BECOMES OF ORIENTAL TYPE.

Englishman Goes Through a Remarkable Change.

He Loses His Identity as Briton and Assumes That of the Average Asiatic.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The extraordinary case of an Englishman whose appearance changed to that of an Oriental is described by Dr. H. W. Dodd, an ophthalmic surgeon, in this week's Lancet.

The change has occurred during the last seven years. No one has discovered the cause, although the man has been examined repeatedly and most thoroughly by Dr. Dodd and his colleagues.

Dr. Dodd, in giving particulars of the case, says:
"The man came to the Royal Westminster Ophthalmic Hospital to see me in June, 1899. He was in the hospital for three weeks, and nothing abnormal was detected in any organ or system."

"It was after this illness that the changes of appearance began to take place, and these have continued, until now he has practically changed his identity, for from being a finely developed, erect man of 5 feet 10 inches in height and 16 stone 4 pounds in weight, vigorous, athletic, with plenty of hair of a light brown color, a long blond moustache, and altogether fair in appearance, he has become in a few years smaller, stooping, 5 feet 5 inches in height, weighing 11 stone 11 pounds. "He is weak, his hair has changed to mouse color, his moustache cannot grow a hair longer than a quarter of an inch, and both are soft and sparse. His chin never needs a razor, his complexion is sallow and his whole aspect is darker than before."

"His fellow-workers have christened him 'the Japanese,' though I fancy the late war may have influenced them in the choice of this name, for his type is not quite Japanese. Formerly he was a cheerful, capable, quick-moving, intelligent man, with something of a sailor's readiness to lend a hand to do anything that came along. Now, when not occupied, he is somewhat apathetic, a condition which adds something to his Eastern bearing."

Dr. Dodd mentions another case of a similar type, and says he remembers other patients who should be included in the same category. It would seem, therefore, that there is some obscure cause at present unknown in the medical profession, which has the effect of changing Europeans to an Eastern appearance."

LAWN DANCE AT RENFORTH.

Mrs. Pullen and Mrs. Paterson Entertained
Lavishly Last Evening.

Amid a maze of Oriental lanterns and to the strains of a small orchestra over 125 suburbanites and city folk danced several hours away on the grounds of James Pullen and A. Paterson at Renforth last evening. It was a delightful affair, one of the happiest gatherings ever arranged in that popular summering locality.

Three buckboards filled with invited city ladies and gentlemen left the Court House shortly after supper time, and the five and six o'clock suburban trains took many more. Residents of Robtsey, Riverside, Torryburn and Brookville completed the list of bidden ones. A large platform had been erected over the tennis courts adjoining the cottages, and upon this a programme of merry dances was carried out with singing and sports. Ladies in airy summer apparel presented a strikingly pretty appearance, the trees, Chinese lanterns and attractive surroundings, adding to the brilliancy.

Sandwiches, iced drinks, cake, ice cream, etc., were served until midnight, and it was close upon 2.30 this morning when the St. John contingent of dancers reached town.

Mrs. Pullen and Mrs. Paterson were assisted in caring for their guests by Mrs. J. A. Sinclair, Mrs. George Noble and others.

EXHIBITION AT THE ROLLER RINK.

At St. Andrew's Roller Rink this afternoon and evening Skater Reynolds will give an exhibition of fancy roller skating. This will be Mr. Reynolds' farewell engagement here. By request he will repeat his "electric whirl" to-night, also giving an exhibition of speed skating, for he is a speed skater as well. All the rest of his programme will be new. In addition to Mr. Reynolds there will be a one mile amateur race for a silver medal to be given by the management; Hamon, Lonsdale and Wilson being among the starters.

The City Cornet band will furnish the music this afternoon and the public may skate until 4.30. In the evening the 62nd band will furnish music and the public may skate until 9.30. There is already a large sale of tickets, many who witnessed Mr. Reynolds' performance Thursday night buying tickets for both performances today. Tickets can be secured for both performances any time today. See advertising column for prices.

HOTEL WILL BE FINISHED EARLY THIS WINTER

J. F. Gleason Secures Additional Land for His Syndicate—Work to go on Rapidly.

J. F. Gleason, the real estate broker, has completed the purchase of the Mrs. Dora Hayward property, corner of Minette and Albert streets, West End. Mr. Gleason a short time ago purchased the Shamper property which is adjoining the Hayward property, for a syndicate who at once started to build a new hotel on that property with the intention of having it completed for this fall's tourist trade. It is, however, that in order to build the sort of hotel which they wished to build, it would require much greater ground space than they already had, so it was decided that they procure additional grounds. The result was that Mr. Gleason purchased for this syndicate the Hayward property, and the work, building a large hotel, will be pushed along as rapidly as possible, and it is expected it will be completed by early winter.

ROBBED MANY GRAVES TO BRING HIM LUCK.

Man Denounced by His Wife for Atrocious
Form of Vandalism.

BERLIN, Aug. 4.—A peasant named Francis Ogorodovski has been sentenced to seven years' penal servitude at Rosteln, in the province of Posen, for a particularly atrocious form of grave desecration.

Ogorodovski opened a number of graves in the Jewish, Roman Catholic and Protestant cemeteries, and removed the heads and sometimes the bodies from the bodies from motives of superstition.

He brought the fragments home and buried them in his stable and cow-stalls, and also in the fields where crops were growing, being firmly convinced that they would thereby protect the horses and cattle from disease and insure good crops.

Ogorodovski was denounced by his wife after he had beaten her. At his trial he protested that he had no criminal intent in mutilating the bodies, and that it was the accepted belief among the peasantry that portions of corpses taken from graves soon after burial brought "good luck."

SIR WILLIAM VAN HORNE WILL SEND CATTLE.

A communication has been received by the exhibition committee from Sir William Van Horne announcing the fact that he would send a large number of fancy cattle to the exhibition this fall. A communication has also been received from a Mr. Standish of some cattle to the show.

Word has been received that Barlow's elephants will be on hand two days before the exhibition, in order that they may be well rested for the shows.

The committee of the C. M. B. A., at meeting last night, decided to hold their picnic on the 15th of this month, and although Capt. Waters would like to cancel the picnic at Watford's Landing on the river he very kindly invited the members to enjoy their outing on his grounds. While the picnic is a private affair the brother members from Fairville and Carleton are always included.

Samuel Drury has been given the contract to build the new exhibition grounds. The plans for the grounds have been finished and the work will be commenced on Monday.

FISHERMEN HAVE HAD A GOOD YEAR

Salmon Fishing Season is About Drawing to a Close—The Harbor Fishing.

The salmon fishing season is about drawing to a close, and the fishermen are now preparing for the hake, haddock and herring. A few hake have already been caught in the harbor. The prospect is that these fish will command a very low price this year. Last year they brought a big price and many fish merchants both here and in Halifax lost quite a lot of money. The salmon catch has been much better this season than last, but the prices have not been quite so good. On the whole the fishermen have had a fairly successful season.

KILLING STRAY DOGS IN THE PARK.

Harley Knox, the Rockwood Park policeman, is making an excellent onslaught on stray dogs that wander into the park, and destroy the rabbits. This morning two vagrant dogs were killed. The law gives the policeman power to capture stray dogs and if not claimed by the owner inside of 24 hours they are destroyed. It seems that this law could be as well enforced on the King Square as in the park.

In former seasons the park was a summer home for dogs as those captured would be kept for weeks at the policeman's expense until called for by their owners.

A large gang of men are engaged night and day shifting the tracks on Union street and the head of Rodney wharf.

Clifford Ellis has been reported by the police for wilfully breaking a large pane of colored glass in William Coleman's lunch wagon, South Market street.

Policeman Ross found three-year-old Ethel Miller, wandering about the north side of Queen Square yesterday afternoon and took her to her home on St. Andrew's street.

Robert Clayton, the 12-year-old boy who was arrested on Tuesday, July 24th, for stealing a roll of cloth from Keane Bros' store, Union street, was brought before Magistrate Fitchie this morning and sentenced to a term in the Boys' Industrial Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Miller of St. Andrews street wish to publicly thank their many friends for the sympathy in their recent bereavement, and also thank the fire department and Dr. Peters for their prompt action in trying to save the life of their little son, Walter Stanley, who was drowned at the Ballast wharf on Tuesday last.

John Carney, reported for furiously driving a coach along Water street and injuring a boy, Wm. Bridges, explained to the magistrate this morning that he was not driving fast, that the boy ran in front of the team and the accident could not have been avoided. Carney says he drove the boy to the drug store and then home after the accident. A small boy gave evidence that Carney was driving fast. The case was adjourned until Tuesday.

Dr. Warwick, of Westfield, leaves by C. P. R. this afternoon for City Hospital, New York, to fill a one month's appointment, after which he will return and then locate in this city.

Dr. Arnold has located at Westfield in same premises as formerly occupied by Dr. Warwick.

PETTY TYRANNY IN KING EDWARD'S NAVY.

Admiral Punishes Ship's Company Because Officer Was Not in Proper Uniform.

LONDON, August 4.—An extraordinary story of petty tyranny in the navy is current at Portsmouth. A destroyer of the attacking fleet in the recent manoeuvres was lying in Portsmouth Harbor prior to the opening of hostilities, when a summons from one of the admirals was received for the lieutenant commander.

This officer was absent on duty, and in his place, the warrant officer, who was second in command, proceeded ashore to answer the summons.

In his hurry to respond to the message the warrant officer neglected to change into full-dress uniform, and on being ushered into the presence of the flag officer this was pointed out to him. At the time, however, nothing was said of punishment.

The destroyer played a very prominent part of the manoeuvres, and was one of the vessels that succeeded in entering Portsmouth Harbor under cover of night and laying a string of mines across the harbor.

Afterward the crew were kept rigidly to their work, and encountering bad weather in the Irish Channel, underwent considerable privations. At the close of the manoeuvres the destroyer returned to Portsmouth with the flotilla for the customary leave following excessive duties, but, much to the surprise of all, the vessel was at once ordered to return to sea and continue cruising for ten days.

No time was allowed for replenishing provisions, and the crew had to exist on tinned meat and biscuits, and no male resented them until orders were received to return.

The officers and crew were not even told why this severe punishment was meted out to them, but there can be no doubt that it was because the second in command had appeared in undress uniform before the admiral.

PREVENTED ACCIDENT.

Henry Carr, a motorman in the street railway company, last evening was the means of preventing a serious accident on Douglas Avenue. About 6 o'clock while he was running his car on Main street a team attached to a barouche loaded with people became frightened by the breaking of the pole of the barouche. As the car was about to collide with the barouche, and the animals were becoming uncontrollable Mr. Carr jumped out and seized the horses' bridles and managed to back the team away from the car, thus preventing a bad smash up. Several tourists who were in the barouche called last evening on the office to express their appreciation of his conduct.

SYDNEY LAD ARRESTED HERE THIS MORNING

Chief of Police Clark received a telegram last night from D. McEachern, chief of police of Sydney, asking that Wm. Denny, a boy, be arrested. The telegram gave a description of the boy, stated that he was enroute to Boston and was wanted for stealing a quantity of brass junk from the Steel Company. Policeman Crawford met the Halifax train this morning and had little difficulty in arresting Denny.

A police officer will be sent from Sydney to take Denny back.

In the police court this morning John and James Kerrigan were admitted to bail, in sureties of $500 each and $150 each from Joshua Corkery, Allan Jones and Annie Herrigan.

CITY BUILT OF PRECIOUS ORE.

Valuable Stones Used in Erecting Mexican Town.

Contain 35 per cent of Metal Which Old Spanish Machinery Could Not Extract.

MEXICO, Aug. 4.—A strange tale of a city, the houses of which are built of gold and silver, comes to this city. A great wall, 110 feet high, encompasses the city, and this also is full of gold and silver. Without the wall are miles of mountains which conceal almost incalculable amounts of silver and gold. The whole represents an amount of wealth undreamt of even by the multimillionaires of the "Arabian Nights."

The most remarkable part of the story, however, is that it comes from the authoritative pen of Percy F. Maxfield, F. R. G. S., and supported by substantial scientific facts is set forth in the matter-of-fact pages of the "Financial News."

It seems that Guanajuato, the gold and silver city in question, was built by the Spaniards when they conquered Mexico. It is, indeed, the oldest city in that state.

MINING MACHINERY BAD.

But when the Spaniards set to work to extract silver from the mines of La Luz, just without the city, the mechanical appliances of the time only enabled them to extract 65 per cent. of the silver in the ore. The remaining 35 per cent. of silver and gold which the ore also contained was therefore cast contemptuously on one side.

From the waste material were built the city and the wall about it. From this waste ore, too, three sprang mountains of refuse that in reality contained fortunes.

Now these mountains of refuse, the walls of the city, and the houses of the city, may be demolished that they may yield up to modern machinery the riches that they contain.

Apart from the gold and silver hidden in the walls of the houses, it is estimated that the refuse heaps comprise alone a million tons of ore each, every ton of which holds 35 per cent. of silver. From each of these mountain-like refuse heaps it may be possible, therefore, to obtain $200,000.

Whether the inhabitants of Guanajuato will suffer their houses in like manner to pass through the crushing mill it is hard to say, for the people of the city cling passionately to their picturesque, dilapidated dwellings.

SIGNS OF ANCIENT WEALTH.

There still, indeed, remain in Guanajuato signs of the colossal wealth which the Spaniards discovered in that place. The wall, for instance, with which they surrounded their mine must alone have cost $200,000 to build. Its carved stone carvings are artistic treasures.

The unfortunate peons, who supplied the wealth for the Spaniards, worked under the halberd and the lash extracted from La Luz $1,500,000,000 worth of silver during the time of the Spanish occupation.

Most of this went to enrich the king of Spain and to enable that monarch's nobles to build those substantial, if hideous, buildings which today, in one respect, make castles in Spain extremely solid facts.

The man who profited most from La Luz was Zambrano, who, though he spent the major portion of his time in the gay capitals of Europe, was well known in Mexico. He, it is said, left a modest fortune of $600,000,000 as a result of his peons' labor.

Before being deserted, about the time of the revolution in Mexico, it is calculated that the mines of La Luz were producing for their proprietors about $600,000 a year.

"There is every reason to believe," says Mr. Morin, "that they can and will do the same again."

Trades Disputes Bill Passed Committee After Exciting Session—Premier Accused of Breaking Pledge

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The trades dispute bill, which is a direct outcome of the Tariff Valve decision that trades unions' funds are liable for the illegal acts of individual members of a union, passed the committee stage in the house of commons this morning and was reported to the house amid ministerial cheering.

Considerable excitement marked the debate, during which several amendments proposed by the government were defeated by narrow majorities. In one case the government being saved from defeat by a few unionist votes. There was a somewhat extraordinary scene after midnight following on Prime Minister Campbell-Bannerman's refusal to accept Lord Robert Cecil's motion to report progress. Lord Robert saying that the prime minister had pledged himself that the debate should not continue after 11 o'clock.

When the motion was defeated by a government majority of 215, Mr. Balfour accused the prime minister of deliberately breaking his pledge. He declined to take further part in the proceedings and invited his followers to leave the house. The invitation of the former prime minister was accepted by all of the three scores of members of the opposition present amid ironical ministerial, nationalist and laborist cheering. A few of those who left the chamber returned subsequently, but the front opposition benches remained empty and several liberals and radicals took seats on it amid radical cheering.

The debate then proceeded without incident to its close.

The trades dispute bill provides that no act of a trades union shall be held to be unlawful if such act is lawful when committed by an individual. It sets forth in express terms the right of strikers and defines the law of agency as applied to trades unions, making it impossible to claim redress from union funds for any act unless it is clear that the act was authorized by the governing body of the union.

NEW BUILDING FOR BANK OF COMMERCE

MONTREAL, Aug. 3.—Byron E. Walker, general manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, announced tonight that the bank would begin the erection of its new building in Montreal the first of May next. The building will occupy the entire site at present occupied by the Temple building and will be entirely devoted to the business of the bank.

Some men won't advertise when they are busy—think it will last forever—

THE RING

Young Jack O'Brien, who is to spar Phil McGovern in Sydney on Labor Day, is a St. John boy. His right name is Wm. J. McAnulty. Out of nine fights he has won eight, the other being a draw. Phil McGovern is a brother of the terrible Terry. In his career he has bumped up against some tough men. McAnulty is but 27 years of age. He was for half a season with the Manhattan Vaudeville Co., in a sketch entitled A Night in Flatland, doing a boxing act at the same time.

After the match in Sydney he is open to all comers. He would like to challenge Johnny Taylor.

O'BRIEN SAILS FOR ENGLAND.

Philadelphia Jack O'Brien is now on the ocean, bound for England. He sailed from New York without waiting for his relatives and friends to give him a farewell reception, and will be gone for six weeks.

Very few persons were taken into O'Brien's secret, as it was thought he intended to spend the remainder of the summer at Atlantic City.

The announcement of his departure will come as a big surprise to the sporting fraternity. Philadelphia Jack's trip is ostensibly for his health, and he is said to be in excellent health. He is said to be in excellent health. He is said to be in excellent health.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—On the Baltic of the White Star line, which arrived Thursday, came Miss Rose Stahl, from London, where she has been appearing at the Palace Theatre in James Forbes' one act comedy, The Chorus Lady.

SANDY FERGUSON TO FIGHT

Regarding the report that there was a hitch in the Jack Johnson-Sandy Ferguson fight, scheduled to take place at the Lincoln A. August 10, Al Jack MacLean, manager of Johnson, today said: "There has been no hitch so far. I know. Both men signed articles and posted $250 yesterday. Johnson is at Revere training with Bradley, and is getting in trim near Manchester, N. H."

THE MAT PARKER BECAME ILL

GLACIAR, Aug. 1.—The wrestling matches in Alexandria rink tonight attracted a large crowd. The match bout was awarded to Charles Delvik. After he had obtained two straight falls from Parker, the referee, who was referee, Schofield, announced that Parker was sick and would not wrestle. The second bout in two falls out of three, in 7 and 2 minutes respectively. Marshall got the second fall in 7 minutes.

FOOTBALL

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Several important announcements regarding the visit of the Scottish football team to the United States were made last night at the meeting of the New York State Football Association. A cablegram was received by Vice President Tabor from Liverpool stating that the Scottish team would sail today on the turbine Steamship Victoria. The visitors are due to arrive at Quebec on Saturday, August 11th.

The first game they will play on September 1st, when a team selected from Yale, Harvard, Columbia, Pennsylvania, Cornell and Haverford will be pitted against the Scotsmen. All New York will meet the visitors on September 1st.

THE WHEEL AUTO TOUR OVER

BOSTON, Aug. 3.—The fifteen automobiles that left Portland, Me., for this city today arrived here tonight, bringing to an end the tour of the White Mountains under the auspices of the Bay State Automobile Association. Only one of the cars reported at the association's club house on Dartmouth street, but it was said that the trip was made without incident and to any car. The party stopped for lunch at Rye Beach. Owing to the thick fog, which had been reported to rain, the run was not particularly pleasant.

TENNIS

BEHR MEETS LARNED TODAY.

NAHANT, Mass., Aug. 3.—William A. Larned of Summit, N. J., and Karl H. Behr of Yale University will meet tomorrow for the second time this week in a deciding tennis match, both having reached the finals in the Nahant club's annual tournament in singles. The doubles will be between M. D. Whitman and W. J. Cloutier and G. P. Watson and P. C. Cloutier.

In the semi-finals of the singles tourney Larned beat W. J. Cloutier 5-7, 6-4, 6-1; and Behr defeated E. H. Dewar 2-6, 6-2, 6-2.

THE TURF

Terrace King, 235lb, the trotter recently bought by Dr. McAlister from W. J. Furber, West Newton, will not arrive here until the latter part of August. At that time the other-day got second money and forced the winner to do a 2.10 mile. Terrace King is entered for the first of August and must fill his engagements.

Thomas Holmes may take his string of horses to Montreal for the race meet to be held there. If he goes he will take Terrace King, Hal Rhea, Happy Union and Meadow Vale.

CLEVELAND RACES

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 3.—Getaway day at the Glenville track was a memorable one in the horse world. The programme consisted of three events, the first of which was a consolation, the 219 pace, and the free-for-all pace. Three world's records were shattered by that fleet-footed pacer, the Broncho. This little daughter of Storm Cliffe, who was recently purchased by Messrs. Rochon and Dodge of Winnipeg, Man., for $10,000, won the three heats of the free-for-all pace in 2:03, 2:03 1/4 and 2:02 3/4, thereby breaking the world's record for three consecutive heats by 14 seconds, the world's record for racing mares of a race, and the world's record for the fastest third heat in a race.

Bessie Gratton won second money and Maud Keswick, third.

In the M. & M. consolation, Carina Dawson won in straight heats.

BASE BALL

HOT GAME AT WESTFIELD.

A baseball match between a team composed of Westfield residents played at the Westfield college team at Rothsay last evening. The game, which lasted for five innings, was characterized by sharp fielding, good pitching and brilliant plays. The catch of a seemingly impossible fly by A. Sears, and the stop of a hot liner by Parker were the features of the game. At the end of the fifth inning the score was a tie, 3 to 3. In the first half of the sixth inning Westfield drove in two runs, which completely demoralized the Rothsay team. With a man on first base the next batter obtained three strikes, the third being dropped by the catcher. The umpire, however, rightly decided the batter out, but much to the disgust of the Rothsay team, who kicked vigorously. A few minutes later another dispute arose, and the game was awarded to Westfield. Batteries: Wickner and Livingston; Bates and Murphy for Rothsay; Roberts and C. Inches for Westfield.

BIG LEAGUE GAMES.

National League.

BOSTON, Aug. 3.—Wicker allowed the home team only two hits today, but Bats' home run, both in the same inning. Boston won by a score of 2 to 1.

GOOD RESULTS OF INTER-STATE AGREEMENT

SYDNEY, Aug. 4.—The inter-state agreement between New South Wales, Victoria and South Australia which permits a certain amount of water annually to be drawn from the River Murray for purposes of irrigation will have the result of making large areas of land available for settlement. A beginning to be made with a patch of 2,000,000 acres in Victoria, extending from Swan Hill to the border of South Australia.

All homesteaders are to be on the river frontage, in settlements of from twenty to fifty families, and each settler is to have a considerable area of from 400 acres and upwards of interior land.

Terms of payment are to be made easy in the early years, the crown's charge for the land to be on the basis of its value, subject to irrigation advantages, but otherwise unimproved.

INSURANCE SITUATION IN SAN FRANCISCO.

Outlook There is Cause of Deep Apprehension—Prominent Official Talks.

LONDON, August 3.—Advises by mail from the fire insurance company men now in San Francisco are to the effect that they are greatly worried over the outlook there. They write that they can save off a settlement of the earthquake claims but that if they take the risk an agitation is likely to result which may cause the Legislatures in the various States of the Union to pass laws forbidding the fire companies to do any business if they neglect or refuse to take care of California claims. The position of the insurance agents now in San Francisco is that they can "stave off" payment and that they might even fight matters in the courts, but public opinion is strongly in favor of Californians who have sustained losses, and that this public opinion may be reflected later in antagonistic legislation, as in the case of the life insurance scandal. Under the circumstances the representatives of the English and Scottish fire insurance companies now on the coast decline to take the responsibility for acting in this matter and have referred the entire subject to their home office. C. P. Mullins, representative in Oakland of the Palatine Commercial Union and Alliance Insurance Companies of London, is quoted here as saying:—"Our detailed statement of our future policy is now being prepared. I cannot say absolutely what its provisions will be, but I may say that we will treat every one with the public according to demands of justice. We will not follow the lead of the American Phoenix Company in denying all claims, by any means. I may say that I have not yet found any one who seems to know that there has been an earthquake in San Francisco; but one has occurred just the same. Further than this I am not at liberty to say anything."

YOUNGEST TRAVELLERS IN THE WORLD.

LONDON, August 4.—The youngest traveler in the world, and the youngest snow-shoe champion, has just arrived in London from New York. His name is Charles Clinton Gladwin, of New York, and he is two years and eight months old. He boarded the Cedric at New York and did not cry once during the whole voyage. He was attired in a red jacket cap and "swaggers" red overcoat, and he was to be seen by the passengers every day promenade on deck with his hands in his pockets, as self-possessed as any one on board. On a label attached to his button-hole was the inscription: "Charles Clinton Gladwin Jr., of New York, England." To be forwarded to Mrs. E. Barr, 49, Priory-road, London, England. Notwithstanding his independence, he was the pet of all on board the Cedric, and the stewardess of the ship volunteered to act as mother, and determine what food he should have during the voyage. He is a most intelligent little boy, with big blue eyes, and his father, who is the snow-shoe champion of the United States and Canada, taught him to glide on snowshoes. He willingly gave a demonstration of the art to the passengers. Mrs. Barr, stout, met the youthful traveler at Queenstown.

PRATT INQUIRY ENDED

Capt. Pratt was on the Stand all Day Yesterday

The Pratt investigation was concluded yesterday afternoon. Captain Pratt was on the stand all day summing up his evidence and undergoing a cross examination. The examination began the first week of June and has been the greatest amount of evidence adduced both by the prosecution and defense. A. B. Copp, M. P. P., who had been conducting the inquiry, left for home on the Quebec express last evening. The Federal Sugar Refining Company and the Howell refinery of the United States, advanced their prices ten cents yesterday on all grades of refined sugar. There will be an open air service at Renforth at three o'clock Sunday afternoon. The service will be conducted by Rev. Wellington Camp, pastor of Lennox street Baptist church. There is likely to be trouble over the plot of land the city wants to get from Mrs. S. H. Barker, adjoining her property at Loch Lomond. Her counsel, Hon. H. A. McKewen, has notified the city that she will not sell. The city would like to sell the land for a sanitary, but it now looks as if formal arbitration proceedings will have to be taken. An adjourned meeting of the medical profession is called for Monday, August 6th, at 8.30 p. m., at the Saint John Medical Society rooms, Market building, to receive the report of the committee re the St. John branch of the British Medical Association. Any of the profession desiring accommodation in the private Pullman car would do well to communicate with Dr. J. E. Beaumont as soon as possible.

ADVENTURE WITH PANTHER IN ROOM

Animal Found in Room and Despatched After Much Difficulty—Col. Rundle's Close Call.

CALCUTTA, August 4.—An extraordinary adventure in a bedroom with a panther is told by Lieut.-Colonel Rundle, the Commander of the 5th Brigade of the Royal Field Artillery at Jabalpur, in the "Pioneer." One afternoon Mrs. Rundle came out of a portion of a bungalow that was seldom used, and said she had seen the tail of a panther protruding from behind a large coil of matting in one of the rooms. Col. Rundle supposed that the animal was a tame panther and sent for a brother officer to assist in dispatching it. Opening the door enough to insert his rifle barrel, he fired and wounded the beast. The door swung open as the animal bounded against it. It then sprang at Colonel Rundle, rising high by about a foot, and bolted. Colonel Rundle, with Lieutenant Macan reconnoitered each room in turn. Eventually the panther was found in a spare room hiding behind a coil of matting. There was a window to this room about fourteen feet from the ground, and Colonel Rundle procured a ladder, but before he could get his rifle up the panther had seen "him and sprang through the doorway. Lieut. Macan fired two shots, but neither proved fatal, and the panther bolted out of the house and across the tennis court into the R. A. mess compound. Here it gave chase to an inquisitive sweeper, but was too badly wounded to do more than make a clutch or two at the man's clothes. Finally it darted into an adjoining building where it was despatched.

RADCLIFFE PASSED THROUGH YESTERDAY

Was Sober for a Change and Seemed to Enjoy the Sensation he Made

Radcliffe, the executioner, passed through the city yesterday afternoon for his home in Ontario, Canada, after his hanging at St. John's in Windsor. While waiting for his train to depart he improved his time by taking a walk to several bars in the vicinity of the station. When last in the city Radcliffe was relieved of a pistol and a pair of spectacles. He had better luck this time, however, which is accountable by the fact that he appeared in better condition. The word soon spread through the depot that "Radcliffe" was in the city and he seemed to enjoy the slight sensation occasioned by his presence. He chatted for a short time with several newspaper men, but when asked about the Stanley case said the most recent victim of his gawdime art was game to the end, making his work there much easier.

GREAT INTEREST IN TODAY'S RACE.

An unusual degree of interest has been expressed in the race between Coates and Niece on the harbor today. The race took place at 11 o'clock sharp. Five minutes before one a preparatory gun will be fired to warn the men to get in their boats and prepare for the start, so the race will have to start sharp on time. Both men have trained hard for the race, and the friends of each are confident of victory. Niece defeated Coates in the previous race. The officials for the day are: Peter Clinch, referee; Chief Clerk, Judge at the turn; George Clark, judge of the finish as representative for Niece; Homer D. Forbes or Dr. Frink, judge of the finish as representative for Coates; Wm. McShane will act as starter. At the meeting in the N. R. C. boat house last evening these officials were agreed upon by the representatives of both parties, and it was decided to have the race start from a buoy near the head of North wharf, the turn to be a buoy off the Ballast wharf. A party of American tourists in a barouche drawn by a pair of horses, narrowly escaped a bad accident last evening. The party were near Douglas avenue, something frightened the horses and one of them crowded on to the fender of a street car that was passing. The motorman jumped from the car and seized the horses and clung to them valiantly until he succeeded in quieting them. The C. M. B. A. decided last evening that the annual outing at Waters' Landing, on Wednesday, August 15th, Captain Watters having placed his grounds at the disposal of the association. The outing is under the direction of Branch 134, but the Carleton and Patville branches have also been invited to attend. Miss Madeline Barker was the winner of the Tweedle cup on the local golf links Thursday afternoon.

FINANCIAL EYES ALL ON FRANCE

Canadians have been selling stocks to France, and are planning to sell more. Ditto the United States. The reason is given by a writer in the Review of Reviews, for he says that France is now playing the role of the weak banker; England lost her claim to the title when she went to war in South Africa. A generation ago, one had to go to London to feel the pulse of the international money market. Today, one has to go to Paris. The strides toward financial supremacy which France is making have been most rapid in the past five years. In that time French investors have taken up many milliard francs of foreign obligations. They furnished great Britain with much of the capital that went to finance the Boer war; they loaned enormous amounts to Russia. Practically supplying the money needed in the struggle against Japan; they provided Germany with 1,000,000,000 francs in 1904-5 to carry on her tremendous industrial enterprises; they took a liberal amount of the last Japanese loan, over half of the Russian loan of last April, and finally, they supplied borrowers in the United States with fully $150,000,000 during the tight money period of last winter, and are now advancing the bond and note issues of some of our greatest corporations.

THE DIVORCE PROBLEM IN A NUGGET.

Conversation of two colored women overheard in the street cars the other day throws some new light on the divorce question.
"I hear you left your husband; that so?"
"Yes."
"Why you leave him; did he beat you?"
"No."
"Was he mean to you?"
"No."
"Then why did you leave him?"
"Q. I just natchally lost my taste for him."

Not long ago a colored woman in Washington explained to a house-keeping member of Congress that although she was married, she did not know the whereabouts of her husband, proceeding to contrast the sad state of the rural region from which she had come with the rush and turmoil of this great city, concluding: "You see it's mighty hard to keep a husband in this town."

WILL CREATE A SENSATION.

An attraction such as Barlow's famous herd of trained elephants, which was the means of introducing the New York hippodrome to the amusement world, ought to create no mild sensation in a place the size of St. John. The acts these pachyderms do are well nigh incredible. They put on a burlesque, go through military evolutions, dance the cakewalk, play musical instruments and wind up with a thrilling dash for life over a precipice. Then there will be the monkey theatre and cockatoo show. All among the many special features at the St. John Exhibition, Sept. 1st to 8th. Best yet.

HOPELESS CASE.

"Here's a letter from a woman," said the answers-to-correspondents editor, "who wants to know how to make a lemon tart."
"That's just like a woman," rejoined the snake editor, "tell her if the lemon isn't tart to begin with she's better consign it to the dump and let it go at that."

ABUSES IN GERMANY.

The recent disclosure in the Chicago stock yards is having a world wide effect. It has caused governments across the sea to take the most drastic measures in reference to importation of American canned goods. Indirectly it led to other investigations. It was the means of the authorities at Ottawa appointing a special commission to examine samples of canned fish throughout the Dominion. In the United States it caused no end of trouble. Perhaps in no outside country were the people so much up in arms as in Germany. Many and bitter were the articles in the German press condemning the practices which had been carried on in the United States. The German critics were hardly aware that in their own empire existed conditions, in many ways, as revolting as those in the United States. They have since found this to be true. In various sausage manufacturing centers the German police have discovered abuses which, if not so scandalous or on so large a scale as in Chicago, should make importers of German sausages and tinned "delicacies" very careful. Among these abuses is the large and growing use of horseflesh, and in Dulsburg, on the Rhine, where large quantities of sausage for export are manufactured, the police have happened on large quantities of disgusting stuff which was intended to work into these articles. Russia and the eastern provinces of Prussia are the main sources of supply. In some cases the old-fashioned jokes about the sausage makers grinding up the favorite cats and dogs of the children for sausage meat are no longer reckoned as jokes inasmuch as the cases of this kind are not infrequent. In fact in one case at Dulsburg in particular it was the destruction of the canine and feline pets of the children and the protests of the little ones to the grown-ups which led to the investigation of certain sausage factories and will, it is stated, result in a new order of things all round.

The proposed reduction of the British army has caused widespread surprise in Japan, where, despite the success achieved in the war, the army is to be enormously increased both in men and guns. The two year system of conscription is to be adopted, sweeping reforms will be made, and all brigades and regiments are to be commanded by young and energetic officers. The wedding out process has already commenced.

YANKEE UNIONS AND CANADIAN LABOR.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, wants from the various trades unions affiliated with that association a contribution amounting to $5 for every member, to provide a fund to finance the federation's political campaign now under way. As most of the Canadian labor organizations are branches of American unions, to whose central treasuries they contribute, it is probable that Canadian workmen will soon be called upon to give of their hard earned money to a campaign fund in which they have no interest, for the furtherance of a political design which will profit them nothing, even if it is successful.

Why do Canadian workmen continue to pay tribute to these Yankee labor bosses? What do they get, what have they got for the great amount of money they have paid into these foreign organizations? For the sake of a paper charter and a name, hundreds of workmen in St. John are paying monthly sums they can ill afford to subsidize American strikers. The printers at present have to pay 10 per cent of their wages—a great drain upon the average man. Now, in addition to helping American strikes the American union bosses have decided that Canadians must help pay for the election of labor representatives to the American congress.

Canadian workmen have troubles enough of their own without meddling in foreign politics. They have problems enough of their own without shouldering those of the Yankee unions. And they are strong enough now to fight their own battles without relying on alien aid. If this outrageous demand, proposed by Gompers, is really made upon them, it should be the signal for a declaration of independence on the part of every trades union in Canada and for the establishment of a purely Canadian federation.

Canadian unionism, so reorganized, would be just as strong, could be managed far more cheaply, and would command far more respect from the Canadian public.—Sun.

HIS RESTFUL OUTING.

I mean to take a holiday.
An outing's what I need;
This working always doesn't pay,
That's what I've found indeed.
Wherever a lunch I mean to fix
And take my wife and children six
And in the country we shall stay!
I feel I need a holiday.

I'll take a few camp stools, I think
A hammock and some wraps,
A jug of lemonade to drink;
A book or two perhaps,
Umbrellas, for it's apt to rain,
As soon as we get off the train.
It very often does that way
When I'm off on a holiday.

A ROUGH VOYAGE.

Marshall Wilder was talking about the new type of Atlantic liner—the huge, broad-beamed boat, with elevators, grill-room, gymnasium, restaurant and roof garden.
"I've been on one of them," he said, "and I'm more comfortable than the slim record breakers, that roll in a calm sea worse than the new type does in a wild gale."
"The new type promises to abolish sea sickness. Pirates, boarding it, wouldn't find such wrecked, limp and pale passengers as not used."

SENTENCE SERMONS.

Things dismal can not be divine.
To be genuine is a long step toward being godly.
The forethought that sows is the faith that reaps.
He is false to his God who fears to be true to himself.
The rewards of faith are not given for the service of fear.
Take care of your character, and your credit will take care of itself.
There are few things more misleading than a manufactured martyrdom.
No man ever did anything heroic so long as he had one eye fixed on his halo.
The appeal to heroism within wins more men than the promise of heaven beyond.
Those who talk most about this being the crime and world are doing most to nurse its rages.
It's always the little man who feels that he is called to audit the books of the universe.
Some people are so busy writing "tomorrow never comes," that they do not know today is going.

SHE COULDN'T SEE THE BARN.

An old lady in New Hampshire declined to try matrimony for the second time in extreme old age. Her children and grandchildren and great-grandchildren expostulated with her, but she remained firm and declared she was going to marry the man, says the Boston Herald.
"Why, you're too old," said they. "You are losing your faculties. You can't see. If the barn was on the other side of the street you couldn't tell him from any one else."
The old lady said she was going to marry him. "Now, we'll put the man on top of the barn, and you shall stand in the kitchen door. If you can see him on the barn you shall marry him."

GETTING MORE VALUABLE.

Magistrate—What was the value of the boots stolen from you?
Servant—Well, they were new they cost thirteen lire; then I had them resoled twice, which cost me four lire, so altogether they were worth seventeen lire.—Gallo Caricaturist.

TAUGHT BY EXPERIENCE.

Mistress (angrily)—Kathi, I ask you for the last time, what did the master say to you in the arbor just now?
Now answer me!
Servant—Well, if you must know, he said, "Kathi, when the mistress gets very angry do just as I do, and don't answer her at all."

A PHYSICAL CONSCIENCE.

Towne—Luschnann has reformed at last, I hear.
Brown—So it seems.
Towne—His conscience was touched finally, eh?
Brown—That's what he claims, but I think it was his liver.

ANYTHING TO PLEASE.

He was hurrying along the street at night, when another man, also in a violent haste, rushed out of a doorway, and the two collided with great force. The second man looked mad, while the first man, taking off his hat, said: "My dear sir, I don't know which of us is to blame for this violent encounter, but I am in too great a hurry to investigate. If I ran into you, I beg your pardon; if you ran into me, I don't mention it."

USEFUL ADVICE.

We heard on the street the other day of a man who claimed he was too poor to take his home paper, but all the same he read a notice in one of our country papers telling how to prevent a horse from snoring, and sent $1.50 for the receipt. When the $1.50 worth of information came it said: "Teach your horse how to snore."

ST. JOHN LADY SAW THE EARTHQUAKE

Miss Helen Napier Here From California —Was in San Jose at Time.

A visitor to the city yesterday, one who was deeply engrossed in seeing the town, was Miss Helen Napier, a native of the Carleton side of the harbor, but a resident of California for nearly a decade.
Miss Napier before removing to the golden state was engaged in the office of J. & A. McMillan, Prince William street, and was a popular young person in friendly circles. During her stay in the west, where her permanent home is now located, Miss Napier lives with relatives, and engaged in responsible office duties.
At the time of the earthquake, the St. John lady was spending a short time with her sister in San Jose. The town was pretty well wrecked, as was the big city of San Francisco, and the attendant suffering of the people was pitiable. Miss Napier had no desire to return to San Francisco—her home to the wreckage; San Jose was dismal enough for her.
On her way east Miss Napier visited in Seattle and other cities. She arrived here a few days ago, and is making her home for a few months with her sister, Mrs. J. Reinsford Vanwart of Wickham, Queens county, on the river. While in town yesterday she was en route to see friends in Nauwigewauk.

ROOSEVELT TO RECEIVE THE NOBEL PRIZE.

STOCKHOLM, August 4.—It was stated unofficially today that President Roosevelt is to receive the Nobel prize in recognition of his services in ending the Japanese-Russian war. The formal announcement of the award will be made by the King of Sweden on December 10.
Swedish papers are also discussing the possibilities of Col. William Jennings Bryan receiving an award of the Nobel prize in the future because of his efforts and speeches in favor of peace at the Interparliamentary Congress in London. It is admitted that the amendments which he offered have gone farther toward doing away with the possibilities of war between the great nations than any effort in recent years. Some of the publications which take an interest in the prize say that Mr. Bryan's amendments in favor of peace will have greater direct effect upon the future of nations than Mr. Roosevelt's gracious actions leading up to the Russo-Japanese settlement at Portsmouth, N. H.

DIVINITY STUDENTS OUT ON STRIKE.

TEHERAN, August 4.—The divinity students here, like the students of some other countries, are on a strike. Recently they forcibly released a professor of their college who had been arrested by the authorities for using seditious language. One student named Syed Abdul Hamid was shot dead by the officer of the guard, and two others were wounded.
The heads of the clergy assembled in the great mosque, and all the shops, except those of the butchers and bakers, were closed. The city was occupied and patrolled by troops. The position of affairs excites some disquietude.

YACHT RACES AT MILLIDGEVILLE.

After the yacht races at Millidgeville this afternoon the sloops Armored and Winopene, with parties aboard, will sail up the Kennebec to Renforth to be the guests of the Kamp Kuntfort boys. There will be a supper on shore, a sing-song in the moonlight, and a short season of the light fantastic. Tomorrow afternoon the yachtmen will hoist sail for Millidgeville again.

Echoes of History in New Wraps

Of dark green taffeta, trimmed with braid and tassels.

THERE are echoes of a dozen famous periods of history and nationalities in the many quaint wraps which are seen everywhere this summer—wraps of lace or of silk, of cloth or linen, some of them almost fantastic in the way the very trimming of another age is applied, with some touch that is thoroughly of the present dominating the whole tiny thing.

Mantles have been in fashion a dozen times before, each time conforming so completely to the ruling fashions of the times that the various versions have been given distinguishing names identifying them with their own particular period.

From the early shapeless mantles—originally a garment worn by men—sprang interesting things, shortened and draped and trimmed until there was little resemblance left to the style they originated in—a thing of straight lines, which depended entirely upon its apparently careless draping for any grace it might have.

One interesting mantle, shirred into curious folds at the back, was the creation of no less a mortal than Watteau, whose charming scenes influenced styles and coloring alike to a marked degree. Dolmans (some of the newest wraps are undoubtedly modeled upon them) were borrowed, almost as they stood, from the Turks—Turkish men, not women, wore them.

And pelerines—some of the most adorable of the new little wraps are an evolution of pelerines, lengthened and changed and developed into as graceful, becoming wraps as any of them.

Even the trimmings hark back to the old days, tassels hanging from the long, blunt points which, in some cases, are substituted for sleeves; chenille balls—as old-fashioned as the hills—set in an orderly row all about the edge; and, an occasional extreme instance, the silk fringe that our grandmothers loved, and which is eloquent of Eugene's day.

Perhaps the most satisfactory of all of them, although not nearly so picturesque as the impractical, but exquisite, coats and wraps of lace, are those made of taffeta silk.

Some of them are just little loose coats—something like pony jackets; more of them made with belts from which hang oddly shaped pashas. Or they are almost shapeless little things, apparently without sleeves, the arm slipping through an opening under one of the deep points, exactly after the fashion of long ago.

If sleeves are at all apparent, they are always short, those in the little coats never more than three-quarters, the rest very short, although a deep ruffle usually makes them seem much longer.

Often the wraps are unlined—they fall into more graceful folds that way. When they are lined, it is either with white or some one of the pretty pompadour silks—only those which are delicately colored, however, for, with no interlining, too bold a design might show through the outside just enough to make it look spotted.

When these little wraps are made of linen—for them, by the way, linen of a close, firm weave is invariably selected—the prettiest linings are used: of dotted Swiss of a shade that matches the outside exactly, which is flowered quaintly all over.

Paris Notes

LONG veils of tulle are worn, tied loosely over the face or draped simply scarf-fashion around the hat crown. In either case there must be ends a yard to a yard and a half long. They are seen with big hats only and are usually of cream white or of a light brown shade.

Leghorn hats are trimmed with field flowers and black taffeta ribbon. Leghorn sailors show the same trimming—a black band and the flowers arranged in a loose waving bunch.

Parasols of plain taffeta are worked with fine ribbon instead of embroidery. Golden brown shades are stunning on a golden ecru ground. Silk rings that slip over the parasol, held in place by a cord, have lately reappeared on parasols, which are trimmed with pinked ruffles of the same silk.

Ostrich feathers, guileless of any sign of curl, are seen on new white hats. As a number of good lengths are required to make a showing, it is an expensive and ultra manner of trimming.

Dark velvet collars—brown, green or black—are used on white cloth suits and separate coats which are otherwise severely plain.

Long white Biarritz gloves that reach to the elbow (even above) are worn with fancy elbow-sleeve tail suits.

High shoes of fine white canvas with flat pearl buttons go with white linen and thin muslin costumes.

Gowns made of a combination of two or three laces, and parasols to match, are worn with big black plume hats.

Bags of white and light-colored suede have stitched straps as handles. These are longer than broad and measure about six by eight inches.

White linen tops to patent leather shoes are worn with light tailor-made gowns. E. D.

Pretty Accessories of French Women

PARIS, '06.

NOTHING is more interesting in the study of French fashions than those constant changes in little points of dress and pretty accessories that make a French woman's costume differ from all the world's. Even the wealthiest French woman doesn't pretend to keep up with the newest of everything in gowns and hats, but depends upon a good veil, parasol, boots or gloves to keep that absolutely new look to her whole costume. About these she is particular to a degree that is almost incomprehensible until you discover that therein lies the Parisienne's secret.

During the very warm days just past there cropped out a peculiar vogue for linen—used in most unexpected and original ways. Linen parasols were particularly noticeable, and started a dangerous rivalry to their overconfident sister, the grass green umbrellas of earlier spring.

These are certainly exquisite and wonderfully embroidered affairs, of the handkerchief linen, made up over taffeta silk. Those of pure white, simply mounted, are the most unusual; and, strange as it may seem, they are most charming when carried with silk or elaborate voile costumes.

Another favorite is made of coarse white linen with a garland of "vouvray" embroidery on each panel, forming a border, the edge heavily scalloped. And this white linen parasol is carried with dark silk or linen gowns, and even with dark wool tailor suits—a thing most daringly French.

Handbags made of buff or tan colored linen delicately embroidered in quaint pink and blue flower designs are equally new and stylish. They are mounted on a perfectly plain gold or silver frame with stitched strap handles. At a little distance the effect is that of suede. They are quite as handsome and expensive as leather and are carried with all kinds of costumes.

Embroidered heavy linen belts are worn with wool tailor suits. They usually match the suit exactly in color, and are often embroidered in exactly the same shade. This is a much simpler thing to manage than it would have been a few seasons ago, because it is now possible to get linen in all the fashionable tail shades.

Tiny waistcoats of colored linen adorn the most recent models in boleros and Eton jackets, and are being added to those made in the early spring. It is an easy enough matter, for in the case of double-breasted jackets they only show above the rather low-cut V or rounded front. With the styles that just passed, in front there is usually no change other than tacking in the waistcoat and leaving the jacket unfastened; but, of course, many of this spring's jackets were especially designed for waistcoats.

Buff and cream linens are favorite colors for the purpose, and even at times a rich golden yellow is successfully introduced, and is especially lovely with gray.

When a pronounced color is used for the suit, which is rare this season, pale cream or chamais is apt to form a waistcoat; but whatever its shade, embroidery is the feature. As the newest waistcoat hooks over invisibly to one side, there is a band of embroidery directly down the centre. Satin stitch in fine floss makes a delicate effect: it is closely not heavily done, which, since the designs are usually fine flowers, adds prettily to the cool, summery effect that is sought. E. D.

Collarless Gowns Very Popular

SINCE early spring, when the collarless gown appeared among us, more and more women have taken it up enthusiastically, until at a recent wedding it seemed as though every woman there, with scarcely an exception, wore a dress guileless of collar. The bride and all her bridesmaids wore collarless gowns, with yokes made of exquisite lace, which ended just at the turn of the throat.

There's no doubt that the style is trying, especially as collars have left their marks upon the skin of the neck, and few of us have the perfectly moulded throats which the style sets off so perfectly—and, in a way, demands.

But there are collarless styles and collarless styles; and it behooves the woman to whom one form of them is trying to experiment with the many others.

In Paris, V necks are the newest—V necks contrived in all sorts of unexpected ways, some of the simplest nothing more than a modified form of surplice styles. And V necks are usually becoming.

With square necks—the little Dutch necks at once so picturesque and so thoroughly comfortable—a thousand treatments suggest themselves, from the plain little line made by setting insertion about it, mitering the corners to make a perfect square, to involved arrangements of embroidery and lace cunningly set so that the neck is outlined in a square—not, of course, of straight lines, but with soft, irregular outline made by the slightly waved edge of lace.

Round necks are most trying of all, unless the frill that usually finishes them off is just the fulness and the width that is most becoming to you. Really, it is surprising just how much difference substituting a mere edge of lace for a wider one (or reversing the order) will do.

Plenty of collarless dresses are being made up now of the cotton voiles, which come in so many new pretty shades and in both plain and in flowered designs. For the cool, damp days now there is nothing like them, if you except the more costly gowns of woolen voiles and its kin, for they do up splendidly, looking almost like new after each washing.

LITTLE LAWN

AND LACE RUFFLES.

They Mark a New Epoch in Popular Neckwear.

Something About the Parasols That are Being Worn—Simple Little Sunshades —In London Society.

(By Sophie Gannett.) LONDON, Aug. 4.—Among the little touches that are modish now, and that mean so much in the presentation of the most beautiful summer toilettes, are the shades made of coventry ribbon, with scalloped edges, buttonholed by hand. It is impossible to exaggerate the smartness of a culture finished in this manner, and particularly effective is it in Natter blue upon a white ground when worn with a pure white muslin toilette. Another sash noticed had ends of point d'Alençon lace, with one edge only bound over with satin chiffon ribbon.

I notice immensely the effect of the little lawn and lace ruffles that are being applied to the top of the very high lace collars now worn; they mark a new epoch in neckwear that should, I think, become popular. There was a time when ruffles were accepted finish to every frock, but for long enough we have been content with a collar that lacks such an adornment. The taller the neck and the more slender it is, the more elegant will this little ruffle look.

There are truly charming and novel designs in the handkerchiefs that are sold now, and it is becoming more and more the vogue to wear colored mouthers. The marvelous delicacy of the embroidered pocket, upon tiny squares of finest cambric is a standing source of wonder, but then delicate and intricate of design are certainly the elements of the best dressed in every form of attire this summer, from the handkerchief to the lace-trimmed lingerie that is sold. As for the toilettes, one hears without surprise of dresses that have taken those who have embroidered them from five to six months' hard work to complete.

Upon a blue and white striped fine cloth gown, with a simple skirt and one of the new little, short coats, called by some tailors "pony-jackets," because the are so small, I made observation of the smartest possible subterfuge pocket, useless affairs, because they are not really pocket at all, but intensely smart and military looking. There is an undeniable air of beauty about the latest coats, a trifle of gorse de pigeon color, with a maximum of dove and a minimum of purple in the shading, ornamented with shaded purple chiffon roses, very fully blown, so that their golden hearts show, and golden tassels to match. The gown is a white one, and above the hem of the skirt are broken in entredens of pale purple Chantilly lace, bordered with the narrowest gold line. Smart indeed is the soft purple suede belt with its gold bows down the front.

A word, too, for the parasols that are being worn. From my point of view, the more simple the sunshade the better. Numbers and numbers are sold of a self color, without any trimmings at all; others have a band of bright stripes at the edge, an idea borrowed from the market umbrellas worn by peasants in Italy. Stripes appear not only on the parasols, but on the handkerchiefs, seen, in the latter case, radiating toward the centre from the sides, and reproducing the prettiest pastel shades of pink, blue, green and mauve.

There is nothing out of the ordinary about the handles of the parasols this summer; even those pure white enamel sticks, upon which climb little mice, are noticeable only at close quarters, while for the trick-handled parasols, that show monkeys' and cat's heads, there is at this season of the year only a small demand. It is amusing during the dullness of the winter to be able to press a secret spring in the handle of the parasol, and so to make the cat blink her eyes, and the monkey giggle his, and foolishly grimace. But in the summer that which is beautiful prevails on every side, and we order carved ivory, mother of pearl, and tortoise-shell mounts, instead of animals' heads.

PARISIAN EXODUS

IN FULL BLAST

Large Number Going to Sea Shore Resorts.

The Most Extraordinary Efforts in Military are Left Behind—Simplicity is Triumphant.

PARIS, August 4.—The exodus from Paris to the seashore is in full blast. Paris is taking with it to Normandy and Brittany its gayest cotton and lightweight cloth toilettes, its prettiest parasols, its daintiest costumes de bain, so that wherever it pitches its tent there will be brilliance and beauty. Fraise, that soft rendering of strawberry red, is as fashionable a color as it can be now, and shows up with extraordinary luminance against the sands on a hot summer's day. The most extraordinary efforts in military are left behind in the capital, but there are specimens of hearer that are the height of originality and a daring travesty of what is usually called a hat. One model is nothing but a handful of long-petioled leaves like those of the iris starting from a cluster of cabbage roses. True, a veil is worn draped about this apology, which may perhaps be understood to represent the part usually played by straw. It is a stout cotton fabric called tea cloth, and is carried round to the front of the face beneath the chin, where its wild career is checked by a rose on the left shoulder.

Plaids, always so much seen at the French watering places, are this summer threatened by a very doughty and important rival, the striped material, which has been rendered for the season in very supple and clinging cloths, as well as in organza muslin, and in a stout cotton fabric called tea cloth. Still, there are plaids to be seen, made of zephyr and cloth in the newest and softest shades of puce, cherry and lavender.

Bathing dresses translate the fashion of everyday life into those of the sea, and we find in consequence the bolero a great favorite upon the pouted bodies and the corset robe, a frequent resource, always, of course, with a shortened skirt. Delicately light weight flannel, mohair, taffetas, and serge costumes prevail, made charming by means of strapped silk trimmings, killed frills and sashes with fringed ends. Peignoirs for the plage to be worn by bathers are very voluminous and most cosy. Even though the weather has been very hot lately, molleton and Pyreneen wool have in a number of cases been chosen as desirable fabric for the materialization of such wraps. Of course, gaily striped bath towels are in vogue; it does not need much persuasion of the imagination to picture the comfort and beauty of a peignoir made of woolen chert and white silk stripes, lined with soft silk of the former shade.

Simplicity is triumphing over elaboration, so far as daytime dresses are concerned, but how fine are the embroideries, and how delicate the colorings of the various holiday robes seen.

SOUND ADVICE.

Misses (angry)—Kathi, I ask you for the last time. What did the master say to you in the arbor just now? Now answer me.

Servant.—Well, if you must know, he said, "Kathi, when the mistress gets angry do just as I do and don't answer her at all."—Figaro.

Everything must depend upon the dress that is worn as to the style of the ruff, but there is plenty of choice. One throatlet that is very prevalent is the Pierrot, made of tulle, with short loop ends of satin ribbon in front.

ROME ANXIOUS

ABOUT SILENCE

Of Pope Concerning Separation Law of France.

Condition of Pope's Health is Not at All Satisfactory—Typesetting by Telegraphy.

(By A. W. Pearce.)

ROME, Aug. 4.—In Catholic circles a good deal of surprise is expressed at the silence the Pope continues to maintain concerning the Separation Law of France, and whether or no it is to be accepted by the church. There are two currents of opinion on the subject of the impending Papal decision. Some deem it to be absolutely certain that the Pope will refuse to authorize the formation of public worship associations on the lines laid down by France, whereas others declare he will not venture to refuse submission to the law. The Pope's attitude on this would be to the material interests of the church and of the priestly hierarchy of uncertainty has been already prolonged much beyond what was anticipated when the Pope's health was said to be such a serious anxiety. He is much troubled by gout, and in almost constant pain. His business is also very depressed. He has not the iron will power of Leo XIII., and he feels the matter of being compelled to remain in the Vatican is very keenly. Cardinal Gregorio, who also suffers much from gout, recently experienced great relief from a change of air. When he visited the Pope on his return, Pius X. said to him, "You want to go to the sea, don't you? to her neglected children, had only a few matters worse.

Anna Karenina looked like a wet fresh sausage and according to her usual custom in rainy weather she had taken off the blue hair-ribbon that was her sole savior, thus letting both her stockings hang down over her shoes. True, her legs felt cold, but she did not care. Her hair, which was worn resembled the gaiters that Miss Lucy sometimes donned. Unlike Anna, whose morning ablutions no pleading could extend farther than the dainty wetting of a finger tip which was then cautiously applied to the corner of each eye. Bum O'Reilly every morning

Anna Karenina and Sophie Bauerschmidt were sitting on the curb-stone in front of the Bauerschmidt saloon, from beneath the bar they had just from beneath the bar of which they had just taken the rudely elected by Sophie's father. They were talking about Miss Lucy.

"My sister," said Sophie, "seen Miss Lucy, and she says she's a swell."

Sophie's sister, a creature of a very big pompadour that hung coquettishly into one eye, worked at the beauty counter of a department store, and was known to the society oracle of the Bauerschmidt circle.

There was an element of gloom in Anna's nature that discounted for her all things pedagogical. "A swell!" she echoed disdainfully; "she said even so lady. My mother says she said and I'm a king-maker. Ladies never do work. They just dandle all day and puds things on their faces like my mother."

"Well, anyhow, said Sophie, "Miss Luzzy's got nice clothes."

"They ain'd so much," insisted Anna; "she ain'd got no silk peddastion and she never wears no beads and her stockings and god holes over them."

"But she's pretty, anyhow," said Sophie.

"Hod air," Anna scoffed. "Why, she's got red hair."

"It's the style," argued Sophie. "My sister put stuff on her hair, and some of it got red and the rest silver."

"That's like my mother's," Anna agreed, "but Miss Luzzy's just all red."

"But it's curly," wavered Sophie; "it's curly down to her ear."

"And you never need?" cried Anna, angered at such denseness. That said no real curl.

"It's up then," said Sophie.

"She puds it up," said Anna, with finality; "I bed you she does."

"I bet you she don't," snapped Sophie.

"'Whad'll you ded?" cried Anna.
 "Nothin," said Sophie femininely.
 "'You're afraid," Anna jeered. "I bed you 'bout the dose."
 "I bet you a cent she don't," cried the taunted Sophie.
 "All right," said Anna: "Jusd waidd ill'd frans." Then, growing weary of Sophie's company, she departed to the more congenial pursuits of the gang.

Two days later it rained. Miss Luxy, coming late to school in the midst of a damp, depressing drizzle, went to her bookcase where she kept a small looking-glass carefully hidden beneath a gilt-lettered "Teacher's Creed." The principal had often noted and approved the cheerful and long-sustained attention that Miss Lucy gave to her Creed each morning.

However, that morning the inspection was short. The dampness had matted her fresh waist into a sallow, limp garment, and the end of her nose was damp and coldly pink. Being a mere feminine creature of cloth and skin, she shrank at the sight and sat down at her desk looked gloomily and bitterly at the sixty members of Class A. Owing to the inclement weather, Class A was in an unbecoming state of damp greasiness, and Nature, in a vain attempt to give a bath to her neglected children, had only the same matters worse.

Anna Karenina looked like a wet fresh sausage and according to her usual custom in rainy weather she had taken off the blue hair-ribbon that was her sole savior, thus letting both her stockings hang down over her shoes. True, her legs felt cold, but she did not care. Her hair, which she had worn resembled the gaiters that Miss Lucy sometimes donned. Unlike Anna, whose morning ablutions no pleading could extend farther than the dainty wetting of a finger tip which was then cautiously applied to the corner of each eye. Bum O'Reilly every morning obligingly washed his face in a three-inch circle whose centre was his nose—an oasis of cleanliness in a desert of dirt. But, unfortunately, he smelt like a very strong stogie. This odor united with the ambrosial perfume of stale beer that surrounded Sophie and the ascent of the coal oil with which Josef Burechka, whose mother was vain, anointed his too sparse coiffure. In the face of this union Frederick William, whom Miss Lucy had placed in the first and nearest seat, valiantly but firmly gave forth his usual clean soapy smell of the laundry.

NEWSTEAD FORT WORK PROGRESSING

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The work of excavating at Newstead Fort, on the border of England and Scotland, has recently brought to light many interesting objects from the period of the Roman occupation.
A most valuable collection of pieces of bronze armor was taken out of one pit, and, best of all, a very fine Roman helmet decorated with embossed figures in high relief. They are all objects of the greatest rarity, and in wonderful preservation. The helmet has an inscription punctured on the rim, probably an owner's name, but it has not yet been satisfactorily deciphered.

James Curle, who is preparing an article for the "Scottish Historical Review," describing the discoveries, thinks the Newstead finds may ultimately form a collection of the greatest archaeological value, as illustrative of the life of the Roman frontier.

PETEWAWA CONDITIONS VERY SATISFACTORY

Third Detachment Returned Home Yesterday—Made Good Practice With Big Guns

Twenty-eight officers and men of No. 3 Company, 3rd Regt. C. A., under command of Major L. A. Barker, returned from Petewawa yesterday. The officers express themselves as being very well satisfied with the results of the three days spent in camp. The first day was devoted chiefly to observation of the shooting by other detachments; on the second day the men were given an opportunity to practice on the guns, and on the third day the competitive shooting took place. The men quickly learned to handle the guns and made an excellent showing in the target practice. In shooting from behind cover at a target supposed to represent a body of troops hidden behind a hill four miles distant, they made fourteen direct hits out of sixteen shots. Some of the experts who were present said that this was the best score at that range that they had ever seen.

In figuring the standing of the various batteries a number of things such as discipline, drill, and tactics, are taken into consideration, as well as the actual results of the shooting. This is a somewhat tedious process, and so the marks of the St. John detachments will not be known for some time yet. It is expected, however, that they will make a very good showing.

Major Barker spoke very highly of the new site at Petewawa. When the arrangements are completed they will have there a ten thousand yard range. It is the intention to form a permanent camp there, at which all the different branches of artillery in Canada can get their annual training. Although work was only begun this spring, twenty-eight buildings have already been erected, and by next season as many more will be put up. When these are completed there will be accommodation for all the men in comfortable barracks instead of the tents which were used this year. A complete water system has been installed and an acetylene gas plant furnished light for the camp.

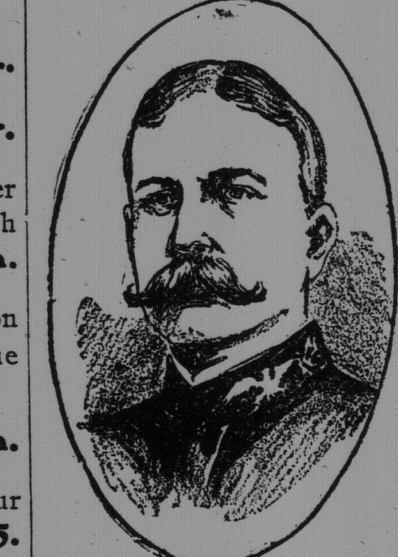

The camp has a beautiful location on a bluff overlooking the Ottawa River, and is reached by a mile and a half march from the railway. When the St. John men were there a detachment of the permanent corps reached camp after a ten days' march from Kingston, which is two hundred miles distant.

REAR ADMIRAL TRAIN DIED YESTERDAY

Was Massachusetts Man and Had Been In Command of the U. S. Asiatic Fleet Since 1905

CHEFOO, Aug. 4.—Rear Admiral C. J. Train, commander-in-chief of the United States Asiatic fleet, died at 9:16 this morning of uraemia.

BOSTON, Aug. 3.—Rear Admiral Charles Jackson Train was a Massachusetts man and was well known in this city. He was born here and was appointed to the navy from this state

REAR ADMIRAL TRAIN.

In 1861. After taking a course at the Naval Academy he was promoted to master in 1866, lieutenant two years later, and lieutenant commander in 1869. In 1888 he was advanced to the grade of commander, in 1894 to the grade of rear admiral and later was appointed commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

(Ottawa Citizen.)

Canadian liberal papers feel in duty bound to back up the British liberal party, though the two political units have little in common except the name. The former are now engaged in denouncing Kipling for "mixing up with partisan politics," and criticizing the metrical qualities of his latest imperial poem. Alas, that Canada should have so many poets whose verses can be scanned with a square and compass and a spirit level, and yet contain so little that people want to read. The world is full of these pastmaster mechanics of poetry, but you can count on the thumb of one hand the number of English-speaking poets whose stuff is worth cabling.

NEGRIER SAYS ANDRE LIED

Duel May Be Outcome of Dispute

French Generals Indulged in Violent and Characteristic Recriminations Against Each Other

PARIS, Aug. 2.—General Negrier wrote to the Matin Friday correcting part of General Andre's statement referring to himself and declaring that General Andre lied when he affirmed that General Negrier had asked to be retained in active service, although he was out of service, giving as one of his reasons his defeat at Langson, in Indo-China. A duel is considered likely to be the result.

General Andre replied to this letter in injurious terms, saying that General Negrier had compromised the French arms in Indo-China and that in spite of this General Negrier asked to be retained in active service, which he, as minister of war, finally conceded.

"When I was minister," he says, "I committed the unpardonable error of calling General Negrier to active service and of ignoring the decision of the superior council of war."

QUEEN INTERESTED

IN WOMEN SUFFRAGE

Her Majesty of Denmark Granted President of League Audience—Conference Meets Aug. 7th

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 3.—The third conference of the international league of women suffragists will meet here from August 7 to 11.

A majority of the delegates, among whom are many Americans, have already arrived here and are the guests of leading families of Copenhagen. A brilliant succession of excursions and fetes has been arranged.

The Queen of Denmark today granted an audience of one hour to Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, of New York, president of the league. Her majesty showed deep interest in the suffragist movement and regretted that the term of mourning for the late king prevented her entertaining the delegates. She expressed her admiration of American women, saying she thought them active and progressive, and that the women of other countries should take them as their model.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 3.—Three persons are reported to have been killed in a wreck of a Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh R. R. at Harmony, Pa. No details of the accident have been received. The dead are reported to be trainmen.

There are many well established and profitable business existing today, that would have been rank failures had not their proprietors known the value of persistent advertisement, and persevered accordingly. — Philadelphia Record.

GREAT SOCIETY SCANDAL AT MUNICH

Is Causing Intense Excitement in Bavarian Society—Several Commit Suicide.

BERLIN, Aug. 4.—The great society scandal at Munich is causing intense excitement in Bavarian society. One royal prince, two dukes, about twenty counts, and many lesser members of the nobility are involved in the scandal, which has overwhelmed many leading Bavarian families with grief and shame. The root of the whole evil appears to be a fashionable club at Munich, which is nothing less than a gambling resort of the worst type. Heavy losses have ruined many promising young officers of the Bavarian army, as well as numerous young noblemen and members of the Civil Service. Some of them, unable to face the disgrace of not paying debts incurred at the card tables, resorted to all sorts of swindles to secure sufficient funds to enable them to continue attendance at the club.

Others committed suicide to escape the consequences of their folly. The suicides include Count May Preysing, who was unable to pay gambling debts exceeding $500,000.

Prince Francis Joseph of Bavaria, who was accustomed to play at this club, is implicated in the scandal owing to the fact that a number of officers forged his signature to promissory notes whereby they obtained large sums of money by fraud. Investigations have shown that sums up to $250,000 have changed hands within the club in one night. Some unscrupulous members resorted to systematic card sharpening in order to fleece inexperienced players. One young officer has been arrested in connection with the scheme, and a precise charge against him is not known.

The campaign against trailing skirts, begun some weeks ago by the Nordhausen Town Council, is being continued by the municipal committee. General Silesian summer resorts. The local commissioners responsible for the advertisement of affairs at Langson, in Indo-China. A duel is considered likely to be the result.

General Andre replied to this letter in injurious terms, saying that General Negrier had compromised the French arms in Indo-China and that in spite of this General Negrier asked to be retained in active service, which he, as minister of war, finally conceded.

The Social-Democrats have scored a remarkable victory by the return of their candidate, Herr Haberland, for the constituency of Altena-Iserlohn, in Westphalia. Although the Radicals, Christian Socialists and the National Liberal electoral committees conjured their parties to vote for the candidate of the Centre rather than for the Socialist, the former has been signally defeated. There is consternation in the Liberal and Radical camps, as it is evident that unless they close their ranks for joint electoral action the Socialists will succeed in gaining further seats.

DAMAGED SCHOONER REACHED PORT SAFELY

BOSTON, Aug. 3.—The Bath, Maine, schooner Mary E. Olys arrived in port tonight. The schooner, which was damaged in the collision with the steamer Brewster, of the Fruit Co., of Highland light yesterday morning during a thick fog.

LONDON EXPECTS SMASH UP.

"Rightly or wrongly, the Stock Exchange has got a fixed idea that there is going to be a big financial smash-up, and nine out of every ten members are convinced that there is no possibility of improvement until the stock market breaks," says the Financial News of London.

"Rumor has been making very free with big names, and though the proverb about smoke and fire is probably as false as all other proverbs, it is inconceivable that steps would not have been taken to demonstrate the inaccuracy of the more direct reports in circulation had those reports been, in fact, wholly inaccurate. So long as the decline in prices affected mining and speculative securities alone, there was not much cause for alarm; but now that Consols and gilt-edged investment bonds, as a class, are crumbling, it is impossible not to regard the position as serious. The two really satisfactory features in the situation are (1) that the general public is not involved in the market to any considerable extent, and (2) that there is ample money available for all probable requirements."

BRADSTREET'S TRADE REVIEW.

Montreal trade reports to Bradstreet's say: In wholesale trade generally the volume of business moving compares well with that of previous years, although the demand for sorting lines is on the quiet side. The business doing for fall accounts is still heavy and the outlook continues to favor a very satisfactory trade later on in the year. From all parts of Canada the reports regarding crops and business conditions generally are good, and western orders for hardware and

FREDERICTON WEPT WHILE BEER BURNED

Bottling Works of Woods & Fortier Badly Damaged—Loss $1,500—Raffling Totals

FREDERICTON, N. B., Aug. 3.—A barn on Charlotte street, used by A. H. Woods and Peter Fortier for their bottling industry was partially destroyed by fire this evening. The flames originated in the loft and though it was quite early in the evening, made considerable headway before being discovered. Fortunately there was but little wind at the time and the firemen were able to prevent the flames from spreading. Part of the stock consisting of bottled beer was saved, but the plant was badly damaged. The firm estimates the loss at fifteen hundred dollars and had no insurance. Loss to building is about $200, which is covered by insurance.

LOCAL NEWS.

DIDA.—The mysterious, mystifying creation of a woman out of nothing.

2 Barkers offer Choice Large Bananas 10c. per dozen, 3 dozen for 25c.

The Rev. Wellington Camp of Leinster street Baptist church, will hold divine service on the lawn at F. A. Dykeman's residence at Renfrew, on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Rev. A. H. C. Morse, former pastor of Brussels street church and now of Brooklyn, N. Y., will occupy the pulpit of Brussels street church at both services tomorrow.

The banquet at St. Phillips church surpassed all previous gatherings. Mrs. Johnson prepared the repast for them. Miss Henderson delivered a fine address to the ladies' aid.

The vital statistics for the week are as follows: Phthisis, 2; jaundice, 1; inanition, 1; general debility, 1; gastritis, 1; cerebral paralysis, 1; drowned accidentally, 1.

Before starting to school the eyes of children should be carefully examined by a competent optician, and any error of refraction or defect of sight that may be present should be corrected. Failure to do so will soon after be manifested by weak eyes, headaches, etc. Consult D. Boyaner, graduate optician, 38 Douglass street.

Gilmour's regular summer sale of ready-to-wear clothing will be continued next week. This is a genuine effort to make room for fall stock and affords a real opportunity to secure the best grade of ready tailored garments at liberal reductions. The sale embraces business suits, two piece suits, tweed and pinstriped overcoats, suits and raincoats have particularly engaged the attention of buyers and the variety is unusually good and the prices low.

TOURIST TRAVEL BIG THIS YEAR.

This Week Has Been a Record Breaker.

Most of the City Hotels are Full and Railway Trains and Steamboats are Crowded.

Yesterday saw a greater influx of tourists to this city than any day for many years. The hotels were all crowded to their utmost capacity and some of the larger hotels were turning guests away as, on account of the great rush they could not accommodate them all. Yesterday's rush was to a certain extent due to the fact that two large American parties were in the city. These parties were the Raymond & Whitcomb party, which party alone had sixty-seven persons in it. The Kingsport party, which party alone had thirty people in it. The Kingsport party, which party alone had thirty people in it. The Kingsport party, which party alone had thirty people in it.

The railway and steamship companies express themselves as extremely well pleased with the tourist traffic this year, as they claim they have done a better tourist business this year than ever before, the present week being a record breaking one. The Eastern Steamship Company have this week brought 1,132 passengers into the city and when the Huron arrives tonight it is expected that this number will exceed 1,200 people. The record before this week was the first week in July, when 1,257 passengers were brought into this city by that company.

The Dominion Atlantic steamer Prince Rupert has brought over from Nova Scotia this week over seven hundred passengers, the majority of whom were American tourists.

The river steamers while not having brought so many tourists to the city have contributed a fair amount to the numbers already mentioned. The river boats have also carried a large number of tourist parties up for sails on the river.

The railways have received their share of the traffic and they state that they have had more tourist travel this year than for any previous year.

The reason of the great increase in the tourist traffic this year is largely due to there being no unusually hot weather in the American cities.

DOING WELL IN WEST.

W. W. McLean, principal of the Aberdeen street school recently received a letter from his son, Archibald McLean, who left here on February last, and is now a traveller in the west for Gage and Co., of Toronto. While in St. John Mr. McLean travelled a number of years for Floods, and later for J. & A. McMillan. His route in the west lies between Port Arthur and Regina. Mr. McLean states that he finds business flourishing everywhere in that section. In his travels he has come across a good many St. John boys during the summer, and all seem to be doing well in the West. Recently he met Joseph Murdoch, brother of Engineer Murdoch, at Regina, where he is carrying on a prosperous book-binding business. Among others whom Mr. McLean has incidentally met on his route of travel are Ralph Markham, formerly of the Sun, and Fred. Bettie, in the C. P. R. office at Winnipeg.

AUCTION SALE.

At 7.30 o'clock tonight there will be an auction sale of a large quantity of ripe bananas at Long wharf. Grand chance for bargains.

ANOTHER POSITION.

Miss Emma Craig of west end has been selected by the employment bureau of the Currie Business University, Ltd., to fill the position of stenographer for Robertson & Foster, wholesale hardware dealers, Dock street.

RECORD NUMBER

GOING WEST.

Five Special Trains Leave St. John Next Tuesday.

As Result of Increased Acreage Under Cultivation Supply of Laborers is Not Equal to Demand.

On Tuesday next five special trains will leave St. John carrying farm laborers from all points in the Maritime Provinces to supply the ever-increasing demands in the west. This will be the first of a number of excursions which will go from Eastern Canada during the month of August. The western farmers are asking for 25,000 men this year. The largely increased acreage under cultivation and the phenomenal crops this year makes the demand for harvesters greater than ever before. Last year Manitoba alone employed 12,000 eastern men, and Assiniboia 2,000. This year Manitoba asks for 20,000 and Assiniboia 5,000.

Whether this number can be supplied or not is the question which the C. P. R. authorities are considering at the present time. The west is figuring on getting 4,000 men from the Maritime Provinces, but from present indications it looks as though the number going from these provinces would not exceed that of last year, which was 3,200. Should the numbers from the other eastern sections taking advantage of these excursions show no increase over last year, the western farmers will doubtless have to do some hustling to get their wheat converted into money this fall. There is, however, a prospect for better wages in the harvest fields this year than for some years back. The farmers are naturally jubilant over their crops and are quite willing to pay remunerative wages to their help.

The present system of distribution of the men has been found to work much better than the old way. In former excursions it nearly always happened that there was a congestion of labor at some points and a scarcity at others. A hundred men would be landed at a place where there was only work for fifty, and naturally many of those who could not find work at first would become discouraged and return home. By the new system Winnipeg is made the distributing point and all the farmers engage their help.

The Maritime Province excursion will be run first this year since these are the farthest from the scene of labor. Formerly this excursion came over on the last of the season, and the maritime men were landed in the west too late in the harvesting season to be of much use. Following the Maritime Province excursion four excursions will go from Ontario and one from Quebec the last to take place on August 30th.

About 60 cars will be required to carry the Maritime Province people. Special trains will be run from points on the I. C. R. east of St. John to this city. The trains for Winnipeg will be made up here, with one exception. The laborers from the Island will cross over to the mainland by special train of the steamer Empress, from Point Lachine they will be taken straight through to Winnipeg by a special I. C. R. train.

STOLE A MARCH ON HIS FRIENDS.

John H. Donovan and Bride Reached St. John Yesterday

Prominent Politician of Boston, Mass., Married Without Any Previous Announcement—Party Came Here on Boat.

Among the passengers to arrive in the city yesterday by the Calvin Austin was a party of distinguished Americans. This party consisted of John H. Donovan, a prominent politician of Boston, a bride, J. Fitzgerald, who is a brother of Mayor Fitzgerald, of Boston, and wife, Miss Mary Fitzgerald, and Miss Elizabeth Volin, all of Boston. The party are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Donovan who were recently married in Boston and are now touring Canada on their wedding trip. The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Donovan took place in Boston on Wednesday afternoon and came as a great surprise to their friends. The Boston Post of Thursday last prints a picture of Mrs. Donovan and give the following account of the wedding: Without any previous announcement not even to his most intimate friends, until within a few hours of his marriage, John H. Donovan, an assessor, and the leader of the "tipcart" Democracy of Ward 20, stole a march on his friends yesterday afternoon and married Miss Alice M. Farley of 159 Huntington Avenue.

The secret was so well guarded that it was not known that the Dorchester politician had even contemplated matrimony until he was spotted on his way from the city clerk's office with the license. The ceremony was performed yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock in St. Cecilia's Church. Only relatives were present.

Daniel Donovan of Dorchester was best man and Miss Susie Dolan of Lynn was maid of honor. After the ceremony the newly wedded couple left for a four weeks' honeymoon in Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Donovan will reside on Mt. Ida Road, Dorchester.

Mrs. Donovan, who is a milliner with stores in Boston and Lynn, will resume her millinery business after she returns from her wedding tour.

Miss Alice Farley of the west side left this morning for Upper Knoxford to spend her vacation.

SOME NEW COSTUMES

AND

SEPARATE SKIRTS

FOR AUTUMN, ARE TO HAND

THE NEW COSTUME JACKET

is laid down on the lines of a Tuxedo, such as men wear at strictly mannish gatherings of a dress-up character. Of course there are some slight feminine touches and modifications, but the long flat collar, the almost straight front, are quite masculine. One added feature is a flare, or shapeliness at the back and sides, so conspicuous in men's summer garments. These advance models are to be had in large checked tweeds, plain navies, black, etc. Braid, strapped and button trim. For vacation trips they are right up to the minute in style.

NEW SEPARATE SKIRTS

In cool weather weights and shapes show numerous happy departures from the beaten track of several seasons. Shepherd plaids and other small checks; large checks, striking tweed effects, and some severely plain, make it an easy matter to select with satisfaction. Pleating, folds, and other such treatments of the cloth have fashioned some real swagger styles, as will be seen by this vanguard supply.
