are safe."

Clydesfold turned his head to hide the expression of joy which lit up his face.

"I have come to you not only to try and thank you, but to ask you what I am to do. When Bessie left the court at an intimation—a mere word and look—from Olivia, the girl went to the Grange and got a letter of Bradstone's which he had given to Olivia on her wedding day." He shuddered again. "This letter contained the voucher for a large sum of money given her, and yet whom he dared not go near, when the door opened and the servant announced:

"I need no assurance, sir," said Lord Clydesfold, laying his hand on the old man's shoulder tenderly. "Thank you, thank you!" faltered the squire. "Will you take it and restore it? You see, I still come to you in my trouble."

"Will you always do so? Let me see it."

He opened the paper, and looked at it; then went to his desk and compared it with some letters and papers.

"It is a large sum. There may be near relations to inherit the unhappy wretch's ill-got gold—"

"No man will be the richer for this," said Clydesfold, solemnly. "It is useless. It is—a forgery."

The squire started and looked at him with horror.

"A forgery!" repeated Lord Clydesfold. "I know the manager's writing quite well. See—there are his signs—"

CHAPTER I.

The Dread Messenger.

IN the front room of a cottage perched on a Devonshire cliff lay a woman waiting for that messenger who comes to all of us sooner or later. The rays of the setting sun, which dyed the scarcely rippling sea a brilliant crimson, fell upon her face and upon that of a young girl who knelt beside the bed and held the dying woman's hand. The face of the woman was softened by the approaching climax, and but for a strange restlessness and uncertainty in her eyes, it would have been wholly at peace.

She had been silent some time, watching the reflection of the sunlight on the wall, and the young girl had been watching her, silently, too, with tear-dimmed eyes.

At last the woman turned her head and looked at the lovely face, and forced a smile.

"What time is it, Miss Norah?" she asked, in a faint voice.

"The girl took out her watch.

"Nearly eight, Catherine, dear," she replied.

The woman sighed.

"I shall sink with the sun," she said, not complainingly, but with the listless apathy of one who is waiting and longing for peace.

The girl's tears fell, but she cried quietly and unobtrusively, and even endeavored to conceal them from her companion, who saw them, nevertheless.

"Don't cry, dear," she said. "Don't be unhappy. I should not be if I were not leaving you alone—all alone!"

"Don't think of me, Catherine, dear," said the girl, forcing back her tears. "Oh, if there were anything I could do!"

The woman shook her head.

"There is nothing," she said, feebly, "I am quite willing to go, but—but for the thought of leaving you. Norah, I have done my duty—"

"Oh, Catherine!"

"I have tried, since your mother died, to be a—mother to you!"

The girl put her arm round her and kissed her.

"You have been all that a mother could be to me—all, Catherine!" responded the girl, sobbingly.

A strange look came into the dying woman's face, and she raised her hand and laid it lovingly, wistfully on the girl's head.

"And you have loved me as if—as if I had been your mother, dear?" she asked, with a sudden intensity.

"Yes, yes, you know that, dear," assented Norah, fervently. "Why, I scarcely remember any other mother than you. You have been—"

She could not get any further.

Catherine Hayes' eyes closed, and a look of ineffable happiness and peace stole like the sunlight across her face.

"Yes, I know," she murmured. "It has been the only thing that has made it possible. If you had not loved me Norah—"

She stopped, and was silent a moment or two. Then she said, "Norah, have you thought of what you will do when I am gone?"

Norah shook her head gently.

"No, dear. How could I think of anything but you? You must not be unhappy or anxious about me."

The woman sighed.

tures to these papers. Compare them with this one on the voucher. It is a forgery." He took it from the squire's trembling hand and tore it in pieces, which he threw on the fire. "Do not tell her this," he said, after a moment's reflection. "It is better that she should not know it. From this moment do not permit her to mention his name in anything connected with her"—he paused; he was going to say "marriage"—"with anything connected with him. Let the past die out—as it will, please God!" He pointed to the ashes of the paper as they fluttered on the hearth. "Let that be the last remembrance of Bartley Bradstone!"

Liner Florizel Had Close Call

Of Being Torpedoed - Within the Small Margin of a Couple of Hours Was She Missed by German Armed Submarine.

The Red Cross Liner Florizel Capt. W. Martin, arrived here from New York and Halifax, yesterday afternoon, bringing a large general cargo and these passengers in saloon: William R. Chesire, Arthur E. Perkins, John R. Ross, Vator C. Pippy, Ella Bethune, Laring E. Peede, Byrne, John Dobbin, Gertrude Morrissey, Montie L. Hemlinway, May L. Richards, John Cousins, Annie Geary, Reginald Venn, Henry H. Baird and 16 in steerage.

PASSING DANGER ZONE.
In conversation with a Telegram representative Capt. Martin stated that the Florizel left New York at noon on Friday last, Oct. 6th, and on Saturday at noon passed the Nantucket Lightship. The German submarine U 53 was supposed to have arrived there early in the afternoon, bound to Newport News with a note for the German Ambassador sent from Wilhelmshaven. When the Florizel made her departure from New York it was foggy, but cleared again on Saturday morning. On Saturday at midnight it became foggy again and lasted so until 5 a.m. Sunday.

At one o'clock Sunday morning Captain Martin received this wireless message from the Admiralty:—"German armed submarine arrived Newport, Oct. 7th, left again evening. British ship attacked and believed to be sunk off Nantucket. Take precautions accordingly."

At 4:43 a.m. Sunday Capt. Martin picked up a message from the American steamer Kansas, reading as follows:—"Stopped off Nantucket Lightship by German submarine, papers examined and allowed to proceed. Heard S. O. S. call from S. Westpoint, British ship."

Shortly after Capt. Martin, of the Florizel was again wireless from the Admiralty as follows:—"British steamship, Westpoint, of Norfolk, North American Steam Shipping Company in latitude 42° 25' north and 69° west longitude fired at by German submarine. Getting boats ready."

Later on Sunday Capt. Martin again received a message from the Admiralty to take strict precaution as there was another submarine off Newport. From the tenor of the foregoing it is evident that the Florizel was in the vicinity of the underwater boat, which, after visiting Newport News, began her practical activities, amongst which was the sinking of the Florizel's consort—the Stephano.

READY FOR EMERGENCIES.
As instructed, the Florizel was made ready at Halifax in case of an emergency, the decks were stripped, all lights removed, life-buoys and ropes made ready for use and life-boats all ready to be lowered. Also all lights were ordered out and the ship came along at night time, though at reduced speed, without a light showing.

TWO DERELICTS.
Early yesterday morning, or about 12 or 13 hours before reaching port, Capt. Martin received this wireless from Cape Race:—"Two derelicts, lumber laden, in latitude 42.53 north and 65.20 west, dangerous to navigation; drifting southward."

RED CROSS CHOSE STEPHANO, ADMIRALTY FLORIZEL.
A Canadian exchange says:—"So far as known there is German submarines operating off the New England coast have not taken any toll of ships in the Canadian service. The Stephano, of the Red Cross Steamship company, torpedoed, but not sunk, was in one sense a vessel in the Canadian service, as she called at Halifax en route from New York to St. John's, Nfld. The admiralty wanted either the Stephano, or her sister ship the Florizel, the owners being permitted to keep whichever one they chose. They kept the Stephano, the larger vessel, and lost her to the Hun pirates."

Wonderful Echoes.
Probably the finest echo which the world knows is in the Cathedral at Pisa—where the Leaning Tower is. Sing two notes and there is no reverberation; sing three, and they are at once taken up by the walls of the edifice, swelled, prolonged, and varied till they seem as a divine harmony from some majestic organ. There is a cavern in Finland in which, if you test your lungs to the top of their capacity, there will answer you such horrible roaring, moanings, and mutterings that you will be glad to rush out in absolute terror. The cutting down of trees in a certain locality on the Hudson River spelt a splendid echo. A word shouted there was repeated forty-two times. Undoubtedly the most extraordinary natural echo in the world is to be heard by the side of a small lake in Bavaria. On one hand rises a perpendicular cliff several thousand feet high, white on the other side is a dense forest. If a pistol is fired on the lake the woods send back a faint echo that gradually dies away but presently it is heard from the cliff, continually increasing in power till it bursts over one's head like a deafening peal of thunder.—Tit-Bits.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL.
Smallest Donations Thankfully Received.—Board Conforms With Col. Secretary's Request.

A total absence of bickerings mingled with a tone of conciliation in every item of business that cropped up, marked last night's weekly sitting of the Municipal Board, every member being present.

Supt. Stott, of the Postal Telegraphs Dept., and Supt. Morris, of the Reid Co.'s Electrical Department, wrote as to right of way re erection of poles in the city.

The Engineer's opinion will be sent on the matter.
A communication from the Colonial Secretary was read by the Mayor, requesting the Council's co-operation in preventing lights from shining, according to the new Proclamation just issued. It was decided unanimously to co-operate and it was pointed out that for obvious reasons all city lights should be extinguished. The Mayor stated that he had notified the Gas Co. and R. N. Co. to discontinue lighting the city.

A lengthy communication was read from the Gas Company asking for higher rates for lighting the city on the ground that the high prices of coal and gas oil warranted it. At the end of the year the complaint will be remedied.

Howell explained that the delay in the painting of the fence surrounding the Parade Grounds was due to the paint not arriving, though it was ordered a long while ago. The work will now have to remain over till next spring.

Residents of the upper section of Signal Hill Road asked for water supply. Referred to Engineer for report. Messrs. P. Laracy and W. Goobie asked for water service. Referred to Engineer.

G. Gillingham, Golf Avenue, complained of the uncovering of sewer and asked for supply of gravel. Will get it.

Truckman W. Hayes said his horse fell and was injured on Long's Hill and asked for compensation, adding that the falling was the cause of the street being diled. Council held they were not liable.

C. Pretty, North Battery, whose house was damaged by a big storm recently, began making repairs without Council's permission. Will be stopped.

T. Stamp, Battery Road, will not be allowed to continue building.
A letter was received from Hon. J. A. Robinson enclosing $10, sent him by Miss Irene Bewley, of Grenville, Tennessee, to be devoted to city improvements. Miss Bewley, it may be remembered, held a series of concerts here some years ago and she thought some of her auditors were overcharged at the time. She requested that if the amount was not called for by the rightful owners it should be given to some institution. It was decided by the Board to purchase trees for one of the city parks.

Mrs. J. Dillon, South Side, wrote as to condition of drains. The Engineer will report.
The application made by F. Maynard, Thorburn Road, to repair house, 96 Lime Street, will be granted.

J. Hunt applied for permission to repair house, 96 Lime Street. The matter was referred to the Engineer. W. Currie asked permission to build on Quidi Vid Road. The Engineer will report.

Ed. Taylor, 37 Water Street, was granted permission to repair house.
The City Engineer reported that the new 20 inch main on the Portugal Cove Road had been completed and that the pressure in the city had increased from 86 lbs. to 115 lbs. per square inch. A perfect test had been made of the new system and only one or two slight leaks were discovered. The Mayor and Council congratulated the engineering staff on their good work.

Mr. J. M. Kent wrote that the water service to Kent's Cottage, Portugal Cove Road, was the owner's by right. Referred to Solicitor, as in the McNelly case.

Mr. Robert Wells GOES TO HOSPITAL.
Has Son Nine Years in The Navy.
Mr. Robert Wells, 68 years of age, a resident of Jamestown, arrived by the express yesterday to enter the general hospital for treatment to his left eye. Mr. Wells has one son, Theophilus, who for the past nine years has served in the Royal Navy, and when last heard from was in the Dardanelles. The letter was written August 4th, the second anniversary of England's declaration of war against Germany, and expressed the hope that by that date 1917 the war would be over. Reservist Wells was in the thickest of the fight in the landing of the Anzacs on the Gallipoli Peninsula, and had his clothes and boots riddled with bullets, but escaped without serious injury.

Keeping Cool.

If calm and cool you'd feel and look, while summer heat is blistering, you'll patronize the babbling brook, the village pump or cistern. For tangifoot and old red ink and bug juice make you hotter; there's nothing better, as a drink, than undiluted water. Discourse of light and pleasant things, discuss this mighty nation, talk much of cabbages and kings, but not of perspiration. Let such a theme as politics by you be never treated, for arguing and throwing bricks will get you over-heated. Be gentle with your patient wife, and say she is darling; if you get cross there will be strife, and forty kinds of snarling; you can't be cool when angry dame accept the gage of battle; you can't be cool while calling names that make the dishes rattle. Be calm and placid as you can, hunt up the soft drink fountains; turn on the small electric fan, and think of Greenland's mountains.

Stomach Acts Fine! No Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn, Acidity

"Pape's Diapepsin" fixes sick, sour, upset stomachs in five minutes.

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain, unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them, if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

Your Boys and Girls.

A good rainy day game for the kiddies is played as follows: Dolls and Toys have a way of breaking, it is true, but tears and peanies may be saved if they are layed away in a box—the crippled chair, the tailless dog and the headless doll—for a rainy day when the children are clamoring for something besides soap bubbles, to play.

Then the train load of wounded is brought in, the dolls and animals are put to bed each one numbered with a little ticket, and the furniture is put on the table, where nails, hammer and glue are ready for use.

As each number is called, the patients are operated upon with needle and glue, and when they are once more hale and hearty the furniture is taken in hand and the hospital becomes the carpenter shop.

Would You Stand By Him.

By RUTH CAMERON.

"Women are like the angels. Those who suffer belong to them."—Balzac.

"Should a woman still love her husband if he had been sent to prison for a serious crime? Should she stand by him and try to get him out?"

A reader friend sent me that question. We talked it over the other evening. There were many opinions on the different phases of the question.

Something Would Depend Upon His Innocence or Guilt.

In the first place, something would depend upon whether one believed that one's husband was guilty. If one believed in his innocence—and if his previous life justified me, I would certainly believe in it even though the evidence to the contrary were very strong—there would, of course, be no question as to whether one would continue to love him and stand by him.

Suppose, on the other hand, he were unquestionably guilty. Naturally one's attitude would be different. She Would Feel That He Needed Her More Than Ever.

The woman of the highest character would still stand by him. She would feel that in his weakness he had an ever greater claim on her strength than ever before.

But would she still love him? Ah, that's another question. If the crime were a natural outcome of some recognized fault which she had loved him in spite of, as for instance, some crime committed in a fit of temper, her love might not change.

If, on the other hand, the crime brought to light some unexpected and objectionable side of his character, he might become a different being to her and she might not love this new creature.

But Love Is Another Matter.

One might be well in love with Dr. Jekyll and not care for Mr. Hyde. The Author-Man brought up a point which is interesting to note. In almost all the cases which occupy the first pages of our newspapers, the wives stand by their husbands until some other woman enters the case. Take the case of Dr. Peck, the dentist, who was accused of poisoning his father-in-law and mother-in-law, and tried to poison his wife. In spite of the most damning evidence, she stood by him until the other woman appeared. Of course, in some criminal cases, the man is not mentally responsible. Then I suppose one would feel exactly as one would if one's husband became insane.

All these are guesses. What I should do or you would do, only actual experience would teach us.

Heaven keep us from ever knowing!

A Clever Bit of Work.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—Please allow me space in your valuable Journal to refer to a very clever piece of detective work recently performed at this place by Constable Bishop, of Brigus. The facts are as follows: During the past two months a resident of this place has been annoyed by some person or persons throwing stones on his house during the night. At one time going so far as to throw the stones through the bedroom window at twelve o'clock at night. At the time there were only two women in the house and their terror can be easily imagined; in fact had the effect of throwing one of the women into a fit from the effect of which she has not yet properly recovered. The nocturnal visitations continued night after night, sometimes beginning as early as seven o'clock in the morning. The owner of the house with several neighbors night after night kept diligent watch but never succeeded in catching the person causing the annoyance. Matters were now so serious that it had to be referred to Inspector Sullivan who ordered Constable Bishop to make investigations. The Constable arrived on the scene without knowing the seriousness of the business he was sent to investigate and came in his usual uniform, and of course in a short time every person in the place knew the business the Constable came upon, which consequently made the difficulty of apprehending the offender very much greater. But the Constable is never better satisfied than when he has a particularly hard job to tackle, and he had not been in the place twenty-four hours before he had obtained sufficient evidence to convict the offender, who was brought before Judge Thompson yesterday, and fined twenty-eight dollars or two months in the Penitentiary. Everyone in the place felt relieved when the offender was brought to justice, and all are loud in their praises for the very clever way in which the Constable acquitted himself. The Constable is well known as a very clever detective, and in quite a few cases has shown himself a true disciple of Sherlock Holmes.

Yours truly,

Taft Sees Spread of His Peace Idea.

Says English Leaders Are Turning Toward Suggestion of Enforcing It—Points To Duty Of U. S.

New York, Oct. 7.—That England seems to be coming to the scheme proposed by the American League to Enforce Peace to maintain the peace of the world after the present war, is the opinion of William H. Taft, the president of the organization who in discussing Viscount Bryce's article in the Manchester Guardian as reported in cable dispatches, said:

"Viscount Bryce's article, and especially the fact that the Manchester Guardian, the great provincial organ of Liberal opinion, has published a special number in which a large amount of space is devoted to the League to Enforce Peace, is one of the most hopeful things that have happened in the last two years. It shows in a convincing way that the thoughts of England's statesmen and leaders of opinion are turning toward the future; that they are anxiously considering what can be done after the war to prevent a recurrence of such suffering and calamities as Europe is enduring. The thought of the world is turning more and more definitely to America as the hope of the world, and this may be due to the propaganda of the League to Enforce Peace.

Fundamentals of the League.

"The league offers a definite program which does not go into details but is confined to these fundamental propositions:

"A league of nations to establish an international court to try causes of disputes between nations. "A council of conciliation to compose differences that cannot properly be brought before the court. "Conferences to formulate and codify rules of international law. "Concerted use of economic pressure and military force by all the signatory Powers against any member nation that begins war or even threatens to begin war upon another member of the league without first submitting its grievance to court or council and awaiting a decision. "Details are left to be worked out at the proposed international conferences thus avoiding the danger of shunting a great constructive scheme of international statesmanship off on a tangent and keep only fundamentals in view.

Duty of the United States

"One may reasonably question whether the United States by joining with the other great Powers to prevent the recurrence of a future world war may not risk less in assuming the obligations of a member of the league than by refusing to become such a member in view of her worldwide interests. But even if the risk of war to the United States would be greater by entering the league than by staying out of it does not the United States have a duty as a member of the family of nations to do its part and run its necessary risk to make less probable the coming of such another war and such another disaster to the American race? "We are the richest nation in the world, and in the sense of what we could do were we to make reasonable preparation we are the most powerful nation in the world. Viscount Bryce, Premier Asquith, in his significant utterance on August 23, and others have shown that they believe such a duty is imposed upon America, and that the nations of Europe are becoming more and more willing to co-operate in its fulfillment."

Infectious Disease On S. S. Florizel

What's The Matter With Our Quarantine Officer?

On arrival yesterday the S. S. Florizel was held up for examination, there being a case of measles on board, the sufferer being a saloon passenger named Gertrude Morrissey. She belonged to Harbor Grace, but had been residing in Boston for some time and was on her way home to her native land. When she joined the ship at Halifax the young lady was not allowed to be affected in any way, and it was during the passage from the latter port to St. John's that the disease first showed itself. Immediately Miss Morrissey was isolated as a precautionary step and attended by Purser Jones and Stewardess Mack for the remainder of the voyage. On reaching port the patient was brought to the Signal Hill Hospital for treatment.

Frequently complaints have been made about the Quarantine Port Officer and only yesterday afternoon when the S. S. Florizel arrived there was a spirit of dissatisfaction evident on all sides, owing to the absence of Dr. Campbell. The ship was not allowed to berth, passengers were disgusted, the Customs authorities were hampered in their work of examining the ship and all concerned were detained in their business for a considerable while, all waiting on "His Honor," who put in an appearance only through the efforts of Capt. Martin, who kept tooting the whistle of the Florizel continually.

THE TERMS OF PEACE.

LONDON, To-day. David Mason, Liberal, asked Asquith in the Commons to-day to furnish the House with particulars of the terms of peace which Germany is prepared to offer and which, he stated, were intolerable. Asquith, in reply, said he referred to the terms announced in the German Imperial Chancellor's public speech.

ABOMINABLE IF TRUE.

PETROGRAD (Official) To-day. In Dobruja an enemy air squadron dropped bombs on Constanza, the principal Rumanian Black Sea port; also poisoned sweet and garlic infected with cholera bacilli.

THE KINGSTONIAN SAFE.

BOSTON, To-day. As the Kingstonian is in the service of the British Admiralty, Thomas was not permitted to indicate the port to which she had arrived. This information serves to confirm the opinion held by marine men here. The report of the Kingstonian's loss arose from the confusion of her name with that of the Norwegian tanker Christian Knudsen, sunk by the U-boat the only (?) vessel sent to the bottom by the raider. The first British steamer to leave Boston since the appearance of the U-boat sailed to-day, the Coruna, a coal freighter bound for Louisburg, C.B.

Heart Fluttering Easily Corrected.

GOOD ADVICE TO FOLKS BOTHERED WITH PALPITATION, WEAKNESS, ETC.

If your heart flutters, be careful. An attack is liable to come on at any time. Excitement, over-exertion or emotion may cause it.

If blood rushes to the head if palpitation and short breath are noticeable, there's cause for alarm.

If you want a good honest remedy try Ferrozone. We recommend Ferrozone because we know it's just right for heart trouble. It cured A. F. Beattie, who lives at Allen Hotel, Bay City, Mich. See if your symptoms resemble these:

Some Symptoms of Weak Heart.
 Nervousness, Palpitation, Trembling, Dizziness, Sinking Feeling, Heart Pain, Short Breath, Weakness.
 Mr. Beattie says: "I was weak and miserable. "I was subject to heart palpitation and dizziness. "As I grew worse I began to have trembling and sinking sensations. "Ferrozone strengthened my heart, gave vigor to my nerves, soon made trembling and sinking sensations. "By strengthening the muscles of the heart, giving proper circulation and causing a general rebuilding of the whole system, Ferrozone is bound to do grand work in heart trouble; try it, 50c per box, or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or direct by mail from The Cattaraugus Co., Kingston, Ont.

CANOPIC ARRIVES SAFELY.

BOSTON, To-day. The White Star Liner Canopic, for which some anxiety has been felt, arrived to-day from Mediterranean ports. Her officers reported that they had not seen a U-boat. Capt. Metcalf said he had been informed by wireless of the submarine raid off Nantucket, and that he avoided the course at night the steamer ran without lights.

FRENCH AND SERBS PROGRESS.

PARIS, To-day. The French forces fighting north of the Somme River made progress to-day in the fighting west of Sailly Salles, according to an official tonight. South of the River there was great activity by the artillery of both sides. A communication report also that the Serbs are fighting in their own territory. S. E. of Monastir they have repulsed Bulgarian attacks and obtained a footing in the village of Brod.

KNOW NOTHING ABOUT IT.

NEW YORK, To-day. Navy yard officers disclaimed all knowledge of the Sterret's action last night and would venture no opinion as to why the vessel was detained.

BRITISH STEAMER STOPPED BY U.S. DESTROYER.

NEW YORK, To-day. The British steamer City of Madras was overhauled off Ambrose Channel Light last night by a U.S. torpedo boat destroyer and brought back to Clifton, Staten Island, after it had ignored the war vessel's signal to stop. The City of Madras cleared for Singapore, Manila and Hong Kong but anchored above quarantine, apparently fearful of submarine attack. As the ship passed quarantine last night on the way out, she was signalled to stop. Ignoring the order the steamer raced down the harbor at full speed and was not overtaken by the U.S. destroyer Sterret until she had passed through the Ambrose Channel. The Sterret returned up the harbor with its captive.

IRELAND AND ROUMANIA.

LONDON, To-day. Replying to Sir Edward Carson, who again put the question of man power and Ireland's contribution, War Minister Lloyd George said there was no doubt whatever about that country's available man power reserves, but it was necessary to get at them. Exemptions, he declared, had been far too numerous. If he gave the figures he would startle the House. They ran into millions. The Minister believed the Government had power to deal with exemptions, but if not, they would consult the House on the needful measures. John Dillon complained that Premier Asquith in his speech yesterday gave no assurance that the utmost resources would be employed to help Roumania in the hour of her trial and save her from the fate of Delium and Serbia. He expressed the belief that the war would be decided in the Balkans, and asked for a plain assurance from the War Secretary. Every nerve would be strained to assist Roumania, Lloyd George said. Obviously he could not enter into details but could assure Dillon that the Allies were doing their utmost to support the brave Rumanian armies against the vicious attacks. We have not the least doubt, said the Minister, that Germany is concentrating her strength in order to rush Roumania, not materially in her own interest but in a spirit of vengeance, because the brave people dared to challenge her power.

BRITISH OFFICIAL.

LONDON, To-day. The British official last night says: This afternoon we delivered an attack on the low heights which intervene between the front and the Espagnac-Perrone road. We have already secured successes and captured a number of prisoners during the course of the fighting, which still continues, though the weather is unfavorable for aircraft. There has been bombing activity during the past two days by our aeroplanes against the enemy lines of communication, aerodromes and infantry on the march. One of our machines has not returned.

WILL BE ALLOWED TO PROCEED.

NEW YORK, To-day. It was said on quarantine last night that the steamer City of Madras would be permitted to sail to-day, as her clearance papers were correct. She was forced to turn back and explain why she failed to obey the order of the United States war ship on patrol.

ANTI-ENTENTE PLOT FRUSTRATED.

LONDON, To-day. According to the Times Athens correspondent a conspiracy exists in Greece to officer the Greek fleet with anti-Entente sympathizers and to concentrate in Thessaly in the rear of the Allied army troops, guns, stores and material from Athens and elsewhere. The correspondent adds that the precautions taken by the Allies through an ultimatum to counteract these schemes caused no surprise in Athens.

TRANSFERRING THE GREEK NAVY.

LONDON, To-day. To-day was a sad day for the Greek tars, who are insufficiently acquainted with politics to understand why they must abandon their ships to a foreign power, says a correspondent tonight. It is an equally depressing sight for the Greek naval officers to watch for three hours this afternoon their ships being towed away by the tugs. The Allies took every precaution in the case of resistance being offered. Russian battleships trained their guns on the cruiser Leveroff and the battleships Kilkis and Lemnos, while French torpedo boats ready for action cruised to and fro. The ceremony in the early morning of ordering the crews to pack their personal belongings and quit their ships of which they were so proud had been a touching incident. The King sent a message releasing every man who wished to remain with his ship and join the Allies. It is said that nobody remained in the ships. The officers were the last to leave their vessels, taking with them their flags and the King's portrait, which adorned every ward room. Admiral Ipitris removed his flag to the Lemnos and shut himself up in his cabin while his fleet was being towed to the new anchorage. The Aide de Camp of Admiral Ipitris pointing to the Allied warships, remarked as he watched the scene: "What harm could we have done them?"

IRELAND AND CONSCRIPTION.

LONDON, To-day. The Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland has informed the Government that conscription in Ireland at present is neither feasible nor prudent, according to the Dublin Political correspondent of the Daily News. The Lord-Lieutenant's opinion has been concurred in by Henry Dukes, Chief Secretary for Ireland, and the Military Authorities of Dublin. Lieut. Wimborne is said to have reported that the Irish Nationalists were loyal, but that they claim that Ireland should be treated on the basis of the colonies in the matter of military service.

VIOLENT STRIKERS IN NEW YORK.

Capt. Smith Tells How the Stephano Was Destroyed.

Commander of the Red Cross Liner Says That Two Submarines Were Hiding Behind the Mother Ship, a Vessel of 5,000 Tons.

(Halifax Morning Chronicle.)
 Newport, R. I., Oct. 9.—Captain Clifton Smith of the Red Cross liner Stephano, whose home is in New York, was one of those who reported the presence of the supposed German supply ship off Nantucket. "She looked," he said, "to be a vessel of about 5,000 tons. We came upon her about six o'clock, moving slowly north. It was not yet dark but daylight had faded and a haze that rose out of the sea kept me from seeing her clearly. "Still there was nothing mysterious or remarkable about her at first. Then I noticed a smaller and swifter moving shape moving after her. It wasn't long before I identified it as a submarine. The U boat I think now had been hiding behind the mother ship for some time, I feel sure, is what the big one was.

Submarine Opened Fire. "I didn't know just what to make of it. We had sighted a couple of United States destroyers and they went far to explain what a friendly submarine should be doing there. "Five minutes later, I knew all there was to know. Coming within easy range the submarine let go a shot right across our bow and a couple of minutes later, I knew all there was to know. My wireless operator began to send out the S. O. S. For the benefit of the American destroyers, he kept repeating the message. "Two of the destroyers came racing up until they were near enough to see all that was going on. The submarine fired three more shots at intervals of a minute. None took effect. I guess they were not trying to hit us for they hardly could have missed us at that distance. "It was enough of a hint for me, though, and I issued orders to abandon the ship. Thanks to the presence of our vessels, there wasn't a bit of panic. In fifteen minutes everyone of us was in the boats and pulling out of the danger zone. We carried eight boats aboard the Stephano, but only six of them were needed.

"I was the last man to leave the ship and the stewardess the last woman. She had insisted that my wife and baby go ahead. My collier 'Brownie' was in the boat with me and the only living creature left aboard was the ship's cat. "Night had fallen quickly. As we neared one of the destroyers, which I made out to be the Ericsson, I saw the lights of the submarine twinkling against the black hull of the Stephano. It was too dark to see what was happening, but ears did as well as eyes. "There were two more shots, the reports mingling with the rending of planks and timbers. "Although the Stephano remained afloat, the U boat drew away. She sped a mile and a half to the west where another vessel was lying in wait. It was not the same one behind which the submarine had hidden. I am certain, but one which had been halted about the same time we were. "The guns of the submarine rattled again. The steamship she had for her target immediately began to settle.

"Back came the U boat to the Stephano. She hadn't been away more than fifteen minutes. The Stephano was a new boat and well built. I guess the submarine must have wasted about thirty gunshots on her before she gave up. Through all that time the Stephano's dynamo kept turning and her upper decks were ablaze with lights. It was hard to believe she wasn't going to get underway again in a minute and run on to New York. "I didn't see any of the submarine crew boarding the Stephano, but I suppose they did to make sure everyone was off. When the searchers had returned, the submarine once more drew away. She let fly a torpedo which took the Stephano fair amidships. "The Stephano split apart before my eyes and seven minutes later, I timed it, she disappeared."

NAMING THE BABY.
 Naming the baby is a delicate operation which requires more tact and finesse than discussing the European war with a total stranger. When a baby is born into the home it is carefully weighed by the proud father, who always throws in a couple of pounds for good measure, after which the entire family will begin to hunt around for a name that will satisfy everybody until the baby gets big enough to realize what has been attached to it.

One of the greatest pleasures in life is to be presented with a set of twins and then try to locate a pair of long meter names for them. Nearly all twins are given names that sound as much alike, as possible, thus making it an easy matter to tell them apart after they have been identified by the parents.

Under our present mode of government the baby is not consulted about its name, but is obliged to accept any combination of letters which will keep an old maid aunt in good humor. Sometimes the baby is named after an ancestor who was an advocate of simplified spelling, and is thus given a short, jerky cognomen which follows it down to age. Then also it is quite popular to hunt through the Bible for the correct spelling of Jereboam, and after this is determined the child is riveted to it and compelled to go through life explaining to curious friends that he was not old enough to prevent it.

Under our present form of government the baby is not consulted about its name. If the baby is a boy, the mother always insists upon naming it after the father, which is a splendid arrangement, as in after life the father is able to handle about four-fifths of the son's mail and get a good, clear idea of the modern love letter when it has the proper carburetor adjustment. In the case of a girl baby it is always better to pick out a name that has been worn for several years by some rich relative who is looking for a good place to leave a farm covered with ripening alfalfa and red pigs. It is a trying task to name a baby when it is the seventeenth member of the family. Some people use the telephone directory, while others can be seen feverishly scanning the society column in the effort to find some name which has not been tried on any of the other children. Benjamin Franklin was the seventeenth child, but he survived his name and grew to be a great, good man, which teaches us to forgive our parents for what we received.

THE STRIKE.—The stokers are still out on strike and there appears to be no settlement, compromising or otherwise, in sight. Ship-owners will not have anything to do with Union stokers and express their intention determinedly of employing none other than non-Union men in future. The coastal steamer Portia which has been hung up since Wednesday morning last on account of the strike, will get away some time to-morrow, it is expected.

A Paris Chemist Has Discovered How to Grow Hair.

In Paris the ladies have entirely abandoned wearing hats, which is due entirely to this new discovery. It has been proven that Henna leaves contain the ingredients that will positively grow hair. That they contain this long-looked-for article is proven every day.

The French are now placing on the market a preparation containing the extract from Henna leaves, which is having a phenomenal sale.

This preparation is called SALVIA and is being sold with a guarantee to cure dandruff and to grow hair in abundance. Being daintily perfumed, SALVIA makes a most pleasant dressing, and is sold by your druggist. A large, generous bottle can be purchased for 50 cents.

Maher, Gower Street, where a reception was held. The newly-wedded couple left by last evening's train for the Southern Shore to spend the honeymoon. Their numerous friends wish Mr. and Mrs. O'Flaherty a pleasant voyage over the matrimonial sea.

AN UNEVENTFUL NIGHT.
LONDON, Oct. 12. An uneventful night along the British line in the Somme region is reported in to-day's official statement. South of the Ancre, it says, there is nothing to report. During the night, five raids were undertaken by us in the Messines, Bos Grenier and Hayinnes areas. In the course of which we took prisoners and inflicted casualties on the enemy.

LONDON, Oct. 12. General Ziembrakatis has been appointed Minister of War in the Greek Provisional Government.

WILL MARCH AGAINST FERDINAND.

LONDON, Oct. 12. The Exchange Telegraph Co.'s Athens correspondent quotes former Premier Venizelos as declaring in a speech at Salonika, that he has placed himself at the head of a movement which was bound to succeed. The islands all adhered to the movement and were prepared to accept mobilization, which will be declared shortly, said Venizelos. The constitution must be revised, even if we have to march without Athens and Greece. We intend to march against Ferdinand and his treacherous troops.

GERMANY'S INFAMY.

LONDON, Oct. 12. The Daily Express this morning says: The depth of infamy to which the German nation has descended in its war against civilized mankind is shown by the official announcement from Bucharest of the discovery in the German Legation of flagons labelled "Virus Morve," intended to propagate a simultaneous epidemic among men and horses. The fact that the representative of the United States Legation witnessed the discovery is convincing proof of its truth. Virus Morve produces one of the most loathsome diseases known to mankind, generally known as glanders. Said one of the most eminent pathologists in this country to the Daily Express representative yesterday, "it would be fiendish to spread it among human beings, to whom it is practically always fatal. Death may come rapidly or gradually, and the victims might undergo terrible sufferings."

PURSUING THE ROMANIANS.

BERLIN, Oct. 12. Teutonic troops are pursuing the Rumanians on the whole Eastern Transilvanian front, says an official issued to-day by the German Army Headquarters Staff. The second Rumanian army, the announcement adds, has been driven back into frontier positions.

MILITARY OPERATIONS IN GREEK MACEDONIA.

LONDON, Oct. 12. Reporting military operations in Greek Macedonia, a British official issued to-day says: On the struma front a mounted brigade has cleared up the outskirts of the country to Seres. It found the town strongly held by the enemy. On the Doiran front further raids on enemy trenches were carried out on Tuesday night. Two advanced posts were driven in, and some Bulgarian and German prisoners were taken.

ROMANIANS REPULSE ATTACKS.

BUCHAREST, Oct. 12. The Rumanian army repulsed attacks by General Von Falkenhayn's army in Transylvania.

VOLUNTEER MOTOR BOAT PATROL.

LONDON, Oct. 12. The naval correspondent of the Daily Express in a long article dealing with the U-boat activities off the American coast says: One effect Germany did not expect to produce in America, I am convinced, will be an immediate strengthening of the scope of the new volunteer motor boat patrol for the Atlantic seaboard. The scheme aims at providing a motor and small craft as anti-submarine guard from Cape Sable to the Florida reefs.

KINGSTONIAN REPORTED SAFE.

BOSTON, Oct. 12. The British steamer Kingstonian, reported among those torpedoed by the German submarine off Nantucket last Sunday, is safe in port, according to word received to-day by John M. Thomas, of this city, local manager of the Leyland Line, which owns the ship. He said that information showed that the Kingstonian was thousands of miles from Nantucket last Sunday.

THE SUBMARINE SITUATION.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. The whole submarine situation, both as to the recent raid on the New England coast, and the broader question of the agitation in Germany for resumption of the warfare, shows disturbing information, have come to the State Department, according to officials, to change the decision arrived at by President Wilson and Secretary of State Lansing, breaking the nature of steps are contemplated for the actual establishment of a naval neutrality patrol along the Atlantic coast as the result of the German sub. raid. The Navy Department has completed a definite plan to put into operation if the campaign continues.

DYSPEPSIA OF WOMEN

Special Treatment Required.

Many women suffer from a form of indigestion or dyspepsia which does not yield to ordinary treatment. While the symptoms are similar to those of ordinary indigestion, yet the medicines usually prescribed do not restore the patient's normal condition.

There seems to be a kind of dyspepsia caused by derangement of the female organism. While this appears to be the same as ordinary indigestion, it can be relieved only by a medicine which, besides acting as a stomach tonic, is good for female ailments. Read what such a medicine did for Mrs. Williams—

She says:—"Before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was troubled with dyspepsia and bearing down pains in my back and sides, and after my meals my stomach would bloat up till I could scarcely get my breath. A number of times I was so weak I could hardly stand on my feet and I looked hollow-eyed and my skin was yellow. Now I have a good color, have gained in every way and can do my work without any pains. I think it is the best medicine on earth for stomach troubles of women."—Mrs. NELLIE WILLIAMS, 31 West 83 Street, New Albany, Ind.

mons regarding correspondence between the United States and Germany on the question of violations of international law. He asked whether the Government of the States in its correspondence with the German Government and in its protests against violations of international law, confined itself to consideration of American interests, or whether the most powerful neutral nation made any attempt to protect neutral rights in general, or has protested against violations committed against other neutral nations. Lord Robert Cecil, Parliamentary Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs and Minister of War Trade, replying on behalf of Viscount Grey, said: "Our knowledge of correspondence between the States and Germany is derived from the documents it publishes. It is for the Government of the States to define its position in the matter."

A Child Hates Oil, Calomel, Pills For Liver and Bowels

Give "California Syrup of Figs" if cross, sick, feverish, constipated.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given to-day saves a sick child to-morrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeiters who sell here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

Little Catalina School Boy

Breaks His Arm and is now in Hospital.

By the express which reached town at 4.10 p.m. yesterday, Thomas Johnson, 11 years of age, accompanied by his father, James Johnson, of Little Catalina, came in to enter the General Hospital for surgical treatment to his left arm which was broken on Monday afternoon. It happened that the little fellow, who is a delicate child and just recovered from a severe attack of measles, was in company with several other boys, hauling coal from a motor boat to the Methodist school at the place mentioned, using as the means of conveyance a large horse cart which the boys undertook to pull themselves. Young Johnson, getting between the shafts, was to steer the cart, while the other boys pulled on the ropes. All went well until they started down a steep incline and running at top speed the little chap could not keep ahead of the cart with its heavy load and was knocked down. One of the wheels passed over his left arm "shaking" it, "jacking" from the shoulder, breaking the bone and badly bruising the flesh. The poor child was picked up by his comrades and brought to his home in an unconscious condition. Dr. McKay, of Catalina, about four miles distant, was sent for and arrived within an hour after the accident. On ascertaining the nature of the wound, Dr. McKay ordered the sufferer to the General Hospital, where he was taken on arrival yesterday. On inquiry at the institution to-day, we learn the patient is doing well.

The Late Sir Cavendish Boyle, K. C. M. G.

Burial of Newfoundland's Ex-Governor.

The remains were cremated at Golders Green, on Wednesday, September 20th, and the ashes placed in a bronze urn were later interred to rest in a family grave at Hampton Hill Cemetery, adjoining the grave of his mother and of his brother, Sir Courtney Boyle. Those attending the burial included Lady Boyle (widow), Miss Adelaide Lane (niece), Mrs. Marrot (sister-in-law), Mr. David Sassoon (brother-in-law), Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Sassoon (uncle and aunt), Mrs. Arthur Sassoon, Mrs. Hyeem, Sir Ralph Williams, Mr. Harold Marrot (nephew), Mr. Maurice Nisim, Mr. Maurice Gubbay, Mr. W. In Memoriam.

Salmonier Mourns the Loss of Seven Brave Men.

From all over the Island we hear of the terrible destruction caused by the awful gale of Sept. 24th, but here in the parish of Salmonier an irreparable destruction of lives was caused. The loss of the schooner Bonnie Lass, owned by Captain Michael McDonald of Newbridge, has brought to seven homes an overwhelming sorrow. The Bonnie Lass just one week before the gale sailed out of Newbridge, having on board Capt. John Mcraith, Edward Grace, Harry Lewis, Richard McDonald, Edward Fagan, Peter McDonald and Michael Grace; as those brave young men bid good-bye to their friends with eager anticipation of a speedy re-union no foreboding came to them that never again would the eager eyes watching for their return be gladdened by sight of the little schooner that for so many years brought their loved ones safely back with "bumper trips" of fish.

The many widows, orphans and parents have the heartfelt sympathy of all who have heard of the terrible accident. None of the bodies have been recovered yet but every effort is being made by the good people of Trepassay to recover at least some of them. Their friends know that it matters not if the bodies are lying beneath the waves, or buried in the churchyard beneath flower strewn graves so that the souls are enjoying a peaceful rest in "The eternal home upon whose portal yet they linger looking back for them to come." Everyone of the crew were well known, well liked, jolly young fellows, five of whom were married men, the other two being the support of aged parents. On behalf of the sorrowing relatives we thank the good Pastor of Trepassay, Rev. Wm. O'Flaherty, for his kindness to these concerned. We offer him our sympathy too, for the death of so many of his former parishioners. The kindness of Father Rawlins, P.P. of Salmonier, has lessened the trial for many of the bereaved relatives. Requiem masses are being offered up for the souls of each of the crew. Newbridge, Oct. 10th.
