VISCOUNT GREY MAY BE MAN AT WASHINGTON

Lloyd George May Go When Conference Well On.

Report of Dominion Premiers Cutting Short Meetings to Get Home for Preparations for Disarmament Gathering.

London, July 12.—Viscount Grey, of Fallodon, who was British secretary of state for foreign affairs when the war began, may, says the Daily Mail, lead Great Britain's delegates to the disarmament conference to be held in Washington as a result of President Harding's proposal to the allied nations. The newspaper declares that a statement at least of the type of Viscount Grey should be chosen and that he should act with respect from the dominions at the conference.

VISCOUNT GREY

After the preliminary and technical work of the conference is completed, the Mail says, Premier Lloyd George may go to the United States to attend to the final moulding of the agreement. It appears to be the consensus of opinion that the conference will be held during the coming autumn, or at the latest during the early months of 1922. Seldom have such scenes been witnessed in the British House of Commons as that enacted there yesterday when Premier Lloyd George told of President Harding's proposal and announced Great Britain's hearty acquiescence. It was apparent that parliament, Downing street and the foreign offices looked upon the president's invitation to the allied nations to confer on the limitation of armaments as the most momentous event that they may return to their home states to prepare for the Washington conference.

It appears that the feeling in official quarters that discussions of a new project and other important matters should be held in abeyance until after the nations have met and have decided upon their future action regarding military and naval armaments. Newspapers of this city continued today to express satisfaction over President Harding's proposal and the response of the British government. They indicated that the Washington conference, not only the armament situation, but problems focusing about the Far East.

Paris, July 12.—The French government will accept with pleasure and without reserve an invitation to a conference on the limitation of armaments. This is stated in a letter sent to the United States embassy here by the government this morning for President Harding. Premier Briand later announced in the chamber of deputies that the government would eagerly accept such an invitation. He expressed thanks to President Harding for this noble initiative, while the chamber broke into cheers.

The senate in its turn was aroused to unusual enthusiasm in approval of President Harding's ideas when the announcement regarding the government's action was made to that body. It was stated at the foreign office that Premier Briand would probably represent France at the conference if circumstances permit, and that whoever was sent would go with the idea of cooperating wholeheartedly in any scheme for disarmament compatible with the security of France.

The French government it is said, is willing to discuss the limitation of land as well as naval armaments, always with the proviso that ample protection be assured against any further eventual aggression from the east. Financial circles are particularly appreciative in view of the prospect of great economies in the maintenance of the navy and the army and the consequent relief of pressure upon the treasury.

London, July 12.—(By Grattan O'Leary, staff correspondent of the Canadian Press.)—The international and imperial situation, as a result of developments over the week-end, may be summed up as follows: The British empire has welcomed and accepted President Harding's invitation for a conference of the great world powers at Washington on Pacific problems and disarmament. The Anglo-Japanese treaty still exists, but both Japan and Great Britain have agreed that it shall be brought into line with the covenant of the League of Nations, which means the

FOR WARLESS WORLD IN 1923

Christian Endeavorers Call on Harding and Congress.

Convention Declared It Bolshivism and Treason to Oppose Prohibition and Passed Resolution in Favor of the "Blue Laws."

New York, July 12.—Adopting as its new slogan "a warless world in 1923," the sixth world's Christian Endeavor convention closed its sessions last night by calling upon President Harding and Congress, "to give us disarmament by agreement if possible; by example if necessary; and give us no narrow partisanship in this black hour at all."

Declaring that opposition to national prohibition was "essential bolshivism and treason" the convention called upon congress to "speedily conclude the present naturally, therefore, we oppose the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment."

Pledging the delegates to uphold the so-called "blue laws," a resolution declared "we deprecate especially the carefully planned campaign of propaganda against so-called 'blue laws,' the design of which campaign was to discredit the Lord's Day Alliance and to make way for commercializing of Sunday by the movies and money-making sports, encouraging some-thing for prohibition and other such laws."

"We demand respect for the Christian Sabbath and endorse the aims of whatever helps young people to right living and decency and delicacy in more modest and dress, and whatever promotes happiness in homes and wholesome-ness and health in the lives of young people."

President Harding and congress and executive authorities were urged to "seek the immediate and permanent relief and protection of the suffering people of Armenia and other oppressed Bible lands of the Near East."

Elimination of the military clause to which Premier Meighen and Smuts most strongly objected. Eamon de Valera is on his way to London to meet Premier Lloyd-George, which means the prospect of a settlement in Ireland.

The British empire congress of premier, satisfied that its influence and step in world policy, is proceeding to shorten its consideration of minor subjects. The conference at Washington is not expected to be held until some time in October. It is recognized that the matter of such great moment to the world it is the better part of wisdom to make haste slowly and it is obvious that a great deal of preliminary work must be necessary before such a gathering can be got into action.

So far as Canada is concerned, it can be definitely stated that she will play part in both conferences. Premier Meighen's intention, therefore, is to reach Ottawa before August 1, and to clear up whatever political and administrative problems that are awaiting him there and prepare to go to Washington.

PREMIER ALONE TO MEET IRISH AT THE OPENING

First Conference to Explore Possibility of Settlement.

Cables All Continue in Hopeful Tone—Timothy Healy Counsel for De Valera—Belfast Outbreak, Says the Times, Will Not Imperil Truce.

London, July 12.—The parliamentary correspondence of the London Times says the arrangements for the meeting of Lloyd George and Eamon De Valera are not to be "cut and dried" but that the general snags, the South African premier, is not to be present, at the opening of the interview, but that it is understood that if Mr. De Valera desires the overseas dominions represented, formally or informally, "which will be done with cordial acquiescence."

The correspondent states that Lloyd George is prepared to see the representative of the Sinn Fein by himself or have with him such other member of the government as may appear desirable in view of the development of the situation. It is predicted that the early discussion will be on broad principles and that the latter will be devoted to setting up of committees to deal with particular subjects.

The Times says that while Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, who returned to Belfast last night owing to the outbreak of Lonsdownry, minister of education in the Belfast parliament, will remain in London. Thursday's interview, according to the correspondent, will be in the words of the premier, "to explore to the utmost the possibility of a settlement" the aim being first to discover whether the general lines of settlement can be marked out.

News received at the Irish office and reported by the parliamentary correspondent indicates that the last Sinn Fein shot was fired at 11.55 a.m. yesterday at Kingscourt, County Cavan, where a party of Sinn Fein men, led by a police patrol. No one was injured and the shot was not returned.

Most of the time he is working toward the Westfield district. The road crews have been put to work and are making strenuous efforts, but as soon as the fire is extinguished in one area it breaks out afresh in another. The intense heat makes the work of fighting very difficult.

Fredericton, July 12.—The forest fire situation today shows some improvement. The number of old fires has decreased, and no new ones of any extent were reported. The Red Band fire is reported all out. Work is proceeding regarding the Bogerville fire, which has been put under control. It is that this blaze was started by some similar causes to the Bogerville fire. A small fire is reported from Prince of Wales on the shore line. It is thought that this is not serious as the fire is being kept under control.

New York, July 12.—Ninth inning victories marked three major league contests yesterday, while two other games were decided in the eighth, which happened to be the final inning for the winning team.

In contrast, the Boston Americans, who staged a ninth inning rally against the Detroit in the second game of a double header won the game in the opening inning. The Brooklyn team were three runs behind Pittsburgh, with two out and the bases empty when the Superbas came through with hits for four runs in the ninth. The St. Louis Americans scored their winning run against Washington with two out in the ninth. The Philadelphia Nationals failed their needed runs in the eighth, to which inning the game with St. Louis reverted when rain washed away a tying run scored by the Cardinals in the eighth.

Ruth accomplished the feat of hitting a home run in every American League park this year when he smashed out his thirty-second homer in Chicago. Nearly half of the put outs in the Cincinnati-Boston game were credited to English, who is catching fourteen flies and the Reds ten. Outfielder Wrighton, of the Philadelphia Athletics, made three errors. The major league record for an outfielder is five.

Stiff Fight at Westfield and Prince of Wales.

Turf Afire Makes the Work More Difficult—Fredericton Reports from Province in General are More Hopeful.

There is very little change in the forest fire situation today at Westfield and Prince of Wales. What little wind there is from the southwest. Owing to the dryness of the ground to a considerable depth the work of fighting the flames is very arduous and apparently productive of little result.

In the Westfield area the fire extends for three or four miles in broken stretches, and every effort is being made to stamp it out. The moss is very dry and the fire penetrates into the earth to a depth of two to three feet. Between twenty and twenty-five men are engaged in fighting the fire, and the general opinion is that they have it fairly well under control.

ARREST AUTOMOBILISTS WHO RIDE THREE ON FRONT SEAT. Whitman, Mass., July 12.—Chief of Police L. L. Plimney has commenced a crusade on automobile parties who ride three on the front seat. He declares that a car cannot be operated safely under these conditions.

The chief maintains that it endangers the safety of the public, as well as the safety of the occupants of the machine. He says it is impossible to operate a car when three people, not unlike three pieces of tomato in a club sandwich, are jammed into a narrow space. The feet of the passengers interfere with the emergency brake and frequently the driver operates with only one hand. After warm-up cases may be taken to court for judicial opinion.

Imperial Has Her Today in Mrs. Humphrey Ward's "Lady Rose's Daughter" A Fine Bill.

The Price that Pays

Whatever you buy, you can nearly always find something that looks "just as good" at a lower price.

It is dangerous economy to let the price tempt you to forget quality. When you are attracted by a lower price remember that clothes such as we sell at a fair price always pay in the extra service you get.

20th Century Brand Clothes may cost more than some clothes, but they're worth all they cost. Money back if you're not satisfied.

THE HARBOR.

The harbor of St. John, like that of New York, should be the people's most highly prized possession. A statement issued by the mayor shows that the receipts from harbor revenues for the nine years from 1912 to 1920 amounted to $1,216,822.41, and the expenditures for the same nine years amounted to $1,200,860.34, showing a deficit of $4,981.13 for those years. The same statement also shows, however, that the harbor fisheries in that period yielded $72,018.03, which makes a substantial surplus. Moreover, if the statement of harbor revenue is similar to those that have hitherto appeared it leaves out the rentals of North and South Market wharves. The harbor is not a burden on the taxpayers. They should value it as an asset of the greatest possible future value. But when would happen under commission? The mayor's statement says: "The said harbor commissioners are authorized to borrow money and issue debentures to provide for the purchasing, constructing, extending and improving wharves, dry-docks, elevators, warehouses, railways and bridges in the harbor, the principal and interest of the money so borrowed to be repaid out of the revenue arising out of the rates and penalties imposed by the said harbor commission act. But the revenue must also provide interest on past government expenditure in the harbor and must take care of the present bonded harbor debt. The only stipulation is that if the commission does not pay the interest and retire at maturity the $851,292.45 in debentures which it shall issue to the city in part payment, the government must do so. All the other burdens enumerated fall upon the revenue, which must also provide the heavy cost of administration. The harbor commission act should be rejected as an insult to the people of St. John."

HEALTH MINISTRIES.

In his address before the Canadian Medical Association at its meeting in Halifax a few days ago, Hon. Dr. Roberts, minister of health for this province, made a strong plea for a separate portfolio in all the provincial governments, and also in the federal government, to be held by a health minister who possesses the necessary qualifications. Dr. Roberts said: "The health and lives of our people are Canada's chief and most valuable asset, and if it has been found necessary to set apart a special department for agriculture, and one for labor, having their respective ministers, is it not equally necessary that there should be one presiding over the health of our country? It has been said by a leading authority that 'the state or nation which fails to foster the health and lives of its citizens is lacking in the first principles of nationhood.' It has been said that the matter of health administration should not be so closely allied with politics as would obtain with a ministry of health, but permit me to say that the benefits to be derived are one hundredfold greater than any detriment that might accrue. A ministry of health makes many things in the interests of progress and development along these lines possible that heretofore have been impossible or so slow of accomplishment that their value is greatly depreciated. Regarding the preparation and passing of estimates, the minister is present to protect and explain the needs of his department. When certain legislation is needed he is present to see that it is prepared in accordance with requirements, gives the reasons why it is needed, and then is present to estimate and legislation are before the house to pilot them through. These things could not and do not obtain in the same degree where a ministry does not exist. There is another phase regarding a portfolio of health in the Dominion cabinet which I believe has never been alluded to, and it is that premiers and governments have always found it difficult in preparing their platforms to have a policy regarding any department that would suit all sections, east and middle west. A public health programme is as applicable in Nova Scotia as in Manitoba or British Columbia, or vice versa; therefore it would serve as an important factor in interesting, in common, the people of all the provinces, and proving of value from this viewpoint to the government. The time is not very far distant when public health will be the most important service of government. The Canadian health minister with the ministers of the several provinces, together with their deputies, would represent a wonderful organization, which would grapple successfully with some of the more important enemies of the physical and mental well-being of Canadian citizenship, such as tuberculosis and venereal diseases."

Hon. Dr. Roberts has here forehanded what will undoubtedly come to pass in Canada. The great and universal interest in public health that has been aroused since the war, and as a result of revelations made by the war, will not stop short of such a thorough organization and co-ordination of health departments, federal and provincial, as will adequately meet the needs of the nation. New Brunswick has set the pace, and every forward step taken by other provinces and the federal government will be regarded with the keenest interest by the people of this province.

Hon. Dr. Roberts was in at the birth of the new order of things relating public health in a direct way to the administration of provincial affairs; and it is fitting that he should direct the attention of the Canadian Medical Association and the country at large to the larger work yet to be accomplished in the interests of a strong and healthy citizenship. The tearing up of a section of the street railway track in Queen Square, west side, at a late hour last night, will not create sympathy for the men who are out. It should have the effect of arousing the authorities to a fuller sense of the possibilities of the present situation. Destruction of property cannot be tolerated. The former employees of the power company will not be charged with the crime committed last night; but the sympathizers who do that sort of thing are injuring their cause. Therefore the men themselves should protest against any such conduct.

Both the British and French governments have accepted without reservation the invitation of President Harding to a conference. The British Dominions will rejoice in this development, which is in line with the expressed desire of the Dominion premiers. It simplifies their task, for if the powers come to an agreement the problem of naval armament will be much less formidable, and the Pacific situation will be robbed of any threatening aspect. Above all, the relations between the British Empire and the United States will become more cordial.

If peace comes to Ireland her prosperity is assured. The Rev. S. E. Pollock, president of the European Christian Endeavor, said in New York last week: "As it is, Ireland is better off than Scotland or England itself. There is no starvation in Ireland. There are no starving poor in Ireland. The savings banks were never so flush as they are at present and meantime wages were never so high, not only in the north but in the south and west."

The action of President Harding in calling a conference on disarmament and Pacific affairs changes in a vital manner the whole world outlook. The way is open for such an international agreement as will ensure world peace.

Mr. De Valera and his colleagues have proceeded to London to be ready for the conference on Thursday. The outlook brightens, and peace for Ireland may be within measurable distance.

There are eight women candidates in the Alberta elections. The western women appear to take more naturally to politics than those of the east.

CUBAN FINANCING

Havana, July 12.—Measures to rehabilitate the Cuban national treasury will be given the right of way when the congress begins an extraordinary session on July 18. This was decided at a meeting of the mixed congressional commission with President Scays yesterday. Questions relative to negotiating a loan, disposing of the sugar surplus, taking steps to balance the production of the principal products of the country with consumption and the building of homes for working classes will take a secondary place in the agenda of congress.

GREAT FIRE IN SHIPYARDS AT GERMAN PORT

Beilin, July 12.—Fire which broke out in the Blohm and Voss shipyards at Hamburg last night caused damage amounting to many millions of marks. The timber sheds, with great quantities of building material, were damaged.

TREATY RATIFIED.

Paris, July 12.—Ratification of the treaty between the Allied nations and Hungary, known as the Trianon treaty, was voted by the French senate last night. Included in the ratification was the protocol of the treaty, which stipulated that protection would be given as districts detached from that country and placed under the jurisdiction of Czech-Slovakia, Rumania and Jugoslavia.

LIGHTER VEIN.

"Darling," he cried in tones of deep emotion, "at last you are safely in my arms and nothing shall part us more."

The object of his touching words and passionate embrace made no response, but remained cold and silent.

"Dearest," he continued, "how can I prove my love? Is there no sacrifice I can make for your sweet sake, no suffering I can endure?"

"Surely this final appeal, breathed in a husky whisper, was irresistible. Yes, he got a reply!

"The best you can do," said a gruff voice, "is to come along with me."

And a brutal policeman unfettered him from the lanppost and led him silently away.

They met at a dance and after a few dances together, sat down.

He looked at her, she looked at him. More silence.

Then at last George asked: "Daisy, will you be my—"

"O, George," cried Daisy, "this is so sudden! Give me a little time—"

"Partner for the next dance?" concluded George.

"To get your breath back," also continued Daisy between her puffs. "I haven't quite recovered from the last ass yet."

Ambiguous. The banquet hall was adorned with many beautiful paintings, and the president of the little league was called upon to respond to a toast. Desiring to pay a compliment to the ladies present, he designated the paintings with an eloquent gesture and said:

Mr. Leight was in the habit of attending meetings which often detained him after the usual hour of retirement.

One night Leight was very late, and his wife, after fretting herself into a temper, went to bed, determined to give her husband a lesson on his return that he would long remember.

When she had been upstairs for several hours she heard a knock. Putting her head out of the window, she said: "Is that you, Ernest?"

"Yes, Maud. Come and open the door."

"What has kept you so late?" asked his wife.

"We have been discussing the great benefits of fresh air," was the reply.

"Well," answered his better half, "you can lecture tomorrow from experience."

And down went the window with a bang.

Mrs. Brown was tired of the borrowing propensities of her neighbor, Mrs. Smith.

First, it was some household utensil she wanted, then some small article of grocery. The other day a knock came to Mrs. Brown's door. It was Mrs. Smith's little girl.

"Please, mother wants to know," she said, "if you will lend her some pepper and the big flat iron?"

Mrs. Brown was determined to stop her neighbor's borrowing. "Tell your mother I've got other fish to fry," she snarled, and the little girl went away.

"Please, mother wants to know if you'll lend her some of the fried fish."

MANY FATALITIES FROM SUNBURN

Warning Issued by Chicago
Doctors—Said to Have Effect on Heart.

Chicago, July 12—Special warning is issued by physicians against sunburn this year, as it appears to be unusually perilous. There have been numerous deaths from this cause and the number of patients confined to their beds from one to three weeks is said to be unprecedented.

Physicians say sunburn results in severe strain on the heart. Excluding old people and children, it is estimated that half the total body is severely burned, death will ensue in seven hours; half the body, in thirteen and a half hours; third of the body, twenty-nine hours; fourth, forty-three hours; fifth, sixty-four hours, and one-sixth of the body badly sunburned will cause death in ninety hours.

To prevent sunburn, bathers are advised to grease their skins with lard, cold cream, white vaseline, lanolin or olive oil before venturing to the beaches. To relieve the agony of sunburn, old fashioned vinegar is very good.

HELPLESS MOTHER SEES BABY STOLEN

Father Seizes Unclothed Infant from Crib as Confederate Holds Woman Near By.

Pompton Lakes, N. J., July 12—The 9-months-old daughter of Mrs. Alfred Torrens, daughter of James Simpson, a wealthy manufacturer of Paterson, was carried off by her father from the front porch of the Simpson Summer home while another man held Mrs. Torrens to prevent her from interfering. The man with the baby drove off in a touring car and are being sought by the police.

Mrs. Torrens and her husband have been separated since January. He is the son of a Cuban who married a Miss Dalsell of Paterson, and although he was born in Cuba and has lived in this country since he was a boy, Mr. Simpson disapproved of his daughter's marriage and it was said she was told she could not return to her home unless she desired to leave her husband. This she did last January.

Four men took part, including Torrens who was recognized by his wife. The baby had just had a bath and was lying in its crib on the porch without any clothes because of the heat. Mrs. Torrens sat near by.

A car drove up in front of the house, and Torrens, accompanied by a man dressed in olive drab shirt and trousers, with leggings, like a soldier, ran up to the porch. Mrs. Torrens could give the alarm Torrens had seized the uniform crabbled.

Mrs. Torrens and threw her to the floor, and ran over her mouth to prevent an outcry. Torrens, carrying the baby, ran to the automobile and when he reached it the man in uniform let go of Mrs. Torrens and also ran to the car which drove off.

Torrens's mother, who also lives in Paterson, at 236 Seneca Avenue, has a summer home at Green Pond, fifteen miles from Pompton Lakes, and Chief of Police Bert Miller, as soon as he heard of the kidnapping, set off for her home in the belief that the baby would be first taken there to be clothed.

H. W. DOWNEY IS DROWNED NEAR DRURY COVE

Herbert W. Downey, of 94 Garden street, was drowned while swimming at King's Beach, near Drury Cove, early last evening. Mr. Downey went into the water soon after taking supper on the beach with members of his family and friends and it was said that his death may have been due to the effects of going into the water too soon after eating. He went into the water alone. So soon as he was missed the alarm was given. His body was recovered from the water shortly afterwards and although he was worked over heroically by Dr. G. O. Baxter, two nurses and others he could not be revived. When the pulmotor arrived at Drury Cove the doctor gave it as his opinion that it was futile to attempt to resuscitate him at that time.

Mr. Downey, who was employed as an order clerk with the Fairbanks-Morse Company here, was married to a niece and adopted daughter of Enoch W. Paul and was living for the summer at the Paul cottage at Brookville.

Mr. Downey, who was thirty-three years of age, is a son of the late W. H. Downey and Mrs. Downey, of Harvey, Albert county. He is survived by his wife, his mother, to whom the sad news of her son's death was conveyed last evening, and two brothers, Guy, who is in the west, and Charles at Riverside, Albert Co.

Mr. Downey was prominent in the affairs of the Central Baptist church, being an officer in both the church and Sunday school.

(The Villager)

We talk about revising the Treaty with Turkey and getting the Turkish question settled. Who is Turkey? What is the Turkish question? In our mind is only a vision of the old nefarious Turk, still intriguing with Germany, still playing off France against England, still looking frightened from the Bosphorus to see if the Russians are coming—a hot-bed, a plague spot, a running sore. But that was the old Turkey whom we thought of in the medical rather than military terms; a Turkey unique, a Turkey without friends, an eternal nuisance, but too rotten to be a danger. That was the Turkey of Constantinople, and that Turkey is dead. The new Turkey is not in Europe, but is gathered in Asia Minor about the city of Angora; this Turkey has friends; she has no need of Western gold; she walks in Afghanistan and is heard in Persia; the Russian Cossacks and the Turcomans send fighters to her, and the Siberians come to her to lay plans for carrying out mutual antipathies. It is all part of

Prince's Private Diary Lost; Some Commotion Till It Was Found

Peerage for Sir Henry Dalziel Sensation of Birthday Honor List—Some London Rumors—Sport and Other Topics in Empire Capital.

(From Our Own Correspondent) London, June 14—There has been a mild commotion in the Prince of Wales' entourage over the mysterious disappearance of his Royal Highness's private diary. The prince calls it his "rag diary" and the name sufficiently indicates its character. It consists of what is generally a very piquant commentary on the places the prince visits and the public men whom he meets. One has only to recall Mrs. Asquith's recent book of reminiscences to appreciate how racy these personal impressions may be. But the indiscretions permitted of an explorer's wife could not be committed by the prince's diary. The disappearance of the book occasioned a considerable searching of heart.

Horrible visions were conjured up of its having fallen into wrong hands and into the hands of a publisher. Had any such thing happened, it would set the world agog, for some of the passages would do with His Royal Highness's overtures especially with his visits to Canada and the United States. A vigorous search was made, therefore, when the loss of the diary was reported. After some delay, during which everyone was on tenterhooks, the missing volume was found hidden away in a drawer. So all well that ends well!

The Plot That Failed. Apropos of the prince's visit to the United States, I was told the other night a story which amusingly illustrates the "silence" of our American friends across the water. At some obscure city or other the prince was pressed by the local mayor to be photographed by the mayoral side. His Royal Highness obligingly posed for the camera man, and the all-unknowners pressed round in the hope of getting into the picture. There was some delay over the preliminary, and then, just when the photographer was in readiness, the mayor stepped back and a very charming little lady took his place by the camera. The prince, who was looking on, immediately afterwards the prince's side, and was duly snapped. In the general movement which followed, he noticed the diversion which had been practised. But others had done so, and enquiries were made, the camera was commandeered and within half an hour the plate had been destroyed. The fair artist, who had hoped to obtain a big advertisement from a photograph of herself standing by the side of the Prince of Wales. Only a little manipulation of the photographic attendant crowded of civic dignitaries and court officials.

The New Peep. Everyone in chubland is commenting on the peepage conferred on Sir Henry Dalziel. It is quite the outstanding event of the birthday honors list, and people are asking curiously what is the specific public service which he has performed which has brought this new distinction upon him. Retirement from parliament in some instances regarded as public service, especially if you happen to succeed your own minister in favour of an ex-premier, or some minister who had not left the House of Commons for such a long time as this, and we are constrained to seek deeper for an explanation.

True, he figured prominently in the purchase of a great London daily newspaper which has since been bought by the late Lord Rothermere, but that was some time ago. The most interesting thing about this is that the newspaper which has been bought by the late Lord Rothermere is a daily paper which has been bought by the late Lord Rothermere. It is a daily paper which has been bought by the late Lord Rothermere. It is a daily paper which has been bought by the late Lord Rothermere.

Princess Mary's "Guide." Princess Mary's keen interest in the Girl Guides has been throwing her much in the company recently of the eldest son of one of the best known of our modern peers. The young peer has many times in common besides their enthusiasm for the Girl Guide movement.

The Australian Skipper. It was discussing the Australian cricket recently with a well-known cricketer, who expressed the view that the success of the "Aussies" was largely due to the way Mr. Armstrong led them. In the view of this expert Mr. Armstrong is the most consistent genius that has ever led a test-team to victory. Certainly his methods, as now revealed, are giving support for this thought in English cricketing circles. Mr. Armstrong works in close association with his secretary, Mr. Armstrong picks out the men who are likely to be selected to play in the test matches. He tells his secret to watch them. Then as each batsman comes in the scorer has a little chart before him on which he records every stroke made by lines drawn from the wicket to the particular part of the field where the ball is placed. These charts are afterwards handed to the chief, who learns from them the favorite strokes of each batsman. He memorizes them as and

ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETINGS HELD

The meeting of the ratepayers in the several school districts of New Brunswick were held yesterday. The only outstanding feature in connection with the meetings was the action of the Beaconfield ratepayers in adopting the compulsory school attendance law for their district.

Beaconsfield. The compulsory school law was adopted at the meeting of the ratepayers of Beaconfield school district No. 1, held last evening in the Beaconfield school, with G. Earle Logan in the chair, and W. O. Dunham as secretary. Owing to the absence of Dr. J. B. M. Baxter and G. Earle Logan, an election was held, and Dr. Ellis was elected for a further period of three years. Mr. Logan, who was present, presented their written report. Fairville. A budget for the coming year amounting to $17,000 was the chief item decided at the annual meeting of the ratepayers of Lancaster school district No. 2, held last evening in the Fairville school, with Mr. J. B. M. Baxter in the chair, and Mr. W. O. Dunham as secretary. A full and comprehensive report of the last year's work was read by the secretary to the effect that the income from taxes amounted to $14,079.83, income from other sources amounting to $2,108.69. There was a cash balance on hand of $446.50. Total expenditure for the year was $16,426.74. The report also included an amount of $1,600, which the trustees had borrowed from the Bank of Nova Scotia, in order to redeem some twenty-year bonds, which had matured on May 1, 1921, and which were to be redeemed on the 1st of June. The secretary also reported on the system of conducting business by the trustees, on improvements to the buildings, on collection of the taxes, and several other minor matters.

TWO "BAD MEN" SLAIN RAIDING A LUNCH ROOM

New York Proprietor Shoots After Cook is Beaten and Pie Seized—Five Cents All the Pair Had.

New York, July 12—Two unarmed young men who attempted to terrorize a lunchroom at 785 Columbus avenue, between Ninety-eighth and Ninety-ninth streets, were shot and killed by Victor Fernandez, a Cuban proprietor of the restaurant. Fernandez, who lives at 196 Broadhurst avenue, was locked up in the West 100th street station on a charge of homicide.

The men he killed were Aloysius Buckley, twenty-two, 944 Manhattan street, and Thomas Duncan, twenty-three, of 843 Amsterdam avenue. According to the police they were in the neighborhood of "bad men," who were inclined to attack inoffensive strangers when drunk. Both were working and had only five cents between them when they entered the lunchroom. Witnesses said that the men appeared to have been drinking.

According to the evidence gathered by the police, the intruders demanded something to eat and cursed the proprietor, his employes and customers. Fernandez sent Aquilino Martino, a dishwasher, for a policeman. Meanwhile Buckley leaped over the counter and seized a pie, which he handed to Duncan, who remained outside the counter.

Goes After His Pistol. Buckley was then standing beside the cash register, which contained more than $10. Fernandez saw him enter the kitchen in the rear and took a .32 calibre pistol from a closet. Coming out into the restaurant he saw the intruders, who were still behind the counter and refused to let up when Fernandez begged them to stop. "Sit up or we'll beat you up, too," he said they told him. The proprietor fired five shots at the men. The first struck Buckley, who was still behind the counter, in the right chest, and the second in the pit of the stomach. Buckley was killed. The third shot struck Duncan in the back of the head, and he was also killed. Two more shots were fired.

By this time the dishwasher was returning to the lunchroom with Sergeant Ernest Moore and Policeman John Salmon, who broke into a run when they heard the shots. They found Fernandez pacing up and down and the store crowded with excited men, who were trying to revive the two shot by Fernandez. The policemen took the men to a taxicab and took them to the hospital, two blocks away. A few minutes later an ambulance arrived from the Knickerbocker Hospital, and the ambulance surgeon, Dr. Rothfelder, pronounced Duncan dead, after going to the Reconstruction Hospital. Buckley died on the operating table a short time later.

Duncan was an ex-soldier and it was he who had the five cents in his possession. He had nothing else except some matches. Buckley had a pocket full of a suit. They were in their shirt sleeves, without coats. According to the police, both men had been arrested for minor offences. Duncan recently having been released after serving six months on Blackwell's Island.

The inventor says that he has already tried out the machine on a small scale and regards his first experiments as indicative of the success of the invention. The new machine is primarily intended for aerial war machine and it is now armed with a machine gun. It is a new plane.

On To Calgary and The Women's Council

At Meunster, the next day, where we made a few moments' stop there was a sad and gaily singing, and as the wind was unfamiliar, had been informed on inquiry that it was a lark.

There is ever a song somewhere, my dear,
There is ever a something sings always,
Here's the song of the lark when the skies are grey,
And the song of the thrush when the sunbeams shower across the grain,
And the bluebird thrills in the orchard tree,
And in and out when the caves drip rain,
The swallows are twittering carelessly.

As so there is a song in the St. John's heart for the National in the morning, for the old-time greeting from its friends, and for the home in its east.

There's ever a song that our hearts may hear,
There's ever a song somewhere.

Over the Polynanna spirit, you know, seek its own gladness
Almost forgotten was the evening part in the Capital Theatre, not forgotten in my treasured book of memory, but in the notes sent of places and people. There is certainly in the west the desire to build always in line with the most progressive plans. Surely these westerners are no idle builders, for only the most modern plans can be offered by the architect, and thus they are foremost in business blocks, theatres, etc. Building with them is not for today only, but for the future, and the prevailing spirit of optimism never permits a slackening of their interest in the western cities' welfare.

The Capitol was finished, its information was correct, a year ago, and is a fine plan of architecture and scheme of decorative arts, the colors of the interior pleasing and restful. The ceiling is very beautiful, and the lighting arrangement gives the appearance of dawn and twilight, the light being diffused gradually, its source unknown to the observer. The mezzanine floor is not only attractive but easy of access, and affords an uninterrupted view of the stage. Usherettes, girls dressed in red, trouserettes, short jaunty jackets and gay little caps, set at right angles on the head, appear almost as if part of the architect's plan to relieve the more sombre colors.

Arrived at Winnipeg two days after leaving Calgary, about 9:30 in the morning, and the time so limited there was not opportunity for the anticipated visit to Fort Garry Hotel, where lunch might have been enjoyed in that beautiful dining room. While waiting for the return of Iced Cap to announce the arrival of the train, that bags might be collected again for the next stage of the journey, there was a glad salve from a Moncton delegate, another one of the last stragglers of the National. Delightful recognition of the fact that we were to be fellow-travelers was followed by the return of that expected dressing bag and typewriter material, and so the two delegates were soon in the midst of the rushing, surging humanity at the foot of the steps, where an official guarded the gates of exit. Then ensued the careful inspection of our transportation, hurriedly searched for in the depths of hand bags, followed by the disappointing announcement that Moncton must step back and wait for the five train of that afternoon. However, a hasty consultation with the higher powers whom we felt assured would courteously adjust all these troublesome matters was so quickly attained that Moncton not only received her transportation for that train, but by some good luck a reservation in the same coach.

And so those two eager, sympathetic New Brunswick women discussed the pros and cons of the National Council week, its Canadian-wide benefits to Canadian women, and its helpfulness to New Brunswick Councils. New Brunswick must of its own initiative take a more dominant interest in the National's propaganda, especially for the welfare of women and children; strive for better legislation, and for the appointment of women as jurors on cases relative to women violators of law. For years the province's Councils had not been so largely represented, and, as Miss Carmichael had sagely remarked: "I have always been glad to represent St. John's" but she was pleased that the province was this time representing itself so splendidly instead of by proxy.

The train sped on, over the prairies, then along the fields and across the rivers of western Ontario.

The heat was omnipresent, the dust not only accumulative but adhesive, and obliterating in dust almost threatened the further flow of wit and eloquence on the part of those maritime women, and every other woman in the coaches. No rain had brought the usual results of dust clouds and the inventive, protracting, and the inventive, protracting, vanquishing the last remnants of the bravest who had been to ignore their onslaught. We passed through unsettled country, mosquito-infected, and these, preferring the train to the attacked woods, chose their vantage of attack systematically and with a skill before long the female portion of the

At breakfast we enjoyed the typewritten bulletin of the world's newest happenings, and were appreciative of the C. N. R.'s courtesy and thought for traveler's comfort on their line.

"Latest news from Calgary—big fire," were the words to greet the expectant breakfasters, who like all returning Nationals were blessed with the desire for early morning walks at possible platforms and an almost vulgar desire for their morning meal.

CANON SCOTT'S PLEA. (Toronto Globe.)

Canon Scott of Quebec, whose devotion to duty as Senior Chaplain of the First Division endeared him to thousands of fighting men, and for the lives of many who laid down their lives in France and Flanders, has issued an impassioned appeal for work among the business men of Canada in meeting the problem of the unemployed. It is the opinion of Canon Scott that the coming winter will bring with it misery and want unprecedented in Canadian history. He puts the case for immediate organization in these words:

"In the words thousands of shantymen will have no work. In the cities factory hands and disabled returned soldiers will have to be looked after. They cannot be allowed to starve. The problem is one of such vast proportions that the church and charitable organizations cannot grapple with it. Every one says 'Something ought to be done' but we need it for the big men of the country, the men who control big enterprises and understand the principles of finance, to get together and tackle the question with the same living interest and broad outlook as they would were they entering into a contract with the government for the carrying out of some scheme of huge national importance. Each province has surely some public work to be undertaken sooner or later, such as roads, canals, forest clearing, development of water power, etc., etc., the carrying out of which would lead to the permanent enrichment of the country and would in time recoup the government for the expenditure. Such works would give employment to thousands of men and tide us over a crisis. I am not qualified to say how such a scheme could be carried out. I am pleading for the government to take up the matter and get the big financiers busy and see what can be done. When the war was on, ways and means were found for meeting the emergency. The suffering of the unemployed is surely a strong enough appeal to our national sympathy to call out the resources of the government and the co-operation of the public. It is a big national question and it will take big minds to settle it. The ultimate riches of Canada will be a good security or the funds raised."

(Issued by The Canadian Bank of Commerce, Toronto.) In previous letters it has been pointed out that commercial conditions in Canada cannot be settled until more definite progress has been made towards economic stability in Europe and elsewhere; and conditions in the United Kingdom, on the European continent, in the United States and in South America are still unsatisfactory. In Russia communism appears to have brought about the industrial chaos which was from the first inevitable. In the United Kingdom, where considerations of economy have caused the government to announce its intention of decontrolling agriculture after the coming harvest, trade disputes have halted the progress of readjustment in the chief industries. One factor justifying hopefulness as to the future of Europe is the decision of the German people to carry out the terms of the reparations agreement, as this involves more work per day on their part for many years to come. This stands out in sharp contrast to the apparent determination in English-speaking countries to enforce not only a shorter working day but remuneration on the high scale reached during the war.

Coast is adversely affected by unsatisfactory financial conditions in the usual markets abroad. In Cuba, South America and the Mediterranean countries there appears to be no immediate prospect of improvement. The salmon fisheries of British Columbia are facing similar conditions. Up to the middle of May, out of a total of 100 canneries in that province, not more than fifty had indicated that operations would be carried on as usual this summer. In the present condition of the market the operators preferred to shut down altogether rather than to operate at a loss. In almost all cases the cannelling will be restricted to the best class of fish, with the result that the output for the season will be below normal.

Unemployment is to be found only in the urban districts. Elsewhere the work of agricultural production is going on with unflagging vigor, despite the decline between April 1920 and April 1921 of fifty per cent. in the prices of cereals, and of eighteen per cent in those of dairy products. Wheat prices have risen slightly during the last few weeks as the result of a lower estimated production in other countries and it now seems certain that for the remainder of the year prices will be such as to yield remunerative returns.

UNEMPLOYMENT NEXT WINTER A SERIOUS PROBLEM

Ontario's Premier Speaks of it—Urges Co-operation to Keep Things Moving. Port Huron, July 12—Premier Drury is a visitor here and was a guest of the Canadian Club at luncheon. He advised northern Ontario to steer clear of the secession movement, saying that it would involve too heavy an expense for the taxpayers. His main address was on the serious situation in regard to unemployment during the coming winter and he urged co-operation by all interests to get down to a lower scale of prices and to keep the wheels moving.

DRUG ADDICTS IN CANADA 8,000

Ottawa, July 12—(Canadian Press)—That Canada has 8,000 drug addicts is regarded as a fairly conservative statement by the deputy minister of health. A continuous fight against this evil is kept up by the health department. They are co-operating with the mounted police and the customs officials in checking smuggling and illicit traffic in narcotics and they also assist physicians throughout the dominion in standardizing the medical treatment of drug addicts as carried out in the special hospital in New York City.

ITALY LIFTS THE BAN FROM MOTOR CARS FROM CANADA

Ottawa, July 12—(Canadian Press)—The Italian government, it is announced by the department of trade and commerce, has withdrawn restrictions against the importation of Canadian motor cars into that country. Trade Commissioner McL. Clarke writes from Milan that, following on representations made, Canada has been placed on the same footing as Great Britain in the recent concessions made, and it is no longer necessary to obtain licenses for the shipment of Canadian automobiles to that country.

At a meeting of citizens interested in sending Hilton Belyea to the Canadian rowing championships at St. Catherine's (Ont.), July 28-30, and the St. International championships at Buffalo, Aug. 5-6, held in Pythian Castle, last evening, it was decided to inaugurate a campaign immediately for the raising of the requisite funds.

It was the purpose of the meeting John C. Chealey was appointed chairman; W. H. Golding, secretary, and J. A. Gregory, treasurer. The executive committee composed of Charles Owens, Harry Ervin, Frank White and Wm. McMahon. Mr. Chealey explained the purpose of the meeting and made observations that if St. John in olden times could send four men and their trainers to compete around the world in quest of fame and laurels, surely a moderate sum should be forthcoming in these days, when it is practically assured we have championship timber right at our hand. The chairman then told of the rowing experts of New England and ex-champions said about Belyea, all of them predicting splendid chances for him at the biggest meets mentioned.

In order to have Mr. Belyea represent St. John under the best possible conditions, he must be supplied with a new boat, as the present one is slightly damaged; he must have proper handling and the requisite period of training. All this will cost money and the speaker felt sure it would be readily subscribed. It will be necessary in the formal order of things for Mr. Belyea to join the Canadian Oarsmen's Association, and to have proper status at the Canadian international events.

Mayor Schofield made remarks similar to those of the chairman, and felt certain Mr. Belyea would give a wonderful account of himself at the prospective meets. Harry Ervin supplemented these observations with some pertinent suggestions about getting the cash.

William McMahon, president of the Athletic Association and Mr. McGovern and Frank White discussed the plans for a grand benefit baseball game to be held Wednesday evening, July 20, between St. Peter's and Commercial. Tickets will be sold separately for this event and everybody should contribute by buying them.

Public subscriptions will be asked of those able to help and details along these lines are to be worked out today. Frank White gave the address of the benefit of his knowledge concerning amateur standing and what Belyea was entitled to in the way of expenses. An adjournment numerous details were worked out concerning the plans of raising funds.

SMUTS FACES
HARD PROBLEMS

South Africa Trusts His Government to Pull Country Through Severe Financial Crisis.

(By the South Africa Correspondent of the London Times.)

In the last year the political situation in South Africa has undergone a change as fundamental and as dramatic as any that the epic history of this country can furnish. It is a change which is not merely political; its influences are being felt in every stratum of life—political, social, industrial, agricultural, commercial.

It is a year ago a general election had been fought at a period of severe economic unrest. When the new parliament came into being conditions of unstable equilibrium existed. The secessionists under Hertzog were the strongest party in the House; the South African party was unable to command a majority without the support of the secessionists; and the Labor party was in a position at any moment, if not to defeat, at any rate greatly to embarrass Gen. Smuts and his government by cooperating with the Hertzog Nationalists. None the less, by adroit statesmanship and by pressing forward legislation to remedy or to mitigate the economic ills, Gen. Smuts was able to emerge from the session undefeated, and the views of that large section of the electorate which had voted Labor not so much because they really accepted the tenets of the Labor party as because they had desired to express their sense of the need for economic reform.

The field was thus cleared for a forward move. Gen. Smuts called for a congress of the South African party to affirm the appeal to "all right-minded South Africans" to join the party on an extended and reorganized basis. The principle was affirmed, and within a few days a specially summoned congress of the Unionist party gave its decision. With a noble self-sacrifice the Congress declared full confidence in the policy which Gen. Smuts had proclaimed, and gave magnificent proof of its confidence by dissolving the Unionist party and unconditionally consenting to absorption in the South African party. The steadfastness of the Dutch-speaking element, of which the old South African party mainly consisted, in their devotion to the maintenance of the imperial connection, in spite of the strong and natural ties of history, sentiment and race which pulled them in the other direction, was rewarded by the perfect trust with which the Unionists recognized their action and adhered to the very name of a party that had stood for years in South Africa for very vital principles.

The secession issue. This political amalgamation obviously necessitated a new appeal to the electorate and the issue upon which the elections were fought was directly that of secession. No other issue of the occasion obscured the vision of the electorate, and in the event Gen. Smuts and the South African party secured a cabinet which not only a majority of the United South African party, but a symbol of that national unity after which our wisest statesmen have been striving—not always with success, but never in despair—for the past 20 years, and it contains all the promise and potency of being a real symbol of a real and accomplished fact.

The need of a strong government was never more urgent than it is today. Gen. Smuts has returned to power on a programme which was not only of immense significance but embraced a wide and far-reaching policy of reconstruction and development in South Africa. From this point of view it is extraordinarily hard fortune for the new government that it should have to take over its career at a moment when the financial conditions in South Africa are far from rosy. Our sources of revenue in this country are peculiarly susceptible to trade depression. We rely on customs duties for about one-third of our revenue. We are dependent on the revenue derived directly and indirectly from the gold-mining industry represented about one-eighth of the national income.

Financial difficulties. All these revenue sources are certain to be very seriously impaired during the financial year which has just begun. Railway finance is in a no less difficult position. The depression begun with extraordinary suddenness, though it had long been foretold, and the new government finds itself confronted with the task of putting general finances of the country in order, and this means drastic economy and heavy additional taxation, neither of them policies which are calculated to popularize the new government in the country.

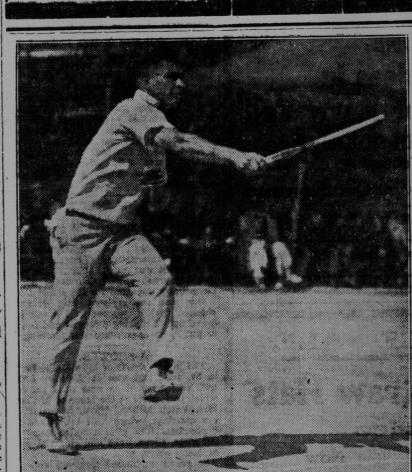

The public realizes the necessity of retrenchment and is willing to forego to some extent, until finances are in order, that policy of development which had been promised.

Apart, that is to say, from the immediate financial anxieties which every one of the statesmen of South Africa is a wholeheartedly and buoyantly optimistic about the land. The stupor of the past few years has not only disappeared. The country feels that it has entered upon a new era and that in Gen. Smuts it has a leader who, with the harmonious cooperation of the old Unionist leaders, will work honestly and enthusiastically for the development of South Africa and the upbuilding of the nation. Public reliance on Gen. Smuts is perhaps the most remarkable feature of the South African situation today. His personal ascendancy is supreme, and though there are Nationalistic elements which are still resolutely resentful at his firm championship of the imperial connection, there

THE CAR SERVICE
To the Editor of the Times: Sir—Kindly permit me to space in your paper to call the attention of our citizens to the fact that we, as former street railway employees, have been repeatedly advised through the press to conduct ourselves in accordance with the law in all respects; and in so doing we ask that A persons operating the cars at the present time, and those responsible for the operation, be weighed on the same balance of justice and the laws, if such there are, in regard to service and safety of vehicle, be carried out.

In the past, with a full car service, we have had at times a month to elapse without damage to the general traffic, but at present with less than one-fifth of the present service, I am informed there were at least three accidents in one day. To say the least it does not speak well for imported or market value labor, and will never tend to boost a thriving transportation business, new accounts being damaged, and damages being higher fares, much more so than reasonable wages to skilled operators, while a well equipped and operated jitney service brings

CHIEF WEATHER MAN IS HERE

Sir Frederick Stupart, in City Today, Speaks of Drought—Expects Break Soon.

That the present long-continued drought is the result of an abnormal distribution of atmospheric pressure and that the accompanying rain was the opinion expressed this morning by Sir Frederick Stupart, chief meteorologist of the service for Canada, who is at present in the city on a trip of inspection.

The drought is widespread throughout Canada, Mr. Stupart said, with the exception of British Columbia, which has more rain than is required. Ontario, Quebec and the maritime provinces are suffering from forest fires and the situation in some places is becoming critical if it is not already so. In the western provinces there have been thunder showers recently, which have done much to improve conditions. Sir Frederick places no faith in the ability of rainmakers' Hatfield to produce rain in Alberta, and ascribes the coming of rain to normal and natural conditions rather than to any success of Mr. Hatfield's schemes.

Forest fires in Ontario are on the increase, he said, and are being strenuously fought by fire rangers and their men. It is many years since such a continued dry spell has been experienced, and the results are far-reaching. Even now rain would do no good to the hay crop, as it is gone beyond recall. It is estimated that there will be about a two-thirds hay crop. He expressed belief that there would be a break in the weather in the near future.

Sir Frederick Stupart is engaged in making inspections of some of the meteorological observatories in the maritime provinces. He had visited Halifax, Sydney and points in Prince Edward Island. St. John is his only stopping place in New Brunswick. His inspection of the local observatory was carried out today, and he expects to leave tonight or tomorrow on his return to Toronto.

BETTER REPORT FROM NEW CITY WATER TESTS

Following up the matter of the purity of the city water supply, Dr. H. L. Abramson, provincial pathologist, has made an examination of four samples, two taken in the city and one each at Loch Lomond and Lake Latimer. His report will be presented to a meeting of the board scheduled for this afternoon. Although the details of the examination have not been given out, it is understood that the result is much more satisfactory than previous tests.

Commissioner Jones yesterday examined the screens through which water passes into the mains at the outlet of Lake Latimer to ascertain if any fish had become entangled. He said this morning that he found the screens were clear. Mayor Schofield, Commissioner Jones and members of the board will go this afternoon to Loch Lomond and Lake Latimer to examine conditions there.

Commissioner Jones and his superintendent examined all the hydrants in the low-lying sections of the city this morning and reported that outside of a little rust in those hydrants which had not been used for some time, there was no trouble experienced.

TWO HOUSES IN EAST ST. JOHN BURN

Homes of Timothy Chaisson and Jacob Pynn.

Loss Placed at $11,000 or $12,000, With Some Insurance—Outbreak in the Early Morning — But Little Saved.

Within a couple of hours two fine new dwellings and their contents were destroyed, entailing a loss of between $11,000 and $12,000, and sixteen people are homeless as the result of fire which occurred between five and six o'clock this morning in Park avenue, East St. John. Only the foundations and chimneys of the homes of Jacob Pynn and Timothy Chaisson remain, and the stricken families this morning are receiving the sympathy and help of the community.

While the origin of the fire is not definitely established, it is known that it had its origin in the house of Mr. Chaisson. He said that his son, Albert, arose about five o'clock this morning and lighted the fire in the kitchen stove, returning to bed, as had been his custom. A little before six o'clock Mr. Chaisson was awakened by the smell of smoke and, going down stairs found the kitchen in flames which were gradually eating through the ceiling to the upper floor. He managed to get his wife and eight children from the house before it was all afire.

Separated from the Chaisson home by only a few feet was the house of Mr. Pynn. Everything on the countryside was bonfire and it was long before the outer wall of his home was on fire and about an hour later nothing was left of the dwelling but a heap of smouldering ashes from which reared a chimney and the outside concrete wall. Scattered through the ashes were a few indestructible articles such as stoves and metal utensils.

The Chaisson family saved practically nothing but the few clothes they were able to snatch in their hasty exit to safety. Mr. Chaisson, who is a carpenter by trade, built the house about two years ago at a cost of about $3,000, and has $2,000 in insurance. His future, which he valued at about $1,000 is only half covered by insurance.

Mr. Pynn was also the owner and builder of the dwelling in which he resided with his wife, two children, and his parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Philip. In the house was the furniture of both families. It was not until his own house had caught that Mr. Pynn was aware that there was any danger and although he and Mrs. Pynn had the two children were able to escape without difficulty. Mr. Philip had to be lifted through a window and even then was slightly scorched. Mr. Pynn valued the house at about $5,000 and the contents at $2,000. The dwelling is insured for $2,000 and the furniture for $500. All the insurance on both properties is carried by C. E. L. Jarvis.

A few household effects were taken from the Pynn home before it was entirely enveloped, but so rapidly did the flames spread that salvaging operations had to be stopped in a very short time. A great many of the residents of the vicinity gathered and offered assistance, but there was very little they could do on account of the absence of fire fighting equipment and water.

Fire Department Called.

A telephone call was sent for the fire department and No. 1 chemical engine responded, but the flames had made such progress in the houses that the service was of no avail. A stream, however, was placed on a small shed at the rear of the Pynn home and it was saved after being slightly scorched. Chief Blake was present and directed operations.

Both families lost most of their personal effects, including jewelry and other small valuable property. The only clothes they have are those in which they stood as they gazed on the remains of what were their homes early in the morning. Mr. Chaisson saved hardly anything except an organ which was near the door on the ground floor. Mrs. Chaisson was somewhat indisposed after the fire and after being taken to the home of a neighbor was attended by a physician. It is not expected that any serious results will follow.

Charles Russel placed at the disposal of Mr. Pynn and his family a vacant residence which stands almost opposite the scene of the fire in Park avenue.

Let Us Place A Washing Machine or Vacuum Cleaner In Your Home FREE?

The family that has a Eureka Vacuum Cleaner or the A. B. C. Washing Machine is the one family in your street that is getting MORE work done and in the shortest possible time.

You will eventually get one or both of these wonderful time and labor savers; and, to steal a phrase from a famous flour ad, "Why not now?"

Here's a proposition this store makes to you:

Take your telephone or pencil in hand and tell us to send to your home for FREE trial one or both of these machines; or come in person on the same errand, and we will place these machines in your own home, send an experienced man to demonstrate the machines, and you can have these wonder workers work for you without cost or obligation, implied or apparent.

This means much to you at this time of the year. Bad enough to wear away the hard face of the washboard on normal days—to say nothing of these days with Old Sol hitting right and left. Or to spend the afternoon pounding away the surface of the carpet with a broom, when a Vacuum Cleaner will clean in the natural way in a jiffy.

We've thrown out the suggestion. Will you accept? Then phone Main 353.
