THREE NATIONALISTS ONLYTO LEAVE PARTY ON SCHOOL QUESTION

Lamarche, Sevigny and Guilbeault Represent Counties Which Are Hotbeds of Clericalism and Will Vote for Conscience Rather Than Party-The "Alliance" is Gone

OTTAWA, March 2 .- (Special) .- It is certain now that the Border rnment will have nothing to fear when the debate comes on next week on the Manitoba Boundaries question. The struggles which have occurred between the conflicting parties in the French-Canadian Conservative ranks had their cummination to-day in a protonged caucus headed by the French Conservative ministers, and your correspondent is in the position to state that of the odd twenty French Conservative members present, only three have decided to vote against the bill on account of the absence of a clause dealing with the separate schools. The three members are Messrs. Paul Lamarche, (Nicolet); Sevigny, (Dorchester); and Guilbeault, (Jelleste).

The position of these three members is unique. They represent three counties which are the hotbeds of clericalism. Nicolet County is crammed full of religious houses, containing not only active members of the clergy.

ull of religious houses, containing not only active members of the clergy, foundation is now a matter of concern to the gentlemen who are the surviving trustees of those who have served many years as parish priests and who are now retired. Joliette is in the same position and the bishop of Joliette is one of the most reactionary of all the bishops of Quebec. He is renowned for his many attacks against the Freemasons from his pulpit and warned his hearers against the methods of all secret societies. His attacks at the time drew forth spirited rejoinders from the Protestant clergy of the Province of Quebec and the fact that the member for his district will vote against the government shows that the hand of the church weighs heavily upon him.

Lamarche Gave Pledge.

Mr. Paul Lamarche, the Conservative member for Nicolet, is one of the most popular French members in the house of commons. His views are of the clergy.

the broad type and at the last election he went into a county which he had never visited before and in a few weeks swept it from the Laurier party triumphantly. He is a young lawyer, handsome, clever and a brilliant orator would require a large club house with umphantly. He is a young lawyer, handsome, clever and a brilliant orator in French and in English, and his English conferes in the house understand his position. He gave a pledge at the last election that he would try to do something for the minority of Manitoba. He made this statement at a time when he was condemning the Laurier party for the manner in which they had treated the minority in that province. Mr. Lamarche comes from a good old Conservative family and feels very keenly the fact that he is compelled to vote against his party. But he, it is understood, that if he greatest number, and how to secure stand his position. He gave a pledge at the last election that he would try to do something for the minority of Manitoba. He made this statement at a time when he was condemning the Laurier party for the manner in which they had treated the minority in that province. Mr. Lamarche comes from a good old Conservative family and feels very keenly the fact that he is compelled to vote against his party. But he, it is understood, that if he voted for the bill after he had given his pledge there would be a short and sudden end to his political career. He has been deluged with letters from sure the county for his party. It is purely a matter of conscience with Mr. Lamarche will gain more than he can lose by taking his present stand which has worried him very much like the athletic club at one time on College-st, and the only fault of which was that perhaps it came too soon; but now with Toronto's population and the increased love for outdoor life and the need of healthful recreation and the linerseased love for outdoor life and the need of healthful recreation and the linerseased love for outdoor life and the need of healthful recreation and the linerseased love for outdoor life and the need of healthful recreation and the linerseased love for outdoor life and the need of healthful recreation and the linerseased love for outdoor life and the need of healthful recreation and the linerseased love for outdoor life and the need of healthful recreation and the linerseased love for outdoor life and the need of healthful recreation and the linerseased love for outdoor life and the need of healthful recreation and the linerseased love for outdoor life and the need of healthful recreation and the line

There has been a steady in-

The taunts of the Liberal party as to an alliance between Mr. Borden and Mr. Bourassa are now for ever set at rest by the determined attitude taken by the French members of the cabinet on the occasion of the visit of Mr. Armand Lavergne here last week. Sent to Otlawa as the accredited representative of the Nationalist party, Mr. Lavergne at first cajoled, then argued, and finally stormed at Messrs. Pelletier, Monk and Nantel. The postmaster-general and Nantel. The postmaster-general plainly stated that he did not think it justice that there should be a separate clause inserted in the bill for separate schools.

Fuming at the attitude taken by the French Conservative ministers, Mr. Lavergne went back to Quebec, and there delivered himself of a diatribe against. Mr. Pelletier, and made the covert threat that he would bill him politically at the next election in Quebec County. It is no secret that Mr. Pelletier has incurred the odium of the Nationalist and clerical party in Quebec on the brave attitude he has taken. The same applies to Hon. Mr. Nantel. Mr. Monk represents a strong English same applies to Hon. Mr. Nantel. Mr. Monk represents a strong English county in Jacques Cartier, in Montreal, and had nothing to fear from the Nationalist party.

Borden Position Strong.

As the situation now stands the Borden Government is in a stronger position than Laurier ever held at the heyday of his power. With an united Ontario on the Manitoba question, and the Quebec members almost to a man at his back when a vote will be taken on the question, it will be found that the premier will have turned what was at first alleged a nasty corner in a masat first alleged a nasty corner in a masterly fashion. The opposition is itself split on the question, and Laurier will not be in the position to ring any change out of the Conservatives, and on a division he will be found to be a hopeless minority.

The next move of the Bourassa party is awaited with interest by the politicians of Quebec. It is thought in some quarters that Laurier may snatch at the Nationalist straw to come back to power on a some future date. Both Bourassa and Lavergne have stated time and again on platforms at the last election that they were still Liberals and always would be Liberals of the proper school. It may be that Laurier repentant for his misdeeds, and having done penance at the Bourassa shrine by losing the premiership, will take him again under his wing and endeavor to march to victory in his company.

Devoir Flays Borden.

One thing at least is certain, that during the past week the Devoir, the organ of Bourassa, has flayed the Borden government right and left for the attitude, which it is about to take upon the Manitoba question. These attacks have increased in violence during the past two days, and last night the Bourassa organ had an article contracting the rights of the minority to those of the Hudson Bay Company on the ter-ritory recently annexed. The conclusion of the editorial runs as thus: "Let no one deceived. The importance of the question is not to be measured by the amount by the population residing actually in Keewatin, or not even of the number, which will live there in fifty or a hundred years. It is a question of knowing if the minority, which pays all its taxes, has in our country the same rights as the majority. or if there exists amongst us a race amenable to justice and mercy." The bill will be taken up on Mon-day, and the debate is awaited with keen interest by all parties, and with calm confidence by the government.

"Some of the increased value of land should come back to the community," declared Controller-Hocken. "The proposition requires a good deal of care, and there must be methods adopted to educate the people. We know that a general law might affect one community harder than another. But we know that the matter must be dealt with according to conditions here in Ontario, and not as they are in British Columbia or in England."

"We feel that this tax reform would be very beneficial to the country." said Alfred Guerrero of the Hamilton Trades and Labor Council.

"There is a spectre of poverty in every community, no matter how prosperous it may seem. The hovel is apparent and the slums are in evidence.

The announcement of Col. Roosevelt that he will "accept" the nomination for president if tendered him is in no way surprising. For more than a month past the colonel has been just as much of a candidate as he would have been if his banner had been thrown to the breeze, and his formal acceptance has simply been held back to await the "psychological moment." The Gazette Times premises what it has to say shout his candidacy by the amphatic statement that if the Republican national convention nominates Col. Roosevelt for the presidency, it will extend to him the same loyal and hearty support which President Taft will receive if he should be renominated, and it expects the chief supporters of the colonel to offer the same assurance of acquiescence in the action of the convention, even if it is not in accordance with their wishes. It awaits their answer to this challenge.

Five Yeggmen Discovered on Royal Bank's Premises Show Fight-Four Escape on Snowshoes But Leave One Man Dead.

MONTREAL, Mar. 2—One burglar is dead as a result of a desperate fight between five yeggmen, who had tried to break into the safe of the Royal Bank's branch at Montreal West, and members of the vigilance committee of the town.

The body of the dead man was deposited in the Montreal morgue. It was carefully examined by the police, but mething that would lead to identification was discovered.

In the pockets were 30 cartridges, a looking-glass with a girl's photograph on the back, and a comb, but no papers.

Chief Carpenter of the local detective force thinks the theire were young at the game, as they were not supplied with very up-to-date safe-blowing appliances.

Attention was drawn to the yeggmen by the notice they made grinding a hole in the safe in which to place entrogyicerine. A watchman at the Montreal West station of the Canadian Pacific Rallway heard the noise, the bank's branch only being across the bank's branch only being across the street. He then cailed up the chief of the vigilance committee of the town, J. Kirkpatrick.

A son of, the chief, E. Kirkpatrick im up, a crowd of citizens began to looke the first to reach the scene. With revolver in hand, he approached the bank and called upon the guard to surrender.

VOTE FOR CHURCH UNION IS STRONG IN WEST

Principal Opposition Comes From Ontarle-How Churches Line Up.

A leading authority in Presbyterian Church circles says that the vote for church union is going much along the same lines as reciprocity did. The western and Maritime Provinces being in favor, while the most opposition is coming from the larger Ontario cities. As far as can be ascertained the voting of 37 congregations is in favor while 18 are opposed.

The Presbyterian churches at Campbellton, N.B., Pine River, Innerkip, Knox Church, Kincardine, Valleyfield, and White Church, Caledon, are re-cent voters in favor of amalgamation. The Methodist Church at Valleyfield is unanimous.

In Lethbridge, Alberta, it is favored by both Presbyterian and Methodist churches thruout the city.

Knox Church, Acton, voted. 128 against, with 45 for. Blythe Presbyterian voted 238 against, with 45 in favor, and St. Andrew's Presbyterian, Wingham, cast a vote of 259 in opposition, and 90 in favor.

PUBLIC TO BE EXCLUDED FROM BLAKE FUNERAL

Service Will Be Private-Public Bodies Will Pass Reselutions of Regret.

By his own expressed desire, the funeral of the late Hon. Edward Blake will be quite private and absolutely unostentatious. Befitting the really great character of the man, the last ceremonies will have the dignity of entire simplicity. Only members of the family will attend the service. The remans will be laid in the family vault in St. James' Cemetery. The city, the legislature and the Law Society will therefore not be represented; tho the legislature, the city council and the judges at Osgoode Hall will probably pass resolutions of regret and make suitable references to Mr. Blake's death.

Amicus Lodge, K. of P., Entertain. On Thursday evening in their Castle Hall, at Berti and Richmond-streets, Hall, at Berti and Richmond-streets, Amicus Lodge No. 20, Knights of Pythias, had the pleasure of entertaining one of the most noted Pythians in America. The occasion was the initiation of a large class in the pagerank, the guests of the evening being Prof. Brig. S. Young of Ada, Ohio, suppress requester the angles of the professor Prof. Brig. S. Young of Ada, Ohio, supreme representative and late professor of chemistry at the Northern University, and about 70 members of Bismarck Lodge, No. 31. Hamilton, Ont.

The rank of page was confirmed in tableaux form by the Hamilton, team, and Manager Alf. Wilkes received unstinted praise from those present for the beautiful work they exemplified. About three hundred knights sat down to a banquet in the lodge room at the close of the lodge convention. Past Chancellor Jas. G. Wilson of Amicus, presided, and he was supported at the head table by Sup. Rep. Brig. S. Young of Ada, Ohio; Sup. Mat. A., E. A. Horton of St. Thomas; Past Sup. Rep. W. C. Macdonald. Torontb; G.K.R.S. Alex Coulter, Toronto, P.G.C. Hubert, Brantford; P.G.C. Jess Chapman, Hamilton, and others. At the conclusion of the banquet, speeches and songs followed, the song sheet parodies on "What's the Matter With Bismarck," and "Three Cheers for Old Amicus,' making a special hit. The address of Supreme Representative Young followed, and as he fold of the practical fraternal work being done in various portions of the supreme domain, and the orphan's homes that had been founded, the 250 orphans in their home at Springfield, Ohio, the widows and orphans who were being assisted in keeping their homes to-sether, all present felt that it was an honor and a privilege to belong to such an institution; 8000 subordinate lodges and 800,000 members was the record of their 48 years of existence, and one milan institution; 8000 subordinate lodges and 800,000 members was the record of their 48 years of existence, and one mil-lion members in 1914, which will be the fiftleth anniversary, was what they were aiming at. He was greeted with three cheers and a tiger in carrying out a vote of thanks, moved by Sup. Rep. Macdonald and G.K.R.S. Coulter. Prof. Brazil's orchestra supplied the music during the evening.

Making Men as Well as Biscuits. It is a fine business to be making a pure, clean, wholesome food. It is even pure clean, wholesome food. It is even finer to be making clean-minded, self-respecting men and women, and this sentiment is finding expression in the formation of organizations to improve conditions which surround factory employes, and to establish more wholesome social relations between employes themselves. The Shredded Wheat Company may be said to be a pioneer in that kind of welfare work. Without being offensive or paternalistic, the company has achieved a world-wide reputation has achieved a world-wide reputation for helping employes to higher moral and intellectual standards in such a way as to enlist their friendly co-operation without the standards in such a standard standards. tion without infringing upon their per-sonal rights. That the company's work has reached a most successful consummation was fully evidenced by the de-lightful entertainment recently given the employes of the Shredded Wheat ompany in the auditorium at Niagara Falls. The program of a most varied character, was carried out without a hitch, and included a demonstration by the Shredded Wheat Company's Red Cross Emergency Corps, a number of vocal and instrumental items, and choruses by the company's choral society. and several well executed dances in costume. Luncheon was served by members of the chafing dish and cook-ery classes. The good understanding which exists between this company and its employes cannot fail to add to the success of their business. Many of our large manufacturing concerns can do much worse than copy the methods of the Shredded Wheat Company.

Saloon-fighting Pastor's House Burned Just After He is Arrested For Perjury. FORT WORTH, Tex., March 2 .-

$1,000. Within two months Mr. Norris has reported two attempts to assassinate him. The last, he said, occurred Tuesday night, when he says he was attacked by a man with a pistol. On the night of Jan. 14, the First Baptist Church was destroyed by fire. Rewards aggregating $6000 have been offered for the arrest of the incendiary, but no arrests have been made.

A few hours after Rev. J. Frank Norris, pastor of the First Baptist Church had been indicted on the charge of perjury, his home burned down last night. It came as a mysterious sequel to an equally mysterious chain of events in which the saloon-fighting Baptist minister has figured. The most startling development came last night, when, accused of perjury, Norris was charged with having written letters to himself, in which he was threatened with death if he did not leave town. Norris first attracted attention here by campaigns for enforcement of prohibition laws. Then Norris declared an attempt had been made to assassinate him. This was followed by the destruction of the First Baptist Church by fire.

Norris reported a second attempt had been made on his life after this, and he traveled with a bodyguard. Then he exhibited the warning letters which last night, the grand jury, declared Norris wrote himself. Norris' charges attracted a great deal of attention to his church work. Tuesday night, when he says he was

HELLO GIRLS MAY

Agitation in Toronto Exchanges Rapidly Spreading-Hours Too Long Also.

There is an agitation rapidly spreading in the ranks of the Toronto telephone girls, to ask the Bell Company for more pay and shorter hours. The older operators are attempting to induce the young girls to fall in line, and petition the management during the next six weeks. Nine hours a start the petition the management during the next six weeks. Nine hours a stretch is the present working day of some of the "Centrals," while the night operators are on duty from 10 p.m. until 7 s.m., with a short time off for rest. The minimum salary is 35.75, and this is increased every six months by 50 cents ontil the 335 s month limit is reached. The company has attempted to alleviate the strein under which the girls work, by building recreation rooms and refreshment booths at the various exchanges. The question of hours, as settled by the government commission, has proven satisfactory up till the present, but the operators have twice as much work to do, even if there are not any more phones in use than formerly. These phones are used a great deal more by the subscribers.

It is thought that the starting or minimum wages are too low, in view of the cost of living, and the girls think that the company can afford to pay more.

Board Will Kill The Exhibition

Dr. Orr Says They'll Press for Passing occasional shots continued to be heard, of Bill This Year.

"They will kill the exhibition if they keep it up," said Dr. Orr, manager of the Canadian National Exhibition, in referring to the opposition of the board of control, which is holding up the exhibition bill for one year. The management wants power to control the fakirs, stall-keepers, etc., outside the gates, and also a law enacted incorporating the fair's recent name, which has been in existence for years, as another organization is intending to adopt the title. Dr. Orr couldn't understand what reason the council had for kitting the exhibition directors. Despite the council's action, he said, the directors would press the matter, especially the two seemingly objectionable clauses, to men higher up for enactment this year, as it was most urgent.

MOTION PICTURES

MANNOUNCEMENT M

The Garden Theatre is the acknowledged high-class motion picture nent in and around Toronto and by many visitors to the city. For some ime past it has been next to impossible to accommodate the throngs who have applied for admitttance and many times so great was the crowd that it was necessary for the sergeant of police to send for a reinforcement in order to handle the multitude. A crowd is a crowd no matter where it congregates, and due to the crush of those trying o gain admittance to the Garden Theatre at various times, all sorts of protests, arguments and ideas have been voiced to the manager, both by ing about one hour and forty-five minutes, and from what has been said makes the ideal motion picture show.

We now propose to present the most finished motion picture exhibition on the continent in such a way that patrons can enjoy same with comfort. Changes will be made which will cost the management many dollars more per week than is now expended, which naturally necessitates an increased fee of admission.

He kept "s going at full steam that week. On Saturaay, as we were closting up, he was so friendly and decent that I ventured to remark that his health seemed better than it had been and asked him if he had been going in for physical training, He stopped what he was doing and said: "Say, Charlie, I am going to tell you something"—then hesitated—"No, I will do better than that, I will give you something to read over Sunday." He dug down among some papers on his desk and handed me a little paper-covered book. On the title page I read—"Why men of To-Day is Only Fifty Per Cent. Efficient."

Men of To-Day is Only Fifty Per Cent.

Efficient."

I took that little book home and read in it was about the benefits of the internal bath. I might have been skeptical and have throught it was just another scheme to make money at the expense of the unwary; but I had constantly in mind the change in the Chief.—if it had made a new man of him there must be something in it.

The result was that I sent for one of the J. B. L. Cascades that it told about. The book was perfectly straight forward and I understood perfectly that the virtue lay in the cleanliness produced by pure, warm water, the Cascade being the appliance by which the cleansing process could be made convenient and effective.

That was some weeks ago—I honestly believe that my capacity for work and for play too, had just about doubled. One evidence of it is that the Chief has raised by salary. The increase for one week more than pays for the J.B.L. Cascade—I consider that a presty good investment. It is not only the increase in my earning power and capacity for work that counts. The greet big advantage to my mind is the pleasure I get out of life. I not only work better, but I eat better, sleep better, play better, and get so much more fun out of everything that my friends semetimes tell me I act like an overgrown boy. I guess they are right—I know I feel like one.

By the way, Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell, 275. Chief was a bout done in the constant of the mind the consumption.

California Girl Makes Decided Hit

As Annimirl in "The Spring Maid," Miss Ann Tasker Scores a Complete Triumph.

The California girl, Miss Ann Tasker, who taken the role of Annimiri, the Spring Maid" in the delightful Viennese operetta of that name, and which played to crowded houses at the Princess Theatre during the week just passed, divided the honors with the star of the play, Miss Christie Mac-Donald, in point of favor with the patrons of the Princess during the engagement here, and rightly so, as it is hardly possible to imagine a better interpretation of the role than was given by the girl from over the Rockies.

Miss Tasker is one of the most charming of young ladies and has the happy faculty of getting on close terms of friendship with her audiences right at the start and this is not surprising as her acting is natural—not forced. In fact, she is as jolly off the stage as when she appears before the footlights doing one of her graceful dances. The rise of this young lady in musical comedy has been meteoric. Just three short years ago she was a school-girl in San Francisco, and as site had a fondness for the stage, her parents let her follow her inclinations and she joined a stock company at the American Theatre in Frisco under the direction of Paul Steindorff. She came east in 1910 and was with a stock company in St. Louis, when her histrionic ability attracted the attention of the New York managers, Klaw & Erlanger, who engaged her for a prominent part in the "Silver Star," a musical comedy in which Mme. Genee, the famous dancer, was the star.

Like most noted artists, Miss Tasker has a hobby. Here is fire brigade herses. She has a soft spot in her heart for the noble animals that have to rush cut at all hours of the day and hight in response to the flag and there is hardly a city where she ever played that she did not interest herself in the fire horses.

The Sunday World man had, the pleasure of accompanying her to the Adelaide-street Fire Station Friday afternoon and was agreeable surprised at the young lady's intimate knowledge of horses. She just loves them, and like Mary's lamb, the horses seem to love her in return. And why not? Last season she went to the coast with the Western "Madame Sherry" Company, taking the part of Lulu and was given a royal reception by her many friends on the Golden Slope.

The company played three weeks in San Francisco and in all the leading cities of California where the native sons and daughters were extravagant with their praise of the young lady who had left the state but three short years before, practically unknown and had come back to them a headliner, Early in the present season Miss Tasker was with the original "Madame Sherry" Company playing Yvonne Sherry" Company playing Yvonne Sherry, the convent girl, during the absence of Mme. St. Andrew's Church, King-street, was decorated with palms, ferns and Easter Illies, the Rev. T. Crawford Brown performing the ceremony and Dr. Norman Allen playing the wedding music. Mr. J. Ernest Wright gave away the slender young bride who looked charming in her wedding gown of cream-bordered charameuse draped with a beautiful scarf of old Italian lace, which had belonged to her mother. The gown was embroidered with rhinstones and caught with sprays of orange blossoms, the same flowers holding the lace to her golden hair. She carried a shower of illies and orchids and wore a diamond and pearl pendent, her gift from the groom. The attendants were Miss Frances Macdonald, maid of honor, and Miss Alice Strachan Johnston, flower girl, Mr. Douglas Wright, best man, and Mr. Hugh Barwick and Mr. C. Alexander Hamilton, ushers. The maid of honor wore pale grey satinveiled with snoke grey, pale pink and grey hat with roses and carried pink roses, her present from the groom being a bar pin set with pearls and peridots. He gave the same to the little girl who was in a French lingerie frock over pink, pink and white hat and pink roses. On every hand we see wealthy people and others comfortably situated who have made money in land-who bought when values were low.

Welland Land is Low Now.

But watch the values grow. Five years ago Welland was a village of 1,700. Now it has over 8,000 people. Investigate and see for yourself the activities that are going to make Welland a big city.

Get our maps and booklets about Welland. Take the train over and see the way things are moving.

See the natural advantages of the place-cheap power-lake and rail shipping to attract factories. You will see that factories employing thousands of men now occupy what was farm land a few short years ago.

You will see that new factories are projected—that sites have been secured, and that there is no land near the factory districts as suitable or as convenient for homes as the land we offer. You will agree that the land we hold

SMALLPOX IN GRAND VALLEY

Twelve Victims in Eight Houses and None Had Ever Been Vaccinated,

Provincial Inspector Bell returned Friday night from Grand Valley, where he found 12 cases of smallpox in eight ouses. The cases are of the "discreet" ype, several of them quite severe.

Not one of the patients had ever been ccinated. There is considerable alarm in the town and vaccination is general.

CHICAGO, March 2.—A man believed to be George A. Joyce, a merchant of Woodstock, was found dead in a bath tub in a downtown hotel here to day. Heart disease is believed to have been the cause.

Upward Movement in Prices Carried Further at Week End-Corn

President Sir Thomas Shaughnessy's expectation that Canadian Pacific's gross earnings in the current operating year will show an average monthly increase of between $1,000,000 and $1,... 200,000 seems in a fair way of being realized. Thus far, after seven months and two weeks of operations, gross carnings, totaling roughly $74,000,000, have shown an average monthly increase of $1,297,466.

Canadian Pacific's weekly gross as reported for the first six weeks of the calendar year is as follows:

Week's trading the Chicago Exchange has known in a long time. May wheat finished half a cent higher than last night, July was up %c, and Sept. the same as May. Corn and oats followed the example established, and closed at greater or less gains, with the most pronounced bulge in corn, which scored a full cent apprecation. Provisions were also higher, with pork up 40 points all round in average with pork and provided the close of one of the most product of the chicago Exchange has known in a long time. the cardinal elements of commerce.

Ungava Exploration Co.

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer minima and any experiment of the contract o schooler of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid, and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored, country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

eries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Com-

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal-all

although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

FIRST .- It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich

SECOND .- We believe we will be the first expedition to reach the Eldorado,

THIRD.—Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH.—There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

Steel Earnings Show Up Better

Fased upon operations and prices since January 1 the net earnings of the United States Steel Corporation for the current quarter are likely to run between $25,000,000 and $27,000,000, an increase of approximately $3,000,000 compared with the results in the final quarter of 1911. Production has been increasing steadily since the first of the year and this will have more to do with enlarging the income of the corporation than better prices for steel delivered to consumers.

On the tonnage already on the books of the Steel Corporation and the outlook up to the latter part of the spring morths the Steel Corporation will more than earn its regular dividends in the current year. Even if production does fall off in the second and third quarters earnings will show no pronounced falling off compared with the first quarter of this year as the opening of navigation on the lakes will add largely to earning power thru the transportation of ore. Besides, steel prices are higher than they were in the latter part of last year which should enlarge the margin of profit per ton of steel produced.

Earnings of $26,000,000 in the current quarter would compare with results in the corresponding quarter of preceding years as follows:

for March 12, the McNamara Brothers are passing their days in a prison de luxe.

The San Quentin prison in which the confessed dynamiters are incarcerated is universally known as the "Criminal Paradise" and compares very favorably with a summer resort, or country residence.

The prisons dather common the prison.

This criminal paradise is officially designated the California State Prison. It is maintained by California. The federal government sends prisoners there, but it pays the State of California for their maintenance. The prison is situated at San Quentin, which pro-with a summer resort, or country residence.

The prisoners' cells are carpeted, and the occupants have access to a library; granted the right to play baseball, swim, engage in athletics, to prominade and smoke.

In this prison de luxe the inmates are confined in the cells for eleven hours each day, the rest of the time they are working at their allotted tasks, L.e., making jute bags in the factory, or fellowing the exercises permitted.

Hard work Unknown.

Hard work is unknown in this institution. The prisoners, numbering 1.800, including the McNamaras, are obliged to make so many jute bags be-

John Hoyle, the warden, regards the prisoners as the unfortunates of society, and treats them consequently in the most humane fashion. The men never try to escape, they are never late in responding to the beil in the evening, and they obey the rules with a remarkable degree of willingness.

William P. Sheridan, for 20 years the head of the identification bureau in police headquarters in New York, who recently visited at San Quentin, met "Billy" Barret there. Barret has an international reputation as a "bank sneak." He is serving five years for stealing a bag of gold from a bank in California. When he went into the prison he weighed 250 poinds. When Sheridan saw him he was not more than 180, rosy cheeked, athletic and in prime condition.

Edith Helena, the prima donna of the Aborn Opera Co., gives two favorite grand opera airs from Trovatore and Lucia. Lucy Marsh sings the charming "Maids of Cadiz" which is full of the exhilarating rhythm of the Spanish dance. Al Jolson, the famous comedian of the New York Winter Garden, sings two irresistibly funny selections, "Rum Tum Tiddle" and "That Haunting Melody." Walter Van Brunt sings a pair of new popular sentimental ballads, "The Harbor of Love" and "Bless Your Ever Lovin' Little Heart:" Harvey Hindermeyer renders an entertaining little Irish song; and the American Quartet give an eccentric thriller, "The Skeleton Rag" and a melodious song about "Moonlight Bay."

The day of Universal Peace should certainly be brought nearer by the rousing international medley sung by the Victor Mixed Chorus, for it is a superbrendition of a masterly arrangement of noble patriotic airs. The old-time "Estudiantina Waltz" is exceptionally pleasing in its vocal form as sung by the Lyric Quartet. Richard Croker, retired boss of Tammany Hall, New York, where the case is being heard.

Miss Maude Diehl, a Toronto telephone girl, has been cited by Mys. Breen as the co-respondent, and it is alleged that Breen misconducted himself in the Grand Union Hotel of this city on the night of Sept. 5 last.

Miss Diehl, a plump brunette, of 22 summers, is very indignant that such a "slight fiirtation" should have such serious consequences, and has gone to New York to voluntarily testify that the charge against the Peterboro horseman is false.

She admits, however, that she did accompany Breen to his room on one occasion, and she even went so far as to give him "just one kiss," but for all graver charges there is an emphatic denial, which was the sum total of her evidence until the cross-examination of Francis L. Welman, a noted New York lawyer and author of "The Art of Cross-Examination."

Picked Up Acquaintance.

Under the guidance of Breen's counsel, W. M. K. "Put everyone out of this court-room but the jurors and witnesses," Justice Goff directed a court officer.

When the court-room had been cleared Mr. Welman said that he had meant to ask what kind of gin was usedin-the rickey mixture. Miss Diehl said she understood aloe gin was the usual kind.

Mr. Welman read from an affidavit that Miss Diehl signed two or three days after the raid on the room in which she and Breen were discovered together. "'He hugged and kissed me,'" he read. "Is that so?"

Then the Detectives.

"No, not exactly," Miss Dieni replied.

"He only put his arm around my walst and kissed me once. I got right waist and kissed me once. I got right up from where we were sitting and sat down in a rocking chair. Then came a knock at the door of Breen's room. I said to Mr. Breen that someone was knocking. He said nothing, and then the knock came again. He got up then, opened the door and in walked two detectives.

These detectives, Stanley P. Gorma and Aug. P. Duryes of New York, told of having shadowed Breen from Aug. 8 last until Sept. 5. On Sept. 5, they said, they saw Breen and Miss Diehl go to the former's room in the Grand Union Hotel, Toronto, and later they entered the room under pretence that they had a telegram to deliver. Breen threw up his hands and said, "Well, it's all up now," the detectives declared.

Later, according to the testimony of Joseph Lockrie and his wife, Breen came into their room in the hotel and told about the raid. He denied that he had been guilty of any wrongdoing, but said he felt blue because he thought he had lost his chance to get some money out of the Crokers.

Mrs. Lockrie testified; 'Breen said to me, 'T've been caught with the guard to me the said to me the sai Breen's Marriage. Breen's acquaintance with the former Miss Croker came about when he was an employe of Durland's Riding Academy and Miss Croker was a devotes of the bridle park in Central Park. Every morning she cantered round the park on her pony, and Breen was often near her side to lend a helping hand in managing the steed.

Breen went to his home and his bride to the home of her brother.

When news of the wedding leaked out Mr. and Mrs. Breen denied emphatically that there was any truth in the samouncement. Finally Mrs. Breen seiled to Paris to join her mother and her married sister. Breen, comprehending that he was not to be admitted to the family circle, admitted the marriage and declared that his bride's mother was responsible for keeping them ther was responsible for keeping them apart. ## Building Sale

It is pretty good evidence that the people of this city have confidence in Burroughes' values and appreciate Burroughes' Easy-Way-to-Pay Plan of furnishing happy homes when this business has outgrown its home three times in five years.

We have decided that it is better to reduce the prices of stocks and sell them to you than to run the risk of having them scratched or damaged through moving from one warehouse to another. Hence this sale and these extraordinary values.

RDAY'S RESL

38,000 Square Feet to Be Added to Burroughes'

This month will be given to selling entire stock in warehouse at 585 and Queen West.

During the month of March we intend, if possible, to dispose of an enormous quantity of Furniture to avoid having to move it from our warehouse at 585-591 Queen Street West to the new Annex which is being erected immediately in the rear of our Store at the Corner of Queen and Bathurst Streets. We have decided to do this rather than run the risk of having anything damaged or scratched through handling and re-handling. As well as the stock that is in this warehouse, we have also placed on sale the Furniture that is now on the top floor of our Main Store. We realize that it is a stupendous task to dispose of all this stock in so short a time, but we believe that the extremely low prices we have marked on everything will accomplish it.

As you can see by the array of bargains offered for next week, almost everything in Home Furnishings comes under the price-cutting. Whatever you require, it is decidedly advisable for you to buy this month. No extra charge will be made for credit on any of the advertised goods, and we will still fill mail orders 100 miles from Toronto.

Business League — What the Bowlers Are Doing.

The sensation of the past week on the Toronto Bowling Club alleys has been the rolling in the Fivepin League with all the top notchers going down to defeat is the top notchers going down to defeat in either three straight or two out of three either three straight or two out of three games, thereby tying up the seven out of the eight teams, which compose the league, in such a way that it would be hard now to pick out a winner with a pair of field glasses. First it was the Millionaires to taste the bitter pangs of defeat, then the Stanleys, who were touted as world-beaters, but who were easy prey for the Senators in two out of their three struggles, while the All Stars put themselves in the running for the top of the heap only after one of the toughest tights of the week, against Neophytes, who succumbed in two out of three games.

In the Printers' League we present the final standing of the second series with Toronto Typesetting Co., as stated before, returned the winners. This series was the hardest fought in some seasons in Toronto's oldest tenpin league, and while a couple of the bottom teams had apparently to carry the burden in both series, still they promise a reversal of form in the final and third series, which has already started, and we are pleased to record that The Star, who were consistent losers all season, have taken the built by the horns and during the pass week put over a three-game win from the strong MacLean Publishing Co. outfit, while in the only other contest rolled Carswell Printing Co. made Saturday Night extend themselves to win two out of three games. It will, therefore, be seen that the Printers' League offers some food for thought amongst those teams figuring on the winning of the third and final series and then the ultimate championship to be rolled off at the conclusion of the present series.

AFTER THE CUP.

Toronto hockey fans know every man on the team and it is not necessary to go into details and give each man's record. The reinstatement of "Dutchy" Richardson by the A.A.U. of C. will strengthen up the champions, and there is a probability that he will replace Mathews at the right wing position. Winnipeg Victorias consider Eatons the team to beat and will spare no effort to be in the best of shape when they meet the Toronto septet.

Tommy Connelly, the American League umpire, declares Heinie Wagner of the Boston club is one of the best infielders in the game at putting the ball on the runner. Connelly should watch Hans Wagner of the Pirates performing at this kind of work. It is doubtful if the big Dutchman has an equal in the National League at getting the ball out of the dirt and putting it on the runner. Many a time he has saved Gibson and other Pirate catchers bad throws thru his ability to get the ball and with the same motion place it on the runner. The Fireside Club has held office for he last six months and many long and stormy sessions have been held by this well-known and long-establish-by this well-known and long-established organization, that has branches in every city and town which boasts of a population of over ten.

The Firesides have discussed the same from all angles and have decided on the averages of every player who is to draw a salary in 1912 and have awarded the different pennants.

This club has indeed had a very successful season and has decided to retire in favor of the Real Facts Association, which has been reorganized and will take over the reins of office on March 16, 1912.

The local branch of the Real Facts has been quietly getting ready for a banner season and has been in communication with Joseph J. Kelley, as smiling gentleman who makes his home in Baltimore. Mr. Kelley has assured the new office holders that he will give them the real line on the players and the pennant awarding just as soon as his dear and respected friends of the Fireside die a natural death.

Joseph J. has written that he will move further south and that he will take up residence at Macon, Georgil. from where he will send out bulletins each day, and promises to give nothing but first-hand information to the Real Facts.

It has been rumored that Mr. Kelley

NOT FOREVER.

Champions don't last for ever; they can't prevent the natural decay, and this should be a warning to Jack Johnson. The big black has not been in the ring since he took the championship from Jim Jeffries at Reno. He is getting old and the idleness is not improving his effectiveness as a fighter.

because he loves it, the best manager in the world cannot make a good player out of him. I'd rather have a team of second-raters who hurried than a team of stars who played for the first and fifteenth of each month," says Bresnahan.

Roger sort of disproved his own assertion last season when he took an aggregation scheduled for pretty well down in the running and held it close to the first division all year. When Roger himself quit playing the Cardinals cracked, which goes to show that there is more in the personality and presence of the manager than most folks admit.

DOESN'T TAKE LONG.

It does not take long for a bell player to lose his reputation. Jack Murray of the Giants did as much as any member of that feam to win the pennant and yet because he fell down in the world's series, in which he did not get a single hit, he was marked for exit from the big league. Fortunately for the Giants and Murray, John McGraw is too wise a manager to allow himself to be influenced by public clamor, and Murray is assured of his job, and the chances are he will make good. Mcgraw has a lot of patience with a ball player who shows his ability. He carried Fred Merkle along for years and finally developed him into a splendid ball player, and it took him three years to make Rube Marquard a star pitcher. Realizing that good ball players are scarce, McGraw hangs on to those players who give evidence of ability, even the they have periods during which they look like bushers.

It is expected that the senior basketball league will be organized this week, all senior players are requested to hand in their names at once. The junior leagues are hard at it working for the championship in each grade.

There will be another great game on the West End floor on Tuesday night, when the fast Hamilton Tigers will meet the senior team. This game will be a good drawing card and should be witnessed by a record crowd of spectators.

W. J. Caulter is now leading M. Wifton for the all-round championship in the senior weekly handicap athletic events. The events for the coming week will be shot put and 220 yards potate ace.

Bill Sweeney Wants Some More Long Green

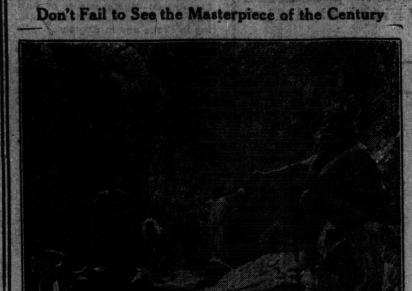

BOSTON, March 2.—Bill Sweeney, of he Boston Club, is a "hold-out." Sweeney has not yet signed a contract, as there is a serious difference between the club and the player as to salary. Bill was very much disappointed when he failed to land the Cincinnati managerial berth, as he figured that Cincinnati would hand the job to an active young player. Instead they picked Henry O'-Day for the place.

Lajoie was the first one to have the prefix "ex" placed before manager, McGuire followed Larry and Stovall brought up the rear. All three of these men drew big salaries from the Cleveland club-last year. Davis signed to manage the Naps late in October.

So there is to be no more harness racing at the exhibition. It will perhaps be reambered that one before an effort was made to abolish the "trials for speed" and the running section was abandoned and kept about the harness events were reestablished. Why no More Harness Racing
That horses can best be judged in action few people will dispute. At one time we even had walking contests between draught horses and very interesting they were too. Now they are not known, altho quickness of movement and grace of carriage are recommendations in many people's eyes even as re-generous yet, running up to seven or eight thousand. Special attention will be paid to such features as are the most attractive in the eyes of the public, such as the jumping and military classes, but the conditions of the carriage division will be found improved in several respects. Messrs, J. J. Dixon and H. C. Cox are traveling in foreign lands and their absence is very much feit, placing as it does more work upon the shoulders of the Master, Geo. W. Beardmore, and the chairman of committees, Hume Blake, and others who are always in line. There need not, however, be any apprehension that anything will be neglected. On the contrary several features introduced at the big Olympic show in London will have their counterpart in the function at the armories. The hunt and military team saddle events that proved so attractive at the last show will be more elaborate than ever. Hence there is good reason to look forward to the most successful, most interesting and most diversified show Toronto has had. As Montreal and Ottawa follow immediately afterwards owners of show horses, both saddle and carriage, have every reason to be getting busy.

opposed to suffrage ponder over it, and ask themselves how they would like to live under such conditions to-day. The only reason that these conditions have been altered, is due to the untiring efforts of just a few women and these women have formed the backbone of the suffrage movement.

To-day each civilized country has many women of rare ability and special braining, who are giving their time and talents in the home stretch race for the emancipation of their sex. This is why we will specialize on a few names, even the hundreds of others may deserve credit and praise.

First Streak of Dawn.

A faint streak of daylight dawned for women's suffrage when Mary Woolsencraft, in England, dared protest against the unjust position her sex were compelled to occupy. Men, as well as women, were the victims of unjust laws and the tyranny of privileged or dominating or conquering classes. Rebellion had been stewing and brooding in the human heart for centuries. Americ had rebelled against kingly authority, and at last it looked as the freedom had dawned for a portion of mankind.

The mills of the gods grind slowly, for lo, those free Americans held African slaves, and into the civil struggle to emancipate them, came women as well as men. And at the great World's Anti-Slavery Convention held in London in 1840, the first match was struck that lighted the fire which has raged with such persistent velocity ever since. The World's Anti-Slavery Convention was called to meet which has raged with such persistent velocity ever since. The World's Anti-Slavery Convention was called to meet in London: the annual meeting of the United States was held to appoint delegates to attend the World's Convention.

At this annual convention, women, as well as men, composed the abolitionists, but usually, of course, the women only listened to what the men had to say. This particular convention was held in Philadelphia, and thru the influence and ability of Anna Lee, women for the first time had an equal voice in the church with men. Most of the speakers were clergymen, and with fervid eloquence depicted the wrongs of slavery. Imagine the electric shock, when little modest Lucretia Mott firml, but quietly explained how well the reverend gentlemen had also depicted the wrongs of women. At once pandemonium ensued, the reverend gentlemen, with magnificent logic withdrew their sacred robes, if women were allowed to express and opinion. A split resulted, but the main body among whom were America's greatest orators, including Wendell Phillips, John Pierpont, Gerrit Smith: one of the Mustrious Garrisons, stood by the women and when the able will a few England with the delay

The foundation of woman's freedom had then begun: the battle was on! the troops were gathering here and there unorganized and only dimly looking to the dawn of victory. A modest Queker school teacher heard of this convention. She had little thought when reading that historic declaration, that she would evolve into the reform orator, who would make the final victory possible, and who, after fifty years' untiring fighting, would die with these words on her lips, "Fallure is Impossible." The great things and good, she did by design; if a small or harmful thing was done, it was by accident and the history of the movement is, and will be, her history. She will always stand as the one great general, who gave every day of her life, that her own sex should not be discriminated against but here en optal rotating chance with her prophers.

Susan B. Anthony.

And let us repeat that every girl who enjoys a college education, every woman who has a chance to earn an honest living in whatever sphere she chooses, every wife who is protected in the possession of her person and property, owes a debt of gratitude to Susan B. Anthony.

Read of the thirty years when Susan B. Anthony and EMzabeth Cady Stanton worked as true and loyal friends, and you read a story more thrilling than ever Rider Haggard penned or Rudyard Kipling sung.

Future generations will read the history of Susan B. Anthony. She lectured in the east and in the west, in the north and in the south. She lectured, after climbing rail fences, walking over ploughed fields, or she lectured to thousands in Cooper Union, with such men as Henry Ward Beecher as chairman.

She organized societies, she begged, she gave her last

She organized societies, she begged, she gave her last penny, but she never let the work lag or stop. She published a paper for several years called "The Revolution," and had to quit ten thousand dollars in debt. And now an old woman, she set herself bravely to pay this debt which she did, earning every cent by her incomparable lectures, for which often she received only meagre collections.

In 1888 she organized the International Council of Women, and our own Lady Aberdeen was its elected president, at the World's Fair in Chicago, in 1892 at the World's Fair in Chicago, in 1893.

She had rightly foreseen that an International Council of Women would logically evolve into an International Suffrage Council, which it did in Toronto in 1909, by adopting equal suffrage.

In 1904 Susan B. Anthony went to Berlin to attend the international council there, and to finsh the organization of an International Suffrage Alliance, started two years before in Washington, D. C.

There the Empress of Germany honored herself by making Susan B. Anthony her special guest, the most honored of all visitors, and there Mrs. Chapman Catt was elected president of the International Suffrage Alliance—an alliance to-day consisting of twenty-six national bodies—an alliance on whose activities the sun never sets.

In Mrs. Catt's last presidential address in Stockholm last year she said, "I have just visited Norway, I wish every doubling Thomas could see what I saw there. I wish the

One feels the difference between the enfranchised and the unenfranchised countries, rather in the spirit of things, than in tangible form. British Organization.

The Woman's Social and Political Union of England, under the leadership of Mrs. Pankhurst, had been formed in 1903, but it was in October, 1905, that militant tactics were adopted by Miss Christobel Pankhurst, and the factory white banner, bearing the motto, "Votes for Waving a little white banner, bearing the motto, "Votes for Women," at a political meeting addressed by Sir Edward Grey. Thus began a war, compared with which all other wars pale: a war against the greatest government in the greatest city of the world. The story of the militant suffragettes under the leadership of Mrs. Pankhurst, is the story of to-day's newspapers, and need not be detailed.

All the world knows that nothing now stands between women of Great Britain and their entranchisement, but an obstinate and recalcitrant government. We who know Mrs. Pankhurst know that she too, with that other matchless

Leader in Canada.

I have purposely left out any special mention of Canada till the last. We are justly proud of the place she held in the ploneer days, for we, too, were given a prophet and seer in our much beloved leader, Dr. Emily Stowe. Often she is spoken of as the Susan B. Anthony of Canada. She was Canada's first woman to practise medicine. Thru her efforts the doors of Toronto University were opened. Municipal suffrage was granted, and the married woman's property act passed.

It is interesting to know that we have still with us a few whose names were among the officers of the first suffrage association of Canada, Wil-liam Houston, Thomas Bengough. Mrs. Curson, Miss Archibald, and other prominent workers have joined the great majority, along with their leader, Dr. Stowe.

It was Dr. Emily Stowe who first interested James L. Hughes in the suffrage cause, and the women of Canada owe much to his earnest work in their behalf. He has written the best Canadian book on the subject, and has given his services, books, and money liberally to the cause, and is to-day internationally known as woman's ardent champion. For several years Mr. Hughes was president of the National Suffrage Organization and was the first president of the Toronto Suffrage Association. Dr. Stowe-Gullen, now honorary president of the Canadian Suf-ciation. Dr. Stowe-Gullen, now honorary president of the Canadian Suffrage Association, proved a worthy daughter of a noble mother, and for many years kept Canada before the world internationally. She attended the International Woman's Council in Chricago, in '93, and slmost yearly since then, has she attended the annual convention of council or suffrage both here and in the United States, always to champion the suffrage cause, and frequently occupying the discouraging position of having to stand alone.

It must indeed be gratifying to her to see opposition broken down on all sides, and to-day it would be difficult to find a Canadian woman of reputable standing, who would have the temerity to oppose the principle of political equality on a public platform.

The hundred and one arguments for and against have been thrashed out, and to-day Australia, New Zealand, and all other free states and countries, proclaim the success of woman's suffrage.

Women and men are still living in homes in these countries; bables are still being born; men are loved by women, and women by men, and children are being cared for and fed. The tide in favor of the complete emancipation of women could no more turn, than Niagafa could send its waters back to Lake Erie. From Vancouver to Hallfax, in every province, the great awakening is going on, in fact, New Brunswick under such eminent women as Mrs. Fiske, Mrs. Halfnaway, and Mabel Peters, bids fair to be Canada's first free province.

We believe, however, that Toronto must for some time be the centre of activities for the Dominion. Let us come quickly up to date, and review one day's suffrage activities in Toronto: On Monday, February twelfth, the newest local organization, "The Political Equality League," of which Mrs. Hamilton is president, was addressed in the Margaret Eaton School by Controllers Hocken and McCarthy. The Teachers' Buffrage Society, Mrs. Anna Grey, president, was addressed by Rev. Mr. Hutcheon.

The East End Suffrage Club, with Mrs. Campbell as president, was addressed by Miss Boulton, president of the Woman's Canadian Club. A committee of the Headquarters Suffrage Club met to arrange a series of suffrage dances, the proceeds to be devoted to the Headquarters Suffrage fund. And Mrs. Morrison, president of the suffrage club of the Foresters, held a suffrage euchre party. This is a pretty large sized straw, showing the way the wind blows.

During this same week the monthly meeting of the Toronto Suffrage Association was held in the Margaret Eaton School, with the Rev. Mr. Caswell as speaker. Dr. Margaret Gordon is president of this association. Her secretary, Mira. Hector Preston, and Mirs. Maclyer as treasurer, form a strong trio.

Our city council unanimously has just passed a resolution to petition the Ontario Government to extend the municipal freedom to married women. The Toronto Local Council, representing forty-five societies, is concentrating on woman's suffrage, and it is also part of the work of the National Council of Women.

The Headquarters Ltd., has an Ontario charter, which it the right to carry on any industry or propagands to furthe suffrage cause, and a course of spiendid lectures has arranged by the secretary, Mr. Munns, who has given so a time, money and ability to the suffrage cause.

The Canadian Suffrage Association has its national head-quarters at 22 Cariton-street, and each day packages of St-erature are sent to all parts of Canada. Callers are received, letters are answered, and the need of an office staff is becom-ing imperative.

In the United States and England, women of wealth, and men of wealth, have contributed liberally to carrying on the suffrage campaign. Surely some Canadian will become the Mrs. Belmont, or the Mrs. Pethwick Laurence of our cause here.

Failure is Impossible.

With suffrage pens in the hands of such writers as Olf Schreiner, Charlotte Perkins Gliman, Elizabeth Robin, Ole Hamilton, Rheta Child Dorr, Ida Husted Harper, and with aut frage speeches delivered by such masters as Mrs. Chapma Catt, Mrs. Pankhurst, Christobel Pankhurst, Dr. Anna Shas and hundreds, yes thousands more, both Anglo-Saxon as foreign still in their twenties.

Englishmen implored the women to withold their credentials, and not to thrust such a gust of discord upon the convention. Lucretia Mott in her calm, fine manner, firmly insisted that were the women rejected, the responsibility must rest with the convention.

For a whole day the convention's time was "wasted," the clergy especially being bitter in their opposition to the women, and even the the abolitionists had been compelled to fight both church and Bible to prove the black man's right to liberty, their ultra sensitive conscience forbade them to stretch those sacred limits far enough to give equal Mberty to women. Finally a vote was taken and the women excluded, the only ones voting in their favor being Wendell Phillips, George Thomson, George Bradburn, Mr. Ashurst, Dr. Bowring and Henry B. Stanton.

William Lloyd Garrison having been delayed at sea, arrived too late to take part in the debate, but on learning what had taken place, he declined to take his seat in the convention. Among the English women who joined the American group, were Lady Byron, Anna Jamison, Amelia

Ople, Mary Howitt, Elizabeth Fry. blizabeth Cady Stanton was in London at the time, and she and Lucretia Mott discussed and reviewed the position taken by the representative men of the world against them as a sex and agreed to hold a Woman's Rights Convention

The Man in The Cage.

In nothing has latter-day civilization made so little general advance as in the treatment of the criminal. Many of the grosser forms of cruelty practised in olden time have no doubt been abolished and prison conditions materially improved, but the reform has been more humanitarian than remedial. The theory that a criminal is there to be punished rather than reclaimed still persists even in the countries that pride themselves as moving in the van of progress. Only here and there are there found executives and officials that recognize the utter failure of traditional prison methods and set themselves about the task of turning law-breakers into law-abiders and productive citizens. This desirable achievement has proved impossible of accomplishment under these methods. Rather has the contrary occurred. Once a criminal always a criminal has become a maxim. The first offender has emerged from the prison cell with its impress on his face and on his soul. Often he has found that honest employment is beyond his reach and that even if it is found his tenure of it is impossible unless he escapes recognition. A system that so results is vitally wrong in principle. Everywhere it is condemned, yet in few instances is any real effort made to supersede the system by one more consonant to the spirit of Christian civilization and to the dictates of common human feeling. It is matter of satisfaction that Ontario is numbered with the states that have introduced a better order into the treatment of the criminal and given him a chance to assert and develop his latent

To the last and current numbers of The American Magazine Julian Leavitt has contributed articles dealing with "The Man In The Cage." In the first of them he explained why the Man in the Cage does not reform. The reason is simply that the years spent by the convicted criminal in prison are lost years. He gains no new experiences, learns no trade that is of any use to him when he returns to the work-a-day world. This is not all the tragedy. Human nature is so constituted that it continually moves either upward or downward. Either the man in prison grows better or he grows worse—there is no standing still for him any more than for the normal man. And no mistake should be made about this. The man in the cage who leaves it a worse man than he was when it closed upon him is a living indictment of the prison methods that have punished without securing moral betterment. For these prison methods the state is responsible and in a democratic state that responsibility rests on the shoulders of the community. It is the people who must accept the blame, when having the power they refuse or neglect to exercise it. Terrible indeed are the charges brought by Mr. Leavitt against one half of the states of the neighboring Republic and they are based on the records of legislative enquiries and on the reports of responsible officials. But for the character of the evidence he cites it would be incredible that in the twentieth century and in a country that vaunts its superiority as the exponent of western democracy.

Mr. Leavitt, when he first began his investigations into prison life and labor, believed with most people, that the grosser cruelties of the cage were a thing of the past in the United States. Last century was conspicuous for the scandals associated with the lease and contract systems when "men, women and children were systematically beaten, stunned and tortured in the mad drive for prison profit." Such things, he felt, could not exist to-day and so he was assured y students of penology and genial wardens. But he was soon disillusionized by the discovery that "in nearly half the states of the Union to-day the basic industrial conditions in the prison world are virtually the same as they were fifty and a hundred years ago." Everywhere from Maine to Texas prisoners are sold to outside interests for the profit they may take out of the prison. "That is, men without rights are put completely into the power of men without feelings." Very terrible are the instances he adduces with the premiss that they were selected not because they are exceptional in any degree, but because they are typical and recent. "There are," he writes, "a dozen or more records of legislative investigations with in the past decade which have revealed worse conditions than are described here." The first case is that of the Branch Penitentiary of Michigan, located at Marquette, where of its population of 300 some 240 are employed by two contractors. The state gives factory buildings rent free and tax free, heat, light, power, superintendence and even drayage free and the labor of the men for 45 cents a day.

Despite these extraordinary privileges and all but nominal charge for labor this prison factory was run on the principle of maximum output. If the allotted task was not done the unfortunate convict defaulter was subjected to physical punishments comparable only to those of the middle ages or of semi-barbarous nations. The revolting examples given by Mr. Leavitt do not need to be recapitulated. They could, he says, be easily extended to fill several pages. Not only was there flogging by means of a paddle-a horrible device formed of a piece of heavy sole leather shaped like a tennis racket and fastened with copper rivets to a wooden handle-in effect a scientific instrument designed to inflict a maximum of suffering without infringing upon the humane law of the state, but the strait-jacket was in use and the "cuffing" up of men by their wrists with handcuffs for days at a time. This latter form of torture resulted in some cases in permanent disablement. The warden put forward various excuses and among others that he could not run the prison without corporal punishment. As the result of the investigation of last year the use of the paddle has been virtually abandoned and the warden now admits that discipline is better since he has been forced to abandon brutal punishments. Even more shocking disclosures were unearthed in Lansing Prison, Kansas, by Miss Barnard, commissioner of charities and corrections for the State of Oklahoma, that boarded out its prisoners to Kansas. As the consequence of her investigations the former prison officials were ousted by the State of Kansas, which further instituted large measures of prison reform.

Mr. Leavitt calls for the investigation of all contract prisons in the United States. There are twenty odd other states where convicts are still exploited for profit and he cannot emphasize too strongly the fact that the two cases he describes are not exceptional. Referring particularly to one eastern prison where the contract system has operated undisturbed for many years, whose warden is a penologist and a prominent member of the American Prison Association, he ventures to predict that a thoro probe would "in the course of a week's investigation uncover a nest of horrors which would make the community gasp." In this connection it is terribly significant that in Missouri, where the contractors have full control the report of the State Bureau of Labor for 1909 remarks that "some deliberately maimed themselves by placing fingers under cutters or against fast moving circular saws, to escape the daily task." Unfortunately they only exchanged one form of compulsory labor for another. It adds to the evil that the trades usually carried on in these prison factories are of no value to the liberated prisoner. But the moral of these articles, important everywhere, is the necessity of a proper prison system and of constant and thoro control. This is even more clamant in the case of institutions designed for the young, where infinitely less excuse can be offered for the application of brutal punishments. Where these are shown to be in force the fact alone indicates that the system is defective and the environment not what it ought to be and should be made.

Civil Marriage and Civil Divorce.

If there is really such opposition as the politicians imagine among the Roman Catholics to a civil marriage law why is there no such opposition to a civil divorce law? Parliament is grantpeople so divorced remarry. The Roman Catholics as a rule do not avail themselves of the divorce facilities at Ottawa, and unquestionably the Roman Catholic Church would regard a marriage as still subsisting after the parliamentary divorce.

It may be that the number of divorces being small there is little room for any controversy to be interesting to find out just how many Roman Catholic voters are really opposed to a law permitting a civil marriage. We doubt if any could be found. It could not affect them because no man would be compelled to get married by a justice of the peace if he preferred to be married by a priest. In short, no Catholic would be compelled to go thru a civil marriage any more than he is compelled to apply for a bill of divorce. Our Catholic fellow citizens realize this perfectly, and must be amused at the gymnastics of some leaders of thought on this subject. There is a good deal of clean skating in politics which appears to be wonderful, but which is really entirely un-

Government By Commission.

It is not at all improbable that if the people were asked they would vote in favor of government by commission. Just at present there appears to be a rage for control in that form. A commission to take charge of racing has been urged, and now promoters of lacrosse and of boxing are discussing propositions to adopt the same system. Then again, commissions of all sorts are being created by our multiplicity of governments.

Commissions of inquiry are one thing and commissions to govern are another. Finance Minister White's tariff commission is one of inquiry and investigation. The commissions proposed by the sporting people are to be courts of judges with plenary power of ruling. Whether their decrees

The Book of Enoch is quoted in the New Testament nearly three score of times, ers. Another "Book of the Secrets of Enoch," known as the Slavonic Enoch, came to light in comparatively recent times thru certain manuscripts found in Russia and Servia. The Book of Enoch sage the critics do not like to give it a greater antiquity than the last two centuries centuries but turned up in 1773 when the Ethiopic version, and a translation of these was published by the Irish Archbishop, Laurence, in 1821. It is practically impossible to convince people brought up under our present religious systems that the Book of Enoch, the queted in the Bible, is on a par with other books of the Bible, and entitled to equal consideration. The few prophecies from the present the entitled to equal consideration. The entitled to equal consideration. The clergy do not refer to it. The scholars ignore it. The general public have the universal and quite historical impression that it is a useless or danger-ous book, or that the trouble of read-small there is little room for any controversy to arise, but in the United States, where divorces are granted by the thousands there is no friction between the churches. One church may not regard the divorce as valid, but the civil law being supreme, no controversy arises. Nor does any church there object to civil marriages. The matter is never discussed.

We apprehend that if parliament would pass a uniform marriage law that it would be acquiesced in by Catholics and Protestants alike. It would chains and starvation are not the instruments for the expulsion of evil from the human heart and that the old way of seeking to break a stubborn and froward will is all too likely to break the heart and froward will is all too likely to break the heart as well and leave no material for the rebuilding so that men, aye and children too, become as wild seat men, aye and children too, become as wild seats if handled with whips and chains.

No matter what may, be the "special features of the evidence brought out before this commission, it is likely that reforms will result in an institution of which one who formerly controlled it, and even to-day sits upon its directory board, that said that its rules are the same now as in his days, 20 years ago, when he held it in control with whip and chain.

THE CARE OF THE CHILD. By Mme Lina Cavalieri, The Most Famous Living Beauty.

ME. CAVALIERI believes that it is possible to train a child to beauty. After announcing her creed, she step by step proves its reasonableness. Again she demonstrates the superior value of her series of beauty lessons by telling in detail how to do this training of the beauty of the future.

By Lina Cavalieri T is possible to train a child to beauty and this training consists of two means. One is to teach the little one habits of personal daintiness. The other is to impress upon him or her while very young, the principles of health. A third is to correct any defects, by early attention to them on your own part if you are parent, guardian or

MULFORD TO DRIVE

Famous Pilot Enters For Big Indianapolis Speed Contest.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., March 2.—
"Smiling Ralph" Mulford, whose name is known wherever motor car racing is thought of, has settled the question is thought of, has settled the question of his future career, by purchasing a six-cyclinder Knox racing car, to compete in the second annual 500-mile International Sweepstakes race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway next Memorial Day, May 30. This action on the part of Mulford in cutting loose from the Lozier company for which he had been racing ever since the beginning of his career verifies the statement that the Lozier has abandoned motor car contests.

Mulford has known one of the most successful careers of any driver engaged in the hazardous sport and his income has been greater than that of even the greatest athletes in other lines of sport. In 1910 he annexed the Elgin national stock chassis road race as his chief performance of the season. In 1911 he finished second in the 500-mile race at the Speedway, won the Vanderbilt cup race at Savannah and might have known what it is to be a two time winner in one race meeting had it not been that an unfortunate accident put him out of the Grand Prize race when he was right in the lead at the last lap.

The smiling pilot has made enough ed motor car contests.

The smiling pilot has made enough money so that he has been able to go in after the $50,000 purse at the Speedway in a car owned by himself and his choice of a Knox seems to be partially the result of the performance of that car in the last Speedway five-century grind. In that race Fred Belcher drove the Knox entry and fin-

This is by far the largest field that ever has been entered for any event more than three months ahead. The list of tentative entries brings the number of starters up to thirty, which is the limit placed by the Speedway management. The foreign cars entered are all owned privately while many of the American cars are to be entered.

art Automobile Academy, New York, gives the following information regarding overheated motors:-"Motors properly / designed seldom ver-heat except when parts go wrong In the water-cooled motor, using the force-pump system, one would naturally discount any trouble, as there appears to be very little to go wrong. There is nothing but the radiator, the straight hose connections, and the force-pump in circuit to accelerate the flow of water. However, when a motor does overheat one should inspect all hose connections and note that the water passage is free. It often happens that hose will swell and close, thereby preventing she passage of water

"Try the water pump and see that the water propeller is being properly driven by the shaft to which it is attached. A broken shaft is not an infrequent occurrence. In case of trouble it is often advisable to rumove the pump and thoroly cleanse it. In cases where poor hose is used the inner walls decay and pieces lodge in and obstruct the pump.

"The radiator itself is not always without fault. Due to its peculiar construction for cooling purposes, it is straight hose connections, and the route, it is, however, a mistake to compare the truck with the horse, for it is the performance of service impossible with horses that gives the truck its enormous value in our present-day business, making it the link that has been missing in our transportation chain. The motor truck will do all that the horse can do, and go far beyond it, developing business locally, much as the great rallroad and steamship lines have developed country-wide business. In our work with truck-users and prospective truck-users we are often able to suggest arrangements of routes, methods of delivery, and operating slifts that permit the truck to take care of work previously done by horses and at the same time to play a very important part in developing increased husiness. The first consideration, of course, is successful replacement of horse service, but this is soon disposed of where the conditions are ordinary and is as quickly lost sight of as the greater advantages of the motor truck begin to appear.

We have often found that by increasing the motion-minutes of a truck and drawing upon its reserve capacity by

Steel Wheels For Big Trucks

By Walter C. White.

The value of steel wheels for heavy demonstrated by the White Company for the last few years, and steel wheel construction is rapidly gaining favor, both among manufacturers and users of heavy commercial motor vehicles. Manufacturers of motor trucks in Burope have almost universally edopted this construction, and Ithink I can safely say that the next year or so will see the same thing here in this couptry. Steel wheels have been need on White trucks of three and five-ton capacity since the beginning, and they have been remarkably free from the troubles which wooden wheels, no mapter how carefully built, give when used on trucks of large capacity. Wooden wheels shrink and swell with changes of weather, and the circumference warps out of true. They also dry out and loosen up in service, causing no end of trouble and inconvenience, and for these reasons, the tipes are subjected to a great deal more wear and tear than they get firm actual contact with the read when a steel wheel is turned absolutely true, it stays so, no matter what the weather conditions are, or how rough are the roads over which travels. Wooden wheels on a rough road rapidly loosen up and go to pieces, while a steel wheel remains just the same, year after year of service, as it was when the truck was first put in operation. It is plainly evident that this never changing quality peculiar to steel wheels means a dother was first put in operation. pieces, while a steel wheel remains just the same, year after year of service, as it was when the truck was first put in operation. It is plainly evident that this never changing quality peculiar to steel wheels means a large saving in tire expense during the operation of the truck. Extreme heat is another thing which causes tires to go to pieces rapidly. Wood is a non-conductor of heat, and when tires on wooden wheels are run all day on hot pavements in summer, they become over-heated, and this heat has no way of escape except by radiation from the tire itself. Steel, on the other hand, is a conductor of heat absorbed by the tire while running is conducted away by the wheel instantly, and the temperature of the tire remains normal. It is surprising to note the difference in temperature between a solid truck tire on a wooden wheel and one on a steel wheel after they have been

MOTOR CLUBS DO MUCH FOR ROADS

American Organizations Make Good Progress In Highway Improvement.

NEW YORK, March 2,-According to an announcement made by the American Automobile Association good roads work represents in a great degree the present activities of the average automobile club, as is made apparent by the reports sent from all over the country by American Automobile Association clubs to the Good Roads Board of the national organization. That the western members are more ambitious than the easterners in the scope of their operations is indicated by a communication from the Watertown Automobile Club of the South Dakota State Association, which wants attention called to the "Meridian Road," to run from Winnipeg, Canada, to Galveston, Texas. The South Dakota club insists that its membership will be three hundred before April 1. In Maine the State Automobile Association has arranged a series of meetings in which Governor Plaisted will be one of the Speakers.

The Washington-Frederickburg Richmond route is occupying the greatest notice, and the Washington's Birthday rally at Fredericksburg brought this particular line to the fore. From Washington thru Warrentown, Charlotteswille, Lynchburg and Danville there is a third route southward, while the fourth line, from Philadelphia thru Delaware to Cape Charles, has a relatively small mileage in Virginia. Unless there is decided improvement from Norfolk to Suffolk south travel on this route is likely to be diverted from Old Point Comfort or Newport News up to Richmond and thence south or west, it is declared.

Mark the differences between the

Square Tread and an ordinary envelope:

A tire which is most artistically sculptured—
a thing of ribs and lumps, hollows and humps—is one of the fads nowadays. Such grooves, reduce the thickness of the tread and make it proportionately weaker.

The Michelin Square Tread, as you see, is a plain envelope. Therefore, it is just so much the thicker and stronger.

Moreover, the common practice is to make casing and tread separately. These are then stuck together.

But the Michelin Square Tread is all one piece. In this case the envelope is put into a mould, and both canvas and rubber, under great hydraulic pressure, are vulcanised together. When it leaves the mould, therefore, the envelope is a homogeneous whole: every part is absolutely regular.

Russell Motor Car Co., Limited.

This form of construction, originally devised by J. Frank Duryea has, naturally, been most highly developed in the Stevens-Duryea car, in which it was first used, and it is with the Steven-Duryea that the test referred to have been made. The advantages with which "three-point support" has always been credited are that it preserves the alignment of the driving machanism, no matter how the chassism may be thrown out of level by road inequalities, and thus saves wear and tear on the whole car, including the tires, and makes riding easier.

It seems, from the investigation of the Stevens-Duryea people, that ease of riding is more affected by the method of attaching the engine and its connections to the frame than has been realized. It is easy to see that with rigid attachment, if the car lurches because one side of the running gear is suddenly raised higher than the other in rough-going, the lurch is aggravated by the weight of the engine, which is thrown violently in the direction in which the car tips. With flexible attachment, while the engine moves with the chassis, of course, it swings in its three-point support almost with the motion of a hammock, so that stress and jolting are avoided, and as it swings back when the car rights, the weight of the engines helps preserve the balance. This gradual movement, instead of the sudden action caused by displacing heavy weight, increases materially the smoothness of running and ease of riding.

Responsibility of the strand of the great literary men of the Victorian era, ranks among the masters of English prose. His life was rich in work, and in loyal friends, and o ne of its most striking spicodes was the romantic story of his marriage. After some years of wedded life his wife met John Millals, in his carly days a member of the famous Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood, and later, perhaps, the foremost painter of his time. They loved and loved deeply, and Ruskin, absorbed in his literary labors, did not at first realize the stillar and deeply as he loved his wife, he willingly gave her freedom, and consented to the annulment of his marriage. The result was so benefloial to his entire system that he called his new found remedy "Gloria Tonic," Those of his friends, relatives and neighbors suffering from rheuma-tism were next cured and Mr. Smith concluded to offer his remedy to the world. But he found the task a diffi-

At the U. C. College, Toronto, it cured Mrs. J. Whitley, who had suffered excruciatingly. Fred K. Causes a Surprise.

That Kulick would try for a new record was somewhat of a surprise owing to the announcement last summer that he was thru with the racing game that he was thru with the racing game for good, but some of the local Ford people thought that the record made years ago by Henry Ford in the old "999" could be lowered by its successor and persuaded Kulick to get back into the harness for the day. ## Dunlop Traction Treads

No better evidence of the superiority of Dunlop Traction Treads over all other Anti-Skids is wanted than that contained in the letter of H. W. Brown, Director of Contracts, Department of Militia and Defence, Ottawa.

The letter was addressed to the Ford Motor Company of Canada. In ordering twelve cars for the Department Mr. Brown says:

"These Cars are to be fitted with Dunlop Traction Tread Tires"

No other tire in the world is constructed just like Dunlop Traction Tread. It imitates none; follows no other models; just blazed a trail of its own. It was but fitting that the name Dunlop should be stamped on this tire, which is as far ahead of its competitors as the other basic Dunlop ideas were ahead of the competitors of

ADVANTAGE NO. 1

In the first place, Dunlop Traction Tread is moulded in one piece; in other words, the Anti-Skid effect is not stuck on the tire, but built into it. Not only does this mean a tire ensuring maximum safety, but it also means a tire capable of showing maximum resistance to wear and tear.

ADVANTAGE NO. 2

In the second place, the Anti-Skid surface of Traction Tread is made twice as deep as the common run of so-called Anti-Skids. When the pavement is greasy or the roads are muddy, the value of this greater depth is readily apparent. The car responds to the most delicate touch of steering gear or brakes. The grip on the road is always secure, always

ADVANTAGE NO. 3

In the third place, users of Dunlop Traction Treads never experience the consciousness of tire contact with road as is so common with the so-called Anti-Skids—the tire that is merely decorated with corrugations after the tire proper is

ADVANTAGE NO. 4

In the fourth place, with Dunlop Traction Tread—as with no other tire in the world—the Anti-Skidding surface is the biggest part of the tire. This means the Anti-Skidding surface will give indefinitely long service. Dunlop Traction Tread simply means more for the money—and the better kind of rubber, too.

In the fifth place, while we do not ourselves say "throw away your chains," Dunlop Traction Tread goes ahead and says it for us. You see the letters we have reproduced in which motorists claim chains are no longer necessary since the advent of Dunlop Traction Tread. Take the ordinary so-called Anti-Skid, and on rainy days they are either not in

So reliable, so well known, so well liked, so strong, so sure—no wonder motorists call Dunlop Traction Tread Master of the Road, and are willing to testify as to its exceptional service. The letters reproduced below are three representative communications received from men who know tires and have strong convictions as to what constitutes service. We have received numerous letters of a similar character.

WHAT THE NAME "DUNLOP" STANDS FOR

All the great ideas in tiredom are stamped "Dunlop." That fact has made the name famous and constitutes. the "Two Hands" the most widely known trademark in Canada. Here are the Big Four Factors which have spelled progress in the tire industry. They date back to the year 1888: Step 3—The Straight Wall Tire—A Dunlop idea.

Step 4—The Science Built Anti-Skid Tire (Traction Tread)—

A Dunlop idea. Step 1—The Pneumatic Tire—A Dunlop idea. Step 2—The Quick-Detachable Tire—A Dunlop idea.

A TIP IN SEASON You will be fighting doubts all your life unless you ally yourself with the last word in Anti-Skids-Dunlop Traction Tread. Greater mileage, plus greater safety, equals greater satisfaction. Tell your garageman that there is no place on your car for the "Make-Believe Tire." It's Dunlop Traction Tread or none.

Marguerita Sylva In Gypsy Love

Musical Sensation of the Year, Written by Franz Lehar, at the Princess.

Marguerita Sylva in "Gypsy Love," will inaugurate a week's engagement at the Princess Theatre, Monday night. "Gypsy Love" is recognized as the musical sensation of the year. It is the latest composition of Franz Lehar, who wrote "The Merry Widow" and the critics of Chicago, where it has just concluded a twelve weeks engagement pronounced it better than a dozen "Merry Widows." Sylva herself is reprima donnas. Five years ago at the height of her success as a musical comedy star she went abroad to study for grand opera and after winning many triumphs in European capitals, she was persuaded by Oscar Hammer-stein to return to New York and sing she was persuaded by Oscar Hammerstein to return to New York and sing at his opera house. The following year she was engaged by the Metropolitan Opera House and for two seasons sang in that exclusive and sacred social shrine. Her greatest success at the Meropolitan was "Carmen," a role essentially suited to her magnificent Spanish-beauty. She abandoned grand opera when A. H. Woods offered he restaurant keeper and provides huch of the fun; Carl Haydn who appears as Fedor; Frances Demarest, Dorothy Webb, Robert Pitkin and a lozen others. The chorus is large and attractively gowned, while Lehar's reautiful music will be rendered by an enlarged orchestra.

At the Wednesday matinee, Sylva's cole of Zorlka will be sung by Miss Pyllis Partington, as Sylva's contract calls for only seven performances of the difficult role.

"Pomander Walk" How It Happened

Louis N. Parker, the English dra matist, who wrote the charming litie "comedy of happiness," "Pomander Walk,' which comes on Monday to the oyal Alexandra for a return engagement, tells how the suggestion or the inspiration for the play came to him. "One November afternoon, as is often my custom, I had been wandering in Scho. Scho, you know, is the foreign quarter of London. However, I had got home, rather wet, rather muddy, with my lungs full of London 'peculiar'; and my spirits were down in my boots. As I put my latch-key into the keyhole, suddenly, without any reason or cause, the words 'Pomander Walk' flashed thru my mind."

The dramatist says the words were a meaningless conjunction, "pomanaer" having nothing to do with "walk," or ' with "pomander": but with the words came a mental picture: Five lit-tle houses, five little families—in short, the whole play appeared to him in outline as it has since been played.
"I went straight to my study," the author continued, "and began writing. I had no plan whatever. I just took the houses in their order, started with No. 1, and told myself all about the peo-

The show this season is conceded to be one of the largest and best It was built for laughter, and there is not a dull moment during the entire performance. It is a two-act musical satire called "A Day and a Night," which is lively and tuneful, heavily mounted and staged and abounds in enough humorous situations to provide two solid hours of real fun, and of the kind that may be enjoyed by all classes of show-goers. The cast is undoubtedly the best ever selected for a musical extravaganza, and the costumes and gowns worn by the bevy of really handsome and shapely girls in the chorus are beautiful models of the dressmaker's art. The result of his labors will be seen—or rather heard—when "The Wedding Trip" is sung at the Royal Alexandra Theatre, week of March 11th, with the same company which has been appearing in New York, it is significant that the company selected to interpret "The Wedding Trip" has become a permanent one, and if My De Koven, who has selected every member himself, has his way, it will in time bear a name, Mr. De Koven, who is perhaps less visionary than the average musician, plans things in the concrete, and it is his idea to keep intact this organization. He also hopes to see erected in New York a theatre which will be given over to the producing of lighter operetta works of the to see erected in New York a theatre which will be given over to the producing of lighter operatta works of the character of his latest composition, and "Rob Roy," and "Rebin Hood," and others. Following the fashlon set in both "The Merry Widow" and "The Chocolate Soldier," and other recent German works of the type which now seem in the ascendency, Mr. De Koven has made the music of his "Wedding Trip' largely concerted. Technically it is classed as opera, bourds because all of the music is made to illustrate both character, situation and incident as well as to continue and develop the story. Realizing the importance of, or the necessity for that matter, of engaging singers and not people with names, Mr. De Koven first secured permission from the producers, the Messrs. Shinbert, to organize a band of singers which in every particular would compare with the "Bostonians" during their palmiest days. The time expended will warrant the result, so Mr. De Koven believes. He acted on the principal that the public is no longer interested in names, but must have voices and young faces, and the company which has been interpreting "The Wedding Trip" is an example of this policy.

PICKLED TUNNY FISH OR "THON MARINE." PICKLED tunny fish, or "thon marine," is a very appetizing dish not sufficiently familiar to American families. It may be used instead es sardines as a preliminary to lunch, as the principal dish of a meal, as part of a salad, and in various other ways.

DAUBE A LA PROVENCALE.

THIS is one of the most satisfactory and economical of French family dishes. Cut in large squares a piece of lean beef weighing about two pounds. At the ment of serving remove the bouquet, skim the grease off the cooking liquid In Southern France the "daube" is also served accompanied with a dish of macaroni or ravioli. You may also serve the daube accompanied with potatoes cooked in the oven or in their jackets. You can prepare mutton equally as well in a daube, but in that case it is best to serve with it a good dish of thoroughly cooked white beans.

PATE OF COMBOURG.

THIS is a favorite dish in Brittany. ## How a Real Arsene Lupin Fooled the Greatest French Detective

head of all French detectives outside of Paris. Late Chief of the Paris Detective Corps. VERY policeman has been mistaken more than once, and a policeman's mistakes are his best teachers. Therefore I feel very grateful, rather than otherwise, to the mistake I made in a little tete-atete with Arsene Dubois. I had received information that Arsene Dubois was the real ringleader in the burglaries of the Rue du Bac; that he was probably one of the Rue Ordener highwaymen, and that he was a notorious coiner. It appeared to me sieur Dubois might be useful. Arsene Dubois, after some hesitation, accepted my invitation to a quiet chat. He did not let me do all the talking, though, by any means. I never had to do with such an angry man. I like that, you know. When a man is really angry he lets things slip out that a few moments' conversation with Mon-winch are extremely useful to us. "Now," I said, going straight to the root of the matter at once, "just tell me where you were when the bank messenger was attacked in the Rue Ordener." I expected denial or protest. But Dubois surprised me.

"I was in bed," he said. "But," I asked, "you know all the details of the Rue Ordener outrage, and you have probably your own theory."
"Like everybody else," admitted the man.

"Well, then, suppose you tell me how it happened, according to the theory you have Dubois shrugged his shoulders. "I have lost my day's work, anyhow," he said, "I may as well amuse you for half an hour more."

I placed a chair in the middle of the room. "There," I said. "That is the motor car and my table is the row of shops. I am the bank messenger." Dubois sat on the chair, jumped from it, pretended to fire at me, and at the same moment whirled me round so that I very nearly feil in all reality.

"That is how it was done, I should think," he said. "You must have been there whatever your concierge may say," I thundered at him. He looked straight back into my eyes and laughed. "No, no, Monsieur Hamard," he answered, "your terrible glance is historic. It may frighten confession out of a guilty man, perhaps out of an innocent coward.

But I am not guilty, and I am not afraid. 1 have only committed one robbery with vio-lence in my life, and I am not in the least ashamed of that." All the time, till it became most irritating, he rang in the refrain about the robbery with violence he had committed a short time ago, which the police had not discovered. and of which he was not ashamed. At last I pretended to grow very angry with him. "Look here, Dubois," Asaid, "you know my position and your own. I allow you a certain amount of freedom here, where we two are alone, because I have my reasons. But you are talking to a magistrate, and by your own confession you are a criminal." "Yes; but prove it," said Dubois quietly

"Your own confession is sufficient proof," I said, "for me to send you to prison."
"You will not do that," answered Dubois "I give you my word of honor that I had nothing to do with the Rue Ordener crime know nothing of the Rue du Bac bur glaries. I am not a coiner. I have lived an honest life except on one occasion."
"When was that?" I shouted. I really was losing my temper.

"Ten minutes ago," answered Dubois. "when we were play-acting, I picked your pocket of your watch and chain. Here they are. Will you send me to prison for robbery with violence, M. Hamard? You can prove it now."

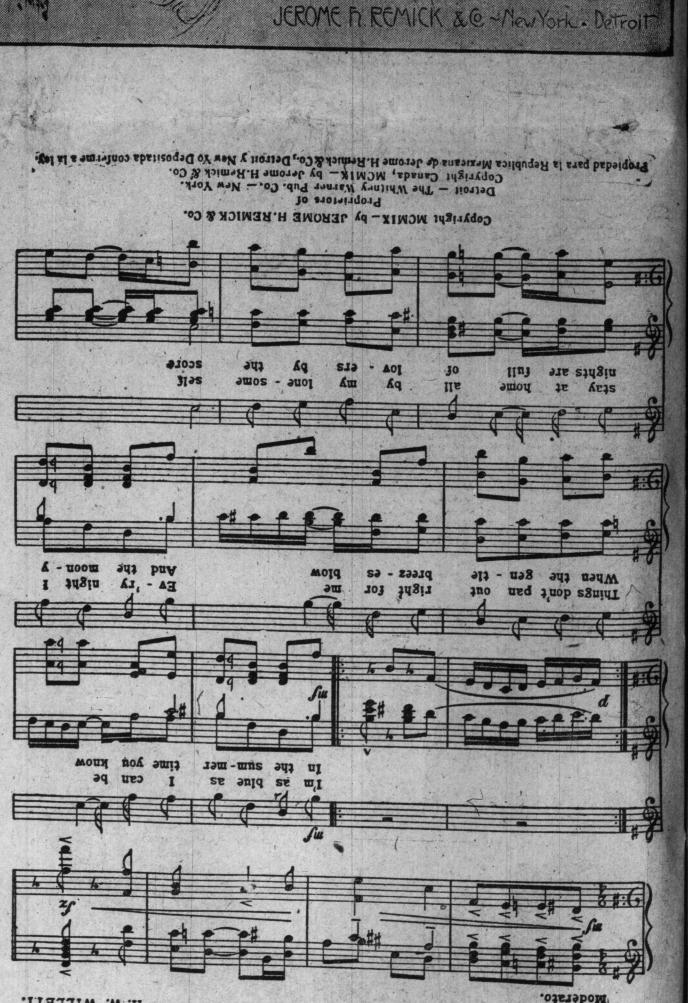

Dubois scored, did he not? But we are watching him still. He is so very clever.

Two Ashville men kept 20 hens, but did not collect many eggs. They found that the hen-fruit was being stolen by tramps, so they got a big bull-dog and put him and his kennel in the chicken yard. The dog began to take an interest in the hen business and after a time he made a point of chasing the hens one after another into his kennel and waited octside, at the entrance, until the egg was deposited. This he did with each of them, until every day, the men found their 30 eggs in the kennel. SUNDAY MORNING

No. 2-- The Way to Stay Youthful

By Nell Brinkley

THIS IS AN OLD STUNT, BUT IT'S JUST AS HARD AND AS GOOD AS IT EVER WAS. A LITTLE EVERY MORNING WILL TRIM OU might be one of the lithe clan who have just come into the heritage of youth, who have him all bottled up like a Genie in a on's jar. You clap your little hands and he comes out and takes his orders, works his wonders, and leaves you with the flag of the wild rose flying in your cheeks, your eyes like a child's, the color in your mouth deep and real, and the wild blood leaping so in your limbs that your body must needs be on the tramp to keep your heart and brain from mischief.

You may be one of those for whom youth works new marvels every dawn. And then, also, you may be one of that short-breathed, ardent crowd that have just looked into your jar, and from there up to the mirror that hangs are after him over hill and down dale, with all your soul in the chase and even Love, the old, old fascinator, left behind and all forgotten.

Women love Love, but they love Youth more. You might even be one of those that have just come to the top of a long hill in your chase for Youth, and he's such a tiny speck in the blue distance, and it's such a long, long trail stretched out before that you're going to give up and pick out a soft spot on the side of the road and drop out of the chase. You who already have Youth need to keep him; you who have just searched and found him gone need to get some of him back, and you who have found the soft spot beside the road and dropped out, with Age sitting long side you on the soft spot, need to get back the image of him, a bit of his limberness in your knees, the red blood of him under your flesh, and a bit of his heart, that is strong and happy, in your

And when you get to sticking one foot out stiff behind you when you dive into a closet after shoes on the floor, Youth's makin' his geta-way. For your knees are stiffening up.

but it's just as hard as ever it was, and it's just as good as ever it was. When you can swoop back, feet flat on the floor, the soft belt of your body between the bony barrel of your ribs and the bones of your hips flattened and stretched to its uttermost, your chest high and filled with a great breath, your arms taut above your head, when you can swoop back and then with your lungs emptying swing forward and down, arching your body like a bow and with your knees stiff, lay your fingers flat on the floor as often as you like, you're pretty lithe. A little of it every morning will trim the fat of the waist line, barden and flatten the lazy muscles of the ab-domen, and stretch your settled-down backbone. When you do anything strenuous with your body it ought to be with an open window-first, because you breathe deep and long, and it's a good chance to fill your chest with clean outdoor air, and then, too, because sharp, fresh air is heady and keen like a stimulant and it excites and fires you to do things with your body.

HERE'S ONE THAT LIMBERS YOU UP FROM YOUR CHEST TO

TRY THIS BY BREATHING DEEP AS YOU GO DOWN. THIS WILL HARDEN YOUR ARMS AND DEEPEN AND WIDEN YOUR CHEST LIKE THE SWIMMING STROKE DOES.

This next squatting one is hot work. It's good for the muscles of your stiff legs and your carrlage, for it's more or less a balancing stunt-head erect, a deep breath in your chest, the weight of your body on your tip-toes, your hands on your hips to have something to hold on to. up you go and down again, straight to your full height and down again. It sends your blood racing till you're hot from the pink tip of your great toe to the top of your little head.

Then here's an old kid stunt. You did that when you were 'leven and had a gym in the barn oft and the trapezes had to be swung over the rafters when a new load of hay was packed in and you couldn't perform till a great hole grew in it and it was used away from the rafters. Try it now and see if you can. Lay your hands over your head, palms down flat on a wall, get a good grip with your feet, and then push your hands down, down along the wall as far as you can. Bet you're ashamed when you remember how far you could go when you were a kid. This is a general all around limberer from your chest to your hips, and it hardens and strengthens the muscles about the waist that are so long and so often idle. It's good for the chubby lady.

And then here's another one. Breathe deep as you go down, for it's when your chest is down on the floor that your strained-back elbows widen it most. This will harden your arms and deepen and widen your chest in the same fashion that the long, steady stroke in swimming does.

Pajamas are the thing to do all this in.

long, steady stroke in swimming does.

Pajamas are the thing to do all this in.
They're easy to swing about in, they don't keep slipping off the shoulder and tripping you up with a deep hem, they're close and warm, and they're pretty and sensible and lots of fun.

And while you're working for youth and health you mustn't go the limit at the very beginning. When it hurts don't go any farther. By and by, ancient one, and little by little, you will be able to go farther and not creak! Ge slow.

If he forgets to count three, he begins all over again, and starts off —one, two three—then he proceeds upon his uncounted way. Many persons swear by the number 7, and we all know what we think of 13. The numeral 7 is called the Divine number, since it is conspicuous in biblical lore, occasions and the same terms as have been used on former occasions; and the usual answer has come from Germany.

Large Expenditure.

It is not pleasant to reflect that since 1896 we have spent over $2,500,000,000 on the navy alone. In these sixteen years the annual cost of the fleet has more than duobled, but that of Germany has nearly quadrupled. Sixteen years ago, when the British Navy was quite ten times as powerful as the German, our fleet never appeared in the naval discussions of the Fatherland. To-day, when Germany Fatherland. To-day, when Germany is approaching a strength at sea equal to about two-thirds of our own, a favorite theme with her writers is that we are preparing suddenly to fall upon her and crush the life out of her! Yet her and crush the life out of her! Yet at the same time, curiously epough, Germany refuses to be a party to any agreement which includes British naval supremacy as one of its conditions. In view of the continued efforts of the government to induce Germany to come to some sort of understanding with us on this question of naval power, it will be interesting to give a result was to spur Germany; and its only a spur Germany to great. with us on this question of naval power, it will be interesting to give a brief glance at what has already been attempted in that direction.

The government was really pathetic, besides being dangerous; and its only result was to spur Germany to greater effort.

In 1898 the Czar of Russia called the first conference at the Hague, its primary business being to discuss the question of disarmament. In 1907 our three-ship program was repeated, but Sir Menry Campbell-Bannerman declared that if the second Peace Conference, held in the spring of 1908, should be productive of results only two of these vessels would sults only two of these vessels would be laid down. As a matter of fact Germany refused to take part in the conference at all if any discussion on the limitation of armaments were included. Again we had our answer. The final effort of the Liberal Government came later in 1908, when, in order again to emphasize its absolute sincerity, only two armored ships were provided for. What happened? Germany increased her program from three ships to four. When German papers prate of the "perfidy" of Britain; of our desire to ensnare her in a stultifying agreement, let these facts

DANNY'S OWN STORY.

By Don Marquis. Danny is a descendant of Huck Finn, and the record of his adventures may remind you somewhat of the Mark Twain classic. That is not saying that "Danny's Own Story" is in any way imitative of Huckleberry Finn, but it is the best way I know of describing it so that you may have an idea of its atmosphere. Danny is a nameless walf in a basket when we first meet him on the doorstep of Hank Walters. His adoption and naming form the first rather dramatic and very much humorçus episode of the story. He was ac-companied by a feeding-bottle into the glass of whose sides was blown the name "Daniel, Dunne and Company." Now Elmira (Hank's wife), after reading this two or three times, decided that it was connected with the antecedents of the infant, so she says, "His name is Daniel Dunne." "And Company," added Hank, being fond of full neasure and also in a slightly disputatious mood due to-never mind what. The result was that the infant remain-"Danny" only, since the loving couple could never agree on the rest of

By Katharine Jones, The spirit of psychical research is showing itself more strongly from day Manley Fleetwood, upon her to day thru our literary products. Here Manley's acquaintance with is one of the novels resulting thereto day thru our literary products. Here the west has not improved his habits, from Kent, an American, goes to England on a visit to his friend Aveling, who has just come into possession of the family castle. Upon his arrival Kent is startled to find that his friend is wonderfully altered. Instead of the merry, even bolsterous man he had known, he finds one who seems entirely detached from his present surroundings, and living in a past age. As his visit progresses, the mystery increases. Only on rare occasions is Aveling anything like his former self. Often he seems to be the reincarnation of a lord of the middle ages. A mysterious family portrait seems to be connected with this baneful influence. Kent learns that the previous masters of the cas-tle have all died mysteriously at the age of thirty-five. His friend Aveling is within a few months of the fatal age what can be done? That's why you should read the book to find our about this mysterious influence, and how it was overcome. ## Symphony Orchestra And Jan Kubelik

Noted Violinist Plays Mendelssohn's E Minor Concerto and Dislpays Remarkable Technic

Toronto Symphony Orchestra was given on February 21, and was attended by an audience that filled Massey Hall. Jan Kubelik was the soloist; he played as his principal number Mendelssohn's familiar and ever-welcome E minor concerto, his deliv-ery of which was characterized by that quiet, unestentations masterfulness for which his playing is noted, the not, perhaps, with quite as much power perhaps, with quite as much power as may at times have been desirable. In his group of short pieces with piano accompaniment, however, one again recognized the taste, technical resourcefulness and alternate delicacy and abandon that one has become accusabandon that one has become accustomed to expect from this great artist, and in "Romance Andalouse." Sarasate, and "Scene de la Szardo," Hubay, he won an unquulified triumph. He was recalled many times during the evening but responded with only one extra number. The orchestral selections consisted of the overture "In der Nature," Dvorak; a suite for strings, Grieg, and the Italian Capriccio, Tschafkowsky, all of which were played with distinction and musical understanding, the Grieg suite particularly, being given with irresistible grace and refinement. After each offering the audience enthusiastically attested its pleasure.

Miss Pankhurst said that the movement of the Militant Suffragists is growing rapidly in Englani, and that the party having just finished collecting a sum of f100,000, is now interested in collecting another f150,000 of r the furtherance of their cause. As a reflective result of the English movement, the movement is growing in other countries.

In speaking of the acts which the party has carried on which have been labelled as lawless, she said "Some of these are irresponsible acts of individuals." these are irresponsible acts of individuals, such as might be expected when persons are driven to desperation by the refusal of the government to listen to their demands. If men were interested in gaining the ends which the women are, they would have used such means long ago, and it is surprising that such means have not been more frequently used." nore frequently used."
She said that as a body the party has used four important means which have been criticized. The first was putting questions to public speakers. This right was refused the women altho it would have been granted to the men.

Then they petitioned the prime minister, which was considered the right of the English people, but these petitions were refused. While they were attempting to do this as means at 200 attempting to do this, as many as 200 were arrested in one day. When they found that this was of no avail, they next tried to oppose the government by election, and in this, have been somewhat more successful. Their last act, which has been judged must severally which has been judged most severely, is the breaking of windows. Miss Pankirst explained that this was mostly mbolical with the idea of showing the present electorate that they must the present electorate that they must awake. Then again it was hoped that there might be some practical gain since the insurance companies, who would have to stand the loss, would remonstrate with the government that women were bound to get the vote, and thus they might as well give in and says this loss. save this loss Miss Pankhurst gave a very intéresting account of her imprisonment, pre-senting in a direct forceful manner the reasons she had for acting as she did. Here the earnestness of Miss Pank-hurst in her mission was very evident, and her quiet but forceful manher showed why she should be chosen as their representative over here.

Under the auspices of the Canadian Lyceum Bureau Miss Pankhurst will lecture in Toronto on the evening of March 4, at the Association Hall, and seats may be reserved now at the Bell Piano Ticket Eureau, 146 Yonge-street

An Englishman's Impressions of Canadian Cities

Montreal, Feb. 1.

My Dear Franklin: This will likely be my last letter from Montreal, at least for some time. I have decided to jog on down the line and spend a few days with friends in Toronto. I must say that I have enjoyed my stay here immensely. True, I have had a few unpleasant little experiences, but who does not have unpleasant experiences occasionally?

I always did hate making mistakes, "putting my foot in it," as they say in this country, but don't you know I've sort of got calloused to it, and I can now make a blunder without feeling the slightest discomfort or the tiniest regret. I used to be so self-conscious that I imagined I was the only monkey in the cage. Then I took to watching of the real sting of the real sting of the slightest discomfort or the tiniest regret. I used to be so self-conscious that I imagined I was the only monkey in the cage. During a recent conversation with my friend the distinguished looking and spread a few paragraphs of his past life out before me for my inspection and sympathy. #### It's the Corsets That Count When Ordering Your Spring Costume

Woolnough Corsets are made of a soft, pliable, unstretchable material singularly adapted for the production of the sumple, undulating lines dictated by present fashions. The Cut, Texture and boning are far different from the ordinary make. A glove-like fit is obtained for hips, bust and waist, yet retaining flexibility and absolute freedom in breathing and movement. Perfect shapeliness is ensured without any discomforting pressure.

Ready-to-wear Corsets, up from ..... 1.05 Tailored-to-order Corsets, up from ..... 3.50 Mail orders most carefully executed.

Bech one of the above four lines of figures spells a word. This most interesting puzzle can be solved with a little study, as follows: There are twenty-six letters in the alphabet, and we have used a fures in spelling the four words instead of letters. Letter A is number 1, B aumber 2, C number 3, etc., throughout the alphabet.

USE YOUR BRAINS. Try and make out the four words. ACT QUICKLY. This is a chance for elever persons to win Cash and other Prizes with a little effort. Write the four words, with your name and address, neathy on a piece of paper or post card and mail to us, and we will write you at once, telling you all about it. You may win a valuable prize. Act Promptly.

"St. Elmo." for decades a novel that has wrung the hearts of romantic maidens, has brought the touch of remorse to the sated roue and has taught even the preacher his lesson of forgiveness, has been done into a play by Williard Holcomb and will be presented at the Grand. Whatever may be said of the play taken from Mrs. Augusta Evans Wilson's brilliant novel, it will be adwilson's brilliant novel, it will be adouther into a partial acceptance of each mitted that it is built of excellent material. Dramatic in plot and atmosphere, the book has for all these years phere, the book has for all these years first meeting being on the duelling been the reservoir of inspiration for a strong play. The story as read by those in the time when the code duello was who betrayed him, according to the code. To her then a crude country considered a necessity in every gentle-code. To her, then a crude country man's education, was a strong satire lass, unusel to the vaunted chivalry of against the futile slaughter which that the southern artistocracy, this seemed practice effected. Like duelling, that only murder, and this is the last thing part of the story has become obsolete, she gives up when she goes to St. Elmo hat does not hinder the duelling in the last act to prevent his killing scene in the first act from attaining the himself.
