(Associated Press.) Hazelton, Oct. 10 .- The second fatal clash between striking mine workers and the non-union men occurred early this morning at Oneida colliery, in Schuylkill county, twelve miles from here, when a coal and iron policeman was shot and instantly killed, and another policeman and striker dangerously wounded. In addition about a dozen of the employees of the colliery were badly injured by being stoned by strikers. The dead man is Ralph Mills, of Beaver Mendow. Geo. Keller, of Beaver Meadows, is in the Miners' hospital here with

The first began at two o'clock this merning, and reached a climax about six o'clock, when the marching strikers, mostly Hungarians, attacked the men on their way to work in the Oneida colliery, operated by Cox Bros. & Co. The marchers numbered about 300 men, women and boys. Stones were thrown and the coal and iron policemen, who endeavored to protect those on the way to work, were forced to seek shelter. No shots were fired at this time and the marchers dispersed.

The second clash was the result of an attempt on the part of the company to have a train of coal cars from the slopes moved to a breaker. Prominent Anti-Foreigners. Washington, Oct. 9.—The cabinet meeting to-day, which occupied about two and a half hours, was devoted almost exclusively to a discussion of the Chinese situation. Special consideration was given to the French note, and it is understood that a more or less definite conclusion was reached as to the nature of the reply which will be made by this government, but it has not yet been put in diplomatic form. Its purport will not be made public for the present. It developed to-day that Mr. Conger, in compliance with a suggestion from Secretary Hay, had submitted to the state department a list of ten or twelve names of Chinese officials who were prominent in the Boxer movement against the foreigners, and in a great measure were responsible for the assaults upon the legations in Pekin. These officials Conger believes, should be included with Prince Tuan and others in any punishments which are to be inflicted apon those who took a prominent part in the Pekin outrages. It is not unlikely that the position of this government in regard to the punishment of these offi-cials will be stated in reply to the French

In a high diplomatic quarter the suggestion was made to-day that the powers send a special envoy to Si Nan Fu, the new abode of the Imperial family, with a collective note, urging the return of the Emperor to Pekin, and giving guarantee for the personal safety of the Imperial household. Such an envoy, it was said, could accomplish more than the circuitous negotiations through Chinese officials. The suggestion was also made that Shang Shi Tung, the viceroy of one of the southern provinces, would be well qualified to execute such mission if the powers could be brought together in a collective request.

CRIPPLED FOR LIFE

Trooper Fuller, of Fort Steele. Retr ing From the War.

Of the British Columbians who of powerful frame, and accustomed through his work as a prospector to roughing it, accident and disease have reduced him so that it is with the greatest difficulty that he can hobble about with

Fuller enlisted in the B. C. detachment of Strathcona's Horse, when volunteers were called for that corps, and having been for several years a cow puncher of the prairies, he seemed specially adapted for the character of service which Strathcona's were expected to encounter. He had the misfortune, however, to meet with an accident early in the campaign which has rendered him a cripple for life. It was on the 5th of July, the day following the occupation of Spyfontein ing to an officer had broken out of the corral and had struck out on a canter from the camp. Fuller pursued the fleeing equine, and just as he seized the bridle of the animal his own mount stumbled and fell on him. The bones of the left knee cap were crushed by the weight Later he was moved back to one of the base hospitals, and subsequently removed to Capetown and taken over to England. where he entered Netley hospital. Here as well as in the field hospitals at the front he received the very best of attenalive to-day to the attention he received. It was while in hospital at Netley that the Canadian trooper received a visit which he will remember as long as he lives. He was sitting in his cot one day smoking a very dilapidated clay pipe when he was visited by the Duchess of York, who was making a tour of the hospital in company with a general and the colonel of the hospital. The Duchess learning that he was a Canadian asked him if he was satisfied. The trooper replied that he was not. The Duchess wanted to know what the trouble was. and met with the reply that the nurses would not let him kiss them, and that his pipe was a very bad one. Her High ness asked if he would accept a pipe if she sent one, and next day a handsome silver mounted pipe arrived with the compliments of Her Highness. Fuller is enthusiastic in praise of Buler, who, he said, was immensely popular with the men under his command. The men of his command would follow him anywhere.

The mounts which Strathcona's took with them to South Africa, he said. were the finest mounts which went to the war, and surpassed even the horses of the Lancers and Indian mounted regiments. The remounts which were brought from South America proved to be insufficient, being little better than ponies and inadequate for the service expected of

Col. Steele, who commanded Strathcona's, is also a most popular officer and peculiarly adapted to command the force given into his charge. Fuller tells of a characteristic reply which was made by the colonel to the representations of an Imperial officer who complained that his men were a "rough lot." "Oh, they are a little rough," replied the old mounted police officer, "but, Great Scott, man, you don't expect to get the Twelve Apostles out here, do you?"

Accompanying Trooper Fuller is Corp. Ferguson, of Edmonton, who belongs to the Canadian Mounted Rifles, and who is invalided home with enteric fever.

> -- Tees Arrives From the North.

Bearing out in a measure the Victoria September shipments north to be among the largest on record, the news from this city a large percentage of the trade was done. The Tees brought down to Victoria the following passengers: Geo. Gilbert, Mrs. M. D. Campbell, S. Whittaker, F. Brock, W. W. Boddy, A. Lees, W. L. Bramley, C. Ingalls, R. J. Joyce, R. Clarkin, W. Carroll, C. M. Hill, D. Taylor, J. Miller, A. Rogers, H. L. Nightingale, A. Ocok, W. Kettle, R. Hill, T. Berryman, W. D. Ferris, C. H. Beadull, H. Tremayne, W. D. McDonald, E. Simpson, J. J. Calwell, J. Young, J.

The steamer called at Northern British Columbia ports on her way down and outer wharf. She also received a number of passengers after leaving Skagway. On the Skeena it was reported that the Arrive Shawnigan Lake ...... 8:00 a.m. graph creek would not be completed this year because of the two construction parties not meeting. This news, however, lacked confirmation. The Tees passed the Amur on her way south, and from the officers of the latter vessel it was learned a tragedy had occurred aboard the north-bound craft, an Indian woman belonging to Port Essing. ton having hanged herself. No reason was assigned for the act. Passengers by the Tees tell of a cold snap up north, and of there being snow and ice at Bennett. Freight was being handled with all possible haste, but there were still great piles of it at Skagway and White Horse.

Two violent deaths. John Fostrom and Victor Borgman being killed, are reported from Alaska by the officers of the Humboldt. At Seward. Fostrom, an employee in the Nowell mines, while under the influence of liquor, fell off the wharf, his head striking some jagged rocks which were exposed at low tide. He was found dead an hour or so after the accident. Deceased was a single man and supposed to be a resident of Chicago.

Borgman was overcome by gas in a shaft in the Mexican mine, on Treadwell island. It is claimed that he descended the shaft against the warnings of other miners not to do so until after he had turned on the air valve. He was found dead at the bottom of the shaft within

Victoria, B.C .: Sir:-I have the honor to report to you

The swimming season of 1900, just closed, has been more successful than anyone frustee Brown favored a grant, but anticipated. Although very short, on account of the difficulties I met with at the beginning, and the phenomenally rough and cold weather throughout the summer, more than enough was done to prove that all was certainly worth the while. The most remarkable feature of the seawater, one hundred yards from shore, and Vancouver. I had sometimes over two hundred pupils in a day. Perfect order prevailed throughout, drawing from visitors-both strangers and citizens-many a kindly expression of satisfaction. I can give no estimate of the number of those who made an attack upon Governor boys who attended, as they came in such Roosevelt in Victor, Colo., and in a meagreat number. My apparatus, fit for classes sure succeeded. of fifty pupils per hour, was frequently insufficient, and both the old bathing place and the new one, when the weather permitted, were in full swing. The old bathing place is where the jetty is opposite hundred feet off; the intervening space is used by the more proficient, and was, at all times, kept most carefully patrolled. Nearly all our boys from nine years of age could swim before the new school

My attention here was taken up principally in developing their powers. Boys, and boys of larger growth, too, are too easily satisfied with their ability in the water. Many who have been able to swim for years can only swim a very short distance. Of course the hygienic value of st like Mr. Blair to instruct the teachers swimming is its greatest, but its factor of usefulness is also an important one. Real power in the water was therefore encouropened. The others learned very readily.

Archie Clegg, 3rd division, Boys' school, holds the championship by virtue of his splendid performance of one mile, thirteen hundred and sixty-six yards, in the pre scribed period of one hour's continuous swimming. The following boys did well Williscroft, Moody, North Ward; Tait, Campbell, West school; Roskamp, Jaegers, South Park; Houston, Morley, Central; and Gibson and Talt (major), High school. Of the girls, very few could swim, and most of them in the most primitive manner only. I was very anxious to have the girls share the benefits of swimming, and the establishment of the school has done much for their assistance. About one hundred attended. This is satisfactory, seeing that this is the first season they have had the chance, and that girls are generally greatly neglected in this regard. This is all the more strange, as girls learn far more easily than boys. It seems perfectly natural to them, and they rarely compla'n about cold. They most certainly enjoy themselves when practicing, they are the litional school accommodation. In the very pluckiest of pupils, and it is as useful to girls as it is to other people.

Mr. James Reed struck his leg against a cake of ice in such a manner as to bruise it severely. It became very much swollen and pained him so badly that he could not walk without the aid of crutches. He was treated by physicians, also used several kinds of liniment and two and a half gallons of whiskey in bathing it, but nothing gave any relief until he tegan using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. This brought almost a complete cure in a week's time and he believes that had he not used this remedy his leg would have had to be amputated. #### BLANCHARD'S LAST DAYS.

Sergeaut of "A" Co. Tells How the Victorian Officer Came to Be With the Derbyshire Regiment.

Victorians who have followed closely he movement of the Canadians in South Africa, will read with interest the following letter received by Lieut.-Col. Gregory from a sergeant in A Company, R. C. R., who very graphically describes the manner in which Capt. Blanchard received his death wounds. The letter also explains fully how Capt. Blanchard come to be with the Derbyshires, a matter which has not heretofore been mentioned. The letter is as follows:

Eirsie Fahricken. S. A. R., Aug. 29th. Dear Colonel,-I thought I would drop you a few lines in regard to Lieut. Blanchard's death. I notice that in recent British Columbia papers the idea seems to be prevalent that Mr. Blanch-Such was not the case. I would have written you before giving you the particulars, but was only able to get them to-day for the first time. Capt. Macdon ald, of G Company, having with his ser-

He went down as far as Bloemfontein and was on his way back to rejoin the regiment when the attack was made by Dewet. He, with his servant, got as far as Roodeval, which at that time was "rail head," and found there details of different regiments waiting for an opportunity to get up country, Capt. Macdonald and a few Canadians being among the number, the latter having been detained for some two weeks. The Derbyshires were posted about three miles away at the bridge, and when the Boers attacked they advanced on the Derbyshires, and the details at the station simultaneously. The latter, under Col. Grant, of the Cornwalls, got behind some hastily made fortifications, composed of bales of elothing, etc., and held out for seven hours, when they had to surrender. Mr. Blanchard was wounded by a shrapnel shell in the left shoulder, arm, leg and heel, but appeared to be getting on nicely, and was quite cheerful when Dewet took all those not wounded off as prisoners. The Imperial Yeomanry hospital was also captured by Dewet, but he left that at Rhenoster river, and all the wounded were left with it. Mr. Blanchard subsequently succumbed to his wounds much to the surprise of those who fought with him, but no doubt the wound, in the shoulder was of a more serious nature than was at first sup-

All speak in the highest terms of the coolness and bravery displayed by the late officer at the above action, but we who knew him were not surprised at that, as he had always been conspicuous for his pluck. We all deeply regret his death. Yours, sincerely, W. HUST M'HAIG.

The council also indulged in a forensic skirmish on the railway transcontinental connection question, but the worthy participants finally succeeded in terminating the effluxion of rhetoric in comparative short order. It was only right that the successful competitors should get their money—they could not be held responsible for a mistake of the council." To avoid this liability this second report of the 26th September, 1894, recommending the payment to me of $350, was held back week after week until, at my request, it was produced to the council of 1895, and on the 30th December, 1895, it was "resolved that the communication be received and Mr. Sorby be informed that the want of funds debars the council from entertaining his proposal and acceding to his request." There was no pretense of the council disputing the justness of the debt, but on the part of a few members a tacit repudiation of a liability incurred by a previous council, the equity of which is admitted even by some of those who seek to avoid the payment of a debt that should have been paid by a preceding

Ald. Kinsman said that this by-law had been on hand for several months. He suggested that it be left over one week in order that he might bring in amendments which he could support. Everybody did not want this road kept open, and Ald. Beckwith knew it. He did not want any by-law passed until the compensation was thoroughly understood.
