REMORSE and REPENTANCE.
OR
For Daisie's Sake

CHAPTER IV.
FALSE.

"Why, Mr. Bain, this is a surprise! I did not know you were acquainted with Miss Bell," she broke out, in dismay and alarm.

"Dallas was a trifle disconcerted, but he rallied himself and answered lightly:

"I was not until yesterday, when my horse knocked her off her wheel and nearly caused a fatal accident. So I came this morning to beg her forgiveness."

Mrs. Fleming gave a grating laugh, and answered maliciously:

"Perhaps Daisie may forgive you if she is very kind-hearted, but I am sure my Cousin Royall never will."

"Royall!" he exclaimed, in bewilderment; but she flattered over Daisie's sofa, cooling in her most gushing way:

"My dear girl, may I kiss you? Royall told yesterday of his engagement to you, and that he was going all the way to New York to get a splendid diamond ring for you. We shall be cousins, you and I--and, I hope, great friends. Why--why, what is the matter? The girl is fainting!"

Dallas had heard every word in surprise and horror, and suddenly he clutched the young widow's arm in a steady grasp.

"What nonsense are you talking to Daisie!" he exclaimed, "She is nothing to Royall! She has promised to marry me!"

"Impossible, Mr. Bain, impossible; for only the night before last she accepted my cousin, and he has gone now to buy the most magnificent engagement ring in New York," cried the young widow, in defiance and amazement at his claim.

"He has lied to you! She belongs to me!" repeated Dallas hoarsely; and she answered:

Pains About the Heart

ANY derangement of the heart's action is alarming. Frequently pains about the heart are caused by the formation of gas arising from indigestion.

Relief from this condition is obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Chronic indigestion results from sluggish liver action, constipation of the bowels and inactive kidneys.

Because Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills arouse these organs to activity they thoroughly cure indigestion and overcome the many annoying symptoms.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills

GERALD S. DOYLE, Water St., St. John's, Distributing Agent.

"Then she is a wretched little flirt, for she surely gave her promise to Royall. Ask her--see, she is reviving--and she cannot deny it."

He stooped down to look into the girl's white face, his own just as pallid and startled, crying, with passionate incredulity:

"Is it true, Daisie Bell? Are you indeed so false and wicked?"

"Dallas! Oh, my love!" she sobbed, in strange afright, covering her face with her hilly hands as if in shame.

"Is it true? Are you engaged to him--to us both?" he thundered wrathfully.

"Oh, Dallas, yes; but--but--hear me!" she wailed imploringly; but he threw off her hand as if it were a serpent, and rushed from the house.

CHAPTER V.
A CRUEL COQUETTE.

A cry of the bitterest grief and yearning burst from Daisie's lips as Dallas angrily shook off her hold and rushed from the house.

"Oh, Dallas, my love, my darling, come back--come back, and I will explain everything!"

She would have followed him, but as she sprang erect a terrible twinge of pain in her sprained ankle made her fall back on the sofa, sobbing with pain; and meanwhile Dallas had rushed from the place in a dazed condition of mind, in which surprise, anger, and wounded love all blended in confusion.

The feelings of the gay little widow, Mrs. Fleming, may better be imagined than described in finding out that the man she adored was madly in love with another.

Grief, rage, and jealousy struggled in her mind, but she gave vent to neither, holding in her emotion firmly while she said, in a cold voice, to the sobbing girl:

"Miss Bell, this is the strangest scene I ever witnessed. I came here this morning to offer my good wishes on your engagement to Royall Sherwood, and find another man making love to you in his absence. Is this fair to my cousin?"

Daisie's only answer was a heart-broken sob behind the lovely white hands that hid her face, and Mrs. Fleming continued reproachfully:

"I could not have believed that such an innocent face hid the heart of a cruel coquette, playing fast and loose with true men's hearts."

"Oh, don't!" sobbed poor Daisie, finching as from a blow, and lifting tearful eyes, like violets drowned in rain, to the angry face of her accuser.

"You deserve all I have said, and worse," retorted the widow vindictively, longing to shake the girl because she had wiled away the heart of Dallas Bain.

With all her money and all her advantages, he had remained cold as ice to her blandishments; but she had seen for herself that he was devoted to Daisie Bell.

And she knew that his acquaintance with her dated only from yesterday, because only last night she had met Annette Janowitz at a dance, and the excitable little thing, not knowing the harm she was doing, had blurted out the story of Daisie's accident and the apparent devotion of Dallas Bain.

"Oh, isn't he grand and handsome! Just the match for lovely Daisie Bell! I declare, if I were not already engaged to the dearest and most jealous fellow in the world, I should have been trying to flirt with Dallas Bain!"

added Annette, rearranging the bunch of red roses at her belt, and so failing to see the jealous wrath on the little widow's pink-and-white face.

She was fairly wild with annoyance, but ever then she did not comprehend the full extent of the mischief, for Royall Sherwood, on leaving for New York that day, had confided to her that he was engaged to Daisie Bell, but that she had not wished to make the engagement public yet.

while, dreading village gossip and curiosity.

"Now, Lottie," added Royall, "I do think you ought to do the fair thing by Daisie."

"What do you mean?" "Why, call on her and invite her to Sea View on a visit. Of course, I understand that you've been jealous all the while, and wouldn't have her here on account of Dallas Bain. But now we're engaged, you needn't mind."

But an unerring instinct made Mrs. Fleming persist in her refusal.

"You ask too much, Royall. I won't have the girl here till I'm sure of Dallas Bain," she protested, in alarm.

"You're still determined to marry him, if you can get him, coz?"

"Yes, I am; and I don't care to bring him and that girl together, even if she is engaged to you. She's dangerous, I tell you; and he's in love with her, I'm certain, though they've never spoken a single word to each other. No telling what might happen if they got together."

"Perhaps you're right," said Royall, looking uneasy and remembering that Daisie had betrayed such interest in Dallas that he had been forced into no end of fibs to destroy the romance with which she had invested him. "Perhaps you're right. Better let well enough alone," he agreed, and went away to buy the engagement ring.

But chance or fate is above us all, and our petty scheming, as she found out that night at the dance, and in consequence she altered her plan of ignoring Daisie Bell.

What Annette had told her about Dallas going the next morning to beg Daisie's pardon for the accident made her wild; hence her early call at the cottage and her malicious blurring out of the engagement.

When she found out how far matters had progressed between the lovers, she realized that she had scarcely called soon enough, but she was thankful, anyway, that she had driven Dallas ed soon enough, but she was thankful, man's wit to make the breach final.

Daisie's wet eyes and quivering red mouth did not make her the least sorry for the wretched girl; she only persevered in her denunciations:

"What will Royall say when he hears of this shocking situation? He will want to break the engagement."

"That is what I wish him to do!" returned Daisie courageously.

"Well, I never!" sighed the little widow; and added: "Why did you accept him, then, if you didn't want him, Miss Bell?"

"I will tell you the truth, may I, Mrs. Fleming?" cried Daisie timidly, dashing the tears from her eyes, and blushing with shame as she continued: "I was persuaded into that promise when my heart wasn't in it, because--because--first, Aunt Alice was wild with foolish joy because I had caught such a rich beau, and kept begging me over and over to accept him. And then, too, Mr. Sherwood was so much in love with me, and begged me so hard that I would marry him. At first I wouldn't think of it, for--well, I had fallen in love with Mr. Dallas Bain at first sight, and as long as there was any hope of winning him I wouldn't have listened to any one else--never! But he--Mr. Sherwood, I mean--must have suspected my preference, for he told me things that I found out to-day weren't true--for instance, that Mr. Bain was engaged to you; but when I asked him about it to-day he laughed at the very idea!"

Mrs. Fleming winced with rage and pain, but the unconscious girl went on eagerly, pathetically, in her earnest self-exculpation:

"But before I knew how he had deceived me, I thought Mr. Sherwood very nice, indeed--for he is very amusing, really, and very good-looking, too--only, of course, not as handsome as Mr. Bain, who is perfectly grand, and no one else is worth looking at when he is by. But he did not seem to care about me in the least, although I found out that he had sent me an anonymous love poem; and I began to get piqued, and then hopeless, thinking he really did mean to marry you. And Aunt Alice kept coaxing and firing my ambition with your cousin's riches, and he kept teasing and making himself agreeable--perhaps you know how a sore, aching heart may sometimes take comfort in the devotion of one it does not care for, and find in it some balm for wounded love and pride--so at last I consented, hoping I might learn to love him after, but stipulating that the engagement be kept secret a little while, for I feared that I might change, and wish to break it, and did not want to make such a sensation public."

She paused, and fixed her pleading eyes on the other's face, but it was cold, white, and stony, betraying no sympathy.

LONDON, Aug. 24.
Latest reports from Mesopotamia indicate that the situation is somewhat improved, according to a War Office communique. The area to the north and north of Baghdad is reported quiet as the result of a recent battle south of Hillas, where a party of British Sikhs was attacked by a strong body of tribesmen. There were two hundred casualties among the Arabs from rifle fire, and the British artillery inflicted heavy losses. The British casualties numbered forty. Papers captured from a Bolshevik staff officer in a recent action near Mosul, disclosed a comprehensive scheme for overrunning Persia and capturing Teheran.

PLAIN ANSWER DEMANDED.
LONDON, Aug. 25.
Arthur J. Balfour, Lord President of the Council, on behalf of Premier Lloyd George, last night sent to Leon Kamenoff, Russian Soviet representative here, a copy of the communique issued at Lucerne, as a result of the Conference of Premiers Lloyd George and Giolitti. Balfour pointed out that, according to latest information, Bolshevik terms to Poland fundamentally contradicted those that Kamenoff communicated to Great Britain recently. Balfour asked if this information was correct, and if so, whether the Bolsheviks intended to adhere to the new terms. An answer by Friday evening at the latest was asked for by Balfour, who cited the urgency of the matter, and said that on the answer to these questions depended the policy of Great Britain.

TEN CENT SUGAR FORESHADOW.
ED.
OTTAWA, Aug. 25.
A Government expert on the sugar situation is quoted by a citizen as stating that while sugar prices are tumbling in the United States, and it is selling in certain places at seventeen cents a pound retail, Canadian Wholesalers, Jobbers and other maintain their united front to the effect that it isn't going down in Canada. He prophesies that sugar will be found 10 cents paid in the not distant future. He says of course Refiners and Wholesalers will try to keep up the prices, but Economy Law may work in such a way as to make it possible.

POLAND CLEARED OF BOLSHEVIK.
WARSAW, Aug. 25.
Polish forces have captured Lomza, seventy-five miles northeast of Warsaw, and Bialystok, fifty miles east of Lomza, it is reported in to-day's official communique issued here. With the capture of these two places all of the various government districts of Poland, excepting Suwalki, a hundred and fifty miles northeast of Warsaw, and Grodno, fifty miles southeast of Suwalki, are declared to be cleared of Bolsheviks.

ANTI-BOLSHEVIST MOVEMENTS.
LONDON, Aug. 25.
The Times correspondent at Warsaw says that the Bolshevik infantry apparently have lost their heads, especially in the northeast. General Budenny and his Bolshevik forces are reported turning eastward. News from Lemberg is good. Anti-Bolshevik movements are breaking out in many parts of Russia, according to statements made by Bolshevik prisoners. A captive Soviet Captain said that the Minsk Conference was only intended as a means of placating the Entente and British Labor, and that there was no intention to make peace until Warsaw was captured and Soviet rule set up in Poland.

SOVIET FAITHLESSNESS.
LONDON, Aug. 25.
London newspapers in commenting on the decisions reached at Lucerne by Premiers Lloyd George and Giolitti, and resulting in the British note to the Russian Soviet Government, strongly commend the position taken by the two statesmen. The British and Italian Premiers, says the Chronicle, are very anxious to come to an agreement with Russia, but no agreement is possible unless the Russian Government removes the presumption it will not keep such agreement in good faith. After warmly commending the British Premier's stand, the Times says the policy announced at Lucerne has given promise of more vigorous action. Only the wilfully blind can fail to discern the crafty intentions of the Soviet leaders, the newspaper continues. Their pious recognition of Polish independence was and is a sham. They would set up Bolshevik rule in Warsaw and spread ruin over the land. The Daily Herald, Labor organ, attacks Lloyd George, expressing the view that the LONDON, July 31, 1920.

TOO HOT A PACE.

Much carping and depressing criticism would be unexpected if the nation realized that it is using up its one too abundant supply of public men too fast. The Prime Minister is not the only sufferer from overwork—the continuous over-excitation of the mental faculties which all experience in greater or less measure whose energies are mortgaged to national service. There are other Ministers who are greatly overstrained, and will be unable to go on much longer without a complete rest, but it would be better if the public appreciated that the best service they can give to Ministers generally is to go slowly and worry them as little as possible. Whatever dissatisfaction there may be with the present collection of Ministers, the one thing certain about them is that they are not easily replaceable. New talent may exist in plenty outside Parliament, but new talent without experience in working the machinery of the Constitution and in administration is dangerous. The foregoing hints apply also to such Members of Parliament as discharge their duties to their constituents. The majority do not. The Members of the House of Commons who complain of overstrain is sometimes a humbug. But the fact remains that public life has become almost intolerably burdensome for those in the thick of it, and that this country is using up her statesmen too fast, and the further prolongation of the session has intensified the evil.

THE FATE OF THE SMALL NAVIES.

The war is supposed to have shown that you either have a commanding navy or, for all practical purposes, you have none at all. This is interesting the smaller Powers. The question first came up in the Dutch Parliament, where it was suggested that the whole fleet should be sold as scrap metal and the money thus raised put to social purposes. It was pointed out that the coast defence ships which formed its backbone would be worse than useless for their allotted task of defending the East Indian colonies from Japanese invasion. The suggestion was negatived, but it was stated that in future particular attention should be paid to submarines and mine-layers. Another case is that of the Mexican navy, whose responsible head has just ordered that, with the exception of one or two vessels kept on the Pacific coast for revenue purposes, the whole fleet shall be converted into merchantmen forthwith. In this case it is to be feared that the reason of the move was not so much the uselessness of the ships for warlike purposes as the fact that, deprived of their guns, they are less likely to get into mischief.

TERRITORIAL RECRUITING.

Recent weeks have brought an improvement in Territorial recruiting, but that is not saying much. The total number actually attested, or awaiting attestation, is somewhere about 50,000 after six months' effort, and at the present rate of recruiting, which has been approximately 2,000 per week, nearly three years will be needed to reach the peace establishment of the Territorial Army, allowing, of course, for the wastage which, from various causes, is inevitable. If, during the winter, many ex-Territorials re-join, as the War Office hopes and expects they will, and the publicity propaganda that was recently heard so much about is undertaken with vigour, it is not improbable that the required numbers may be obtained within the next year. But to attain that end, a great deal more will have to be done than is being done at present.

THE NEXT VICTORY OF INDIA.

Dr. Rabindranath Tagore, in an interview, makes the challenging statement that the appointment of E. S. Montagu as Viceroy is the only means by which the success of the Indian reform scheme can be assured. The statement will provoke more than one kind of comment. The first, perhaps, is that the reforms must be provided with some other personal foundation, since it is clear that the next Viceroy, who must soon be chosen, will not be Mr. Montagu. The office has never yet been given to a Secretary of State, and it may be taken for granted that the Cabinet is not, at the present juncture, contemplating so great a departure from custom as this would be. None the less, it is perfectly well known in Downing Street that Mr. Montagu would be the first choice of the Indian statesmen who for three years have been working, here and in India, on behalf of the reforms. Not since the Mutiny has the appointment been so grave a matter as it is today. Lord Chelmsford's term has only a few months to run, and it is known that the Cabinet had reached a pro-

DR. NANSEN'S MISSION.

A story just published of how trainloads of men in khaki passing through certain parts of Germany were taken for British soldiers going to Poland and were afterwards discovered to be Czech-Slovakian soldiers returning from prison in Russia has been the first indication that the work of repatriating prisoners is going ahead. It will be remembered that some few weeks ago Dr. Nansen was appointed director of the international scheme for repatriating all prisoners of war. Dr. Nansen arrived in London last week on business connected with the scheme. He was only here a couple of days but he is said to be well pleased with the progress that the scheme is making. The Czech-Slovakian prisoners are being repatriated under special arrangements, but men are being sent home from all regions, even from Turkestan, where the problem of their transport presents peculiar difficulties. "I am pleased with the way the work is going," said Dr. Nansen, "but to carry it out properly we must have more money and more ships."

CHEAPER HORSES.

It is not known if the horse market is any indication of the fall of prices in commodities that is so eagerly longed for. There is no doubt, however, that horses have become very much cheaper. At Tattersall's (London's famous horse-market established in 1770) horses are now selling in the forty-guinea lists that six months ago would have made double these prices. Good horse—known performers—are still making high prices, and 200 and 250 guineas is not considered much for a well-bred hunter that has been hunted in a good country. The same rules with polo ponies. The known ponies even three parts through the season are making big money, but it is only the cream of this class that can now command these prices, and ponies of humbler description than the best can be bought for less than it costs to keep a pony for a year.

OPEN-AIR CAFES.

One of the bright ideas in the discussion now proceeding on the brightening of London is that Trafalgar Square should be turned into an open-air cafe. This is only the latest of a long list of schemes which have come to nothing. The Underground Electric Railway when rebuilding the Temple Station on the Embankment talked of an open terrace restaurant, but talk it remained. The reasons against brightening the streets in this way are chiefly two. One is the implacable hostility of the police authorities, whose mid-Victorian ideas still are that open-air cafes would mean disorders and social laxity. The theory is that British people have not the same tradition of open-air sociability as the French and that there would be abuse. The second reason is less controversial. The most populous London streets are mediocrally narrow (the broadest thoroughfare is in White-chapel, the East End Jewish quarter) and there simply is not pavement space for Parisian restaurants. The climate is another point. London weather is probably quite as good as that of Paris, but in Paris there is much less smoke and dirt, and sitting out of doors is undoubtedly pleasant. There is no question that open-air cafes would be enormously popular. Fests of young men learned the cafe habit in France on war service, and would be glad to continue it here under more amusing conditions than a seat in a stuffy and crowded teashop or a scramble at a bar.

THE WAIST LINE AND RIBBONS.

According to a woman correspondent the waist line of a dress is again an important point, though it does not necessarily mark just where the wearer's waist really is. The loose, trailing sashes which have just come into fashion are pretty, and an attractive finish for them is a small posy of flowers attached to the ends of the sash. Softly-colored ribbon sashes are improved by the addition of a bunch of brighter-hued flowers. Flowered ribbons are being used on afternoon dresses, some of them swathed rather tightly at the waist, and attached in a big bow on either side. Taffeta neatly always lends itself to a good sash line, particularly dark-colored taffetas on which a ribbon sash, combined with a knot of many-colored flowers, is always effective.

Decay of Mourning Wear

Nothing is more remarkable in our social life at this time than the rarity of conventional mourning, says London Daily Chronicle. There are millions of bereaved people in these islands, yet it is uncommon to encounter anybody who wears the "trappings and the suits of woe." We have found a juster way of showing respect for the dead than by changing the line of our clothes. Only at the two extremes, east and west, will you now discover a woman wearing widow's "weeds."

R. N. R. Engineer Gives Facts in Case to Public

Says Tanlac Built Him Up So Well He Now Buys It For A Friend.

"I certainly went through some awful suffering before I got Tanlac, but now I'm feeling fine, and I want to get a bottle for one of my friends," said Berk Mitchell, when he walked into Connor's drug store in St. John's, N.F., the other day. Mr. Mitchell is a well known engineer on the grading engine of the Reid Newfoundland Company, and lives in St. John's, at 62 Alexander Street.

"I suffered terribly from indigestion and a sour stomach, and my appetite was so poor I hardly ever cared for anything to eat. I would blot up until my heart palpitated so badly that it seemed like it was trying to run away, and I had awful pains in my stomach. I felt tired all the time, in fact, any work I did at all was a big effort for me.

"I kept on seeing every day where others, who seemed to be suffering like I was, were getting relief by taking Tanlac, so I figured it would help me too. Well I didn't quit on taking one bottle, but kept on until I have taken five, and am feeling well and strong in every way. My appetite is so good that I enjoy everything set before me, and it all agrees with me. I'm never troubled with indigestion or bloating. My back no longer pains me, and the headaches have entirely disappeared. My sleep is the morning full of energy and ready for a big day's work. I can certainly recommend Tanlac, for it has proved in my case."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors; by Reg. Sullivan, Pouch Cove; South Island Store, Sound Islands; Dennis Flynn, Avondale; J. J. O'Brien, Cape Broyle; J. W. Smith, Baine Harbor; W. J. Burdock, Belleoram; John Morey, Fermeuse; Mrs. Jos. Quinn, Renewes.—adv.

Uncle Sam's Politics.

In this presidential year the politics of Uncle Sam is of interest to all the rest of the world. As is well known the Republicans have chosen Senator Harding of Ohio, and Governor Lodge of Massachusetts, and the Democrats Governor Cox of Ohio and Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, as their respective standard-bearers. The Prohibition Party has chosen Aaron S. Watkins, of Ohio, as its candidate for President.

It may not be so well known that a Third Party—the Farmer-Labor Party—has been launched, with Hon. Parley Parks Christensen, of Utah, for President, and Max F. Hayes, of Cleveland, Ohio, for vice-President. It will be seen that Ohio figures in all four nominations.

Because of the Farmer-Labor movement in Canada, and elsewhere, it may be of interest to know a little more about the movement in the United States.

A Convention met in Chicago on July 10th, in an attempt to fuse into one political party a considerable number of more or less radical and extreme elements and groups such as the farmers' leagues, the labor party, the single-taxers, the veteran soldiers and two or three other organizations. The tentative platform was overloaded with sweeping proposals of economic changes. It was thought Senator La Follette would become its leader, but it was too extreme for his acceptance. They then considered Eugene V. Debs, of Indiana, now in penitentiary for his opposition to the draft act and other war measures. He declined because he was a leader of the Socialists and the third-party platform was too general. In a ballot between Dudley Field Malone, of New York, and Mr. Christensen, the latter was chosen. He is a lawyer.

After studying law in New York he was a superintendent of education in Utah, then public prosecutor at Salt Lake City, Secretary of the State constitutional Convention, and a Progressive Republican who supported the Roosevelt-Johnson ticket in 1912. He is a bachelor, forty-nine years old. The platform declares for public ownership and operation of all public utilities and natural resources; upholds extreme labor views about the right to strike; is radical to the extreme as regards the rights of free speech and the repeal of war legislation; endorses the Irish Republic, and extends open arms to Soviet Russia; makes a strong bid for the votes of the ex-service men who are demanding the bonus law, and is not in sympathy with the Versailles treaty. The strongest support of this third-party movement is likely to come from the advocates of the Plumb plan of railroad management, and those who believe in the nationalization of coal mines.

This Farmer-Labor-Soldier, et al combination is worth following as it develops in the United States and Canada. It is significant that, in the United States, it favors Russian Soviet principles and measures, certainly not a very hopeful sign.—Ex.

A Silly Tale.

There are very many silly tales in books concerning the old Franciscan Missions of California, but the silliest of them all is that one which is forever cropping up to the effect that many hundreds of thousands of dollars in gold were hoarded in these establishments, says a Los Angeles writer.

One has only to ask one's self, Where did this huge store of money come from? California had little traffic with the outside world in the days of the missions. Hides and tallow were traded to Yankee ships for clothing and ornaments, but not for money.

And gold had not yet been discovered here.

Next to Junipero Serra himself, the most respected figure in the early history of California is Padre Lasuen. Surely the word of this venerated man may be taken for truth.

When the King of Spain once sent to the California Missions for money, Padre Lasuen answered the request as follows: "Inasmuch as the fathers are placed in poverty by their profession, and the Indian wards by their nature, I think that his majesty does not want of us a temporal offering. I am myself without even a stipend to which I am entitled, and the stipends that my brethren receive they turn over for the advancement of the missions."

Anything that purports to be history must be supported by the testimony of an authentic and reliable witness. And here we have the testimony unimpeachable of Padre Lasuen.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

WHY DO THEY RESENT IT?
 "If there is anything I can't bear," I heard a woman say the other day, "it is to hear a woman call a dog 'dear,' and talk baby to him, and act as if he were a child."
 The woman who spoke has three children and two grand children whom she greatly enjoys.

The woman who she criticized has children. She is fond of children, but the Lord hasn't seen fit to send them to her. Her treatment of the dog undoubtedly represents an outlet of the pent-up mother instinct. Why should the other woman, rich in her own happiness, resent it? Why, indeed, and yet one often hears women speak in this slighting, resentful way of the various ways in which the mother-instinct find outlet in the childless woman, both married and unmarried.

Course There Are Many Who Could.
 Of course the ready question rises, why does not this woman adopt a child? For just one reason, as I happen to know. Because her husband, who is a brilliant man, is not willing. At present his wife is able to travel about the country and make her headquarters where she can most easily be with her. If she adopted a child, she would not be able to do so, and he is therefore not willing to have her take on that burden.

Why Always Blame the Woman?
 In another case of which I know, the neighbors all criticize the wife because they think she might take care of the fresh-air children for at least a few weeks during the summer as she has a pleasant summer home and no children of her own. The answer in this case is the same. Her husband, who is an artist and the most of the time, says it would be too much of a strain on him.

Yet I never heard anyone criticize a man. Why is it that criticism is really directed toward women from other women, and so seldom toward men? They know well enough that everything in their own lives does not represent their own choices. Why would they not realize that it is probably the same in other women's cases? I spoke of the various ways in which the maternal instinct seeks an outlet. I meant work of all sorts, in-

France's "Passion Play" is Revived.

Nancy, France, Aug. 16.—France's "Passion Play," rivalling that of Oberammergau, opened its season here in May after five years of war's interruption. It was given, as it has been since 1904, in the Passion Theatre, under the direction of Mr. Pettit, the village priest, with his parishioners as the cast. The play, costuming, verse, music and equipment have been developed and improved since the pre-war performances.

There are 16 scenes depicting the Bible incidents from the Birth to the Resurrection. The play runs from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1.30 to 5.00. Interruptions between the scenes are filled by tableaux representing, principally, prophetic passages of the Old Testament bearing upon the running story. The text, where it is not that of the Bible, is the verse of various poets and the music is taken or adapted from various composers. M. Pettit says he has utilized from all sources whatever he believed he needed to make a beautiful ensemble. The naturalness of the players, none of whom are professionals, critics said, was heightened by the deftness and ingenuity of the staging. One of the difficult things to produce was the Crucifixion, where the movement of the principal depicting Christ on the Cross or, during the descent, might easily be misinterpreted. On the cross, the long white winding sheet is draped under the principal's arms and over the two arms of the cross. The ends of the cloth, floating like wings, add much to the effect and serve their real purpose by enabling the characters to lower the apparently inert figure, supported safely as he is, by the cloth under his arms. The play is to be given every Sunday until the middle of October.

HIGH AND LOW.

(From Tit-Bits.)
 "I expect six clergymen to dine with me on Sunday next," said a gentleman to his butler. "Very good, sir," said the butler. "Are they High Church or Low Church, sir?" "What on earth can that signify to you?" asked the astonished master. "Everything, sir," was the reply. "If they are High Church they'll drink; if they are Low Church they'll eat!"

WHEN MA WANTS SOMETHING NEW.
 Last night Ma said to Pa: "My dear, The Williamsons are coming here to visit for a week or two. An' I must have a talk with you. We need some things which we must get."
 You promised me a dinner set.
 An' I should like it while they're here."
 An' Pa looked up an' said: "My dear, A dinner set? Well, I guess not. What's happened to the one we've got?"

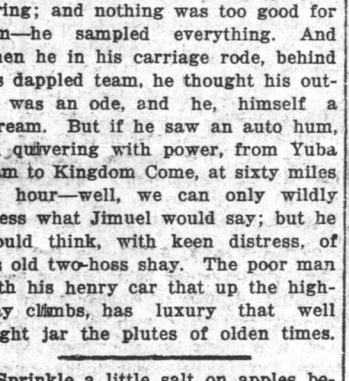

"We need a parlor rug," says Ma. "We ought to have another chair." "You're sittin' in a good one there." "The parlor curtains are a fright." "When these are washed they look all right."
 "The old stuff's pitiful to see."
 "It still looks mighty good to me."
 "The sofa's worn beyond repair."
 "It doesn't look so bad, I swear."

"Gee whiz; you make me tired," says Ma.
 "Why, what's the matter now?" says Pa.
 "You come an' go an' never see how old our stuff has grown to be; it still looks just the same to you as what it did when it was new. An' every time you think it strange that I should like to have a change, I'm gettin' old," says Pa. "Maybe you'd like a younger man than me."
 "If this old rug was worn an' this An' throw your hat upon a chair An' never see a single tear. So long as a chair could stand An' bear your weight you'd think it grand.
 If home dep: ded all on you. W' never 'ould get something new."
 "All right," says Pa. "Go buy the stuff!"
 "But say, am I still good enough?"

OLD AND NEW.

The millionaire of other days thought he was cutting ice, behind his team of trotting bays, that cost a beastly price. I well recall the shining rigs in which they rode in state, the sur-reys and phaetons and gigs, with n a g s of trotting gait. I used to see them whizzing by, and envy turned me sour; and thunder, how they used to fly! Some seven miles an hour! I wonder what Jim Fisk would say, if he could shake his shroud, and for three quarters of a day mix with the modern crowds. He was a dead game sport, was Jim, before he cashed his string; and nothing was too good for him—he sampled everything. And when he in his carriage rode, behind his dappled team, he thought his outfit was an ode, and he, himself a scream. But if he saw an auto hum, all quivering with power, from Yuba Dam to Kingdom Come, at sixty miles an hour—well, we can only wildly guess what Jimmel would say; but he would think, with keen distress, of his old two-hoss shay. The poor man with his henny car that up the highway climbs, has luxury that well might jar the plutes of olden times.

Six Years Ago.

August, 1914, was a month of dark days for Britain and her Dominions. War had been officially declared by the Home Government on Germany on the fourth, and preparations were from then rapidly rushed in order to send an assisting force across the Channel to the aid of France and Belgium, through which latter country the Teutonic legions were pouring in their advance toward the French frontier. The famous fortress of Liege had fallen before the pounding of the German guns, on August 15th, and their course then unchecked, the Huns pushed through the breach thus made in the Belgian defences, leaving devastation and destruction in their conquering path, and the outlook was indeed gloomy. The day following the fall of Liege, the first divisions of the British Expeditionary Force, "The Old Contemptibles" landed in France, and were immediately sent up to the front lines to stiffen the French battalions. August 20th saw the German occupation of Brussels, so swiftly did the invaders move, and on the 24th Namur, another of Belgium's popularly supposed impregnable fortresses, capitulated. Meanwhile the British army had taken the field on the northwest French border and had advanced to the neighborhood of Mons, in Belgium, where they found themselves opposed to the flower of Germany's soldiers, in the first flush of their victories over the army of King Albert. Nobly they maintained the finest traditions of the British army and hurled back in the teeth of the Kaiser his taunt. The Contemptibles proved themselves the superiors of the Germans, and the sneer of the War Lord has come to be regarded as one of the highest compliments ever paid the British soldier. Faced by superior enemy forces, the British stood for 36 hours in contact with the invader, stubbornly resisting his progress and retreating only when position after position became untenable. Kitchener's congratulations after Mons were couched in simple yet glowing words.

He instructed Sir John French to "congratulate troops on their splendid showing. We are proud of them."

August 25, 1914, records the sack of Louvain. To-day, 26th, the battle of Tannenberg, in which the Russians joined issue with the Germans. These were dark days indeed, but the Empire did not despair, but rather became more determined than ever to see the struggle through. Speed up was the rallying cry. The Dominions, ever prompt to respond, were making ready to send men and supplies across the seas to help. The lion's whelps were answering the call of their sire. Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Newfoundland and the lesser possessions, all were animated with the war spirit. In St. John's and in the outports patriotic meetings were being held and volunteers were being received in hundreds. The population of the Colony was stirred as never before, and from every principal town came messages of encouragement and support to the central committee. There was little holding back. Men realised that the fate of the Empire hung in the balance, and the need for their services was imminent. And they came by tens, by twenties, by fifties, by hundreds and ultimately by thousands. Nor was money wanting to help win. The sinews of war were quickly forthcoming and purse strings were ever loose. There was no hesitation. Each man and woman and child gave of that which they possessed most. The demand was insistent but the response was spontaneous. Everybody was keyed up to the peril of the situation. Had the British Expeditionary Force been smashed at Mons, Paris would have fallen, and with the French capital in their possession, the enemy would have dictated German terms to a vanquished world. But it was not to be. Britain had awakened: the storm had burst and though unprepared to meet it, there was no shirking the task set. Difficult and tough though it was, all hands were prepared to carry on. The Hun was all but thundering at the gates, his menace was upon the Channel, but the "Old Contemptibles" stood in the way. The vision of Mons was prophetic. It stimulated men with new-born courage and endurance and they stayed the lion in the way. To them be all honor and respect. The lesson of their unyielding and unflinching heroism will be borne throughout the ages and their names and deeds "liveth for evermore."

AND THE FISH REGULATIONS.

To The Secretary of the Board of Trade, for the information of fish exporters.
August 24.—Greece advises us that owing to the high rate of exchange, it is impossible to obtain the minimum price imposed by the Minister of Marine & Fisheries for New Labrador Codfish.
August 25.—Oporto wires us that receivers have a very poor opinion of the near future, and the situation is considered serious. 30,000 qtrs., perhaps 50,000, Norwegian expected in about a fortnight, also probable further large consignments of old.
The above messages from Greece and Portugal have been handed us for publication. As a commentary on Coker's Fish Regulations they are illuminating.

Canon Bolt Honored.

The numerous friends of Rev. Canon Geo. H. Bolt, M.A., Secretary-Treasurer of the Diocese Synod of Newfoundland, will be heartily glad of the honor which is to be conferred upon the gentleman by the University of King's College, Windsor, Nova Scotia. In making the announcement, Dr. T. Stannage Boyle, President and Vice-Chancellor, says: "King's University at Windsor, Nova Scotia, has offered the degree of D.C.L. honoris causa, to Rev. Canon Bolt, who has accepted the honor. The degree will be duly conferred at the next convocation of the University to be held in the autumn. This is in recognition of Canon Bolt's work and position in the Anglican Church of Newfoundland. King's is the oldest university in the King's Overseas Dominions."

In thus adding to its Roll of Honor, historic King's has honored itself no less than the recipient, and the Anglican Church in Newfoundland. The new D.C.L. has ever been a capable worker in the Diocese. His duties as Secretary-Treasurer of the Synod have been performed with care and attention, and no less has he been earnest in the other work of the church. The Telegram desires to congratulate Rev. Geo. H. Bolt, M.A., D.C.L., upon the distinction to be conferred, and expresses the hope that he may long live to wear an honor so worthily won, and also to continue in that sphere of ecclesiastical activity to which his accomplishments entitle him.

Runaway Accident at Avondale.

Women Injured When Horse Bolted. Whilst Mrs. A. S. Wadden and Mrs. Chas. Power were being driven from Avondale Station to Harbor Main on Monday last they with two children had a narrow escape from being killed. The party was being driven by a boy who had occasion to absent himself from the carriage for a few minutes to visit a house, during which time the horse took fright and bolted. Each of the women had a child and jumped clear of the vehicle and it was well that they did, as a few seconds afterwards it was demolished by collision with a telegraph pole. Mrs. Wadden had her ankle fractured, and Mrs. Power, her arm dislocated, but the children escaped unhurt. The injured women were assisted to the rooms, at the station, of Mrs. Wade, where Dr. Dwyer summoned from Holyrood, attended to their injuries. On Tuesday morning Messrs. Wadden and Power went out and returned by the noon train with their wives who were conveyed to hospital. Mrs. Power has since returned home but Mrs. Wadden will likely be confined to the institution some weeks.

Portugal Cove Garden Party.

The first Garden Party held by the Church of England people of Portugal Cove, given yesterday afternoon, proved a great success and was attended by a large number of city folks. The C.L.B. Band under Staff-Sergt. Ivamy was present and discoursed lively music during the evening. Various games and pastimes were indulged in and helped to make the event enjoyable. Tea, ice cream and refreshments were served by the ladies of the parish, some lady friends from the city assisting. At the close of the Garden Party a dance, in which over 100 couples participated, was held in the L. O. A. Hall, music being furnished by the Brigade Band. The proceeds of the affair were fully up to expectations and will be devoted to the funds of the new church, now in course of erection.

We can speak from experience as to the good qualities of Duggett and Ramsdell's Shaving Cream, when it comes to making an abundant, thick, creamy lather that enables shaving to be done more easily than by most other shaving preparations, Creams, Powders, and Soaps. We have used most of them, and can honestly say that Duggett and Ramsdell's Shaving Cream appears to surpass them all. The manufacturers say that the reason is incorporation of a certain amount of their famous Cold Cream in the preparation. Whatever the reason, the fact admits of no doubt. We recommend a trial. Wedding Bells.

KEAN—KNIGHT.

A very pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Knight, 27 William Street, on Monday night, at 8.30, when their son, Mr. Frank Scott Knight, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Miss Evelyn Harboure Kean, daughter of Capt. Jacob and Mrs. Kean. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Wilson in the presence of many friends and admirers. The bride entered the room leaning on the arm of her brother-in-law, Capt. Dalton, who acted as father giver in the absence of her father, and looked very pretty, being gowned in blue silk with a wreath of maiden hair ferns and carried a beautiful bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Capt. Dalton, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Gus. Hodder, sister of the groom. Miss Dorcas Hodder and Miss Fanny Coady were flower girls and maid of honor respectively. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Stephen Knight. After the nuptials had been performed the guests were entertained and the health of the bride and groom duly honored. The Rev. Mr. Wilson in his usual felicitous way, proposed the health of the happy couple, which was responded to by the groom. Capt. Dalton, of the S.S. Edmund Donald, proposed the toast to the bridesmaids, which brought forth a very humorous response from Mr. Stephen Knight. Mr. W. F. Coady proposed the health of the parents, and also the Rev. Mr. Wilson, which was responded to by the entire company. The bride received a valuable assortment of presents, including a substantial cheque from her brother, Capt. Ray Kean, of New York, showing the esteem in which she has been held. During the evening Mr. Stephen Knight presided at the piano in his usual masterly manner and songs, music, recitations were rendered and greatly enjoyed. A midnight feast the happy couple left for Manuels, where the honeymoon will be spent. Their many friends, including the Evening Telegram, wishes them many years of wedded happiness.

BYRNE—CHANCEY.
A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized on August 23rd, at the Church of St. Mary's the Virgin, Southside, when Beatrice Maud, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Byrne, was united in the holy bonds of Matrimony to George Wilbur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Chancey. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Ed. Byrne, looked charming in a dress of white Georgette over white silk, with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of carnations and maiden hair fern and was attended by her sister, Miss Ethel B. Byrne, who was prettyly attired in sage blue Georgette with picture hat. Mr. James Chancey ably supported the groom following the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. Coffin, Circular Road, and the health of the bride and groom duly honored, after which the happy young couple amid showers of confetti and the best wishes of the assembled guests, left by auto for Petty Harbor, where the honeymoon will be spent. The groom's present to the bride was a cheque, to the bridesmaid a gold pendant, and to the best man a fountain pen. The presents received were numerous and costly, testifying to the esteem in which the bride was held.

Wed

A very pretty wedding took place at the R.C. Cathedral, August 22nd, when Miss E. M. Michael, of St. Michael's Bay, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. MacDermott of the immediate vicinity of the cathedral. The bride, who was given away by her father, Mr. MacDermott, looked charming in a white Georgette gown with a veil of blossoms and white carnations. The bridesmaids were Mrs. W. J. MacDermott, Miss Violet MacDermott, Miss E. M. Michael, Miss M. J. MacDermott, and Miss M. J. MacDermott. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. J. MacDermott. After the nuptials had been performed the guests were entertained and the health of the bride and groom duly honored. The Rev. Mr. Wilson in his usual felicitous way, proposed the health of the happy couple, which was responded to by the groom. Capt. Dalton, of the S.S. Edmund Donald, proposed the toast to the bridesmaids, which brought forth a very humorous response from Mr. Stephen Knight. Mr. W. F. Coady proposed the health of the parents, and also the Rev. Mr. Wilson, which was responded to by the entire company. The bride received a valuable assortment of presents, including a substantial cheque from her brother, Capt. Ray Kean, of New York, showing the esteem in which she has been held. During the evening Mr. Stephen Knight presided at the piano in his usual masterly manner and songs, music, recitations were rendered and greatly enjoyed. A midnight feast the happy couple left for Manuels, where the honeymoon will be spent. Their many friends, including the Evening Telegram, wishes them many years of wedded happiness.

MRS. RO

At the advance of the 14th of the month, the funeral of Mrs. E. J. O'Donnell, widow of the late E. J. O'Donnell, was held in the morning at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. J. O'Donnell, when the deceased was commended to the earth by the Rev. Mr. Wilson. The funeral was a simple one, and was attended by a large number of friends. The remains were interred in the Mount Pleasant cemetery. Mrs. O'Donnell was born in Ireland and was a devoted wife and mother. She was a member of the St. Mary's Guild and was very active in its work. She passed away peacefully on the 12th of the month, after a long illness.

Wedding Bells.

A very pretty wedding took place at the R.C. Cathedral, on Sunday evening, August 22, when Miss Hilda Norris of King's Bridge Road, and Mr. Michael Barry of Red Island, Placentia Bay, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rt. Rev. Monsignor MacDermott in the presence of the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties. The bride, who was given away by her father, Mr. Samuel Norris, looked charming in a dress of white silk crepe de chene and silver overlace, and wore a veil and wreath of orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white carnations and lilies of the valley. Mrs. William Carrigan, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Mr. William Carrigan was best man; Miss Violet Carrigan and Miss Mary Scarry, nieces of the bride, were very pretty little flower girls, each carrying a basket of sweet peas and pink carnations. After the ceremony was performed they drove around Quidi Vidi Lake and after to the home of the bride's parents, where a big supper was served and an enjoyable evening spent. The bride and groom received many presents from their friends and also received telegrams of congratulations from their friends in Brooklyn, New York. The bride and groom left on the morning train for Red Island, Placentia Bay, where they will spend their honeymoon. Mr. Barry and his bride will be leaving the 18th of September on the S.S. Rosalind for Brooklyn, New York, where they intend to make their future home.

Obituary.

MRS. ROSANNA ROGERS.
At the advanced age of 79, Rosanna, relict of the late James Rogers, passed to her eternal reward at 10 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. T. J. Foran, with whom she resided. Despite her years, deceased was active up to a few weeks ago and retained all her faculties practically to the end. Forged by the rites of Holy Church she passed peacefully away after a life marked by religious devotion and good deeds. She leaves three sons, Edward of the Consolidated Foundry Company, James, residing in Chelsea, Mass., and Stephen, in Roxbury, also three daughters, Mrs. T. J. Foran, of this city, Mesdames P. F. Ryan, and Mrs. Donnelly, of Roxbury, Mass., to whom the Telegram extends sincere sympathy. The funeral took place at 2:30 this afternoon, and was largely attended.

RESULTS.

Tuesday evening's clash between the Lions and Wanderers attracted a large gathering of fans, the majority of whom were wishing in their innermost hearts to see the Hiltz chew down to defeat so that a playoff for the pennant would be necessary between them, the Wanderers, and the Cubs. Tim's outfit went right to it at the outset and twisted the Lions' tail to the extent of two chamarras. Through the instrumentality of a lucky hit by St. Jenkins, the Lions duplicated this stunt in their portion of the second, and scored again in the fourth. Their one run lead caused great excitement right up to the sixth, and then the Wanderers aggregation aeroplaned and let in two more on a bunch of errors. They had a chance in the sixth and shot one run across the pan, but the weak end of their batting list was up at this juncture and two men were left to perish on the sacks when Walter Callahan produced two strikeouts. Tim had a two base hit to his credit. A passed ball was charged against Britt, while in the culprits' column we notice that Andy Clouston, Billy Callahan, and Cooney were down for two errors each, with Dillon, Smith, Quick, Ellis, Hiltz, Walt Callahan one apiece. Donnelly did not show up as well as he did against Sydney, having only 4 strikeouts, but at that had no support worth while. Walter had a great 3ening with 17 scalps to his belt and passing out only one Annie Oakley. The Lions' victory practically ensures them the pennant as they have only one more game to play—the C.E.L.—and it is most unlikely that they can stop them. The score by innings was:

LIONS:—020 102 1-5
WANDERERS:—200 001 0-3

B.L.S. TRIM C.E.L.

Yesterday's cold wind was not conducive to fan gathering in the bleachers, and as a result a disappointing small attendance witnessed the B.L.S. laying low the C.E.L. by a score of 20 to 6. Frankly, the comeback of the Irishmen was a great surprise, and was mainly due to the batting-ferst so long overdue. Windsor and Churchill tried to stop their onward rush, but 'twas no use with such stalwarts as the great J. Cuthbert himself and Joe Muir wielding the willow. Irish fans were hopeful that O'Leary would shut out Harvey's bunch, but their infeld relented in the last three innings and allowed six runs to be pushed over. The B.L.S. are credited

BEAVER BOARD

Beaver Board is real board, real lumber, free from knots, is sanitary, draught proof, vermin proof and labor saving.

Beaver Board, unlike lath and plaster, will not crack and is not messy, it's a guaranteed product warranted to give satisfaction.

Beaver Board is particularly adapted to "Housing Plans", costs can be figured with exactitude.

The Corona Co. of New York built two model houses, using plaster in one and Beaver Board in the other, as a test.

Beaver Board was chosen as being most desirable and accordingly 98 homes were then completed with Beaver Board.

Numerous houses, offices, schools, halls, churches, etc., in Newfoundland were completed with Beaver Board.

Beaver Board is not a fad, not an experiment; it has made good; ask us for proofs.

socially, viz.—Quick to Hiltz to Walt Callahan; Billy to Hiltz to Walt; Canning unassisted, but we regret to state that both Unps Ches and Tim fell down miserably on the play that; with a runner on first, and the batter retired, no force existed, and the runner is entitled to whichever base—first or second—he chooses to occupy. However, all's well that ends well. Freddy Phalen heads the list of run getters with 3, but at that Gosse and "Ponzi" Hall both had two baggers. Billy Callahan had 3 s.o.s, Hall 7 in 3 innings, and Canning 3 in 4. Canning though he pitched well gave 6 walks for his portion of the game. He has great stuff on the spheroid but the head wind considerably non-plussed him. Running down the error column we find that Hiltz, Walt Callahan, and Ern Clouston are charged with 2 each, and Hall, Canning, Quick, Bill Callahan, and Cahill 1. The most daring piece of base-stealing seen for the season was Demon Duggan's steal home while Coke was holding the ball. 'Tis not very often that Coke sleeps but Duggan seems to have chosen the psychological moment and he was successful. Hiltz and Walter pulled a home, when with a man on third they endeavored to trap wily Freddie Phalen between first and second and let a run in. The Cubs actually earned only 5 of their 13 tally while the Red Lions deserved 0. The frames were:—

Cubs001 002 10-13
Lions010 001 00-2

What da yuh know? Joe Spivis McGrath (the "Herald" scribe) lost two bets as the result of yesterday's game, when the Irishmen dragged the C.E.L. with them into cold storage. It appears that Spivis (known to his intimate relations as "James") resolved not to cut his poetical locks until the Irish won their first game, but the barber will certainly earn his quarter's worth to-day on Mac's disreputable mattress stuffing. Jeff says that Spivis also lost five ironmen as he unfortunately bet a five-spot that the Irish couldn't win a game. He must have either been crazy or has a loose lot of kale affix. Now, we're going to pull the job stuff! Poor Jimmy had the great misfortune last night to be celebrating Erin's victory to fall over a lantern at his camp at Long Pond, and Doc Mitchell had to insert the usual four stitches in his right forearm. We hope Spivis pulls through without any dire results.

TO-NIGHT'S GAME.

The Wanderers and B.L.S. are down on the card for to-night. The game will commence at 8.30.

According to a special minute of the League passed at the Annual Meeting in the month of May last, the City team to compete in the Inter-Town series is to be picked by:—Umpire-in-Chief Chesman, Manager John B. Orr, Asst. Mgr. J. H. Fulmore, the managers of each of the clubs, with Secretary Dowden ex officio; and this being so, all the above met at Mr. Orr's office this morning. There is no change worth while from those who competed against the Sydney Millionaires, except that Joe Muir who looks a Sisirer has been added as a pinch hitter. Mr. Cyril J. Merner—the Official Scorer—has been kind enough to pass us the official record of the Sydney games and we shall publish them to-morrow for the benefit of the critics. You'll be surprised, kind reader, when you've given them the once-over.

SYDNEY MILLIONAIRES WIN FROM GRAND FALLS.

(Special to Peasee, Diamond Dust, Evening Telegram.)

Grand Falls, August 24.—Amidst great excitement the Sydney Millionaires arrived here by special train and were immediately looked after by our Entertainment Committee. It was not found feasible to commence the game until six o'clock last night, and under the most auspicious weather conditions the game commenced with Buchanan in the box for the visitors and Kenna backstopping, with Foran on the mound for Grand Falls and Cowan his battery mate. The later owing to injuries had to retire in the fifth and was replaced by Foley.

The score by innings was as follows:—

Sydney202 106 201-14
Grand Falls000 100 021-4

Features of the game were Buck Buchanan's home run in the eighth innings by a long drive to left field, and Kenna's three bagger in the fifth. In the third, our big slugger, Dan Murphy, made a two bagger. Grand Falls had the bases filled three times, but the excellent pitching of the Sydney slab artist tied us to the cushions. Buck had 16 strike-outs to his credit, and Sebat Foran only four, which was most disappointing. The game was quite free from errors but the pill tossing of Buchanan was something different from what we have been used to, and our men were somewhat non-plussed. Messrs. Lannon and McVane were the umpires, and controlled the game to everyone's satisfaction. In view of the outcome of both the St. John's and Grand Falls games it looks as though yours and our teams were evenly matched so that it's going to be a great series for the Reid Inter-Town trophy when you come out here next week. The Sydney lads are very fine fellows, full of good sportsmanship, and are great ball players. Our hats are off to Manager Nathanson, Captain Fulton, and the rest of the boys. It is hoped that a second game can be arranged to-day.

Gaping Hole in Tunisian's Bow.

MONTREAL, August 16.—With a hole in her starboard bow, about fifteen feet long, and two plates in width, the C.P.O.S. Liner Tunisian from London and Havre, which collided yesterday with the Manchester Division, arrived in port this morning.

At the time of the collision, which took place eighty miles east of Quebec, there was a dense fog. The Manchester Division had anchored and the liner Tunisian, proceeding upstream, had already reduced the speed to dead slow preparatory to coming to anchor herself until the weather had cleared. When she was just about ready to drop her anchor the ship pulled the cable of the Manchester Division below water, where it was invisible.

This anchor cable pulled the two vessels together, the starboard bow of the Tunisian rubbing against the port bow of the Manchester Division. The contact of the two vessels was hardly felt on board the Tunisian, according to the stories told by passengers.

The Tunisian's anchor was cut away as if it were cheese, and with it went the hawser pipe and fifteen feet of plating.

If it had been night time instead of a busy hour in the afternoon, there would have been considerable loss of life. The torn plates covered the quarters known on all liners as the "glory hole," where the ship's stewards are bunked.

All of the stewards were on deck at the time, save one who had slight injuries and fainted.

When the Tunisian docked to-day she bore visible external evidence of the collision. The liner's plates were crumpled up as though they were corrugated zinc.

According to Mr. J. Henderson, a cabin passenger, who at the time of the collision was on the upper deck peering into the fog, the jar was hardly felt, although he saw a ship lull suddenly across the Tunisian's bow.

It is expected that the Manchester Division will proceed on Wednesday. The Tunisian's departure for London, and Havre on Friday next has been definitely postponed, and her passengers transferred to the Corsican and the Prince Friedrich Wilhelm.

Music and the Dance.

The dance acts as a stimulus to the technical study of music. Having felt and known what beauty and joy there are in music, we will desire to express our musical feelings on musical instruments. Interest in anything so specialized as the technical study of music often lags when there is no such impetus, no such immediate means of expression as the dance affords.

Since music may be held to have followed and recorded the paths of human progress and recorded its spirit and life more faithfully than any other single art, we are able to receive the message of the ages through music better than we could by any other means.

Music conveys to us the inner spirit of all the appearances of Nature. In music are conveyed to us in sublimated form the joys we feel on beholding grass, flowers, trees, mountains, sky, clouds, air. It is a familiar fact that the dance arose as a mystic religious tribute to the phenomena of Nature, notably the change of the seasons.

To-day's Messages.

TO SWIM CHANNEL.

DOVER, Aug. 25. Henry Sullivan of Lowell, Mass., started at eight forty o'clock this evening, in an attempt to swim the English Channel from Dover to Calais. This is the first attempt since the outbreak of the war to swim the Channel.

UNIQUE SERVICE.

DUNDALK, Ireland, Aug. 25. One thousand men employed in the Railway Works here, laid down their tools to-day and marched to the Cathedral to pray for the release of the Lord Mayor of Cork. The church was crowded, many kneeling outside the edifice. When the service was concluded the men resumed their work.

WORK FOR I.G.

LONDON, Aug. 25. The Lucerne Correspondent of the London Times says that Sir Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Ireland will reach Lucerne to-morrow, when the Irish question will engage the close attention of Premier Lloyd George.

INVOLVED.

LONDON, Aug. 25. At the Foreign Office, and at No. 10 Downing Street, the official residence of Lloyd George, denial was given to reports to-day that M. Kamenoff had applied for passports for his return to Russia. M. Kamenoff declined to affirm or deny the report that he intended to return to Russia. The report was received with great surprise in official quarters, where, it is believed, the Russian delegation at least would wait until a reply had been sent to the note of Arthur J. Balfour, Lord President of the Council.

HEART STEALER JAILED.

LONDON, Aug. 25. Paul Mellor, ex-army officer, who was recently arrested on a charge of fraud, was to-day sentenced to twelve months imprisonment. Mellor is the officer who figured in the Helen Butler episode recently, when the typist was reshipped from Halifax to London, following her refusal to marry her original fiancé, Capt. Kitchen of Sydney.

DIDN'T WANT RESPONSIBILITY.

LONDON, Aug. 25. Lord Stradbroke has been appointed Governor of Victoria, Australia, succeeding Hon. Lyrph Stanley. A motion recently was made in the Victorian Parliament that future appointments be made by the state itself, but it was defeated.

A UNIVERSAL BLESSING.

PARIS, Aug. 25. The destruction of the Bolshevik armies now may be considered complete, according to advice received. Of the host which swept down upon Warsaw, nothing is left but thirty thousand fugitives. Poles have taken eighty thousand prisoners thus far, but what is more important they have captured a great number of guns and materials. It is considered probable that the Soviets employed all of their available resources, and in the present condition of Russian industries it will take a long time to replace them. Consequently if Soviets are able to find effective with which to seek to restore the fortunes of their arms, lack of equipment will make them without military value.

WITHOUT BENEFIT OF LAW.

GRAHAM, N.C., Aug. 25. Accused of attempting an attack on a four year old girl, John Jeffress, a negro, was shot to death yesterday by a mob of fifty men.

TRANSCONTINENTAL FLIGHT.

NOME, Alaska, Aug. 25. "We are enthusiastic over the success of our flight, because it accomplished what was believed to be impossible, viz., the establishment of aerial communication with Alaska." Capt. Street, head of the New York to Nome air expedition, yesterday summed up the transcontinental flight.

ORGY OF CRIME.

DUBLIN, Aug. 25. Outrages continue to be reported from various places. Armed citizens yesterday attacked and overpowered a party of Cameron Highlanders, outside Queenstown, one soldier dying later from injuries. Constables Hough and McNamara were shot and killed Tuesday near Bantry.

SCENE AT CHURCH.

BELFAST, Aug. 25. St. Matthew's Catholic Church was yesterday the scene of a dangerous outbreak, which held grave possibilities. Soldiers were obliged to fire over the heads of the crowd and finally directed the fire upon it before it was dispersed.

MAJORITY FAVOR STRIKE.

LONDON, Aug. 25. Ballotting of coal miners, which has been proceeding throughout the country yesterday, was going largely in favor of a strike, with the voting in many places two to one in favor of striking, and the Welsh miners virtually unanimous for it. There seems to be a general belief that the other trade unions will refuse to countenance a miners' strike.

SEIZURES AND FINES.

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 25. Since April 1st seventy thousand cases of liquor with a Canadian valuation of two hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars and a bootlegging value of four times that sum have been confiscated by the local inspector's office, and fines amounting to two hundred and fifteen thousand dollars have been collected during the same period.

Burglar "Touches" Tower of London for First Time.

London, Aug. 18.—The burglar record has been broken in the city of London. The Tower lost its reputation as a stronghold when a burglar succeeded in not only breaking in, but capturing the culprit.

setting away with the canteen cash belonging to the soldiers of the garrison. It is probably the first time in the history of the Tower of London that a burglary has taken place there, and certainly it is the first time the police have been called in to assist the soldiers stationed in England's premier fortress. Up-to-date, they have not captured the culprit.

Airplane Patrols.

BRITAIN ALREADY LOOKING INTO THE FUTURE.

The Dutch paper Telegraaf reported that on November 15 airplanes dropped bombs on the castle at Swalmen, where the ex-crown prince of Germany is staying.

No suggestion is made as to the nationality of the airplanes, except by the parenthetical remark that Swalmen is only three miles from the German frontier. The report does not mention any casualties, nor does it say how the ex-price bore himself under fire, though it would have been interesting to have known, since, according to popular report, he has had no previous experience during the war of being under fire, having left all that to the German "cannon fodder," which he so recklessly and cynically sacrificed.

The report is vague in the extreme, but whether or not true, it suggests various exciting possibilities in the future. Piracy and smuggling by airplane are possibilities not to be overlooked. Of course, while all Europe is still armed, and the German army resembles a pack of wolves without a pack leader, nothing could be easier than for some German airmen who disapprove of the ex-crown prince's conduct in general and are resolved that no counter-revolution shall ever make him emperor, to paint out the national marks on their machines, fly high above the clouds into Holland, dive upon his residence and release their bombs. In any force still retaining its discipline and the discipline of active service at that, such action would be wildly impossible.

In times of peace such raids would be less easy. All airdromes and their airplanes will of course be registered; the movements of aircraft will be even more strictly under observation than those of seagoing ships, for the simple reason that their periods of absence from terra firma are necessarily much briefer.

Moreover, air pirates could never stop a commercial airplane and call on it to "stand and deliver." They could never get away with booty, and therefore their operations could only be destructive and not profitable.

But one must not overlook the possibility that a power as evil disposed and reckless as Germany was in 1914 might suddenly begin a systematic attack on all the aircraft of a rival. The experiences of the past warn us to be cautious in the future.

It will be the task of the royal air force to guard the air merchantmen of Britain. For years their work may be as bloodless as was the work of the navy from Navarino in 1814, but the navy was needed at last, and it would be very rash to declare that the royal air force will never again send a foe down in flames.

We must remain prepared on land, on the sea and, last but not least, in the air.—London Mail.

The Lesson of Warsaw.

Warsaw still stands. She reeled and staggered under the pounding blows of Bolshevik Russia, but instead of going down for the count, to the defeat that would have meant ruin and political bankruptcy, she steadied herself and "like a wild cat mad with wounds," springs at her opponent.

The panorama of the world is reflected, in miniature, in the Polish capital. A new Poland was created by the statesmen that sat around the conference table at Paris, just as these same men sought to build a new world by a League of Nations out of the wreckage of the Great War.

The Poles were unable to face without irresolution, the tremendous tasks of peace. The inst of fighting was in their veins, and they could not settle down to the work of rehabilitation. So it was in the great world beyond. There was the same irritability, the same distaste for strenuous and continued effort in the unadventurous paths of peace. There was the same distrust of those in command, the same desire for change of government.

Poland was infiltrated with the propaganda by which the Bolsheviks of Europe sought to overthrow the whole world structure. When Soviet Russia threw her armies against the walls of Warsaw the shock of battle reverberated around the world.

Warsaw has won at least a breathing space by concentration of effort and by the unity of national aims that gained the victory for the Allies in the four memorable years of our testing time. Man, woman and child in Poland, consumed with the same passionate zeal for the public welfare, fought desperately for national existence. There were no meetings of protest among little groups of the Polish army, no coquetting with the Red armies, no response to the lure of their damnable creed.

Poland gives the world a lesson. When all seemed lost, unity of effort and supreme faith in the righteousness of their cause has turned defeat into victory.—Montreal Daily Star.

Sugar Up and Sugar Down.

(From the New York World.)
As sugar prices went up when sugar was scarce and in unusual demand, so they are now going down because the commodity is plentiful and the demand less. The fact furnishes an interesting illustration of Governor Collidge's theory that "we must have less of Government interference in business and more reliance on the people on themselves." It is not to Government regulation that the public owes the lower prices, but to its own decreased consumption of sugar. The consumer holds the infallible remedy in his hands and can supply it at any time through the exercise of a little self-denial more effectually than through the medium of Government machinery. If there is any economic lesson that has been made clear to the popular intelligence it would seem to be that borne home to the public by its experience with the wide fluctuations of sugar prices over a period of years. Hoarding and speculative buying have, of course, had their effect, and these abnormal influences the law correct. But the ultimate stabilization of prices rests with the people through "more reliance on themselves" and less on Government.

THERE IS ONLY ONE GENUINE ASPIRIN

Only Tablets with "Bayer Cross" are Aspirin—No others!

If you don't see the "Bayer Cross" on the tablets, refuse them—they are not Aspirin at all. Your druggist gladly will give you the genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" because genuine Aspirin now is made by Americans and owned by an American Company.

There is not a cent's worth of German interest in Aspirin, all rights being purchased from the U. S. Government. During the war, acid limitations were sold as Aspirin in pill boxes and various other containers. But now you can get genuine Aspirin, plainly stamped with the safety "Bayer Cross"—Aspirin proved safe by millions for Headache, Toothache, Earache, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Colds, Neuritis, and Pain generally. Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets—also larger "Bayer" packages. Aspirin is the trade mark (Newfoundland Registration No. 761), of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid, U.S.A. Bluebeards of To-Day and of the Past.

Bluebeards are as plentiful to-day as they were in the past, and the horrible deeds of these weird creatures continue to be chronicled in the newspapers.

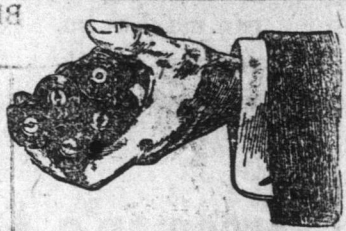

There is a Californian, named James R. Hunt, alias Walter Andrew Watson, alias Charles Newton Harvey, confessed bigamist, anywhere from fifteen to thirty times over, and slayer of at least nine bona fide (on their part) wives.

Then there is the Egyptian variety who the other day was reported as having murdered twenty women, burning their bodies and preserving their heads as souvenirs. The news have been found in a house at a little city north-west of Cairo noted for its Mahomedan festivities, and there. According to the authorities, the women were enticed into the house on the pretext of meeting a wealthy admirer. Instead, they were killed and their jewels and ornaments.

Besides this, the case of the celebrated Henri Landru, the Bluebeard of Gambais, is still pending in the French courts; and as the fresh arrest were not enough, Le Figaro of Paris discloses the fact that this the centenary of the famous wholesale woman killer of Lyons, Lelievre, who just a hundred years ago, operated under the nom de guerre of Cavalier and ended his life on the guillotine.

The Original Bluebeard.

Where does the term Bluebeard originate? The story has been frequently told. Tradition has it that he lived in north-western France, at the time of the Hundred Years' War between that country and England, a nobleman called Gilles de Retz, Baron de Retz. He was a valiant fighter against the English, and his title to fame rests on the disbolical cruelty with which he exterminated a dozen or so of his successive wives. He might possibly have reached a higher total but for some trivial offence he committed against his overlord, the Duke of Brittany. Wife-killing, if done with discretion, was, if not condoned, at least overlooked in those days; but disloyalty to the ruler was unforgivable, and Gilles was burned at the stake near Nantes.

Doubt prevails whether Gilles de Laval was the historic prototype of the famous French novel of the seventeenth century, which made the term Bluebeard a byword in all languages. In the book, which is by Charles Perrault, the celebrated story-teller, the hero, the knight Raoul, surnamed Barbe-Bleue after his rich facial ornament of blue-black color, married seven wives in succession. Six of them disappeared without leaving a trace; the seventh became their avenger, in the following queer manner:

The Curiosity of Fatima.

Raoul, having to leave his castle on important business, entrusts his bundle of keys to Fatima, the seventh Mme. Barbe-Bleue, with the injunction that, while she may go around freely, she must not enter one particular chamber in a turret. Needless to say, Fatima cannot resist the temptation, opens the door of the forbidden compartment, and beholds the ghastly remnants of her six predecessors.

Raoul returns, discovers blood on the keys and thus learns that Fatima, like the six previous women, failed in the supreme test of marital obedience. So he proceeds to slaughter her, just as he slaughtered the others; but this time the brothers of the lady arrive just in the nick of time and "attacked him fiercely, and ran him through, and soon he was mortally wounded."

Perrault may have known the story of Gilles de Laval, but a much more familiar prototype of the professional wife-slayer exists in "The Arabian Nights," where, in fact, he occurs twice, first in the fictitious framework of the story itself. Scheherazade is induced to spin her yarn over 1,011 nights in order to escape execution on the morrow of the bridal night, an unpleasant formality to which her peevish husband usually subjected his bride; then she tells, in the course of her narrative, a tale very closely resembling that of Perrault's.

Bluebeards Are Plentiful.

In some form or other the Bluebeard occurs in the literature and folklore of many lands and peoples. Before Perrault the motif was worked into fiction by two sixteenth century Italians, Straparola and Gian Alessio Abbattuti; there exists a "Germanic" folktale Bluebeard, too, recorded in Grimm's celebrated collection. A version surprisingly similar to the Perrault story survives in the popular legends of Esthonia.

But Brittany seems to be the favorite hunting ground of the woman-eater; the legend of Comorre, or Comorer, the Breton chief who murdered a series of wives and was at last killed by the relatives of a victim, reaches back to the sixth century. In fact, there is reason to believe that Comomer and not Gilles de Laval, Baron de Retz (or Rais, as it is spelled sometimes), is the historic Bluebeard of the Breton country, for, according to latest research, Gilles had only one wife, who survived him.

Russia From the Inside.

With the Russian hordes attempting to stamp Europe flat, one is reminded of Kipling's now almost forgotten poem, a line of which runs: "Make ye no truce with Adam-Zad, the Bear that walks like a Man." If the poet did not foresee the present crisis, he must have had in mind something very akin to it. He liked these half-savage people little, and wrote of them as he thought. In a short story, "The Man Who Was," Kipling well described the Russian when he wrote (I quote from memory): "Russia—the most Western of Eastern nations, not the most Eastern of Western."

Looking at the Russian people through Kipling's eyes will perhaps give us a better understanding of the vast problems which now face the world. Little by little, a bit at a time, a goodly part of Continental Europe is being dragged back into the semi-savage state in which Peter the Great found it when as a boy of seventeen he began his personal rule. The Russians are not a race, but the descendants of many races. The Mongolians from the East, mixed with the hordes of barbarians from the Steppes, intermingled in turn with the savage Northmen, and mixed again with the Slavonic tribes and the Tartars. Such are the Russians. Add gross ignorance to this confusion of blood, and perhaps we have at least a partial explanation of why the Russian has run amuck.

In the latest issue of the London "Nation" is an article by Bertrand Russell. Mr. Russell is a scholar, and had previously written noteworthy articles on the Social Democracy of Germany and on philosophy. He accompanied the British Labor delegation to Germany, though not a member of that body, and while they were being feted and made much of by the Bolsheviks who wished to make the best impression possible, Mr. Russell went off "on his own" with a view of finding out the true condition of affairs. I quote a characteristic passage from his article:

"Friends of Russia here think of the dictatorship of the proletariat as merely a new form of representative government in which only working men and women have votes. They think that the proletariat means dictatorship. This is the opposite of the truth. When a Russian Communist speaks of dictatorship he means the word literally, but when he speaks of the proletariat he uses the word in a Pickwickian sense. He means the class-conscious part of the proletariat—the Communist party."

Mr. Russell goes on to state that all opposition to the present regime is crushed without mercy and without shrinking, the methods being the same as used by the old time Czars. The best he can say for the present Russian Government is that it compares with the rule of Cromwell, while at its worst it parallels the Directory of France. Externally militant and internally autocratic.

"I went to Russia," he says "believing myself a Communist; but contact with those who have no doubts favorite resort of courtiers" in the "Nara period. It is still to-day a popular temple for pilgrims, who come in the spring, when the cherries are in full blossom and all the lanterns are lighted, to transport themselves back to the days when the gods were young.

Carpentier and Levinsky

MATCHED TO FIGHT 15 ROUNDS
AT NEW YORK, OCT. 12.

NEW YORK, August 19.—The International Sporting Club, to-day announced the signing of a contract for a fifteen-round decision bout between Georges Carpentier, European champion, and Battling Levinsky, world's light-heavyweight champion, to be held at Ebbet's Field, Brooklyn, October 12.

The agreement, which was concluded several days ago, was signed by Jack Curley, the boxing promoter, acting for Francois Deschamps, manager for the French champion, and Dan Morgan, acting for Levinsky. The amount of the prizes to be offered, and whether the bout will take place in the afternoon or at night, will be announced later.

Officials of the International Sporting Club said to-day that they were offering the Carpentier-Levinsky fight in preference to a proposed meeting between world's champion Jack Dempsey and "Knockout" Bill Brennan, who recently signed to fight at some undetermined date. A questionnaire sent to the club's membership showed returns favoring the appearance of Carpentier by a majority of approximately five to one.

Ebbet's Field, where the contest is to take place, has a normal seating capacity of 28,000, but the promoters declared that arrangements were being made to seat thirty thousand for the exhibition.

What Size Do You Take?

Few people understand the meanings of the numbers and sizes on articles of clothing.

In hats and caps the size is one-half the sum total of the long and short diameters of the head. In other words, if your head measures 18 1/2 in., your size in hats is 6 1/2.

The size in gloves indicates the number of inches round the knuckles when the hand is closed.

The length in inches of your foot is the "number" you take in socks. In women's hose the length of the leg is usually three times the length of the foot.

If a woman's foot measures 9 in., her size in shoes is 2. Every quarter of an inch above 8 1/2 increases the size by one.

A man with a foot 11 in. long should wear size 7 boots. The size increases by one 1/2 in. in men's footwear.

Mob Attempts to Lynch McNeal.

ST. CATHERINES, Ont., August 16.—Mob rule and civil authority have been at the point of balance in the town of Thorold since before four o'clock this afternoon. At a late hour to-night a crowd of nearly 1,000 people still surrounded the town hall clamoring for the body of David McNeal, who this afternoon was committed for trial on a charge of murdering four-year-old Margaret Boucock on July 15 last, and who the crowd believed is the only person who can account for the disappearance of six-year-old Kathleen Beechman, missing since May 24.

The mob set fire to the town hall to-night and smoked McNeal and the police officers out of the building.

"We surrender," yelled McNeal as he came down the stairs with Chief Frank Collins of Thorold, hanging to his steel wrists.

McNeal was seized and rushed over in front of the town hall to an automobile. A rope taken from the town flag pole was run up a pole and preparations were made to hang him.

He screamed for mercy while the mob howled like demons. "Give him a chance," called someone, and that met with popular approval.

"Men, if you are men, give me a chance to make a statement," cried the poor, blood-stained wretch. "It may be my last words on earth."

McNeal and the crowd later moved to the public library steps.

McNeal spoke for half an hour before a hushed crowd. He swore by the eternal he had not killed Margaret Boucock. "Only a degenerate could do such a thing," he said.

From one section of the great audience came insistent appeals. "Give the man a chance, haul him over to the police."

When McNeal ceased speaking there was no further talk of lynching. The crowd was almost jovial. No one touched McNeal as Chief Mains and his men supported the prisoner to an automobile and he was rushed off to Welland before there was time for the crowd to change its mind.

The damage to the town hall is estimated at several thousand dollars.

England to Quit European Muddle at Once.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Great Britain is going to pull out of Europe. This is the determination of the Government, given by the highest authority.

Within a few weeks the Government proposes to cut loose from the mess of continental politics, and to return to its traditional policy of isolation in association with the other Allies, but after that it is through.

This decision is due to pressure of home affairs, Ireland, the labor situation, and other problems waiting to be dealt with which international complications have compelled the Government to neglect, but which insistently are demanding settlement and will not wait. Also it is due to need for economy and a strong public demand for attention of the paying of debts and the reducing of taxation.

France to Explain.

At the same time I am informed Prime Minister Lloyd George is answering Kamenoff, said that England had no intention whatsoever of recognizing General Wrangel, and will withdraw support from him as soon as he starts an offensive war.

The only thing that can change the British attitude is opposition of impossible terms by Russia upon Poland, taking away that nation's independence.

Schooner Built to Burn.

SAILOR'S PROPHECY CAME TRUE.

St. John, N.B., Aug. 19.—A prophecy made by one of the crew of the large St. John built schooner Netherton, that she was built to burn, has proved true in a sense, for word was received here yesterday that the craft, which has had such an adventurous cruise, has been abandoned on fire in mid-ocean. The Netherton was formerly the Dorfontein, and was held up and set on fire by a German raider at the mouth of the Bay of Fundy during the last year of the war and when the new craft was starting on her maiden voyage with a cargo of lumber taken on at this port.

No particulars of the last days of the Netherton have been received. The Dorfontein was a four-masted schooner of 666 tons nett register, and was built here in 1918, the first wooden vessel of deep sea size to be constructed at this port for many years. She cost $100,000, and with a cargo of 900,000 feet of lumber left here for South Africa in August, 1918. Far down the Bay of Fundy she was held up by a German U-boat Number 56, and after being stripped of her movable possessions, she was set on fire. The crew of nine were taken on board the submarine and were well treated by the Germans. The captain and sailors were landed on Grand Manan Island, and later the charred hull of the big vessel was sighted by fishermen and towed into Seal Cove. About 400,000 feet of lumber was saved, and the hull, burned close to the water line, was towed to Eastport.

The Dorfontein was bought by the firm of Pughes Bros., of Dennisville, Me., and was practically reconstructed. She was re-christened the Netherton and was placed in commission under command of Captain Jasper, of Machias. For nearly two years she engaged in the hard pine trade out of Mobile, Ala., and St. Andrews, Fla. She was equipped with a 35-h.p. engine, which supplied electric lights and power for hoisting the sails.

Press Delegates Tour Grain Belts.

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Aug. 19.—The grain fields between Regina and Moose Jaw were traversed by automobile by the delegates to the Imperial Press Conference yesterday afternoon, completing their tour of inspection of western Canada's grain farms. In the last few days they have passed through several hundred miles of grain fields by motor in the course of their journey through Manitoba and Saskatchewan. The general opinion of the newspapermen of the party, many of whom have a practical knowledge of farming, is that there is a species of wizardry in the production of crops in western Canada, with a minimum of effort and expense. "It is a land of the future, and very immediate future," one delegate expressed it.

The reception in Moose Jaw occupied an hour or so, and took the form of a garden party at the Canadian Pacific Railway Gardens, at which Mayor Hamilton was the host. His brief address of welcome was responded to in kind by Sir Frank Newnes, publisher of the Strand Magazine, Tit-Bits, and other British magazines. The party left early for Calgary, at which point the newspapermen will be entertained with an Indian and wild west demonstration to-day.

1000 Pounds for a Postage Stamp.

The one-cent postage-stamp of British Columbia is worth over $2,000. There is only one known specimen. It was issued in 1856, and is at present in the collection of a philatelic collector. The philatelic treasure is the "Post Office" Mauritius. The specimen in King George's collection sold in 1904 for $1,450. To-day it would fetch a much bigger amount. The history of the issue of this stamp is curious. Mauritius, in 1847, decided to follow the lead of the Mother Country and issue stamps. A local printer was commissioned to make two dies—one for a penny and the other for a two-penny stamp. By mistake the "Post Office" were engraved on the plate instead of "Post Paid." The hundred impressions of each stamp were taken, and as soon as they were used up the dies were destroyed. Only twenty-two specimens are known to-day. The Hawaiian Islands two-cent stamp of 1851, of which there are only a dozen in existence, are worth at least $200 each. The Milbury Postmaster stamp, issued in the early years of the United States, when postmasters printed their own stamps, is to-day worth $100. Among stamps issued in Great Britain there are a number worth between $20 and $100 each. The deep green shilling of 1862, unused, fetches $100 and a used nine-penny stamp, the £5 orange of 1882, unused, worth about £100, and the £1 green lilac of the same year varies in value from £20 to £100.

Wireless Called Help for Mutiny.

Copenhagen, August 18.—The wireless stations at Lyngby and the naval signal station Monday evening received a message for the American Express company agency at Copenhagen from the American steamer Hoxie, which said it was due at Copenhagen Monday night and added: "Help, mutiny on board!" The message did not give details of what had happened. The firm advised the police, which sent out an armed patrol boat to meet the steamer, but in spite of a thorough search several hours the Hoxie was not sighted. The naval wireless station sent out stations during the night without result and it was unknown whether a message which was received had any on board the Hoxie. At the request of the police, the naval authorities this morning sent a hydro-airplane to look for the steamer. The aviator found the steamer, which is an American coal boat of 2,500 tons, some twenty miles south of Copenhagen steaming slowly. The Minister of Marine then sent into wireless communication with Captain Kampholdt, of the Hoxie, who replied: "Everything now is on board, the ringleader of the mutiny being in irons." The danger is apparently over, but the situation must have been critical. The ship came through the Kiel Canal and draws too deep to enter Copenhagen from the south. As soon as part of her cargo is discharged on shore she will enter the port.

Who Invented Ice Cream?

Ice-cream is not such a modern product as many people imagine. The ancients first used ice for the cooling of iced drinks. The first record of Alexander of Macedon, during the heat of his Asiatic campaigns, is of this is found in the records supposed to have been left by him as maceoedone. The more complicated product of today—ice cream—was first invented by Marco Polo, who visited the East in the thirteenth century and brought back tales of water and milk which were among the delicacies known to the people of the East. The sixteenth century we hear of a Frenchman in connection with Queen Marie de Medicis, who introduced fruit juices and water from Italy to France, while later her employed a special cook to invent kinds of ices, the latter installing for the purpose of selling ice to the aristocracy. A popular confection was first made in this country by Demiro, one of the cooks in the household of King Louis I. His royal master so much liked his "frozen milk" that he gave Demiro an annuity of £20. There is an account of a gorgeous banquet given by Louis XIV. of France, which was laid before each guest a gilt cup containing a fresh creamed ice cream. But to their surprise it was a delicious sweetmeat, and compact as marble.

The Stock Market!

Within the last fortnight the "bears" made the most of the Polish-Russian situation by hammering security values in many instances to the lowest prices for over a year. This war scare however, seems to be over-estimated and it is quite evident that the general market has discounted the worst that could happen, as the London Stock Exchange has not manifested any appreciable anxiety over the situation.

While prices are low the time is ripe for investors to pick up bargains or to average down on stocks already purchased.

We are fully equipped to handle your orders either outright or on margin, and will be pleased to submit a list of good purchases upon request.
