The Minto Murder.
(From our Minto correspondent.)
At the close of the inquest held by Dr. Cowan, coroner, on the body of the deceased, John Scroggie, on Thursday last, the jury brought in a verdict of wilful murder against John Mawhinney. The jurymen were: John Prain, foreman, Henry Suddaby, John White, Neil White, Lewis Wilkins, David Bruce, A. McNabb, Donald McConnell, Charles Ferguson, John Thomson, James Falls, and Andrew Caswell. The circumstances connected with the murder are not materially different from that already communicated. On returning from the logging bee, Scroggie and Mawhinney both went to the residence of the latter, and it was there that the fight, at which Mrs. Mawhinney interposed, took place, and after which Scroggie went to Campbell's. Scroggie was stabbed in five different places, two of the wounds, i. e., one near the kidneys, the other in the breast, being either of them sufficient to cause death. Mawhinney's father resided with Campbell, who is a son-in-law, and the poor old man also came in for a share of maltreatment from his infuriated son. It will be seen that Mawhinney's own rage has been under the painful necessity of giving the principal evidence against him. Mawhinney, so far as known here, is still at large.

PEEL AND MARYBORO PLOUGHING MATCH.—The annual ploughing match in connection with the Agricultural Societies of these two Townships will take place on Thursday the 29th October, on the farm of Mr. James Watson, Lot 12, 6th Con. Peel.
A man named Addison, of Hamilton, going home very drunk on Saturday night, had a person force his services on him as pilot. This person, who afterwards turned out to be a deserter from the Rifle Brigade, threw the drunken man down and robbed him of his watch.
TURNIP MATCH.—We are requested to announce that all parties who have made entries for the County Turnip Match, but who do not wish to compete, will please notify the Secretary, Mr. George Murton, forthwith to that effect. The judges will commence their duties on the 22nd of Oct.
WALKERTON CORRESPONDENCE.—The news furnished by our Walkerton correspondent had been anticipated through the ordinary channels, with the exception of one item where it is said: The W. G. & B. Company will next appeal to the County of Bruce for their assistance, they may be assured of a hearty response.
On Saturday night last, the house of Wm. Murphy, Esq., at the Paris station was burglariously entered, and a quantity of silver plate and $30 in money taken, the family sleeping all the while. They attempted to enter another house in the neighbourhood the same night, but the inmates awoke, and the robbers departed speedily.
On Saturday night a widow who keeps a hotel in Ottawa, together with her family were almost frightened out of their wits by a drunken man who entered the house, armed with a sword, and threatened to spit the inmates and blow up the house with powder. A neighbour ran for a constable, and the madman was arrested.
COUNTY PLOUGHING MATCH.—The annual ploughing match in connection with the South Wellington and Guelph Township Agricultural Societies will take place on Wednesday the 21st inst., on the farm of Thomas McCrae Esq., Guelph Township, when the prize will be awarded in the three different classes. For particulars see bills.
A strange disease has broken out among the cattle at St. Catharines. It is called crinoline, and two valuable animals have died of it within a short time. A post mortem examination showed a piece of steel, that had at one time belonged to a lady's hoops skirt, sticking in the liver of one of the animals, and another, six inches long, in the stomach of the other.
SALE OF THOROUGH BRED STOCK.—By advertisement in another column it will be observed that Mr. John Snell, of Edmonton, will sell by public auction, on Wednesday, October 28th, a large number of thorough bred cattle, sheep and pigs. It is well known that Mr. Snell's stock is excellent, and those who have a desire to improve their flocks and herds may find it to their advantage to attend his sale.
The Roman Catholic Bishops of Cork, Cloyne, Ross and Kerry, Ireland, have had a conference in regard to the election and have decided to recommend Mr. Gladstone's programme to the Irish Liberal Constituencies as the only one that can be adopted. While appreciating the importance of the land question, the Bishops did not think it should be made a pretext for postponing the church question, which is the one now ripe for solution.
THE OUSTIC P. O. STORE.—By advertisement in our columns Mr. Thomas Whitehead, of Oustic, informs the public that he has now on hand a full stock of all the articles required in a country store. He lays particular stress on his staple and fancy dry goods, and ready made clothing. The grocery department is also well filled, while the prices are lower, the proprietor says, than the same articles can be bought for elsewhere. Here is a chance for the people around Oustic.
SALEM ITEMS.—Business in Salem is greatly kept back at the present on account of so much weather. The flouring mills and factory can only run about one-third time, but it is to be hoped that before long that difficulty will be removed by plenty of rain. We are informed that Dr. Griffith, of Salem, is to give a reading of his "New Dominion Story," as well as selections from Charles Dickens' work, at the school houses, in this village, on Friday evening, the 16th inst., the proceeds to go towards laying a sidewalk for the school children. We presume the fact of an author reading his own productions will attract a large audience. The new work of Dr. Griffith is said to be highly interesting. An old gentleman in our village took seven papers. He has paid them all off and returned them to their respective offices for the simple reason of their containing too much lacrosse news. He says he is perfectly sick of it.—Com.

The Economical and Social Condition of Spain.
Madrid Cor. of the London Times.
The economical and social situation of Spain is frightful. There was something very like famine throughout the country at the close of the last season; but the terrible drought of this season has left Spain literally without a harvest. The little produce that can be scraped together will be brought to market within the next two or three weeks, when the evil will become apparent in all its alarming proportions, and sheer starvation will stare the unfortunate population in the face. Persons well acquainted with the country assure me that Spain, which in ordinary years is an exporter of corn, and which under proper management might supply half Europe with it, cannot subsist without the importation of $10,000,000 worth of grain for the next twelve months. All the stock and provisions with which it was still possible to meet the exigencies of last year's dearth have been eaten up, and in many localities there is absolutely no seed for next year's crops. It would be needless to tell you that Madrid, and the whole country are swarming with beggars; the undeniable fact is that hosts of new mendicants have joined the ranks of the sturdy old professionals with whom all travellers in Spain are familiar; the facts is that as winter sets in the distress will be such as few persons imagine. The Spaniards are said, and with good reason, to be a charitable people; but their charity is of that indiscriminate, grovelling, capucin description that creates as much misery as it relieves; it is charity whose stock of copers no appeal is made in vain. Any evidence of public association and enterprise, any large intelligent scheme for comparing the extent of the demand, and confronting it by a combined effort to yield the supply, would hardly suggest itself to these people; or, if suggested, it would hardly be acted upon in proper time and with sufficient energy. The sad probability is that the poor population will be left to its own devices and resources; the peasantry, especially in remote districts will just lay themselves down and die, or they will crawl along the highways and drag themselves to the cities, where they will only add to the sum of anguish and wretchedness of which every community will already have more than its ample share. The Spaniards are a noble race; they possess in an eminent degree that noblest of human attributes—patience. The mixture of Moorish blood in their veins, and the peculiarly gloomy tendencies of their religious convictions, give their resignation not a little of the fatalism. Were the Spanish peasantry left to themselves they would starve and make no sign. But famine, even among Spaniards, may be an evil adviser, and if either or any of the parties now engaged in a deadly struggle were think of making political capital of the general distress; if the Government, especially, and the priests in its interests, were to throw out hints laying the blame of the unrelieved misery of the poor on their adversaries, and pointing to the easy means of redress at hand; if, in one word, any one would be at the trouble to stir up and organize a jaquerie, it is difficult to see what limits would be set to the aggravation of the evils inseparable from all civil dissensions.

Later from the same correspondent.
The Listowell Banner is in error (a circumstance which the publishers of that journal need not regret) in stating that this murder was committed in Wallace. Mawhinney formerly resided in that Township, but removed to Minto some eighteen months ago. His farm adjoins that of his brother-in-law, Mr. J. Campbell, on the town line between Minto and Wallace, on the Minto side. The house in which the deed was perpetrated is a small structure built of squared logs and contains only two apartments. It has a front and back door, and Scroggie sat between these in front of the stove when Mawhinney appeared on the premises declaring his purpose. He had ample time and might easily have made his escape by the one door when the altercation or struggle took place at the other. The house is not far from the bush or swamp and the night was dark, but it is supposed that some wrangling arising out of this must have taken place between Mawhinney and his wife, after Scroggie left to go to Campbell's, as previous to that, had Mawhinney intended to kill, a more favorable opportunity of effecting his purpose presented itself in his own house, with the instrument of destruction at hand, than he possibly could have expected to obtain by following his victim to a place where he knew that others must be present who would do all in their power to prevent the commission of the crime. Mawhinney is still at large. His friends maintain that as he was without hat and some portions of clothing, as well as destitute of money, he could not have fled from the country without having been seen, and argue that from his rash and resolute character, he must have killed himself, but it is more probable that he had received what money was necessary, and that he is now in the United States of America, where he at one time resided, and where he is well acquainted. It has been stated that on Thursday forenoon, the day after the murder, a man answering to the description of Mawhinney, and with all the appearance of having had a hard run, went into a tavern in Mitchell, but who, so soon as he heard the railway whistle, again started off at full speed for the station, and this may or may not have been him. Many an innocent man has had to run fast to be in time for the train, but this as it may, Mawhinney is said to be a well educated and more than ordinary intelligent man, with a full knowledge of the penalty due to his crime, and it is not likely that such a man would remain long in the neighborhood, especially when such a good chance of escape was afforded him. No doubt there are plenty of lurking places, but diligent search has been, and is still being made without any trace whatever having been discovered of his whereabouts, and if he is to be found at all, dead or alive, he must be looked for beyond the limits of either the townships of Minto or Wallace.
Since writing the foregoing, I have learned that on Sabbath evening, or rather on Monday morning last, two constables in search of Mawhinney discovered a light in the house of Mr. Richard Dailey, next to the place of the murder. They pushed forward—the dogs barked, the lights went out. On entering the house, they found three or four men sitting with their clothes on, and there were some quilts on the floor where they suspected Mawhinney had been sleeping. They made a thorough search of this and also of several other houses in the neighborhood, but without success, and no trace has yet been found of the murderer.

PROGRESS OF THE REVOLUTION IN SPAIN.

The progress of the revolution in Spain cannot fail to gratify every friend of civil and religious liberty throughout the world. The destruction of the imbecile yet bigotted and tyrannical Government of Isabella having been speedily and effectually accomplished, the men who inaugurated the revolution, and brought it to a successful issue, at once earnestly and honestly set about initiating many important and much needed reforms. Leaving the question to be settled by the people—who are the rightful, and ought to be the self-appointed judges—whether the Government be monarchical or republican, the Provisional Junta have already given the best proof they could of their fitness for occupying such a position in such a crisis by guaranteeing to the people many reforms, such as universal suffrage, religious liberty and toleration, freedom of the press, right of public assembly, radical changes in the present system of education, right of trial by jury, and equality of all men before the Crown, or in other words impartial distribution of justice. Under the old regime any one of these concessions would have been an immense boon to the people of Spain, but coming altogether they at once—in so far as the administration and exercise of the governing power can do—raise the people to a level with the most liberal Governments in Europe. Our fervent hope is that these men who are guiding the destinies of the country at this critical period, and who have shown such an earnest desire to liberalize its institutions, and to awake anew its ancient energies, will not be thwarted or driven back in their work either by adverse influences outside, or opposition or dissension among themselves. For the present, however, no such fears are anticipated, nor has there been any discord in the councils of the new leaders. We have already been furnished with a proof of their honesty in carrying out these reforms, in their authorizing the American Protestants at Seville to build a church within the walls of the city. Under the reign of Isabella the Protestants were not only permitted to build churches, but they were forbidden to assemble for private worship or to read Protestant books. When the revolution broke out several Protestants were in prison for transgressing these barbarous laws. This then is a fitting commencement to the great work in which the Junta is now engaged, and it will go far to secure the fullest sympathy and approbation of liberal men all over the world in this and the many other important changes which are being inaugurated.

But there are difficulties yet in the way, and it will require the utmost unanimity, courage and determination on the part of the Junta to overcome them. The Bourbon first appears on the throne in 1700, when Louis XIV. of France succeeded in elevating to power his grandson, Philip, Duke of Arragon, known then and in history as Philip V. Till 1808 Philip's descendants held the sceptre, but in that year Napoleon, who had a fancy for distributing crowns among his relatives, displaced King Charles IV. and bestowed the Spanish sovereignty on his brother, Joseph. At the allied powers had broken the Napoleonic powers and spell Joseph was dethroned by Ferdinand VII, eldest son of Charles who had been compelled in haste from that exalted seat, the terrible conqueror's relative sit down. Ferdinand, at length, went the way of all sovereigns as subjects, and having previously altered the Salic law which forbade a woman to sit on the throne, left his sceptre to his daughter, Isabella, who, like many of her dynasty, came to grief. A clean sweep, appears, has been made in every part of the Bourbon tribe, and we have no regrets over their extinction.

into and the Narrow Gauge. A public meeting was held in Toronto, Friday evening for the purpose of raising the best means to be taken to hasten the immediate construction of the Grey and Bruce, and Toronto and Nipissing Railways. The Mayor was in the chair. The following resolutions were passed unanimously: Resolved, That the construction of the railway extending from this city to the counties of Wellington, Peel, and Bruce, to Lake Huron; and also a branch extending through the counties of York, Ontario and Victoria, to Lake Erie; will be of great benefit to the commerce and manufacturing interests of Toronto, and will materially enhance the value of all property on the country through which it will pass, and promote the interests of the people at large.

Resolved, That the construction of the railway extending from this city to the counties of Wellington, Peel, and Bruce, and the sum of $400,000 to aid in the construction of the Grey and Nipissing Railway; and that the Corporation of the City of Toronto be authorized to submit by-laws to that effect to the rate payers.

The market continues pretty active. Spring wheat is brought in to the amount of about 2,000 bushels daily, but neither in nor in fall wheat has there been any change for the greater part of the past week. The same is the case with peas and oats, which have maintained an unaltered price for some weeks. Barley is in demand, and is supplied at about the rate of 1,000 bushels a day. All last week the price ran up steadily, and on Monday it touched what we believe will prove to be the highest figure, that is $1.40. On Tuesday it declined slightly, but a rise in the Toronto market brought it up to the old figure on Wednesday. Potatoes are slowly coming in and bringing a good price. Butter is lower in consequence of a larger supply. Potatoes are scarce and dearer. Other articles remain pretty much as they were last week.

citizens in the mother country, and effected a bloodless revolution in that important dependency, and the authorities there are acting in perfect accord with the Provisional Junta. Thus everything favours the new movement, out of which we hope to see before long established a strong, liberal and progressive Government, which will in time raise Spain again to something like the proud position she held among other nations in former days.

History of the Bourbons.

Now that the last reigning Bourbon reigns no longer, a brief synopsis of the history of this remarkable house may not be uninteresting. Its rise, decline and fall is summarized as follows: The House of Bourbon is French in the commencement, deriving its name from the old lords of Bourbon, who, ages since, owned large estates in the province of Bourbonnais, in the centre of what is now Napoleon's sovereignty. In consequence of the marriage of a scion of the Capet family with a Bourbon heiress, the noble house became allied with royalty in the thirteenth century, and about the middle of the next century, appears the first of the race on a throne in the person of Antoine of Bourbon, King of Navarre. From this Antoine, sprang "the gallant and renowned" Henry of Navarre, who subsequently was hailed King of France, under the title of Henry IV., with whom commences the history of the Bourbon dynasty in France. This eventful history extends from 1589 to 1830, when the tenth Charles was ejected from the royal palace by the July revolution. Up to the date of the revolution, there had been no interval in the dynastic supremacy. Louis XIII., XIV., XV., and XVI. were members of the race. The family degenerated as its history advanced, and with lowness of character they united an undying love for arbitrary power. In the great revolution, Louis XVI., a hapless sort of mortal, perished by the guillotine, when so many better heads tumbled on the scaffold; but with his death the dynasty was not closed in that perturbed kingdom. After the Republic, the Consulate, and the Empire, we see again a Bourbon ascend the re-erected throne in the person of Louis XVIII., a son of Louis XVI., who would have taken his father's position as Louis XVII., had he been spared, having died while yet a boy in 1795. Following Louis XVIII. comes his brother, Charles X., who was discharged from kingly duties by the great upturn in 1830. Before his abdication, Louis Philippe, belonging to a young branch of the family, had been elected King of France, and even he, in about eighteen years had also to depart in haste, that a new experiment might try his hand, who, as Napoleon III., continues ruling to his own profit and satisfaction, whatever the people may think of his sway. So the Bourbon rose and disappeared in France, and it is not very likely that the Count de Chambord, now 48 years of age, held by the legitimists to be the heaven-born heir to the crown, will ever be permitted to show the people whether he is better or worse than his regal ancestors.

The Bourbons, it was already remarked, had given sovereigns also to Italy. The last of them, Francis II., of Naples, was driven from his throne by the revolution of 1860, and a precious specimen of the race was he. He still lives in exile, and is said to be always plotting to regain his crown, a business likely to be as fruitless as the attempt to discover perpetual motion.

In Spain a Bourbon first appears on the throne in 1700, when Louis XIV. of France succeeded in elevating to power his grandson, Philip, Duke of Arragon, known then and in history as Philip V. Till 1808 Philip's descendants held the sceptre, but in that year Napoleon, who had a fancy for distributing crowns among his relatives, displaced King Charles IV. and bestowed the Spanish sovereignty on his brother, Joseph. "VIOLET KEITH."

From the Montreal Witness of Sept. 15th.—On Tuesday last at the annual picnic of the St. Stephens Sunday School, Point St. Charles branch, at St. Hilaire, a prize was awarded to Miss Ann White, of that place, for a book called "Violet Keith," published by Mr. Lovell. The authoress, Mrs. Ross, has truly depicted character, and we would advise the reading of it to all young persons, as a book to assist in the formation of the minds of the young a love for all that is just, noble and of good report.

J. CURTIS CLARK, Superintendent, St. Stephen's Sunday School, Point St. Charles.

IMPORTANT MURDER TRIAL.—A case of murder engaged the attention of the Court of Assize, now sitting in London, on both Saturday and Monday last. Two brothers, named Thos. and Henry Jones, lived on the worst of terms on adjoining farms in the township of Delaware. On the 11th of last June Mrs. Henry Jones sent her daughter Mary, aged about 12 years, to her uncle's, to get some flour that had been previously borrowed, and the girl never returned alive. After a long search her body was found in the woods covered by some leaves and sticks. Thomas Jones, his two sons, and a daughter a little older than the murdered girl, were all arrested as being principals in, or accessory to, the deed. Thomas Jones, was first tried. The evidence against him was all circumstantial, and singular to relate, his daughter having been put in the witness box confessed that she had gone out with her cousin, that they had quarrelled, that the other girl had first struck her with a stick, and that she returned the blow causing death. There were many contradictions in her testimony, and it seemed evident that she had been influenced, or intimidated to take the onus of the crime in order to clear her father. But his conduct, his words, and some other circumstances conspired to make a pretty clear case against him, notwithstanding his daughter's allegations, and he was found "guilty." It appears that the prisoner had a special dislike to the girl he murdered, as he had one time robbed the house of another brother for a bond or a deed, and she being present detected him in his disguise. She made known her suspicions and was doomed.

EVENING CLASSES.—We direct attention to the advertisement of Mr. J. Murison Dunn, Head Master of the Guelph Grammar School, in reference to the formation of evening classes.

GOVERNMENT APPOINTMENT.—Mr. Charles Mair, of Perth, the author of "Dreamland," and other poems, has been appointed paymaster on the road to be constructed eastward from Fort Garry.

WEALTH OF THE SPANISH CHURCH.—Spain at this moment possesses no less than 800 convents, with 15,000 nuns. There are 55 bishops, 2,500 canons and abbots, 1,800 regular priests, 24,000, &c. The budget for the Church is twice as high in Spain, which contains 16,000,000 of souls as in France, with 37,000,000 of Roman Catholics. The Church will probably engage the serious attention of the Government which to all appearance is to succeed Queen Isabella and her Ministers.

MR. ROBERT CAMPBELL.—It will be gratifying to many of our readers to learn that Mr. Robert Campbell, who met with such a painful accident last week by a threshing machine, may now be regarded as in a fair way of recovery.

PIGEON MATCH.—A pigeon match of fifty birds each for the championship and $100 a side, between Mr. Birch of Toronto, champion of Canada, and Mr. John Tweedie of Whitby, took place near the Grand Trunk Station on Wednesday. When 50 birds had been shot at, a recess took place—Birch killing 21, Tweedie 19. When 100 birds had been shot at, Birch had killed 40, Tweedie 40—the Afterwards 10 birds each were shot at—Birch killing 6, Tweedie 6; then 5 birds each—Birch killing 2, Tweedie 4—resulting in Tweedie's winning the match by 2 birds. The weather was very favorable and a large number of spectators were on the ground.

The cable of 1866 which has been useless since the beginning of summer was repaired on Sunday last, and is now in working order.

BLONDIN THE SECOND.—It will be seen by advertisement that Prof. Jenkins will give two of his wonderful rope walking performances in Guelph, on the 20th inst. The feats which Blondin did at Niagara he will do here. There is to be a number of athletic games also, and as all the preliminaries are to be arranged by a very efficient committee there is no doubt that what is known as 'a big time' will occur. Our country friends who have a desire to witness such an exhibition will do well to take note of Tuesday next.

The Braes of Yarrow

An Historical Tale of the Sixteenth Century.

The suite of apartments occupied by her Majesty's husband was in the massive pile called David's Tower. Douglas, whose haughty spirit, love of power, and the pomp of power, overtook his caution, and tended directly to the calamity which soon fell upon himself and his mistress, with an impatient gesture dismissed the chamberlain who had conducted Barras to his presence.

"What tidings, Barras, and from whence?" said the Earl immediately after the door closed. "I'll tell you, my lord, and from Ettrick," responded Barras, with the serenity of tone and manner which flattered his master more than words could ever have done.

"Pronounce them promptly, then; for I'll tell you, my lord, and from Ettrick," responded Barras, with the serenity of tone and manner which flattered his master more than words could ever have done.

"But it is supposed that he was shot in attempting to escape." "Then Arran has one friend the less." "But by the negligence of his Majesty's courier, the pardon was lost."

"Since the man is dead there is no need for the pardon." "Angus surveyed the speaker curiously as if comprehending that something lay beneath the question, and marvelling what it might be. He spoke aloud."

"Master Elliot risked his head to obtain the pardon, and little as I like him, I will not ask you how his mishap befell. Still were it shown that he had been careless in his embassy, it were enough to degrade him from the ranks of the Guard."

"For no other reason, I imagine, than that he is a comely fellow, and devoted to her service." "Barras smiled dubiously, and instantly made an effort to suppress the smile."

"Does your lordship know how this Master Elliot first obtained his appointment to the Guard?" "For some service he had rendered to Lady Mary Douglas, I believe."

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RESTORER.

It is a perfect and wonderful article. Cure Baldness. Makes hair grow. A better dressing than any OIL or POMATUM. Softens brash, dry and wiry hair into beautiful and Silken Tresses. But, above all, the great wonder is the rapidity with which it restores GRAY HAIR to its ORIGINAL COLOR. The whitest and worst looking hair resumes its youthful beauty by its use. It does not dye the hair, but strikes at the root and fills it with new life and coloring matter. The first application will do good; you will see the NATURAL COLOR returning every day, and before you know it, the old, gray, discolored appearance of the hair will be gone, giving lustrous, shining and beautiful locks.

Ask for Hall's Sicilian Hair Restorer; no other article is all alike in effect. See that each bottle has our private Government Stamp over the top of the bottle. All others are IMITATIONS.

Despatches to the Evening Mercury.

LONDON, 13th.—A meeting has been held here to-day, for the purpose of relieving the sufferers by the earthquake in South America. The Lord Mayor presided. Among the prominent persons who took a part in the proceedings were the Governor of the Bank of England, the Rothschilds and Barings. Nearly £7,000 was raised.

The Junta has seized the property of the Jesuits and abolished the order.

MADRID, 13th.—The Junta has issued another circular urging the extinction of all religious corporations. Internal taxes on home and foreign wares have been abolished.

PARIS, 13th.—The following Spanish news has been received: Gen. Prim has written to the Emperor Napoleon stating that the provisional Junta desires close relations with France. They prefer a ruler who will be acceptable to France and to Europe. The provinces of Barcelona and Valencia, being strongly protectionists, hesitate to recognize the Junta.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Despatches from Madrid state that general interest is manifested in Cuba in regard to the representation of the Island in the government of Spain, and also in regard to the abolition of slavery and the action of the constitutional Cortez on these questions is awaited with great anxiety. The Ministers promise Cuba equal liberties with Spain.

MADRID, Oct. 13.—The Provisional Junta is sure of the adhesion of Lersundi, the Captain Genl. of Cuba. Despatches were sent to him by the steamer which left Cadiz on the 2nd, which, it is believed, will remove all doubt and hesitation on his part of the course to be pursued.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Mr. Gladstone commenced the political canvass in Lancashire with an address at Warrington, in which he denounced the Tories for their bad financial policy, and for their course in the Irish Church question.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The Daily News this morning says, there is no doubt the protocol of the treaty proposed by the American representative will be approved by the English Parliament, and the American Congress. It is announced that the British mails will not go forward by the Hamburg line after the 30th inst.

To Friends & Strangers.

AFTER an experience of over four years in selling the New York Union Piano Company's Pianos, (made under the direction of J. P. Being fully satisfied, after having sold over 800 of these splendid instruments in New York, Cincinnati and St. Louis, that they are the finest toned and most durable Pianos now made. PREST & HEPBURN

In the Leather War now going on between their opponents on the South side of Wyndham Street.

We do not believe in both and bankrupt, but deal with facts, and leave the verdict in the hands of the intelligent people of Wellington. Now we believe, and we are confident that every well-balanced mind in Wellington will agree with us, that the less machinery used in the manufacture of Boots and Shoes the better.

All our Staple Boots and Shoes are made by Hand
