HOW DREYFUS WAS FREED

OLD LETTER TO FRIEND REVEALS CAUSE OF BORDERAU TRIUMPH OF JUSTICE

Philip Buneau-Varilla's Chance Detection of Counterfeit Bordaureau Real Cause of Triumph of Justice.

Paris, July 14.—As a fitting epilogue to the acquittal of Alfred Dreyfus, M. Philip Buneau-Varilla to-day gave the Associated Press a remarkable story of how he first discovered positive proof of Dreyfus' innocence and the result of Major Count Esterhazy, a story heretofore known to only a few intimates, including Dreyfus, who said, during a recent interview here, that, while the establishment of his innocence was attributed to many causes, Buneau-Varilla's chance detection of the counterfeit bordereau, or the main document on which the prosecution relied, was the real cause of the triumph of justice.

It was some years later that Dreyfus was arrested and convicted before a secret court-martial. It first thought he was a victim of the prevailing anti-Semitic sentiment, but the conviction appeared to be about his guilt. Happening to dine afterwards with my brother, Maurice, proprietor of the Matin, he spoke of the bordereau, and I immediately produced the original, which I had kept for information about the project, for the purpose of writing a geographical study upon the French possessions in Africa. The French possession in Africa, the bordereau, which the letter remained unanswered, was given to newspapers.

The French possession in Africa, the bordereau, which the letter remained unanswered, was given to newspapers.

When my brother spoke of the bordereau, the idea flashed across my mind that I might compare the secret with something which I had written during our school days at the polytechnic school. I finally found the old, unanswered letter in my trunk. I asked for information relative to the Congo.

My brother made an independent comparison of the bordereau and the letter, and reached the same conclusion, namely that the handwriting of the letter about the Congo was not that of the bordereau. As together we realized this discovery, we felt as tho an earthquake had shaken us.

Maurice immediately announced his determination to publish the discovery of the bordereau so that every one possessing letters written by Dreyfus would be able to make comparison, and the following day the people generally and the Dreyfus family in particular saw for the first time what has since been known as the bordereau.

The appearance of the photograph of the bordereau led M. Castro, a stock broker, to recognize it as being in the handwriting of one of his clients, Count Esterhazy, thus precipitating Esterhazy's trial. The publication of Zola's famous "I accuse" letter.

ASCRIBE DEATH TO JOKE

ALLOWED TO GO TOO FAR

Police Believe Getzner Was Tied to Shafting by Factory Employes.

New York, July 15.—Death in a most horrible form and planned with fiendish cruelty, was meted out to a workman in the plaster works of J. B. King at West New Brighton, Staten Island, the police say, and in an effort to learn the true facts, eight of the victim's fellow workmen have been placed under arrest. As the time of their imprisonment lengthens it is expected that one or more of the number will tell under what circumstances Frank Getzner, the unfortunate man, was drawn by a rope upon a rapidly revolving piece of shafting, which whirled and battered his body into an almost unrecognizable mass and severed an arm and leg.

In the absence of any utterance from the eight prisoners the factory officials are inclined to ascribe Getzner's death to a joke that was allowed to go too far. Their theory is that Getzner was sitting on a bench—perhaps doing—when one or more of his fellows tied a rope to his feet and threw the loose end over the shaft, with the intention of having him ranked along the factory floor.

However the thing was planned, the result was horrible. When other workmen responded to the shouts and cries of alarm from the room where Getzner had been working, they found only one arm and the lower part of his leg protruding from the shaft. The rest of the body had been thrown 30 or more feet and lay at the bottom of a wooden shaft, 20 feet long. The rope had been coiled around the shaft. Superintendent Bancher sought to learn how the rope became attached to Getzner's leg, but none of the nine men who worked with him would admit any knowledge of the end of the rope. One of the men, Frank Lecar, left the factory immediately after Getzner was killed, and he has not been found.

The police will not accept as correct the theory of the factory officials, because it was soon learned that the gang about equally of Poles and Italians and that there was an unfriendly feeling between the two factions. In this connection it is significant that a Pole, Lecar, the missing workman, is an Italian.

FATHOS IN THREE DROWNINGS. Stellarton, N. S., July 15.—(Special.)—Tragic drowning accident occurred on Saturday, when Roderick McKenzie, 27 years of age, and L. E. Fraser, aged 7, lost their lives. McKenzie was bathing with some boys. McKenzie took Fraser on his back and started to swim across the river. This succeeded in doing without mishap. After a rest on the other side, he started back. In midstream McKenzie either took a cramp or the boy tightened his grasp so much around his neck as to in some way cause the swimmer to sink. When the bodies were found, the boy's arms were still tightly clasped around McKenzie's neck.

At Middleton, children were bathing in the river, when one of them, the daughter of L. S. Schaffner, got into deep water. Mrs. Ariz went to her assistance, but losing her footing and being seized by the child, she was drawn down. She leaves a husband and five young children.

Guatemalans Lose 2000 Men

Honduras Makes Common Cause With Salvador

Good Offices of U.S. Accepted

NO QUARTER. Mexico City, July 15.—It is now known that General Regalado of Salvador, lost his life in a scouting expedition. He was in command of his army when he resolved to explore within the border of Guatemala.

He started out accompanied only by an adjutant and a small escort, when he came unexpectedly upon a large body of Guatemalan regulars who overpowered his force. Regalado and his escort sold their lives dearly, making an heroic fight and killing many of their foes, but they were exterminated. No quarter was asked.

U. S. STEPS IN. Washington, July 15.—Both Guatemala and Salvador have accepted the tender of the good offices of the American government, looking to a settlement of their differences. This information is conveyed in official despatches received at the state department to-day from the American diplomatic representatives in Guatemala and Salvador, announcing that the two belligerent countries have availed themselves of the tender of the good offices of the United States, looking to their approaching each other in a conference having in view an adjustment of their differences, the cessation of hostilities, and the bringing about of peace.

HONDURAS DECLARES WAR. Panama, July 14.—A telegram received here from Salvador says that Honduras declared war against Guatemala to-day.

According to the message this proclamation was circulated in Salvador. General Bordin, commanding the Salvadoran army, has repelled the Guatemalan forces at Matapam in Salvador, ten miles east of the Guatemalan frontier. The victorious army of Salvador retained the positions captured from the enemy.

The declaration of war by Honduras upon Guatemala brings a third state actively into the Central American conflict, which has been progressing with more or less severe fighting since the outbreak of hostilities in the west. Nicaragua and Costa Rica are the only two countries still passive, and it is believed that the latter is about to take part in the fighting.

Up to-day Honduras seemingly has taken no part in the fighting. However, it is reported that the Honduran army has been invaded by Guatemalan troops in pursuit of fugitives from the Honduran army. Salvadoran commander, who was killed at Jicaro.

The present trouble in Central America is brewing for a long time. For the past five years the revolutionists in that country have been planning, instigating and preparing for the overthrow of President Cabrera, and in their efforts to this end they have not failed to appeal for support to the United States. Honduras and Salvador, working on the national jealousies of states forming Central America, were harshly criticized by his enemies. They declare he rules with extreme despotism, that no man's life is safe under his administration, and that the country commercially and economically is retrograding under his rule.

FOUR OF CREW SCALDED. Steam Pipe of Ferry Boat Bursts and Panic Follows. New York, July 15.—Three firemen and a water tender on the municipal ferry boat Richmond, were badly scalded to-day by the explosion of a steam pipe in the forward boiler room, as the boat was about to start for Staten Island.

A small sized panic among the 1500 passengers on the boat followed the loud report of the explosion, and the noise of the escaping steam, but the discipline and coolness of the crew, coupled with the fact that the boat was immediately stopped and backed into her slip again, prevented any serious results.

GOUIN AND PETERS AGREE

MUST HAVE BETTER TERMS

Expect That Rearrangement of Provincial Subsidies Will Be Settled at Conference.

Montreal, July 15.—(Special.)—The following special appears in The Standard from Charlottetown, P.E.I.: "Premier Gouin of Quebec, when interviewed by the correspondent of The Standard in Charlottetown to-day, spoke in an interesting way of his visit to Prince Edward Island.

"Premier Peters and I," said Mr. Gouin, "are well agreed upon the necessity of an increase of the subsidies to the federal provinces and on the basis of the terms that but little discussion was necessary. The resolutions passed at the conference of the premiers of Quebec were reaffirmed at the past session with a few slight amendments. Premier Gouin is hopeful of successfully maintaining that Sir Wilfrid Laurier in 1891 had declared that the provinces should get more, and that Hon. Mr. Fielding advocated this policy when premier of Nova Scotia. He expects the matter to be fully settled at the conference of premiers, which Sir Wilfrid Laurier promises to hold in the near future.

Formerly, he says, the children were taught not to lie, steal or cheat, but hereafter "thou shalt not drink whisky" will be added to the formula.

"Will you permit The World to ask your grace if you ever drink strong liquor?" "I do not," quickly replied his grace, "and no liquor has been used at our table since December last. You are aware that it was the custom formerly to serve a little brandy, especially when visitors were present, but since the time I have held the office of premier, I have never used it."

London, July 15.—The committee appointed to consider the best means of aiding old soldiers and sailors report that the difficulties in regard to the settlement of reservists in the colonies should be removed by the passing of the reserve forces bill now before parliament, which provides for the recall to the colors of reservists living in any colony. St. Petersburg, July 14.—It was reported to-night that Emperor Nicholas is listening to a faction at court, which advises the desperate expedient of an appeal to the country through new elections. This plan is to dissolve the lower house and at the same time to announce new elections on the basis of universal suffrage, and it is said that a circular asking for a report on what the result of such new elections would be has already been sent to the local authorities.

His assailant used a revolver. The three shots fired were all effective. The murderer was a well dressed man. He has been arrested, but not identified. The case is regarded as mysterious, as General Kozlov was not connected with any political agitation.

The murderer, who is believed to be a Social Revolutionary, carried a photograph at which he gazed attentively before firing, as if comparing it with Gen. Kozlov. It was a photograph of Gen. Treppoff.

St. Petersburg, July 15.—At a meeting held to-day at Gatchina, 20 miles from St. Petersburg, attended by 4000 of the 50,000 reservists, an officer addressed the men on the subject of the constitution and establishing constitutional institutions, and to prepare the army to come over to the people when they are ready and armed for resistance.

The soldiers received the speech with much applause and showed eagerness to join the union, which already is very strong in southern and southwestern Russia, Siberia, the Caucasus and Turkestan. To-day's meeting was the first step toward organization in this locality.

AFTER LOSING TO BYERS G. S. LYON MADE SPEECH

Toronto Golfer Given Grand Reception by the Gallery—Resume of Play.

New York, July 15.—There was uncertainty as to whether the year's golf champion of the United States was to be a homebred or a Canadian until the last few holes of the thirty-six hole final yesterday at the Englewood Golf Club.

A great gallery made the progress slow, especially in the afternoon, for the shifting of the guide rope, which was the clubmen handled with the view of volunteer firemen, made for delay.

Young Byers, trim in knickerbockers and with a style reminiscent of the prim as soldiers at attention, many of the approach shots were from the apex of a V shaped formation and the putting was in a hollow, but enthusiastic.

But to the onlookers not so keen on the niceties of style as on the results of the play, the how and not the why appealed to them. Lyon had the sympathy of the crowd, and while the Yankee Doodle spirit brought out the younger folks were keenest to cheer for Byers, the Canadian had always a lusty acknowledgment of his telling shots.

BOLSTERED UP BY WHISKEY WINDSOR MAN KILLS WIFE

Windsor, July 15.—His courage bolstered up to the murder point by whiskey, Christopher Spindelman last night shot and killed his wife as she sat on a camp stool in front of their residence. Seven minutes after the bullet crashed through the woman's head she was dead, slain in the sight of four of her children. One of them, Robert, who boarded nearby, and who witnessed the crime, ran to the scene and snatched the revolver away from his frenzied father just as he was about to end his own miserable existence.

Struggling desperately, the two men rolled about the lawn, one battling to overcome his mother's slayer, the other to place the revolver in such a position that he could blow out his brains. Youth triumphed and the murderer was overcome and held until the arrival of Policemen.

Intended to Kill.

"Let me look at her once more," begged Spindelman, as the officer grasped him by the arm to take him to the police station. Believing that the man was sorry for his deed, Maitre, his heart filled with pity for the trembling, blood-stained wretch, led him back to the lawn, where the woman lay dead.

"That is just where I intended to shoot her," said Spindelman, heartlessly. Then he was led away.

The tragedy was the result of a man's life devoted to whiskey and to abuse of the woman he had sworn to love. Neighbors say that most of Spindelman's money was spent in seasons. For his wife and children he provided but poorly. The wife remonstrated many times, but Spindelman was past all reformations. Her remonstrations led to bitter quarrels that grew so in frequency that Robert, the son, left home and boarded with neighbors.

Result of Quarrel.

Yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock the Spindelmans had another quarrel. The husband came home about 3 o'clock intoxicated. Shortly after, he left home, went downtown and purchased a revolver.

At 5 o'clock the husband returned, even more intoxicated. He flourished the revolver in his wife's face, but the brave woman was not cowed. The quarrel continued until after 6 o'clock, when Mrs. Spindelman, convinced that her husband meant to kill her, took three of the children and left the house. Shortly after, she returned and seated herself on a camp chair on the lawn. Revolver flashing in the air and uttering horrible curses, Spindelman sprang from the front door, ran to his wife, and before she had time to flee, fired a bullet into her head. With a moan on her lips, she sank to the ground, where she lay dying, while the struggle took place between her husband and her son.

Spindelman is 57 years of age and his victim was 43. They had been married about 20 years.

ROADMAKING IN ONTARIO SHOWS STEADY IMPROVING

Provincial Reports Issued—Necessity for Capable Commissioners is Impressed.

County road systems, township road management and expenditure, bridge construction, road construction, and town streets are the five divisions into which the tenth annual report of the commissioner of highways, for 1905, has been separated. The second, fourth and fifth of these were published last week, and form a very complete summary of the whole art of road-making and preservation, dealt with from a thoroughly practical standpoint, and embracing the conditions to be met in every part of the province. The laws relating to road-building and all necessary information in connection with the administrative details of such work, besides forms of specifications, plans, and reports, are included. The reports are simply and usefully illustrated, and Commissioner A. W. Campbell has treated his task in a praiseworthy and exhaustive way. Copies may be had from the department of public works, at the parliament buildings.

Use of Improvement.

The number of townships which are adopting modern methods is steadily increasing. This does not imply solely the abandonment of statute labor, but it means rather that an efficient system has been established in its place. In townships where this change has been made, we find, as a rule, a marked improvement in the condition of the roads. Improvements are being made in long stretches, instead of disconnected and unfinished patches. Better gravel is being placed. The use of crushed stone is spreading where good gravel is not to be had. The cost is being cheapened by the use of machinery to grade the roads and prepare the material. Every man employed is required to do a fair day's work. Wagons must hold a fixed amount, and the number of loads to constitute a day's work is specified. Roads are not carelessly crowned and drained. All work is done under a permanent road commissioner, who is responsible for it, and who gains experience from year to year.

Abandonment of statute labor is not urged until adequate measures have been taken for those interested. The new system may be efficiently carried out when adopted. The scarcity of farm labor and the value of time operate to bring along an era of road-making by skilled men with labor-saving machinery.

The management of the highways, says the report, "involves more work and a larger expenditure of money than all the remaining business of the municipality." The necessity for having a capable road commissioner should be obvious. Such a man should be as secure in his office as the average clerk or treasurer, and he should have charge of all road and bridge improvement, and be required to report at the council at each meeting.

Councillors vs. Commissioners.

"It is not best for councillors to act as road commissioners," it is stated. There is a tendency for them to use their office to get votes for the next election, and they cannot be so independent as a commissioner, while they are equally expensive.

Too many pathmasters with their frequent change of office leads to absence of system, and the work is more effort a series of repairs than an effort at durable construction.

It is a fundamental requirement of economical road maintenance that repairs should be made as soon as signs of wear appear. When a rut or depression first appears, it should be filled. When a wagon wheel, after a long wheel, supporting a ton in weight, sinks into a depression on the road, the work of a few minutes when repair is first needed, becomes the work of as many hours when neglected.

It has been found that where statute labor has been commuted for from 50 to 75 cents a day, the funds so created can be expended to much better advantage than if the entire cost of statute labor is worked out in the ordinary manner.

Work of Time.

Systematic work is laid down as the first essential in any scheme of road improvement. Not merely the work of one year, but the work for a period of years, should be considered. Detailed plans should be prepared and faithfully carried out. Such a plan should aim to bring the roads in a municipality up to a fixed standard within a limited term of years, including as far as possible the erection of culverts and bridges. Suggestions made in the report to this end are very valuable, and comprise every practical feature from the preparation of township road maps to a comprehensive set of instructions to road commissioners.

The advantage of wide tires is dwelt upon. Narrow wagon tires are the great destroyers of good roads.

"A narrow tire on an old and heavily loaded wagon can do more damage to a road in one trip to market and back than would pay for a new wagon." Four-inch tires are recommended. They are required in Germany. Seventeen of the United States have wide tires. By the Municipal Act, councils have power to regulate the width of tires, but little has been done in Ontario in this direction.

A schedule of the townships in which statute labor has been abolished shows 125 which have taken this step.

Text Book on Roads.

Part IV of the report, dealing with road construction, is really a text book and manual on the subject written in popular style. The contents indicate the completeness of these 48 pages.

occupied, as they are, with road construction, the road allowance, paving road metal, crowning roads, labor and teams, road drainage, tile drains, road metal, broken stone, gravel, clay roads, grading the roadway, grading machines, the stone crusher, road rollers, roads over swamps, side slopes of cuttings and embankments, hills, location of roads, maintenance, and concrete tile culvert.

Part V deals with town streets, and is equally comprehensive in its instructions for the proper handling of business and residence thoroughfares as it is in its instructions for the purpose. The various classes of pavement are fully described, and their uses and fitness indicated. Sewerage, concrete walks, curbing and gutters, and complete specifications for every class of roadwork are fully treated. One exception may be noted in an otherwise complete production. While cement is dealt with, nothing is said of wooden pavements.

Wood Pavements.

The World found the commissioner of highways admiring a sample of wood pavement in Toronto last week, and he commented on its noiselessness, the readiness with which it may be repaired, its sanitary and non-slipping qualities, and its cheapness.

"The European cities are adopting the hard resinous woods of Australia for their streets," he said. "A good deal has been said against cedar pavement, but pavements with a life of five or ten years are allowed to go without repairs for ten or twenty years, and the material is blamed. You can't have a good pavement without a foundation either. We have millions of acres of Jack-pine up north, hard, durable, resinous—no better paving material to be had, and we ought to employ it more than we do. Of course, it ought to be laid on concrete."

SOBS AS SHE IS MARRIED TIFF POSTPONED CEREMONY

Some Odd Features About Wedding of Leslie Carter to Unknown Thespian.

Portsmouth, N. H., July 14.—There was an interesting proude in the nature of a tiff, to the wedding of Mrs. Leslie Carter and Lou Payne, the actor, yesterday. It was a pretty serious little difference of opinion, for it involved the destruction of the first marriage license. It was on a second license, procured when the cloud passed away, that the marriage was performed.

There was just a little echo of the tiff when the Rev. Mr. Hovey was making the famous actress and the little-known young actor man and wife. Recalling the scene in church to-day, one of the minister's two daughters, who acted as emergency witnesses, was positive the bride was not as happy as a bride should be. Something that sounded suspiciously like a sob under the bride's heavy veil punctuated the ceremony once or twice.

Little Wedding During Ceremony.

Of the minister's daughter "is sure, and her perception is keen, for it was she who recognized the actress through her disguise. Some slight look of equanimity on the part of Mrs. Payne also attracted the attention of the minister's daughter. Exactly what was the nature of the first sennit learned, but it is known that when Mr. Payne called on City Clerk W. H. Moran for the license on Wednesday he gave all the facts necessary, and went away with a license and back to the hotel where Mrs. Carter and her guests were making merry. Yesterday forenoon Mr. Payne again called on Mr. Moran and, calling him aside, told him confidentially that in destroying some papers he had by mistake torn up the marriage license given him the day before, and could the city clerk issue another, as it was a mistake.

License Destroyed in Tiff.

Mr. Moran said: "Why, yes, if you have destroyed the other, I can give you a copy of the original, which will be just as good."

This was done, much to the expressed pleasure of Mr. Payne. Around the hotel, it is said, the first license was destroyed in the presence of Mrs. Carter and her present husband, on his return to the hotel, and that the original intention was to have been married here on last Wednesday. On the way to Portland, they rode together, and peace was declared, so that they decided to go back and have the ceremony performed.

Every possible precaution to maintain secrecy was taken by both Mrs. Payne and her husband, and not even her maid knew that the ceremony had taken place. Mr. Payne did not even enquire of the attendants of the hotel who the ministers were on the way to the city clerk's office, but consulted a city directory, and this in an apparently casual way, and under the guise of doing a short errand, he left the rest of the party and got the license.

Minister a Little Surprised.

Mrs. Carter-Payne maintained the same air of unconcern, and shortly before noon she simply said she would take a short walk down the street, being tired of sitting in the automobile, and, once out of the hotel, she met Mr. Payne, and they sauntered down the steps, and they sauntered off down the street.

Rev. Henry Emerson Hovey, who married the pair, said this morning that he did not know that he had married Mrs. Leslie Carter.

"Oh, why I married Caroline L. Dudley and William L. Payne," he said, "and, altho I have been told that Mrs. Carter and Caroline Dudley are the same, I do not know officially. Would I have married them had I known that it was Mrs. Carter? No; not if I had known she was a divorced woman; but she stated that it was her first marriage, and I had no way of knowing different. They did not ask me to keep the wedding a secret, but I simply made the return to the city clerk's office."

Shock to Belasco.

New York, July 15.—David Belasco, manager of Mrs. Leslie Carter, the actress, received a call on the telephone at 11:30 o'clock Friday night, and when he picked up the receiver was surprised to hear Mrs. Carter's voice.

The actress, who he understood was telephoning from Portsmouth, N. H., asked him to extend her vacation a week, and altho the request was unusual, he replied that he would do so.

A few moments later, when Mr. Belasco was in the act of hanging up the receiver, Mrs. Carter had married in Portsmouth William Louis Payne, a little-known actor, who appeared last season in "Letting Go the Reins." He was stunned. He declared that he could not believe it.

"It was as soon think of the devil's asking for holy water as of Mrs. Carter's taking a husband."

CONDEMNED MAN SUICIDES.

Poison Smuggled to Cell of Chicago Murderer.

Chicago, July 15.—Poison smuggled into the county jail by a woman and taken with suicidal intent is believed to have caused the death of Ralph Le Isle, 28 years old, a prisoner. The man was found dead in his cell early yesterday morning, and the jail authorities are investigating with the belief that he received the poison in a package of fruit and flowers sent by a woman admirer. On Friday Le Isle was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of Abraham Goldberg, a saloon keeper.
