TRADES AND LABOR MEN TOOK IMPORTANT STAND IN CONVENTION TODAY

John E. Mee, President of Congress, Will Be Candidate for Federal House in St. Mary's Division, Montreal--Labor Congress Favors Establishment of Campaign Fund and will Ask Government for Bounty on Steel Ships.

A very important meeting of the National Trades and Labor Congress was held this morning in the O. M. B. A. rooms on Union St. Towards the close of the meeting L. Simard, of Quebec, delivered a stirring speech, in the French language on the way in which the supporters of the Trades and Labor Congress should assist any vicarious or municipal honors and referred in eloquent language to the manner in which that spirit is being promoted in England and other countries.

MONCTON IS DRY TODAY

Number of Saloon Keepers Put Shutters up SAY THEY'VE CLOSED Bad Fire in American Hotel This Morning

CAUSED BY ESCAPING GAS

Conspiracy Case Against A. W. Belyea and Duncan Stevenson -- Belyea Says Prosecution Has Ulterior Object.

MONCTON, Sept. 14.—(Special).—A number of saloon keepers have put up their shutters as a result of the recent order issued by the new chief of police to officers to notify the liquor sellers to close. It is alleged it is impossible to get a drink of liquor in Moncton today, but this is probably an exaggeration of the situation. The blinds are drawn on all Main street bars and the statement has gone forth that they are closed.

THE STEAMER GENA WITH MALARIAL FEVER ABOARD REACHED PORT LAST NIGHT

Steward of Steamer Died of Disease and was Buried at Sea --Five Other Members of Crew now in Hospital III-- Steamer Came Here from South Africa--Dr. March Says Cases Are Not Very Serious.

Five men, suffering from malarial fever, and the report that one man had died from the same disease, was the discovery made by Dr. J. E. March, of the Quarantine Station, when he boarded the steamer Genoa from Doker, South Africa, this morning. The sick men have been taken to the General Public Hospital, where they will be cared for.

LIVELY ROW ON CALVIN AUSTIN

One Negro Employee Strikes Another With Glass Tumbler

There was quite a lively row on board the Calvin Austin last night, while she was on her way here. It seems two of the negro employees got into an altercation, and in the mix-up that followed one man hit the other on the head with a glass tumbler, cutting him quite severely. There was talk of an arrest when the boat reached St. John, but friends of the combatants got together and the matter was patched up by the man who did the damage agreeing to pay the doctor bills.

ACCIDENT AT LIKELY MEN

Mr. Likely and Three Men Carried Into Yard by Falling Log.

What might have resulted in a very serious accident occurred this morning at 11:30 o'clock at J. A. Likely's saw mill on Main St. Mr. Likely and three employees were taking a pitch pine log out on the run when it went off the run and fell into the yard below, a distance of some twelve or fifteen feet. Mr. Likely and his men were carried off the run also by the piece of timber, and they fell into the yard. Employees nearby rushed to their aid and it was found that beyond a severe shaking up the men were not injured. Mr. Likely, however, had to be taken to his residence at No. 9 Garden street in a coach.

OBJECT TO "RED TAPE"

Non-Resident Sportsmen Have a Grievance Against Crown Land Department.

FREDERICTON, N. B., Sept. 14.—(Special).—Many complaints are heard from the non-resident sportsmen over the action of the crown lands department in refusing to issue hunting licenses until the opening day of the big game season. Yesterday a gentleman and wife from Scotch Lake refused licenses and today another, who had travelled all the way from Germany to have a few weeks hunting here had a similar experience. They cannot see the necessity for so much red tape in a simple business transaction.

EXPERT BURGLARS AT WORK IN ATHOL

A Safe Was Blown Their Last Night and Over $800 Taken

AMHERST, Sept. 14.—(Special).—D. F. Archibald's store at Athol, this county, was broken into last night and over eight hundred dollars in cash taken, from the safe, which was blown open. From the appearance of the surroundings this morning, three or four had evidently been engaged in the work and were experts in their business. There is as yet no clue to the perpetrators. The police along the line have been notified. Chief Archibald, of the Amherst force has been communicated with, Athol, is a village about 16 miles from Amherst. The I. E. runs nearby, the station being about three-quarters of a mile from Archibald's store, which is the only business place in the village.

METHODIST CONFERENCE

MONTRÉAL, Sept. 14.—(Special).—A proposition is now being discussed in the general conference mission committee, which involves the reconstruction of the entire missionary administration. This is none other than the abolition of the offices of general secretary and associate secretary, and the substitution thereof of home and foreign secretaries. An alternative proposition is the appointment of a general secretary, one or two associate secretaries and an under secretary to relieve the general secretary of routine work.

The General Superintendency of the Methodist Church in Canada is a great post. Its occupant, Rev. Dr. Albert Orman, who will preside at the General Conference, opening in Montreal today, although he has passed the span of life indicated by the Palmist, is one of the most forceful orators of the day. After bearing a fiery call to the watch tower, couched in the imagery, Dr. Orman is so great a master of one learns with surprise that the General Superintendency was born in June, 1833, over seventy-three years ago. He is of U. E. Loyalist stock on both sides, and was born at Iroquois, where his father was a man of substance, and a prominent figure in public affairs. Dr. Orman ripened early. He took his B. A. at Victoria in 1855, and in the same year, at the age of two and twenty, became head master of Dundas Grammar School. Two years later he went to what is now known as Albert College, then Belleville Seminary, to teach mathematics. In 1858 he became Principal, and remained there till 1874, when he was chosen Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church in Canada.

CONVICTED OF MURDER

LYONS, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Frank Klanis, aged 25 years, unmarried, a Lithuanian, yesterday was convicted of murder in the second degree before Justice Robson at the September term of the supreme court. He was sentenced to life imprisonment at Auburn prison. The crime for which Klanis was convicted was that of shooting and killing Mary A. Brouski, a Lithuanian, for a gang of Lithuanian workmen at Macedon, on January 9 last.

The American Hotel had a narrow escape from destruction by fire between one and two o'clock this morning. An explosion of gas took place in McKee's barber shop located in the west end of the hotel and was heard by Norman Innes, night clerk in the hotel. He thought first some one was trying to break in the hotel and upon investigation discovered the fire. F. C. Smyth, a guest at the hotel, was in the house and others rushed to the scene. The flames were extinguished after a hard fight without much damage being done. The fire was out when the fireman arrived. There was a strong wind blowing at the time and if the blaze had not been discovered at its inception the hotel could not have escaped destruction and it is difficult to tell where the fire might have ended. The guests at the American received scare and turned out in a hurry. But little damage was done to the barber shop. The fire is supposed to have originated from a leak in the gas pipe, which is thought because ignited before the gas was turned off last night.

DOUKHOBORS WANT NO SCHOOLS

LANGHAM, Sask., September 13.—The Doukhobors have flatly refused to pay school taxes on their lands, saying that as they have always refused to have their children educated, let them learn evil things, they will not pay money for school purposes. The authorities here are puzzled to know how to get the tax from them. The Doukhobors have thoughtfully lost no time in taking their crops from the land within the Langham school district.

Victorious and Defeated Candidates for Governor in the Maine Election.

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

A CONTROVERSY. The waterworks director replied that the west side drainings was to have been started in 1898, and has been a source of trouble ever since. If the water board were as slow as the board of works he would throw up his job and retire to his mansion on the shores of the Dry Lake. The director of the board of works hotly replied that it would be more to the purpose if the other official would stop the burning of the old water mains when the new pressure is turned on--if that should ever come to pass. It was at this juncture that the director of the board of safety offered a satirical observation concerning officials who stung about how slow their respective departments are. The remark was filled. Both the director of public works and the director of the waterworks turned on the director of public safety, and with exaggerated politeness enquired what voice when he would finish that title job of providing the county market with sanitary conveniences. It had been talked about for five years, and had been under way for many months. Would it be completed this year--or next? An eye-witness stated that the director of public safety glared at the two questioners and strode off without a word. Then the other two directors glared at each other for a moment and also parted in silence. Wages are now being laid on the completion of the three jobs involved in the controversy, but there is no time limit. The bets are made in this form: "I bet that, if we live to see it, Director will have his job finished first. In case of death, all bets off."

CUBAN SITUATION

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—A London dispatch to the Sun says that the news of the landing of American marines at Havana confirms the opinion held at the British capital that American intervention in Cuba cannot be long delayed. The Standard editorially blames the United States for the present disorder. It says that President McKinley's intervention was carried out in the name of peace and civilization, but the net result is renewed tumult, barbarism and savagery. Either the Americans must tolerate anarchy in Cuba or exercise an effective protectorate. President Roosevelt would doubtless act promptly and vigorously if he did not have to think of the election campaign. Whatever the final issue it will be condemned by the Democrats, who are standing aside ready to make political capital out of the result. The Morning Post says that Cuba is not strong enough to work out her own salvation. She cannot without American support maintain a government and secure the progress of the country. Much as the American government may regret the necessity for taking a step which will be unpopular with a large section of the country, she will not be able to refrain permanently from taking it. The destiny of the United States stands behind her and urges her imperatively on to the next step in her overseas expansion.

HORSE TRAINER DEAD

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 14.—Millard Sanders, the trainer and driver of Lou Dillon and other horses, was thrown from a sulky at the State Fair grounds yesterday and seriously hurt. Sanders was driving a horse in the slow ring, and in making a sharp turn the wheel of the sulky gave way. The review case from the city court, of J. Dalsell v. Andrew Devar for a quarter's rent of a house at Red Head, came up in chambers before Judge Forbes today and argument was heard. Judgment was reserved.

MR. FIELDING IS UNSEATED

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 14.—(Special).—Chief Justice Weatherbe and Justice Thomsen of the supreme court of Nova Scotia, have reported to the speaker of the House of Commons that Mr. Fielding has been unseated for "quoans and Schaburne" and therefore the constituency is vacant. Upon that point both are agreed. They also report that an appeal has been taken on the personal charges to the supreme court. So far the supreme court has received no notice of the appeal. Magistrate Ritchie, referring to the Sun's statement that John McDonald did not take any of the jail prisoners to Quebec last night, as no arrangements had been made, said that arrangements might have been made but Mr. McDonald had not called upon him a second time as he had promised. His honor said also that he gave no decision in the matter at all.

HAMPTON RESIDENTS GOT LITTLE SLEEP LAST NIGHT

HAMPTON, N. B., Sept. 14.—(Special).—The protest of Hampton residents against the railway authorities turning a drift upon this community forty or fifty men, many of them in liquor and quarrelsome, because of them had no transportation, so was done last night, had little effect in removing the difficulties thereby created, and had it not been that Mr. McDonald finally decided to abandon the unpaved road and proceed by the midnight express with the thirty ticket holders, the whole crowd would have been there still, after being homeless all night and exposed to a howling tempest of wind and rain. When the midnight train came in all the men rushed to board, but the ticket-

POLICE COURT

In the police court this morning, Joseph Hawes was fined $20 for assaulting Alex. J. Hayley and Capt. Joseph Hatt, on the South Wharf yesterday.

Hawes pleaded guilty to the second offence, but would not make any definite plea on the first. The evidence showed that he had been drinking at the time. Hawes had on him when arrested $37 in cash and a cheque for $125. Three common drinks were fined $4 each and one was sentenced to $8 or two months.

John Vallis, teamster for J. R. Vawter, grocer on Bridge street, met with a painful accident yesterday. While attending his horse he was taken on the knee, and as a result of the accident is now confined to his home.

SENT UP FOR TRIAL FOR STEALING SKIRT

Preliminary hearing in the case against Mitchell Kreutz, charged with stealing from the Ferris Hotel, a week ago today, was concluded at this morning's session of the police court and the prisoners were sent up for trial. William S. Ferris, proprietor of the Ferris Hotel, identified the prisoners as the parties who came to his hotel last Friday night and registered as man and wife. The man signed the register and asked for a room. Witness told him he could have it and he showed him the stairs. The man paid in advance. Kreutz did not even ask the price but gave him fifty cents; and added that he did not want any breakfast. It was a front room they occupied.

Police Serg. Caples swore that he, with Detective Killen and Mr. Ferris, found the defendant on Union street, Killen asked Kreutz if he had registered at the Ferris hotel on the previous evening in company with a woman, Kreutz said he had. The detective asked him if the woman was his wife, and Kreutz gave an evasive reply and when asked where the woman was, he refused to say. Killen told him the skirt had been stolen from the hotel and told the young man he wanted to see the woman. Kreutz at last told him and he and witness went to her in the New Victoria Hotel. Witness heard the woman admit to the detective that she had taken the skirt and was sorry for it. She said she would not have taken it but Kreutz told her to, she said she had never taken anything before. Witness saw her take the skirt from her trunk and hand it to Detective Killen.

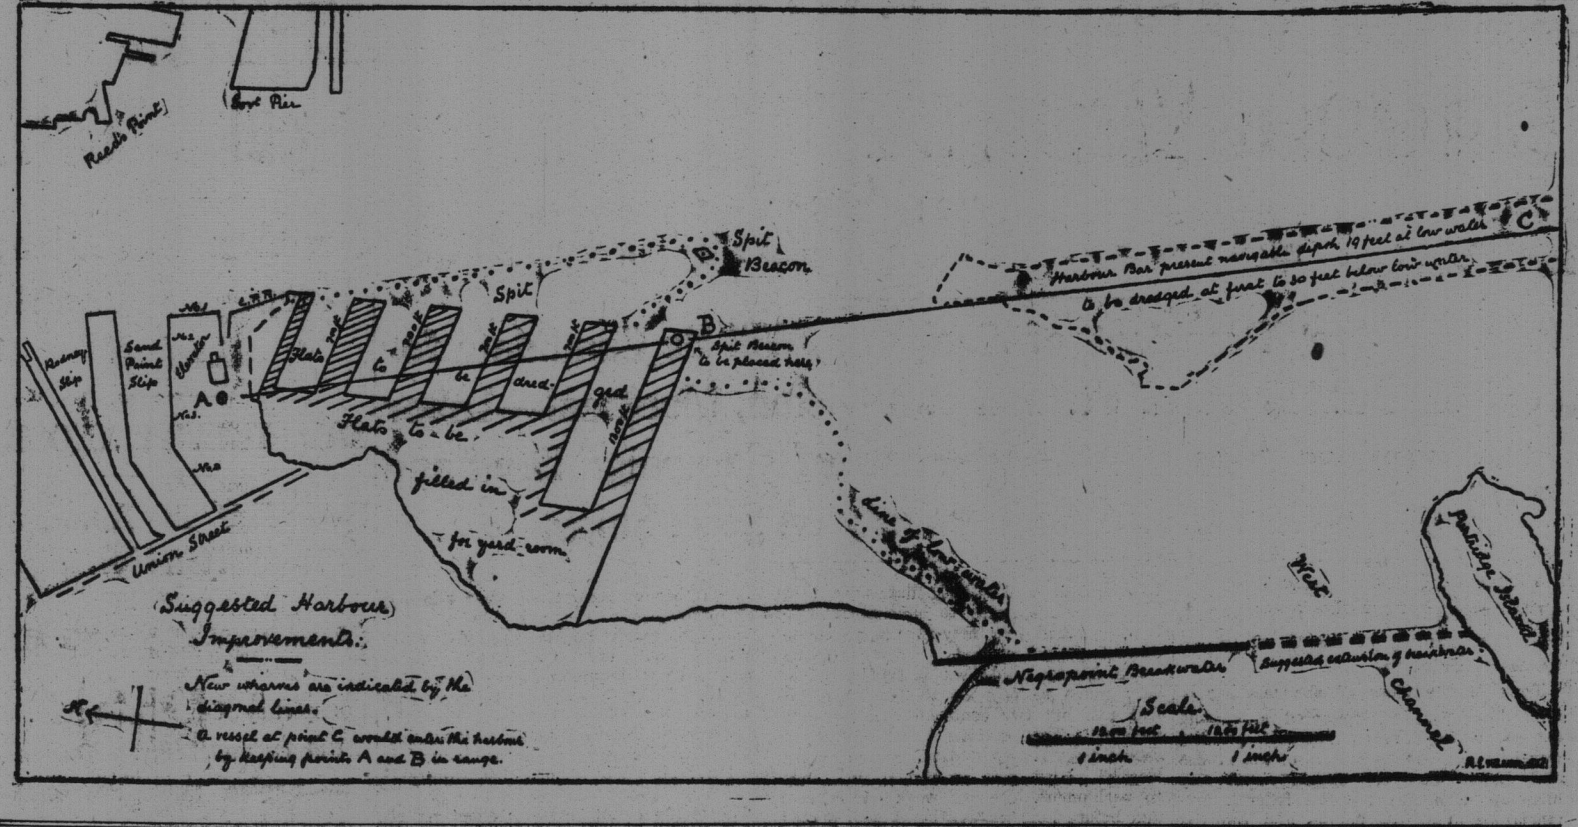

Caples then told of finding Kreutz almost an hour later in Miss Doyle's boarding house on Pond street, and arresting him. Kreutz asked if the skirt had been found with her and witness said it had; to which the prisoner replied "Good God, is that so?" Serg. Caples produced the articles found on Kreutz at the time of his arrest. Detective Killen said that when the girl gave the skirt to him she said Kreutz told her when at the hotel she could take anything she liked, and it would be all right. Later, on reaching the cell in Central Station she gave him the waist. Witness produced both of the stolen articles. The prisoners were asked to stand up, and in reply to a question from his honor the girl said: "I have nothing to say." The unfortunate girl seemed very uneasy during the proceedings, and finally gave way to tears. Kreutz, on the other hand, listened attentively to the evidence and several times would have interrupted witness had it not been for the counsel, P. S. Ritchie. King Killey appeared for the girl, and there was some discussion over a legal point as to a husband's responsibility for his wife's actions, and it was pointed out that the law provides that a husband is responsible for his wife's crime. It was argued that there was no evidence in this case to show that the girl was acting as a prostitute, and that the Wilson girl was Kreutz's wife.

Engineer Shewen's Plan for 12 New Deep Water Harbor Berths

THE SCARLET PIMPEREL BY BARONESS ORCZY.

(Continued.) "All right again this time, Froulkes?" asked Lord Antony at last. Sir Andrew had been dreaming evidently gazing into the fire, and seeing therein, no doubt, a pretty, piquant face, with large brown eyes and a wealth of dark curls round a childish forehead. "Yes," he said, still musing, "all right!" "No hits?" "None." Lord Antony laughed pleasantly as he poured himself out another glass of wine. "I need not ask, I suppose, whether you found the journey pleasant this time?" "No, friend, you need not ask," replied Sir Andrew gaily. "It was all right."

IN THE OPERA BOX. It was one of the gala nights at Covent Garden Theatre, the first of the autumn season in this memorable year of grace 1792. The house was packed, both in the smart orchestra boxes and the pit, as well as in the more plebeian balconies and galleries above. Gluck's Orpheus made a strong appeal to the more intellectual portions of the house, whilst the fashionable women, the gaily-dressed and brilliant throng, spoke to the eye of those who cared but little for this "latest importation from Germany."

Here and there, dotted about among distinctly English types of beauty, one or two foreign faces stood out in marked contrast: the haughty aristocratic cast of countenance of the many French Royalist emigrants who, persecuted by the relentless revolutionary faction of their country, had found a peaceful refuge in England. On these faces sorrow and care were deeply written; the women especially had but little head, either to the music or to the brilliant audience; no doubt their thoughts were far away with husband, brother, son maybe, still in peril, or lately succumbed to a cruel fate.

"Oh, I wasn't paying the way for myself," rejoined the delegate from Ingersoll, "fill up the pulpits with the balance of your men, and finish the job you have started."

HEARST AND JEROME Collier's Weekly seldom assails a public man with such vigor as is shown in its attack upon William Randolph Hearst. The manner in which it contrasts him with Mr. Jerome is an indication of the bitterness with which Mr. Hearst will be opposed because of his career as a journalist and politician. We quote: "Two political figures have been expressing freely in New York their views of what is the meaning of Democracy. One of them, by the ownership of many newspapers, has been able to make the most sensational appeal practically his own. He has become a trust and made of violence a monopoly. Many of our readers follow him and ask us to make more convincing our opinion that he is a demagogue. Such allegations are not proved by fact. Whoever reads the Hearst newspapers and finds them inspired by candor, justice, tenderness, and conscience, by love of purity, sweetness, and spiritual light, is probably beyond our reach. The newspapers speak for themselves. They are the daily full expression of the politician and the man. Whoever finds in them a tone, an accent, a soul which he deems noble and uplifting, should vote for Mr. Hearst. He who finds in them a coarsening of human morals and of the human mind, a contempt for veracity and for conscience, an exploitation of obscenity, crime, and hatred, will hardly accept as the beacon of his soul a man whose nature is expressed by journalism that degrades."

AN ONTARIO AMHERST The Times has devoted considerable space of late to the town of Amherst, and its record as a manufacturing centre. The record is an inspiring one, and full of encouragement for other communities. From Ontario there has come to this paper the record of another town, somewhat larger, which has without exceptional advantages developed in a quite remarkable way as an industrial centre. It is the town of Berlin.

AN ONTARIO AMHERST (Continued) "Busy Berlin" is the phrase on the cover of the annual report of the board of trade of that town for the year 1905, and it is amply justified by the facts set forth in the pages of the report. For example: "In all our years of continuous growth, the record of 1905 stands out as the 'best year' of our prosperity. With an increase in population of 854, making our total nearly 12,000; with an increase in assessment of $301,432, bringing our total assessed value up to nearly $5,000,000; with an addition of 300 new residences during the year (and yet no vacant houses); as well as a number of new industries located, together with many important extensions to our manufacturing establishments, some having doubled their capacity, we have, during the year that is past, established a record hard to beat."

Replying to the remark that other towns and cities have facilities superior to those possessed by Berlin, and to the question: "How do you account for the progress your town is making?" the report says: "The people of Berlin are a unit in anything that pertains to the advancement and upbuilding of their town. They have faith in its future and never lose an opportunity of saying a kind word for the town to which they belong. In a word, it is the loyalty of her citizens that has made Berlin."

Amherst, N. S., gives the same reply to the same question. It is worthy of attention in some larger cities. The Berlin board of trade has about 300 members, probably the largest membership in Ontario, outside of Toronto. The president in his address urges that free sites and fixed taxation be offered new industries, and that steps be taken to advertise the town in manufacturers' journals and trade publications. They had a "Made in Berlin" exhibition last year.

It is noted that one hundred years ago the site of Berlin was a dense forest, and the first industry was a blacksmith shop established in 1830. A considerable portion of the settlers in the early years were Germans, and they have done much for the upbuilding of the town. We quote again: "The three pioneer industries of the town are the furniture, leather and button manufacturing, but during the last thirty years numerous other industries have been added, among them those for the manufacture of boots and shoes, shirts and collars, gloves and mitts, etc. The important productions exhibited at the 'Made in Berlin' exhibition were: Household and office furniture, interior hardwood decorations, store fixtures, pianos, leather, wood-working machinery, boilers and engines, farm-gear, gas and gasoline engines, shirts and collars, rubbers, boots and shoes, felt goods, trunks, valises, suspenders, glue, robes, clothing, clocks, lager, cigars, gas and electric meters, aluminum goods, whitewear goods, overall, shoes and stove blacking, sugar, doors and window sashes, as well as many other lines."

Among the other lines mentioned in the report are paper boxes, plumbers' supplies, automobiles, mattresses and upholstered goods, chemical products, ladders, washing machines, brick, tiles, brooms, brushes, combs, biscuits and confectionery. Berlin has a collegiate institute where manual training and domestic science are taught. The town owns its waterworks plant, and light and power plant, which is on a paying basis. The reports state that "Berlin expends more for educating its children in the public and separate schools and Collegiate Institute than any town or city of its size in Canada." The total value of the output of the factories of Berlin for the year 1905 was $6,818,000. The number of hands employed was 3,475, of whom 2,000 were males and 875 females. The wages paid totalled $1,312,050. In ten years the population has grown from 8,687 to 11,715; and the civic assessment from $2,939,290 to $4,931,000. The imports in 1905 were valued at $1,823,900, an increase of over $1,100,000 in eight years.

THE TIDE OF TIME

"All the rivers run into the sea; yet the sea is not full; unto the place from whence the rivers come thither they return again.—Ecc. 1: 7. All the rivers find the sea, And all the years eternally. The rivulet that idles on Where high the reeds tremulous, Or laughs beside the flowered lawn, Or flutters the spicy salutar, Or breaks and leaps and shows and brawls With echoes from the farther hills, Still hark the sea's incessant call. And flows on as that calling will. The rivers of the varied moods That sing across the evening plain, Or in the forest solitude, Within the heart of time there lies The tide of time that flows and flows: Within the heart of time each dawn And golden noon and twilight grey And every moment comes or goes Has known its part to go or stay. So all the smiles and all the tears, And grief and joy live o'er and o'er, And on the bosom of the years Which come from some eternal shore, Rise out of that eternity Which never ends and shall endure: And what has been and what shall be Knew, and shall know, that have been sure. All the rivers find the sea, And all the years eternally.—W. D. Nesbit, in Friends' Intelligencer.

IN LIGHTER VEIN

One of the richest gold finds in Australia was made by a boy who picked up a stone to throw at a crow, and noticed that there was gold in the stone. When he reported the fact to the local government officer the warden endeavored to notify the governor by telegraph. He was, however, too excited to be rational. "A boy picked up a stone to throw at a crow," he wired, and the amazed official, unable to guess what there was of significance in the event, replied: "Yes, and what happened to the crow?"

TIMELY TOPIC

"How's your wife?" "She's having constant trouble with her head." "Can't the doctor help her?" "No—nobody but the milliner."—Cleveland Leader.

JUST AS GOOD

"George," she said, after she had accepted him: "tell me, am I your first and only love?" "Why—er—no, dear," replied the drug clerk, dreamily, "but you are something just as good."—Philadelphia Press.

SHE WAS CAREFUL

A woman whose throat had troubled her for a long time grew impatient at the slow progress she was making, and consulted her doctor. "Madam, I can never cure you of this throat trouble unless you stop talking and give your throat a complete rest," said the medico. "O doctor," objected the patient, "talking can't affect me! I'm very careful. I never use harsh language!"—Tit-Bits.

PROOF OF THE PUDDING

Mrs. Johnston—Do you think that our sending Edith to the cooking classes has done any good? Mr. Johnston—Certainly it has. Mrs. Johnston—But, then, the things she cooks are so unsteady that we have just to give them away to tramps at the door. Mr. Johnston—Well, haven't you noticed that we have almost entirely got rid of the tramps?—Tit-Bits.

IT WAS A HEN

It was not Lord Curzon of Kedleston, but an earlier Viceroy of India, who found himself at a city banquet next to a portly alderman. "My grandfather knew Napoleon," said the latter to the distinguished guest. "The Emperor gave him a lovely snuff-box. There is a hen on the lid." "Dear me!" replied the viceroy. "It is probably an eagle, not a hen." "No; it is a hen," persisted the alderman, proudly displaying the initial "N" of the emperor's name, in brilliant on the lid.

DROWNED TRYING TO LAND BIG FISH

COBURG, Ont. Sept. 13.—(Special)—W. H. Ash, of Hamilton township and an ex-public school teacher, and Rev. Mr. Tippet, a student pastor, who has been supplying at Cold Springs Congregational church this summer, went out on Rice Lake yesterday in a canoe to fish. They had succeeded in hooking a large musk-ellonge and in trying to land the fish upset the canoe. Mr. Tippet could swim, but Mr. Ash could not. The former caught his companion and after he lost consciousness got him moored to the upturned canoe. When assistance arrived, however, Mr. Ash's life was found to be extinct.

NEW LONG DISTANCE LINE

The New Brunswick Telephone Co. has opened a new long distance line between Newcastle and Campbellton, thereby giving towns on the North Shore direct communication with all parts of the province. Up to this time points north of Newcastle had no telephonic connection with the rest of the province. Communication was had between a St. John subscriber and a Campbellton subscriber and they pronounced the conversation as being a success.

The Herald Square moving picture, presented by the Robins and Wallin Co., in the Opera House last night attracted a fair sized audience. The pictures are very entertaining and much enjoyment was had when it was shown "How the sergeant was fooled." The miser's home was another very attractive scene, and many others of a similar kind added greatly to the success of the exhibition.

With the cold fall winds come thoughts of pleasure within doors—bridge-whist, dancing, church socials and the innumerable little soirees which gather together our friends and acquaintances and go so far to pass away and shorten the long winter evenings; and now that some good players are booked here for the first time, the ever popular bridge parties followed by dainty little suppers which possess peculiar charms for both hostess and guests.
 How delightful it is to note that the old forms of merry making are once more being revived and how it would gladden the hearts of the old folks to see the never-to-be-forgotten minutiae of how memories of the past would be recalled by the stately collocation of the summer-festivals, and how the new has already been rumored in circulation of a delightful little quilting party, where, at the close of everything is cleared away and the party is over. This is only the beginning, and just how much work the young people will do, remains to be seen; but it is to be hoped that they will not with the same direction as did their grand-dames, under the ever-watchful eyes of their superiors.

DR. PUGSLEY WAS IN WRECK
 He Tells Graphic Story of C. P. R. Disaster at Azida.

Montreal, Sept. 13.—Hon. William Pugsley, attorney general of New Brunswick, Mrs. Pugsley and their two sons, William and John; E. W. Dowling, secretary to David Russell; Mr. James and Mr. Smiley, who also belong to Mr. Russell's staff; and Mr. Barnes, of St. John (N. B.), who were passengers on the Canadian Pacific transcontinental express which crashed into the harvesters excursion train near Sudbury Wednesday morning, arrived in Montreal today.
 Dr. Pugsley and his family had been in Winnipeg for some days and he and Mr. Russell's representatives had been away partly on business and partly on pleasure. They, with Dr. Kenyon and Dr. Pugsley were travelling in a private car, which was the last vehicle in the east-bound transcontinental express last ran in the harvesters excursion train with such disastrous results.
 Dr. Pugsley gives a vivid description of the wreck which he witnessed at 7 o'clock in the morning, instead of one o'clock, as stated.
 The passengers in Dr. Pugsley's car felt the impact of the collision and some were thrown to the floor. The fish car which was between the dining car and the express car, was literally ground to pieces. The tourist car on the westbound train was telescoped by the baggage car.
 "The spectacle was as pitiful as could be imagined. Poor fellows dead and wounded lay under the debris of the wrecked car. Some were fearfully mangled and mutilated, limbs dismembered, in some cases, and bodies gashed and torn while the wreckage was smeared with the blood still flowing in copious streams from the victims."
 "There was one particularly sad case, that of the Schade family, consisting of father and mother and two little girls, Vera and Olga, aged 12 and 10, respectively. They were still alive when we saw them, but they expired soon in the presence of the father and mother. The mother, herself, was suffering from cuts and bruises and was taken to the hospital at Sudbury, but the father escaped. The sight of the children, appearing to die, is one that can never be effaced from the memories of those who saw it."
 "Another case that came under my notice," said Dr. Pugsley, "was that of two young men. One of them was seated with his head projected out of the window. He jumped out and alighted on the track unhurt. His companion, who remained on his seat, was killed."
 "As to the cause of the accident Dr. Pugsley said:
 "The statement made to me by the conductor of the train was that, he gave the signal for the engine to apply the brakes but he found they would not work."
 "Did you hear the engineer say that the air brake installation of the train had been tampered with, that one of the 'angle cocks' on the rubber tubes connecting the airbrake apparatus had been tampered with, that the handle of the latter part of the train had been practically disconnected and that the air line was consequently useless."
 "I had no conversation with the engineer," replied Mr. Pugsley. "I have since learned that a statement to that effect has been made, but I am not in a position to discuss it. I may say that the collision took place at the east end of the switch, at the east end of the siding, and I believe that, if the east-bound train had been only a minute later, no collision would have occurred."

RECOVERY DOUBTFUL
James Steeves Hurt in Mispac Mill will Probably Die.
 An accident which may result fatally, occurred yesterday at the Mispac Pulp mill when an employe, James Steeves, aged 29, was struck on the head by a lever of the mill's drive gear.
 No one seems to know just how the accident happened. The young man was found unconscious in the flame where he had evidently been hurled a distance of about 20 feet—when struck by the lever.
 Drs. G. O. Baxter and A. A. Lovin, who were summoned by telepho, found the skull severely fractured. Mr. Steeves was taken to his boarding house, where everything possible was done for him. A nurse left in attendance, as his condition was considered too serious to allow of his removal to the city.
 Mr. Steeves, who is a son of William Steeves, of Mispac, is a machinist by trade and is spoken of as a bright and promising young man. On enquiry last evening from the doctors who attended him it was learned that a piece of bone had been found pressing on the brain and that his recovery was very doubtful.

The use of furze in paper making suggests a new class of materials to take the place of the rapidly disappearing timber supply. On boiling under pressure with caustic soda lye, treating with sulphuric acid, bleaching with chloride of lime and finally washing the green plant is converted into a soft white and solid pulp, which has proven very suitable for paper-making purposes.

HEAD OF FORESTERS IN THE INSURANCE INQUIRY

TORONTO, Sept. 14.—(Special).—Owing to a new line of evidence which unexpectedly developed in the Home Life inquiry before the insurance commission, the investigation into the affairs of the I. O. F. was deferred until yesterday afternoon. Supreme Chief Ranger Dr. Oronhyatekha, Miss George E. Foster, Walker Nesbitt, K. C. and others who were in court, after waiting some time, retired. The new line of evidence proved interesting and somewhat intricate to follow. It transpired that Mr. McCutcheon's contract for commission was based upon the payment of $20,000 to Mr. Patterson. The evidence of Messrs. Straton, McCutcheon and Warren, was that up to the present moment the arrangement was that Mr. Patterson was to receive $20,000, and all documents were prepared on that basis. When Mr. Straton went to the bank and cashed a cheque for $20,000, which he paid him in cash, the documents, however, were not amended and Mr. McCutcheon signed his contract, which provided for the repayment of $20,000 out of his commission. Mr. Straton gave a cheque for $10,000 which he has since kept in the vault of the company as his personal property and depositing $10,000 cash in his own bank at Peterboro. The cheque was, it will be contended, to be applied on the $20,000 note which Mr. McCutcheon had given the bank when he assumed obligation. In the afternoon the investigation into the affairs of the I. O. F. was opened, the first witness being Dr. Oronhyatekha, who gave an historical sketch of the organization since he became connected with it in 1878. Dr. Oronhyatekha also explained the details of the organization of subordinates, high and supreme courts and enumerated the source of revenue and nature of expenditures by those several bodies, he also gave a history of a fight for domination between the I. O. F. and the F. O. M. and advised by him, that fraternal societies should not be required to meet the requirements imposed upon straight line insurance companies because of the different conditions under which they did business.

HAMPTON INFESTED BY MOB OF UNRULY LABORERS

John E. McDonald took thirty men from St. John yesterday to work on the G. T. P. at Hampton, but when the train reached Hampton all hands were put off. Many of the men had imbibed freely and sundry scraps took place. Transportation had not been issued and an attempt was made to return to St. John, but the men refused to obey the conductor until they were forced to obedience at Hampton. The majority of those who had no transportation were St. John men, who had figured more or less in police circles. It is expected that some of them will work themselves back today.
 John E. McDonald was here to get men by the firm of O'Brien & McDonald, contractors, of Montreal. After accomplishing his task he wired to Montreal for transportation for fifty, and a reply stated that arrangements had been made for the extra transportation. McDonald took the telegram to George Carroll, I. C. R. city ticket agent, but Mr. Carroll said he had no orders to give more than thirty tickets.

FIXING PRICES FOR THE FAIRVILLE LOTS

Hon. C. H. La Bellie, chief commissioner of public works, has completed the examination of lots in Fairville to be sold by the government. He was accompanied by Dr. J. V. Anglin and Gilbert Murdoch, C. E.
 Mr. La Bellie said that a valuation had been placed on two thirds of the lots, the upset price varying in most cases from $100 to $250. For the whole the valuation is in the vicinity of $8,000. He added that Mr. Murdoch was preparing a plan which could be seen at the government rooms. A large corner lot has been reserved for the present, as it was thought the residents of Fairville might desire to buy for a band stand or some other purpose. Tenders have been received and sent to Premier Tweedie, chairman of the committee.

George Robertson, M. P. P., and his daughter, Miss J. Robertson, left last evening for New York (Mass.), where Miss Robertson will begin the study of nursing.

TRAGEDY IN NOVA SCOTIA

Five Children Drowned in Lake at Port Felix Guysboro—Only One Escaped of Party of Six.

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 13—A very sad drowning accident occurred at Port Felix, Guysboro, today, by which five young people lost their lives. Minnie, aged fifteen; John, eleven; and Maggie, aged nine; children of Frank Fougere, post master and mail driver of Port Felix, accompanied by their three cousins, Clara, aged eight; and Martin, twelve; children of Joseph and Mary King, Port Felix, left their homes this morning to pick blueberries and about six miles across the lake in an old leaky flat boat, kept there for the use of berry pickers. They succeeded in reaching a small island in the lake by going two at a time in the boat, but on returning the six got in and when about two-thirds of the way across, the boat filled and turned bottom up. Maggie Fougere and Maggie King got out on the bottom, but it turned back again showing them in the water. Minnie Fougere then caught the boat and managed to paddle ashore with it. After reaching the shore Minnie says she saw the two boys looked in each other's arms and the two younger girls also had hold of each other, and the larger girl was sinking. Johnmie Fougere came out to his sister to tell his mother he was trying to swim ashore. The girl hastened to her home where she arrived in about two hours. She still heard those in the water screaming for help after she left the lake. A large searching party left for the scene of the accident, but when they reached the lake there was nothing to be seen and owing to the lateness of the hour search for the bodies had to be abandoned till morning. Mrs. Fougere wired the sad news to her husband who is at Ramford Falls, Maine.

THE BRITISH BATTLESHIP PROBLEM

There are doubtless many eminent Liberals who honestly believe in the practicability of international reduction of armament, but there appears to be no sign at present of any inclination on the part of foreign powers to give practical expression to this dream. Indeed, the very subject has been deliberately excluded from the agenda of the forthcoming Hague conference, doubtless as a result of the utterly futile discussion which took place in 1889. Moreover, signs are not wanting that the activity of the British government in this matter is regarded with considerable suspicion, and it has been suggested, more than one quarter of a century ago, that the natural desire of a world-wide empire to restrict the growth of its rivals. But even if we assume that all the powers could be persuaded to accept the principle of limitation of armaments, how could a practicable plan be devised? What tribunal could decide the fair standard of relative strength which should be observed by the various powers, and even if such a decision could be arrived at, would British, French and German dockyards, for example, be subjected to the periodic scrutiny of international inspectors? The whole idea bristles with objections, and will not for a moment bear serious examination. It is a roscian vision, very characteristic of the Liberal party, and one which does infinite credit to the hearts, if not to the heads, of those who sincerely believe in it. But it is difficult to accept the bona fides of the government in connection with this question when we bear the testimony of its past protesting on the one hand that it intends to "give the lead to foreign powers in the matter of disarmament, and almost in the same breath announcing that he is reorganizing the army so as to produce a larger and more effective striking force, for service overseas," that we have ever had before. This is not an argument that will carry much conviction to the minds of our foreign rivals, nor is it likely to strengthen their belief in our sincerity. Arthur Lee, M. P., in The National Review.

GASNOW

The Military Veterans Association at a meeting last evening were interested in a statement by the president, J. S. Eagles. He was in Boston recently and interviewed one of the officers of the British Military Veterans' Association relative to the proposed visit of that body to St. John for their annual meeting on about May 21. Mr. Eagles was asked if the St. John Association would give over the room for the British Veterans' Association.

WILL BACK FITZ AGAINST DANIE.
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 14.—Jimmy Fitzpatrick is fast thinking Nelson is impervious to a knockout punch and declares he is willing to bet $2,500 that he will be Fitzpatrick, the Brooklyn lightweight, can defeat Nelson.

MODERATE SHARKEY.
Tom Sharkey is willing to re-enter the ring with Jim Jeffries, if the Goldfield club will hang up a purse, say, of the paltry sum of $20,000. Of course this amount is of no consequence to Tom, as he would like to fight for the sport of it.

$1,000 A WEEK FOR JOE GANS.
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—Joe Gans and wife and his brother-in-law, Bob Turner, who are here, will rest a week before leaving for the east, where Gans will play ten weeks at $1,000 a week. Gans' right hand is still badly swollen. Gans says he will rest the next chance, but will arrange terms later.

NELSON LOSES HIS SWEETHEART.
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—If Bestling Nelson had beaten Joe Gans at Goldfield and retained the championship, a bride would have been his. But defeated, bruised and sore from crown to belt, he also lost his sweetheart.

Miss Blanche Saroy, an actress of Chicago, who came a long way from Lake Michigan's shore to cheer Nelson in his battle with Gans, sat in the front row at the ring side, and throughout the long fight, her voice could be heard urging the Dane to win. It was arranged there should be a wedding if Nelson won. Not once during the contest did Miss Saroy flag in her support of the white boy.

KID HERKAMP AFTER MATCH WITH GANS.
GOLDFIELD, Nev., Sept. 14.—Kid Herkamp's claim to a match with Joe Gans, aided by Herkamp's half-hearted refusal to meet the colored lad in the ring at the next big battle in Goldfield has brightened considerably. It is very likely that Nels Lewis and Tex Rickard, promoters of the Goldfield Athletic Club, will come to terms and match the men.

THE INGLE NOOK PHILOSOPHER OF KENNEDYBAY

Archbishop Bruchesi, of Montreal, Classifies Them and Applauds the C. M. B. A.

There are three classes of fraternal societies; first, those that are enemies to the church, and with which she will have nothing to do; second, those that are not really rooted in the church; third, those like the C. Continuing his address, his grace said the C. M. B. A. in Canada and the United States had at least 7,000 members, and if they could do more towards different charities if each member would contribute a small sum—say 10c., which he thought it would be between seven and eight thousand per year, could be divided among different necessitous causes, to the benefit of the poor, and to their own honor and the advertisement of the order. Many beautiful charities were scattered throughout the land which constantly needed help.

What we call the fall of the year is at hand, but who can tell us when it has been about? Miss Primrose looks up from her book with wondering eyes, startled by my query. "It is not the fall of the year," she exclaims, "when the leaves are opening, and the flowers are budding, and the grass is creeping over the meadows and hillsides, nor is it the fall of the year when the birds' nests are peopled with their young, the grain begins to turn yellow and the apples grow golden and red in the garden. Nor is it the fall of the year when nature sleeps."

AN ACCIDENT OR A SUICIDE?

Headless Body of Man Found in Railway Yard at Richmond, N. S.

HALIFAX, Sept. 14.—(Special)—A railway employe on his way to work about five o'clock this morning found the body of a man in the railway yard at Richmond with his head completely severed. It was identified as that of Charles Farrell, teamster, and up to Tuesday was employed with Maling & Co., butchers. There was no eye witness to the affair. When found the body was lying on one side of the rail and the head, completely severed at the neck, on the other.

The deceased was about 39 years of age. He resided with his only relative in the city, a brother, N. Albert St. and left the house after tea last evening to take a walk, as was customary with him. That was the last seen of him alive. About a year ago Farrell's mother and sister both died rather suddenly within a short time of each other, and he was very much affected by the double fatality. In fact he showed some signs of aberration of mind. Some weeks ago he was reported to have made an attempt to cut his throat with a razor, and was sufficiently injured to be sent to the hospital. So it could be learned this morning he gave no indication of attempting to end his life last night.

MONTREAL TAKEN BY STORM

The Montreal Sunday Times notice of the farewell performance of the Pollard Lilliputian Opera Company in that city illustrates something of the kind feeling the theatre goes have for them in all the places that they have visited. "The Academy was crowded last night from door to ceiling. Every box was filled, and probably never in the history of this popular theatre has such a large audience been assembled after last performance of any play for many years. Some idea of what would eventually follow could be gathered by the enthusiasm of the audience during the course of the comedy, and immediately after the final chorus Master Jack Pollard stepped to the front of the stage, and in a few well chosen words thanked the public and the press of the city for its generous support, and closed his remarks by calling upon Eva Moore to sing Auld Lang Syne, the chorus being heartily sung by the entire company." Arrangements have been made for the Lilliputians to open in this city on Monday next. Seats now on sale.

WEDDED ON THE WHARF

Romantic Sequel to English Girl's Trans-Atlantic Trip to Find a Husband.

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—After several hours of anxious waiting aboard the Cunard liner Saxonia, which arrived today, from Liverpool, while her avowed lover secured a marriage license and a clergyman, Miss Mary Lawson, an English girl, was married today in the detention station at the pier to Thomas Whittingham, of Lewiston, Me. Immigration officials acted as witnesses of the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Father Buckley, of the Church of the Assumption. They left then for their home in Lewiston. They were here from London, so they told the immigration officers and when Thomas came to this country fifteen months ago, he arranged to send for his promised bride. He secured a little farm near Lewiston and a few weeks ago Mary got the welcome invitation to come. The couple had planned to be married in London but to comply with the immigration rules they consented to being married on the pier.

BIG NEW INDUSTRY FOR FORT WILLIAM

A Fort William despatch says: Henry Coates, of Scotland, and Joseph Dunwoodie, of Glasgow, who have been staying at the O. P. R. hotel here, are at present on a tour through Canada with a view to selecting a site for an important industrial undertaking. After visiting a number of localities they have come to the conclusion that Fort William offers facilities superior to any other which they have seen elsewhere. They have come to this conclusion in view of the fact that the west is bound to be the chief centre of population in the future and that Fort William is the port of that region. On Saturday evening they had a conference with the town council, when a provisional agreement was come to whereby the council undertakes to obtain powers for giving a grant of twenty acres of land with a river frontage of a thousand feet and exemption from all taxation except school tax for a period of ten years. The question as to the exact location was left over for future adjustment.

Mr. Coates and Mr. Dunwoodie are organizing a stock company with a capital of $500,000, to be called the Coates Manufacturing Co. of Canada Limited, which will carry on the Canadian branches of the business in which these gentlemen are interested in Great Britain. Mr. Coates will be president of the company and Mr. Dunwoodie, who is coming to take up his residence in Fort William, will act as vice-president and managing director. The work to be carried on will embrace the manufacture of optoelectricity and certain branches of mechanical engineering. It is anticipated that within five years over a thousand hands will be employed. The attendance of the Coates people was drawn to Fort William by Sir Robert Fuller, who was much impressed by the town on a visit here a few months ago.

Mr. Coates and Mr. Dunwoodie have left for the Pacific coast, but will be back in ten days, when arrangements for commencing operations will be made. Mr. Coates is a son of the late Andrew Coates, of Paisley, founder of the world famous firm of J. & P. Coates, thread manufacturers, the stock of which company is valued at $150,000,000. The utmost satisfaction generally over the location of this gigantic works in town.

A BRUTAL MURDER

Pennsylvania Farmer's Wife Found Dead in Her Home—Head Smashed to a Pulp.

MEDIA, Pa., Sept. 13.—Mrs. E. H. Parvitt, wife of a farmer, was today taken to death during the absence of her husband at her home in Marble Township, near Harrisburg, Pa. She was found lying on the kitchen floor by her husband upon his return from a business trip to Chester. In a short time a posse of farmers was organized and a few hours later Parvitt's body was found in the hands of an unknown assailant. Her body, with the head crushed almost to a pulp, was found on the kitchen floor by her husband upon his return from a business trip to Chester. He denies all knowledge of the crime and was later released. The authorities are investigating the movements of Parvitt.

TWO MEN LOST

They Were Trawling from French Fishing Schooner When Their Dory Was Swamped.

HALIFAX, Sept. 14.—(Special).—The French fishing schooner Emile, which arrived at North Sydney last evening from St. John's, reports the loss of two of her crew four days ago on Mizzen bank. The men were attending the trawls when a gale sprung up, which prevented them from returning to the vessel. The captain of the Emile states that the heavy sea caused by the gale undoubtedly swamped the dory and the two men were drowned.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 13.—(Special).—H. M. S. Brilliant, doing fishery protection service, which ship has been cutting on the coast of Labrador, recently had a narrow escape from going ashore. She was leaving Cartwright Harbor and suddenly ran into a heavy fog bank. It was only by the careful handling of the ship and the good seamanship of the captain that prevented her going ashore. As it was the anchor had to be dropped and the Brilliant remained until the fog lifted next day, when she sailed for Hare Bay, Newfoundland.

THE PLAYGROUNDS

A meeting of the playgrounds committee of the Woman's Council was held yesterday afternoon in the King's Daughters' Guild. Miss Mabel Peters presided and there were also present Mrs. McLellan, Mrs. Pickett, Mrs. Sears, Miss Leavitt and Miss Reid. A letter of appreciation of their work, from Mayor Sears, was read, and some business transacted. There was also some discussion on the subject of supervised playgrounds for next year, the view being expressed that there should be little difficulty in securing several such grounds. The attendance at the Centennial grounds in July and August was on an average over five hundred per day.
